
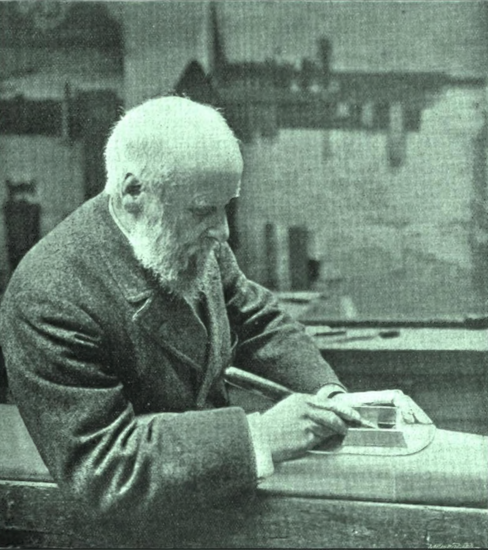
The musical times

JSTOR (Organization)

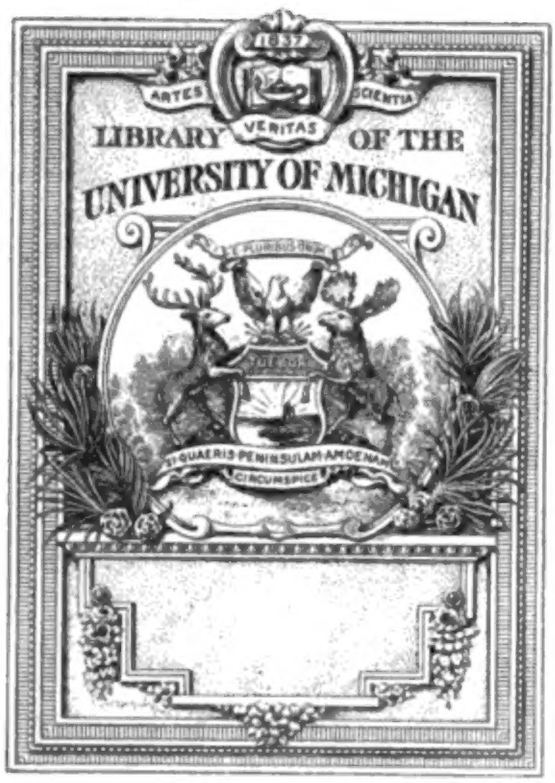
Digitized by Google



The musical times

JSTOR (Organization)

Digitized by Google



Digitized by Google

Music
ML
5
.M514
v.34

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

THE

81305

MUSICAL TIMES

AND

SINGING-CLASS CIRCULAR.

VOL. XXXIX.

LONDON: NOVELLO AND COMPANY, LIMITED
AND
NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., NEW YORK.

1898.

Digitized by Google

MUSIC IN VOL. XXXIX.

PIECES WITH SACRED WORDS.

No.
660.	When the Sabbath was past	Myles B. Foster.
661.	Weary of earth and laden with my sin..	Ferris Tozer.
663.	Spirit of mercy, truth, and love	B. Luard Selby.
665.	God be merciful unto us	John E. West.
669.	See amid the winter's snow	John E. West.
670.	Through the day Thy love has spared us	Charles L. Naylor

PIECES WITH SECULAR WORDS.

659.	Now is my Chloris fresh as May	Battison Haynes.
662.	Come away, sweet love	George Rathbone.
664.	Sunset	Thomas Adams.
666.	Men are fools that wish to die	C. H. Lloyd.
667.	Phillis	C. Hubert H. Parry
668.	A land dirge..	Charles Wood.

PORTRAITS AND ILLUSTRATIONS.

No.		Page
	Bartholdy, Felix Mendelssohn (Fac-simile)	11
	Brewer, Mr. A. Herbert (Portrait)	600
	Coleridge-Taylor, Mr. (Portrait)	601
669.	Cowen, Frederic Hymen (Portrait).—November.
	„ Master F. H. (Portrait)..	715
660.	Cummings, W. H.—February.
668.	Dannreuther, Edward (Portrait).—October.
	Davies, Dr. Walford (Portrait)	240
	Fricker, Mr. H. A. (Portrait)	241
667.	Hipkins, A. J. (Portrait).—September.
662.	Joachim, Joseph (Portrait).—April.
666.	Klindworth, Karl (Portrait).—August.
	Lincoln Cathedral (Illustration)	801
659.	Macfarren, Walter (Portrait).—January.
664.	Mackenzie, Sir A. C. (Portrait).—June.
661.	Manns, August (Portrait).—March.
	„ „	158
665.	Parry, C. Hubert H. (Portrait).—July.
	„ „	442
670.	Stanford, C. Villiers (Portrait).—December.
	„ Master Charlie (Portrait)	787
663.	Willis, Henry (Portrait).—May.
	„ „	299

Digitized by Google

Transfer to Music 6-22-65

INDEX.

—*—

LEADING ARTICLES.

Page

1898 9

Additional Instruments 234
A Mad Critic 521
Amateur Critics 588
Associated Board, The. Examinations in Australasia 95

Beethoven and his "terms" 457

Cathedral Organist, The, as he was ... 795
Conductors—Native or Foreign 723
Cowen, Frederic Hymen 733
Critics on strike 87
Cummings, William H. 81

Dannreuther, Edward 645

From my Study 15, 163, 305, 378, 449, 522, 592, 656

...kins, Alfred James 581
...kins, Dr. E. J., "Nunc Dimittis" ... 384

...chim, Joseph 225

...ndworth, Karl 513

...cfarren, Walter 10
...ckenzie, Alexander Campbell... ... 369
...nns, August 153
...endelssohn's Songs without Words ... 720
...usic, some Present Aspects of 159, 230, 303, 374
...usicians' names 448

...w Festival Composer 600
...w Festival Conductor 599

...ford Musical Degrees 719

...rry, Hubert H. 441
..."Pop" Rehearsal, A 241

...me Leeds Novelties 663
...me present Aspects of Music 159, 230, 303, 374
...me Recollections 451, 519, 586, 654, 793
Stainer, Sir John, on Cathedral Music... 527
Stanford, Charles Villiers 785
Structure of Instrumental Music, The 161, 232, 376
Toscanini, Arturo 662

Wagner Novelty, A 661
Was Haydn a Croatian composer? ... 94
Willis, Henry 297

OCCASIONAL NOTES.

Analytical Programmes at Boston ... 727
Antigua, Music at 455
Artaria Collection of Autographs, The... 93
Attwood's "Come, Holy Ghost," History of 524
Autographs of Beethoven, Haydn, Mozart, and Schubert 20, 93

Baker, Mr. J. Percy, Choirboy's Handy Book 728
Ballad singing and vagrancy, Magistrates' notice of 456
Banister, H. C., Death of 18
—— Annuity to his widow 167
Barnett, Mr. J. F., New Suite 799
Brahms, Johannes, Etching of 93
Bayreuth, Twenty years at 599
Beethoven's "Equale," History of ... 454
—— "Ruins of Athens," New Edition of 19
Bible Christian Sunday School Hymnal 525, 658
British Composer, A, Anecdote of ... 308
British Museum, Annual Report of ... 658
—— Additions to Music 659
—— Additions to MSS. 659
—— Additions to Portraits of Musicians 659
Bismark and Music 659

Carol Services at the Foundling Chapel 99
Cathedral Organist, Anecdote of ... 308
Cathedral Organist Appointments to Canterbury and York 19
Choral Music, Sir Hubert H. Parry on... 455
Church Music at the Church Congress 725
—— Condition and Progress of ... 19
Cinematograph, The, Use of Wagner's "Walküre" 166
Cocks and Co., Messrs. Robert (Sale) ... 778
Coleridge-Taylor's "Hiawatha's Wedding-Feast" 728
Conductor, The Modern 308
Conductors—Native or Foreign, Sir A. C. Mackenzie on 798
County Council Bye-Law re Musical Noises 383
Cowen, Mr. F. H., and the Irish car driver 799
Cowen's "Ruth" in Berlin 18
"Creation," Haydn, Mis-reading of Accompaniment of the recitatives in 166
—— Centennial of 236
Creser, Dr. W. (Personal) 728

Dannreuther, Mr. E., Appreciation of, by Sir Hubert H. Parry... 724
—— Correction in Biographical Notice 725
"Deluge," The, Oratorio by Bochsa ... 727
Dictionary of National Biography, Vol. LIII., Vol. LIV., and Vol. LV. 91, 594, 597
Divine Afflatus, The, Herr Hausegger's enquiries about 18
Dix, W. Chatterton, Error in Biographical Notice 659
Drum language 382

Easter Hymn, The, History of 237
Elder Conservatorium of Music, The 238
Elgar's "King Olaf," Review in the Rivista Musicale Italiano 238
English language, curious specimen of 597
—— Music at Toulouse 525
Examination Stories 307, 456

"Feis Ceoil," The 307
Fisher, Dr. Henry, The Pianist's Mentor 728
Flute, Information about Italian composers for the 799
Folk-Song Society, Formation of ... 165
Ford, Mr. Ernest (Appointment) ... 728

Gladstone, Mr., on Music 453
—— Music at the Funeral of 454
Gloucester Festival, Final Meeting of Stewards 725
—— Alterations in Programme 525
Gosselin, Sir Martin, as a Musician ... 524
Gould, Rev. S. Baring, and English Opera ("Red Spider") 727

Handel's Choruses, Mechanical rendering of 91
Hatton, J. L., Subscription for Daughters 798
Hausegger, Herr Friedrich von, Enquiries about the Divine Afflatus 18
"Heart of Oak," Words of 165
Hopkins, Dr. E. J., Resignation 92, 381
—— Dr. E. J. (Personal) 728

Irish Presbyterian Church, The, on Organs 597
Italian Opera Libretti, Lord Chesterfield on 799

Jacques, Mr. E. F. Lectures on Eastern Music 167

Klindworth, Karl, Retirement from Conservatorium 727
—— Visit to England 727

Leeds Festival and the Low Pitch ... 20
—— Outline Programme 92
Lincoln Cathedral, New Organ 725
—— and Peterborough Festival, 1899 ... 728
Liszt accompanying a comic song ... 659
—— Reminiscence of, in Henry Reeves Memoirs 727
Lloyd, Mr. Edward, Impending Retirement 726
London County Council, The, and Subsidised Music 455
—— Musical Festival 524
"Lux Benigna" (Dykes) 658

Maitland, Mr. J. A. Fuller, Lectures on Brahms 728
Mascagni's New Opera, "Iris" 799
Maxims for young pupils 728, 802
Mendelssohn's Water-Colour Drawings, Mr. Calcott Horsley on 18
—— "Midsummer Night's Dream" Overture, Mr. C. L. Graves on ... 799
—— Unpublished Letter of 596
"Messiah," Handel's, Royal Choral Society's performance in original form 796
Monday Popular Concerts 545
Mozart Sketch-Book, Discovery of ... 92
—— Leopold, Grave of 525
Music and the Speaking Voice, Objections to, answered 90
Music in Mars 167
Musical Announcements, Eccentricities of 728
—— Criticism, Eccentricities of 167, 236, 658
—— Profession, The, "What is it coming to?" 725
Musicians' Names beginning with B and M 308
Musicians, Verdi's House of Repose for 598

Norwich Cathedral, New Organ ... 728
Novello Works, Annual Soirée of ... 382

Orchestral Concerts, Remarkable Records of 382

Paderewski, M., and Physical Culture ... 597
Parratt, Sir Walter (Personal) 728
Parry, Dr. Hubert, Knighthood 382
—— Congratulations on Knighthood, and Presentation 524
—— On Choral Music 455
Petrucci, Ottaviano dei, Fourth Centenary 307
Pianists and Physical Culture 597
Printers' Inaccuracies 20
Programme Music, Imagination of Programme Annotators on 90
Promenade Concerts 596

Reeve, Henry, Memoirs (Reminiscence of Liszt) 727
Richter, Herr, Address to Choir Anecdote 456 —— Created a Burgher of Vienna ... 598
Robinson, Mr. Joseph, Civil List Annuity 526
Rummel, Mr. Franz, Performances as Pianist 18
Ruskin and Wagner, Residence at Mornex 456

St. George's School, Windsor (First Annual Concert) 306
St. Paul's Cathedral Organ, New Tubular Pneumatic Action 20
—— History of the Organ, by Sir George Martin 797
—— Ten Years' Report of Musical Services 797

Digitized by Google

Page

Salaman, Mr. Charles, Eighty-fifth Birthday 236
Schubert MSS., Discovery of 383
Shedlock, Mr. J. S., Appointment to Athenæum 598
Singing, Three Classes of the Art of ... 456
Smart, Miss, Death of 307
—— Sir George, Weber, and Thackeray 307
Smiths, The, as Musicians 91
Stainer, Sir John, Annual Report on School Music 236
—— List of Work at Training Colleges 307
—— (Personal) 798
—— "Daughter of Jairus," Antigua ... 455
Stewart, Sir Robert, Memorial Statue to 238
Stockhausen, Herr, Jubilee of 455
Subsidised Music 455
Sullivan, Sir Arthur, and the Crystal Palace Company 728

Temple Church, List of Music for October, 1898 725
Tenor, A Phenomenal 598
Tolstoi, Count, and Wagner 525
Troubadour "Bicycle" 525

Verdi, House of Repose for Musicians 598

Wade, Joseph Augustine, Registration of Death 597
Wagner's "Holy Supper of the Apostles" (New Edition) 91
—— and Count Tolstoi 525
—— and Ruskin, Residence at Mornex 456
—— Better Re-arrangement of Choral Symphony 726
—— Letters to Carl Heckel (hitherto unpublished) 93
—— Opera in Dresden 525
—— "Ring des Nibelungen," Cycle at Covent Garden 237
—— Unpublished Letter 526
Walmisley's Evening Service in D minor at King's College, Cambridge 456
Wedding Music, Anecdotes of 597
Wells, Mr., "The War of the Worlds" Music 167
Welsh Eisteddfod, Queen's Hall ... 726
Wesley, Samuel, and Samuel Sebastian, Biographies of 659
Wilkinson, Rev. W. Farley, on the Condition and Progress of Church Music 19
William, Mr. C. Lee (Personal) 799
Wills, Mr. W. G., Partiality for Music 456
Wood, Mr. Henry J. (Marriage) 525

LONDON CONCERTS, AND PROVINCIAL FESTIVALS, &c.

Amateur Orchestral Concerts 317
"Antigone" at Bradfield 461
Ash Wednesday Concerts... 245

Bach Choir, The 244, 315
Bergen Festival 543
Bispham, Mr. David (Concert) 474
Bournemouth Musical Festival 320
Bridlington Musical Festival 392
British Chamber Concerts 27
Buchmayer, Herr (Historical Pianoforte Recitals) 27

Cheltenham Festival ("The Spectre's Bride," "Athalie," &c.) 183
Choir Benevolent Fund 536
Choral Music in the Yorkshire Dales ... 390
Clinton, Mr. G. A. 393
Coleridge-Taylor, Mr. ("Hiawatha's Wedding-Feast" at Sunderland) ... 815
Cowen, Mr. ("Scandinavian" Symphony in Milan) 32
Crystal Palace Concerts 26, 247, 316, 390, 472, 734, 804

Dawson, Mr. Frederick (Concert) ... 373
"Dream of Jubal" at Hackney 318
Durham College of Science Choral Society 248
Dykes, John Bacchus 22

Elderhorst Quartet 806
"Elijah" at Mile End 248

"Feis Ceoil," The, at Belfast 390
Fitzner Quartet 475
Fransella, Mr. (Concert) 475

German, Mr. Edward (Music to "Much Ado about Nothing") 174
Gloucester Musical Festival 119, 601, 666
Good Friday Concerts 315

Page

Grieg Recital 27
Guildhall School of Music... 30, 250, 535, 808

Handel Society 172
Henniker's, Miss, Choral Competitions in Suffolk 815
Highbury Philharmonic Society 31, 100
Hollands, Miss (Choir) 399
Hovingham Musical Festival 541
Humperdinck, Engelbert, at the Philharmonic Society... 24

Imperial Institute 475
Incorporated Society of Musicians ... 102

Joachim, Dr., Borwick, Mr. Leonard (Recital) 532

"King Olaf" at Camberwell 31
—— in Australia 542
Klindworth, Karl, at Frederick Dawson's Concert 805

Lamoureux Concerts 26, 172, 246, 316, 389
Leeds Musical Festival 473, 730
London Academy of Music 319
—— Church Choirs at St. Paul's ... 807
—— School Board Vocal displays ... 535
—— Sunday School Choir 536

Mancinelli's "Ero e Leandro" in Madrid 33
Maurel, M. (Lecture-Recital) 533
Monday and Saturday Popular Concerts 27, 99, 173, 247, 317

Lectures:—
Abney Literary Society (Mr. L. C. Robson) 48
Bermondsey Settlement (Mr. J. F. Borland) 194
—— (Mr. J. Leese) 265
—— (Mr. E. F. Jacques) 265
Boys' School, Denmark Road (Dr. Warriner) 193
City of London College (Sir F. Bridge) 255, 400
Gresham College (Sir F. Bridge) 751, 808
Imperial Institute (Col. John Davis) 400
Knighton Public Hall, Leicester (Mr. E. Van der Straeten) 825
Lecture Hall (Mr. F. Cunningham Woods) 751
London Institution (Mr. A. Dolmetsch) 119
—— (Mr. Frederick Cox) 193
Musical Association (Dr. Charles Maclean)... 102
—— (Mr. H. B. Briggs)... 176
—— (Rev. O. S Vigoles) 256
—— (Mr. J. S. Shedlock) 320
Regent Square Presbyterian Society (Mr. B. Fowles) 266
Royal Academy of Music (Mr. E. F. Jacques) 174
Royal College of Organists (Mr. W. H. Hadow) 30
—— (Mr. C. F. Abdy Williams) ... 399
—— (Mr. C. Welsh) 476
—— (Mr. F. Shinn) 814
Society for the Encouragement of Fine Arts (Mr. E. F. Jacques) 194, 319
Steinway Hall (Lecture - Recital) (Messrs. Jacques and Aramis) ... 477
Stratford Place (Mr. J. S. Shedlock)... 338
Trinity College, London (Dr. Benavia Hunt) 118
—— (Mr. E. F. Jacques) ... 410, 476
University College, Liverpool (Dr. H. Hiles) 192

Newman, Mr. Robert (Benefit Concert) 390
—— (Wagner Concerts) 804
"Nibelungen Ring," The 462
Nonconformist Choir Union 476

Offenbach's "Grand Duchess" at the Savoy 26

Peterborough Musical Festival 473
Philharmonic Society ... 244, 315, 388, 464
Promenade Concerts 668, 733

Queen's Hall Choral Society 98
—— Saturday Afternoon Concerts 26, 171, 245, 472, 803

Richter Concerts 388, 464, 732
Ripon Cathedral Choir Festival ... 541
"Rose of Sharon" (Finsbury Choral Association) 248
Royal Academy of Music 29, 100, 175, 249, 319, 474, 533, 808
Royal Artillery Band 26, 316
Royal Carl Rosa Opera Company ... 247

Page

Royal Choral Society ... 24, 98, 171, 244, 38 80
Royal College of Music 29, 101, 175, 250, 30 475, 534, 8
Royal Opera, Covent Garden 387, 463, 5

"Saint Ludmila" in Vienna 1
Salisbury Cathedral (Thanksgiving Service) 5
Saturday Popular Concerts 8
—— Symphony Concerts 1
Simonetti, Signor (Concerts) 3
Stratford Musical Festival ... 194, 3
—— Presbyterian Church 2
Strauss, Richard 1

"The Beauty Stone" at the Savoy ... 4
The Coming Season 6
"The Legend of St. David" 3
"The Redemption" at Portsmouth ... 1
"The Termagant" (Mr. Frederick Corder's music to) 6
Tonic Sol-fa Choral Festival 5
Tournament of Song in the Yorkshire Dales 4
"Trial by Jury" at the Savoy 6

Von Dohnányi, Ernst (Quintet)... ... 8

Wagner Concerts 389, 4
Walenn Chamber Concerts 248, 317, 3
Workington Competitions and Music Festival 1

Ysaye Symphony Orchestra (Alhambra Hall, Brussels) 1

REVIEWS.

Adams, Thomas. The glory of the God of Israel 4
—— A Rainbow of Peace 5
Adkins, J. E. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D 6
Allitsen, Frances. Since we parted. Absence 6
—— O like a Queen 8
Arnott, A. Davidson. It's Hame, and it's Hame ... ...

Banister, Henry Charles. Interludes. Harmonising of Melodies 4
Baring-Gould, S. English Minstrelsie
Beaumont, Alexander S. Three Shadows 6
Bispham, David. The Bispham Album of Classical Songs ... ...
Bloxham, Walter. Four Short Pieces... 4
Bourne, T. W. Nisi Dominus 3
Braun, Charles. The Snow Queen ...
Bridge, J. Frederick. Sing unto the Lord 1
Brown, James. A Modern School for the Violin 7
Bunning, Herbert. Nénuphar 7

Carter, A. C. R. The Year's Music, 1897 2
Coleridge-Taylor, S. Four Characteristic Waltzes 4
—— Hiawatha's Wedding-Feast ... 6
Clutsam, C. H. Suite Moderne... ... 4
Cobb, Gerard F. Twenty-four Songs for Little People 1
Coenen, Willem. Thou wilt remember us 1
Constantino de Crescenzo. A Night in May 7
Cunningham Woods, F. The Village Organist 257, 7

Davidson, Frank. I will praise Thee, O God 1
De Orellana, L. A. Melody from the "Faust" Ballet 3
D'Hardelot, Guy. Without thee ... 4
Dicks, Ernest A. A Handbook of Examinations in Music 5
Dictionary of National Biography, Vol. LIII., Vol. LIV., and Vol. LV.... 91, 594, 5

Ellis, William Ashton. Richard Wagner's Prose Works 4

Facer, Thomas. Novello's School Music. A Merry Christmas 4
Ford, Ernest. Scène Bacchanale. On Parting 4
Foster, Myles B. Behold, I bring you good tidings 4
Fox, Arthur. Three Songs 4
Frewin, T. H. Folle Farine. Danse piquante 403, 6

Digitized by Google

Page

German, Edward. Masque from Music to "As you like it" 104
—— Suite for Violin and Pianoforte ... 403
Greenish, Frederick R. He shall swallow up Death in Victory 857

Hadow, W. H. An Album of Five Songs 185
Harris, Clement. Il Penseroso and L'Allegro 403
Hasse, Max. Neue Lieder und Duette 328
Hegar, Friedrich. Manasse 329
Henderson, W. J. What is good Music? 543
Hoyte, W. S. Scherzo 328
Humperdinck, Engelbert. The Seven Kids 745
Hymn-Melodies and Sequences for the whole year 330

Incorporated Society of Musicians ... 545

Jackman, Percy. There is a garden in her face 104
Jacobi, Georges. Cinderella 745
Jones, H. Festing. King Bulbous ... 34
Jordan, C. Warwick. Congregational Hymn Anthems 329
—— Rameau's favourite Gavotte in D... 735
Jozé, T. R. G. A Sunbeam Messenger 329

Kett, George. Ave Verum 185

Lardelli, G. Norwegian Boatmen's Song 403
—— Dan Cupid and Doctor Reason ... 605
Lavignac, Albert. The Music-Dramas of Richard Wagner 605
Lohr, Harvey. How long wilt Thou forget me 185

Macfarren, Walter. Third Scherzo, Sixth Tarantella 479
Mackenzie, A. C. Three Dances from the Music to J. M. Barrie's "Little Minister 33, 104
Macpherson, Charles. The Office for the Holy Communion... 745
Marks, J. Christopher. Reverie ... 104
Martin, George C. Original Compositions for the Organ, and Organ Arrangements 257, 328
McEwen, Robert F. The Rover of Lochryan 104
Meacham, C. J. B. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in F 402
Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, F. Andante with Variations and Allegro in B flat 543
Meyer-Helmund, Erik. Standchen. Die Linde 816
Minshall, E. The Organist's Magazine of Voluntaries 256
Modern Composers. A Merry Christmas 816
Moonie, J. A. A Woodland Dream ... 185
Moor, Emanuele. Canzone d'amore ... 736
Moorat, Joseph S. Ten Songs from the "Hesperides" of Robert Herrick 34
Moore, Graham P. Wanderer's Night Song 329
Moore, Thomas. 'Tis all but a dream at the best 605

Needham, Alicia Adelaide. Lang Syne. This life is a fleeting breath. My heart's treasure 816
Nicholl, William. The Auld Fisher ... 605
Nunn, E. Cuthbert. The Fairy Slipper 39
Novello's Parish Choir Book:—
Nos. 339 to 348 103
349, 351, 352, 354 to 356 544
358 to 360, 362 to 369 604
—— Part-Song Book:—
Nos. 779 to 781 104
—— Original Compositions for the Organ:—
Nos. 255 to 258 103
262 to 269 478
270 to 273 675
—— The Orpheus:—
Nos. 305 to 306 186
—— Octavo Anthems:—
Nos. 581, 583 to 585, 590 to 592 ... 256
599 to 603 605
572, 574, 582, 586, 587 675
—— Collection of Words of Anthems 544
—— Village Chant Book 815
—— Octavo edition of Trios, Quartets, &c., for Female Voices:—
Nos. 317 to 320 816
—— Octavo edition of Two-Part Songs for Female Voices:—
Nos. 108 to 110 675

Oesten, Max. Six Easy Pieces for Violin and Pianoforte 403

Page

Page, Arthur. An April Shower ... 33
Palliser, Sybil. Blue-Bell 34
—— Just for once 817
Pearce, Charles W. The Man of Sorrows. Easter Cantata 184
Prendergast, William. The Office for the Holy Communion 185

Richards, Arthur. The Waxwork Carnival 33
Ridsdale, C. J. Communion Service, No. 3... 185
Roberts, J. Varley. Advent. Six Short Anthems 735
Robinson, Hamilton. Te Deum Laudamus and Benedictus 402
Robinson, John R. The Princely Chandos 329
Roeckel, Joseph. Mignonette. Poppies 605
Ronald, Landon. Twelve Songs ... 674

Salmon, H. Anthony. The Imperial Souvenir 39
Sampson, George. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis. O Saving Victim 185
Sarasin, Camille de. Novellette in D... 403
Schumann, Robert. Song of Night ... 186
Schyralski, M. Forest Scenes 403
Shaw, Thomas. The Sacred Choralæon 675
Shillington, Mary. Three Two-Part Songs in Canon Form. Scherzo
Smith, Eleanor; Graynor, Jessie L.; Root, F. W.; Atkinson, F. H. Singing Verses for Children... 103
Somervell, Arthur. Take, O take those lips away. Love's Apology 675
Stainer, J. The Village Organist 257, 730
—— Six Pieces for the Organ 34
Stephenson, Edwin. The Melodrama... 33
Stockhausen, Ernst von. Irische Volkslieder 736
Surette, Thomas W. The Eve of St. Agnes 256

Taylor, Sedley. The Lord my faithful Shepherd is 185
Tosti, F. Paolo. Sonnet 605
Tschaikowsky, P. Impromptu in A flat 104

Vanderpump, W. C. Dear Lady ... 675
Venables, L. C. Choral and Orchestral Societies 328

Wareing, Herbert W. Princess Snowflake. The Court of Queen Summergold 479
Weber, Carl Maria von. Album of Eighteen Songs 185
Weingartner, Felix. Twelve Poems ... 328
West, John E. The Office for the Holy Communion 816
Westlake, Frederick. A Match... ... 104
—— Mass of the Holy Name 479
White, Maude Valérie. Cradle Song ... 605
Wilhelmj, August. A Modern School for the Violin 736
Willis, Kate. Springtime. The Maid and the Elf... 676
Wilson, Archibald W. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D and G 329
Wilson, H. Chilver. Skippers Three ... 104
Wood, Henry J. A Waif and a Stray... 33

MUSIC IN THE PROVINCES AND ABROAD.

Page

America 42, 264, 407, 481, 547, 606, 749, 822

Belfast 676, 817
Bergen Musical Festival 337
Birmingham 39, 113, 186, 257, 330, 403, 479, 545, 606, 676, 745, 817
Bologna 401
Bristol ... 39, 186, 331, 404, 480, 676, 746, 818

Cambridge 40, 480
Cologne 409

Dublin ... 40, 186, 258, 331, 404, 545, 746, 818
Dundee 39
Dusseldorf, "Mors et Vita" at 327

East Anglia ... 40, 113, 187, 258, 331, 404, 480, 818
Edinburgh ... 41, 113, 187, 258, 332, 677, 818
Exeter 331

Page

Foreign Notes 49, 119, 194, 267, 339, 410, 484, 549, 608, 680, 751, 825

Glasgow 41, 114, 188, 259, 333, 546, 677, 746, 819

Liverpool 32, 114, 188, 260, 333, 405, 546, 606, 677, 746, 819
Lower Rhine Festival 478

Manchester 42, 115, 189, 262, 334, 405, 546, 678, 747, 820
Montreal 408

North Staffordshire... 39
Northumberland and Durham 42, 116, 189, 261, 334, 406, 748, 820
Nottingham ... 43, 116, 261, 335, 547, 820

Oxford 43, 262, 482

Paris 45, 117, 191, 263, 312, 337, 406, 547, 606, 679, 749, 821
Perth 113, 187, 258

Sheffield and District 43, 262, 335, 406, 678, 748
Southern Counties 44, 189

Yorkshire ... 44, 116, 190, 262, 335, 748, 821

MISCELLANEOUS CONCERTS, INTELLIGENCE, &c.

Abbey Glee Club 49
Alderman Sir Stuart Knill... 118
Alexandra Palace Choir 549
—— "Golden Legend" at the 750
Allerton, Miss Rina (Recital) 549
Allgemeine Deutsche Musik-Verein 478, 607, 750
Annunciation, Church of the 338
Antonietti, Mr. (Concert at Berlin) 118, 410
Archer, Mr. Edgar (Recital) 49
Associated Board, The 192
—— (Six Exhibitions) 824
"As you like it" at the Alexandra Palace 549
Attwater, Mr. J. P. (Appointment) ... 825
Aubrey, Mr. Maurice (Concert) 735

"Banner of St. George," E. Elgar's, at Worcester 824
Bantock, Mr. Granville (Concert) ... 607
Barker, Miss Emma (Concert) 549
Barns, Miss Ethel, and Phillips, Mr. C. (Concert) 825
Barrett, Miss T. (Concert) 339
Battersea Polytechnic Choral Society 266, 483
Bayreuth Festspiele, Programme of ... 824
Bentley, Dr. J. M. (Prize-winner) ... 266
Berg, Miss Jessie, and Blumenthal, Miss Clara (Recital) 482
Berlin Allgemeine Musik-Zeitung ... 49
—— Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy Fund 338
—— Musical Exhibition 338
Bernard Carrodus Quartet 48
Bermondsey Settlement Choral Union 48, 405
Bevan, Mr. Fred. (Farewell Dinner) ... 410
Blackburne, Miss Clara (Concert) ... 549
Blaha, Herr (Concert) 825
Bloomfield-Zeisler, Mrs. (Recital) ... 393
Boesendorfer, Herr Ludwig (Prize Competitions) 48
Bohemian String Quartet ... 264, 339
Bonavia, Miss Ethel (Recital) 549
Boston Symphony Orchestra 751
Bow and Bromley Choir ("Judas Maccabæus") 339, 750
Bowick, Miss Ellen, and Keel, Mr. F. (Concert) 825
Boxall, Mr. Douglas (Recital) 549
Brennerberg, Miss Irene von 333
British Chamber Music Concerts ... 824
—— Museum Rifle Association 338
Brook, Miss E (Recital) 452
Burmeister, Herr Richard (Appointment) 825
Busoni, Signor (Recital) 28

"Caractacus," by Mr. E. Elgar 608
Carmichael, Miss Mary (Concert) ... 193
Carreno, Madame (Recital) 474
Carrodus String Quartet (Concert) ... 825
Catford Choral Society 46
Central American Exhibition 49
Cerasoli, Signorine (Recital) 410
Chaplin Trio (Recital) 337
Cheeseman, The Misses (Recital) ... 48
Chelsea and Battersea Choral Society ... 193
Cheltenham New Philharmonic Society 481
—— Elgar's "King Olaf" 824

Digitized by Google

Page

Choir Appointments 53, 270, 343, 486, 552, 610, 683, 754, 828
Chopin's Portrait, Reproduction of ... 617
Christmann, Mdlles. Emile and Gabrielle (Recital) 549
Church Music 23, 96, 169, 242, 310, 385, 459, 529, 603, 664, 728, 800
—— Sunday School Festival 483
Civil Service Vocal Union ... 49, 410
Coenen, Mr. Willem (Concert) 32
Coleridge-Taylor, Mr. (Concert) 192
Cologne Musical Festival 266
—— String Quartet 48
Composers' Competitions 549
Cortesi, Mdlle. Eva (Concert) 265
Court Theatre, Weimar ("Fantasio," Smyth, Miss E.) 483
Cove, Miss Kate, and Elliott, Miss M. (Concert) 393
Cowen, Mr. F. H. (Recital) 318
Craven, Mr. J. (Recital) 482
Croydon Orchestral Society 200
Crystal Palace Orchestral Concerts ... 117
Curtius Concert Club (Concert) 823

D'Albert, Mr. Eugene (Recital) 474
Dalton, Miss Doris (Concert) 482
Daly, Miss Florence (Concert) 482
De Greef, Mr. A. (Recital) 118
De Lara, Madame Adelina (Recital) ... 47
Denmark Hill Musical Society 118
"Deutsche Nachrichten" Competition... 751
De Vergniol, Madame Anne (Recital) ... 549
Dohnányi, Herr Ernst von (Recital) ... 800
Dolmetsch, Mr. A. (Concert) 47
Donkersley, Miss Isabella (Concert) ... 482
Dreyschock, Herr Felix (Recital) ... 483
Dvorák ("Te Deum") 119, 750
Dubois, Miss Marie (Recital) 549
Dulwich Philharmonic Society ... 193, 824
Dye, Mr. A. J. (Concert) 48

Ealing Choral Society 266, 338
Eayres, Mr. W. H. 330
Eisler, Misses Marianne and Clara ... 482
Eisteddfod at Queen's Hall 119
Eisteddfod Caerludd 824
Elderhorst, Herr (Recitals) 735
"Elijah" at the Alexandra Palace ... 482
—— at the People's Palace 823
Elvey, George ("Gavotte ancienne") ... 104
English Ladies' Orchestral Society ... 194

Facts, Rumours and Remarks 20, 97, 167, 238, 308, 383, 456, 526, 598, 660
Fenn, Miss Susetta (Concert) 750
Festival Committee... 410
Finsbury Choral Association 825
Ford, Mr. Walter (Recital) 47
Fowles, Mr. Ernest (Recital) 549
—— Mr. Godwin (Appointment) ... 680
Fransella, Mr. (Recital) 410
Frickenhaus, Madame (Concert) 118
Friedheim, Mr. Arthur 393
Fry, Mr. Charles (Costume Recitals) 176, 814
Fryer, Mr. Herbert (Recital) 825
Fussell, Miss May (Recital) 48
Fyne, Mr. Clinton (Recital) 482

Gambogi, Signorina 394
Gardner, Mr. Charles (Concert) 483
—— Mr. William A. (Concert) 48
Gericke, Herr W. (Appointment) ... 751
German, Edward (Intermezzo, Coronation March)... ... ... 113, 119
Gibson, Miss Louisa ("Book on the Theory of Music") 824
Goldschmidt, Mr. Otto (elected President) 118
Gomez, M. Manuel (Clarinet Quartet Party) 680
Gompertz, Mr. Richard (Concert) ... 47
Goodson, Miss K., Mr. Marsick, and Mr. Loevensohn (Concert) 825
Gordon, Miss Blanche (Concert) ... 119
Gounod, Monument to 679
Graener, Herr Paul (Concert) 192
Greene, Mr. Plunket, and Borwick, Mr. Leonard 249, 318
Grieg, Dr. Edvard (Bergen Musical Festival) 266
Grimson Family (Concert) 191
Grocers' Company Schools (Concert) ... 118
Grylls, Miss Cordelia (Recital) 825
Guildhall School, Presentation to 118, 194

Hadow, Mr. W. H., on "Structure of Instrumental Music" 338
Hallé, Lady, on tour 119
Hambourg, Mr. Mark 249
Hampstead Academy Choir 46
Handel Society 119, 392
Harmon, Mr. Percy (Appointment) ... 751

Page

Harvey, Miss Gertrude (Scholarship) ... 410
Hast, Mr. Gregory, and Young, Mr. Dal (Concert) 393
Hegner, Mr. Otto (Recitals) ... 410, 825
Henschel, Mr. and Mrs. (Concert) 265, 318
Hermann, Professor R. (Appointment)... 680
Hewitt, Miss Winifred (Recital) ... 533
Highbury Philharmonic Society... ... 824
Hillier, Mr. Louis (Concert) 192
Hirschfield, Miss (Concert) 410
Holloway, Mr. J. E. (Garden Party) ... 607
Holy Trinity, Paddington (Service) ... 48

Imperial Institute Orchestral Society 176, 249, 394
Incorporated Society of Musicians 119, 339, 483
Ingleton, Miss Evelyn (Recital) 825
Islington Presbyterian Church (Service) 750
Ivimey, Mr. Joseph (Presentation) ... 483

Jackson, Miss Leonora (Concert) ... 750
Janotha, Miss (Concert) 482
Jehin, M. Léon (Concerts) 265
"Judas Maccabæus" at the People's Palace 750

Kendal, Mrs. (Recital) 99
Kenney, Miss Rosa (Recital) 118
Kensington Town Hall (Concerts) ... 47
Ketélbey, Mr. Albert W. (Concert) ... 409
Kisch-Schorr, Madame (Recital) ... 28
Klengel, Dr. Paul (Appointment) ... 608
Kreuz, Mr. Emil 735
Kruse Quartet Party (Concert) 823
Kuckey, Mr. E. (Concert) 330
Kyrle Choir 49, 118, 410, 824

Lambe, Miss Adelaide (Recital) 482
Lamond, Mr. Frederic (Recital) ... 28, 193
Lara, Miss Isidora, and Lott, Mr. Douglas (Recital) 807
Lee, Miss Kate (Recital) 549
Leeds College of Music 410
Leighton House Maintenance Fund (Concerts) 824
Lewisham Parish Church, "Last Judgment" (Spohr) 49
Leytonstone Choral Society 410
Liebling, Mr. George (Recital) 28, 173, 249, 474
Little, Mr. Arthur (Recital) 482
London Academy of Music (Concert) ... 548
—— and Home Counties Amateur Band Association... 679
—— and Westminster Bank Orchestral Society 176
—— Gregorian Choral Association ... 483
—— Organ School (Concerts) ... 482, 607
—— Sunday School Choir... 191
—— University (Examinations)... ... 122
Löwe, Misses Anna and Louie (Concert) 806
Lucas, Miss Stanley, and Johnstone, Miss Lucie 482
Lyndhurst Road Church Choir 409

MacDougall, Miss (Recital) ... 49, 483
Mackenzie, Sir Alexander (Presentation) 118
Mallinson, Mr. and Mr. Albert (Concert) 825
Marlborough Place Amateur Society ... 265
Mancinelli's "Ero e Leandro" at Venice 192
Marchesi, Madame Blanche (Recital) 28, 99, 393, 734
Marks, Mr. Mawson- (Recital) 549
Matthay, Mrs. Tobias (Recital) 419
"May Queen" (S. Bennett) at the Alexandra Palace 409
Meads, Mr. Ernest (Recital) 49
Mercier, M., Monument to Gounod by... 679
Miles, Miss Agnes (Recital) 393
Mitcham Choral Society 193
Monte Carlo (Festival Concert) 103
Moore, Madame Bertha (Recital) ... 47
Morecambe Music Competition 194
Morley, Mr. John (Concert) 482
Mozart Society 47, 265, 823
Multerer, Mdlle. Lina 807
Municipal Opera House 550
Municipality of Paris (Prize Competition) 193
Musgrave, Mr. A. R. (Choral Society) 265, 409
Musical Artists' Society 482
Musical Competitions 400
Musicians' Prayer Union, Formation of 410

National Convention of Music Teachers 607
—— Co-operative Festival 607
Needham, Alicia, "Hush Songs" ... 49
Nemes, Mr. Desider (Recital) 482
Newland-Smith, Mr. (Concert) 47
Newstead, Mr. Graham (Resignation) ... 339
Nicholson, Messrs. 608
Niecks, Professor (Life of Schumann) ... 410
Nonconformist Choir Union Festival (Report) 549, 750
North London Orchestral Society ... 47

Page

North Suburban Choral Union of Melbourne ("King Olaf") 824

Ockleston-Lippa, Mdme. Kate (Recital) 549
Organ Appointments 53, 123, 198, 239, 270, 343, 413, 486, 552, 610, 683, 754, 828
—— Music 23, 96, 170, 242, 311, 386, 460, 529, 604, 664, 729, 800
O'Sullivan, Mr. Denis (Concert) 265
Oxford University (Examinations) ... 823

Pachmann, Vladimir de (Recitals) 393, 474, 533, 734
Paderewski, Mr. (Recital) 318
Pancera, Mdlle. Ella 474
Paque, Mr. Philip (Appointment) ... 825
Paris Prize Competition 679
Park Church Choral Society 48
Parratt, Sir Walter 257
Parry, Mr. Edward B. (Recital) 419
Parsons, Mr. Herbert (Recital) 174
Passion Play at Selzach 266
Patterson, Miss Elizabeth (Recital) ... 482
People's Concert Society 183
—— Palace Choral Society 338
Peppercorn, Miss Gertrude (Recital) ... 28
Philharmonic Society 192
Pinches, Mr. George (Organ Recital) ... 194
Pitt, Mr. Percy, and Frewin, Mr. T. H. (Concert) 408
Plain-song and Mediæval Music Society (Annual Report) 119
Powell, Miss Maud (Recital) 807
Pudor, Dr., and Madame Sanna Pudor von Rhyn 806

Queen's Hall Concerts 47

Randegger, Signor Alberto 339
Reeves, Mr. Sims, Testimonial to ... 483
Rendell, Mr. (Organ Recital) ... 410, 483
Reynolds, Miss Edie (Recital) 533
Rhondda Glee Society 266
Richardson, Dr. A. (Presentation) ... 49
Richter Concerts 732, 823
Ribll, Miss Maud (Recital) 482
Ring, Miss Eleanor, and Fox, Miss E. ... 482
Riss-Arbeau, Madame (Recitals)... ... 845
Roberts, Miss Marie (Concert) 264
Rodbard, Miss Catherine (Concert) ... 49
Ronjitzky, Master Wolodia (Recital) ... 533
Rorke, Miss Mary (Concert) 193
Rosenthal, Mr. M. (Recital) 318
Ross and Moore, Messrs. (Recitals) 474, 825
Rossini's "Guillaume Tell" 339
Rowland, Mr. Campbell (Presentation) 483
Royal Academy of Music ... 194, 608, 750
Royal Amateur Orchestral Society 29, 176, 249
Royal College of Music (Examinations) 607, 824
Royal College of Organists (Examinations) 118
Royal Military Guards' Chapel (Service) 750
Royal Opera (Announcements) 338
Royal Orchestral Society 394
Royal Society of Musicians 266, 337, 823
Rudall, Carte and Co., Messrs. (Professional Pocket Book) 825
Ruegger, Miss Elsa (Concert) 483
Rummell, Mr. Franz (Concert Tour) 193, 266, 680

Sabrino, Senor and Senora (Recital) ... 734
Sachs, Mr. Edward, on "Stage construction"... 751
St. Anne's, Soho, Bach's "Passion" ... 269
St. Anselm's, Davies St., "Last Judgment" (Spohr) 49
St. Cuthbert's Hall Choral Society 193, 409
St. Gabriel's, Willesden Green, "Daughter of Jairus" (Stainer) ... 194
St. James's Hall (Concerts) 47
St. Margaret Pattens, Rood Lane (Services) 119
St. Margaret's, Westminster (Wagner's "Parsifal") 824
St. Mark's, Kennington, "Mors et Vita" (Gounod) 49
—— Kensington, "Stabat Mater" ... 266
St. Mary, Brookfield, "Last Judgment" (Spohr) 49
St. Paul's Cathedral 48, 265, 338
St. Saviour's Choral Society 410
St. Stephen's, Poplar 339
"Samson" (Handel) at the People's Palace 679
Sauer, Mr. Emil (Recital)... 28
Sauret, Mr. Emile (at Antwerp) 139
—— Compositions 823
Savoy Theatre, "The Gondoliers," revival of 266
Scharwenka, Professor Xaver 750
Schjelderup, Madame Hanka (Recital) 734, 806
Scoma, Signor (Concert) 549
"Shamus O'Brien," by Professor Stanford 680

Digitized by Google

Page

Sharpe, Mr. Ernest (Recital) 800
Shee, Miss Florence, (Concert) 482
Sickert, Mr. Leonard (Recital) 807
Slavonic Choral Society, Dvorák's "Te Deum" 119
Slocombe, Mr. A. J., and Ould, Miss Kate (Concert) 825
Smyth, Miss Ethel M., "Fantasia" by 338, 680
South Hampstead Orchestra 409
South London Choral Association ... 822
South Place Ethical Society (Concert) 339
Stanford, Professor Villiers, "L'Allegro ed il Pensieroso" 118, 194
Staunton, Madame Cecilia (Concert) ... 824
Steinway Hall (Concerts) 47
Stewart, Sir Robert P. (Memoir of) ... 680
Stock Exchange Orchestral Society 28, 175
—— Male-Voice Choir 680
Stockhausen, Professor Julius 679
Stoke Newington Choral Association 46, 193, 338
Strolling Players' Orchestral Society 176, 394
Such, Mr. Percy (Concert) 48
Sullivan, Sir A., and Mackenzie, Sir A. C. (Personal) 119
Summerscales Musical Competition ... 735

Temperance Choral Society 410
Tew, Mr. Whitney (Recital) 394
"The Epic of Sounds," Book on, by Miss Freda Winworth 478
"The Holy Supper," Wagner, at Queen's Hall 49
"The Princess of Parmesan," by Mr. M. Latham 192
Thomas, Mr. Goring ("The Swan and the Skylark") 339
Thorne, Mr. E. H. (Concert) 825
Toms, Miss Gwendolen, Sutcliffe, Mr. J., and Williams, Mr. Arthur (Concerts) 409, 482
Tonic Sol-fa College 400, 607
Toop, Mr. Augustus (Concert) 192
Trinity College (Concerts) 46, 118, 250, 482, 548
—— London Local Examinations ... 410
Trinity Church House, "Hymn of Praise" (Mendelssohn) 750
Trotter, Dr. Yorke, Gluck's "Orpheus," performance of, by 824
Tucker, Miss Ingram, and Alexander, Miss (Concert) 549
Turin Exhibition 193
—— International Competition 266
Turpin, Professor E. H. (Inaugural Address) 751

Union Chapel, Islington 338

Vaillant, Mdlle. Gabrielle, Stradivarius of 483
Vandero, Mdlle. Olga, and Blanchet, M. Emile (Recital) 735
Verne, Miss Adela 410
Victoria Madrigal Society 47, 191, 408, 679
Virgil Technic Clavier Method 478

Wagner's "Ring" at Covent Garden ... 409
Walenn, Messrs. (Concert) 825
Wandsworth Choral and Orchestral Society 266
Warner, Master H. V. (Concerts) 48, 266
Werner, Mr. Theodore (Recital) ... 409
Wesche, Mr. Walter (Dinner to) ... 193
West Ham Choral Society 46
—— Philharmonic Society 48
West Hampstead Choral Society ... 409
West London Choral Association ... 193
Westminster Orchestral Society 29, 248, 394, 453, 750
Wild, Miss Margaret (Concert) 482
Wimbledon Male-Voice Choir } ... 338
Weston's Male-Voice Choir }
Wilson, Dr. A. W. (Appointment) ... 194
—— Mr. H. L. (Recital) 46
—— Miss Maud (Concert) ... 192, 194
Winter, Miss Maud (Concert) 548
Winterbottom, Mr. Frank (Bandmaster) 679
Withers, Mr. B. (Recital) 806
Witting, Miss Agnes, and Mathis, Madame Elsie 304
Wonnacott, Miss Grace (Recital) ... 338
Worcestershire Musical Union (Meeting) 823

"Zur weihe des Hauses" (Beethoven's), Autograph of 119
Zwintscher, Herr Rudolph (Recital) ... 825

OBITUARY.

Page

Albanesi, Luigi 121
Albertini-Boucardé, Madame Augusta ... 196
Allen, George Benjamin 121
Alsop, James Robert 827
Alvary, Max 827
Argent, Miss H. A. 288
Atkins, Frederick 50

Bambridge, George Frederick 827
Barnett, Joseph Alfred 411
Beare, William 682
Behr, Franz 268
Behrens, Conrad 268
Bergson, Professor Michael 268
Besana, Antonio 122
Bettini, Alessandro 827
Bisaccia, Giovanni 121
Boardman, John George 551
Boehme, Professor Franz Magnus ... 827
Booth, Mrs. Josiah 753
Booth, Robert Handel 827
Brewster, William 610
Broadwood, Walter Stewart 826

Calsi, Joseph Li 341
Capocci, Gaetano 122
Carvalho, Leon 121
Comettant, Oscar 196
Constantine, Nathan 268
Cowden-Clarke, Mrs. Mary 93
Curti, Franz 196

Davies, John 51
Davis, Frederick William 412
Desormes, Louis 753
Dietz, Friedrich Wilhelm 122
Dvorák, Olga 196

Eichberg, Oscar 196
Elmore, Frank 551
Emery, Fanny 51

Ferrari, Angelo 121
Fillmore, Professor John C. 682
Fiori, Ettore 122
Furtado, Charles Fitch 122

Gallet, Louis 753
Gladstone, William Ewart 381
Gleich, Professor Ferdinand 485
Goodban, Henry William 753
Gouvy, Theodore 412

Hainauer, Julius 122
Harper, Thomas John 681
Hartmann, Emil 609
Heynberg, Désiré 412
Hignard, Jean Louis Aristide 341
Howell, Edward 196

Jones, Griffiths Rhys 50

Kempe, George R. 753
Koestinger, Franz 196
Krantz, Eugen 485

Latter, Richard 485
Lavoix, M. Henri 121
Lefort, Jules 682
Lichner, Heinrich 122
Lucas, Frederick 485
Luigini, Joseph 551

Mangeot, Edouard Joseph 485
Marmontel, M. Antoine François ... 122
Martucci, Teresa 268
Mason, Mrs. J. Redfern 551
Mayer, Dr. Wilhelm 196
Mayer, Louis 122
Mela, Vincenzo 51

Néruda, Norman 682
Neuendorff, Adolph 51
Nicolini, Signor 122

Oesterlein, Nicolaus 753
Olivieri, Gideoni 51

Pache, Johannes 122
Paul, Dr. Oscar 342
Pollini, Hofrath 51
Potts, Stacey Gardner 341
Pourtou, Leon 551

Reményi, Edward 412
Réty, Madame 51
Robinson, Joseph 609
Roentgen, Engelbert 51
Rose, Robert 341
Round, Samuel 682

Page

Samuel, Adolph 682
Savit, Victor 268
Scadding, William 551
Schubert, William 611
Schulhoff, Julius 269
Seidl, Anton 342
Sellé, William Christian 827
Siegert, Ferdinand 51
Statham, Rev. William 121
Stainer, Rev. Dr. William 341
Stott, Miss 688
Succo, Reinhold 51

Tchobadjian, Dicran 341
Thomas, William Freeman 268
Turner, John Bradbury 341

Van Damme, M. Pierre 827
Van Gruisen, Nicolas L. 551
Van Westerhout, Niccolo 682
Von Arnold, Professor Yourij 609
Von Haslinger, Baron Johann 196
Von Königsloew, Professor 753
Von Weber, Lieut.-Col. Carl 121

Weiss, Herr 551
Westlake, Frederick 195
White, Frederick Meadows 412
White, Louise 121
Wilberforce, Edward 682
Wolff, Heinrich 551
Wolff, Hermann 51

CORRESPONDENCE.

Algernon Ashton, Mr., among the Tombs 682
Analytical Programmes in New York ... 122
An Appeal for Help 610
Antics of Pianists 551
A Scotch Violinist 485
A Suggestion to Musical Publishers ... 51

Bristol Musical Festival 610
Browning, Robert, as a Musician ... 753

Choral Communion Services 753
Church Music Statistics 196
Croyghton's Cathedral Music 51

Handel's "Nisi dominus" 411
"Hark! the Herald Angels sing" 196, 268

Leeds Musical Festival 610

St. Magnus 268, 412

BRIEF SUMMARY OF COUNTRY AND COLONIAL NEWS.

Aberdeen 197
Abergavenny 197
Andover 122
Arbroath 122
Armagh 51, 753
Auckland 553

Basingstoke 51, 412
Bedford 51, 197
Berkeley 753
Biggleswade 51
Blackburn 51, 197
Bourne End 122
Bowdon 122
Bradfield 51
Bridlington 827
Brierley Hill 52
Brighton 52, 413
Bristol 123
Burnley 197
Burton-on-Trent 123
Bury St. Edmunds 269

Calverley 827
Canterbury 197
Caythorpe 269
Chard 52
Chelmsford 52, 342, 485
Cheltenham 827
Chesterfield 197
Chigwell 269, 610
Chorley 753
Cirencester 269
Cockermouth 413
Cottingley 269
Coventry 269
Crewkerne 342
Crickhowell 342
Croydon 342

Digitized by Google

	Page
Darlington	52, 197
Devizes	342
Dover	52, 683
Dublin	123
Dudley	52, 269, 827
Dunedin (New Zealand)	52
Dundee	197, 269
Durham	485
Earlestown	342
Eastbourne	197, 485
Eccles	52
Ely	485
Epping	342
Exeter	52
Felixstowe	342
Fenny Stratford	413
Folkestone	551
Forest Gate	552
Frome	342
Gloucester	123, 269, 342, 486
Gravesend	123, 683
Great Malvern	123, 342
Guernsey	342
Guildford	552
Halifax (Nova Scotia)	413
Handsworth	52
Hanley	754
Harrogate	827
Havarden	197
Henley-on-Thames	342, 754
High Wycombe	52
Hollinwood	52
Holyhead	197
Honiton	413
Hull	342
Ilfracombe	552
Kendal	269
Keswick	413
Knottingley	52, 343
Leeds	53, 552
Leicester	343
Leyton	269
Lincoln	413
Llanelly	197
Louth	413
Lowestoft	610, 754
Luton	197
Manchester	610
Margate	269
Marlborough	413
Melbourne	683
Moffat	269
New Brighton	486
Newcastle-on-Tyne	486, 683
Newport (Fife)	343
Newport (Shropshire)	754
Newtown	343
Ongar	197
Oxford	197
Padiham, Burnley	269
Plumstead	486
Plymouth	53, 269
Port Elizabeth	486, 683, 754
Preston	343
Ramsey	343
Rawtenstall	123
Reading	198, 343
Rhyl	610
Rotherham	123
Runcorn	198
St. Albans	123, 269, 343
Salford	683
San Fernando (Trinidad)	754
Southsea	683
Stirling	270
Sunderland	683
Sydney (N.S.W.)	123
Teddington	413
Toowomba (Queensland)	486
Trinidad	198
Tunbridge Wells	343
Victoria	610
Walsall	343
Wellington (New Zealand)	53, 754, 827
Woking	53
Wolverhampton	270
Worcester	198, 413
Worthing	198, 413

CHURCH MUSIC: SERVICES, ANTHEMS, &c.

THE MUSICAL TIMES.

ANTHEMS, CHORALS, AND HYMNS, PRICE THREE-HALFPENCE EACH.

444 A day in Thy courts Sir G. A. Macfarren
166* Adeste Fideles (O come, all ye faithful)
166 Ditto (English and Latin words)
80 Again my mournful sighs ... Battishill
121 A Grace (Give thanks to God) V. Novello
303 A Hymn of Faith Edited by J. Barnby
37 Alla Trinita beata (For these and all Thy)
17 All people that on earth ... Tallis
129 Almighty and everlasting God Gibbons
200 Almighty and merciful God Sir J. Goss
27 And He shall purify... ... ... Handel
560 And the angel said unto her King Hall
225 Arise, shine (Christmas) Sir G. Elvey
539 Ascribe unto the Lord ... Hugh Blair
601 As it began to dawn Myles B. Foster
275 As pants the hart ... ... Spohr
265 As we have borne (Easter) ..J. Barnby
386 Ave Maria ... ...Franz Abt
190 Ave Verum (Jesu, Word of God) Mozart
578 Ditto ... ... W. S. Hoyte
339 Ditto ... ... Gounod
509 Awake, put on strength Alice Borton
576 Awake up, my glory (Easter) J. Barnby
584 Awake up, my glory ... Battison Haynes
153 Before Jehovah's awful throne M. Madan
178 Behold, I bring you good tidings Goss
133 Behold, I bring you glad tidings Giovanni Croce
274 Behold, I bring you glad tidings C. W. Smith
90 Behold, I bring you glad tidings T. L. da Vittoria
185 Behold, how good and joyful Dr. Clarke
74 Behold now, praise... ... ...Creyghton
490 Behold now, praise the Lord G. J. Bennett
283 Behold now, praise the Lord Dr. Rogers
589 Behold, the Angel of the Lord B. Tours
665 Be merciful unto us ... J. E. West
285 Benedicite, omnia Opera ... Various
103 Blessed are the dead H. H. Pierson
522 Blessed are the dead C. V. Stanford
312 Blessed are the merciful Dr. H. Hiles
309 Blessed are they ... Berthold Tours
516 Blessed are they that fear Sir G. Elvey
110 Blessed be he (female voices) Neukomm
271 Blessed be the Lord God ... Dr. Nares
310 Blessed be the Lord God S. S. Wesley
342 Blessed be the Lord God Earl of Mar
651 Blessed be the man ... ... C. Harris
426 Blessed be the name (Harvest) H. Gadsby
30 Blessed is he ... ...Dr. Nares
277 Blessed is He (Easter) ... Gounod
46 Blessed is the people ... V. Novello
259 Blessing and glory ... ...Dr. Boyce
161 Blest are the departed ... ... Spohr
161* Ditto in G ... Spohr
648 Bow down Thine ear ... W. Beale
468 Break forth into joy ... J. Barnby
570 Break forth into joy ... Oliver King
137 But the Lord is mindful Mendelssohn
198 By the waters of Babylon G. B. Allen
8 Call to remembrance ... ... Farrant
336 Call to remembrance (s. & cho.) V. Novello
148 Charity, "La Carità" (4 trebles) Rossini
494 Christ became obedient ... J. F. Bridge
141 Christ being raised (Easter) S. Webbe
194 Christ being raised (do.) Sir G. Elvey
229 Christ is risen (do.) Sir G. Elvey
325 Christ is risen (do.) E. H. Thorne
169 Christ our Passover (do.) Sir J. Goss
529 Christ our Passover (do.) ... B. Tours
170 Come, Holy Ghost (s. & cho.) T. Attwood
125 Come, Holy Ghost ... ... Douland
536 Come now, and let us reason R. Briant
235 Come unto Me ... ... J. S. Smith
592 Come, weary Pilgrims, come F. Tozer
320 Comfort, O Lord ... ... Dr. Crotch
603 Crossing the Bar H. H. Woodward
61 Cry aloud and shout ... ... Croft
290 Daughters of Jerusalem Sir G. Elvey
360 Daughters of Zion ... ... Mendelssohn
192 Deus misereatur ... ... E. Mammatt
269 Doth not wisdom cry? ... ... R. Haking
228 Drive far from us the mortal foe V. Novello
465 Drop down, ye heavens ... J. Barnby
39 Easter Hymn... ... Arr. by V. Novello
217 Enter not into judgment T. Attwood
233 Envy! eldest born of hell! (Saul) Handel
554 Far from my heavenly home Ch. Vincent
473 Fear not, O Land ... Chas. H. Lloyd
6 Forgive, blest shade ... Dr. Callcott
292 For these and all Thy mercies Lancaster
574 Four Christmas Carols ... ... J. Barnby
597 Four Christmas Carols ... ... Various 286 Four Hymns for Christmas ... Various
346 Four Hymns from "The Hymnary"
479 Four Hymn Tunes ... ... J. Barnby
372 Four settings of the Kyrie ... Schubert
431 From all that dwell ... Dr. Walmisley
370 From the rising of the sun ... Ouseley
519 From Thy love as a Father Ch. Gounod
357 Give ear, O Lord (Ave Maria) C. Oberthür
503 Give peace in our time W. H. Callcott
441 Give the King ... ... A. H. Brown
205 Glory be to God on high V. Novello
165 Glory to God in the highest Pergolesi
665 God be merciful unto us J. E. West
421 God hath appointed a day (Easter) Tours
66 God, my King ... ... Bach
373 God save the noble Czar
31 God save the Queen .. V. Novello
564 God shall wipe away all tears J. T. Field
459 God so loved the world ... Sir J. Goss
588 God so loved the world ... ... J. Stainer
646 God that madest ... C. L. Naylor
654 God, Who madest ... E. H. Davies
35 Grant, O Lord (Collect) ... Mozart
358 Grant to us, Lord ... ... J. Barnby
432 Grant us Thy peace ... Mendelssohn
326 Grant, we beseech Thee ... H. Lahee
204 Great and marvellous .. ...Dr. Boyce
587 Hail, golden Morn!... E. A. Sydenham
202 Hallelujah! For unto us W. H. Monk
227 Hallelujah! Hallelujah!... V. Novello
177 Hark! the herald angels sing Dr. Ions
297 Hark! the herald angels sing Mendelssohn
76 & 77 Have mercy, O Lord... ... Mozart
186 Hear, holy Power ... ...Auber
504 Hearken, O Lord ... A. C. Mackenzie
417 Hearken unto me, my people A. Sullivan
625 Hearken unto me, ye that M. B. Foster
555 Hear me when I call ... King Hall
32 & 33 Hear my prayer, O God ... Kent
2 Hear my prayer, O Lord ... Winter
213 Hear the voice and prayer J. L. Hopkins
337 Hear us, O Saviour ... M. Hauptmann
4 Hear what God the Lord V. Novello
88 He comes, ordained of yore W. Jackson
361 He in tears that soweth ... Dr. Hiller
349 He is risen (Easter) ... ...H. Gadsby
157 Here shall soft charity ... ... Dr. Boyce
74 Holiest, breathe (Italian Chorale)
501 Holiest, breathe ... G. C. Martin
240 Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God J. Bishop
458 Holy Spirit, come, O come G. C. Martin
392 Hosanna in the highest (Advent) Stainer
107 How beautiful upon ... R. A. Smith
224 How dear are Thy counsels Dr. Crotch
247 How goodly are Thy tents ... Ouseley
354 How lovely are Thy dwellings ... Spohr
290 Hymns for Easter Calkin & J. Barnby
48 Hymnus Eucharisticus ... Dr. Rogers
423 I am Alpha and Omega (Trinity) J. Stainer
600 I did call upon the Lord Frank L. Moir
638 If I go not away ... ... T. Adams
448 If we believe that Jesus died Sir J. Goss
195 If ye love Me ... ... W. H. Monk
231 If ye love Me ... ...Tallis
420 If ye love Me ... ... Dr. C. S. Heap
506 If ye love Me ... ... Sir R. P. Stewart
120 I know that the Lord is great Ouseley
116 Incline Thine ear ... ... Himmel
304 In humble faith and holy love Dr. Garrett
98 In Jewry is God known ... ...Dr. Clarke
25 In Judah is God known Mendelssohn
190 In manus tuas (Like as the hart) Novello
238 In the beginning (Christmas) G. B. Allen
322 In the beginning (do.) E. H. Thorne
565 In the end of the Sabbath A. Carnall
151 In the sight of the unwise ... Ouseley
321 It is high time (Advent) ... ... J. Barnby
542 It shall come to pass ... ... B. Tours
280 I will arise (3 & 4 voices) Rev. R. Cecil
52 I will arise ... ... Creyghton
294 I will alway give thanks J. Baptiste Calkin
594 I will feed My flock... ...J. F. Bridge
253 I will lay me down in peace C. Stokes
451 I will lay me down ... A. C. Mackenzie
545 I will lay me down ... Dr. A. H. Mann
188 I will lift up mine eyes ... Dr. Clarke
118 I will sing of mercy (3 trebles) Novello
407 I will sing of Thy power Sir A. Sullivan
628 I will sing unto the Lord H. Purcell
299 Jesu, blessed Word of God ... Gounod
523 Jesu, give Thy servants (Ave Maris stella) ... ... Liszt
617 Jesu, priceless Treasure J. V. Roberts
393 Jesu, Lord of life ... G. A. Naumann
182 Jesus Christ is risen to-day ... Dr. Ions
147 Jubilate and Kyrie (in F) W. Jackson
277 Kyrie eleison (Nos. 1 and 2) ... Gounod

LONDON: NOVELLO AND COMPANY, LIMITED
AND
NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., NEW YORK.

No. 955. 16/8/98

Digitized by Google

THE MUSICAL TIMES.—Continued.

ANTHEMS, CHORALS, AND HYMNS.

279 Kyrie eleison (Nos. 1 to 4) ... Various 292 Kyrie eleison Mendelssohn & Weber
372 Kyrie eleison (Nos. 1 to 4) F. Schubert
332 Kyrie eleison ... ... F. Schubert
219 Kyries ... W. T. Best and Mendelssohn
94 Laudate nomen Domini Dr. C. Tye
410 Leave us not (Ascension) ... J. Stainer
6 Let all men praise the Lord Mendelssohn
527 Let every soul be subject ... J. Stainer
531 Let not your heart ... H. G. Trembath
244 Let the words ... ...J. Barnby
641 Let us now fear the Lord J. E. West
114 Let us now go (Christmas) E. J. Hopkins
513 Let us now go (ditto) ...J. T. Field
471 Let your light so shine ... J. Barnby
388 Lift thine eyes ... ... Mendelssohn
562 Like silver lamps ... ... J. Barnby
65 Lo, my Shepherd is divine ... Haydn
380 Lord Christ, when Thou hadst Haydn
29 Lord, for Thy tender ... ... Farrant
462 Lord, for Thy tender ... G. R. Vicars
376 Lord, how long wilt Thou Mendelssohn
401 Lord, I call upon Thee ... ... Ouseley
492 Lord, I call upon Thee John E. West
614 Lord, I call upon Thee ... A. D. Culley
68 Lord, let me know mine end... Greene
41 Lord of all power and might... Mason
419 Lord, we pray Thee Dr. J. V. Roberts
243 Lord, who shall dwell ... Dr. Rogers
149 Luther's Hymn
86 Methinks I hear ... ... Dr. Crotch
12 My God, look upon me ... J. Reynolds
478 My soul truly waiteth ... ... W. Rea
211 Not unto us, O Lord T. A. Walmisley
255 Not unto us, O Lord Lawes & Farrant
476 Not unto us, O Lord ... ... J. Barnby
241 Now is Christ risen (Easter) G. B. Allen
612 Now is Christ risen (do.) J. E. West
409 Now on the first day (do.) H. Lahee
21 Now pray we for our country Eliza Flower
84 Nunc dimittis in C ... ... Ebdon
547 O come, let us sing to the Lord B. Tours
391 O come let us worship ... Himmel
656 O come, Redeemer ... ... J. E. West
135 O give thanks ... ... Tucker
449 O give thanks ... ... W. Jackson, jun.
606 O God, who is like unto Thee M. B. Foster
221 O God, who in Thy heav'nly hand Handel
480 O have mercy upon me ... H. Leslie
495 Oh! for a closer walk with God
M. B. Foster
657 O Holy Babe! ... ... A. C. Mackenzie
266 O Holy Ghost ... Sir G. A. Macfarren
159 O how amiable ... ... V. Richardson
568 O how amiable ... ... J. E. West
493 O Lamb of God Geo. Ernest Lake
214 O Lord God, Thou strength Sir J. Goss
281 O Lord, how manifold (Harvest) J. Barnby
281* Ditto (Welsh words) ... J. Barnby
486 O Lord, how manifold (Harvest)
Sir G. A. Macfarren
314 O Lord, my God ... ... S. S. Wesley
276 O Lord, my God ... Rev. C. Malan
125 O Lord, my God ... ... Palestrina
163 O Lord, our Governor ... ... Marcello
366 O Lord, Thou art my God ... Ouseley
94 O Lord, we trust alone in Thee Handel
207 O Lord, Who hast taught us J. Marsh
484 O love the Lord ... ... A. H. Mann
553 On the first day of the week E. M. Lott
82 O praise God in His holiness J. Weldon
96 O praise the Lord ... ... J. Weldon
168 O praise the Lord ... ... Sir J. Goss
347 O praise the Lord ... ... Mozart
264 O praise the Lord ... Earl of Wilton
288 O pray for the peace ... Dr. Rogers
301 O Risen Lord (Ascension) ... J. Barnby
457 O Saving Victim ... ... B. Tours
624 O Saving Victim ... ... F. Kœnig
408 O Saviour of the world ... Sir J. Goss
514 O sing to God (Noël) ... ... Ch. Gounod
296 O taste and see Sir Arthur Sullivan
251 Out of the deep... ... ... Mozart
406 O was not Christ our Saviour ... J. Shaw
381 O Zion, that bringest good J. Stainer
257 Ponder my words, O Lord L. Colborne
237 Praised be the Lord daily ... T. Ebdon
582 Praise, O praise our God and King
Rev. E. V. Hall
112 Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem J. Scott
83 Praise the Lord ... ... Creyghton
209 Praise the Lord, O my soul Dr. W. Child
461 Praise the Lord, O my soul H. Lahee
72 Praise thou the Lord ... Mendelssohn
450 Praise ye the Lord (Harvest) Dr. Garrett
46 Pray for the peace ... ... V. Novello
520 Preserve me, O God ... C. Salaman
248 Protect us through (S.S.A.) Curschmann
355 Rejoice in the Lord ... ... Sir G. Elvey
558 Rejoice in the Lord ... ... B. Tours
297 Rejoice, O my people ... Mendelssohn
420 Remember not, Lord ... H. Purcell
92 Remember, O Lord (3 trebles) Boyce
276 Rend your heart ... J. Baptiste Calkin
463 Round Jerusalem ... ... Dr. Hiller
640 Save me, O God ... C. S. Jekyll
177 See, the morning star Dr. E. G. Monk
44 See what love ... ... Mendelssohn
605 Seek ye the Lord ... ... C. Bradley
273 Shades of silent night (Carol) S. Gee
334 Sing and rejoice (Christmas) J. Barnby
345 Sing, O daughter of Zion (do.) H. Gadsby
429 Sing, O heavens (Christmas) B. Tours
645 Sing, O heavens ... A. R. Gaul
437 Sing praises (Harvest) H. W. Wareing
541 Sing praises unto the Lord
W. A. C. Cruickshank
182 Sing the battle ... ... Dr. E. G. Monk
54 Sing unto the Lord (Christmas) Novello
70 Sleepers, wake; To God on high;
To Thee, O Lord ... ... Mendelssohn
127 Sound the loud timbrel ... ... Avison
440 Spare us, Lord most holy E. A. Sydenham
663 Spirit of mercy ... ... B. L. Selby
623 Spring ... ... F. H. Cowen
237 Sun of my soul ... ... Rev. H. L. Jenner
368 Sweet is Thy mercy ... ...J. Barnby
10 Teach me, O Lord ... ... Dr. Rogers
221 Teach me, O Lord ... ... T. Attwood
127 Teach me Thy way ... ... Croce
143 & 144 Te Deum in F ... W. Jackson
139 Te Deum in A ... ... J. T. Cooper
340 Te Deum in F ... ... Dr. S. S. Wesley
405 The angel Gabriel (Christmas) H. Smart
629 The eyes of all wait (Harvest) A. R. Gaul
262 The grace of God (Christmas) J. Barnby
550 The hallowed day (Christmas) J. Stainer
506 The Harvest-tide Thanksgiving J. Barnby
538 The legend of good St. Christopher
(Christmas Carol) ... F. J. Sawyer
369 The light hath shined (Xmas.) E. Silas
333 The Lord be a lamp Sir J. Benedict
59 The Lord descended ... ... P. Hayes
481 The Lord is exalted ... J. E. West
121 The Lord is King ... ... Pittman
318 The Lord is my Shepherd Macfarren
580 The Lord is my Shepherd H. W. Wareing
58 The Lord is my strength (Easter) Novello
805 The Lord is my strength (do.) W. H. Monk
398 The Lord is my strength (do.) H. Smart
107 The Lord loveth ... ... V. Novello
261 The night is far spent ... M. Smith
623 The night is far spent ... Bruce Steane
472 The radiant morn ... H. H. Woodward
445 There is a green hill Lord H. Somerset
46 There is a river... ... ... V. Novello
622 There was silence in Bethlehem's fields (S.A.T.B.) ... ... J. Stainer 586 There were shepherds abiding in the field (Christmas) ... ... B. Tours
609 There were shepherds ... M. B. Foster
273 There were whisp'rings ... J. T. Cooper
573 The Russian National Anthem
459 The Son of God goes forth A. Sullivan
598 The star that now is shining O. King
379 The strain upraise ... ... A. Sullivan
649 The strife is o'er ... ... B. Steane
534 The sun shall be ... H. H. Woodward
384 They have taken away my Lord J. Stainer
23 Thine, O Lord, is the greatness Kent
4 Thou art gone to the grave Beethoven
628 Thou crownest the year ... J. Booth
249 Thou knowest, Lord, the secrets Purcell
131 Thou visitest the earth ... Dr. Greene
522 Thou wilt keep him T. T. Trimnell
634 Thou wilt keep him... ... A. D. Culley
464 Three Introits or Anthems J. B. Calkin
453 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts Stainer
123 To Thee, great Lord (Moses) Rossini
431 Turn Thee again, O Lord T. Attwood
419 Turn Thy face from my sins A. Sullivan
155 Turn Thy face from my sins T. Attwood
100 Unto Thee, O Lord... ... Charles King
108 Veni, Creator Spiritus ... ... Tallis
19 Vital Spark ... Harmonised by Novello
661 Weary of earth ... ... F. Tozer
316 We march to victory; and The day is past and over... ... ...J. Barnby
660 When the Sabbath was past
M. B. Foster
573 While all things were in quiet silence
O. King
517 While my watch I am keeping Gounod
A Singer's Requiem ... ... J. F. Bridge
442 While shepherds watch'd W. T. Best
498 While the earth (Harvest) ... B. Tours
596 Whosoever drinketh of this water
J. T. Field
395 Whoso hath this world's good J. B. Calkin
181 Why seek ye (Easter) E. J. Hopkins
621 With all Thy Hosts ... J. E. West
636 Worthy is the Lamb ... J. F. Barnett
414 Ye shall dwell in the land ... J. Stainer

(To be continued.)

LONDON: NOVELLO AND COMPANY, LIMITED.

Digitized by Google

NOVELLO'S
OCTAVO EDITION OF ANTHEMS.

FIFTEEN VOLUMES NOW READY, BOUND IN CLOTH, PRICE 7s. EACH.

424. Abide with me ... R. Dunstan 3d.
478. A few more years shall roll H. Blair 3d.
592. Alleluia! now is Christ risen T. Adams 3d.
597. A prayer for peace ... Crotch 3d.
247. All nations whom B. Luard Selby 4d.
213. All they that trust ... Dr. Hiller 8d.
30. All Thy works ... E. H. Thorne 3d.
475. All Thy works ... J. Barnby 4d.
503. All Thy works ... G. H. Ely 4d.
9. All ye who weep ... ... Gounod 3d.
261. And all the people saw J. Stainer 6d.
229. And it was the third hour Elvey 4d.
485. And Jacob was left alone J. Stainer 6d.
357. And the wall of the city Oliver King 3d.
402. And when the day of Pentecost C. W. Smith 3d.
228. Art thou weary ... C. H. Lloyd 6d.
311. As I live, saith the Lord E. T. Chipp 3d.
333 As it began to dawn Ch. Vincent 3d.
498. As Moses lifted up F. Gostelow 3d.
24. As the hart pants (S.S.T.B.) Gounod 3d.
24*. Ditto (T.T.B.B.) Gounod 3d.
147. Ascribe unto the Lord Travers 6d.
109. Ascribe unto the Lord S. S. Wesley 8d.
399. At the Lamb's High Feast we sing Rev. E. V. Hall 3d.
456. At the Sepulchre H. W. Wareing 4d.
56. Awake, awake, put on J. Stainer 6d.
149. Awake, awake, put on M. Wise 4d.
199. Awake, thou that sleepest Stainer 6d.
130. Awake up, my glory M. Wise 3d.
578. Be glad and rejoice ... B. Steane 3d.
212. Be glad, O ye righteous H. Smart 4d.
567. Be Thou exalted ... C. Bayley 3d.
440. Before the heavens H. W. Parker 3d.
598. Behold, God is great E. W. Naylor 4d.
349. Behold, how good (A.T.T.B.) A. J. Caldicott 3d.
349.* Ditto (S.A.T.B.) A. J. Caldicott 3d.
419. Ditto Hamilton Clarke 4d.
89. Behold, I bring you J. Barnby 3d.
296. Ditto Rev. E. V. Hall 3d.
348. Ditto J. Maude Crament 4d.
554. Behold, I send ... J. V. Roberts 4d.
387. Behold My servant J. F. Bridge 3d.
65. Behold now, praise J. B. Calkin 3d.
315. Behold, O God ... F. W. Hird 4d
524 Behold, the days come Woodward 4d.
502. Behold, two blind men J. Stainer 3d.
143. Be merciful ... ... H. Purcell 6d.
257. Be merciful E. A. Sydenham 3d.
597. Be peace on earth ... Crotch 3d.
583. Be ye all of one mind A. E. Godfrey 3d.
471. Be ye therefore followers of God A. S. Baker 3d.
77. Blessed are they ... W. H. Monk 3d.
182. Blessed are they ... Arthur Page 3d.
390. Blessed are they A. W. Batson 3d.
15. Blessed be the God S. S. Wesley 4d.
183. Blessed be the Lord Dr. Heap 6d.
331. Blessed be the Lord C. L. Williams 4d.
400. Blessed City ... A. C. Fisher 4d.
262. Blessed is He ... C. H. Lloyd 8d.
284. Blessed is He F. E. Gladstone 2d.
292. Blessed is he ... A. C. Mackenzie 4d.
64. Blessed is the man ... Sir John Goss 4d.
206. Blessed is the man Clarke-Whitfeld 3d.
286. Blessed Jesu, Stabat Mater Dvorák 6d.
5. Blessing, glory, wisdom B. Tours 4d.
378. Bless the Lord ... M. Kingston 4d.
374. Bless thou the Lord Oliver King 3d.
450. Bless thou the Lord C. Bayley 4d.
97. Blow ye the trumpet Henry Leslie 3d.
118. Bow Thine ear ... W. Bird 3d.
92. Break forth into joy R. Prentice 6d.
415. Ditto S. Coleridge-Taylor 3d.
491. Ditto B. Steane 3d.
323. Brightest and best Rev. E. V. Hall 4d.
340. Bring unto the Lord F. E. Gladstone 3d.
98. Brother, thou art gone Sir J. Goss 4d.
279. By Babylon's wave Gounod 6d.
197. By the rivers of Babylon L. Samson 4d.
121. By the waters of Babylon Boyce 4d.
511. Ditto ... H. Clarke 4d.
116. Call to remembrance J. Battishill 6d.
497. Christ both died E. W. Naylor 3d.
368. Christ is risen ... J. M. Crament 3d.
454. Christ is risen G. B. J. Aitken 3d.
533. Christ is risen ... J. V. Roberts 3d.
307. Christ our Passover Rev. E. V. Hall 3d.
370. Christ the Lord Rev. E. V. Hall 3d.
488. Christians, awake ... J. Barnby 3d.
445. Cleanse me, Lord G. F. Wrigley 3d.
52. Come, and let us return Sir J. Goss 3d.
95. Come, and let us return W. Jackson 3d.
201. Come, Holy Ghost ... J. L. Hatton 4d.
283. Come, Holy Ghost Sir G. Elvey 4d.
293. Come, my soul ... G. C. Martin 4d.
314. Come now, and let us H. W. Wareing 4d.
1. Come unto Him ... Gounod 2d.
103. Come unto Me (Bach) J. Stainer 3d.
256. Come unto Me H. R. Couldrey 3d.
334. Come, ye faithful Rev. E. V. Hall 3d.
356. Daughters of Jerusalem H. J. King 3d.
449. Dawns the day ... R. H. Legge 3d.
213. Day of anger (Requiem) ... Mozart 6d.
252. Death and life Walter Parratt 3d.
90. Distracted with care ... Haydn 4d.
277. Enter not into Judgment Dr. Clarke 2d.
362. Eternal source ... F. Brandeis 2d.
470. Eye hath not seen (two-part) M. B. Foster 3d.
584. Ditto, ditto (S.A.T.B.) M. B. Foster 3d.
329. Far from their home, our fallen race Rev. H. H. Woodward 3d.
364. Father, hear the prayer F. Brandeis 2d.
46. Father of Heaven Dr. Walmisley 3d
384. Father of Life ... S. J. Gilbert 3d.
28. Fear not, O land ... Sir John Goss 6d.
446. Flee from evil Rev. W. J. Clarke 3d.
553. For a small moment ... J. Stainer 2d.
254. For ever blessed ... Mendelssohn 3d.
198. For the mountains... L. Samson 3d.
273. From the deep I called Spohr 6d.
227. Give ear, O Lord T. M. Pattison 2d.
433. Give ear, O Shepherd A. Whiting 3d.
88. Give ear, O ye heavens Dr. Armes 3d.
309. Give the Lord ... C. H. Lloyd 8d.
383. Give unto the Lord H. W. Parker 4d.
2. Glory be to God ... S. S. Wesley 2d.
341. God be merciful ... A. H. Mann 4d.
49. God be merciful ... S. S. Wesley 3d.
236. God be merciful unto us C. F. Lloyd 6d.
105. God came from Teman Dr Steggall 4d.
128. God is gone up ... Dr. Croft 4d.
605. God is my salvation C. F. Bowes 3d.
131. God is our hope ... Dr. Greene 6d.
101. God is our refuge ... Dr. H. Hiles 6d.
332. God is our refuge ... A. Foote 4d.
75. God said, Behold Sir G. Macfarren 4d.
473. God so loved the world J. V. Roberts 3d.
342. God, that madest earth A. C. Fisher 2d.
344. God, who at sundry times J. H. Mee 4d.
388. Grant, we beseech Thee J. V. Roberts 3d.
550. Grant, we beseech Thee M. Elvey 2d.
187. Great and marvellous Dr. Monk 3d.
517. Ditto ... J. F. Bridge 4d.
223. Great is Jehovah ... Schubert 4d.
602. Great is our Lord M. B. Foster 4d.
136. Great is the Lord ... Dr. Hayes 4d.
237. Great is the Lord Sir F. Ouseley 6d.
481. Great is the Lord ... B. Steane 3d.
220. Grieve not the Holy Spirit Stainer 3d.
427. Hail! gladdening Light J. T. Field 2d.
545. Hail! gladdening Light Martin 4d.
326. Hail, thou that art ... A. Carnall 4d.
560. Hail to the Christ ... J. Barnby 3d.
499. Hallelujah, Christ is risen Steane 3d.
382. Hallelujah! the Light O. King 3d.
173. Happy is the man ... E. Prout 6d.
487. Hark the glad sound E. V. Hall 3d.
345. Hark, the herald angels E. V. Hall 3d.
444. Hark! what news... ... O. King 3d.
404. Harvest Hymn ... F. Tozer 2d.
377. Have mercy upon me Kellow J. Pye 3d.
401. Have mercy upon me J. Shaw 3d.
535. Have mercy upon me J. Goss 4d.
389. Hear me when I call T. Distin 2d.
146. Hear my prayer ... C. Stroud 4d.
339. Hear my prayer Mendelssohn 4d.
442. Hear my words C. H. H. Parry 8d.
310. Hear, O God ... A. Friedländer 6d.
138. Hear, O heavens P. Humphreys 3d.
94. Hear, O Lord Sir John Goss 2d.
139. Hear, O Lord ... C. King 2d.
162. Hear, O Lord Sir F. Ouseley 4d.
203. Hear, O Thou Shepherd Dr. Clarke 4d.
522 Ditto T. A. Walmisley 4d.
376. Hide not Thy face Kellow J. Pye 2d.
330. Holy Ghost, to earth descending, Ludmila ... ... Dvorák 4d.
111. Holy, holy, holy ... Dr. Crotch 3d.
246. Ho! every one ... G. C. Martin 4d.
366. Ho! every one J. M. Crament 4d.
12. Honour the Lord ... J. Stainer 4d.
129. Hosanna ... ... O. Gibbons 3d.
43. Hosanna ... Sir G. A. Macfarren 3d.
260. How beautiful are the feet Handel 3d.
321. How excellent is Thy ... Cowen 6d.
373. How long wilt Thou Oliver King 2d.
104. How lovely are ... ... Spohr 8d.

LONDON: NOVELLO AND COMPANY, LIMITED
AND
NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., NEW YORK.

Digitized by G

NOVELLO'S OCTAVO ANTHEMS—Continued.

539. I am Alpha ... J. V. Roberts 3d.
868. I am well pleased J. Rheinberger 3d.
120. I beheld, and lo ... Dr. Blow 6d.
280. I beheld, and lo ... ... Elvey 6d.
496. I came not to call C. Vincent 3d.
207. I cried unto the Lord Dr. Heap 4d.
537. I declare to you ... Cruickshank 4d.
168. I desired wisdom ... J. Stainer 6d.
230. I did call upon the Lord Pattison 4d.
117. I have set God ... Dr. Blake 6d.
130. I have set God ... J. Goldwin 3d.
420. I have set God Hamilton Clarke 4d.
122. I have surely built ... Dr. Boyce 4d.
219. I have surely built T. T. Trimnell 4d.
590. I heard a great voice G. F. Cobb 3d.
396. I heard a voice Sir John Goss 2d.
171. I saw the Lord ... J. Stainer 6d.
114. I was glad ... ... T. Attwood 4d.
32. I was glad ... ... Sir G. Elvey 3d.
79. I was glad ... ...C. E. Horsley 6d.
379. I was glad ... T. T. Trimnell 4d.
119. I was in the spirit ... Dr. Blow 6d.
205. I will alway give thanks Dr. Clarke 3d.
73. I will cry unto God Dr. Steggall 3d.
502. I will extol Thee C. M. Hudson 4d.
29. I will give thanks ... J. Barnby 4d.
156. I will give thanks ...E. J. Hopkins 6d.
568. I will give thanks ... Mozart 2d.
225. I will go unto ...Dr. Gauntlett 2d.
591. I will go unto the altar C. Harris 3d.
437. I will greatly rejoice Cruickshank 4d.
195. I will lay me down ... H. Gadsby 2d.
209. I will lay me down ... Dr. H. Hiles 3d.
495. I will lay me down A. C. Edwards 3d.
126. I will love Thee, O Lord J. Clark 4d.
394. I will love Thee, O Lord my strength ... Matthew Kingston 4d.
78. I will magnify Thee J. B. Calkin 4d.
27. I will magnify Thee Sir John Goss 3d.
153. I will magnify Thee ... J. Shaw 3d.
405. I will magnify Thee ... O. King 4d.
154. I will mention ... Sir A. Sullivan 6d.
575. I will not leave you ... B. Steane 2d.
519. I will open rivers E. Pettman 3d.
371. I will set His dominion H. W. Parker 4d.
100. I will sing a new song Dr. Armes 8d.
134. I will sing of Thy power Greene 4d.
192. I will sing unto the Lord Wareing 3d.
6. I will wash my hands E. J. Hopkins 3d.
55. If we believe that Jesus died Goss 3d.
453. If ye love Me H. W. Wareing 3d.
544. If ye love Me ... ... B. Steane 2d.
469. If ye then be risen M. B. Foster 3d.
58. If ye then be risen ... Dr. Naylor 3d.
61. In Christ dwelleth Sir John Goss 3d.
403. In my Father's house Crament 3d.
102. In sweet consent ... E. H. Thorne 3d.
278. In that day ... ... Sir G. Elvey 8d.
582. In the beginning ... F. Tozer 4d.
33. In Thee, O Lord ... B. Tours 3d.
148. In Thee, O Lord ... J. Weldon 3d.
385. In Thee, O Lord S. C. Taylor 3d.
338. In the fear of the Lord J. V. Roberts 3d.
282. In the Lord ... Sir R. Stewart 6d.
467. Is it nothing (2-pt.) M. B. Foster 3d.
571. Ditto (4 voices) M. B. Foster 3d.
91. It came even to pass Ouseley 4d.
180. It is a good thing ... J. Barnby 6d.
231. It is a good thing T. M. Pattison 4d.
215. It shall come to pass Dr. Garrett 6d.
397. Jesu, lover of my soul ...F. Iliffe 2d.
455. Jesus Christ is risen Oliver King 4d.
548 Joy in harvest ... ... B. Steane 3d.
7. Judge me, O God ... Mendelssohn 4d.
179. King all glorious ... J. Barnby 6d.
581. Kings shall be thy nursing fathers G. C. Martin 3d.
37. Lead, kindly Light... J. Stainer 4d.
425. Lead, kindly Light... R. Dunstan 3d.
528. Lead, kindly Light C. L. Naylor 4d.
589. Lead, kindly Light D. Pughe-Evans 3d.
132. Let God arise ... Dr. Greene 6d.
375. Let God arise T. T. Trimnell 4d.
346. Let my complaint ...E. H. Thorne 3d.
509. Let not thine hand... J. Stainer 3d.
438. Let not your heart ... M. B. Foster 3d.
438.* Let not your heart M. B. Foster 3d.
226. Let the peace of God J. Stainer 4d.
565. Let the righteous ... R. F. Lloyd 3d.
328. Let the words of my A. D. Culley 3d.
494. Let Thy merciful ears W. B. Bell 2d.
308. Let us now praise ... E. H. Thorne 3d.
96. Lift up thine eyes ...Sir John Goss 6d.
18. Lift up your heads ... J. L. Hopkins 1½d.
409. Ditto S. Coleridge-Taylor 3d.
343. Lift up your hearts ... J. Barnby 4d.
408. Lighten our darkness G. R. Vicars 2d.
595. Light of the world ... E. Elgar 3d.
393. Like as the hart Thomas Adams 3d.
530. Lo, God, our God ... B. Haynes 3d.
165. Lord, how are they... H. Clarke 6d.
391. Lord, I have loved... ...F. Iliffe 3d.
54. Lord, let me know mine end Goss 3d.
351. Lord of all power ... J. Barnby 2d.
459. Lord of our life ... J. T. Field 3d.
566. Lord of life ... A. C. Mackenzie 3d.
404. Lord of the rich and golden F. Tozer 2d.
411. Lord of the Harvest J. Barnby 4d.
318. Lord, Thou art God... J. Stainer 8d.
434. Lord, Thou hast ... A. Whiting 3d.
274. Lord, what love have I Dr. Steggall 6d.
267. Lord, who shall dwell Dr. Roberts 4d.
335. Lo, summer comes again J. Stainer 6d.
504. Lo! the winter B. Farebrother 3d.
350. Magnify His Name... G. C. Martin 4d.
290. Make a joyful noise A. C. Mackenzie 6d.
108. Make me a clean heart J. Barnby 3d.
431. Ditto A. W. Batson 3d.
436. Man goeth forth ... A. Carnall 3d.
222. Me ye have bereaved C. Morales 3d.
527. Mercy and truth are met J. Stainer 3d.
211. Mine eyes look unto Thee H. Baker 3d.
500. Miserere mei, Deus J. Barnby 3d.
518. Ditto. E. Pettman 1½d.
512. My beloved spake ... H. Purcell 6d.
428. My God, I love Thee G. J. Bennett 3d.
10. My God, my God ... Mendelssohn 6d.
288. My God, look upon ... J. L. Hopkins 3d.
353. My heart is fixed W. Cruickshank 4d.
460. My heart was glad ... A. Carnall 4d.
564. My heart is inditing M. B. Foster 4d.
199. My hope is in the Everlasting ... J. Stainer 6d.
406. My mouth shall speak J. E. West 4d.
190. My soul is weary ... Dr. Beckwith 4d.
586. My soul truly waiteth B. Steane 2d.
295. My soul, wait thou still F. J. Read 4d.
210 Not unto us, O Lord H. Gadsby 6d.
558. Not unto us ... J. E. West 4d.
592. Now is Christ risen T. Adams 3d.
505. O all ye people ... H. Purcell 3d.
506. O be joyful in the Lord G. Martin 6d.
217. O clap your hands ...T. T. Trimnell 3d.
133. O clap your hands ... Dr. Greene 4d.
82. O clap your hands ... J. Stainer 6d.
80. O clap your hands ...E. H. Thorne 6d.
202. O come before ... G. C. Martin 6d.
241. O come hither ... W. Jackson 3d.
569. O come, let us sing M. B. Foster 3d.
12. O come near to the Cross Gounod 8d.
11. O day of penitence ... Gounod 6d.
16. O give thanks ... Sir G. Elvey 3d.
144. O give thanks ... H. Purcell 6d.
17. O give thanks ... William Rea 3d.
66. O give thanks ... S. S. Wesley 4d.
42. O give thanks ...Sir John Goss 3d.
520. O give thanks ... B. Steane 3d.
599. O give thanks ... E. V. Hall 3d.
35. O God, have mercy... J. B. Calkin 4d.
106. O God, the King of Glory H. Smart 4d.
141. O God, Thou art my God H. Purcell 3d.
585. Ditto B. L. Selby 4d.
34. O God, Thou art worthy A. Sullivan 4d.
188. O God, Thou hast ... H. Purcell 4d.
418. O God, Who hast ... A. S. Baker 2d.
430. Ditto A. W. Batson 3d.
507. Ditto J. V. Roberts 2d.
47. O how amiable ... J. Barnby 3d.
233. O how amiable T. M. Pattison 3d.
347. O how amiable ... Oliver King 4d.
48. O how plentiful T. M. Pattison 3d.
490. O Jerusalem, look about E. Naylor 4d.
301. O Jesu! Victim Rev. J. B. Powell 3d.
536. O joyful Light ... B. Tours 4d.
543. O Lamb of God ... J. Barnby 3d.
251. O Lord God ... Ernest Ford 4d.
204. O Lord God ... ... Dr. Clarke 3d.
184. O Lord, look down ... J. Battishill 3d.
306. O Lord of hosts ... Kate Boundy 3d.
25. O Lord, our Governor H. Gadsby 3d.
395. O Lord, Thou art ... Ch. H. Lloyd 6d.
588. O lovely peace ... Handel 4d.
3. O love the Lord Sir A. Sullivan 2d.
460. O my heart was glad A. Carnall 4d.
556. Open to me the gates ... F. Adlam 4d.
380. O perfect love ... J. Barnby 3d.
124. O praise God ... Dr. Clarke 6d.
40. O praise God T. T. Trimnell 4d.
429. O praise God ... G. C. Martin 2d.
355. O praise God Theodore Distin 3d.
479. O praise our God, ye people Boyce 4d.
14. O praise the Lord ... J. Barnby 4d.
232. O praise the Lord T. M. Pattison 3d.
178. O praise the Lord ...Sir John Goss 6d.
71. O praise the Lord ... Ouseley 3d.
266. O praise the Lord ... Zingarelli 8d.
358. O praise the Lord W. G. Wood 4d.
166. O pray for the peace E. H. Thorne 4d.
51. O Saving Victim (No. 2) Gounod 4d.
486. Ditto ... Rossini 3d.
492. Ditto W. A. C. Cruickshank 3d.
508. O Saviour of the world (A.T.T.B.) J. V. Roberts 2d.
142. O sing unto the Lord H. Purcell 6d.
551. O sing unto the Lord Cruickshank 4d.
8. O taste and see ...Sir John Goss 3d.
8*. Ditto (Welsh Words) ... 3d.
263. O taste and see ... A. H. Mann 3d.
87. O that I knew where I might find him ... Sir W. S. Bennett 3d.
123. O where shall wisdom Dr. Boyce 6d.
435. O worship the King Rev. E. V. Hall 4d.
135. O worship the Lord... Dr. Hayes 6d.
158. O ye that love the Lord Sir G. Elvey 4d.
196. Ditto H. W. Wareing 3d.
234. Ditto F. A. W. Docker 4d.
325. Ditto J. Naylor 3d.
392. Our Father, which art J. Barnby 2d.
303. Our God is Lord ... E. Mundella 3d.
176. Out of the deep ... Dr. Naylor 4d.

LONDON: NOVELLO AND COMPANY, LIMITED
AND
NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., NEW YORK.

Digitized by Google

NOVELLO'S OCTAVO ANTHEMS—Continued.

240. Out of the deep F. E. Gladstone 3d.
242. Out of the deep ... J. B. Calkin 3d.
81. Plead Thou my cause ... Mozart 6d.
55. Ponder my words ...Henry Gadsby 3d.
300. Ditto ... F. J. Sawyer 2d.
159. Praise God in His holiness B. Tours 3d.
521. Praise, my soul ... E. V. Hall 3d.
70. Praise the Lord ... Sir G. Elvey 4d.
172. Praise the Lord Sir J. Benedict 8d.
137. Praise the Lord ... Dr. Hayes 4d.
125. Praise the Lord ... J. Clark 3d.
59. Praise the Lord ... S. S. Wesley 6d.
561. Praise the Lord ... J. M. Crament 4d.
577. Praise the Lord ... J. H. Maunder 3d.
208. Praise the Lord, O my soul Mozart 4d.
21. Ditto Sir John Goss 6d.
381. Ditto J. W. Elliott 3d.
63. Ditto Dr. Garrett 6d.
439. Ditto T. P. Royle 3d.
513. Ditto H. Purcell 6d.
298. Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem W. H. Bliss 3d.
316. Ditto Rev. E. V. Hall 4d.
10. Ditto H. Purcell 4d.
45. Prepare ye the way... Dr. Garrett 3d.
151. Prepare ye the way... M. Wise 3d.
416. Prepare ye the way J. M. Crament 4d.
60. Rejoice greatly Henry Gadsby 3d.
145. Rejoice in the Lord H. Purcell 3d.
164. Rejoice in the Lord F. R. Statham 4d.
200. Rejoice in the Lord G. C. Martin 6d.
258. Rejoice in the Lord J. Redford 3d.
317. Rejoice in the Lord Philip Armes 6d.
272. Rejoice, O ye righteous Rheinberger 3d.
38. Remember now ... Dr. Steggall 4d.
523. Remember, O Lord Walmisley 4d.
336. Rend your heart J. Clippingdale 3d.
170. Save, Lord, and hear us Dr. Hayes 6d.
287. Save me, O God ...J. L. Hopkins 2d.
451. Saviour, abide with us T. Hanforth 3d.
35. Say where is He born Mendelssohn 6d.
319. Seek ye the Lord Hague Kinsey 3d.
189. Seek ye the Lord Dr. J. V. Roberts 3d.
250. Sing aloud with gladness S. Wesley 6d.
185. Sing a song of praise J. Stainer 3d.
185.* Ditto (Welsh words) ... 3c.
230. Sing joyfully unto God W. Byrd 4d.
365. Sing, O daughter of Zion Dr. Rea 4d.
291. Sing, O heavens A. C. Mackenzie 6d.
369. Sing, O heavens T. T. Trimnell 4d.
562. Sing, O heavens H. D. Wetton 4d.
169. Sing praises to the Lord Dr. Croft 4d.
36. Sing praises unto the Lord Gounod 6d.
542. Sing to the Lord ... J. Barnby 4d.
167. Sing to the Lord ... Henry Smart 1s.
99. Sing to the Lord ... Mendelssohn 8d.
525. Sing unto God (Chos. only) Purcell 2d.
580. Sing unto the Lord J. F. Bridge 6d.
603. Sing unto the Lord C. Harris 3d.
410. Sing we merrily ... E. V. Hall 4d.
532. Sing we merrily F. A. W. Docker 4d.
68. Stand up and bless the Lord Goss 4d.
426. Sun of my soul ... R. Dunstan 3d.
297. Teach me, O Lord John W. Gritton 3d.
540. Teach me, O Lord G. J. Elvey 3d
458. Thanks be to God ...J. W. Gritton 3d.
194. The blessing of the Lord Mackenzie 3d.
472. Ditto J. F. Bridge 2d.
421. The day is past J. C. Marks, jun. 3d.
461. The Day of Resurrection E. V. Hall 3d.
552. The day Thou gavest Woodward 3d.
239. The earth is the Lord's Trimnell 4d.
289. The eyes of all ... Orlando Gibbons 4d.
482. The eyes of all ... T. Adams 3d.
547. The eyes of all ... G. J. Elvey 3d.
573. The eyes of all ... M. B. Foster 3d.
448. The First Christmas J. Barnby 3d.
534. The first day of the week B. Steane 3d.
214. The fool hath said Sir W. Bennett 4d.
271. The fool within his heart hath spoken ... J. Rheinberger 3d.
413. The fost'ring earth J. L. Hopkins 3d.
593. The glory of the God of Israel T. Adams 3d.
177. The glory of the Lord ...Sir J. Goss 6d.
245. The God of Jeshurun ...Sir J. Goss 6d.
299. The hills stand about G. Gardner 4d.
572. Ye holy angels bright H. W. Richards 3d.
313. The King shall rejoice Stewart 6d.
193. The Lord gave A. C. Mackenzie 2d.
270. The Lord give ear J. Rheinberger 3d.
526. The Lord hath commanded Mendelssohn 4d.
312. The Lord hath been E. T. Chipp 3d.
477. The Lord hath been S. S. Wesley 3d.
163. The Lord hath done ... H. Smart 4d.
224. The Lord hear thee J. Barkworth 2d.
248. The Lord is in Dr. G. Saunders 4d.
44. The Lord is great ... W. T. Best 3d.
83. The Lord is King Henry Gadsby 6d.
41. The Lord is King T. T. Trimnell 4d.
367. The Lord is King ... H. J. King 4d.
39. The Lord is loving Dr. Garrett 3d.
483. The Lord is loving...A. W. Batson 3d.
50. The Lord is my light Dr. H. Hiles 3d.
407. The Lord is my light C. W. Jordan 3d.
152. The Lord is my Shepherd J. Shaw 3d.
67. Ditto Schubert 4d.
594. Ditto (S.A.T.B.) Schubert 4d.
305. Ditto C. V. Stanford 6d.
243. The Lord is my strength Sir J. Goss 6d.
398. Ditto S. Coleridge-Taylor 3d.
422. The Lord is risen G. M. Garrett 4d.
304. The Lord preserveth ... Armes 6d.
474. The Lord shall be J. V. Roberts 4d.
84. The Lord that made J. Turle 2d.
112. The Lord will comfort... Dr. Hiles 6d.
464. The Miserere, &c. ... J. Stainer 3d.
86. The morning stars ... J. Stainer 6d.
465. The night is far spent M. B. Foster 3d.
174. The righteous live... J. Stainer 4d.
255. The righteous living Mendelssohn 3d.
155. The righteous shall flourish Calkin 4d.
140. The souls of the righteous Nares 3d.
559. The souls of the righteous Elvey 2d.
249. Ditto Myles B. Foster 3d.
285. Ditto Rev. H. H. Woodward 3d.
294. Ditto Wm. Rea 6d.
452. The Story of the Cross J. Stainer 3d.
457. Ditto M. B. Foster 3d.
531. Ditto ... A. Somervell 3d.
557. Ditto ... J. V. Roberts 3d.
360. The strong foundations F. Brandeis 2d.
493. The whole earth J. V. Roberts 4d.
31. The wilderness ...Sir John Goss 6d.
110. The wilderness ... S. S. Wesley 8d.
19. Therefore with angels V. Novello 2d.
576. There is a green hill Gounod 4d.
302. There is no condemnation Irons 3d.
85. There shall a Star ... Mendelssohn 6d.
600. There shall be an heap F. Tozer 3d.
574. There shall come forth O. A. Mansfield 3d.
253. There was a marriage J. Stainer 3d.
414. There was war in heaven W. A. C. Cruickshank 3d.
93. These are they which came Dykes 1s.
324. There were shepherds C. Vincent 4d.
447. Ditto H. W. Wareing 3d.
466. Ditto (Two-part) M. B. Foster 3d.
516 There were shepherds E. Pettman 3d.
157. They that go down T. Attwood 4d.
546. They that go down G. J. Elvey 6d.
432. They that sow A. W. Batson 3d.
221. Think, good Jesu ... ...Mozart 6d.
359. Think not that they F. Brandeis 2d.
161. This is the day ... S. C. Cooke 3d.
387. This is the day Rev. E. V. Hall 4d.
13. This is the day ... John Sewell 2d.
4. This is the day ... J. Turle 3d.
462. This is the day A. W. Marchant 3d.
265. Thou Judge of quick & dead Wesley 3d.
259. Thou, Lord, art merciful Mozart 6d.
Misericordia Domini
62. Thou, O God, art praised S. Wesley 3d.
579. Ditto B. L. Selby 3d.
281. Ditto Sir R. Stewart 4d.
354. Ditto. Rev. E. V. Hall 3d.
476. Thou shalt shew me C. Bowdler 3d.
191. Thou visitest the earth Callcott 2d.
244. Thou visitest the earth J. B. Calkin 4d.
480. Thou visitest the earth J. Barnby 4d.
549. Thou visitest the earth ... Elliott 3d.
72. Thou wilt keep him Dr. Gauntlett 3d.
107. Thou wilt keep him... S. S. Wesley 3d.
276. Thou wilt keep him C. L. Williams 2d.
484. Thou wilt keep him P. Armes 4d.
515. Through peace ...J. H. Roberts 3d.
216. Thus saith the Lord Dr. Garrett 6d.
320. Thy mercy, O Lord E. J. Hopkins 6d.
441. Thy mercy, O Lord G. Garrett 6d.
514. Thy word is a lantern H. Purcell 4d.
363. To bless Thy chosen F. Brandeis 2d.
322. To Thee, O Lord C. L. Williams 3d.
443. Try me, O God A. D. Culley 2d.
275. Turn Thy face ... Dr. Steggall 4d.
160. Unto Thee have I cried Sir G. Elvey 3d.
601. Unto Thee, O God, do we B. Steane 3d.
555. Unto us a Child is born F. Adlam. 4d.
186. Wash me throughly S. S. Wesley 3d.
386. We beseech Thee John E. West 2d.
76. We give Thee thanks ... Macfarren 3d.
74. We have heard Sir A. Sullivan 6d.
387. We shall not hunger A. Mackenzie 3d.
127. We will rejoice ... Dr. Croft 4d.
57. What are these ... J. Stainer 3d.
235. Whatsoever is born of God Oakeley 3d.
538. When Christ, Who is our life J. V. Roberts 2d.
337. When God of old Rev. E. V. Hall 3d.
489. When Jesus W. A. C. Cruickshank 3d.
372. When the Lord turned E. Prout 6d.
563. Where Thou reignest ... Schubert 3d.
69. Wherewithal shall ... Sir G. Elvey 6d.
26. Ditto ... Dr. H. Hiles 3d.
175. While the earth remaineth Dr. Heap 4d.
463. Ditto C. L. Williams 3d.
361. While with ceaseless F. Brandeis 2d.
529. While shepherds watched Barnby 4d.
541. While shepherds watched Elvey 3d.
264. Who is like unto Thee A. Sullivan 6d.
417. Who is this? ... Fred. Rayner 2d.
115. Who is this that cometh Dr. Arnold 4d.
181. Whoso dwelleth ... G. C. Martin 4d.
269. Why assemble the heathen ... J. Rheinberger 3d.
23. Why rage fiercely ... Mendelssohn 6d.
218. Why seek ye the living Alexander 3d.
423. Why seek ye the living F. Peel 4d
468. Why seek ye the living M. B. Foster 3d.
20. With angels ... ...J. L. Hopkins 3d.
22. Word of God incarnate ...Gounod 3d.
572. Ye holy Angels bright H. W. Richards 3d.
352. Ye shall go out with joy J. Barnby 4d.

(To be continued.)

LONDON: NOVELLO AND COMPANY, LIMITED
AND
NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., NEW YORK.

NOVELLO'S SHORT ANTHEMS.

A SERIES OF SHORT & EASY ANTHEMS

ADAPTED TO THE

Seasons of the Church, and Suitable for Introits

EDITED BY

THE REV. W. RUSSELL, M.A., MUS. BAC.,
Succentor of St. Paul's Cathedral,

AND

SIR JOHN STAINER, M.A., MUS. DOC.

The following Numbers are now ready :—

78. Above all praise and all majesty — Mendelssohn — 1½d.
58. Almighty and Everlasting God — J. S. Smith — 1½d.
20. And I saw another Angel — C. V. Stanford — 2d.
24. Arise, O Jerusalem — Oliver King — 1½d.
36. Arise, O Lord, into Thy resting-place — G. F. Cobb — 1½d.
60. Ave Maria (Give ear unto my prayer) — J. Arcadelt — 1½d.
30. Beloved, if God so loved us — J. Barnby — 1½d.
35. Beloved, let us love one another — G. F. Cobb — 1½d.
10. Beloved, now are we the sons of God — E. H. Thorne — 1½d.
9. Blessed is he — B. Luard Selby — 1½d.
26. Blessed is the man — Oliver King — 1½d.
17. Christ is not entered — E. Faning — 1½d.
59. Come, let us worship — Palestrina — 1½d.
40. Come unto Me — Matthew Kingston — 1½d.
25. For it became Him — Oliver King — 1½d.
81. For our offences — Mendelssohn — 1½d.
38. God so loved the world — Matthew Kingston — 1½d.
1. God, Who is rich in mercy — G. M. Garrett — 1½d.
11. Grant, we beseech Thee — Josiah Booth — 1½d.
47. Have mercy upon me, O God — J. White — 1½d.
85. If any man sin — Thos. Adams — 1½d.
21. If thou shalt confess with thy mouth — C. V. Stanford — 2d.
82. I heard a voice from Heaven — G. M. Garrett — 1½d.
86. I heard a voice from Heaven — Alan Gray — 1½d.
18. In this was manifested — Chas. H. Lloyd — 3d.
22. It is of the Lord's mercies — E. H. Thorne — 1½d.
54. I will arise — Ch. Wood — 1½d.
42. I will go forth in the strength — H. Blair — 1½d.
8. I will magnify Thee — B. Luard Selby — 1½d.
37. I will wash my hands — A. D. Culley — 1½d.
64. Jesus said unto the people — J. Stainer — 1½d.
56. Jesu, Saviour, I am Thine — Bruce Steane — 1½d.
46. Jesu, Who from Thy Father's Throne — F. C. Woods — 3d.
48. Jesu, Word of God (Ave Verum) — J. White — 1½d.
61. Lead me, Lord — S. S. Wesley — 1½d.
80. Let our hearts be joyful — Mendelssohn — 1½d.
32. Let the words of my mouth — H. Blair — 1½d.
65. Let us come boldly — C. H. Lloyd — 1½d.
79. Lord, on our offences — Mendelssohn — 1½d.
19. Lo, the Winter is past — H. Gadsby — 3d.
62. Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life — C. F. Bowes — 1½d.
73. O Day-spring (O Oriens) — J. Stainer — 1½d.
75. O Emmanuel — J. Stainer — 1½d.
23. O God, Whose nature — Alan Gray — 1½d.
72. O Key of David (O Clavis David) — J. Stainer — 1½d.
74. O King and Desire (O Rex gentium) — J. Stainer — 1½d.
70. O Lord and Ruler (O Adonai) — J. Stainer — 1½d.
53. O Lord, correct me — James Coward — 1½d.
67. O Lord, give ear — W. H. Cummings — 2d.
13. O Lord, my trust is in Thy mercy — King Hall — 1½d.
15. O Lord, rebuke me not — H. Lahee — 1½d.
57. O Lord, Who hast taught us — A. G. Iggulden — 1½d.
33. O most merciful — J. W. Elliott — 1½d.
43. O praise God — H. Blair — 1½d.
71. O Root of Jesse (O Radix Jesse) — J. Stainer — 1½d.
84. O send out Thy light — J. B. Calkin — 2d.
7. Our soul on God — G. M. Garrett — 1½d.
69. O Wisdom (O Sapientia) — J. Stainer — 1½d.
39. O ye that love the Lord — J. W. Elliott — 1½d.
44. O ye that love the Lord — S. Coleridge-Taylor — 1½d.
45. Ponder my words, O Lord — Arnold D. Culley — 1½d.
3. Praised be the Lord daily — J. Baptiste Calkin — 1½d.
14. Rejoice greatly — Rev. H. H. Woodward — 1½d.
76. Rejoice, O ye people — Mendelssohn — 1½d
49. Shew me Thy ways, O Lord — J. V. Roberts — 3d.
5. Teach me Thy way, O Lord — W. H. Gladstone — 1½d.
55. The Angel of the Lord — Alan Gray — 1½d.
4. The great day of the Lord is near — George C. Martin — 1½d.
27. The Lord is in His Holy Temple — J. W. Elliott — 1½d.
88. The Lord is nigh unto them — W. H. Cummings — 1½d.
31. The Lord is the True God — J. Barnby — 3d.
50. The Lord opened the Doors of Heaven — F. C. Woods — 1½d.
83. The Lord redeemeth the soul — J. B. Calkin — 1½d.
52. The Path of the Just — J. V. Roberts — 1½d.
12. The Pillars of the Earth are the Lord's — Berthold Tours — 1½d.
41. The Sacrifices of God — H. Blair — 1½d.
34. The Salvation of the Righteous — Chas. Vincent — 1½d.
87. The steps of a good man — F. Cambridge — 3d.
66. These are they which follow the Lamb — J. Goss — 1½d.
77. Thou, Lord, our refuge — Mendelssohn — 1½d.
28. Thou shalt shew me the Path of Life — Alan Gray — 1½d.
29. To Thee do I lift up my soul — King Hall — 1½d.
16. Try me, O God — Charles Wood — 1½d.
11. Watch ye and pray — G. R. Vicars — 2d.
2. When my soul fainted within me — J. F. Bridge — 1½d.
63. Wherewithal shall a young man — Dr. Alcock — 1½d.
6. Who are we, O Lord — C. H. Lloyd — 1½d.
68. Whom have I in heaven — G. J. Elvey — 1½d.

To be continued.

LONDON: NOVELLO AND COMPANY, LIMITED
AND
NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., NEW YORK.

Digitized by Google

NOVELLO'S
OCTAVO EDITIONS OF SERVICES.

	s.	d.
Adams, T.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in C ..	0	3
Adlam, F.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in G ..	0	3
Aitken, G. B. J.—Magnificat and Nunc in E flat..	0	4
Aldrich, H.—Service in G. Ed. by G. C. MARTIN Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Jubilate, 2d.; Kyrie, Creed, Sanctus (1 and 2), and Gloria in Excelsis, 6d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.	1	0
Allen, George B.—Te Deum in D	0	3
Alsop, J. R.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E ..	0	4
—— Communion in E, for Parochial Use	1	0
Armes, Dr.—Communion Service in A .. .. Kyrie (Nos. 1 and 2), Gloria tibi, Creed, Sursum corda, Sanctus, Gloria, Benedictus and Agnus Dei.	1	0
—— Communion in B flat (Unison)	1	0
—— Communion in G	1	0
—— Te Deum and Jubilate in G	0	8
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in G	0	6
—— Te Deum in G	0	3
Armstrong, W. D.—Nunc dimittis in F	0	1½
Arnold, G. B.—Te Deum in C	0	3
Attwood, Thomas.—Service in F .. .. .. Or singly:—Te Deum, 4½d.; Jubilate, 2d.; Sanctus and Kyrie, 1½d.; Magnificat, 3d.; Nunc dimittis, 1½d.	0	9
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in C	0	4
Baker, Henry.—Service in F .. .. .. Or singly:—Te Deum and Jubilate, 4d. (Sol-fa, 2d.); Kyrie (Nos. 1 and 2), Creed, Sursum corda, Sanctus and Gloria tibi Domine, Gloria, 6d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.	1	0
Baker, A. S.—Te Deum in C	0	4
Barnby, J.—Service in E .. .. Te Deum, 4d.; Benedictus, 6d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Introit, Kyrie, Creed, Offertory Sentences, Sanctus, and Gloria, 1s.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.	2	0
—— The Canticles, in Chant form .. .. .. Te Deum, Benedictus, Jubilate, Magnificat, Nunc dimittis, Cantate Domino, and Deus misereatur.	0	4
—— The Canticles with Chants (Cathedral Psalter)	0	6
—— Te Deum in D (Unison) (Sol-fa, 1d.)	0	3
—— Te Deum in B flat (Unison) .. .. .. Sol-fa, 1d.; voice part, 1½d.	0	3
—— Offertory Sentences .. .. Or separate Numbers, 2d. each.	1	0
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E (Chant) ..	0	3
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in C (Unison) .. Also, in D, for 4 voices, 6d.	0	3
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E flat ..	0	8
Barrett, E. R.—Te Deum in E flat	0	3
Batson, A. W.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D	0	4
Bayley, W.—Cantate Domino and Deus in F ..	0	6
Bennett, G. J.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in G	0	6
—— Ditto. Gregorian Tones	0	3
—— Ditto in D (partly in Unison)	0	3
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in A, with accompaniment for Orchestra or Organ .. .. The Nunc dimittis arranged for a Double Choir, 3d.	0	6
—— The Morning and Evening Service in B flat, together with the Office for the Holy Communion Or singly:—1. Te Deum laudamus, 4d.; 2. Benedictus, 3d.; 3. Jubilate Deo, 3d.; 4. Kyrie eleison, 5 and 6. Before and After the Gospel, 7. Credo, 8. Sursum corda, 9. Sanctus, 10. Benedictus qui venit, 11. Agnus Dei, 12. Gloria in Excelsis, 13. Amen after the Blessing, 1s.; 14. Magnificat, 15. Nunc dimittis, 4d.	2	0
Bennett, G. J.—The Morning and Evening Service in D, together with the Office of Holy Communion (Unison) .. .. Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Benedicite, 3d.; Benedictus, 3d.; Jubilate, 2d.; Kyrie, Gloria tibi and Laus tibi, Credo, Sursum corda, Sanctus, Benedictus, Agnus Dei, Gloria in Excelsis, 4d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.	1	6
—— Benedicite in E flat	0	1½
—— Benedicite in G	0	1½
Best, W. T.—Service in simple Chant form, for a Four-part Chorus, with Organ .. .. .. Or singly:—Te Deum and Jubilate, 4½d.; Kyrie, Gloria tibi, Creed, Sanctus, and Gloria, 4½d.; Mag. and Nunc dim., 3d.	1	0
—— Te Deum in C	0	3
Blair, Hugh.—Communion Service in F, composed for Parochial use	1	0
—— Ditto in G (Male Voices)	1	0
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in B flat ..	0	6
—— Benedicite in G	0	1½
—— Te Deum in D	0	6
Boyce and Arnold.—Service in A .. .. .. Or singly:—Te Deum (Boyce), 3d.; Jubilate and Kyrie (Boyce), 1½d.; Sanctus, Kyrie, and Creed (Arnold), 3d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis (Arnold), 3d.	0	9
—— Te Deum and Jubilate in C	0	4
Brewer, A. H.—Te Deum in B flat	0	3
—— Jubilate in B flat	0	1½
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in A	0	3
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in B flat ..	0	4
Bridge, Dr. J. F.—Communion Service in D, for Parochial use	1	0
—— Apostles' Creed and Lord's Prayer. Monotone, with Organ Accompaniment	0	1½
—— Nicene Creed. Monotone, with Organ Accomp.	0	1½
Bridgewater, Thomas.—Service in A .. .. Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Jubilate, 1½d.; Sanctus and Kyrie, 1½d.; Cantate Domino and Deus misereatur, 4½d.	0	9
Brown, A. H.—Te Deum laudamus in A	0	3
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in A	0	3
—— Benedictus in A	0	3
Calkin, J. Baptiste.—Service in D, for Parish Choirs Or singly:—Te Deum and Jubilate, 4½d. (Sol-fa, 2d.); Benedictus, 3d.; Sanctus, Kyrie, Creed, and Gloria, 4½d.; Benedictus and Agnus Dei, 3d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.	1	0
—— Service in B flat (Op. 40) .. .. .. Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Benedictus, 2d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Introit, Kyrie (Nos. 1 and 2), Before and After the Gospel, Creed, Offertory, Sursum corda, Sanctus, and Gloria, 1s.; Kyrie and Introit, 3d.; Benedictus and Agnus Dei, 4d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.	2	0
—— Service in G .. .. Or singly:—Te Deum, 6d.; Benedictus, 4d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Introit, Kyrie (Nos. 1 and 2), Before and After the Gospel, Creed, Offertory, Sursum corda, Sanctus, Gloria, Benedictus, and Agnus Dei, 1s.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 6d.	2	0
—— Te Deum in D (Unison or Harmony)	0	3
—— Communion Service in C, for Parochial use ..	1	0
—— Benedictus qui Venit and Agnus Dei in C ..	0	3
Calkin, G.—Six Kyries	0	1½
Carnall, A.—Te Deum in C (Chant form)	0	3
Carpenter, T. L.—Communion Service in C, for Parochial use	1	0
Champneys, F.—Communion Service in G, for Parochial use	1	0

LONDON: NOVELLO AND COMPANY, LIMITED.

OCTAVO EDITIONS OF SERVICES—Continued.

	s.	d.
Chipp, E. T.—Te Deum in D	0	3
—— Te Deum and Jubilate in E flat	0	6
—— Te Deum in C	0	3
—— Benedictus in D	0	2
—— Jubilate in C	0	2
Clarke, Hamilton.—Magnificat and Nunc in B flat	0	4
—— Te Deum in F	0	3
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in F	0	4
Clarke-Whitfeld, J.—Service in E	0	9
Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Jubilate, 1½d.; Sanctus and Kyrie, 1½d.; Creed, 3d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.
Clippingdale, J.—Six Kyries	0	1½
Cooke, B.—Service in G	1	0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Kyrie, Creed and Sanctus, 6d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.
Corfe, C. J.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, for Men's voices (without Altos). 8vo (Sol-fa, 1½d.)	0	4
Cornell, J. H.—The Apostles' Creed	0	1½
Croft, Dr. W., and Elvey, Dr. S.—Service in A	2	0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 6d.; Benedictus (A. H. PRENDERGAST), 6d.; Jubilate, 4d.; Kyrie, Creed, and Sanctus, 6d.; Magnificat, 4d.; Nunc dimittis, 3d.
Croft, W., and Purcell, H.—The Order for the Burial of the Dead, and the Psalms, pointed for chanting. Edited by G. C. MARTIN	1	0
Cruickshank, W. A. C.—Communion Service in E flat, for Parochial use	1	0
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in G	0	4
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in B flat (Chant)	0	3
Distin, T.—Magnificat and Nunc in G (Male voices)	0	6
Dossert, F. G.—Communion Service in E minor	2	0
Duncan, E.—Service in G	1	6
Or singly:—1. Te Deum laudamus, 4d. 2. Jubilate Deo, 3d. 3. Kyrie eleison; 4. Before the Gospel; 5. After the Gospel; 6. Nicene Creed; 7. Sanctus; 8. Gloria in excelsis, 6d. 9. Magnificat; 10. Nunc dimittis, 4d.
Dykes, Dr.—Service in F	1	0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d. (Sol-fa, 1½d.); Benedictus, 2d.; Kyrie, Gloria, Creed, Sursum corda, Sanctus, and Gloria, 6d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d. Sol-fa Edition, complete, 6d.
Edwards, C.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in G	0	3
Elgar, E.—Te Deum and Benedictus in F	1	0
Elliott, J. W.—Te Deum in F	0	3
—— Te Deum in D	0	3
—— Jubilate in D	0	3
—— Communion Service in D	1	0
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D	0	4
—— Benedicite	0	2
—— Benedictus in D	0	3
—— Apostles' Creed	0	1½
Elliott, M. B.—Benedicite in G	0	1½
Elvey, Sir George.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E	0	6
—— Cantate Domino and Deus misereatur in D	0	6
—— Communion Service in E, for Parochial use	1	0
—— Benedictus qui venit and Agnus Dei in E	0	3
Eyre, Alfred J.—Communion Service in E flat	1	0
The Benedictus and Agnus Dei, from the Service, 3d.
—— Benedicite in F	0	1½
Faning, Eaton.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in C	0	6
Field, J. T.—Service in D	2	0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Benedictus, 4d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Introit, Kyrie (Nos. 1 and 2), Creed, Offertory, Sursum corda, Sanctus, Pater Noster, Gloria, Benedictus and Agnus Dei, 1s.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d. (Sol-fa, 1½d.); Pater Noster, 2d.
—— Communion Service in F, for Parochial use	1	0
—— Te Deum and Benedictus, in Chant form	0	4
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, in Chant form	0	3
—— Te Deum in F	0	3
—— Benedictus in A	0	1½
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in C and A	0	3
—— The Canticles of the Church (Set to Chants). Set 2	0	6
Fisher, A. C.—Communion Service in E flat, for Parochial use	1	0
Fisher, A. E.—Te Deum in D	0	3
—— Te Deum in A	0	4
Ford, Ernest.—Te Deum and Jubilate in F	0	6
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in F	0	6
Foster, M. B.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in A	0	6
—— Communion Service in E flat, for Parochial use	1	0
—— Benedicite in F	0	4
Frost, P. H.—Benedicite in D	0	2
Gadsby, Henry.—Service in C	2	0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 6d.; Benedictus, 6d.; Kyrie, Creed, Sursum corda, Sanctus and Gloria, 6d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 6d.
—— Te Deum in E flat	0	3
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D (Unison)	0	4
Also for Four Voices, 4d.
—— Benedicite, in Chant form	0	1½
Garrett, Dr.—Service (No. 1) in D	2	0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Benedictus, 3d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Introit, Kyrie, Before and After the Gospel, Creed, Offertory, Sursum corda, Sanctus, and Gloria, 1s.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.
—— Service (No. 2) in F	2	0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Benedictus, 4d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Introit, Kyrie, Gloria tibi Domine, Gratias, Creed, Offertory, Sursum corda, Sanctus, and Gloria, 1s.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 6d.
—— Service (No. 3) in F. For Parish Choirs	1	0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d. (Sol-fa, 1½d.); Jubilate, 2d.; Introit, Kyrie, Creed, Sanctus, and Gloria, 4d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d. Sol-fa Edition, complete, 9d.
—— Service (No. 4) in E flat	2	0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Benedictus, 4d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Kyrie (1 and 2), Gloria tibi, Gratias tibi, Creed, Offertory Sentence, Sursum corda, Sanctus, Benedictus, Agnus Dei, and Gloria in Excelsis, 1s.; Cantate Domino and Deus misereatur, 8d.
—— Service (No. 5) in E and E flat	2	0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Benedictus, 4d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Kyrie (1 and 2), Gloria tibi, Gratias tibi, Creed, Offertory Sentence, Sursum corda, Sanctus, Benedictus, Agnus Dei, and Gloria in Excelsis, 1s.; in E flat, Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 6d. (Sol-fa, 2d.)
—— Service in A. The Office of the Holy Communion, for Parochial use	1	0
—— Magnificat and Nunc dim. in B flat, for T.T.B.B.	0	6
—— Benedictus qui venit and Agnus Dei in A	0	3
German, J. E.—Te Deum in F	1	0
Gibbons, O.—Service in F, transposed to G	1	0
Or singly:—No. 1. Te Deum, 4d.; 2. Benedictus, 3d.; 3. Kyrie, 4. Nicene Creed, 5. Sanctus, 4d.; 6. Magnificat, 7. Nunc dimittis, 4d.
Gladstone, Dr. F. E.—Service in F	2	0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Benedictus, 4d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Kyrie, Gloria tibi, Creed, Sursum corda, Sanctus, Benedictus, Agnus Dei, and Gloria, 1s.; Mag. and Nunc dim., 6d.
—— Benedicite (Chant form)	0	3
—— Benedicite (Unison and Organ) in G	0	1½
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in G	0	6
Godfrey, A. E.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in G	0	4
Goodhart, A. M.—Magnificat and Nunc in B flat	0	4
Goss, Sir John.—Unison Service in A. Te Deum	0	4
—— Benedictus and Jubilate in A	0	4
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in A	0	3
—— Te Deum and Benedictus in C, for four voices	0	4
—— Te Deum and Benedictus in C, for four voices (Welsh words)	0	4
—— Te Deum and Jubilate in A, for four voices	0	6
Small score for voices only, 3d.; Sol-fa, 2d.
—— Benedictus in A, for four voices	0	3
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in A, for four voices	0	4
Sol-fa, 1½d.
—— Te Deum in D, for four voices	0	4
—— Te Deum in F	0	4
—— Cantate Domino and Deus in C (Unison)	0	6
Sol-fa, 1½d.
—— The Order for the Burial of the Dead, with Psalms pointed for chanting	1	0
—— Thanksgiving Te Deum in D	0	6
—— Benedictus. Ditto	0	3
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E	0	4

Digitized by Google

OCTAVO EDITIONS OF SERVICES—Continued.

	s.	d.
Gounod.—Communion Service (Messe de Pâques)..	2	6
—— Ditto (Messe Solennelle)	1	6
Haking, R.—Te Deum in C (Chant form)	0	3
Hall, King.—Communion Service in C, Parochial use	1	0
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E flat ..	0	6
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E flat, for Parish Choirs	0	3
—— Morning and Evening Service in B flat ..	1	6
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Benedictus, 4d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 6d.
Hall, Rev. E. V.—Communion Service in C, for Parochial use	1	0
—— Ditto in E flat, ditto	1	0
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D	0	6
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in B flat ..	0	4
Hamilton-Gell, A. W.—Jubilate Deo in E flat ..	0	1½
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E flat ..	0	4
—— Te Deum in G (Chant)	0	1½
—— Jubilate in G (Chant)	0	1½
Hanforth, T. W.—Magnificat and Nunc in G ..	0	4
Hattersley, F. K.—Magnificat and Nunc in E flat	0	6
Hayes, W.—Cantate Domino and Deus misereatur in E flat	0	6
Haynes, Battison.—Communion in E flat, for Parochial use	1	0
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D, for Men's voices	0	6
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, arranged to Gregorian Tones	0	3
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E flat ..	0	4
—— Benedictus and Agnus Dei	0	6
—— Pater Noster (Unison and Organ)	0	2
Herbert, Edward.—Chant Te Deum in D	0	3
—— Benedictus	0	3
Hervey, F. A. J.—Benedicite in A flat (Chant form)	0	1½
Hopkins, Edward J.—Service in F	1	6
Or singly:—Te Deum, 6d.; Benedictus, Sanctus, and Kyrie, 6d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 6d.
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in F, partly in Chant form	0	4
Hopkins, J. L.—Te Deum in G (Sol-fa, 1½d.) ..	0	3
Hughes, P. E.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D	0	4
—— Communion Service in E, for Parochial use ..	1	0
Hutchinson, T.—Te Deum in E flat	0	3
—— Benedictus in E flat	0	3
Iliffe, F.—Communion Service in C, for Parochial use	1	0
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in G	0	4
—— Ditto (Male Voices) in D	0	6
Irons, H. S.—Te Deum in G	0	3
Voice part, 1½d.
Jackson, W. (Exeter).—Service in F	0	8
Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d. (Sol-fa, 1d.); Jubilate and Kyrie, 1½d. (Sol-fa, 1d.); Sanctus, Doxology, and Creed, 2d.; Cantate Domino and Deus misereatur, 3d.
Kempton, T.—Service in B flat	0	9
Te Deum, Jubilate, Magnificat, and Nunc dimittis.
Kimmins, George J.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E flat	0	3
King, Charles.—Service in F	0	9
Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Jubilate, 1½d.; Sanctus and Kyrie, 1½d.; Creed, 3d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.
King, Henry John.—Service in F	2	0
Or singly:—No. 1. Te Deum laudamus, 4d.; 2. Benedictus, 3d.; 3. Kyrie eleison, 4 and 5. Before and After the Gospel, 6. Credo. 7. Sursum corda, 8. Sanctus, 9. Benedictus qui venit, 10. Agnus Dei, 11. Gloria in Excelsis, 1s.; 12. Magnificat, 13. Nunc dimittis, 4d.
—— Service in B flat	2	0
Or singly:—No. 1. Te Deum, 4d.; 2. Benedictus, 3d.; 3. Jubilate, 3d.; 4—11. Introit, Kyrie, Before and After the Gospel, Nicene Creed, Sanctus, Benedictus, Agnus Dei and Gloria, 9d.; 12, 13. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.
King, Oliver.—Te Deum and Jubilate in D, with free accompaniment	0	6
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D	0	4
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in C	0	4
Lane, E. B.—Te Deum in F	0	3
Littleton, Alfred H.—Te Deum and Benedictus, in simple Chant form	0	4
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, ditto	0	3
—— Te Deum in E flat	0	3
Livett, G. M.—Communion in G, for Parochial use	1	0
Lloyd, C. Harford.—Service in E flat	2	6
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Benedicite, 2d.; Benedictus, 3d.; Jubilate, 2d.; Introit, 6d.; Kyrie and Gloria, Creed, Offertory Sentences, Sursum corda, Sanctus, Benedictus and Agnus Dei, Gloria, 1s.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 6d.
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in F, for Solo Voices (Sop. and Bar.), Chorus and Orchestra	0	6
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in F	0	3
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D	0	4
Löhr, Harvey.—The Office for the Holy Communion in A minor, for Parochial use	1	0
—— Service in C	1	6
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Benedictus, 3d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Kyrie eleison, Credo, Sursum corda, Sanctus, Gloria in Excelsis, 6d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.
—— Service in C (Unison)	1	0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Benedictus, 3d.; Jubilate, 2d.; Kyrie eleison, Credo, Sursum corda, Sanctus, Gloria in Excelsis, 4d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.
Lutkin, P. C.—Te Deum laudamus in C	0	4
Macfarren, G. A.—Unison Service	1	0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Jubilate, 1½d.; Kyrie, Creed, Sanctus, and Gloria, 4½d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.
Macfarren, Walter.—A Simple Service in C ..	0	6
Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Jubilate, Kyrie, and Sanctus, 2d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 2d.
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in C (Unison) ..	0	3
—— Service in A	1	0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Benedictus, 3d.; Jubilate and Kyrie, 4d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.
Macpherson, C.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in F	0	4
—— Communion Service in E flat	1	6
Macpherson, S.—Magnificat and Nunc in E flat	0	4
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D	0	3
—— Te Deum in E flat	0	4
—— Benedictus and Kyrie in E flat..	0	4
Macpherson, G. W.—Te Deum in E flat (Chants)..	0	1½
Mammatt, E.—Deus misereatur in G	0	1½
—— Cantate Domino and Deus misereatur in G ..	0	6
Sol-fa, 2d.
Mann, A. H.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in A flat	0	6
Marchant, Arthur W.—Te Deum in E flat ..	0	3
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E flat ..	0	3
—— Benedictus in E flat	0	3
Marks, J. C., Jun.—Magnificat & Nunc dimittis in D	0	4
Martin, Dr. G. C.—Te Deum and Benedictus in C	0	8
—— Te Deum in A, with Antiphon	0	8
—— Communion Service in C	1	0
—— Communion Service in A	1	0
—— Benedictus qui venit and Agnus Dei in C ..	0	3
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in C	0	6
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in B flat ..	0	6
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in G. A short Festal Setting	0	6
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in A	0	6
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in Chant form	0	3
—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis to Irregular Chants	0	3
—— Benedicite, omnia Opera. Three Settings each	0	4
Martin, G. F. W.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E	0	4
—— Communion Service in E flat, for Parochial use	1	0
—— Communion Service in E, for Parochial use	1	0
Meacham, C. J. B.—Benedictus and Agnus Dei in F	0	3
Mendelssohn.—Service in A	1	6
Or singly:—Te Deum, 6d.; Jubilate, 4d.; Magnificat, 8d.; Nunc dimittis, 4d.

Digitized by Google

OCTAVO EDITIONS OF SERVICES—Continued.

Merbecke.—The Nicene Creed, arr. by J. Stainer.. 0 1

Miller, C. E.—Te Deum in D 0 3

Moir, Frank L.—Communion Service in D.. .. 1 6

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in G 0 4

Monk, Dr.—Unison Service in A. Voices and organ 1 0
Or singly:—Te Deum and Jubilate, 4½d.; Kyrie, Creed, Sanctus, and Gloria, 4½d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.; Te Deum (Sol-fa), 1d.

—— Apostles' Creed in G 0 2

Monk, W. H.—Te Deum in A 0 3

Morley, T.—Te Deum in F 0 3

Naylor, C. L.—Communion Service in D, arranged for Parochial use 1 0

Newton, E.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in F .. 0 3

Nunn, E. C.—Te Deum for Parish Choirs in F .. 0 3

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in F 0 3

Ouseley, Sir Fred.—A Chant Service for the Te Deum in D (Voice Parts, 1½d.; Sol-fa, 1½d.) .. 0 3

—— Communion Service in C (easy) 0 4

Page, A.—Benedictus and Agnus Dei in F.. .. 0 3

Parker, H. W.—Service in E 2 6
Or singly:—No. 1. Te Deum, 6d.; 2. Benedictus, 4d.; 3. Jubilate, 3d.; 4—13. Kyrie, Gloria, Gratias, Credo, Offertorium, Sursum corda, Sanctus, Benedictus, Agnus, Gloria in Excelsis, 1s.; 14—15. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 6d.

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E flat .. 0 4

Parry, C. Hubert H.—Service in D 1 0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d. (Sol-fa, 1d.); Benedictus, 3d.; Kyrie, Creed, Sanctus, and Gloria, 4½d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.

Porter, S.—Service in D 0 9
Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Jubilate, 1½d.; Kyrie, Sanctus, and Creed, 3d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.

Pratten, W. S.—Te Deum in E, in Chant form .. 0 3

Prout, Ebenezer.—Service in F 2 0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Benedictus, 4d.; Kyrie, Creed, Sanctus, and Gloria, 9d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 6d.

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D 0 6

Pyne, J. Kendrick.—Communion Service in A flat 1 0

Reay, Samuel.—Service in F.. .. .. .. 1 6
Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Kyrie, Creed, Sursum corda, Sanctus, and Gloria, 6d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 6d.

Redhead, Alfred.—Communion Service in D, arranged for Parochial use 1 0

Redhead, R.—Te Deum in D 0 3

Roberts, J. Y.—Te Deum in F (Chant form) .. 0 1½

—— Te Deum in D (Chant form) 0 1½

—— Te Deum in C (Chant form) 0 1½

—— Te Deum in G (Chant form) 0 1½

—— Benedicite, omnia Opera, in B flat 0 4

—— The Lord's Prayer and Apostles' Creed in G.. 0 1½

—— Nicene Creed in G 0 1½

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in C 0 4

—— Benedictus in Chant form, four settings each 0 1½

Rogers, B.—Service in D 0 9
Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Jubilate, 1½d.; Kyrie, Creed, and Sanctus, 3d.; Gloria in Excelsis (F. Ouseley), 1½d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 6d.

Selby, B. Luard.—Service in A 2 0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Benedictus, 4d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Kyrie, Creed, Offertory, Sursum corda, Sanctus, and Gloria, 9d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 6d.

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E, Men's voices 0 6

—— Service in C 2 0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Benedictus, 4d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Gloria tibi, Gratias, Creed, Sursum corda, Sanctus, Benedictus, Agnus Dei, and Gloria in Excelsis, 1s.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 6d.

—— Service in F 1 6
Or singly:—Te Deum laudamus, 4d.; Benedictus, 4d.; Kyrie eleison, Credo, Sanctus, Benedictus qui venit, Agnus Dei, Gloria in Excelsis, 6d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.

—— Service in B major 2 0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Benedictus, 4d.; Kyrie, Credo, Sanctus, Benedictus qui venit, Agnus Dei, Gloria in Excelsis, 1s.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.

Shaw, James.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in C 0 8

—— Communion Service in G 0 6

Smart, Henry.—Service in F.. .. .. .. 2 0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d. (Sol-fa, 1½d.); Benedictus, 4d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Kyrie, Creed, Sursum corda, Sanctus, and Gloria, 9d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 6d. Sol-fa, 3d. Sol-fa edition, complete, 9d.

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in B flat .. 0 6

Smith, Boyton.—Chant Service in E flat 0 3
Te Deum, Benedictus, Sanctus, and Kyrie.
The same Te Deum printed in F, 1½d

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E flat .. 0 3

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D 0 6

—— Benedicite in A flat 0 1½

Smith, C. W.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in F 0 1½

Smith, Dr. John.—Service in B flat 3 0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 6d.; Benedictus, 6d.; Jubilate, 4d.; Sanctus, Kyrie, and Creed, 4d.; Magnificat, 6d.; Nunc dimittis, 4d.; Cantate, 6d.; Deus, 6d.

Spark, Dr. W.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D, for Voices in Unison and Organ.. .. .. 0 3

Stainer, Dr.—Service (No. 1) in E flat 2 0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 6d.; Benedictus, 4d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Introit, Kyrie (Nos. 1 and 2), Before and After the Gospel, Creed, Offertory Sentences, Sursum corda, Sanctus, and Gloria, 1s.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.

—— Service (No. 2) in A and D 2 0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d. (Sol-fa, 2d.); Benedictus, 3d.; Kyrie (Nos. 1 and 2), Creed, Offertory Sentences, Sanctus, and Gloria, 1s.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 6d. Sol-fa edition, complete, 9d.

—— Service (No. 3) in B flat 2 0
Or singly:—Te Deum in B flat, 6d.; Benedictus in D, 3d.; Kyrie, Before and After the Gospel, Creed, Sursum corda, Sanctus, Benedictus, Agnus Dei, and Gloria, 1s.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in B flat, 6d.

—— Communion Service in F, for Parochial use 1 0

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, set to Irregular Chants for Festivals. No. 1 .. .. .. 0 4

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, in Chant form, for Congregational use. No. 2 (Sol-fa, 1½d.) .. 0 3

—— Te Deum in C (Sol-fa, 1½d.) 0 3

—— Te Deum in G (Congregational) 0 3

—— Benedictus qui venit and Agnus Dei in F .. 0 3

—— Choir Book of the Office for Holy Communion, containing the whole of the proper Plain Song of the Priest's part, together with the ancient Confiteor, Pater Noster, &c., and the Kyrie, Creed, and Gloria of Merbecke 1 0

—— Creed, easy form for Four Voices, or Unison, with Organ, Folio (Octavo, 2d.) 0 6
Vocal score, without accompaniment, 1½d.

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E 0 6

—— The Canticles, arranged to Gregorian tones. First Series.. .. .. 0 6
Or singly:—Te Deum (First Tone), 2d.; Benedictus (Third Tone), 2d.; Magnificat (First Parisian Tone), Nunc dimittis (Second Parisian Tone), 3d.

—— Second Series 0 6
Or singly:—Te Deum (Third Tone), 3d.; Benedictus (Sixth Tone B), 2d.; Magnificat (Fifth Tone D), Nunc dimittis (Third Tone B), 2d.

—— Third Series 0 6
Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Benedictus, 2d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 2d.

—— Fourth Series 0 6
Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Benedictus, 2d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 2d.

—— Magnificat (St. Saviour's Tone) 0 2

Stainer and Blaxland.—Benedicite.. .. .. 0 1½

Stammers, I. H.—Communion Service in E flat .. 1 0

Stanford, C. V.—Service in B flat 2 0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Benedictus, 4d.; Kyrie, Creed, Sursum corda, Sanctus, and Gloria, 9d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.

—— Service in F, with the greater Third. The Morning and Evening Service, together with the Office for the Holy Communion (Op. 36) .. 2 0
Or singly:—No. 1. Te Deum laudamus, 4d.; 2. Benedictus, 4d.; 3. Jubilate Deo, 3d.; 4. Kyrie eleison, 5. Before the Gospel, 6. After the Gospel, 7. Credo, 8. Sursum corda, 9. Sanctus, 10. Gloria in Excelsis, 11. After the Benediction, 1s.; 12. Magnificat, 13. Nunc dimittis, 4d.

—— Service in A 2 0
Or singly:—No. 1. Te Deum laudamus, 4d.; 2. Benedictus, 4d.; 3. Jubilate Deo, 3d.; 4. Kyrie eleison; 5. Before the Gospel; 6. After the Gospel; 7. Credo; 8. Sursum corda; 9. Sanctus; 10. Gloria in Excelsis, 9d; 11. Magnificat; 12. Nunc dimittis, 6d.

Digitized by Google

OCTAVO EDITIONS OF SERVICES—Continued.

Statham, F. R.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E flat (Unison) 0 4

Staton, W.—Apostles' Creed 0 1½

Steane, B.—Benedictus in F 0 3

—— Jubilate in F 0 3

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis and Vesper Hymn in F 0 3

Steggall, Dr. C.—Service in F 1 6
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Benedictus, 3d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Kyrie, Gloria tibi, Laus tibi, Credo, Sursum corda, Sanctus, Benedictus, Agnus Dei, Gloria in Excelsis, 6d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.

—— Te Deum in A 0 3

—— Te Deum and Benedictus in B flat. Male voices, A.T.T.B. 0 8

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in B flat. Male voices, A.T.T.B. 0 6

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in C, for Voices and Orchestra 0 6

—— Cantate Domino and Deus misereatur in C, for Voices and Orchestra 0 6

—— Service in G 1 6
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Benedictus, 3d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Kyrie, Gloria tibi, Laus tibi, Creed, Sursum corda, Sanctus, and Gloria, 6d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis (Sol-fa, 1½d.), 4d.

Stephens, C. E.—Te Deum in C 0 3

Stevens, A. H.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in G 0 4

Stewart, Sir R. P.—Service in G, for Parish Choirs 1 0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d. (Sol-fa, 1½d.); Jubilate, 1½d.; Introit, Kyrie, Creed, Sanctus, and Gloria, 4d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.

—— Service in E flat (Double Choir) 2 0
Or singly:—Te Deum, Jubilate, 1s.; Cantate and Deus, 1s.

Sullivan, Arthur.—Te Deum in D (Sol-fa, 1½d.) .. 0 3

—— Jubilate and Kyrie in D 0 3

—— Festival Te Deum 1 0

Sumner, H. J. H.—Te Deum in E flat 0 3

Sydenham, E. A.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in F 0 4

Thorne, E. H.—Service, chiefly in Chant form .. 1 6
Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Benedictus, 3d.; Kyrie, Before and After the Gospel, Creed, Sursum corda, Ter Sanctus, Sanctus, and Gloria, 9d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.

—— Service in E flat: Te Deum, 4d.; Benedictus, 3d.; Jubilate, 2d.; Magnificat & Nunc dimittis, 4d.

—— Te Deum and Jubilate in G 0 6

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in G 0 6

Tilleard, James.—Te Deum in F 0 3

—— Jubilate and Kyrie in F 0 3

—— Festival Te Deum in G 0 3

Tinney, C. E.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D 0 6

Toop, A.—Te Deum in D 0 4

Tours, Berthold.—Service in F (Unison) 1 6
Or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Benedictus, 3d.; Jubilate, 2d.; Kyrie, Gloria tibi, Gratias, Sursum corda, Creed, Sanctus, and Gloria, 6d.; Benedictus and Agnus, 4d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.

—— Service in F. For four voices 2 0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d. (Sol-fa, 2d.); Benedictus, 4d. (Sol-fa, 1½d.); Jubilate, 3d.; Kyrie, Gloria tibi, Gratias, Sursum corda (Sol-fa, 1½d.); Creed, Sanctus, and Gloria, 9d.; Benedictus qui venit and Agnus Dei, 6d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d. (Sol-fa, 2d.)
Sol-fa Edition, complete, 9d.

—— Communion Service in C, for Parochial use .. 1 0

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D 0 6

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in B flat .. 0 6

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D 0 4

Tozer, Ferris—Communion Service in G (for Treble voices) 1 0

—— Te Deum in D 0 3

Travers, John.—Service in F. Edit. by G. C. Martin 1 0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Kyrie, Sanctus, and Creed, 4d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.

Trimnell, Thomas Tallis.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, on a Parisian theme (Chant form) .. 0 3

—— Kyrie Eleison and Nicene Creed in F 0 3

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in F, for Parish Choirs 0 3

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in C 0 3

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E flat .. 0 3

—— Festival Communion Service in C 0 4

—— Cantate and Deus misereatur in E 0 4

—— Te Deum in D 0 3

Tuckermann, Dr.—Service in E flat 2 0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Benedictus, 4d.; Introit, Kyrie, Gloria, Before and After the Gospel, Creed, Sursum corda, Preface A, Preface B, Sanctus, and Gloria, 1s.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.

Turle, J.—Service in Chant form 0 4
Or singly:—Te Deum, Jubilate, and Kyrie, 3d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 2d.

—— Benedictus (Chant form) in D 0 2

—— Service in D 1 6
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Benedictus, 4d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Kyrie, Sanctus, & Creed, 4d.; Magnificat & Nunc dimittis, 4d.

Turpin, E. H.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in F 0 4

Vincent, C.—Te Deum in D, in Chant form .. 0 3

Walmisley, T. Attwood.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D minor 0 4

—— Service in D 1 6
Or singly:—No. 1. Te Deum, 4d.; No. 2. Benedictus, 4d.; No. 3. Kyrie, No. 4. Nicene Creed. No. 5. Sanctus, 4d.; No. 6. Magnificat, No. 7. Nunc dimittis, 4d.

Walmisley, T. F.—Te Deum in C 0 3

—— Jubilate Deo in C 0 3

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in C 0 3

Warren, R. H.—Te Deum in E flat.. .. .. 0 6

Wesley, Dr.—Service in E. Morning and Evening Service, together with the Office for the Holy Communion, edited by Dr. G. M. Garrett .. 2 6

—— Chant Service in F 0 4
Or singly:—Te Deum, 1½d. (Sol-fa, 1½d.); Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 2d.; Ditto (Unison), 2d.

—— A short full Service in F 1 0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d. (Sol-fa, 1½d.); Jubilate, 2d.; Kyrie, Sanctus, and Creed, 4d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.

—— Nicene Creed in E 0 4

Wesley, S.—Service in F. Edited by G. C. Martin 1 0
Or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Kyrie and Sanctus, 2d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 6d.

West, J. E.—Te Deum in B flat 0 3

—— Te Deum in G 0 3

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in A 0 4

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E flat .. 0 6

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E flat (Male vv.) 0 6

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in C (Male vv.) 0 6

Westbury, G. H.—Te Deum in A 0 3

Williams, C. L.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in F 0 4

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis (Chant form) .. 0 3

—— Communion Service in G, for Parochial use .. 1 0

—— Te Deum and Jubilate in A 0 6

White, J.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E .. 0 4

Wood, C.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E flat 0 4

Wood, W. G.—Benedicite, omnia Opera, in D .. 0 1½

—— Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in B flat .. 0 6

Woodward, H. H.—Communion Service in D, for Parochial use 1 0

—— Te Deum in E flat 0 3

Wrigley, G. F.—Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in F 0 3

Digitized by Google

NOVELLO'S COLLECTION OF

Responses to the Commandments

EDITED BY

GEORGE C. MARTIN,

ORGANIST OF ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.

Bound in Cloth, Five Shillings; or, Forty-seven numbers at Twopence each.

1. Ancient Chant in F.
2. Dr. Aldrich in G.
3. Dr. Armes in B flat.
4. Dr. Armes in A.
5. " " in A.
6. Dr. S. Arnold in A.
7. Thomas Attwood in G.
8. Thomas Attwood in F.
9. Henry Baker in F.
10. " " in B flat.
11. J. Barnby in E.
12. J. Barnby in C.
13. A. Batten in D minor.
14. Beethoven in C.
15. W. T. Best in F.
16. W. T. Best in C minor.
17. " " in A.
18. " " in D minor.
19. W. T. Best in B flat.
20. " " in G.
21. Dr. W. Boyce in A.
22. Dr. Bridge in D.
23. " " in A flat.
24. Thomas Bridgewater in A.
25. A. Bryan in G.
26. J. Baptiste Calkin in B flat.
27. " " in B flat.
28. " " in D.
29. F. Cambridge in C.
30. Dr. W. Child in F.
31. " " in G.
32. Dr. W. Child in D.
33. Dr. Chipp in B minor.
34. " " in E.
35. " " in E minor.
36. Dr. Chipp in D.
37. " " in D.
38. Dr. Clarke in E.
39. " " in C.
40. Dr. Clarke in E flat.
41. Dr. Cooke in G.
42. Dr. Croft in A.
43. W. A. C. Cruickshank in E flat.
44. W. H. Cummings in F minor.
45. Dr. Dykes in F.
46. " " in F.
47. A. J. Eyre in E flat.
48. Sir George Elvey in B flat.
49. Eaton Faning in C.
50. Eaton Faning in F.
51. H. Farmer in F.
52. R. Farrant in G minor.
53. C. J. Frost in G.
54. C. J. Frost in C.
55. H. Gadsby in C.
56. Dr. Garrett in B flat minor.
57. " " in E.
58. Dr. Garrett in E.
59. " " in F minor.
60. " " in D.
61. Dr. Garrett in F.
62. O. Gibbons in F.
63. R. Gladstone in G.
64. Gounod in G.
65. Gounod in D.
66. J. L. Hatton in C.
67. " " in E.
68. Dr. Hayne in G.
69. Dr. Hiles in G.
70. E. J. Hopkins in A.
71. E. J. Hopkins in F.
72. J. L. Hopkins in C.
73. " " in C.
74. " " in E flat.
75. W. S. Hoyte in D.
76. Hummel in B flat.
77. " in D minor.
78. G. F. Jackson in E flat.
79. W. Jackson in E.
80. " " in F minor.
81. A. H. Jackson in C.
82. " " in F.
83. C. King in F.
84. " " in C.
85. " " in B flat.
86. C. H. Lloyd in E flat.
87. G. A. Macfarren in G.
88. " " in E flat.
89. W. Macfarren in C.
90. A. C. Mackenzie in A.
91. " " in F.
92. — Marbecke in F.
93. G. C. Martin in F.
94. G. C. Martin in G.
95. " " in E flat.
96. Mendelssohn in G.
97. Mendelssohn in A.
98. Dr. E. G. Monk in A.
99. W. H. Monk in E flat.
100. W. H. Monk in F.
101. Mrs. Bartholomew in A flat.
102. " " in B minor.
103. Dr. Nares in F.
104. Sir F. Ouseley in E flat.
105. " " in E.
106. " " in B minor.
107. Sir F. Ouseley in A.
108. " " in C.
109. C. H. H. Parry in D minor.
110. R. Patrick in G minor.
111. S. Porter in D.
112. H. Purcell in B flat.
113. S. Reay in F.
114. Dr. Rogers in D.
115. " " in E minor.
116. F. Schubert in C.
117. " " in G.
118. F. Schubert in G.
119. " " in F.
120. " " in E flat.
121. " " in A flat.
122. B. Luard Selby in E flat.
123. " " in D.
124. J. Shaw in G.
125. " " in G.
126. E. Silas in F. sharp minor.
127. G. J. Skelton in G.
128. Henry Smart in F.
129. Henry Smart in F.
130. Boyton Smith in E flat.
131. Dr. Smith in C.
132. J. Stainer in E flat.
133. J. Stainer in E flat.
134. " " in A.
135. " " in F sharp minor.
136. Dr. Steggall in G.
137. " " in F.
138. Sir R. P. Stewart in G.
139. " " in A.
140. Sir R. P. Stewart in E minor.
141. A. Sullivan in D.
142. T. Tallis, Doric.
143. J. Tilleard in F.
144. E. H. Thorne in G.
145. " " in E minor
146. T. Tomkins in C.
147. B. Tours in F.
148. B. Tours in G.
149. " " in E flat.
150. T. T. Trimnell in C.
151. Dr. Tuckerman in F.
152. " " in E flat.
153. J. Turle in C.
154. " " in F.
155. J. Turle in D.
156. " " in E flat.
157. Dr. Walmisley in D.
158. Dr. Walmisley in F.
159. C. M. von Weber in E flat.
160. S. Wesley in F.
161. Dr. S. S. Wesley in E.
162. " " in C sharp min.
163. Dr. S. S. Wesley in F.
164. A. E. Tozer in G.
165. " " in A flat.

OTHER SETTINGS:

Six Kyries	(Parish Choir Book, 130)	G. Calkin	1½d.
" "	" " 341)	J. Clippingdale	1½d.
Five "	" " 214)	Oliver King	3d.
Kyrie (with Nicene Creed) in F	" " 137)	T. T. Trimnell	3d.

LONDON: NOVELLO AND COMPANY, LIMITED
AND
NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., NEW YORK.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

THE MUSICAL TIMES

AND SINGING-CLASS CIRCULAR.

PUBLISHED ON THE FIRST OF EVERY MONTH.

No. 659.—Vol. 39. Registered for transmission abroad. JANUARY 1, 1898. Price 4d.; Postage, 1½d. Annual Subscription, Post-free, 5s.

ROYAL CHORAL SOCIETY,
ROYAL ALBERT HALL.

Patron: Her Majesty the Queen.
President: H.R.H. The Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, Duke of Edinburgh, K.G.

Conductor: Sir Frederick Bridge, Mus.D.

HAYDN'S "CREATION"
On THURSDAY, January 27, at 8.

Artists:
Miss ESTHER PALLISER.
Mr. BEN DAVIES. | Mr. ANDREW BLACK.
Organist: Mr. H. L. BALFOUR.
BAND AND CHORUS, ONE THOUSAND.

Prices: Stalls, 7s. 6d.; Arena, 6s.; Balcony (Reserved), 5s.; Unreserved, 4s.; Gallery (Promenade), 1s.

ROYAL ACADEMY OF MUSIC,
TENTERDEN STREET, W.

Instituted 1822. Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1830.

Patrons: Her Majesty the Queen and the Royal Family.
President: H.R.H. The Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.
Principal: Sir A. C. Mackenzie, Mus. Doc.

Lent Term begins Thursday, January 6. Entrance Examination therefor, Monday, January 3, at 11.
Prospectus, Entry Forms, and all information may be obtained from the Secretary. F. W. RENAUT, Secretary.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC,
Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1883,
PRINCE CONSORT ROAD, SOUTH KENSINGTON, S.W.

President: H.R.H THE PRINCE OF WALES, K.G.
Director: C. Hubert H. Parry, Esq., D.C.L., M.A., Mus. Doc.
Hon. Sec.: Charles Morley, Esq., M.P.

The NEXT TERM begins January 6.
A JUNIOR DEPARTMENT is now open for Students up to 16 years of age, at reduced fees.
ASSOCIATE of the R.C.M. The Syllabus for the next Examination (April, 1898) is now ready.
ELEVEN FREE OPEN SCHOLARSHIPS will be competed for next February. Last day for sending in Entry Forms, accompanied by Registrar's stamped Certificate of Birth, January 3.
Syllabus and official Entry Forms may be obtained of
FRANK POWNALL, Registrar.

THE GUILDHALL SCHOOL OF MUSIC.—
Established by the Corporation of London, 1880.
Principal: William H. Cummings, Esq.
Students' Orchestra meets Mondays, 6.30 p.m. Classes for study of Rudiments of Music, also Sight Singing, held daily. Full particulars of Secretary. By order of the Committee,
Victoria Embankment, Blackfriars, E.C. HILTON CARTER, Sec.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF ORGANISTS.

The Christmas F.R.C.O. Examination commences on Jan. 3, 1898.
The Solo Playing tests are Sonata, No. 4, in B flat—Mendelssohn; Prelude and Fugue in B minor—Bach (Peters, Vol. 2, No. 10; Novello and Co., Book 7); and Introduction and Fugue, Suite in E major—Emile Bernard (Novello and Co.).
The A.R.C.O. Examination commences on January 10.
The College Library is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on Tuesdays and Thursdays until 7 p.m.
Members desiring practice on the College Organ may obtain particulars on application.
The large Hall, and sundry smaller rooms, may be hired for concerts, meetings, &c.
E. H. TURPIN, Hon. Secretary.
Hart Street, Bloomsbury, W.C.

UNIVERSITY OF DURHAM.

Examinations for Degrees in Music are held in March and September.
Full particulars, with copies of former papers, of Dr. Armes, The Bailey, Durham.

QUEEN'S HALL,
LANGHAM PLACE, W.

LIST OF MR. ROBERT NEWMAN'S CONCERTS,
Season 1898.

THE QUEEN'S HALL
SATURDAY SYMPHONY CONCERTS.
(Under the management of Mr. Robert Newman.)

Conductor: Mr. HENRY J. WOOD.

THE QUEEN'S HALL SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.
Principal Violin.. .. .. Mr. ARTHUR W. PAYNE.
Organist and Accompanist .. Mr. PERCY PITT.

THE QUEEN'S HALL CHORAL SOCIETY.
Saturday Afternoons, at 3.
January 15, 22, 29. | March 5, 12, 19.
February 5, 12, 19, 26.

Subscription, £3 3s.
Reserved Seats, 7s. 6d., 5s.; Unreserved, 3s., 2s., 1s.
At Robert Newman's Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

LAMOUREUX ORCHESTRAL CONCERTS.
(Under the management of Mr. Robert Newman.)

Conductor: MONS. CHARLES LAMOUREUX.

QUEEN'S HALL GRAND ORCHESTRA of 103 Performers.
Principal Violin .. Mr. ARTHUR W. PAYNE.

Afternoon Concerts.—February 2, March 2, April 20.
Evening Concerts.—February 16, March 15, May 4.
Subscription for Three Afternoon Concerts or Subscription for Three Evening Concerts } 7s. 6d., 22s. 6d., 15s.
Single Tickets—Reserved, 10s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 5s.; Unreserved, 2s. 6d., 1s.
At Robert Newman's Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

Programmes on application at Robert Newman's Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

THE
QUEEN'S HALL SUNDAY AFTERNOON ORCHESTRAL CONCERTS.
(Under the management of Mr. Robert Newman.)
Every Sunday Afternoon, at 3.30.

Conductor: Mr. HENRY J. WOOD.

THE QUEEN'S HALL ORCHESTRA.
Principal Violin .. .. .. Mr. ARTHUR W. PAYNE.
Organist and Accompanist .. Mr. PERCY PITT.

Robert Newman's Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

QUEEN'S HALL CHORAL SOCIETY.

Conductor: Mr. HENRY J. WOOD.

1898.
January 1 .. .. "ELIJAH," at 3.
February 23 .. .. "STABAT MATER," "HYMN OF PRAISE," } at 3.
April 8.. .. .. "REDEMPTION," at 3.

Organist: Mr. PERCY PITT.

The QUEEN'S HALL CHORAL SOCIETY will also take part in several of Mr. Newman's Saturday Afternoon Concerts.
Tickets, 7s. 6d., 5s., 2s 6d., and 1s.
Robert Newman's Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

Digitized by Go

PROFESSIONAL NOTICES.

MISS LIZZIE AUSTIN (Soprano)
(Silver Medalist and Certificate, R.A.M.)
Opera, Oratorio, Concerts, &c. 65, Philbeach Gdns., Earl's Ct., S.W.

MISS ETHEL BARNARD (Soprano)
Bronze and Silver Medals, Certificate of Merit, and Rutson Memorial Prizeholder, R.A.M.)
German Songs a specialty. 25, Upper Richmond Road, Putney, S.W.

MISS LOUISE CESTRIA (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, Opera Recitals, &c. Address, 45, Bridge St., Chester; or, W. B. Healey and Son, 17, Gt. Marlborough St., W.

MISS FUSSELLE (Soprano)
Licentiate (Artist), R.A.M.
For Concerts, Oratorios, &c. 37, Harrington Square, N.W.

MRS. GLOVER-EATON, L.R.A.M. (Soprano)
(Worcester Festivals).
Oratorios, Concerts, At Homes.
December, 1897: "Hear my Prayer" (Worcester); Miscellaneous Concert, Worcester; "Ancient Mariner," Worcester; "Messiah," Dover; "Creation," Leek.
Address, Messrs. Elgar Brothers, Worcester.
Private address, Stourport. Terms on application.

MADAME GOODALL (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Address, Leeds.

MISS CORDELIA GRYLLS (Soprano)
(Of the Crystal Palace Orchestral Concerts, &c.)
3, Broadhurst Gardens, South Hampstead, N.W.

MISS LOTTIE HEROD (Soprano)
Mackenzie Terrace, Woodley, near Stockport.

MISS ADA LEE (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, At Homes, &c. Address, 164, Strand, W.C.

MADAME ANNIE NORLEDGE (Soprano)
For Oratorios and Ballad Concerts.
Address, 1, Northgate, Newark, Notts.

MISS ELSIE PATON (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, Banquets, &c.
Address, 223, Burdett Road, Limehouse, E.

MISS WINIFRED PEAKE (Soprano)
Sainton-Dolby Scholar, Silver Medalist and Cert., R.A.M.
For Oratorios, Concerts, At Homes, &c.,
In Town and Provinces.
10, Wedderburn Road, Hampstead, N.W.

MISS MARGARET PEARSON (Soprano)
Concerts, Oratorios, &c. For terms, &c., 50, Bloom St., Stockport.

MISS FLORENCE VEREY (Soprano)
Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
Apply, care of N. Vert, Esq., 6, Cork Street, W.

MISS CLARA WALKER (Mezzo or Soprano)
(Low E to high C).
104, Lewisham High Road, New Cross.

MISS NELLIE ALLAUN (Contralto), I.S.M.
Cert. (Hons. and Adv.). Concerts, &c., 10, Grove Terrace, Leeds.

MISS ALICE BERTENSHAW (Contralto)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c., Katherine Terrace, Ashton-under-Lyne.

MADAME ALISON CAIRD (Contralto).
Oratorios, Organ Recitals, &c.
Lossie House, 40, St. Margaret's Road, Crofton Park, S.E.

Aria, "O rest in the Lord" (Mendelssohn's "Elijah").—"Madame Alison Caird, a contralto vocalist, sang the solo 'O rest in the Lord' in a fine, clear voice."—City Press, November 24, 1897.

COWEN'S "ROSE MAIDEN."—"Madame Alison Caird sang the scena 'Ask of yon ruined castle' and 'Yet shine they so sadly.' Her rich, powerful, and beautifully trained voice was very pleasing, and Norwood audiences will assuredly wish to hear her on other occasions. She was also associated with . . . in the trio 'Hast thou wandered?' and again made a remarkable impression. It is very evident that such a perfect contralto voice has popular capabilities, and Madame Alison Caird will doubtless be a formidable rival in the profession."—Norwood News, December 11, 1897.

"Madame Alison Caird was a new-comer. Her fine contralto voice has the enviable maturity and reliability that comes of experience. Unfortunately, owing to the whims of the composer, she was the soloist heard the least, but what she did was arduous and somewhat trying. She proved herself a very capable and conscientious artist, and the merits of her singing were quickly detected and fully recognised by the audience."—Norwood Review, December 11, 1897.

MADAME CLARA DORAN (Contralto)
For Oratorios, Organ Recitals, Concerts, At Homes.
59, Malvern Road, Kilburn, N.W.

MISS EMILY FOXCROFT, A.L.A.M. (Contralto)
For Oratorios, Ballads, &c. 76, Calabria Road, N.

MISS ADA SLATER (Contralto)
For Oratorios, Concerts, Banquets, At Homes.
54, Dunsmure Road, Stamford Hill, N.

MISS ALICE WOLSTENHOLME (Contralto)
Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Address, Oak Bank, Radcliffe, Manchester.

MR. TOM CHLD (The Yorkshire Tenor)
(Winner of the 100 Guineas Prize, Music Trades Exhibition, 1896).
Open for Sunday Engagements.
For terms and vacant dates, address, Calverley, near Leeds.

MR. WALTER CLINCH (Tenor)
(Late of St. George's Chapel, Windsor Castle).
For Oratorios, Concerts, At Homes, &c., address, Athole House, Alfred Road, Acton, W.

MR. VERNON HENDERSON (Tenor)
For Critiques and Terms, apply, 22, Powis Square, W.

MR. ALBERT MONAGHAN (Tenor)
(York Minster).
"He possesses a tenor voice of exceptional quality and compass."—T. Robinson, Esq., Acting Organist and Choirmaster of York Minster.
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
For terms and vacant dates, address, York Minster.

MR. GWILYM RICHARDS (Tenor)
Winner of Joseph Mass Memorial Prize,
" " Goldberg Prize,
" " Evill Prize,
" " Rutson Prize.
At the Royal Academy of Music.
Of the Crystal Palace and St. James's Hall Concerts.
For Oratorios, Ballad Concerts. 30, Redburn Street, Chelsea, S.W.

MR. HERBERT STANSFIELD
(Solo Tenor, York Minster Choir).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c., 93, Lowther Street; or, Minster, York.

MR. JOSEPH WILLIAMS (Tenor)
For Concerts, At Homes, Masonic Banquets, &c.
Address, 22, Bolden Street, St. John's, S.E.

MR. HERBERT ALDRIDGE (Baritone)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
Address, Saxonbury Villa, Buxton Road, Stratford, E.

MISS MARIAN JAY (Solo Violinist)
(Pupil of M. Emile Sauret, Medalist and Cert. R.A.M.)
Concerts, At Homes, Lessons.
26, Wigmore Street, W.

MISS KATE SHIELDS (Soprano) (Medalist, R.A.M.), booking for the season. Concerts, Oratorios, Recitals. For terms and Press notices, 137, Tweedale Street, Rochdale.

MR. ALEXANDER TUCKER (Basso Profundo), "St. Audries," Enfield, N. "Is perhaps the finest Basso Profundo amongst English vocalists."—The Sketch.

MR. EGBERT ROBERTS (Bass, Conductor, Italian Church, Hatton Garden) requests that communications respecting Oratorios, Concerts, or Lessons be addressed, 45, Pentonville Road, N. Oratorio and Concert Parties arranged.

MISS MAUDE BALLARD
(SOPRANO)
Copy of testimonial from the late Sir JOSEPH BARNBY shortly before his death: "I have much pleasure in recommending Miss Maude Ballard as an admirable singer, possessed of a very good voice and considerable dramatic talent, who is likely to make a good position in the musical world. She sang Mendelssohn's 'Loreley' at a concert I conducted with the greatest possible success. In fact, she is an admirable musician, and one who could be relied upon, whether on the stage or concert platform.—JOSEPH BARNBY."

"In the absence of Miss Esther Palliser, through illness, her solo, 'Hear ye, Israel,' was undertaken by Miss Maude Ballard, a lady who possesses that extreme rarity, a pure and perfectly trained soprano voice. She received a well-merited encore. Her other solo, 'I will extol Thee' (Costa), was sung very well indeed, the difficult florid passages being executed with ease and brilliancy."—Kensington News.
Press notices, terms, and photo, 13, Herbert Rd., Stockwell, S.W.

MISS
EMILY DAVIES
(DRAMATIC SOPRANO)
For Oratorios, Ballad Concerts, At Homes, &c. Address, Severn House, 114, Seven Sisters' Road, Finsbury Park, N.

MRS. S. FORD
(SOPRANO).
For terms and Press notices, address, Avondale, Park Road, E., Wolverhampton.

MADAME ADA LOARING
(SOPRANO)
Merrion, Wellington Road, Peckham, S.E.

MISS MARIE ROBERTS
(SOPRANO)
For Oratorio and Miscellaneous Concerts.
Address, Fitzjohn's Mansions, Netherhall Gardens, N.W.

Digitized by Google

MISS

BEATRICE PALLISTER

THE NEW YORKSHIRE SOPRANO

(Her first Season).

ENGAGEMENTS:—

Sheffied, 6; Doncaster, 5; Hunstanton, 7; Thorne, 2; Hull, Grantham, Selby, Chesterfield, Denby, Winterton, Retford, Faversham, Barmouth, Criccieth, Poole Quay, Oswestry, Horncastle, Woodhouse, Matlock, Mossley.

Terms and critiques from 59, Broxholme Lane, Doncaster.

MADAME LAURA SMART

(SOPRANO)

Oratorios, Operatic Recitals, Ballad Concerts.

Address, 106, Bolingbroke Grove, Wandsworth Common, S.W.; or, 50, Church Street, Liverpool.

GERTRUDE WESLEY

(SOLO HARPIST AND MEZZO-SOPRANO),

High Street, Doncaster.

MISS BERYL CLIVE

(CONTRALTO)

Has REMOVED to 235, New Cross Road, London, S.E.

MISS STONE-HUMPHRIES

(CONTRALTO)

(Pupil of Mr. Randegger).

For Terms, Press Notices, address, Womersley, Pontefract.

MR.

ALBERT E. EDWARDS

(ALTO)

Is open to receive Engagements at Church Services, Concerts, Dinners, Glee Clubs, &c.

35, Knowle Road, Brixton, S.W.

MR. BRIGHT JONES

(TENOR).

For terms, apply, Glenhurst, Bath; or, N. Vert, Esq., 6, Cork St., W.

MR.

ALFRED KENNINGHAM

(TENOR),

Vicar-Choral, St. Paul's Cathedral; Organist and Choirmaster, St. Dionis Church, Parson's Green; Professor of Singing, Richmond School of Arts, can accept Oratorio and Concert Engagements. Voice production thoroughly taught and explained. Pupils prepared for examination by the Associated Board of the Royal Academy and Royal College. Address, Orpheus Lodge, Parson's Green, S.W.

MR. JOS. REED

(PRINCIPAL TENOR, TRINITY COLLEGE)

For Oratorios, Ballad Concerts, &c. Terms, Garden Walk, Cambridge.

MR. HARRY STUBBS

(TENOR)

(St. Paul's Cathedral).

98, Holland Road, Brixton, S.W.; or, Mr. N. Vert, 6, Cork St., W.

MR. WILLIAM WILD

(TENOR)

Of the Sir Charles and Lady Hallé South African Concert Tour, 1895.

(Pupil of Andrew Black, Esq.)

Specially recommended by the late Sir Charles Hallé. For Concerts, Oratorios, &c. Grosvenor Square, Stalybridge.

MR. DAN BILLINGTON

(THE CELEBRATED YORKSHIRE BARITONE)

(Vide Press)

Soloist of the Leeds Festivals, Sir Charles Hallé's and the Principal Provincial Concerts.

For terms, apply, 34, Hanover Square, Leeds.

MR. MONTAGUE BORWELL

(BARITONE)

For Oratorios, Concerts, &c,

Works undertaken at sight if necessary.

Care of Mendelssohn Parry, 11, Northumberland Mansions, W.

MR. JAMES BRAND

(BARITONE)

Voice naturally adapted in quality and compass for baritone rôles of high range.

Terms, Press notices, 20, Honiton Road, Kilburn, N.W.

MR. FREDERIC HOSKING

(BARITONE)

(Principal Bass, Church of the Annunciation, Bryanston Street, W.)

Address, 37, Lawford Road, Camden Road, N.W.

MR. EDWARD ILES

(BARITONE).

Address, 31, York Street, Gloucester Place; or, Mr. N. Vert, 6, Cork Street, Burlington Gardens, W.

MR. BANTOCK PIERPOINT

(BARITONE).

Address, 44, Plympton Road, Brondesbury, N.W.; or, N. Vert, 6, Cork Street, W.

MR. DANIEL PRICE

(BARITONE)

Westminster Abbey. Address, 18, Clarendon Road, W.

MR. JOHN RIDDING

(BARITONE)

3, Colebrooke Row, Islington, N.

MR. CHARLES TREE

(Winner of the 100 Guineas International Baritone Competition, London, 1896; thirty competed).

For Oratorio, Opera, Concerts (compass, lower F to upper A).

Address, 1, Finborough Road, South Kensington, W.

MR. MUSGROVE TUFNAIL

(BARITONE).

22, Ferndale Road, Clapham, S.W.

MR. & MRS.

WALLIS A. WALLIS

(BARITONE AND SOPRANO)

For Oratorios, Concerts, &c.; also to Recite with Music.

Duets a specialty.

Engaged: Tour in Scotland and North in January.

Address, Sharon, Acton, W.

MR. CHARLES WALTON

(BARITONE)

(Pupil of Andrew Black, Esq.).

Terms, Press Notices, &c., 79, Coppice Street, Oldham.

MR. EDGAR ARCHER

(PRINCIPAL BASS, City Temple).

"I have great pleasure in stating that Mr. Edgar Archer has a fine bass-baritone voice, sings well, and with admirable effect."—WILLIAM H. CUMMINGS, Principal, Guildhall School of Music.

Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Apply, 153, Adelaide Road, N.W.

MR. ARTHUR BARLOW

(BASS).

For Oratorios, Operas, Concerts, &c.

Address, 19, Oval Road, Regent's Park, N.W.; or, Mr. N. Vert, 6, Cork Street, W.

MR. CHARLES HINCHLIFF

(BASS, St. Andrew's, Wells Street, W., late Pupil of Mr. Santley).

For Opera, Oratorio, Ballads, &c.; also Concert Parties provided.

Address, Hazelmere, Grange Road, Ealing, W.

MR.

LLEWELLYN

All communications respecting ORATORIO, CONCERTS, &c., to HEALEY'S AGENCY, 17, Great Marlborough Street, London, W.

MR. C. MAGRATH, A.R.C.M.

(BASS)

Address, 8, Adelphi Terrace, W.C.

THE CELEBRATED SOLO BOYS

MASTER SHOWELL FORD

AND

MASTER ROLAND FORD

(Of the Birmingham Town Hall Concerts, &c.)

For Concerts, Organ Recitals, Choir Festivals, &c.

For terms and Press notices, address, Mr. S. Ford, Avondale Park Road, E., Wolverhampton.

SOLO BOYS.

LONDON TRAINING SCHOOL FOR CHORISTERS,
POLYTECHNIC, REGENT ST., W.

PRESIDENT, MR. ALBERTO RANDEGGER.
PRINCIPAL, MR. JAMES BATES.

Boys supplied for Oratorios, Festival Services, Concerts, &c. The principal boys now singing:—

Master STANLEY MARCHANT
Master WILLIE GAMMAGE
Master PERCY HALE
Master HERBERT HARDEN
Master WILLIAM McLEAN
Master ALBERT RUSSELL

can be very strongly recommended for all kinds of solo work.

RECENT TESTIMONIALS.

"Having engaged Master Stanley Marchant on many occasions, I am happy to bear testimony to the sweetness of his voice and the charm of his sympathetic singing."—WILLIAM H. CUMMINGS, Principal, Guildhall School of Music, May 20, 1897.

"The Duchess of Albany was delighted with the singing of Master Willie Gammage, and his manners to H.R.H. were simple, unaffected, and courteous."—(Signed) Hon. RICHARD MORECOMBE, April 9, 1897.

"Your boys are excellent."—Sir FREDERICK BRIDGE, Conductor, Royal Choral Society, June 30, 1896.

"I have often been charmed with the sensibility, the phrasing, and the emotional power of your solo boys' renderings."—JOHN SPENCER CURWEN, Esq., President, Tonic Sol-fa College, Sept. 11, 1896.

"I have the pleasure to inform you that your boys gave us very great satisfaction by their artistic singing. We shall hope to have them again."—H. W. SANGSTER, Esq., Mus. Doc., St. Saviour's, Eastbourne, Sept. 7, 1897.

"I thank you very much for the boys' (Masters Hale and Marchant) most valuable help."—G. ROBERTSON SINCLAIR, Esq., Hereford Cathedral, Oct. 10, 1897.

"Gammage sang splendidly, and I hope for the pleasure of having him again."—A. J. GREENISH, Esq., Mus. Doc., Oct. 13, 1897.

"Master Albert Russell sang very nicely indeed."—B. AGUTTER, Esq., Mus. Doc., St. Peter's, Streatham, Oct. 18, 1897.

The sixty Chorus Boys who have been so brilliantly successful at the Queen's Hall Oratorio Concerts, conducted by Mr. Randegger, are available for engagements.

The principal London critiques on the Boys' singing at the Queen's Hall Oratorio Concerts:—

The Times, Jan. 4, 1897.—"The choir, materially assisted by a contingent of boys from the London Training School for Choristers, were more than admirable in every way, their quality of tone, power of expression, and precision of attack being as remarkable as they are uncommon."

Daily Telegraph, Jan. 24, 1896.—"The choruses gained in effect through the strengthening of the choir by a contingent of boys from the 'London Training School for Choristers,' whose bright young voices were heard to much advantage."

Morning Post, April 4, 1896.—"In speaking of the choir mention should be made of the excellent singing of the contingent of boys from the London Training School for Choristers."

Standard, Feb. 24, 1896.—"The sopranos and contraltos were reinforced by a large contingent of boys from the London Training School for Choristers. The bright, fresh voices of the juvenile singers blended excellently with those of the female executants."

For further particulars, testimonials, &c., address Mr. JAMES BATES, Polytechnic, Regent Street, W.

MR. JOSEF CANTOR'S

"GEMS OF THE OPERAS"

CONCERT COMPANY.

All communications, Church Street, Liverpool.

Telegrams—"Cantor, Liverpool."

ROYAL WINDSOR GLEE SINGERS

(Of St. George's Chapel Royal and Eton College Chapel).

Mr. WALTER CLAY. Mr. ABEL STARKEY.
Mr. DAVID HUMPHREYS. Mr. WALTER DODDS.

For Concerts, At Homes, Banquets, &c., address, D. Humphreys, 19, The Cloisters, Windsor Castle; or, N. Vert, Esq., 6, Cork St., W.

HAND-BELL SOLOIST.—Mr. ARTHUR J. MANGER. Concerts, Dinners, At Homes, &c. 100, Manor Road, Brockley, S.E.

MR.

BLAXLAND'S SOLO BOYS

Experienced. Reliable. Artistic.
For Church Festivals, Concerts, Banquets, &c.

MASTER WILLIE CHILD (Soprano)

A clever and artistic solo singer, with a voice of exquisite quality and great compass.

Master CHILD has had an experience unsurpassed in the Standard Works (Latin and English words), and is acknowledged by competent judges (vide recent testimonials in Musical Times for Dec., 1897, of Madame ALBANI, Madame JANOTHA, and others) to be a singer of the most exceptional merit.

Also other experienced Solo Boys available for engagements (see Musical Times for December).

Mr. BLAXLAND has resigned the appointment of Organist and Choirmaster at Christ Church, Brondesbury, and is now conducting the music at St. John's Church, Great Marlboro' Street. The professional quartet from this church can be engaged for Church Festivals, &c.

Terms on application to
Mr. BLAXLAND, 2, Willesden Park Houses, Willesden Green, N.W.

MR. DUTTON'S SOLO BOYS.

MR. DUTTON (St. Paul's Cathedral) supplies Boys, PERSONALLY TRAINED, for Church Festivals, Concerts, &c.

Recent unsolicited Testimonials from Organists.

Master PERCY GOUGH

(disengaged on Sundays).

Oct. 11, 1897.—SELECTION, "CREATION" and WEBER'S "JUBILEE" CANTATA. "I was exceedingly pleased with Gough's rendering of the Solos, and so were the Congregation."—Org., Holy Trinity, Bexley.

Oct. 18, 1897.—BALLADS. "Gough gave the greatest satisfaction. Everyone was delighted with the quality of his voice and the good training he has received."—Org., S. John's, Sevenoaks.

Oct. 22, 1897.—"CREATION." "We were greatly pleased with Gough's singing."—Org., S. Augustine's, Honor Oak Park.

Dec. 13, 1897.—"LAST JUDGMENT." "Gough sang splendidly to-night."—Org., Holy Innocents', Hammersmith.

Master HAROLD CURD

(Solo Boy, St. Alban's, Holborn).

Oct. 23, 1897.—"HYMN OF PRAISE." "Curd sang beautifully and was much appreciated."—Org., Holy Trinity, Penge.

Nov. 29, 1897.—"GOD, THOU ART GREAT." "Curd sang very nicely, and everybody was charmed with him."—Org., S. Paul's, Southwark.

Dec. 3, 1897.—"GOD, THOU ART GREAT," and SULLIVAN'S "FESTIVAL" TE DEUM. "We were all delighted with Curd. His voice is excellent. I trust we may see him here again soon."—Org., S. Andrew's, Dover.

Dec. 8, 1897.—ORGAN RECITAL. "We were very pleased with Curd's singing—in fact, he is the best boy we have heard for a long time."—Org., S. Michael's, Braintree.

Mr. DUTTON has several other good boys holding Solo appointments.

For Terms, &c., address, MR. HENRY J. DUTTON, 19, Alpha Road, New Cross, S.E.

THE EUTERPEAN VOCAL QUARTET

Misses ANNIE SWINFEN, ANNIE WILSON,
Messrs. AGER GROVER, MUSGROVE TUFNAIL.
Concerts, Banquets, &c.
Address, Mr. M. Tufnail, 22, Ferndale Road, S.W.

MR. W. C. AINLEY, Mus. Bac., Cantab. (1884), teaches HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, &c., by Correspondence. Terms moderate. Eastfield House, Mirfield, Yorkshire.

DR. ALLISON instructed by Post Candidates who OBTAINED DEGREES OF MUS.D. AND MUS.B. at Oxford (1897), Cambridge, Dublin, and Durham Universities, Diplomas of L.R.A.M. (1897, &c.), A.Mus. L.C.M., L.Mus. L.C.M., F.R.C.O., and A.R.C.O.; Appointments at College and School of Music, and as Chapel Royal, Cathedral, and Parish Church Organists; Gold Medals, Prizes, "Honours" and Pass Certificates (of the Colleges of Music) to the number of 500. Harmony, Counterpoint, Orchestration, and Revision of Compositions, by Post, to correspondents anywhere. Personal instruction in Theory, Singing, Organ, and Pianoforte. Cambridge House, 68, Nelson Street, Manchester.

REVISION OF MUSICAL COMPOSITIONS.
Dr. Horton Allison, Mus.D. 68, Nelson Street, Manchester.

TO COMPOSERS, CONDUCTORS, PUBLISHERS, &c.
MR. RUTLAND BOUGHTON undertakes the SCORING of COMPOSITIONS for Orchestra and Military Band and the arranging and revising of same for publication. Excellent testimonials. Address, Beaconsfield House, Aylesbury.

Digitized by Google

MR. J. PERCY BAKER, A.R.A.M., Mus. Bac., Dunelm, teaches HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, &c., by post. Personal Lessons in Pianoforte or Theory at own or pupil's residence; or at 84, New Bond Street, W. Schools attended. Address, Willersley House, Old Charlton.

MR. T. HEMMINGS, Mus. Bac., Oxon., F.R.C.O., L.Mus.T.C.L., gives LESSONS in HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, &c., and prepares CANDIDATES for ARTS and MUSICAL EXAMINATIONS by Post. Latest successes, Mus. Bac., Oxford and Durham, L.R.A.M., A.R.C.M., F.R.C.O., A.R.C.O., &c. Sheppard Street, Stoke-on-Trent.

DR. F. J. KARN, Mus. Bac., Cantab.; Mus. Doc., Trinity College, Toronto; L.Mus. T.C.L., gives LESSONS Personally or by post in HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, FUGUE, FORM, ORCHESTRATION, ACOUSTICS, &c., and prepares for Musical Examinations. Latest successes: MUS. BAC., DURHAM, March and September, 1897, and all previous years; and FIRST, March and September, 1897, and all previous years; F.R.C.O. and A.R.C.O., July, 1897; A.R.C.M., 1896 and 1897; CAMBRIDGE, FIRST MUS. BAC., 1896; OXFORD, MUS. BAC., FINAL and FIRST, 1896 and 1897; CAMBRIDGE, MUS. BAC.; LONDON, MUS. BAC.; DUBLIN, MUS. BAC.; L.R.A.M. (Composition and Pianoforte), 1896 and 1897; Mus. Bac. and Mus. Doc., Toronto; L.Mus. and A.Mus., L.C.M.; L.T.C.L. and A.T.C.L., 1896 and 1897; Senior Local R.A.M. and R.C.M. Special and individual attention given to Correspondents. Upwards of 400 Diplomas and Degrees and several Gold and Silver Medals gained by pupils. MSS. corrected for publication: Analysis of classical works for Examinations. Terms moderate. Address, 70, Parkhill Road, London, N.W.

DR. ORLANDO A. MANSFIELD, Mus. Doc. T.U.T., L.Mus. L.C.M., F.R.C.O., L.T.C.L. (Author of "The Student's Harmony"), Torquay. PREPARES by Post for MUSICAL EXAMINATIONS. MSS. revised. Examination pieces analysed.

SPECIAL COACHING for A.R.C.M., 1895-1897. Sixteen Successes. Address, Mr. H. H. L. Middleton, Mus.B. (Cantab.), F.R.C.O., L.R.A.M., A.R.C.M., Dollis Road, Finchley, N.

MR. FREDERIC W. PARTRIDGE, A.R.C.M. (strongly recommended by Mr. Santley), teaches the ART of SINGING at a Studio in the West-End, or at his private residence, 11, Manor Grove, Beckenham, S.E.

MR. W. E. PITMAN, Mus. Bac., Oxon., F.R.C.O., teaches HARMONY and COUNTERPOINT, personally or by correspondence, and coaches for the Universities, Royal College of Organists, and other Musical Exams. Thorough grounding in the various subjects. For terms, address, W. E. Pitman, Sundridge, Sevenoaks.

DR. HAMILTON ROBINSON, Mus. Doc., Dunelm, F.R.C.O., Lecturer on Harmony in King's College, Lond., Organist and Choirmaster, St. Stephen's, South Kensington. PIANOFORTE and ORGAN LESSONS HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, COMPOSITION, &c., personally or by correspondence. Preparation for University, R.C.O., and all other Examinations. Classes. 54, Baron's Court Road, West Kensington, W.

MR. BRUCE STEANE (Composer of "The Ascension," contributor to Novello's Octavo Anthems, &c.) prepares rapidly and systematically for MUSICAL EXAMS. in all subjects, personally or by post. MSS. corrected and revised for publication. Address, "The Leas," Clyde Road, Wallington, Surrey.

MR. R. STOKOE, Mus. Bac., Cantab., F.R.C.O., gives ORGAN LESSONS at Christ Church, Down Street, Piccadilly. Harmony, Counterpoint, &c., taught personally or by post. 86, Rossiter Road, Balham, S.W.

DR. TAYLOR, Mus.D., Oxon., F.R.C.O., L.T.C.L. (Author of "Vocal Score Reading Exercises" and "Figured Bass and Melody Exercises," for R.C.O. Students), prepares CANDIDATES for MUSICAL EXAMINATIONS by Post. Address, Wolverhampton Road, Stafford.

DR. THOMAS (Mus. Doc., Oxon.; O. and C., St. Clement's; Conductor) desires RESIDENT PUPILS to train for the profession. Univ. Degree. Carlyle, Boscombe, Bournemouth.

MR. A. W. TOMLYN, Mus.B., Dunelm, L.T.C.L., Berwick-on-Tweed, COACHES CANDIDATES for University and all other Exams. by post. Every possible attention and assistance guaranteed. Latest success, Final Mus. Bac., Durham, March, 1897.

MR. W. H. TUTT, Mus. Bac., Cantab., L.R.A.M., teaches HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, ACOUSTICS, &c., by Correspondence. Ashburn, Derbyshire.

MR. W. WOLSTENHOLME, Mus. Bac., Oxon., teaches HARMONY and COUNTERPOINT by correspondence. Compositions revised. 86, Oswald Street, Blackburn.

MR. WALTER ROWLEY (the Lightning Cartoonist), Premier exponent of rapid Portraiture and Descriptive Vocalist, can be ENGAGED to give his ENTERTAINMENT, in or near London, at a moderate fee. Celebrities drawn in black and white in forty seconds. Every portrait a work of art. Great spécialité for Concerts. Particulars, 51, Broke Road, Dalston, N.E.

A.R.C.M. TEACHERS' SINGING EXAM.—Miss BESSIE PURZE, A.R.C.M., COACHES by Correspondence, in Physiology of Voice, for above Exam. 22, Holly Avenue, Jesmond, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

GUILD OF CHURCH MUSICIANS, LONDON.

Patron: His Grace the ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY.
President: The Very Rev. FRANCIS PIGOU, D.D., Dean of Bristol.

A.G.C.M. and F.G.C.M. Diploma Examination, January 13, 1898. The "Mendelssohn" prize, of the value of Two Guineas, is awarded at this Examination to the Candidate obtaining the highest number of marks.

A Bronze Medal will be awarded for the best easy Te Deum and a Silver Medal for the best original Minuet for the Organ.

The Council also offer two Exhibitions, each of the value of £5, to be given to the Candidate who shows the most conspicuous merit in the art of organ accompaniment.

The new Calendar is sent (Post-free) for fourteen stamps.

Free register for Organists requiring appointments.

Representatives required in England and abroad.

For further particulars, apply to

Dr. Lewis, Silvermead, Twickenham, S.W.

LONDON ORGAN SCHOOL AND INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

PRINCES STREET, CAVENDISH SQUARE, W.

Patron: His Grace the ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY.
Established in 1865 by the Rev. SCOTSON CLARK, Mus. Bac., Oxon.
Principals and Directors of Studies:
HENRY CLARK, T. H. YORKE TROTTER, M.A., Mus. Doc., Oxon.

PRIVATE LESSONS in ORGAN, PIANOFORTE, SINGING, VIOLIN, CELLO, FLUTE, CLARINET, GUITAR, HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, ELOCUTION, LANGUAGES, &c.
CLASSES in HARMONY, Counterpoint, Composition, Orchestration, and Musical Dictation, under the direction of Dr. Yorke Trotter.
ELOCUTION CLASS (Mr. Charles Fry).
ENSEMBLE CLASSES (Mr. Edward O'Brien).
SINGING CLASSES (Mr. Walter Mackway, A.R.A.M.).
SOLFEGE CLASS for Children (Mr. J. Mewburn Levien).
FRENCH CONVERSATION CLASS (Mr. Arthur Fayne).
ORCHESTRAL PRACTICES are held weekly.
DAY and EVENING LESSONS given throughout the year.
PUPILS CAN ENTER at ANY TIME.
Prospectus on application to

A. J. SCOTT, Secretary.

Victoria College Corporation, Ltd.
Incorporated 1891.

VICTORIA COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

Patrons:
The Rt. Hon. THE MARQUIS OF LORNE, K.T.
The Rt. Hon. THE EARL OF DARTMOUTH.

BOARD OF EXAMINATION.

J. H. LEWIS, Mus. Doc., D.C.L. (Principal).
GEORGE PRIOR, Mus. Doc., Oxon., F.R.C.O. (Registrar).
J. M. BENTLEY, Mus. Doc., Cantab., Hon. F.R.A.M.

Metropolitan Examinations, in all subjects and for all grades, including the Diplomas of Associate (A.V.C.M.), Associate in Music (A.Mus.V.C.M.), Licentiate (L.V.C.M.), and Licentiate in Music (L.Mus. V.C.M.), will be held April 14, 1898. Last day of entry, March 24.
Next Local Theoretical Examination, April 14, 1898. Local Practical Examinations are now being held at the various Centres.
Gold, Silver, and Bronze Medals are offered for competition.
The Educational Department is under the direction of Dr. Prior.
Local Secretaries required for towns not already represented.
Full particulars on application.

GEO. A. STANTON, F.G.C.M., Secretary.
Central Office: 11, Burleigh Street, Strand, W.C.

THE STERN CONSERVATOIRE OF MUSIC.

Founded 1850.—Professor GUSTAV HOLLAENDER, Director, 20, Wilhelmstrasse, Berlin, S.W. Conservatoire: Development in all branches of Music. Operatic School: Complete Training for the Stage. Orchestral School (comprising all solo and all orchestral instruments). Seminary: Special Training for Teachers. Chorus School. Elementary Piano and Violin School. Principals: Frau Prof. Selma Nicklass-Kempner, Adolf Schulze, Prof. Benno Stolzenberg (Vocal), Prof. Friedrich Gernsheim, Representing Director; Ludwig Bussler, Hans Pfitzner (Composition, Theory, Musical History), Felix Dreyschock, Albert Eibenschütz, Prof. Heinrich Ehrlich, Prof. Friedr. Gernsheim, A. Papendick, Otto Singer, Alfred Sormann, E. E. Taubert, L. C. Wolf (Piano); Fr. Poenitz (Harp, Harmonium); Otto Dienel, Royal Musical Director (Organ); Prof. Gustav Hollaender, Willy Nicking (Violin); Anton Hekking (Cello), Emanuel Reicher (Dramatic School), &c. Charges: From 125 marks (£6 5s.) up to 500 Marks (£25) annually. Prospectuses may be obtained through the Conservatoire. Pupils received at any time. Consultation hours from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. On September 1, 1897, Prof. Benno Stolzenberg (Vocal and Operatic School), Emanuel Reicher (Dramatic School), Hans Pfitzner (Composition, Piano), Otto Singer (Piano) entered the staff of teachers of the Conservatoire.

ARTICLED PUPIL.—Mr. W. S. HOYTE, F.R.C.O., Organist and Director of the Choir, All Saints', Margaret Street, W., has a VACANCY for a RESIDENT ARTICLED PUPIL. Exceptional advantages. Address, 68, Boundary Road, N.W.

Digitized by Google

BAKER STREET CHURCH OF ENGLAND HIGH SCHOOL FOR GIRLS, LTD.,
6, UPPER BAKER STREET, N.W.
(One Minute from the Metropolitan Station).
The Rev. Canon FRANCIS HOLLAND, Chairman.
PIANO (under the direction of Mr. Oscar Beringer): Miss Constance Bache, Miss Ethel Boyce, A.R.A.M., Miss Jessie Davies, A.R.A.M., Miss Kate Robinson, &c.
VIOLIN (under the direction of Herr Josef Ludwig): Herr J. Ludwig, Miss Louisa Nunn.
ORGAN (under the direction of Mr. F. A. W. DOCKER, A.R.A.M., Organist of St. Andrew's, Wells Street; Professor of the Organ at the Guildhall School of Music and the London Organ School of Music).
SINGING (under the direction of Mrs. Hutchinson): Mrs. Hutchinson, Miss Margaret Barter.
ELOCUTION: Miss Chute.
HARMONY CLASSES: Orchestral Practices, during Lent and Christmas Terms.
For Prospectus, &c, apply to the Headmistress, Miss Lilla B. Strong, 6, Upper Baker Street, N.W.

CHOIR BOYS.—WANTED, at once, ONE LEADER. Aged eleven to twelve years. Experienced. £4 to £5 per annum. Apply on Tuesdays or Thursdays, between 7 and 9 p.m., at St. Michael's Church, Burleigh Street, Strand, W.C.

WANTED, LEADING BOY, for St. John's Choir, Clapham Rise. Apply, Vicar, St. John's, Clapham Rise, S.W.

ALTO WANTED, St. James's Church, Camberwell. Good service. Address, Vicar, 21, Holland Road, Brixton.

ALTO WANTED, Church, N.W. District. Sunday Mornings and Afternoons. Fully choral. Good reader. Communicant. August holiday. £12. Letter to Green, 23, Cathcart Hill, N.

TWO TENORS and one ALTO (Lady), £10 each, WANTED, for the Choir of a Congregational Church in Haverstock Hill. Must be good readers. Practice on Thursday evenings and two Sunday services. Apply, W. B., 31, Queen's Crescent, Haverstock Hill, N.W.

THE CITY TEMPLE, Holborn Viaduct.—PRINCIPAL TENOR REQUIRED. Sundays (Morning and Evening), Choir practice, and Festivals. £25 per annum. Apply, by letter, to the Organist, as above.

CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL, Oxford.—There will shortly be a VACANCY in the Choir for a TENOR Voice. Candidates must be Communicant members of the Church of England, and thoroughly competent to undertake Solo and Verse work. They must not be above thirty years of age. Written applications, enclosing copies of two testimonials as to musical ability and two as to personal character, should be sent by Saturday, January 15, to the Organist, Dr. Basil Harwood, Christ Church, Oxford, who will give further particulars.

TENOR WANTED, Wandsworth Parish Church. Salary, £12. Apply to the Organist, Mr. J. E. Andrews, Melrose, Melrose Road, Southfields, Wandsworth, S.W.

BASS, or DEEP BARITONE, WANTED, for the Choir of St. Peter's, Cornhill. Salary, £12. Write, J. T. Smith, 2, Metal Exchange Buildings, City.

SOPRANO (Cert., good Voice). Will SING for EXPENSES. Ballads, At Homes, Oratorios, &c. Address, letter only, M., 56, Dynham Road, West Hampstead.

SOPRANO (Medalist, Certificate, &c.), with high flexible voice of good quality, will give SERVICES for EXPENSES at Oratorio, Operatic and Ballad Concerts, Dinners, At Homes. For Press opinions and testimonials, address, Vocalist, Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

AN experienced ALTO, with excellent testimonials, desires POST in or near London, and is willing to join Quartet Party or Glee Club. Quality, Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

ORGANIST WANTED, in a R.C. Church, West-End. Two Services on Sundays and Feasts. Thorough knowledge and experience in plain-chant (French system). Good reader. Terms, £60 and extras. References and applications, J. D., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

WANTED, an ORGANIST, for Temple Street Wesleyan Chapel, Keighley, Yorkshire. One who is thoroughly competent to train a mixed choir of thirty. Salary, £60 a year. A Three-manual Organ, with 50 stops, recently rebuilt. Applications, marked "Organist," may be sent to Rev. Henry Soper, Superintendent Minister, Keighley, on or before January 18, 1898.

ORGANIST WANTED. First-class Choir-training essential. Very liberal salary to really competent man. Prospect of new organ. Fine church. Residential district. Address, Vicar, St. Margaret's, Ilkley.

ASSISTANT-ORGANIST WANTED, to play Afternoon Service in N.W. district, in return for use of three-manual organ. Apply, by letter, to B. G., R.A.M. Club, Great Portland Street, W.

ORGANIST (experienced) would be willing to act as ASSISTANT in return for practice and preparation A.C.O. Address, Bourdon, 44, Raleigh Road, Hornsey, N.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER, of considerable experience (M.A., Mus. Bac., F.R.C.O.), is open for RE-ENGAGEMENT. Midlands or South preferred. Excellent testimonials. Address, Magister, Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners St., W.

TO CLERGY.—An experienced ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER (shortly disengaged), who has met with much success in training boys, desires a similar position in or near London (or would act as Organist only). Applications preferred from Churches where there is a full Cathedral Service or Choral Communion. Small salary if congenial sphere of work. Accustomed to voluntary choir. Address, Denham, care of J. W. Vickers, 5, Nicholas Lane, E.C.

ORGANIST and CHOIR-TRAINER. £200.—A Professional Gentleman is anxious to make an EXCHANGE for similar post in a warmer climate. Stipend, £60. Good teaching connection, &c. Fine church; 3-manual organ. Address, Mus. Prof., Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

WANTED, VIOLIN, VIOLA, and CELLIST to join Pianist for CONCERT PARTY. Good Sight-readers and enthusiastic Musicians. Chamber music by Mendelssohn, Grieg, Schumann, Hummel, &c. Address, Herbert Gresham, 58, Grove Street, Liverpool.

FLAUTIST (Amateur) wishes to arrange with amateur Pianist to play duets and trios, cello; near Baker Street. F., 531, Deacon's, Leadenhall Street.

MR. H. WHARTON WELLS, L.R.A.M., F.R.C.O., wishes for POST of VISITING MUSIC MASTER in a good School. Highest references. Theory lessons given personally or by correspondence. Allerton, Montserrat Road, Putney, S.W.

TUNER WANTED (principally out-door work). Must be a good workman and under 30 years of age. A knowledge of American Organs necessary. Situation 50 miles from London. State salary required and full particulars, with references, to Octavo, Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

PIANOFORTE TUNER and REPAIRER.—WANTED, first week in the New Year, thorough good TUNER and practical REPAIRER for all-round connection. Must also understand tuning and repairing of American Organs. Permanent situation to steady and competent man. Apply, first by letter, stating full particulars, wages, and experience, to S. E., care of Rogers and Son, 60, Berners Street, W.

WANTED, PIANOFORTE TUNER, &c. Apply, Sparks and Son, Littlehampton.

PIANOFORTE TUNER seeks permanent APPOINTMENT. Reliable references, steady, and knowledge of American Organs. Tuner, F. P., Novello and Co., 1, Berners St., W.

MANAGER, or TUNER-SALESMAN'S berth REQUIRED. Very successful salesman; good tuner; fair knowledge of American Organs. Good testimonial as Manager from last employer. Address, Manager, 60, William Street, Hull.

STEADY Young Man wants SITUATION (good firm), to be finished off as good fine TUNER. Apply, E. D., 15, West Arbour Street, Commercial Road, E.

TUNER-SALESMAN (Pianos and Music) desires ENGAGEMENT. Thoroughly practical. Highest London references. Energetic. Would manage Branch. Address, Burton, Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

WANTED, to PLACE ASSISTANT in Piano Tuning Shop for one year. State terms to Phillips' Music Salon, Newtown.

WANTED, for a Country House, Young Man as CLERK and ASSISTANT. Must be able to try pianos and have a knowledge of the sheet music trade. State age, references, and salary required to Clericus, Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners St., W.

TO MUSIC TEACHERS, STUDENTS, GLEE PARTIES, &c.—PRACTICE-ROOMS, also a CONCERT-ROOM to seat 100 persons, TO BE LET, by the hour or for longer periods; each room is furnished with a good piano, and supplied with fire and gas when needed. Terms moderate. Smith's Piano Warehouse, 179, Oxford Road, Manchester. Artists may have letters addressed to Smith's City Warehouse, 34, Oxford Street, near the Free Trade Hall.

NEW ORGAN STUDIO, with Three-manual PIPE ORGAN, blown by water. Terms for Practice, 1s. per hour. At Smyth's Music Depôt, 54, London Road, Forest Hill, S.E.

ORGAN PRACTICE (City), 1s. per hour. Three manuals, C.O. pedals. Willis (from Minories), 2, Church Row, Aldgate, E.C.

ORGANS (CHURCH). Fine toned, modern, 2 manuals, pedal, 15 stops. £95 Another, 6 stops, 2 manuals. £40. Eustace Ingram, 361, Liverpool Road, London, N.

Digitized by Google

ORGANS (New and Second-hand) for SALE, from £20, with pedals. Instruments for Church, Chapel, and College, built on the most modern principles, at Bedwell and Sons', Cambridge Organ Works, Cambridge.

ORGAN, in Country Church, for immediate SALE. Several new and second-hand Organs, with 3-2 manuals. W. E. Richardson, Central Organ Works, Hulme, Manchester.

TWO-MANUAL and PEDAL AMERICAN ORGANS, at Bargain Prices for Cash. A 165-guinea "Bell," two manuals and pedals, for 75 guineas; a £70 "Karn" Organ, with Suber's Patent Pedals, 25 guineas; a 95-guinea two-manual Percussion "Alexandre" Harmonium, 22 stops, 12 sets, 40 guineas. Also several large Organs and Harmoniums by Bell, Karn, Alexandre, Trayser, &c., at one-third usual price. Every instrument guaranteed. Packing or carriage free. Inspection invited. Messrs. Stagg and Sons, 56, Red Lion Street, Holborn.

FOR SALE.—Very valuable AMERICAN ORGAN, used at Bayreuth in "Parsifal." Perry, Manor House, Uppingham.

FOR SALE.—ORGAN. One manual, 4 stops, pedals; 8 ft. high, 6 ft. wide. Ornamental front. Blown hand or foot. £25. Fowles, 99, Durham Road, Birmingham.

ORGAN for SALE.—Two manuals, 10 stops. Bourdons and Pedals. Neat stained case. Decorated front pipes. Can be seen at any time by applying to G. A. Godbail, Cornhill, Ipswich.

ON SALE.—TWO-MANUAL ORGAN (BEVINGTON). Now in St. John's Church, Monkstown, Dublin. To make room for large three-manual organ now building. Great organ, 7 stops; swell organ, 8 stops. Pedal open diapason. Price, where it stands, £100. Apply, Peter Conacher and Co., Huddersfield.

9 GUINEAS.—AMERICAN ORGAN (list price, 20 guineas), 11 stops, including two knee-stops and the beautiful solo stops, voix celeste and vox humana; two octave couplers, handsome high case; in use about four months; ten years' warranty; easy terms arranged. Packing and carriage free. Approval. Full price paid will be allowed within three years if exchanged for a higher-class instrument. D'Almaine and Co. (established 112 years), 91, Finsbury Pavement, E.C. Open till 7. Saturdays, 3.

ORGAN PEDALS to PIANOS.—New method of Attachment by TUBULAR PNEUMATIC. This action surpasses all mechanical actions for prompt and Organ-like Touch. It is less expensive, easy to attach, and does not injure the most delicate Pianoforte. Prospectus, with full description and price lists, on application to Norman Bros. and Beard, Organ Works, Norwich.

14 GUINEAS.—PIANO, solid iron frame upright grand; worth 30 guineas; full compass, trichord, celeste action, &c.; in handsomely carved walnut wood case, four feet in height; in use only six months; sent on approval, carriage free, to any part of the United Kingdom; ten years' warranty; easy terms arranged; full price paid will be allowed if exchanged for a higher class instrument within three years. D'Almaine and Co. (established 112 years), 91, Finsbury Pavement, City. Open till 7. Saturdays, 3.

TO be SOLD, by Private Tender, in one lot, as a going concern, pursuant to a judgment of his Lordship Mr. Justice Byrne, made in an action (Trotter v. Clark, transferred for trial only from his Lordship Mr. Justice North) for dissolution of partnership, the BUSINESS, Goodwill, Assets, and Effects of the LONDON ORGAN SCHOOL and INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE of MUSIC, which was established in the year 1865 by the late Rev. F. Scotson Clark, Mus.B., and has been and is now being carried on at 22, Princes Street, Cavendish Square, London, W. The premises are on the Portland Estate (being held by underlease from the lessee from the estate), and are centrally situated and in close proximity to the proposed station in Oxford Street of the Central London Railway, and are held under lease, which has about 31 years still unexpired, at a rent of £400 a year, and have been adapted at a large cost to the requirements of the school. The premises comprise a concert-room, 22 feet high, specially built and adapted, and capable of holding at least 200 people; 12 rooms, office, excellent cloak-room and lavatory accommodation, large basement, containing the blowing apparatus capable of supplying five manual organs, erected by Henry Willis; two hydraulic high-pressure engines by Watkins and Watson. Power supplied by hydraulic high-pressure from the main of the London Hydraulic Company. The premises are lighted by electricity, and heated by hot water apparatus, and have been specially padded on one side to deaden sound.

All musical subjects, elocution, and modern languages are taught at the school, and since it was established many hundreds of pupils have received instruction.

Included in the sale are three pipe organs and various other musical instruments and all necessary trade fixtures, fittings, and furniture, together with the valuable goodwill.

There will also be included in the sale the underlease of the adjoining house, No. 21, Princes Street, of which about 31 years are unexpired; held at a rent of £350 and sub-let for a term of which about 17½ years are unexpired at the same rent.

Tenders are to be sent in a sealed cover, addressed to the Master, J. C. Fox, Esq., Mr. Justice North's Chambers, Royal Courts of Justice, Strand, London, not later than the 17th January, 1898.

Particulars and conditions of sale, with forms of tender, may be obtained (gratis) on application to Messrs. Baileys, Shaw and Gillett, Solicitors, 5, Berners Street, W.; Messrs. Mackrell, Maton and Co., Solicitors, 21, Cannon Street, E.C., and Mr. W. Walter Read, Chartered Accountant, 49, Queen Victoria Street, E.C.

HARPSICHORD.—Fine old Instrument, by KIRKMAN, in perfect working order, £40. Harp, double-action, ERAT. Perfect order. £25. Morley, Harp Maker, South Kensington Station.

VIOLIN.—"CARRODUS," grand INSTRUMENT, in Crocodile Leather Case. Cost £14 14s. Will sacrifice for £10 10s. Fowles, 99, Durham Road, Birmingham.

FOR SALE.—PIANO and ORGAN MUSIC; and Theoretical Works, &c. Write for list. Four-octave Digitorium. Organist, Bedale, Yorks.

MUSIC BUSINESS for DISPOSAL. Main Road. No opposition. Been in same hands 17 years. Stock optional. Rent, £65. Price—21 years' Lease and Fixtures—£100. R., 131, New Cross Road.

THE OLD FIRM.

P. CONACHER & CO.,

Organ Builders,

SPRINGWOOD WORKS,

HUDDERSFIELD.

TWO GOLD MEDALS.

NICHOLSON AND CO.,

ORGAN BUILDERS,

PALACE YARD, WORCESTER.

(ESTABLISHED 1841.)

Specifications and Estimates sent free.

T. R. WILLIS (from Minories, est. 1827), Maker and Importer of Brass and Wood Instruments, Harmonium Reeds, Strings, Wire, Violins, Concertinas, &c. 2, Church Row, Aldgate, E.C.

"TOWER" ORGAN WORKS.—Specifications. Rebuilding, Repairs, Voicing and Tuning by experienced Artists. Pipes and Fittings. Second-hand Organs and Materials. T. R. Willis (from Minories), 2, Church Row, Aldgate, London, E.C.

HIGHEST AWARDS WHEREVER EXHIBITED.

MERIT MEDALS { REAL IMPROVEMENTS. COMPACTNESS.

N.B.—No award ever obtained by any Attachment (London or elsewhere) when in competition with

AINSWORTH'S

Organ—Pedal—Combination

FOR PIANOS.

ORIGINAL PATENTEES AND OLDEST MANUFACTURERS.

AINSWORTH'S O.P.C. is not an attachment, but is an elegant and very compact Metallic-Coupler, altogether superior to attachments, and requiring less than half their space. Pedals are removable at pleasure, and the O.P.C. suits all Pianos.

THE

SUPERIORITY & PERFECTION

OF THE

O.P.C.

is the outcome of nearly twenty years' study and experiment.

AINSWORTH (himself an Organist of over twenty years) would be pleased for you to have his List, wherein are described his inventions, which were successful in obtaining H.M.R.L. Patent thrice for real improvements, and which also are recommended by the entire musical profession, and are an unparalleled success. Enquiries respectfully solicited.

Trade and Professional terms, with List, sent free on enquiry.
Foreign enquiries will ensure attention by covering postage.

AINSWORTH'S CRESDIMO ORGAN WORKS,
BRINSCALL, CHORLEY (ENGLAND).

Trinity College London (Music)

INSTITUTED 1872.

MANDEVILLE PLACE, MANCHESTER SQUARE, W.

President: THE RIGHT HON. LORD COLERIDGE, M.A., Q.C.
Warden: PROFESSOR E. H. TURPIN, MUS.D.
Director of Studies: PROFESSOR BRADBURY TURNER, MUS.B.

SESSION 1897-1898.

NEXT TERM commences January 14.

Professional and Amateur Students are received for single Studies or Course. The fees are from Five Guineas per Term for the Course, and from Two Guineas for Single Instrumental or Vocal Studies, and One Guinea for Theoretical Subjects.

SUBJECTS: Pianoforte, Solo Singing, Organ, Violin, Violoncello, Viola, Flute, Oboe, Clarinet, Harp, Horn, Trumpet and Cornet-à-Pistons, Mandoline, Guitar, Double-Bass, Bassoon, Trombone, &c. Harmony, Counterpoint, Canon, Fugue, Composition, Rudimentary Notation, Musical Form, Orchestration, Scoring for Military Bands, Musical History, Figured Bass Playing, Improvisation, Transposition, Sight-reading, Ecclesiastical Music, Elocution, Musical Acoustics, Sight-singing, Italian, French, German, &c. Ensemble Pianoforte Class, and Ensemble Class for Pianoforte and Stringed Instruments.

The Tuition of the College is intended to serve as a preparative for the Higher and Local Examinations of the College, and for other public examinations, including the examinations for University Degrees.

Weekly Lectures are delivered by the Warden during Term, and are especially addressed to Students intending to enter for the Higher Examinations.

Students' Concerts are given at the College at intervals during Term.

The College Choir, under the direction of Dr. Pringuer, meets on Tuesdays at five o'clock.

The Orchestral Class meets on Saturdays at four o'clock, under the direction of Mr. F. Corder. Next Orchestral Concert at Queen's Hall, March 17.

The Orchestra, the Choir, Lectures, and Concerts are Free to all Students.

Lectures on Ecclesiastical Music will be delivered during Lent Term by the Rev. H. G. Bonavia Hunt, Mus. D. An Introductory Lecture (free) will be delivered on Monday, January 17, at four o'clock. Cards of invitation can be obtained from the Secretary.

Prospectuses, and all further information, may be obtained from the undersigned.

By Order,
SHELLEY FISHER, Secretary

Just Published.

TECHNIQUE AND EXPRESSION IN PIANOFORTE PLAYING

BY

FRANKLIN TAYLOR.

PREFACE.

In the course of my experience as a teacher of the pianoforte, an experience extending over many years, certain ideas have from time to time suggested themselves to me which have proved useful—to myself, as enabling me to express more clearly that which I desired my pupils to understand, and to my pupils, as tending to facilitate their comprehension of the various difficulties they have had to encounter, at the same time leading them to perceive the most practical means of overcoming them, and thus accelerating their general rate of progress.

These suggestions relate to both the mechanical and intellectual sides of the study of pianoforte-playing, or, briefly, to Technique and Expression, the chief matters implied by the first of these terms being the production of various qualities of tone, the choice of suitable fingering, and the best methods of attacking certain difficulties; while the second, which may perhaps be more aptly designated the means of expression, includes rhythm, phrasing, variety and gradation of tone, the use of the pedals, et cætera.

This book is the result of an endeavour to set down my ideas in a systematic form, and I put it forth in the hope that it may prove of service to some of my fellow-teachers, as likewise to any earnest student of the pianoforte who may be led by his interest in the subject to read what I have written.

With numerous Musical Examples from the Great Masters.
Price Five Shillings, in cloth, gilt lettered.

London and New York: NOVELLO EWER and Co.

John Broadwood & Sons

PIANOFORTE MAKERS

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT TO

HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCE OF WALES
HER ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCESS OF WALES
HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE DUKE OF EDINBURGH
(DUKE OF SAXE-COBURG AND GOTHA)

AND THE

REST OF THE ROYAL FAMILY.

John Broadwood & Sons

respectfully draw attention to, and invite inspection of, their newly introduced and improved straight and cross strung

HORIZONTAL

AND

UPRIGHT PIANOFORTES.

33, GREAT PULTENEY STREET (near Regent Street),
LONDON, W.

Just Published.

TWENTY-FOUR

SONGS FOR LITTLE PEOPLE

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

NORMAN GALE

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

GERARD F. COBB.

(OP. 35)

IN TWO BOOKS.

Book I.	Book II.
A change wanted.	A Protest.
Bedfordshire.	A Thief.
Bessie.	Auntie Nell.
Carrying Angela.	Aunt Jan.
Late for Tea.	Cradle Song.
Off to the Sea.	Fairies in Faces.
Out early.	Lost Labour.
Silver Sammy.	Mustard and Cress.
The bad Boy.	Off to Africa.
The Violin.	The 'Logical Gardens.
Tim's Grace.	The Swan.
Tubbing.	The Walls of Jericho.

PREFACE.

The words of these Four-and-Twenty little Songs have been selected from Mr. Norman Gale's delightful volume of Children's Poems. A few modifications of the original text have been made in order to facilitate their musical rendering.

Though in the first instance, no doubt, the songs will be mainly sung to children rather than by them, the Composer's aim has been to observe such conditions in his settings as to make it easy for children to join in singing them themselves. With this object he has endeavoured to furnish simple, rhythmical melodies of a suitable compass, and it will be found that in the case of sixteen out of the twenty-four songs the vocal range is confined to the octave, whilst in only three instances does it exceed nine notes.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence each.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

THE ASSOCIATED BOARD of the R.A.M. and R.C.M. for LOCAL EXAMINATIONS in MUSIC.

President—H.R.H. the PRINCE OF WALES, K.G.

THOMAS THRELFALL, Esq., Chairman.
The Hon. G. W. SPENCER LYTTELTON, C.B., Deputy-Chairman.

LIST of PROFESSORS who are EXAMINERS to the BOARD.

Cav. Carlo Albanesi.
E. F. Arbos, Esq.
J. F. Barnett, Esq.
Marmaduke M. Barton, Esq
G. J. Bennett, Esq., Mus. Doc.
A. C. Bent, Esq.
O. Beringer, Esq.
H. Blower, Esq.
Sir F. Bridge, Mus. Doc.
A. Burnett, Esq.
F. Cliffe, Esq.
F. Corder, Esq.
F. W. Davenport, Esq.
J. St. O. Dykes, Esq.
H. R. Eyers, Esq.
E. Faning, Esq., Mus. Bac.
H. Gadsby, Esq.
A. Gibson, Esq.
F. E. Gladstone, Esq., Mus.D.
R. Gompertz, Esq.
W. B. Haynes, Esq.
W. S. Hoyte, Esq.
H. Inwards, Esq.
F. King, Esq.
T. B. Knott, Esq.
Francis Korbay, Esq.
C. H. Lloyd, Esq., Mus. Doc.
Sir G. C. Martin, Mus. Doc.
T. A. Matthay, Esq.
G. P. Moore, Esq.
W. Nicholl, Esq.
A. O'Leary, Esq.
A. Oswald, Esq.
W. F. Parker, Esq.
Sir W. Parratt, Mus. Doc.
E. Prout, Esq., Mus. Doc.
A. Randegger, Esq.
F. J. Read, Esq., Mus. Doc.
H. R. Rose, Esq.
E. Sauret, Esq.
H. F. Sharpe, Esq.
A. Somervell, Esq.
C. V. Stanford, Esq., Mus. Doc.
F. Taylor, Esq.
J. Thomas, Esq.
W. H. Thomas, Esq.
A. Visetti, Esq.
F. Walker, Esq.
H. Wessely, Esq.
F. Westlake, Esq.
W. E. Whitehouse, Esq.
C. L. Williams, Esq., Mus. Bac.
C. Wood, Esq., Mus. Doc.

LOCAL CENTRE EXAMINATIONS.

Last day for receiving applications, January 24, 1898.
See Syllabus A.

LOCAL SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS.

These Examinations, arranged in circuits, will be held during the periods (a) March-April, (b) June-July, (c) October-November.
See Syllabus B.

The Board has decided to offer for competition Two Exhibitions every year, until further notice, one for the R.A.M. and one for the R.C.M., tenable for two years.
Conditions and full particulars are contained in the Syllabus for 1898.
Copies of either Syllabus will be sent Post-free on application to the Central Office, 32, Maddox Street, London, W.

SAMUEL AITKEN, Hon. Secretary.

With this Number are presented gratis Extra Supplements, consisting of an Anthem, entitled, "There is a green hill far away," by Charles Gounod; and a Portrait of Mr. Walter Macfarren, specially taken for this paper by Mr. J. Caswall Smith.

THE MUSICAL TIMES

AND SINGING-CLASS CIRCULAR.

JANUARY 1, 1898.

1898.

LET Wordsworth strike the note of the present hour:

> From low to high doth dissolution climb,
> And sink from high to low, along a scale
> Of awful notes, whose concord shall not fail;
> A musical but melancholy chime,
> Which they can hear who meddle not with crime,
> Nor avarice, nor over-anxious care.
> Truth fails not; but her outward forms that bear
> The longest date do melt like frosty rime,
> That in the morning whitened hill and plain
> And is no more; drop like the tower sublime
> Of yesterday, which royally did wear
> His crown of weeds, but could not even sustain
> Some casual shout that broke the silent air,
> Or the unimaginable touch of Time.

Usually at this season we speak of the departed year, its changes, pleasures, and sorrows, and of the chances which the young successor brings in the scarce-opened wallet that may be big with fate. But just as we pay small regard to the faint wind that goes in advance of the tempest and are all eyes for the sombre threatening it heralds, so, now, the change from Old Year to New is absorbed in the mightier interest of the lapse from one century to another which has come within an easily measurable distance. There is a fascination in the moment that closes the greater division of time and opens up another such as compels us to anticipate it—to wrench it from the future and make it part of our mental present. But whether we have heart to do this or not, it is certain that we shall see little more of the nineteenth century, and that, for all practical purposes, we may at once begin upon its history and its lessons; doing this not without awe in presence of a retrospect which embraces the most eventful, the most wonderful period in the world's recorded history. "That which is nearest us touches us most," and we know that the vanished peoples of former centuries believed themselves to be living in the very crisis of earthly fortunes. But their age of half-development and slow progress is as nothing to the large achievement and lightning advance of our own day.

When the changes in music during the nineteenth century come to be written, and considered at a proper distance from their passion and turmoil, it will appear that they are significant indeed. Of musical truth it may specially be said, in the words of the Lake poet, that its outward and ancient forms "do melt like frosty rime, that in the morning whitened hill and plain and is no more." The historian, addressing himself to this kind of human effort, will find his hands full of change marking real advance, and other change big with degeneracy—a complex web in which good and evil are so knotted together that only keen discernment and patient handling can disconnect them. But, says our poet-seer, "Truth fails not," and with that assurance we may calmly enter upon, not only the New Year, but the new century when it comes. "Truth fails not." The history of music confirms our trust in the saying. Truth has never failed. It may have passed behind a cloud of error and been momentarily obscured, like the sun of an April day, only to shine out again in undiminished lustre. Nothing untrue can retain its hold upon music, with which only whatsoever things are pure have real affinity. Let us take renewed faith in this as a New Year's Gift and as the best preparation for whatever lies beyond; as an assurance, moreover, that no "casual shout," no "unimaginable touch of Time" will ever bring down the tower of our art; which wears, not a crown of weeds, but an unfading crown of glory. J. B.

Digitized by Google

MR. WALTER MACFARREN.

To be the doyen professor at the Royal Academy of Music and to bear an honoured name in English music are no slight claims to distinction. But the man who can also point to a long life well and truly spent in the cause of art, deserves "honourable mention," if not a place on the roll of fame. Such an one is Mr. Walter Macfarren, who has kindly given us an opportunity of recording some of the incidents of his interesting and successful career.

Walter Cecil Macfarren was born on August 28, 1826, at 24, Villiers Street, Strand, in the same house where, thirteen years before, his distinguished brother, Sir George Alexander Macfarren, drew his first breath. His father, George Macfarren, has been described as a "dancing-master, dramatic author, and journalist." In the last-named capacity he was editor of the Musical World, and, in addition to being passionately fond of music, he was a fair violinist. Walter Macfarren's earliest recollections are in connection with an ill-fated theatrical venture of his father's. The elder Macfarren had taken the Tottenham Theatre, afterwards so well known as the Prince of Wales's Theatre, which he named the Queen's Theatre, and which he opened with a stage performance of Handel's "Acis and Galatea," with additional accompaniments by Cipriani Potter. Walter Macfarren, then four years old, distinctly remembers "Where shall I seek?" as sung by James Bennett in the above serenata, and by his incessant humming of the air gave the earliest proof of the possession of a musical ear. This theatrical speculation brought disaster to the family, and, to his honour be it said, G. A. Macfarren, just fresh from the Academy, voluntarily exiled himself to the Isle of Man as music teacher in a large school in order to help support his impoverished kinsfolk in London.

In his tenderest years, therefore, Walter Macfarren had to begin earning, or part-earning, his living. At the age of nine (in 1836) he became a chorister at Westminster Abbey under James Turle, then the organist. He led a very hard life. The "powers that be" believed in the use of the ferule. On one occasion young Macfarren received sixty strokes, and upon a remonstrance being made as to the severity of the punishment whereby he had been beaten "black and blue," he was consoled by the remark that the next time he would be beaten "all the colours of the rainbow"! The choristers were absolutely uncared for. Their education, such as it was, had to be picked up at odd half-hours at any little school to which their parents chose to send them. There were ten choristers, five on each side of the choir. Amongst the vicars choral at that time were Richard Lloyd, the father of Mr. Edward Lloyd, and J. W. Hobbs, the father-in-law of Mr. W. H. Cummings. A great event of the year was when, at Christmas-time, "little Johnny Hobbs," as he was called, sang "Comfort ye"; but as the singer happened to be fashioned Zacchæus-like, he was exalted on a box in order to be seen above the choir stalls. The services were disgracefully rendered. There were supposed to be three men on each side, but very often the service was sung with only an alto on one side and a bass on the other! Two minor canons, whom we will designate the Rev. Mr. Adagio and the Rev. Mr. Presto, took a month's duty in turn. The former, who intoned very slowly, not only lengthened the service by twenty minutes, but in the winter time was looked upon by the boys as a thorough-going Barabbas. The choristers' perquisites were the unused candles, which, at the last Amen, they immediately blew out and pocketed; but when the Rev. Mr. Adagio was on duty the game was not worth the candle. As a Westminster Abbey boy, young Macfarren sang at the Queen's Coronation, when he was in the orchestra from before 8 a.m. till 3.30 p.m. His salary was £16 per annum, of which the organist took half; but being a solo boy he frequently received tips from regular worshippers at the Abbey, one of whom—the great Sir Robert Peel—gave him half-a-crown, accompanied by a few kindly words of interesting appreciation of the boy. Another source of income was that derived from frequent singings at City dinners, at which the organist also took a moiety of the fees. His voice never broke, but, like Mr. Edward Lloyd's, it gradually became lower.

When he left the Abbey, Walter Macfarren's career in life had not been decided upon. He had shown some facility with his pencil, and further followed this pursuit by entering (in 1840) the drawing academy kept by George Foggo, in Leicester Square, on the site of the Empire Theatre. His artistic ambitions were such that he "had an idea" of contributing to the early numbers of Punch! and had an introduction to Henry Mayhew with this view, but nothing came of it. At this time he sang in the choir at the Sunday services at King's College, one of his colleagues being W. H. Monk, then an amateur in music. Foggo and his academy were, however, soon given up, and young Macfarren, then fifteen, took up commerce by accepting a situation as salesman and to "try the pianos" at the music-shop of Wright, now Potts and Co., at Brighton. He only followed these commercial pursuits for three months, but during that time he accompanied Adelaide Kemble, when she called at the shop to try over something new. When he returned to London his brother George, who had terminated his Isle of Man engagement, said to him: "You seem to be very unsettled. What are you going to do? If you decide to go in for music I can help you"; and he did to the extent of paying the fees of his brother Walter at the Royal Academy of Music.

Digitized by Google

Walter Macfarren entered the Royal Academy of Music as a student on October 14, 1842. But he had previously made a curious public appearance there in a feminine capacity. His brother Basil, who died young, assisted as a student in the year 1837 at a "musical farce costume-concert." As it was considered highly improper for any of the girl students to take part, some younger brothers of the sterner sex were requisitioned to represent the female characters. Accordingly, Walter Macfarren, attired in his sister's frock, made his first appearance at the Royal Academy of Music as a girl! "Signora Pastarale" was the designation bestowed upon him; and he well remembers that after the performance, at a supper served in the boys' schoolroom, the Rev. W. W. Cazalet proposed the health of the ladies, to which Master Walter Macfarren, the only "lady" present, did not respond.

At the Academy, Walter Macfarren was a pupil of W. H. Holmes, his brother G. A. Macfarren, and Cipriani Potter. The last-named was a very remarkable man, broad-minded and unfossilised even in his old age. When he was seventy-eight, and within a few weeks of his death, he played, with his old pupil Macfarren, duets by Schumann and Brahms, with all the enthusiasm of a youthful admirer, till two o'clock in the morning. Potter, if not exactly a pupil, was fortunate enough to receive various hints from Beethoven. Here are two Beethoven stories, as told to Mr. Macfarren by Potter. One day Potter called at the great man's lodgings when, through the partly opened door, he heard Beethoven practising on a pianoforte horribly out of tune. The English musician stood listening for twenty minutes, and when he entered the room Beethoven sharply said: "I believe that you have been listening to me playing. If ever you do that again I won't look at any more of your scores." On another occasion Potter dined with Beethoven. The soup was duly placed before the composer of the "Choral Symphony," but when he raised the lid of the tureen an aroma of a somewhat objectionable nature reached his olfactory nerves. Beethoven angrily called his housekeeper, and lifting the table cloth, he shot the whole contents of the tureen across the table.

It may perhaps be convenient at this point to complete Mr. Macfarren's record at the Royal Academy of Music. During his studentship he composed a Trio in C minor, which was first performed at an Academy concert, April 20, 1844, and, in the following year, an overture entitled "Blue Beard," on which occasion his very dear friend and subsequent colleague, Prosper Sainton, led the band. His first public appearance as a pianist took place during his student days, at Chappell's Rooms, in 1843, when he played with W. H. Holmes, his master, Mozart's Duet in F. On January 1, 1846, Mr. Macfarren was appointed an assistant professor of the pianoforte at the Academy, and two years later to a full professorship. He has therefore been teaching at Tenterden Street for fifty-two years! It would be impossible to name even the best of his distinguished pupils during that long period; some of them are now esteemed colleagues with him in the Academy professoriate. Suffice it to say that seventy-four of his pupils have obtained scholarships and memorial prizes at his old Alma Mater. In 1870 he was elected upon the committee of the Academy, a position he still holds; he was also a Director from 1876 to 1889. In 1873, in succession to John Hullah, he was appointed conductor of the choir and orchestra, which office failing eyesight compelled him to resign in 1880. On the death of his brother, Sir G. A. Macfarren, in 1887, an influential section of the committee desired him to offer himself for the office of Principal of the Academy; but this he declined, and threw all his influence into furthering the election of Dr. (now Sir Alexander) Mackenzie, who was subsequently elected. In 1896, on the attainment of his Jubilee, Mr. Macfarren was the gratified recipient of many gifts and addresses from past and present pupils. His colleagues at Tenterden Street gave a dinner in his honour, when they presented him with an address, duly signed by nearly all his fellow workers at the Academy. We may, perhaps, be allowed to mention the fact that this address was drawn up by Sir Alexander Mackenzie; it is hardly necessary to say that it is amongst Mr. Macfarren's most precious treasures.

The other events of Mr. Macfarren's long and industrious life may be briefly chronicled. One of his earliest pupils was his much lamented friend Henry Charles Banister, who so recently and so suddenly has been called to his rest. Their friendship began in 1843, when Macfarren, then aged sixteen, believes he gave Banister his first lesson, the place being his (Macfarren's) bedroom. A game of ball was more to the minds of these two boys; but when the ball went through the window-pane the lesson was resumed with painstaking earnestness. At that time Walter resided with his brother George in the upper part of the house situated at the south-west corner of Berners Street and Oxford Street. For two years (1848-50) Mr. Macfarren was organist at Harrow School. But he had not a single pupil there. A Harrow boy who went in for the study of music in those days would have been looked upon as a veritable milksop. The late Dean Vaughan was at that time head-master and showed his appreciation of his organist's work in the following testimonial:

Harrow, Nov. 12, 1850.

I certify that Mr. Walter Cecil Macfarren has been for about two years organist of the Harrow School Chapel, and that during that time he has been regular in his attendance, obliging in his attention to my requests, and proved by his performances to possess eminent talent as an instrumental musician.

CHAS. J. VAUGHAN, D.D.
Head Master of Harrow.

In December, 1850, and in January of the following year, Mr. Macfarren went on a concert tour with Arabella Goddard and other artists. At Brighton they once had an audience of seventeen in the afternoon and thirty-five in the evening, with the result that they probably wished themselves at "Home, sweet home," Thalberg's arrangement of which was in the pianist's répertoire. For twenty-one years, from 1854, Mr. Macfarren gave chamber concerts annually, in which he was assisted by some of the first artists of the day; and in 1882 he gave a series of orchestral concerts in St. James's Hall, the whole of which he conducted entirely from memory, the soloists being Joachim, Sainton, and Piatti. Since 1880 he has given many musical lectures with much acceptance in various parts of the country, including thirty discourses delivered at the Royal Academy of Music.

Digitized by Google

Mr. Macfarren has been a prolific composer. His compositions include a symphony, 10 overtures, 2 trios, 2 sonatas for pianoforte and violin, and 1 for pianoforte and violoncello. For pianoforte: 1 concerto, 1 concertstück, 24 studies, 40 preludes, and upwards of 100 other works for the instrument. To this record of activity must be added 3 services, 36 part-songs and madrigals, and about 40 or 50 songs, sacred and secular. His compositions have been played at the Philharmonic Society's concerts, the Crystal Palace concerts, and at the leading provincial musical festivals. He has been the reviewer of music and musical literature on the staff of the Queen from 1862 to the present time. He has edited Beethoven's Pianoforte Sonatas, Mozart's and Sterndale Bennett's Pianoforte works, the Popular Classics, which have now reached 216 numbers; he is also the author of a comprehensive Pianoforte Method and of the widely-known "Scale and Arpeggio Manual."

Mr. Macfarren is so widely and favourably known as the composer of such popular part-songs as "You stole my love" and the "Hunting Song" ("Up, up, ye dames") that special reference may be made to his incursion into this region of musical composition. Veteran readers of The Musical Times who possess the volume for the year 1850 will find in that year Mr. J. Alfred Novello offered £100—eight guineas "premium" per month—in prizes for contributions to "Novello's Part-Song Book." The initial result is thus recorded in these columns of July 1, 1850, page 27:

NOVELLO'S PART-SONG BOOK.

Published on the 15th of each Month.—Price 1s.

Award of the First Prize.*—Our First Prize of Eight Guineas has been awarded to the music adapted to the stanzas "Harvest Song," and sent in for competition inscribed with the motto—

"Go, little book, from this my solitude
I cast thee on the waters—go thy ways!
And if, as I believe, thy vein be good,
The World will find thee after many days."

On opening the sealed letter similarly inscribed, the successful composer was found to be Walter Cecil Macfarren, 38, Albert Street, Mornington-crescent. The successful Part-Song will be printed on the 15th July. There were 58 candidate compositions, many of them of great merit.

The adjudicator was the then editor of the series, Dr. E. G. Monk, who, after the first award, was joined by John Hullah. Walter Cecil Macfarren not only obtained the first prize (the words were by Mrs. Newton Crosland), but also a similar distinction in the following month. But Mr. Novello said that this dual success would not do, so the prize was given to Elizabeth Stirling for her setting of "All among the barley." However, nothing daunted, Walter Macfarren again competed for the third "first prize" and got it! This was awarded to him; but the publisher told him that he must not compete again. The story of the composition of "You stole my love" may best be told in the composer's own words.

"The production of my most popular four-part song, 'You stole my love,' thirty years ago, was almost like a fluke, and is worth recounting. The late Mr. Henry Littleton (Novello and Co.) commissioned me to set to music as part-songs four poems by Mrs. Cowden Clarke, entitled 'Spring,' 'Summer,' 'Autumn,' and 'Winter.' When I delivered them to him, and the question of terms arose, he said, 'Well, write two others, making up a set of six, and I will give you so much more." Mr. Littleton, being asked by me about the words, and being anxious to lose no time in publishing the songs, at once took down an old book from his shelves, saying, 'Here, take this; you'll find some words there.' The book was Percy's 'Reliques,' from which I extracted the quaint words of 'You stole my love,' written by Anthony Munday, 1553, and 'Dainty love,' both of which were composed and written down before I went to bed that night, or rather at two o'clock in the morning. 'You stole my love' was taken up by Henry Leslie, whose choir first sang it on February 18, 1869, and many times afterwards, always with success and generally with an encore. I well remember," Mr. Macfarren laughingly says, "the actual first performance of that part-song. It formed an illustration of one of a series of lectures given by my brother George at the London Institution, in February, 1868, on 'The secular music of England from the earliest to the present time,' when it was sung by an amateur choir of ladies and gentlemen conducted by Mr. Joseph Heming, a jeweller, who was the virtual founder of Henry Leslie's choir." Old Academy students, like the present writer, will well remember Mr. Macfarren's enthusiastic prestissimo when conducting this part-song some twenty years ago in Tenterden Street.

The subject of our sketch is often taken to be a Scotchman, by reason of the "Mac" in his name; but he can lay no claim to that nationality. Once, at a Scotch banquet, he felt much aggrieved at finding his "Highland War Song," for male voices, set down in the programme as "Traditional"!

We must now, though more briefly than we could wish, refer to a few of the interesting persons with whom Mr. Walter Macfarren has been brought into contact. And in this connection the place of honour must be accorded to Mendelssohn, who treated him "like a brother." Walter Macfarren was a boy of fifteen when, in 1842, he was introduced to Mendelssohn. The composer, knowing that he was a brother of George Macfarren, took a kindly interest in the boy, and asked him if he would like to hear his (Mendelssohn's) "Scotch" Symphony, which was to be first performed at the approaching Philharmonic concert. The boy replied that he had no ticket, whereupon Mendelssohn wrote upon one of his cards a request for his admission to the rehearsal. Mr. Macfarren well remembers the infinite pains Mendelssohn took on that preparative occasion, and his kindly, courteous bearing towards the gentlemen of the orchestra. In that skittish passage in the last movement of the "Scotch" Symphony where the flute and the oboe chase one another, Mendelssohn, not being satisfied with the rendering, rushed up to Ribas and Grattan Cooke, the flautist and oboeist, and, placing himself between them, patiently waited till they obtained the effects he, as patiently, indicated to the players as he sat beside them. "Infinite pains!" How much there is in the full meaning of these words as exemplified by Mendelssohn throughout the whole of his life-work!

Mr. Macfarren remembers more than one instance of Mendelssohn's skill in extemporization. On June 15, 1844, at Erat's Harp Saloon, 23, Berners Street, the Society of British Musicians invited Mendelssohn to a private performance of works by English composers. Mendelssohn, who was most kindly received, spontaneously extemporized upon themes from a trio by C. E. Horsley, a song by G. A. Macfarren, and a glee by James Calkin, in a very remarkable manner, winding up with an impromptu fugue on the three subjects. Mr. Macfarren had asked Mendelssohn to contribute to his album, but owing to the incessant claims upon his time during his visit to London, there was some delay in the request being granted. But one day he happened to meet Mendelssohn in Cramer's music shop, when the composer of the "Scotch" Symphony, laying his hand affectionately on his young friend's shoulder, said: "You think that I have forgotten your album, but it is not so. Send it to me to-night, and I will write something in it." The next day the album was returned enriched with a charming little original song, which, by Mr. Macfarren's permission, we reproduce in fac-simile on page 11 of the present number.

When Professor Joachim, as a boy of thirteen, first came to England, Walter Macfarren, five years his senior, used to play his accompaniments at concerts and parties. In the album above referred to the eminent violinist contributed, in 1844, part of the cadenza he then played in Beethoven's Violin Concerto, and, in 1862, in the same book, he wrote a much more elaborate cadenza, thus showing how much his powers had matured in the eighteen years' interval. Mr. Macfarren's first meeting with the late Charles Hallé gave rise to an amusing incident. It was in 1848, when Hallé first settled in London. Sterndale Bennett, a dear and valued friend of Mr. Macfarren's, gave a party at his house, 15, Russell Place, Fitzroy Square. Walter Macfarren, who was always on the qui vive for any new pianoforte compositions, was present and played Chopin's "Scherzo in B flat minor," then a novelty. During the evening Hallé was announced, and on being asked to play he said: "I will give you something that you are sure not to have heard before"; and, sitting down at the keyboard, he dashed off Chopin's Scherzo in B flat minor! "Oh!" said Bennett, "you must not think that we are such benighted people; that was played on this very piano only two hours ago by my young friend here, Walter Macfarren"!

"Can you tell us anything about J. W. Davison?" we ask Mr. Macfarren; the Mr. Davison who, we need scarcely remind our readers, exercised for many years such power in English musical life by reason of his position as the trenchant and distinguished musical critic of The Times. "I knew J. W. Davison most intimately," replies Mr. Macfarren. "He resided about 1843-45 over a bootmaker's shop, No. 1, Berners Street, which is now absorbed in the great No. 1, the fame of which is known throughout the civilised world. There 'J. W. D.' received at his 'Matinées d'Invitation' all the musical notabilities of the day; and there I passed many an hour with him in interesting talk and pianoforte duet playing, and, let me add, in the less profitable occupation of smoking cigars. J. W. Davison, to his eternal honour be it recorded, throughout his career as musical critic of The Times, Saturday Review, and many other periodicals, and as proprietor of the Musical World and the Musical Examiner, strenuously supported all that was best and noblest in musical art, and especially advocated the claims of English musicians to consideration. Personally I owe a great deal to 'J. W. D.,' for he stimulated and encouraged me from the dawn of my career. I remember that when I was a boy he gave me Mendelssohn's "Barcarolle in A" to learn by heart, and I still cherish the copy with his inscription upon it. This was in 1841; and I believe his last contribution to The Times, in the month of August, 1880, was a sympathetic notice of my Symphony in B flat, performed at the Promenade Concerts at Covent Garden, under the direction of Mr. F. H. Cowen." Mr. Macfarren can tell many stories of the remarkable "J. W. D.," who was noted for his unpunctuality at dinner parties. Unlike Charles Lamb—who made up for coming late to his office by leaving early—Davison arrived late and stayed late. Sometimes he failed to appear at all. Once Mr. Macfarren gave a dinner to a few friends at the Arts Club, of which he has long been a member and is now on the committee. The guests included Mr. Santley and Mr. Joseph Bennett. After waiting a long time, whereby the dinner was spoilt, it became known that the cause of the delay was the non-appearance of "J. W. D." "Oh," said Mr. Bennett, "I left Davison fast asleep at his brother's lodgings; he won't wake up till to-morrow morning." Davison was a most brilliant conversationalist, an attribute which was not without its drawbacks at a dinner party, because the courses were greatly prolonged by his volubility, and "J. W. D." would never allow the servant to remove his plate until he had partaken of its contents. At a similar function some years ago (the incident is not related by Mr. Macfarren), Mr. Davison arrived an hour late and stayed on till 2 a.m. He talked so much after dinner that his cigar was constantly going out. The consequent frequent lighting up of the fragrant weed attracted the attention of Wilhelmj, the violinist, one of the guests, who, in the small hours of morning, said to the musical critic of The Times: "Mr. Davison, you do smoke more matches than cigars!"

Digitized by Google

In conversation with Mr. Macfarren it is difficult to realise that he is in his seventy-second year. Many a man half his age might envy his vigour and enthusiasm. The amount of work he gets through is quite extraordinary—in fact, work is to him the elixir of life. He has a buoyant, sunny disposition, and, musician-like, he keenly enjoys a joke. He is au fait at telling a story, and his bright, hearty laugh is highly contagious. His memory for music, men, and events is really remarkable. The various testimonials, gifts, and photographs which adorn his house in Osnaburgh Terrace, Regent's Park, where he has resided for upwards of thirty years, testify to the high esteem in which he is held by his friends and numberless pupils. May he be spared many years to enjoy the blessings of health and happiness, and the strength to continue carrying on those important duties, the discharge of which has brought him so much distinction during his long professional career. And when life's shadows fall around him, may he abundantly experience the fulfilment of the promise, "at evening-time it shall be light."

FROM MY STUDY.

I HAVE lately come into possession of numerous autograph letters addressed by Alfred Bunn to Charles Westmacott. As these were written more than sixty years ago, and as the persons connected with them have left the stage of life, the documents fairly belong to history, and may be dealt with as such. Bunn here comes forward in a capacity which to many will be new. As an impresario and a poet—above all, perhaps, as the genius who discovered "hollow hearts that wear a mask"—he is familiar to the reading public. But few know him in his capacity as a society journalist—a picker-up of social news and a retailer of the same to the scandal-loving newspapers of the day. The journal with which he chiefly had dealings was a Sunday sheet called the Age, conducted by Westmacott. This gentleman made a considerable figure in his time among those who stood with him on the borders of literature. Collectors of Cruickshankiana remember him as the author of "Points of Misery," a book projected by Robert Cruickshank in emulation of his brother George's "Points of Humour." He also supplied the letterpress of the "English Spy," now a rare and costly work—costly because of Robert Cruickshank's excellent coloured plates containing portraits of men and women prominent in society. Another effusion from the same pen is "Fitz-Alleyn of Berkeley," in which the relations of the notorious Colonel Berkeley (afterwards Earl Fitzhardinge) and Miss Foote, the actress, are set forth in a vein of strong sympathy with the lady. At the time of the Bunn letters, Westmacott was editor of both the Argus and the Age. It was chiefly for the Sunday paper that the "poet" worked. There he spread himself at large, supplying political leaders, lyrics, reviews, impromptus—anything, in fact, that Westmacott could be induced to take. This necessitated frequent correspondence, which Westmacott, on his side, carefully preserved.

The letters are rather oppressive in their atmosphere of secrecy. "Private," or "Private and confidential," appears upon nearly all of them, while the contents of many betray anxiety for the suppression of the writer's name in connection with the intelligence supplied. This can easily be understood, in view of Bunn's position, where it was dangerous to make enemies. Moreover, these documents reveal something of the inner working of the journalistic machine in the very early thirties. The second in the collection, for example, runs thus:

"Mon ami,—Mrs. Braham is very anxious for the literary fame of Miss Hamilton (a daughter of Sir Ralph Hamilton), who has just written a novel called 'What a World it is!' and you will be gratifying her beyond measure if you will insert the enclosed, to-morrow, in the best place your room (space) will permit. You seem to have made a hit with the ladies at the 'Grange,' and I told Mrs. Braham you were such a good-natured fellow that I was sure you would do it. Here's a good joke for your 'Theatricals'"!—Unfortunately, Westmacott in this case, as in many others, cut out the joke as "copy." To enjoy it one must search the files of the Age.

Bunn often appealed to the editor as a good-natured fellow. Here is another case, mixed up with a forcible reference to Paganini:

"I want to get a second edition for my old friend, Reynolds, and as the enclosed is very applicable to that insolent Italian thief, Paganini, I think you are such a good-natured fellow that you'll pop it under 'Theatricals' to-morrow, following any remarks you make about this imputant (sic) fiddler, who may well be said to have got out of a scrape by postponing his concert."

Digitized by Google

In all open correspondence it seems that Bunn was spoken of as "Mr. Smith": "Will you send 'Mr. Smith' a cheque for £10, if not inconvenient?" This in return for, amongst other things, a paragraph containing "some truths that will hit," and hit too hard, the writer feared, for his editor's acceptance.

Bunn—who, by the way, never dates these letters—appears to have been at one time in pecuniary difficulties in Dublin, where he had a theatre. Referring to his situation, he writes: "If I could show you the beautiful offer of the little lady to send me every jewel and thing she possessed in life, and to come and play a month here, you would believe you had not formed an erroneous impression of her excellent heart." This "little lady," or "little woman," is several times mentioned in the correspondence, but never referred to by name. She appears, however, to have won a good position, and was certainly a protegée of Bunn, who asks Westmacott's good offices on her behalf with more than usual earnestness.

Bunn was not above exploiting the editorial influence with artists. He writes:

"Farren has been trying for Vestris, and is waiting for her answer. If, therefore, you would step down to her theatre this evening by ¼ before 7, and try to get her for me, I should be much your debtor. Her playing for him a week before will take the gilt off the gingerbread, and he is to have her answer to-night. If, therefore, you could do two things—viz., get her for me, and get her to excuse herself to Farren from having made a previous promise to another (not naming who), I should call you the prince of diplomatists."

Here is an impromptu which, presumably, Westmacott did not use, inasmuch as it remains in the letter. The quatrain was suggested by a question whether the silk net worn by Fanny Kemble concealed the redness of her arms:

> That artificial white you see her wear
> To hide the red which nature planted there,
> So disconcerts her that, ashamed to view it,
> She does not hesitate to blush quite through it.

Bunn was sometimes on delicate terms with Westmacott, who, as responsible editor, had the fear of a libel action before his eyes and in his heart. At one time, indeed, Westmacott was in the habit of submitting the more risky of Bunn's society pars. to a council of his friends—a course against which Bunn protested, not unnaturally. This state of affairs culminated in a letter from Westmacott, which the contributor read as closing the engagement. Bunn replied:

"As to any 'libellous' matter, it was an express understanding that you had the privilege to reject, revise, or alter anything sent you, and the 'nomination,' therefore, existed with yourself, and still does. You will do me the favour of admitting that the contributions your friends advise you not to accept were at all events your own seeking, for I can conscientiously state that no human consideration should induce me, even my dearest tie, to admit I ever wrote an article for the paper under your control, and I trust to your honour to deny that I have ever done so."

As is well known, Bunn introduced Malibran to England, and, apparently at the close of the season, entertained the great artist and a select circle. It does not appear in the correspondence under what circumstances the subjoined letter was written, but, presumably, Westmacott had addressed some ironical remarks to Bunn, provoked by his not having received an invitation:

"A. Bunn presents his compts. to Mr. Westmacott, and, as he does not give a 'grand farewell fête' this evening, he is not entitled to the acknowledgments Mr. W. has sent. A petit souper to Mdme. Malibran's personal friends, and only the performers who have played in her operas, is given, which is too unimportant to admit of a general invite to those accustomed to more sumptuous entertainments. A. Bunn is sorry to hear Mr. Westmacott is going out of town, or he would have been most happy to see him."

Bunn followed up the letter from which the foregoing extract is taken with another on the same theme:

"At the time I received your letter on Saturday (to which I replied) I had arranged expressly to confine my invitations to the parties named in my letter to you, purposely omitting the press, and the party I presume you allude to came by a second-hand request late in the day. Some of my most intimate and valued friends attached to journals I did not ask, not to give offence to others; though at the same time, the affair being strictly confined and private, it could not be presumed that one could ask all one's acquaintance. I am incapable of humbugging anyone I like, or of offending them or slighting them. I like you, have laboured with you and for you, without fee or reward, have been grateful to you for good service, and always ready to return it. I knew nothing of your admissions being refused till your note told me of it. I never ordered it. It was a benefit, as my books and my treasurer can prove. I disclaim any intention of insulting you, which is the farthest from my thoughts, as it ought to be, living on terms of intimacy and connected in business. I should really have thought, Westmacott, such trifles were beneath your notice. At all events, I can clear my conscience by saying I never dreamed of insulting you, and there is no man I should at all times be happier to see."

Various little breezes of this kind ruffled the friendship of editor and contributor, both of whom were sensitive and very ready to take offence on small provocation. M. le Comte D'Orsay was sensitive too, as the following shows:

Digitized by Google

"I have had a letter from Le Comte D'Orsay about the French Plays, in which he says: 'Will you ask Westmacott, whom everybody tells is a good fellow, not to allow me to be hit in his journal?' He has since called, thinking to catch you behind the scenes, but you have been 'a-roving, a-roving' the last week! Where? Where?"

Here are two interesting paragraphs on professional affairs. The Captain Polhill mentioned was, at that time, manager of Drury Lane Theatre:

"In consequence of the great attraction of 'Othello,' Polhill offered Macready a present for his performance of Iago, which the latter declined, on the principle that he was but fulfilling a duty for the salary he received."

"Laporte, who never has a thought in his head until he has seen the Drury Lane playbills, got hold of a celebrated tragedian in an unguarded moment and endeavoured to coax him to Covent Garden Theatre. A particular friend and adviser of the great actor came in very àpropos and apprised Mounseer of an existing article with Captain Polhill for the present season."

Bunn had his pet aversions:

"The author of the Olympic address is John Hamilton Reynolds, brother-in-law of that 'comic annual' Hood, and, if it was to have been in the family, the one that could write it should have done so. The 'Revels' are the joint-production of Planché and Charles Dance. The conceit of this latter genius is very fair game for attack—who has no talent whatever but that of a tenth-rate drawing-room improvisatore, and people of real talent are sick of him and every other 'blood' of the same kydney (sic)!"

The name of Miss Foote occurs in a letter from Dublin. Westmacott was a staunch friend of this lady (which perhaps accounts for "Fitz-Alleyne of Berkeley"), and it is not unlikely that he offended against truth in the manner suggested by Bunn:

"I shall do all I can for Miss Foote, for many reasons. She opened on Monday, and, owing to the most horrid weather, we had only £50 7s., but mind, don't say a word of this; swear in any paper you control that the house was crammed. She was greatly received, and every paper the following morning high in her praise. I spoke to each respective critic personally, in consequence of the wish expressed in your letter. . . . Miss F. is really a charming girl, and there is nothing, upon my soul, that I will not do for her; but her mother is a horror of the first class, and I shall decline all further converse with her."

Braham paid court to Westmacott through Bunn; hence the subjoined letter:

"About half-an-hour after I sent my note to you, Braham drove up to my door, and has asked me to say that he shall be happy if you will do penance to-morrow week and dine with him. . . . You'll be entertained like a prince, and good fellows should know one another. I gather from him that he is extremely anxious to 'reverse the decree' in last Sunday's Age about his voice, and it will be personally gratifying to him and the amiable ladies of his family (who take in the paper) if you would give him one of your generous lifts to-morrow. He is anxious for the idea to be removed that his powers are in the least declined, and certain it is that I never heard such effect produced as by him in the 'Bay of Biscay' last night—encored and re-encored. I have saved you the trouble of writing half-a-dozen lines overleaf, if they are worth inserting."

This open and above board attempt to nobble Westmacott is diverting, and the editor, if he did not resent it, must, indeed, have been a "good-natured fellow." He was not nobbled, at least on that occasion, as a subsequent letter shows:

"What I called on you about was a remark on Braham's singing last Sunday. He was, at dinner, expressing his regret to me that he did not know you, but asked me to speak to you. He laughed immoderately at being called 'My Ancient,' and it is good fun, but there never was, and never will be, a voice like his, and any reference to its decline takes away 'the golden opinion.' He sticks up for you on all occasions, and having asked me if you were a good-natured fellow, and I having said 'decidedly, a d——d good-natured fellow,' perhaps it will not be out of your way to say that his 'Comfort ye, My people,' was sung with all the sublimity of voice and expression that ever characterised this incomparable singer."

This is very open and strenuous wire-pulling, but Bunn could forward to Westmacott paragraphs not very flattering to Braham. Here is one:

"In the provinces, Macready, Young, and Braham all failed at Plymouth, and Braham has just done failing at Bristol; his benefit there last Monday. He is going to appear in 'Masaniello' at Bath, whence Kean is just returned to town, having done very well indeed there."

Another epistle contains a question which needs interpretation and finds none: "Where do you get your 'invisible fence,' and what do you pay? and do you happen to have any stained glass in town?" This is as cryptic as Mr. Sergeant Busfuz found Pickwick's "Never mind the warming-pan." "Who does mind the warming-pan?" demanded the Sergeant, but what about the stained glass in the present case? Had Bunn been reading the lines of a brother poet—

> Life, like a dome of many-coloured glass,
> Stains the white radiance of eternity.

No doubt there was a stain somewhere.

I shall return to these letters when opportunity serves. X.

Digitized by Google

THE circumstances attending the lamented death of Mr. H. C. Banister were of such a deeply pathetic nature as to call for special mention. Eighteen years ago he began to teach at the Royal Normal School and Academy of Music for the Blind at Upper Norwood, where he very soon adapted himself to the circumstances of his afflicted pupils, by whom he was simply idolised. Within the last two years he had learned the somewhat difficult Braille method of writing in order to be able to communicate with his blind pupils; a letter to one of them is now on the frame unfinished. It was characteristic of Mr. Banister that he should give gratuitous lessons to some of his old blind pupils, thereby strengthening the bond of mutual esteem and affection which knit him and them together. One such pianoforte lesson he gave, or partly gave, on the morning of Saturday, November 20 last. According to his usual custom, he met his young blind friend at Streatham Hill Station and led her to his house. He was then in his usual health. But while giving her the lesson, he, without a moment's warning, fell lifeless at the feet of his sightless pupil. The attempts of this poor blind girl to find means of calling assistance to her dead master inexpressibly intensify the pathos of the sad surroundings. Nothing could have been more in harmony with Mr. Banister's kind-heartedness and deeply religious nature than to have been thus suddenly called from performing a Christlike act to his eternal rest. His mortal remains were laid to rest in the Crystal Palace Cemetery, when a choir of blind pupils from Norwood sang "God is a spirit," with touching sweetness, over the open grave of their revered master.

MR. BANISTER had a little-suspected vein of humour. Two stories illustrative of this were current at the Royal Academy of Music twenty years ago. To a lady pupil who had brought him a harmony exercise in which the melody had a predilection for the third space and fourth line of the treble stave, Mr. Banister remarked: "This melody is rather see-dy." On another occasion, also in one of his ladies' classes, he was looking over an exercise from which "consecutive fifths" were not absent. In making the corrections he emphasised the importance of avoiding such shocking errors. "But, Mr. Banister," replied the fair one, "Beethoven wrote consecutive fifths!" "Ah! yes," solemnly answered the professor, "and when you can compose music like Beethoven, you may write consecutive fifths."

THE performance of an English oratorio in Germany, especially in Berlin, is an event calling for more than passing notice. We refer to Mr. F. H. Cowen's "Ruth," which was well rendered at the Singakademie, Berlin, by the Cecilia Union, one of the most famous of choral societies in Germany, on November 22, under the direction of Professor Alexis Holländer, conductor of the Society and a musician of high standing. Mr. Cowen has received two interesting letters from Professor Holländer, who took great pains in the preparation of "Ruth" for public performance, in reference to our countryman's oratorio, from one of which, written on the day following the concert, we make the following appreciative extract:—

Your "Ruth" was produced yesterday with great success. I call it great success when choir and orchestra show enthusiasm for their work, and the cold and cautious public of Berlin break out into applause at every possible opportunity, not only at the end of each part, but also in the course of the performance. I was from the outset a warm admirer of "Ruth"; the choir became more enthusiastic at each rehearsal, and at the two full rehearsals unmistakable sympathy with the work was shown by all concerned. The performance, showing thorough grasp of every detail, was really an artistic achievement of which we were all justly proud, and I only wish it were possible to give a repetition of it shortly. I am really sorry to part with "Ruth," for I now know every note of the score so thoroughly that I could conduct it from memory. For me it is a composition of high value, notwithstanding certain features to which, as with every other work, objection may be taken. Quite masterly is the handling of choir and orchestra; the clearness and effectiveness of the orchestration are also enchanting. At the same time, the inner purport of the music strikes me as appropriate and full of character, while certain parts are really powerful and touching.

MR. FRANZ RUMMEL, the well-known English pianist, who of late years, when not on tour as a pianiste ambulant (as Liszt called himself), has resided in Dessau, celebrated there, on November 24 last, the twenty-fifth anniversary of his first appearance in public. For, as we learn from German papers, it was on November 24, 1872, that he appeared as a "finished" artist—if an artist may ever be said to be "finished"—at the Brussels Conservatoire, where, in the previous August, as the favourite pupil of M. Brassin, he had won the first prize for pianoforte playing by his rendering of Beethoven's longest and most arduous Sonata—viz., that in B flat (Op. 106). During these twenty-five years' activity he has played in 660 concerts, which took place in 154 towns of 14 different countries, 326 works by 61 composers. These comprised 27 concerted works and 153 solos, 59 chamber music works, and 24 transcriptions, all of which, with the exception of the chamber music works, were played from memory. Mr. Rummel, a pianist of whom Englishmen should be proud, may count upon a warm recognition on his next visit to England.

THE water-colour drawings and pen-and-ink sketch by Mendelssohn, which formed the Supplements to our December number, have called forth many manifestations of appreciative interest. Not the least gratifying testimony is that of Mr. J. Callcott Horsley, R.A., who, in sending "sincere congratulations," expresses his "admiration for the perfect manner in which Mendelssohn's drawings and jeu d'esprit have been reproduced." He also testifies to "the taste and skill displayed in arranging the contributions of my old friend Felix Moscheles, as well as those I was glad to supply." Mr. Horsley concludes his appreciative letter with these words: "To all who had the high privilege of personally knowing dear Mendelssohn, your article and its illustrations will be a possession of lasting value, as it will be to the public at large who have true 'music in their souls.'" We omitted to state that the water-colour drawings were reproduced the exact size of their miniature originals.

THE September and October numbers of the Neue Deutsche Rundschau contain the answers to a series of questions addressed by Herr Friedrich von Hausegger to a number of German authors and artists with a view to analysing the divine afflatus. The results of the inquiry may not be sufficiently solid to lay a scientific foundation for a new system of æsthetics, but they make interesting and sometimes amusing reading. Humperdinck, for example, informs his interrogator that he is commonly inspired in the time "just before sunset until the advent of night," though he abstains from mentioning what artificial illuminant he employs in this twilit hour while transcribing his thoughts to paper. He further remarks that "the morning is admirably adapted for composition, provided one has had a good night." That is an observation the soundness of which will appeal to many others besides musicians. The redoubtable Richard Strauss does not contribute much to the symposium beyond recalling the fact that he was six years old when he composed his first piece—a polka in quick time. Perhaps the most startling answer, however, was that of Fulda, the dramatist, who observes that "in times of general melancholy my imagination evokes humorous pictures," and vice versâ. This faculty, however, is not shared by everybody. It will be remembered that the least successful of all Verdi's operas was the comic opera "Un giorno di Regno," written during a period of severe domestic bereavement.

Digitized by Google

IT may not be without interest to reprint the following extract from the Preface to the new edition of Beethoven's "The Ruins of Athens," which, with a new libretto by Mr. Paul England, Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co. have just issued, merely adding that the dialogue of the old edition has been eliminated, and that therefore the work can now be performed as an ordinary cantata. This characteristic work of Beethoven's in its new English version is to be performed by the Royal Choral Society at the Royal Albert Hall, under the direction of Sir Frederick Bridge, on March 16.

The music of "The Ruins of Athens," with the exception of the Overture and "Twine ye the garlands," was not published till 1846, nearly twenty years after the composer's death.

The first performance of any portion of the work in England was by the Philharmonic Society at their concert of July 8, 1844. Mendelssohn, who conducted the concert, had brought manuscript copies of "The Ruins of Athens" with him, and thus introduced the work into this country. The selection on that occasion consisted of Nos. 2, 3, 4, 7, 9, and 10 of the present edition, and the solo vocalists were Miss A. Williams (sister to Mrs. Lockey) and Herr Staudigl.

Nearly two years later (on March 5, 1846) a stage performance took place at the Princess's Theatre, Oxford Street, for which the late William Bartholomew, who had translated the Philharmonic selection, made a very free adaptation of Kotzebue's original masque. In the second part of the work, Mr. Bartholomew transferred the action from Athens to London, one of the scenes being "The façade of the Royal Exchange, the Bank of England, and the statue of the Duke of Wellington"! Some of the principal characters in Shakespeare's dramas passed across the stage, and there was a "dance by a group of fairies from the 'Midsummer Night's Dream.'" It is further recorded that "A fairy ballet was introduced in the festivities, to which music has been cleverly arranged from the Pastoral Symphony and the well known Septet in E flat, so that the whole of the music was Beethoven and no alloy"!

The present edition, unlike that previously published in England, contains the whole of Beethoven's music; the two numbers which have been restored are the "Interlude" and the Recitative (Nos. 5 and 6). It is hoped that this new issue of the work will help to make Beethoven's "The Ruins of Athens" better known and more generally appreciated.

THE Cathedral Precentor of former times was content to discharge the routine duties appertaining to his office, which, the late Samuel Sebastian Wesley would have said, included constant collisions with the organist. But in the present day there are welcome indications that he is using his influence for good throughout the diocese. One such Precentor is that of Peterborough Cathedral, the Reverend W. Farley Wilkinson, who, at a Diocesan Conference, held at Leicester in October last, read an interesting paper on "The condition and progress of church music in the Diocese of Peterborough." Precentor Wilkinson did not merely generalise on his subject; he is too thorough and practical a man for that. He issued a schedule of ten questions to the clergyman of every parish having a population of 100 and upwards. 356 copies of these schedules were filled up and returned to him. An analysis of some of the valuable statistics thereby gained may not be without interest to our readers. To Question I., in regard to the reading of music by the church choirs, the replies were as follows:—

Choirs reading by Staff notation ..	215
Choirs reading by Tonic Sol-fa notation (all the members, or some) ..	38
Choirs reading (sic) by ear	115

In giving the statistics of Question II.—viz., "Voice-production"—the Precentor wisely remarks:

Attention to voice training is greatly needed also in the case of adult male members of our choirs, and a few good lessons on the subject would probably soon be productive of marked improvement.

The replies to Question VI., as to the Psalter used, elicit a very strong testimony in favour of the "Cathedral Psalter." Here are the figures:—

The Cathedral Psalter	219
Monk and Ouseley's Psalter	66
The Magdalen Psalter	21
Other Psalters than the above ..	from 8 to 1

Similar results are shown in regard to the kind of chant book used (Question VII.):—

Cathedral Psalter Chants	184
The Chants of Elliott's Psalter	78
Monk and Ouseley's Chants	29
The Westminster Chants	18
Other collections than above ..	from 7 to 1
Various	52

It seems (Question VIII.) that only 171 of the 356 churches possess organs, a smaller proportion than we should have expected. Question X. forcibly demonstrates the hold which the Anglican chant has upon the churches in the Peterborough Diocese. The figures are very significant:—

Churches in which Anglican chants are used	319
N.B.—In 36 of these Churches, Gregorians are occasionally used.
Churches where Gregorian chants only are used	7

We regret that we have not space to quote from Precentor Wilkinson's excellent paper; but the above information sufficiently indicates the zeal with which he discharges these unofficial duties beyond the walls of the mother-church—duties which must prove of excellent service to the cause of church music in the diocese of Peterborough. Similar work of this interesting nature has been undertaken by the Precentor of Truro Cathedral, the Reverend Aug. B. Donaldson, who also issued a schedule of questions in that diocese; but as the latest return is that of the year 1895 we shall await his next report before commenting upon the statistics in Cornwall. Meantime, while cordially commending these efforts, we shall be glad to hear of any such methods for awakening interest in church music in other dioceses.

Two important Cathedral organist appointments have been made during the past month—Canterbury and York. At Canterbury, Dr. W. H. Longhurst, who retires on a pension, is succeeded by Mr. H. C. Perrin, organist of St. Michael's, Coventry; and at York Minster, Mr. T. Tertius Noble, organist of Ely Cathedral, follows the late Dr. Naylor. Dr. Longhurst's length of service at Canterbury must surely be unique. The veteran organist was born in Lambeth, October 6, 1819, and two years later his parents removed to Canterbury. In 1828 he was admitted a chorister in the Cathedral, the solo boy at that time being George Job Elvey, afterwards of St. George's Chapel, Windsor. In 1836 he was appointed assistant-organist, master of the choristers, and lay-clerk, and in 1873 he succeeded to the organistship. Dr. Longhurst has therefore maintained an unbroken connection with Canterbury Cathedral for seventy years! May he experience much happiness in his retirement after a long, useful, and active life devoted to the cause of Cathedral music.

Digitized by Google

Macmillan's Magazine for December contained an interesting and amusing article, entitled "Some humours of the composing room," the said "humours" having reference to compositors in a printing office, and not to the operations of composers of music in their sanctums. As supplementary to the examples furnished in the article above referred to, we give the following from a newspaper issued not a hundred miles from Fleet Street. In reference to the changes which annually take place in the choir of the Royal Choral Society, there recently appeared the following decomposing sentence: "In a vast force of 800 voices, death, of course, must cause some gas"! On the next day, and in the same periodical, the omission of the word "duet" was responsible for the following startling statement: "Pianoforte playing, once a fashionable accomplishment, has again been brought into popularity." In a provincial paper, dated the 3rd ult., we are informed that "Someone has said that Schubert's No. 9 Symphony, like the No. 90 Beethoven, can only be undertaken after much fasting and prayers." Very probably; and the utterance of that sapient "someone" can only be swallowed after a hearty meal! A "broken letter" often gives a wrong meaning to a sentence, sometimes of a somewhat painful nature. In a certain hymnal, in which occurs the evening hymn, "Through the day Thy love has spared us," we find these lines, the italicised letter being the cause of the perversion:

Through the silent watches guard us,
Let no foe our peace molest.

The appropriateness of the last-quoted line is obvious to those suffering from a painful complaint known to Hippocrates and other ancient writers as "podagra," but in the present day designated by a four-lettered word beginning with "g" and ending with "t."

THE organ in St. Paul's Cathedral is being supplied with a new tubular-pneumatic action by the veteran Henry Willis, the original builder of the instrument. The swell and choir sections of the organ, which are situated on the South side of the choir, have already been done, and the great and solo divisions, located on the North side, will be proceeded with immediately. The organ is played at the North side; but during the temporary silence of the great and solo, it will be played at a two-manual console, which Mr. Willis has erected, for the time being, at the South side of the choir. Although Sir George Martin has been temporarily deprived of the use of his favourite swell manual, those of the initiated attending the services lately have been struck by the ingenious manner in which, in playing the accompaniments, he has manipulated his shrunken instrument. It is satisfactory to learn that henceforth the organ in our Metropolitan Cathedral is to be tuned to the low pitch.

WE understand that at a recent meeting of the Leeds Musical Festival committee it was unanimously decided to adopt the low pitch at the approaching Festival, with the result that the Corporate Property Committee of the City Council has agreed to recommend to the Council that the organ in the Town Hall should be tuned to the diapason normal.

The Times of the 8th ult. contained the following interesting information in regard to autographs of Beethoven, Haydn, Mozart, and Schubert:

We hear from Bonn that the whole of the precious musical collection of the famous firm of Artaria has come into the possession of a learned and enthusiastic musician in Bonn, Herr Erich Prieger. The collection includes a number of unpublished works by Haydn and some smaller compositions by Mozart and Schubert; but the chief treasures are the autographs of Beethoven, among which are some unprinted songs, the oratorio "The Mount of Olives," the E flat Trio (Op. 70), the two last Sonatas for pianoforte, and a great part of the Mass in D, as well as the finale of the Choral Symphony. As the present possessor was responsible for that beautiful fac-simile of the Sonata in A flat (Op. 26) which delighted all Beethoven lovers a few years ago, we may hope that something more may be done of the same kind.

FACTS, RUMOURS, AND REMARKS.

THE Lord Mayor of Leeds seems to be a wag in his way. Addressing a recent meeting of the Festival committee, he said: "We shall all be interested to hear the Te Deum by Dr. Stanford, though it is in Latin and is to occupy an hour." There was laughter at this, and, so encouraged, his lordship went on: "Although, perhaps, the German name of Herr Humperdinck might lead some to think his work would be the longest and the dullest (more laughter), he had been promised that it should not last much more than half-an-hour in performance, and those who have heard his 'Hansel and Gretel' would no doubt find that the new work would come up to their best expectations." It is pleasant to have a prosaic business meeting thus enlivened, but the Lord Mayor should not joke at the expense of anything German. William II. has a few ships and an "only brother," whose instructions are to "dash his mailed fist" in the face of anybody rash enough to cross the Fatherland. Alderman Tetley was on safer ground when, referring to the fact that the guarantee fund had gone up to £28,000, he congratulated the company upon the courage of guarantors. Well, no courage is required in a guarantor when it is as absolutely certain as anything can be that not a farthing will be called for!

I DO not presume to question the discretion of the committee in inviting a new work from Humperdinck. They probably did so advisedly. But I cannot refrain from congratulating the composer upon his luck. Here is a gentleman who, with the help of pretty folk-themes, has written an agreeable fairy opera, and, without such aid, has composed some not very remarkable music for a fairy play. Of a truth he has earned his distinction cheaply and easily. Fortunate Humperdinck!

THE recent Triennial Musical Festival at Birmingham has resulted in £5,000 being handed over to the General Hospital. The receipts were: Sales of tickets, £10,450; sale of schemes, £292; donations and collections, £3,271; donations after the festival, £257, or a total in all of £14,282. The payments included: Principals, £2,129; orchestra, £2,249; and chorus, £1,408. The total payments were £9,135, and, after deducting this from the income, there was a favourable balance of £5,147.

Digitized by Google

I LEARN through the usual channels of information that, at a recent meeting of the Hereford Festival stewards, the executive committee recommended that of their guarantee of £5, £2 7s. 6d. should be returned to each of the 232 stewards. That this was possible was considered very satisfactory, especially as the opening service on Sunday, instituted at Hereford for the first time, cost £51 6s., and the sum returned to each steward in 1894 was half-a-crown less. It was stated also that there was every prospect of £1,100 being handed to the charity, being upwards of £200 more than at Worcester last year. Prebendary Ashley, the hon. secretary, added that the receipts were £100 more than on the last occasion. The total expenditure was £3,747 9s. 8d., and the total receipts £3,167 16s., leaving a deficit on the working of £579 13s. 8d. The reports were considered highly satisfactory and were adopted. It is good to find the stewards pleased under circumstances involving a loss on the working of nearly £600. It shows upon how firm a foundation the Festival of the Three Choirs stands.

A SCHOOL-BOY, called upon to define Melody and Harmony, wrote: "Define Melody you hear it is a very nice melody, etc., etc., and Harmony suppose a person sat down and a piece, and somebody else sat down and played something that went with it, you would say it harmonised." This young gentleman is in a fair way to obtain a certificate from some examining body.

A GERMAN musical critic proposes to treat with silence those artists whom he finds unworthy of notice, and a commentator remarks that this is the best possible way to abate the plague of concerts.

MR. SOUSA and his band are coming across the Atlantic next summer for a European tour. They are under contract to an English syndicate, and, I read in the Musical Courier, they will "maintain American principles while abroad by taking American printing with them." Generous men!

THE printer's boy is at present operating in South London, and almost surpassed himself lately by turning "Mors et Vita" into "Morsel Viter." It is now more than ever probable that he will come to a bad end.

A REPORT of a school concert recently given contains some fine flowers of speech. I will make a little posey of them. "Miss —— very gracefully recited in sympathetic manner a ballad of infantile experience in the improvisatory inditing of 'Papa's letter,' by a little maid of summers few." "Miss —— sang it with intuitional perception." "Both (pieces) were excellent in their respective spheres of harmony." I read, too, of "physical melody," whatever that may be.

A JOURNAL, Die Militärmusik, devoted to the branch of art indicated by its name, has appeared in Berlin. Theodor Kawitsch is the editor.

THE Gazetta Musicale, of Milan, speaks in high terms of the Mendelssohn reproductions which appeared in last month's number of THE MUSICAL TIMES.

WE have not long to wait for a "Life of Brahms." Mr. Reimann is engaged upon it, and already the first volume has been published in Berlin. It will, no doubt, speedily be translated for the benefit of English readers.

CARL LOEWE has a monument at last. It is a statue representing the composer in the act of conducting. Loewe was an organist in Stettin for many years, and there, appropriately enough, the memorial stands.

IN Berlin the proximate publication of some carillon tunes by Sebastian Bach is announced. They were written for the Prince of Anhalt-Coethen during Bach's term of service under that petty potentate.

A LADY writes to a musical contemporary: "Fresh from the delights of the Mottl Wagner Concerts and with the glorious music of the 'Ring' still in my ears, I came down to this quiet little country place for a few days' rest. Great was my surprise to hear Wagner's music here, from a most unexpected quarter. I awoke the first morning with a distinct impression of having heard Siegfried's 'Wandering Song.' I sat up and listened, thinking I might have been dreaming; but no, there it was again. . . . A lusty young cock crowed over and over again (the notes to 'Aus dem wald fort'). . . . One of the cows also turned out to be musical, but she had not yet the shout of the Valkyries or the song of the Rhine Maidens." If that cock and that cow (why was it not a bull?) be a result of the "Mottl Wagner concerts," it appears that some risk is run by attendance at them.

I AM glad to learn that the Falmouth Philharmonic Society, conducted by my old friend, Mr. J. G. Patey, has gallantly attacked "Elijah" and come off victorious, or, as a local reporter puts it, "achieved another grand success in their rendering for the first time, Mendelssohn's sublime oratorio." We must all wish success to the Cornish amateurs in their efforts "onward and upward," and it certainly appears that local appreciation is not wanting. The press encourages, as per following sample: "This ended, the choir rose en masse, and plunged with dashing style into the first chorus, 'Help, Lord,' with its pathetic terminal wailings. The fugues were caught up firmly and deliberately, and this leading effort, closing amid the plaudits of the audience, augured well for the success of the campaign." Tackling so well the "fugues" in "Help, Lord," must indeed have been an augury.

WITH, I doubt not, well-deserved praise of the performance, the reporter blended some description of the work. He says, "'The fire descends from heaven' is a chorus of wild delight, the excess of joy at the end being worked off by a telling minor passage." Again, as to the rendering of the great chorus which closes Part I., "'Thanks be to God,' was full of spirit; heart and soul sang, the band caught the infection, one's hair seemed to lift, and the house was fairly brought down." But all is not quite well with the singers, and Mr. Patey must look to it: "The veterans had one eye for the conductor and the other for their music—the audience they ignored. The recruits saw not their leader—their eyes were glued to their books when they were not 'playing to the gods.'" With such a candid mentor among them, no doubt the recruits will soon master the squint in which the veterans seem to be proficient.

Digitized by Google

THE eternal war between parson and organist adds considerably to the gaiety of this nation from time to time, but nothing more funny has occurred for a long while than an incident reported in the Norfolk Daily Standard of the 16th ult. "Not a hundred miles from Heigham" stands a prosperous parish church, the congregation of which were astonished, one Sunday evening, at hearing the boom of the Dead March in "Saul" by way of closing voluntary. "With bated breath they rose, and silently and reverently they stood until the last note of Handel's great composition had vibrated through the chancel. And then, in subdued whispers, as they slowly filed along the aisle, they asked, 'Who is it?' Was it some dignitary of Church or State, a city magnate, or, perchance, had some beloved parishioner passed away?"

QUITE fittingly, the clergyman was the first to obtain the desired information. Says the Norfolk reporter:—

It appears that the organist of the church had been dismissed, and this action of the powers was not looked upon favourably by all the parishioners. A well-known gentleman and a friend of the dismissed had been asked to officiate on the Sunday night in question. But he also, it appears, had not been treated with so much courtesy as he had been led to expect, and when the vicar, still surpliced and greatly moved, arrived at the organ-stool and asked for an explanation, he received the cool reply, "Oh, 'tis for our late organist." Curtain!

JOSEPH BENNETT.

JOHN BACCHUS DYKES.

ALTHOUGH more than twenty years have passed since the death of this eminent composer of hymn-tunes, his recently issued biography* comes with great acceptance. The outward aspects of Dr. Dykes's life, with one ecclesiastical exception, were comparatively uneventful. Sprung from an evangelical family, he was born at Hull, March 10, 1823, went to Cambridge, took holy orders, became curate of Malton, Yorkshire, subsequently minor canon and precentor of Durham Cathedral, was for the last thirteen years of his life vicar of St. Oswald's, Durham, and died at St. Leonard's, January 23, 1876, aged nearly fifty-three years.

The musical incidents in the life of this saintly and gifted man are not the least interesting features of this biography. As a boy of ten he played the organ in his grandfather's church, St. John's Church, Hull. His musical gifts were fully acknowledged when, in October, 1843, he became an undergraduate at Cambridge. He played the pianoforte at the meetings of the Peterhouse Musical Society. This Society was shortly afterwards merged into a larger one, now so well known as the Cambridge University Musical Society, of which Mr. Dykes and (to use Dykes's own words) "that splendid fellow Thomson," now Lord Kelvin, were the leading spirits, the latter playing second horn in the orchestra. During his undergraduate days it almost seemed as if Dykes were qualifying to become a Corney Grain or a George Grossmith. One night he heard John Parry, "who," he records, "was exceedingly kind in showing me one or two of his dodges." At the first concert of the Cambridge University Musical Society, May 1, 1844, the future composer of many devotional hymn-tunes sang two comic songs. The following extract from a report of the concert in the Cambridge Chronicle of May 4, 1844 (though not reprinted in this biography), may here find a place:

. . . Mr. Dykes, who also ably presided during the evening at the piano, sang a pretty little ballad, which, we believe, was his own composition. Most deservedly was he encored, when he threw the room into fits of laughter, by an imitation of Parry in his songs of "The nice young man" and "Berlin wool." The whole style of this gentleman's performances stamps him at once as a thorough musician.

But after his ordination Dr. Dykes never sang another comic song. In May, 1847, he heard "Elijah," at Exeter Hall, performed under Mendelssohn's direction. He speaks with impressionable enthusiasm of the work as "perfectly unequalled in musical description by anything I have ever heard, or could possibly have conceived."

Appointed curate at Malton, Yorkshire, he gave the villagers a lecture on "Sound" which occupied two and three-quarter hours!—he thought it was too long. Dykes found very congenial work upon being appointed minor canon and precentor of Durham in 1849. He not only discharged his duties with reverential zeal, but also played the organ for six months during the illness of Henshaw, the Cathedral organist. It is interesting to find that, in 1864, he was approached in regard to the vacant precentorship of Westminster Abbey. His well-known Service in F was commissioned by Messrs. Novello and Co., and in reference thereto he records in his diary: "May 5th [1866].—Novello sent back my Te Deum to alter Hosts into Sabaoth, and offer me fifteen guineas if I would finish the whole Service—make it complete for Morning, Evening, and Holy Communion. May the Chief Musician show me what to do!" There is more than one pleasant reference to Sir John Stainer. Thus in a letter to his brother, Frederic Dykes, written in January, 1872, he says: "I suppose you have heard that Stainer is appointed to S. Paul's in the room of Goss—an admirable appointment. As a Churchman and a musician, he is the very man for the post. . . . He will be much missed in Oxford."

But we must now turn to what was really the life-work of Dr. Dykes, those compositions which have made his name so widely and so favourably known—his hymn-tunes. He wrote about 300, many of which have obtained great popularity. The tune "Lux Benigna" (to "Lead, kindly Light") "came into his head while walking along the Strand, in London." That to "Jesu, Lover of my Soul," was written in "a very pretty cottage" where he resided in Durham, called "Hollingside Cottage," which gave the tune its name. "Horbury," to "Nearer, my God, to Thee," was so called after the village of that name, near Wakefield; "and it was to him a perpetual reminder of the peace and comfort he found there." In regard to a tune for the hymn "O Paradise," he wrote to Dr. W. H. Monk: "I suppose the difficulty in arriving at a satisfactory tune for 'O Paradise' must remind one that Paradise itself is not to be attained without a struggle." Dr. Dykes, who contributed only seven tunes to the first edition of "Hymns Ancient and Modern," had much to do with the subsequent editions. He seems to have had an affection for one, at least, of the old repeat tunes—"Miles's Lane."

* "Life and Letters of John Bacchus Dykes, M.A., Mus. Doc., Vicar of St. Oswald's, Durham." Edited by the Rev. J. T. Fowler, M.A., D.C.L. London: John Murray.

Digitized by Google

"This old favourite," the biography tells us, "Dr. Dykes was anxious to retain in 'Hymns Ancient and Modern,' while some of his colleagues objected." At that time he was staying at Tenbury with Sir Frederick Ouseley, Sir John Stainer being another visitor, and the diary records: "August 11th [1871], Friday.—At 10, set to work. Energetic discussion on 'Miles's Lane.' Finished. (D. G.)." "Miles's Lane" was ultimately inserted in "Hymns Ancient and Modern," but not without an unwarrantable editorial alteration of Shrubsole's original melody.

The temptation to further quotation from this deeply interesting book must be resisted. We cordially recommend it to our readers. The editorial work of arranging the authentic materials, supplied by a sister and niece of Dr. Dykes, has been excellently done, and there is a good portrait of the subject of this valuable memoir. We must, however, in conclusion, quote the following estimate of Dr. Dykes's life-work from the pen of his biographer:

> Who that has sung his hymn-tunes does not feel that they came to him as inspirations? He rarely wrote a tune unless the words were sent, or suggested to him, and then the tune seemed at once to adapt itself to the words. This is probably the secret of the success of his tunes. They came from his heart and found their way into the hearts of others. It mattered not who applied to him for tunes, whether churchmen or dissenters, high or low, rich or poor, the work was given, ungrudgingly, as work for God.

Such being the spirit of the man, it is no wonder that at his death the sum of £10,000 was quickly subscribed to a fund for the benefit of his widow and children—the contributions rapidly flowing in from all parts and from all sections of the Christian Church.

CHURCH MUSIC.

FROM time to time the question of style in Church music comes to the fore. Quite recently this matter has engaged the thoughts of serious-minded men. Probably more will be heard of this last earnest effort to call attention to this topic. The bases of the question clearly lie in the conditions under which Church music has its raison d'être: the primary and supreme condition is the fact that Church music should be worship music, addressed to the "King of kings"; the second is the appeal to human listeners, that they may uplift their thoughts heavenwards.

There have been and are those, and the number includes Abbé Liszt and Wagner, who protest against the possible perversion of Church music by a too large infusion of the emotional and dramatic elements. They point to the sublimely devotional attitude of Palestrina and the composers of the sixteenth century, who, it must be confessed, had but small means of enunciating purely emotional not to say sensuous and dramatic types of musical thought, at hand, and wrote their music, as it were, with downcast eyes, but, albeit, prayerful and praiseful hearts, in that reverential counterpoint which prompted Chorley to say: "These never-ending, intermingled lines of counterpoint must surely be the musician's type of eternal harmony." True, the limited resources of the art of his day prevented Palestrina from attempting the not altogether effective and somewhat objectionable ecclesiastical rhapsodies invoked by the mention of heaven and its glorious conditions of eternal life, and expressing by chords arpeggioed on the harp and sustained on the organ, and thus obviously adopting the stage and drawing-room conceptions of piety in the divine art.

On the other side, it is clear the old contrapuntal services no longer meet the requirements of our larger Cathedral offices and modern emotional impressions, delightful and characteristic as they were as chancel music. Another danger in the sphere of Church eloquence and Church music is a tendency displayed by preachers to some extent, and Church musicians perhaps in a larger degree, to make capital and reputation, if possible, out of the performance of sacred duties, in which the sense of human personalities should be carefully kept in the background; even though these same personalities have, in perfectly well-ordered minds, their power for good.

The season of Advent, more and more recognised year by year, has brought about many performances of Spohr's "Last Judgment," Mendelssohn's "St. Paul," as at the Parish Church, Marylebone, and Mozart's "Requiem," a selection being given at Holy Trinity Church, Sloane Street, under the direction of Dr. Huntley, and with Mr. Alcock as organist.

The great performance of Spohr's work was, of course, the one given in St. Paul's Cathedral, under the direction of Sir George Martin; and it is interesting to note the effect of this rendering upon musical people from our Colonies and the Far West of America; so does the finest musical thought "girdle the earth."

Of the numerous renderings of Spohr's great work of the season, the "Last Judgment," mention must be made of one at Wimborne Minster, on the 15th ult., directed by Mr. J. Edis Tidnam; and at Cirencester the same work was effectively presented under the guidance of Mr. A. H. Gibbons.

A well thought-out musical service was lately given at St. Paul's Church, Upper Alton, Illinois, U.S.A., as a "Memorial Thanksgiving Service" in memory of the late Dr. G. M. Garrett, whose music finds a wide and increasing acceptance in America. The pieces included a Prelude in A flat major, Evening Service in F, and "Harvest" Cantata. These works were rendered with marked care and great effect by Mr. W. D. Armstrong, who, as one of Dr. Garrett's pupils and admirers, directed the performance in loving reverence and skill.

To Mr. Armstrong and his choir all British musicians should gratefully tender earnest thanks for a gracious and duly appreciated interest, both fraternal and international, in the works of one of our eminent musical worthies.

ORGAN MUSIC.

OF the many events of a busy organ-playing month, perhaps there is nothing to record of greater, if of equal importance, than the opening by Dr. Peace, the distinguished organist of St. George's Hall, Liverpool, of the new organ at the McEwan Hall, University of Edinburgh. The instrument may be regarded as one of the latest as well as one of the best of organs built by the Electric Organ Company.

One does not know, however, whether it is just to admire the skill of Mr. R. Hope-Jones without sympathising with him in connection with the task he has had to perform in "stowing away," for no other phrase can be used, his fine organ. One cannot also refrain from wondering at the folly of those who build great and splendid halls without adequate room for either organ or orchestra, or both. Even in London, where a fore-knowledge of musical requirements, and especially a recognition of orchestra wants, might be expected, it is possible to point to a number of costly town halls and concert-rooms in which a reprehensible want of thought has been displayed in this direction.

Digitized by Google

We are thus instructed concerning an arrangement which might almost be ascribed, in the words of the old Scotch proverb, as the work of someone "with a bee in his bonnet," for the McEwan Hall is not constructed to contain its noblest ornament.

Here is the official statement: "The space available in the hall has been utilised for the 'Choir' organ and one stop from the 'Solo' department. These are concealed by a handsome carved oak case containing the pipes of the 'Pedal' Dulciana. In a passage behind the platform and underneath the gallery is placed the 'Pedal' Open Diapason. In the same passage, on the other side of a column, stands the light wind 'great' organ, and at a distance of twenty feet in the opposite direction the heavy wind 'great' organ. On the landing of a staircase leading to the upper gallery are placed the 16-ft. Diaphone and the 'Pedal' Bourdon and Flute. In a room above the principal staircase the 'Swell' and the greater part of the 'Solo' find a resting-place. The 32-ft. Diaphone has to make itself heard in the Hall through a small semi-circular opening near the roof. In a cellar below the platform are placed the bellows, together with the electric motor which operates them."

Without doubting Mr. Hope-Jones's skill, or considering the result of his powers of making the most of a bad position, it is a plain duty to strongly protest against the continuance of arrangements which, to say the least, show a marked neglect of the conditions and dignity of the art of music at a time when we are claiming to be a musical nation.

It would be unjust not to record the good general effect of Mr. Hope-Jones's new Edinburgh organ, which is a large instrument with four manuals and pedal, including all the builder's more notable inventions. Dr. Peace gave a judicious and excellent selection, including Bach's Prelude and Fugue in D, with a fine rendering; Wesley's "Holsworthy Church Bells," Choral Song and Fugue, typical movements by M. Guilmant, and a popular Fantasia of his own on "Scotch melodies."

During the month Mr. E. H. Lemare has given a well-varied and admirable series of recitals at St. Margaret's, Westminster. Mr. E. H. Thorne has played at Christ Church, Newgate Street, a good selection, including his own "Variations on an Original Theme," and Mr. A. C. Fisher's interesting treatment of the "Adeste Fideles."

On the 9th ult. Mr. Burnham Horner gave an admirable selection at Christ Church, Lee Park, including a Minuet by Gigout, Prelude by Rachmaninoff, and Basso Ostinato by Arensky, in five-four measure.

Mr. W. J. Lancaster and Mr. R. E. Parker recently gave attractive recitals at the Royal Technical Institute, Salford.

Dr. C. J. Frost has been continuing his instructive and excellent recitals of high-class organ music at the Goldsmiths' Institute. He patriotically does much to make the best English organ music known, his programme for the 16th ult. including music by Smart, Hiles, E. J. Monk, and J. F. Barnett.

Mr. R. Sharpe gave an admirable recital at Southampton recently, his scheme including good specimens of the modern English and French schools. At St. John's Church, New Clee, Mr. A. J. Lancashire gave a recital on the 12th ult., including works by Bach, Merkel, and Lemaigre, and the late Sir R. P. Stewart's very effective Fantasia in D.

Dr. Ennis recently opened the new and excellent Willis organ, at St. Luke's, the Avenue, Kew Gardens. His scheme included well executed specimens of the leading writers of organ music, and Stainer's "The Daughter of Jairus" was an important and leading feature of the musical service.

In the fine old historic church of Austin Friars, now the Dutch church, the organist, Mr. Rudolph Loman, gave one of his excellent monthly recitals on the 18th ult., in which good renderings of music by Bach, Merkel, Guilmant, and Dubois were included in a well-chosen programme.

THE ROYAL CHORAL SOCIETY.

THE highly trained choristers of the Royal Choral Society have seldom given a more effective performance of Berlioz's "Faust" than that which took place at the Albert Hall, on the 9th ult. This in no small measure arose from the improvement which has taken place with regard to the orchestra since Sir Frederick Bridge has assumed the direction, and which, owing to the nature of the work, was specially noticeable on this occasion. Great credit is also due to the choir for the poetical manner in which the scene on the banks of the Elbe was interpreted, particularly the opening, which was a very fine example of what English choristers can do. There was a certain lack of vigour now and again in the male choruses, which, however, would probably not have been noticed save for the general high standard attained. The conductor came through his trying ordeal with flying colours, and secured a distinct success. Miss Ella Russell, Mr. Ben Davies, Mr. Daniel Price, and Mr. Andrew Black, the latter sustaining the part of Mephistopheles with his usual dignity and dramatic perception, were, it is hardly necessary to say, most capable exponents of the solos.

ENGELBERT HUMPERDINCK AT THE PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY.

WE daresay quite one-half of the large audience at the final concert of this Society's first autumn season, on the 2nd ult., had come for the express purpose of seeing Herr Humperdinck. The directors thought the opportunity a capital one for teaching the audience the commendable virtue of patience, for they placed a Haydn symphony and a Volkmann violoncello concerto at the head of a programme of brobdignanian proportions! The symphony was the lovely No. 2 of the Salomon set, in D, which even under these somewhat "trying" circumstances did not fail to soothe the impatient Humperdinckians' savage breasts. The tedious concerto, however, produced a soothing effect of a different kind, in that it sent many, the writer included, where Wynken, Blynken, and Nod went "to fish for the herring-fish," which, it will be remembered, were really stars. The bright, particular "star" of the evening in question made his "first appearance in England" about an hour after the concert began, when some of the audience were doubtless already thinking of going home! Herr Humperdinck had a most friendly reception, as was but right in the case of the composer of the delightful "Hänsel und Gretel." The first piece which he conducted was the gloomy, almost tragic, Prelude to Act III. of his "Children of the King," a beautiful composition remarkable for deep, acute feeling and splendid workmanship. His novelty was a recently composed overture to the same play. It is an important work, not so freshly melodious as the Overture to "Hänsel und Gretel," but even more polyphonic, more elaborate, and more gorgeously scored. It is full of vigour and dash, it sounds well from the first note to the last, and the interest is sustained throughout, though the backbone of strongly melodious subject-matter is lacking. There is a great abundance of themes, and they are handled in Humperdinck's well-known masterly fashion; but they are not always of a distinguished type, and only once, near the end, does the composer indulge for a short while in a genuine stream of prolonged melody. The rest consists largely of very ingenious and homogeneous treatment of somewhat "scrappy" material. We need hardly say that it does not in the least suggest a fairy tale. It is a serious work of art written in the most elaborate and most modern style. Herr Humperdinck knows that fairy tales are the most serious things in the world to children—doubtless he wishes everyone of his audience to be like unto them. The effective work was well played, and the audience enthusiastically expressed their delight. Madame Marchesi sang a beautiful devotional song, "Sonntagsruhe," with a chaste yet rich orchestral accompaniment, by Herr Humperdinck, and the little ditty "Ein Männlein steht im Walde," from "Hänsel und Gretel." In this the orchestra played some sorry pranks, which must have caused both composer and singer a very bad minute. The lady also sang the air "O ma lyre immortelle," from Gounod's "Sapho," although her voice is hardly suited for such pseudo-grandiose music. Mr. Frederic Lamond gave a superb performance of Tschaïkowsky's B flat minor Pianoforte Concerto. We cannot conceive a finer one. Herr Popper added to the length of the concert by two small violoncello solos, a transcription of Schumann's "Träumerei" and a minuet of his own; and after a goodly portion of the audience, wearied with two and a half hours of solid music, and unmindful of the respect due to the conductor, had been allowed to depart, Sir Alexander Mackenzie raised his baton to conduct the first concert performance of his overture to Mr. Barrie's play "The Little Minister." The beautifully scored piece came as a delightful surprise, for, as played by the splendid Philharmonic orchestra, it revealed point after point not noticeable at the theatre. The spirit and brightness of the music are irresistible, and even the somewhat sentimental second subject ("Little Minister" theme), a genuine "tune" of forty-four bars' length, does not interrupt the merry flow of the merriest and most taking orchestral piece that Sir Alexander has ever written. Though placed at the end of an absurdly long concert, it made a palpable hit and it cannot fail to do so, wherever played.

Digitized by Google

RICHARD STRAUSS.

"Veni, vidi, vici!" Julius Cæsar's laconic despatch might have been quoted by Herr Richard Strauss after his first appearance before an English audience at the last of Mr. Schulz-Curtius's autumn season of "Wagner" concerts, at the Queen's Hall, on the 7th ult. His "victory" was to all appearances complete, for he was the recipient of enthusiastic applause and many recalls, and the huge and brilliant audience could not have given him a warmer welcome or bid him a heartier farewell and "Auf Wiedersehen" if he had been an old favourite whose music they had long known and prized as "a thing of beauty and a joy for ever." We beg leave to doubt whether all those who so generously showered applause upon the young master really derived any genuine pleasure from his music; but that the occasion was a great one for Germany's foremost living composer cannot be gainsaid. Richard Strauss is only thirty-three, but already he enjoys the distinction in his native country of being at once the most wildly eulogized and the most bitterly abused musician of the day. The man who can set musicians and critics by the ears as Strauss has done and will continue to do is no ordinary mortal; and after studying his gradual but most rapid development since his Op. 1—a harmless "Festmarsch für grosses Orchester"—and hearing the splendid performances of two of his ripest works on the 7th ult., the writer would fain be "on the side of the angels" and hail him a genius who will probably force his music upon the world, whether the world likes it or not. Richard Strauss is a great power that cannot be any longer ignored, much less annihilated by adverse criticism and heated warfare of words. We may abominate his music, and there were passages in "Tod und Verklärung" that seemed abominable at a first hearing; but we cannot but grow enthusiastic over the grandeur and masterfulness alike of the conception and execution of his tone-poems, and we shall have to endure that which now seems almost unendurable. Orchestral players may protest that his music cannot be played; they will have to learn to play it, just as their predecessors had to do in the case of Beethoven's Choral and Schubert's C major Symphonies and Wagner's "Tristan." They will ere long even confess to owing him a debt of gratitude, because he is the one composer who has ventured to carry orchestral technique beyond the limits of Wagner and Liszt's most daring flights, and has given them those new worlds to conquer for which they must surely be sighing after their terrible surfeit of Wagner selections. "Tod und Verklärung" is Strauss's Op. 24 and the third of the five symphonic poems he has written so far, being preceded by "Don Juan" (Op. 20) and "Macbeth" (Op. 23). It is based on a poem of some sixty lines, in which the poet-composer describes in impressive language a dying man's death struggle; how in the delirium of fever he sees his whole life pass before his inner eye: the innocence and happiness of childhood, the fight for the highest ideals of his manhood, the world's cruel "Halt" whenever he seemed to be within reach of his goal, his ever-renewed struggle in spite of the greatest obstacles, "Excelsior" his only watchword, his death ere he has finished his task on earth or attained his ideal, and finally his apotheosis, in which he finds what he vainly sought in life: "Welterlösung, Weltverklärung!" Hardly a new subject to "yearn for musical expression," but one that would appeal strongly to a typically German composer like Strauss, who is a thinker and an idealist, as well as a realist at the same time—an idealist in his choice of such subjects as admit, as this one does, of the widest application to human kind generally, instead of an individual only, and a realist in his means of expression, in which he carries his poetic idea to its logical conclusion with a consistency that is often cruel in its disregard of the laws of beauty. We are no lovers of programme music, but since Strauss will give us none other, we accept the position and do our best to make ourselves familiar with his "stories," without which much of his music might appear incoherent, extravagant, and unlovely, though even then no one could deny the consummate musicianship and brilliant imagination it displays. "Very clever" it will be voted by many. Yes, but the cleverness is not merely that of a musician who has learned everything there is to learn. Something like genius scintillates in these scores, or we are greatly mistaken; cleverness alone could not create a "Tod und Verklärung." That Strauss can write beautiful music which holds us spellbound by its magic suggestiveness, the opening section describing the awesome stillness of the death chamber proves, while in the Finale (Verklärung) he builds up an impressive movement of imposing yet simple grandeur on the seven notes of the "Ideal" motif in a manner which proclaims him a master of musical architecture. It is in the middle portion, describing "Life's fitful fever," that his dramatic gifts run riot, and while here again the graphic power of the music is astonishing, there are some discordant bars that sounded quite brutal. Altogether an extraordinary work! As for his "Till Eulenspiegel," we have now heard it five times, and our appreciation of this strikingly original and most amusing jeu d'esprit, the most remarkable orchestral Humoreske ever penned, grows by leaps and bounds. What a contrast, this most merry piece after "Tod und Verklärung," and what "clever" musician could have written two such utterly different and yet equally masterful works? "Till" is a great advance on its predecessor in many ways, especially such very important matters as melody, beauty, and clearness, while the orchestration is a perfect marvel even in these days of brilliant scoring. Both tone-poems are in one sense an advance beyond Liszt and Wagner, though few dared to think an advance possible. But Strauss has written the word "Progress" on his banner. To him there is no standing still, much less a going back to the sweet simplicity of pre-Beethovenism. There is no standing still in art but stagnation and degeneration. Whither he and his friends and colleagues, Felix Weingaertner and Max Schillings, will lead it we should not care to conjecture. Excepting a few uncouth-sounding passages for the brass in "Tod und Verklärung," both works were superbly played, under the composer's direction; the performance of "Till Eulenspiegel" was, in fact, a masterpiece of what we might call illustrative playing. The concert opened with Mozart's delicious "Kleine Nachtmusik" for strings, of which a very refined and expressive performance was given. The rest of the programme consisted of Wagner's "Tannhäuser," "Meistersinger," and "Tristan" Preludes, and the "Charfreitagszauber" from "Parsifal," in which Herr Strauss proved himself a somewhat unequal conductor.

Digitized by Google

QUEEN'S HALL SATURDAY AFTERNOON CONCERTS.

THE autumn series of Mr. Newman's Saturday afternoon concerts at the Queen's Hall was concluded on the 4th ult. At the performance on the previous Saturday, Mr. Henry J. Wood conducted for the first time Beethoven's Choral Symphony in D minor and secured a highly meritorious interpretation of the mighty work. The vocal quartet consisted of Miss Lucile Hill, Madame Marian McKenzie, Mr. Lloyd Chandos, and Mr. Watkin Mills, and the low pitch enabled the choir to keep in tune without undue strain. The renderings of Grieg's first "Peer Gynt" Suite and Saint-Saëns's symphonic poem "Le Rouet d'Omphale" were remarkable for delicacy and finish, and Herr David Popper's fine playing in his attractive Violoncello Concerto in E minor (Op. 24), written in 1872, was an enjoyable feature of the afternoon. But why did he omit the third movement and play the other two in reverse order? As, however, the executant was the composer, presumably his "intentions" were fulfilled.

The concert on the 4th ult. was remarkable for the variety of the programme, the contributing composers being Gluck, Mozart, Weber, Beethoven, Berlioz, Wagner, Liszt, Massenet, and Saint-Saëns. In its entirety the performance was the finest of the series, and a memorable feature was the intensity of expression, verve, and dramatic force with which was interpreted the Paris version of the overture and "Venusberg" music from Wagner's "Tannhäuser." An impressive rendering of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony in C minor was also given, together with the Overtures to "Ipigénie en Aulide," "Die Zauberflöte," and "Oberon." The vocalist was Miss MacDougall, who sang effectively Berlioz's "La Captive" and the Indian-like air, "Désir de l'Orient," from Saint-Saëns's early opera "La Princesse Jaune." These concerts are to be resumed on the 15th inst., when it is to be hoped that the claims of English composers will not be totally ignored.

LAMOUREUX CONCERTS.

THE Queen's Hall orchestra, under the direction of M. Lamoureux, has shown marked improvement at each performance, until there can be no doubt it has surpassed M. Lamoureux's own French body of instrumentalists. The English players produce a far richer quality of tone, possess a greater grip and depth of expression, while they have acquired the unity of bowing and delicate softness in pianissimi passages which were such distinctive features of the interpretations of their French rivals. Under these conditions the concerts have been of unusual interest. That on November 24 included Mendelssohn's "Reformation" Symphony, a work that contains much of the most characteristic writing of this composer and has too long been neglected at orchestral concerts. The programme also contained César Franck's symphonic poem "Le Chasseur Maudit," and Saint-Saëns's work in like form, "La Jeunesse d'Hercule," all of which were finely interpreted.

With the exception of the Overture to Wagner's "Tannhäuser," the concert on the 1st ult. consisted entirely of French music, and comprised the first performance in England of a Symphony in F, by Leon Boëllmann, born in 1862, and who died suddenly in October last. The symphony is decidedly the best work of this composer which has been heard in this country. The themes of the opening number, to which the slow movement is annexed, are striking and suggestive, and they are treated with great contrapuntal skill, command of tone colour, and with poetical effect. The centre number, reckoning according to the breaks made in performance, is entitled "Intermède Variée," and is remarkably vigorous and stirring. The Finale (presto) is preceded by a "Recitative" (Andante) in which effective use is made of modified versions of the principal themes of the preceding movements, and the conclusion is very spirited. Other attractive pieces heard on this occasion were the Prelude to the second act of E. Chabrier's "Gwendoline," a tragic opera in two acts, produced in Brussels in 1886; Saint-Saëns's fine "Marche Héroïque" (Op. 34), and a dainty little piece, the second of three forming the "Divertissement" from the incidental music written by Massenet to a modern version by Leconte de Lisle of the "Eumenides" of Æschylus, produced at the Paris Odéon in 1873. The second series of these concerts is announced to begin on the 2nd prox.

CRYSTAL PALACE CONCERTS.

AT the last of the Saturday concerts, previous to the usual Christmas recess, held on November 27, Mr. Manns introduced a new symphonic sketch, or series of sketches, entitled "La Mer," by M. Paul Gilson. The four sections of the work consist of an opening Allegretto, in which a theme expressive of the sea is introduced, sailors' songs and dances, a calm twilight scene, and a descriptive storm piece. Though not marked by any exceptional individuality, these sketches are clever pieces and picturesquely scored. An excellent paraphrase of the accompanying poem by Mr. Eddy Levis, which has served as a "programme" to the composer, was provided by Mr. Paul England. M. Gabrilowitsch, the clever young Russian virtuoso, played the solo in Liszt's E flat Concerto with remarkable agility and aplomb, and Miss Esther Palliser sang in her best style Mozart's "Deh vieni," and, to an orchestral accompaniment, Wagner's "Träume," "Dora, mon enfant," and "L'attente." The programme, which was conducted throughout with his wonted skill and animation by Mr. Manns, was completed by Sullivan's "Macbeth" and Rossini's "William Tell" Overtures.

ROYAL ARTILLERY BAND.

No concerts are better attended, or, as a rule, prove more interesting than those at the Queen's Hall conducted by Cavaliere Zavertal, whose orchestra is as capable of doing justice to a famous symphony as to light instrumental pieces. Exercising perfect control over his forces, he secures effects that are too often in other quarters conspicuous by their absence. Furthermore, on nearly every occasion this able musician contrives to light upon some work that, though worth attention, is comparatively little known to the metropolitan musical public. An instance of this occurred on November 26, when Jadassohn's Serenade in B flat was an important feature of the programme. All the notable points of this graceful and refined work were neatly brought out; indeed, the expressive slow movement (Nocturne) could not have been more delicately rendered. Very successful too was the performance of the "Evening Reverie" from Saint-Saëns's "Algerian" Suite, the effect of which upon the imagination so much depends upon finished interpretation. Mr. Elgar's bright "Imperial" March told well, and amongst the other pieces were Saint-Saëns's symphonic poem "Le Rouet d'Omphale," Weber's Overture "The Ruler of the Spirits," and the introduction to the second act of Humperdinck's "Königskinder." Cavaliere Zavertal and his band were throughout warmly congratulated on their successful exertions. Another attractive programme drew a large audience on the 17th ult., when a capital performance of Mozart's Symphony in E flat was cordially welcomed. The Prelude to "Lohengrin," Zellner's "Hochzeits March," and a taking Overture, "Loyal hearts," composed by the conductor for the Diamond Jubilee, were also rendered in a style that commanded hearty approval.

OFFENBACH'S "GRAND DUCHESS" AT THE SAVOY.

CONSIDERABLE interest was excited when it was announced that the management of the Savoy Theatre had decided to revive Offenbach's "La Grande Duchesse de Gérolstein," for the traditions of the French opéra comique and those of the Savoy Theatre were, to put it mildly, somewhat diverse. Either an æsthetical revolution would be witnessed in the Gilbert and Sullivan temple or Offenbach must be washed, mangled, and dipped in English starch. The latter course has been pursued, and to those who are not troubled with a memory of the former English version, the result is amusing to a certain degree—a gay artistic spectacle, most refined, and intensely proper. It is really delightful to hear this music again, which sparkles, and dances, and rattles along in a continuous stream of ear-haunting melody, with an audacious humour all its own, that even triumphs over the clumsy wordiness of the text to which it is tied. Miss Florence St. John's embodiment of the title-rôle is excellent according to the Savoy version of the heroine. Miss Florence Perry, as Wanda, acts and sings with piquant vivacity, and Mr. Charles Kenningham also sings well as Fritz. Mr. Passmore's personation of the burlesque Commander-in-Chief, and Mr. William Elton and Mr. Henry Lytton, in the respective parts of Baron Puck and Prince Paul, render excellent service, as do also Mr. George Humphrey and Mr. Charles Brookfield. Mr. François Cellier conducts a well-balanced orchestra, and the stage mounting is of the artistic and generous nature expected at this theatre.

Digitized by Google

MONDAY AND SATURDAY POPULAR CONCERTS.

WE can now conclude our record of these performances to the end of the year. Brahms was strongly represented at the concert of Saturday afternoon, November 27, first by his abstruse though masterly Quartet in C minor (Op. 51, No. 1), excellently led by Madame Soldat, and subsequently by the deceased master's far more genial Sonata in A for pianoforte and violin (Op. 100), in which the lady violinist was joined by Mr. Lamond, who played as a solo, and very finely, Schumann's Fantasia in C (Op. 17). Beethoven's great Pianoforte Trio in B flat (Op. 97) concluded the programme.

The concert of the following Monday may be dismissed with the remarks that Madame Soldat and Mr. Lamond were again the leading violinist and pianist respectively, and that familiar works by Mozart, Beethoven, and Brahms were rendered in a highly acceptable manner. A great event on Saturday, the 4th ult., was the re-appearance of Dr. Edvard Grieg, who is extraordinarily popular in this country. He was first represented by his picturesque Quartet in G minor (Op. 27), led by Mr. Johannes Wolff, and then he came in person on to the platform and played four of his "Lyrische Stücke" with exquisite grace. The concert ended with the distinguished visitor's extremely effective Sonata in G minor for pianoforte and violin (Op. 13). Miss Esther Palliser gave much satisfaction in several songs by Dr. Grieg and Mr. F. H. Cowen.

Monday, the 6th ult., was emphatically a ladies' night. Lady Hallé made a welcome re-appearance and led Beethoven's Quartet in C (Op. 59, No. 3) in her best manner, subsequently playing as a solo the Romance from Joachim's Hungarian Violin Concerto. The pianist, Miss Clotilde Kleeberg, after interpreting Beethoven's beautiful Sonata in D (Op. 10, No. 3), joined Mr. Paul Ludwig in Saint-Saëns's Sonata in C minor (Op. 32) for pianoforte and violoncello, of which a fine performance was given. Mr. Plunket Greene was admirable as the vocalist.

On the following Saturday Mr. Eugene d'Albert's Quartet in E flat (No. 2) was repeated, and it certainly improves on acquaintance, albeit there is a suspicion of labour in portions of the work. Miss Kleeberg was again the pianist, and may be thanked for offering Schumann's lovely though rarely-played "Waldscenen" (Forest Scenes), Op. 82, which she did in a way that could not have been easily surpassed, even by the composer's widow. A brief programme was concluded with Beethoven's "Kreutzer" Sonata, elegantly if not very powerfully rendered by Miss Kleeberg and Mr. Kruse.

On Monday, the 13th ult., Dr. Grieg again appeared, and of course there was a full house. He played four of his early but original Humoresken (Op. 6) and finished the programme with his favourite Sonata in F for pianoforte and violin (Op. 8), in which he was joined by Lady Hallé. It was, as may be easily imagined, a very enjoyable performance. Miss Isabel MacDougall sang three of Grieg's Lieder and other songs in an agreeable manner.

The ante-Christmas season came to a close on Saturday, the 18th ult., when the fog was so dense that the audience in St. James's Hall was extremely small. Mozart's Quartet in C, No. 6 of the set dedicated to Haydn, was excellently played by Lady Hallé and her coadjutors. Mr. Slivinski gave an extremely fine performance of Chopin's Sonata (Op. 35) with the Funeral March, and Schumann's beautiful Pianoforte Trio in F (Op. 80) concluded the concert.

BRITISH CHAMBER CONCERTS.

THE novelty at Mr. Ernest Fowles's third "British Chamber Concert," which took place on November 23, at the Queen's (Small) Hall, was the first production of a Sonata in D minor for pianoforte and violin, by W. F. Hurlstone, effectively rendered by Mr. Ernest Fowles and Mr. Jasper Sutcliffe. The first movement of this work excites little more than esteem for its musicianly development, but the Andante moderato and final Scherzando are excellent and possess considerable individuality. Mr. Fowles's refined and neat rendering of "Three Charakterbilder" (why not "Characteristic sketches?") for solo pianoforte, by Algernon Ashton, was a pleasing feature of the evening. Mr. Arthur Walenn was the vocalist.

At the concluding concert, on the 9th ult., the first performance was given of a Modern Suite for pianoforte alone (Op. 20), by Percy Pitt. This was excellently played by Mr. Fowles, the work consisting of a Prelude, Minuetto, Ballade, Scherzo, and Valse, and proving very agreeable music. Other notable compositions were a melodious Sonata in B for pianoforte and violin, by B. Luard Selby; the remarkably clever Quintet in F sharp minor for clarinet and strings, by Coleridge-Taylor; and Four Meditations for pianoforte and clarinet, by Richard H. Walthew. Mr. Charles Draper was the clarinettist, and the string parts in the quintet were capably played by Messrs. J. Sutcliffe, W. Sutcliffe, L. Fowles, and Whitehouse. Mr. Arthur Thompson's refined singing provided agreeable variety. This concert closed the fourth season of the enterprise, which, it is to be hoped, in the interest of British chamber music, has received sufficient support to justify the continuance of the praiseworthy and patriotic scheme.

GRIEG RECITAL.

DR. GRIEG'S second recital, which took place on the 15th ult., at St. James's Hall, was no less largely attended than the first. The personal interest indeed was increased on the latter occasion by Madame Grieg being the vocalist. This lady has arrived at that period in life when experience lends valuable help to the singer, and as she is entirely at one with the spirit of her husband's lyrics, there is much to learn from her interpretation of the dainty songs, which, by their unaffected nature, spontaneity, and pronounced nationality in idiom, have won so many ardent admirers. The programme began with the picturesque and characteristic String Quartet in G minor (Op. 27), which was most effectively interpreted by Messrs. Johannes Wolff, Inwards, Gibson, and Paul Ludwig. The composer himself joined the first-named in the Sonata in C minor (Op. 45), the finest of the three works in this form, for violin and pianoforte, and in the "Intermezzo" (Op. 56) and the Alla Menuetto from the first Sonata in F (Op. 8). Dr. Grieg also rendered some of his small pianoforte pieces with his usual delicacy of touch and refined and piquant style.

HERR BUCHMAYER'S HISTORICAL PIANOFORTE RECITALS.

As a rule historical pianoforte recitals are unsatisfactory; partly because it is almost impossible to give an adequate idea of the musical progress of centuries in the limited time ordinarily at disposal, and partly because there are few pianists who are in sufficient sympathy with the earlier writers to create anything but languid interest in their works. The inevitable exception, however, must be admitted in the two recitals given respectively on the 7th and 18th ult., at the Queen's (Small) Hall, by Herr Richard Buchmayer, of Dresden. This pianist has manifestly studied the early clavier composers with the zeal of an enthusiast, and his interpretations of long-forgotten, and in many instances quite unknown pieces were distinguished by a warmth of expression and keen sympathy with the music that seemed to bring back to the strains the play of human sentiment which had caused their birth. The most curious works brought forward by Herr Buchmayer were the first and second of the six "Biblical Sonatas" by Johann Kuhnau, concerning which Mr. J. S. Shedlock gives such an interesting account in his book on "The Pianoforte Sonata," and the first three of which have been published by Messrs. Novello. The programmes of the two played on this occasion are respectively the "Fight between David and Goliath" and "How Saul was cured by David's Music," the meaning of the different sections being set forth with a clearness that rivals the efforts of the latest exponents of the descriptive symphonic poem. Indeed, were it not for the trifle of dates (Kuhnau died in 1722), one would be inclined to say that the Biblical Sonatas showed the influence of Liszt. Their influence, however, on Bach was shown by the performance of the Leipzig master's "Capriccio sopra la Lontananza del suo Fratello Dillettisimo" (Caprice on the departure of his beloved brother), a genuine piece of programme music, opening with an Arioso of great beauty. Herr Buchmayer's selection also included several pieces from the valuable unpublished book of Andreas Bach, one of the treasures of the Leipzig Town Library. The most striking of these were some clever and impressive variations, by Jan Peter Sweelinck (1562-1621), on a song entitled "My young life has an end"; Variations on a Ballet, clear in design and finished in workmanship, by Johann Adam Reinken (1623-1722); and a Prelude, Fugue, and Postlude of remarkably pensive and introspective character, by Georg Böhm (1661-1734), the last-named pieces possessing peculiar interest as good examples of the genius of one whose works form an important link between the compositions of Bach and those of his predecessors. A country dance, or, to give it its Flemish title, "Boeredans," by John Bull, from an unpublished MS. in the British Museum, also deserves mention. It has a fine tune and is thoroughly English in its masculine and direct expression, and should certainly be published. An exceedingly interesting series of characteristic pieces by François Couperin, including a charming "Air de Viéle," was admirably played, and a beautiful Prelude and Fugue for clavier or lute, by Bach, the fugue possessing peculiar grace and dignity. Few, indeed, of the principal early masters were omitted, and the list of works by more modern composers was no less comprehensive Amongst these was given a very fine performance of Beethoven's Variations in E flat (Op. 35).

Digitized by Google

PIANOFORTE RECITALS.

MISS GERTRUDE PEPPERCORN gave a pianoforte recital at St. James's Hall, on November 25, when her programme included Beethoven's Sonata in F minor (Op. 57) and pieces by Brahms, Schumann, and Chopin. Miss Peppercorn, who may be regarded as a high-class executant at the keyboard, will do much better with a little more experience, for her technique is already excellent.

Mr. George Liebling completed his series of pianoforte recitals for the present on the 2nd ult., his programme at St. James's Hall including Beethoven's Mozart-like Andante in F, originally intended as a slow movement for the "Waldstein" Sonata, Schubert's "Wanderer" Fantasia (Op. 15), and other works of great difficulty. All were rendered with almost perfect accuracy but with an unpleasant measure of coldness. The same defect was apparent at his last recital, on the 13th ult. Mr. Liebling should endeavour to cultivate more warmth of style, for no fault can be found with his technique.

Mr. Frederic Lamond is a pianist of prodigious powers, and it would seem that he desires to rival the late Hans von Bülow, for he gave a recital at St. James's Hall, on the 3rd ult., the programme consisting of Beethoven's five greatest Sonatas, Op. 53, 57, 106, 110, and 111. This was a herculean task, but it was accomplished in the coolest possible manner. This is not implying that Mr. Lamond's manner was cold—on the contrary, it was broad and intellectual, as befits the interpretation of the Bonn master's utterances; but the most difficult passages were delivered with apparently consummate ease. Mr. Lamond is, in his way, a giant at the keyboard.

Mr. Emil Sauer, termed in his programmes briefly as "Sauer," gave recitals in St. James's Hall, on the 8th and 16th ult., and displayed more wonderful manipulative dexterity than ever. He has not the sentiment of Paderewski, or the profound feeling in Schumann and Brahms shown by Leonard Borwick; but the manner in which his fingers travel over the keys is little short of miraculous. At his first recital last month Sauer started with Beethoven's Sonata Pathétique, which did not suit him very well, but his interpretation of Schumann's Carnaval was delightful in every sense. Mr. Sauer's three "Impressions de la Forêt" are charming little pieces. The second recital was dedicated wholly to Chopin and included the two Sonatas in B flat minor (Op. 35) and in B minor (Op. 58) and many smaller pieces. The audience would not be satisfied until the good-natured pianist had accorded no fewer than three extra pieces.

Signor Busoni concluded, on the 10th ult., his series of six recitals at St. James's Hall, having in them demonstrated his right to be placed amongst the best pianists of to-day. His readings were somewhat deficient in emotional warmth of expression and the individuality which so surely attracts a following; but his interpretations were always earnest, intellectual, and in themselves consistent, added to which he possesses an executive command of his instrument that seems to laugh at the most exacting passages. Such qualifications excite the esteem of all who take a lively interest in music and naturally caused the attendances to increase. It is unnecessary to criticise in detail the programmes, but it may be said that they comprised a comprehensive selection from the chief masterpieces which have been written for the pianoforte.

Madame Kisch-Schorr gave a pianoforte recital on November 29, at St. James's Hall, and played a well varied selection of pieces in an agreeable manner, being, however, most successful in those of smaller calibre.

MADAME BLANCHE MARCHESI'S RECITAL.

AMONG the most esteemed vocal artists now before the public Madame Blanche Marchesi justly holds a foremost place, and her recital in St. James's Hall, on Tuesday afternoon, November 30, was, of course, fully attended. She commenced with an air from Handel's "Alcina," and followed on with the impressive "Prayer of St. Bernard," by Massenet. Later in the programme Madame Marchesi displayed her unsurpassable qualities as a mistress of vocal art in pieces by Scarlatti, Taubert, Brahms, Saint-Saëns, Bemberg, Blumenthal, and last, but not least, Schubert, in the "Erl-King." In all of these, but especially in the final piece, Madame Marchesi evinced purity of voice, method, and intelligence almost beyond comparison. As the daughter of a gifted mistress in her art, Madame Blanche Marchesi may take credit to herself that she does honour to her mother's name.

AMATEUR ORCHESTRAL CONCERTS.

THERE is no diminution whatever in the activity of the numerous and well-trained orchestral associations carried out almost strictly by amateurs, who play with scarcely less facility than professional artists. For example, the Stock Exchange Orchestral Society and Male-Voice Choir showed itself in excellent form under its new honorary conductor, Mr. Arthur W. Payne. It is true the performances at the Queen's Hall, on the 6th ult., were as a rule somewhat sluggish as compared with those under Mr. George Kitchin, who is unfortunately prostrated by illness; but Mr. Payne, who is not only a first-rate violinist but a good musician, will swiftly infuse more spirit into his orchestra without much doubt. Mr. Hamish MacCunn's Overture "The Land of the Mountain and the Flood" was at the head of the scheme, and the principal feature was Beethoven's C minor Symphony, which was rendered with all due force, but with scarcely sufficient spirit. The male-voice choir did very well indeed in selections by Hatton, Stevens, Clowes Bayley, and C. Lee Williams. The orchestra and choir of this Association continue to improve and are now scarcely surpassable in their way.

Digitized by Google

The Westminster Orchestral Society gave its thirty-eighth concert at the Town Hall, in Caxton Street, on Wednesday, the 8th ult., under the direction of Mr. Stewart Macpherson. The programme opened with three of Dvorák's "Slavonic" Dances (Op. 46), and included Beethoven's Symphony in D (No. 2), capitally played, and a suite, in four movements, from Sir Arthur Sullivan's thoroughly national music to the ballet "Victoria and Merrie England." Mr. Donald Heins displayed a bright and silvery tone as a violinist, and Miss Georgina Delmar was acceptable as the vocalist.

The Royal Amateur Orchestral Society began its twenty-sixth season on the 8th ult., at the Queen's Hall, under its newly appointed conductor, Mr. Ernest Ford. This musician's talent and skill, both as a composer and director of orchestral forces, have been shown in faithful and conspicuous service at the Empire Theatre, and the Royal Amateur instrumentalists may be congratulated on having secured so able a commander. The programme included Haydn's Symphony in D (the second of the Salomon set), Mendelssohn's Overture to "Ruy Blas," and Nos. 1 and 3 of Dvorák's characteristic "Legends," originally written as pianoforte duets, but subsequently orchestrated by the composer. These works were meritoriously rendered, especially the genial symphony, and the orchestra also ably supported Mr. Douglas Boxall, a very promising young pianist, who gave a brilliant rendering of the solo part of Liszt's "Fantaisie Hongroise." The vocalists were Madame Julia Lennox and Mdlle. Otta Brony.

ROYAL ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

The Tenterden Street students have seldom given more satisfactory proofs of the soundness of the training they receive under Sir Alexander Mackenzie's genial rule than during the recent autumn term. In accordance with an excellent and now happily established custom, a concert was given on the 8th ult., at the Imperial Institute, pleasing features of which were the effective interpretation, by Miss Gertrude Drinkwater, Miss Jane Spicer, Mr. Whitworth Mitton, and Mr. Ford Waltham, of Miss Liza Lehmann's clever song cycle "In a Persian Garden," and the respective admirable violin and pianoforte playing by Miss Elsie Southgate and Miss Marguerite Elzy.

It was a happy thought and a graceful act to devote the usual autumn term orchestral concert, which took place on the 16th ult., at the Queen's Hall, to the first performance in London of Professor Villiers Stanford's "Requiem," and it is to be hoped that it may mark the further interchange of like courtesies and manifestations of mutual appreciation between the professors of the two schools. It would seem that so perfect is the harmony and spirit of abnegation which exists between the professors at the Royal College and also amongst those of the Royal Academy, that the pupils are never permitted to bring forward the compositions of their respective teachers. It is highly commendable that the professors should be so keenly alive to the sensitiveness of the musician's temperament; but as many of our best composers are on the staff of either one or the other of these Institutions, the students are consequently kept in considerable ignorance of much modern English music. This is undesirable from many points of view, and the interchange of compositions would seem to suggest an admirable remedy. How loyally the works emanating from the sister Academy would be treated may be gathered from the zeal and intelligence displayed in the interpretation of Professor Stanford's "Requiem." The part-writing in this work frequently presents no small difficulties, as the Birmingham choristers found; but they were boldly attacked and admirably overcome, the performance in its entirety, under the direction of Sir Alexander Mackenzie, being undoubtedly one of the most successful achievements of the Royal Academy students. Two vocal parties were formed, the first consisting of Miss Gertrude Drinkwater, Miss Jane Spicer, Mr. William Maxwell, and Mr. Ford Waltham, the second comprising Miss Ethel Wood, Mrs. Franks, Mr. Whitworth Mitton, and Mr. Frederick Ranalow. In the matter of balance of tone the former was the best, Miss Wood's fine soprano voice frequently being permitted to overpower those of her companions; but individually the singers showed well trained skill and marked intelligence in their respective solo passages, and they were ably supported by the choir and orchestra. The fine music was fully appreciated by a large audience, who insisted upon the composer personally acknowledging the applause. It should be added that the "Requiem" was preceded by Saint-Saëns's Concerto in A minor (Op. 33) for violoncello, the solo part of which was played with remarkable skill by Mr. Dezsö Kordy, and two movements from Rubinstein's Pianoforte Concerto in D minor (Op. 70), the soloist in the latter being Miss Marion White.

The customary dramatic and operatic performances at the Institution took place respectively on the 16th and 17th ult. On the first occasion the pieces chosen were a comedietta in one act, entitled "A case for eviction," by Theyre Smith, and W. S. Gilbert's fairy comedy in three acts, entitled "The Wicked World." The former trifle was brightly played by Mr. Henry W. Stanley, Miss Ethel Hall, and Miss Agnes Jones; and in the latter the principal parts were personated with considerable success and sense of humour by Miss Annie M. Child, Miss Margaret Chatwin, and Messrs. Cecil Rose, Arthur L. Soames, and Maengwyn Davies. On the 17th ult. the students of the operatic class, under the direction of Mr. G. H. Betjemann, were heard in the first and second acts of Flotow's "Martha" and Sullivan and Gilbert's "Trial by Jury." The most complete embodiment in "Martha" was Mrs. Julia Frank's personation of Nancy, which was excellent. Very efficient service was also rendered by Miss Margaret Drysdale and Messrs. Whitworth Mitton, Robert Hyett, Ford Waltham, and Robert Radford. In "Trial by Jury" the part of the Plaintiff was humorously embodied by Miss Ethel M. Wood, and much dramatic perception was shown by Mr. Haigh Jackson as the Judge. The choruses were vivaciously sung, and the accompaniments were skilfully played by Mr. Cuthbert F. Whitemore. A pleasing episode in the evening was a little speech from Sir Alexander Mackenzie, telling the students that Professor Villiers Stanford wished them to know how highly he thought of their rendering of the "Requiem," and that Mr. Ramsden had been so impressed with the excellence of the teaching that could secure such a performance that he had given the Students' Fund a cheque for a hundred guineas.

The competition for the Lady Jenkinson Thalberg Scholarship took place on the 9th ult., and the winner was Elsie E. Horne (of London). The competition for the Heathcote Long Prize took place on the 11th ult. The prize was awarded to Cuthbert F. Whitemore (of Clifton). The examiners highly commended C. H. W. Hickin and G. D. Cunningham. The Bonamy Dobree Prize was competed for on the 13th ult. The prize was awarded to Bertie Withers (of London). The examiners highly commended Arthur C. Maney. The competitions for the Rutson Memorial Prizes (for contraltos, and baritones and basses) also took place on the same day. The prizes were awarded to Gertrude Booth (of Cambridge) and Reginald Chalcraft (of Alton). The examiners highly commended Miss Norah Reade. The following scholarships and prizes were competed for on the 17th and 18th ult.: Sainton Dolby Prize, awarded to Gertrude Drinkwater (of Cardiff); highly commended: Edith A. Hensler and Sarah Gomersall; commended: Marianne S. Hann, Minnie Phillips, and Hettie West. Hine Prize, awarded to Arthur Erskine Newstead (of London). Potter Exhibition, awarded to Cyril W. Cole (of Quinton, Northamptonshire). Westmorland Scholarship, awarded to Ethel Mary Wood (of Holmfirth). The examiners highly commended Alice Coleman and Christine M. E. Warner, and commended Edith M. Nutter and Margaret G. Cooper.

ROYAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

Brahms's String Quartet in C minor (Op. 51, No. 1) is perhaps as hard a nut to crack as anything in chamber music, if we except Beethoven's posthumous Quartet. It was not surprising, therefore, that the four young students, William Read, Mary Noverre, Edward Behr, and R. Purcell Jones, who performed the work at the concert of

Digitized by Google

November 30, did not do much more than play the notes, and these without obtaining the balance necessary to bring out important inner parts. Perhaps insufficient rehearsals were the cause of this defect—at any rate, we heard hardly one note of the very important viola melody in the Allegretto. The performance of Schumann's Pianoforte Quartet by William Scott, Wilfred Mander, Edward Behr, and Robert Grimson suffered through a different cause—viz., the breathless hurrying (most likely due to nervousness) of the violinist. Scott played the pianoforte part with great fluency and exceptional refinement. The Hon. Norah Dawnay sang Brahms's "Liebestreu" and "Meine Liebe ist grün" quite charmingly. Her voice is a very sympathetic mezzo-soprano which she produces with perfect ease. Her intonation is absolutely true and, except for a few too hard consonants, she pronounces German excellently. She cannot yet reveal the emotional depth of such a masterpiece of expression as "Liebestreu"; that will come in time. The College possesses a real live prodigy in young Haydn Wood, a bright-looking little lad, all smiles and collar, who plays the fiddle as if it were the easiest thing in the world, as easy as eating jam tarts. Seriously, the boy is quite exceptionally gifted, for he played Vieuxtemps's difficult Air Varié in D with an assurance and ease that seemed almost uncanny. Francis Harford, who also pronounces German extremely well, sang Schumann's tedious Ballade "Belsatzar." William Hurlstone produced a Capriccio for the pianoforte of his own composition, and played it exceedingly well. It is an elaborate, boldly conceived, spirited, and effective piece, that does not in the least suggest a student's 'prentice hand. The composer is evidently one who will have to be reckoned with ere long. The final concert of the term brought a surprise in the shape of an English Symphony, the first (excepting students' works) we remember hearing at the College. We welcome the innovation heartily, for unless some of the best specimens of native music are played by and before students, what is there to prevent their coming to the sorry conclusion that high-class English music is practically non-existent? Perhaps we may now expect to hear Dr. Parry's splendid No. 4 in E minor, which has only been played once—viz., at the Richter concerts of 1889, for which it was composed. Mr. Cowen's "Scandinavian" Symphony, which was chosen for performance on the 14th ult., is not his best orchestral work, in our opinion; but it has carried his name and fame abroad, besides being a favourite here. We consider his "Niagara" Symphony (No. 5) a finer work, and should therefore have preferred it on this occasion. Unfortunately, the performance of the "Scandinavian" was by no means irreproachable. The first movement was rattled through in a somewhat careless, unsympathetic manner: there was hardly an attempt at phrasing in the strings; the violoncellos were out of tune and the first violins did not seem to care whether they played their difficult passages correctly or not. Amends were made in the poetic Adagio and the dainty Scherzo, which went excellently, even including the passage for the treacherous horns, in the boat on the fjord! The Finale was given with spirit and a sort of rough, not altogether inappropriate vigour. The concert opened with the "Coriolan" Overture (Beethoven). Herbert Fryer played Grieg's Pianoforte Concerto with commendable poetic feeling and highly developed technique. Mary Noverre was somewhat overweighted in Bruch's Violin Romance in A minor. We have heard her play much better on other occasions. Morfydd Williams sang the air "O del mio dolce ardor," from Gluck's "Paride ed Helena," but her exaggerated use of the portamento was ill-suited to the classic dignity of the music. R. Madoc Davies attempted Handel's "Nasce al Bosco," the "divisions" of which florid air were, however, quite beyond the stage at which he has arrived in his studies at present. Finally we have to notice the production of two part-songs for female voices: "A Litany" ("Drop, drop, slow tears") and "Love-sick Strephon" ("From White's and Will's"), by William Hurlstone. They are charmingly written pieces, but more remarkable for smooth workmanship than melodic invention. They were fairly well sung and might have gone perfectly if some of the ladies in the choir had not looked upon them as solos in which to distinguish themselves individually.

At the conclusion of the Christmas term, on the 18th ult., the following awards were made:—Council Exhibitions: Ethel Wilson (pianoforte), £15; Claude Hawcroft (violin), £5; Agnes H. Bailey (violin), £15; Sybil Maturin (viola), £15.

A competition also took place for the Norfolk and Norwich Scholarship, which was awarded to Elizabeth Broom (singing), Laura Mortlock being proxime.

The Hopkinson Gold Medal for pianoforte playing was awarded, after competition, to Maud Gay (scholar) and the Forsyth Prize to Thomas F. Dunhill.

The Dove Prize was awarded jointly to William Hurlstone (composition scholar) and Mary Noverre (violin scholar).

GUILDHALL SCHOOL OF MUSIC.

THE students of this Institution ably acquitted themselves, on the 16th ult., in a performance of "The Golden Legend," at St. James's Hall, under the direction of the Principal, Mr. W. H. Cummings. That there should be shortcomings by the chorus as well as by the soloists was not surprising, but these were less numerous and less serious than might reasonably have been expected. Throughout there was evidence of careful rehearsal and of close attention to the conductor, who certainly did his best to secure a satisfactory issue. The general effect of the chorus-singing would have been improved by a more even balance of the respective divisions. The ladies were greatly in the majority, but their male companions strove to counterbalance this by extra effort, and occasionally succeeded—notably in the beautiful unaccompanied "Evening Hymn," which, being rendered with much smoothness and delicacy, in addition to the pitch being steadily maintained to the close, evoked an irresistible demand for repetition. The level choral passages were generally well delivered. Miss Jessie Bradford sympathetically rendered the music of Elsie, and Mr. Montagu Borwell evinced keen perception of the subtlety and humour of Lucifer, as illustrated with such masterly effect by Sir A. Sullivan. Mr. Henry Franckiss, Miss Maude Clough, and Mr. Epstein, on the whole, justified their selection for the parts of Prince Henry, of Ursula, and of the Forester respectively. The band earned a fair share of the applause liberally bestowed.

MUSICAL ASSOCIATION.

AT the meeting of the Musical Association on the 14th ult., at the Royal College of Organists, Mr. W. H. Hadow read a thoughtful paper, entitled "Form and Formation of Music," which, however, chiefly concerned past and present styles of press criticism. These the lecturer roughly divided into two classes, severally naming the writers "Formalists" and "Impressionists." Obviously those to whom such appelations can be justly applied represent extreme views which do not characterise serious press criticism of to-day; but there was much that was interesting in Mr. Hadow's endeavours to create a true basis for criticism, and although the essentials announced have long been known and guided those who hold responsible positions in the critical world, they were pleasantly presented and with considerable literary skill. Mr. Hadow thinks that the old critics, who judged everything by the standard of established precedent, are largely responsible for the Impressionist, "who tells us roundly that laws only exist to give genius the pleasure of breaking them, . . . and that criticism should be restricted to the personal note." Doubtless this is so, but although the Impressionist may be everywhere, his value as a judge is pretty accurately estimated by the public. A strong argument in support of the necessity of form in music was "that in music the relation between form and idea is much more intimate than in literature. The latter may often give us example of a thought clearly seen but marred in the statement by words or clumsy language; in that of music imperfect form means imperfect conception, and inadequate expression is a mark of weakness or confusion in the idea. A false rhyme in a stanza of verse implies no more than an incorrect ear, the thing said may be true in spite of it; a false rhyme in a melody implies, in addition, an ill-balanced mind, and the meaning of the passage suffers in consequence. Indeed, it is hardly too much to say that in music form and conception are the obverse and reverse of the same set of relations, and that we cannot properly estimate the one without thereby judging the other." Mr. Hadow showed in felicitous manner that the chief requisite of music was that it should be organic, that it should "build together in unity a diversity of separate parts," and that "to insist upon this formal organisation is not to depreciate the idea but to emphasise it. Design and expression are not antagonistic—they are hardly ever separable. Expression without design would be mere stammering; design without expression would be merely academic accuracy, which is a synonym for bad design." From these and like considerations Mr. Hadow drew the deduction, which has long been recognised by competent critics, that design is subject to development in common with other branches of musical art.

Digitized by Google

After the usual commendatory words on the paper by the chairman, who was Sir John Stainer, some remarks were made by Mr. John Taylor, Mr. Southgate, and others, relative to a regret expressed by Mr. Hadow at the clumsiness and indefiniteness of musical nomenclature, these comments being amusingly capped by Mr. C. A. Barry, who read a paragraph written by him twenty years ago in which it was proposed that the Musical Association should deal with this matter.

THE HIGHBURY PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY.

THE excellent concerts given by the enterprising Highbury Philharmonic Society, under the conductorship of Mr. Betjemann, were resumed at the Athenæum, on November 23, distinction being given to this occasion by the production of a setting, by Richard H. Walthew, of the "Ode to a Nightingale," by John Keats. The work is laid out for baritone solo, chorus, and orchestra, and is distinguished by the same happy union of accentuation and sentiment between the text and the music which form so admirable a feature in this clever young composer's "Pied Piper of Hamelin" and other compositions. The passages for the solo voice, while calling for a well-trained singer to do them justice, are not difficult, and are of a nature that would appeal to vocalists possessing a refined and sympathetic style. They were excellently rendered on this occasion by Mr. Bantock Pierpoint, and the expressive choruses and cleverly scored accompaniments were intelligently interpreted. Another novelty was a scena for soprano solo and orchestra, entitled "Daybreak," by Miss Clarisse Mallard, who has gone to Longfellow for her text. Miss Mallard's setting is a very creditable effort of a young composer who, it may be remembered, has also written an "Elfentanz" for orchestra and a "Concert-overture," which, moreover, have been played by the Stock Exchange Orchestral Society. Miss Medora Henson sang the solo with her usual earnestness, and Miss Mallard was heartily called to the platform at the close. The second part of the programme was occupied with Dvorák's characteristic cantata "The Spectre's Bride," the solos in which were effectively sung by the above-mentioned vocalists and Mr. Edward Lloyd.

"KING OLAF" AT CAMBERWELL.

WHILE Mr. Elgar's splendid Hanley Festival cantata has started on a triumphal career in the provinces (it is included in the prospectuses of about a dozen of the leading provincial societies), London is still waiting for a thoroughly adequate performance of what is, in many respects, the most remarkable cantata produced by a British composer since "The Golden Legend." Suburban London is fortunately more enterprising than that part of London proper which frequents the Royal Albert Hall, St. James's and Queen's Halls, and one of the best suburban musical societies, the South London Choral Association, has had the courage to give a performance of Mr. Elgar's elaborate and very fully scored work with a complete orchestra. The concert took place at the South London Institute of Music, on November 24, when the Society's enterprise was rewarded by attracting a crowded audience. The conductor, Mr. Leonard C. Venables, had good reason to be satisfied with the performance, for though the orchestra (ably led by Mr. T. E. Gatehouse) was somewhat deficient in strings and a proper balance was not always obtained either between its two chief divisions, strings and wind, or between orchestra and chorus, yet sufficient justice was done to Mr. Elgar's masterpiece to enable the audience to recognise much of the beauty and strength of the music. That they should have appreciated it at its full worth was hardly to be expected, for we know from experience that each fresh hearing reveals points of interest and beauties of theme, expression, and poetic or dramatic significance not previously noticed; such are the wealth of ideas and the embarras de richesses of the mosaic-like detail work in this cantata. As we pointed out after the Crystal Palace performance, there is, perhaps, too much detail in Mr. Elgar's score. Ear and mind find it no easy matter, under the circumstances, to follow the extremely rapid course of the music. If the latter were merely sound and fury, signifying nothing, it would not matter; but that is just what it is not. Almost every bar deserves, as it invites, close attention; and meanwhile the glowing orchestration rushes past the bewildered listener and surfeits him with sonorous sound as he breathlessly endeavours to follow the story and Mr. Elgar's ingenious and frequently very subtle use of the Leitmotiven that illustrate and elucidate it, or to take in the thousand and one more or less important points that claim attention. This and the Schubert-like superabundance of subject-matter may be faults, but we prefer to count them the very virtues which raise the work so highly above the level of the average cantata. Mr. Venables' excellent choir had taken great pains with its difficult task, and, making allowance for an occasional sign of weakness in the attack (due, no doubt, to the fact that no rehearsal with the orchestra had taken place) and the comparative weakness of the tenors, we can award hearty praise for the way in which the splendid choruses were sung. The very beautiful romantic prologue, which transports us as with one bound into Saga-land, the powerful "Challenge of Thor," the weird "Wraith of Odin," and the graphic and impressive "Death of Olaf" were given with appropriate expression and spirit, while the delightfully melodious ballad "A little bird in the air" was sung with a good swing, though somewhat slower than Mr. Elgar takes it. It was enthusiastically re-demanded, but Mr. Venables declined the compliment. The soloists were Miss C. Talbot, Mr C. Ellison, and Mr. A. Walenn. Miss Talbot's clear, high, and well-trained soprano voice did ample justice to the parts of Gudrun, Sigrid, and Thyri vocally, though not altogether dramatically; almost the exact opposite may be said of Mr. Walenn, his dramatic expression outshining his vocalisation. Mr. Ellison as Olaf seemed somewhat overweighted, though at times he sang with good effect. Mr. Venables conducted with conspicuous ability.

"THE REDEMPTION" AT PORTSMOUTH.

(BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

THE natural associations of Portsmouth might well be considered nautical rather than musical; but the visitor from London who listened to an excellent performance of Gounod's "Redemption" there, on the evening of the 9th ult., could not fail to be impressed with the musical resources of our premier naval port. The concert was given by the Borough of Portsmouth Philharmonic Society, which was established in 1881 by Mr. J. W. D. Pillow, organist of the Parish Church, Portsea, under whose popular direction it flourished until 1893, when, to the great regret of the members, he resigned owing to ill-health. Mr. Pillow was followed by Mr. A. Williams, whose recent appointment to the bandmastership of the Grenadier Guards necessitated his removal to London. Mr. Williams has been succeeded by Mr. Frederick Rutland, who entered upon his duties at the beginning of the present, the seventeenth, season. During its sixteen years' existence the Society has performed twenty five oratorios and cantatas, of which "Elijah" and "Creation" have been performed four times, "The Golden Legend" twice, &c., the last annual report giving an excellent record of "something attempted, something done."

Digitized by Google

The concert at which we had the pleasure of attending on the 9th ult. presented several features of interest. In the first place, the fine Town Hall was crowded by an audience who followed Gounod's descriptive music with evident appreciation. Secondly, the occasion was the first appearance of the new conductor, Mr. Frederick Rutland, who bids fair to maintain the best traditions of his predecessors. The band was not only complete, but numbered sixty-three performers, eleven of whom were ladies, the fair sex including the "leader," Miss Ethel Rutland, four other violinists, two viola players, three violoncellists, and one oboeist.

The chorus, numbering about 200 voices, sang with admirable taste, precision, and expression. A common fault of amateur chorus singers—want of attack—was at times noticeable, but in so comparatively small a degree that, with careful attention on the part of each individual singer, it ought very soon to be entirely eradicated. The same comment is applicable in regard to deficiency in rhythmic feeling. But the Portsmouth singers showed so much aptitude and intelligence in their work that we feel sure these remarks will be received in the spirit in which they are offered.

Speaking generally, we may say that the performance attained to a highly commendable level of excellence. It is true that there were moments when Gounod's chromatic progressions tried the capabilities of some of the orchestral players; but there was an earnestness of purpose, stimulated by a zeal for high artistic attainment, which deserves that hearty recognition which we ungrudgingly give.

The soloists were Miss Margaret Barter, the possessor of a bright and pleasant voice, who thoroughly merited the encore she obtained for her beautiful rendering of "From Thy love as a Father"; Miss Edythe Gammon, Madame Hope-Glenn, Mr. Samuel Masters, Mr. Francis Harford, and Mr. Arthur Barlow, all of whom sang with intelligence and feeling. Mr. W. Monk Gould (the honorary organist of the Society) rendered efficient service at the organ.

Finally, the Portsmouth Philharmonic Society is doing excellent work. Its enthusiasm, its resources, and its praiseworthy efforts alike give cause for congratulation and emulation.

MR. WILLEM COENEN'S PIANOFORTE RECITAL.

UNDER the auspices of the London Academy of Music, Mr. Willem Coenen gave a pianoforte recital at the Pavilion, Brighton, on November 24, before a large audience, who frequently showed their admiration of his brilliant gifts as a pianist by hearty applause. The programme included Mendelssohn's Prelude and Fugue in E minor; Beethoven's Sonata (Op. 57); two of Mr. Coenen's own compositions, "Twilight" and "Les Etincelles"; a romance by Grieg; a sonata by Scarlatti; Rubinstein's "Rêve Angélique"; studies by Chopin, Liszt, and Rubinstein; and Liszt's grand fantasia on "Norma." With his pupil, Miss Nelly Gellatly, who has an excellent touch and musical intuition, Mr. Coenen played Moscheles's duet for two pianofortes, "Hommage à Handel," for the excellent rendering of which the performers were enthusiastically recalled. The vocalist was Miss Florence Oliver, who contributed Mr. Coenen's sympathetic song "Thou wilt remember us," which was heartily encored. The recital was in every respect a great success.

MR. COWEN'S "SCANDINAVIAN" SYMPHONY IN MILAN.

AN excellent performance of Mr. Frederic H. Cowen's "Scandinavian" Symphony was given on the 5th ult., at La Scala, of Milan, at one of the grand orchestral concerts conducted by Signor Leandro Campanari. Two movements of the work had already been produced here in 1882, under Faccio's direction; but the present was the first occasion of its performance in its entirety, and the reception it met with, both on the part of the audience and the press, was a most enthusiastic one. The Corriere della Sera, in giving a most appreciatory notice of the event, says, inter alia: "Mr. Cowen's symphony is, without doubt, a work of the highest artistic value, replete with originality and characteristic elements and pervaded by a spirit of buoyancy which render it a pleasure to listen to. The opening Allegro, with its sure and admirable handling of the principal themes, need not shun comparison with the best examples of the classical repertory. And these special features are still more clearly emphasized in the final movement, which may be described as brilliant and vigorous. Exquisitely poetic is the Adagio, while the Scherzo abounds in charm and originality, and with its transparent texture and scintillating brightness cannot fail to be a source of veritable enjoyment. It was a distinct success, and the conductor at its conclusion was greeted with prolonged and exceptionally hearty applause."

"SAINT LUDMILA" IN VIENNA.

THE first performance in Vienna of Antonin Dvorák's oratorio "St. Ludmila" took place on November 14, at the opening concert of the season of the famous Gesellschaft der Musikfreunde. Since its original production, at the Leeds Festival in 1886, the work has been frequently produced at different places in the composer's native Bohemia, and has been permanently placed on the repertory of the Prague National Theatre. The present performance, which was, of course, given in the German language, was an excellent one, under Herr von Perger's direction, and with Mesdames Wilhelmj and Schemmel, Herren Giessen and Hesch as the highly satisfactory representatives of the solo parts. As regards the reception accorded to the work by the numerous audience, its success was complete, the development of the various stages of the oratorio being followed with intense interest, while in the organs of the press also the distinctive merits of the music are spoken of in terms of high appreciation. The composer, who was present, met with a most hearty reception, and at the conclusion of each part had to bow his acknowledgments of the applause bestowed. We give the following brief extracts from notices contained in some of the leading Viennese journals:—

The Neue Musikalische Presse says: "If there is one amongst living composers capable of arousing in us a fresh interest in oratorio, it is Dvorák. With the fertility of invention, the technical resources, and the mastery of form possessed by the old masters, he combines the most modern acquirements of richest orchestral colouring and of subtle instrumental effects. His melodies, moreover, are independent of the ephemeral taste of a period, for they have their root in the soul of a people. His art is essentially national, yet at the same time it is likewise cosmopolitan."

The Wiener Abendpost says: "In 'St. Ludmila' the characteristic spirit of both the old and the more modern masters is most happily blended . . . There is a delicate Schumannesque poetry in the graceful chorus 'Blossoms born of teeming Springtime.' Replete with intense devotion, and anon with passionate fervour, is the chorus 'Hear when we call.' Ludmila's air, 'I long with childish longing,' is a most fascinating number and characteristic in its form. Again, the final chorus in the first part, 'Now all gives way,' is, like many of the succeeding ones, most masterly in its elaboration and highly effective . . . The success achieved by 'St. Ludmila' in Vienna should lead to a general acceptance of the work also in Germany."

The Neues Wiener Tagblatt says: "In the magnificent chorus 'Now all gives way,' with its grand fugal development, we seem to witness the collapse of an entire world. Again, the scene of the appearance of Borivoj and his meeting with Ludmila is so admirably realised that we appear to live through it ourselves. The composer, thanks to an admirable performance, has achieved a complete triumph."

Die Reichswehr says: "A remarkable freshness and gracefulness breathes in the lighter choral numbers, such as the one 'Blossoms born of teeming Springtime' and the hunting chorus 'Gaily through forest.' The composer's spiritual relationship with Smetana is frequently apparent, more particularly in the air of Ivan, 'I greet thee, my daughter.' The beautiful work fascinated and enraptured the audience."

Digitized by Google

MANCINELLI'S "ERO E LEANDRO" IN MADRID.

SIGNOR LUIGI MANCINELLI'S opera "Ero e Leandro" achieved a most brilliant success on its first stage representation, on November 30, at the Teatro Real, of Madrid. The work had been most carefully mounted and the performance, with Madame Darclée and Signor De Marchi as excellent representatives of the principal parts, was a most satisfactory one, under the composer's direction. Nor was there any lack of enthusiastic appreciation of the work on the part of the numerous and distinguished audience present, which included the Queen of Spain and the Royal Princesses. Number after number had to be repeated, and at the conclusion of the performance the composer and leading interpreters were recalled again and again. Similarly appreciative and even enthusiastic are the notices contained in the leading journals of Madrid:—

La Epoca thus graphically describes the attitude of the audience: "Upon the first appearance of Luigi Mancinelli to take his seat in front of the orchestra, but little notice was taken of his arrival. The public seemed indifferent and some opposition even mingled with the first demonstrations of applause. Soon, however, the plaudits became general and there came moments when, as in the first duet between the lovers, the audience rose en masse to break out into perfectly frantic applause, interrupting for the moment the progress of the scene with vociferous acclamations. And these manifestations were repeated many times during the evening."

La Correspondencia says: "'Ero e Leandro' is without question an important work, appertaining to the true modern Italian school as represented by the great Verdi, and infinitely superior, both as regards its artistic and technical merits, to all other works by the younger generation of Italian composers which we have heard here. All honour to the Maëstro Mancinelli. May he continue to produce works of true art such as the present."

The Heraldo de Madrid says: "There can be no doubt that the score of 'Ero e Leandro' is the work of a composer possessing great imaginative powers. It embodies, moreover, not a few novel harmonic and surprising sonorous effects. The composer is an adept in the utilisation of the characteristic timbre of every instrument in the orchestra, which enables him to obtain dazzling combinations and a variety of colour which it would be difficult to surpass."

El Diario Ilustrado says: "The triumph achieved by 'Ero e Leandro' could not have been more complete nor yet more justly deserved. There are great beauties contained in this work, much genuine inspiration, charm of melody, passages of true sublimity, and, withal, perfect marvels of instrumentation. Boïto's verses also include many beautiful lines, which were greatly appreciated."

REVIEWS.

The Waxwork Carnival. A Humorous Operetta. The words written by Bernard Page. The music composed by Arthur Richards. (Novello's School Music.)
[Novello, Ewer and Co.]

THE argument of this amusing operetta is set forth as follows: "Julius Cæsar and Mary, Queen of Scots, are engaged, and arrange with the waxworks to be married and hold high carnival in their room. Unfortunately, some nineteen hundred years previously, Julius Cæsar had plighted troth with the proud English Queen, Boadicea, who, hearing of his faithlessness, stops the ceremony by announcing an action for breach of promise. This rouses the indignation of the chorus, who, in the second part, give vent to their woes. Julius Cæsar comforts them by the assurance that Henry VIII. has looked favourably on Boadicea, and that it is highly probable some agreement may be made. Eventually two marriages take place instead of one, and Henry and Boadicea, Julius Cæsar and Mary, are united amid great rejoicings, which, however, are brought to an abrupt close by the clock announcing daybreak, and the waxworks go to sleep as the curtain falls." The quaint humour of this plot has been tersely developed in a series of lyrics and short speaking parts that would not only supply a diverting entertainment for children, but would also provide amusement for their elders. The music is extremely simple, but possesses distinctive attractiveness by its assimilation of folk-song characteristics, and vivacity is imparted to the solos by the interjectional remarks of the chorus. The annexation of the Bridal chorus from Wagner's "Lohengrin" for the marriage festivities increases the humour of the work. It should be added that, in addition to the characters mentioned in the argument, there are speaking parts for King Cole and Little Red Riding-Hood. Unlimited diversity of dress and any number of assistants can, of course, be introduced in the chorus.

The Bispham Album of Classical Songs. Selected and edited by David Bispham.

An April Shower. Cantata for Treble Voices. Words by Bernard Page. Music by Arthur Page.

A Waif and Stray. Song. Words by Edward Oxenford. Music by Henry J. Wood.

The Mermaiden. Song. Words by J. Gatey. Music by Edwin Stephenson.
[Forsyth Brothers.]

MR. BISPHAM has selected two songs by Schubert—namely, "An die Musik" (To Music) and "Der Zwerg" (The Dwarf)—and eight well-known lyrics by Schumann, the whole forming a convenient selection for baritone singers, to suit the compass of whose voices several of the examples have been transposed. Mr. Bispham's editorial work comprises breath and accent marks, which will be helpful to the imperfectly trained singer, and in "The Dwarf" attention is called to the necessity of alteration of tone colour in certain passages, a matter much overlooked by vocalists.

Mr. Page's cantata is melodious and simple and well adapted for use in schools. The choruses are written in two parts, and the vocal solos only call for very moderate abilities. Speaking parts are also provided and opportunities afforded for variety of costume.

"A Waif and Stray" follows the path of Gounod's "Worker" and meets a like reward. The vocal part is well laid out for the voice and the accompaniment is tasteful and musicianly.

Mr. Stephenson's "Mermaiden" sings an attractive song, although she is much given to say "Ah-lee," the meaning of which is not quite clear, but it rhymes beautifully with "me" and "sea," which may account for its frequent repetition. The music is melodious and the pianoforte part effective. "But never a voice from the ship" replies, and one feels rather sorry for the siren who is left alone perpetually singing "Ah-lee."

Three Dances from the Music to J. M. Barrie's "The Little Minister." Arranged for the Pianoforte. By A. C. Mackenzie. [Novello, Ewer and Co.]

IT has widely been admitted that the requirements of incidental music to the drama have never been better met than by Sir Alexander Mackenzie in his score for Mr. Barrie's fascinating comedy "The Little Minister," produced at the Haymarket Theatre on November 6 last. The "Three Dances" comprise the "Lilt," which, with one of the composer's pieces "From the North," forms the introduction to the second act, and the "Pastoral" Dance and the stirring "Ecossaise" which constitute the subsequent entr'actes. Many pianists who have witnessed the performance will doubtless be glad of the opportunity thus afforded to renew at will acquaintance with this music; but apart from the pleasant memories which may be linked with the strains, the dances are bright and vivacious pieces. They demand a decisive and crisp touch, but are by no means difficult either to read or play. The "Lilt" is rendered peculiarly distinctive by the unexpected strong accentuation occasionally thrown on the second beat of the bar and by the deft use of Scotch musical idiom. The latter attribute is still more noticeable in the "Ecossaise," which seems to have come direct to the composer's brain from the wild and breezy Highlands. These features must be thoroughly appreciated by the pianist in order to do justice to this music, which in spirit and style is essentially Scotch.

Digitized by Google

Six Pieces for the Organ. Composed by J. Stainer. [Novello, Ewer and Co.]

SIR JOHN STAINER has hitherto almost entirely restricted the exercise of his muse within the domain of vocal music. The high reputation which he has long sustained as an organist, especially in regard to his remarkable powers of extemporisation, has often raised the question: "Why does not Stainer write for the organ?" It is quite possible that the Oxford Professor has long had a portfolio full of good things only waiting to see the light. But in any case we gladly welcome these attractive specimens of his handiwork (and pedal work), assuring him that in thus giving to the world this volume of organ music he is rendering his brother organists excellent service, and at the same time increasing—if, indeed, that were necessary—his fame as an English church composer.

The first of these "Six Pieces" is a melodious Andante in A flat, founded upon a motto of five notes suggestive of an invitation—which one gladly accepts—to play through the succeeding pages. Here is the invitation motto, given out by the pedals alone:—

This figure is deftly woven into the texture of the music in an exceedingly happy manner. The next number is a Bach-like Prelude—which flows pleasantly along—and Fughetta, the latter having the following tuneful subject, announced in the tenor—

No. 3 is an Adagio in E flat for the diapasons, having a broad, dignified melody, relieved by a fanciful episode in pleasant contrast to the main theme. The concluding bars of this movement, with its pianissimo ending on a reiterated tonic pedal, is the musical embodiment of a benediction breathing perfect peace. The title of No. 4, "On a Bass," is very suggestive of a Professorial pill to be taken between the other pieces. In many a similar example of "learning" (so-called) the superstructure is "ground out" in a manner as forbidding as its "ground bass." But the treatment of this "On a Bass" shows how impossible it is for a man of Sir John Stainer's temperament to write dry, pedantic music. We shall be greatly surprised if this ingenious and highly interesting piece does not find its way into many recital programmes. Following an Impromptu in E is a Reverie in A flat of melodic beauty. In this, as in the other five numbers, the composer's poetic feeling is never absent.

Finally, the charm of these organ pieces lies in what we may designate their heart-music. Their form, spontaneity, melodic freshness, and, that somewhat rare quality, simplicity should ensure for them eager acceptance. We feel sure that this volume will find its way into the hands, and its contents into the heart, of every organist who can appreciate that which is true and beautiful in the art of music.

King Bulbous. Comic Opera for Schools and Classes. Written by P. H. Crib. Composed by Henry Festing Jones (Op. 8). (Novello's School Music.) [Novello, Ewer and Co.]

"KING BULBOUS" is of greater dimensions than the majority of this excellent series and would take about two hours to perform. It is in three acts. In the first, King Bulbous, his Queen, and two daughters are pic-nicing with their court in a wood. Two pages in attendance, the sons in disguise of a neighbouring king, are in love with the Princesses Lulu and Lolo, who are subsequently carried off by robbers. Act II. presents the robbers' cave, from which the Princesses are rescued by their lovers, who, in Act III., force King Bulbous to give his consent to their marriage. The dialogue is in rhymed verse, which possesses considerable humour and is brightly and neatly written, and is taken part in by all the chief characters. The vocal solos are melodious, flowing, and graceful in character, and make but small demands on vocal abilities. The chief robber, who rejoices in the name of Burglar Bill, has a satirical song on the training necessary for success in his profession, and two of the lyrics are furnished with an independent violin part, which increases their attractiveness. There are several vocal duets, and interspersed in the choruses are short solo passages which might be sung by minor characters. Provision is made for a dancer in a rhythmic gavotte and a movement in waltz measure, and there is also a "Grotesque Dance" for the robbers, and, in short, all the material for a merry evening.

English Minstrelsie. Vol. VIII. Edited by S. Baring-Gould. [Edinburgh: T. C. and E. C. Jack.]

THE present volume completes this admirable contribution to our collections of national songs. The name of the editor is a sufficient guarantee for the excellence of the publication, and his "notes and historical introductions" are not only of permanent value, but of great interest. It is no wonder that, in his closing words, Mr. Baring-Gould expresses "the real joy" it has been to him to be engaged on the work, which he has regarded as a labour of love. May his labours meet with due reward. The portraits of Nancy Dawson and Nell Gwynne make Vol. VIII. as attractive in regard to illustrations as the previous issues, and the complete indices to be found at the end of this volume are all that can be desired, the chronological index being specially useful.

The Snow Queen. An Operetta for Children's Voices. The words written by Mrs. George Martyn. The music composed by Charles Braun. (Novello's School Music.) [Novello, Ewer and Co.]

THERE are only five principal characters in this operetta, and one of these, that of the Frost Genius, is entirely a speaking part. Story and music are alike simple, but the former is well constructed on traditional dramatic lines, and the latter is well within the musical abilities of young people. There are three scenes, severally "An open space in a village" (Winter), "A woodland glade" (Spring), and "Outside the Snow Queen's Palace," the action being centred in the rescue of a little boy from the last-named place, where he has become a prisoner, owing to his persisting in going out in a snowstorm. There are five vocal solos, but the chief parts of the music are for chorus in two parts. Pleasing features of the work are three melodious and rhythmic dances, which might not only be made to considerably enhance the attractiveness of the performance, but could scarcely fail to increase the enjoyment of the exponents.

It's Hame, and it's Hame. Words by Allan Cunningham. Music by A. Davidson Arnott.

Blue-Bell. Words by G. Hubi Newcombe. Music by Sybil Palliser. [E. Ascherberg and Co.]

MR. DAVIDSON ARNOTT is one of the most promising of our young composers, and his setting of Mr. Cunningham's lines will certainly increase the esteem which his efforts have excited amongst musicians. "It's Hame, and it's Hame," is a modern Scotch ballad of the best class. Words and music are alike instinct with genuine feeling, and a sympathetic baritone singer, with such a ditty, could scarcely fail to appeal successfully to an audience.

Miss Sybil Palliser is known as a brilliant pianist, and in her song, "Blue-Bell," distinct talent is shown as a composer. The simple and unaffected nature of the words is admirably echoed in the unpretentious and melodious music, and the song is as dainty as the flower in praise of which it has been written.

Ten Songs from the "Hesperides" of Robert Herrick. Set to music by Joseph S. Moorat. [George Allen.]

THE composer of the songs in this attractive gift-book has been content to clothe Herrick's charming lyrics with simple music, and, on the whole, he has been successful, his setting of "I call and I call" being a typical reflection of the poet's artless lines. The full-page illustrations, by Mr. Paul Woodroffe, add to the interest of this seasonable publication; but the printing of the music is hardly up to the standard of the other portions of the book.

Digitized by Google

Now is my Chloris fresh as May.

FOUR-PART SONG.

From Mr. A. H. Bullen's Collection of Elizabethan Lyrics. Composed by Battison Haynes.

London: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, Berners Street (W.), and 80 & 81, Queen Street (E.C.); also in New York.

Also published as a Song, No. 4 of Elizabethan Lyrics, price 2s. 6d. net.

Copyright, 1897, by Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

No. 576. NOVELLO'S OCTAVO ANTHEMS. Price 4*d.*

There is a green hill far away

COMPOSED BY CH. GOUNOD.

FIFTEEN VOLUMES NOW READY, BOUND IN CLOTH, PRICE 7*s.* EACH.

424. Abide with me ... R. Dunstan 3d.
478. A few more years shall roll H. Blair 3d.
247. All nations whom B. Luard Selby 4d.
113. All they that trust ... Dr. Hiller 8d.
30. All Thy works ... E. H. Thorne 3d.
475. All Thy works ... J. Barnby 4d.
503. All Thy works ... G. H. Ely 4d.
9. All ye who weep ... ... Gounod 3d.
261. And all the people saw J. Stainer 6d.
229. And it was the third hour Elvey 4d.
485. And Jacob was left alone J. Stainer 6d.
357. And the wall of the city Oliver King 3d.
402. And when the day of Pentecost C. W. Smith 3d.
228 Art thou weary ... C. H. Lloyd 6d.
311. As I live, saith the Lord E. T. Chipp 3d.
333 As it began to dawn Ch. Vincent 3d.
498. As Moses lifted up F. Gostelow 3d.
24. As the hart pants (S.S.T.B.) Gounod 3d.
24*. Ditto (T.T.B.B.) Gounod 3d.
147. Ascribe unto the Lord Travers 6d.
109. Ascribe unto the Lord S. S. Wesley 8d.
399. At the Lamb's High Feast we sing Rev. E. V. Hall 3d.
456. At the Sepulchre H. W. Wareing 4d.
56. Awake, awake, put on J. Stainer 6d.
149. Awake, awake, put on M. Wise 4d.
199. Awake, thou that sleepest Stainer 6d.
150. Awake up, my glory M. Wise 3d.
578. Be glad and rejoice ... B. Steane 3d.
212. Be glad, O ye righteous H. Smart 4d.
567. Be Thou exalted ... C. Bayley 3d.
440. Before the heavens H. W. Parker 3d.
349. Behold, how good (A.T.T.B.) A. J. Caldicott 3d.
349.* Ditto (S.A.T.B.) A. J. Caldicott 3d.
419. Ditto Hamilton Clarke 4d.
89. Behold, I bring you J. Barnby 3d.
296. Ditto Rev. E. V. Hall 3d.
348. Ditto J. Maude Crament 4d.
554. Behold, I send ... J. V. Roberts 4d.
65. Behold now, praise J. B. Calkin 3d.
315. Behold, O God ... F. W. Hird 4d
524 Behold, the days come Woodward 4d.
501. Behold, two blind men J. Stainer 3d.
143. Be merciful ... ... H. Purcell 6d.
257. Be merciful E. A. Sydenham 3d.
471. Be ye therefore followers of God A. S. Baker 3d.
77. Blessed are they ... W. H. Monk 3d.
182. Blessed are they ... Arthur Page 3d.
390. Blessed are they A. W. Batson 3d.
15. Blessed be the God S. S. Wesley 4d.
183. Blessed be the Lord Dr. Heap 6d.
331. Blessed be the Lord C. L. Williams 4d.
400. Blessed City ... A. C. Fisher 4d.
262. Blessed is He ... C. H. Lloyd 8d.
284. Blessed is He F. E. Gladstone 2d.
292. Blessed is he ... A. C. Mackenzie 4d
64. Blessed is the man ... Sir John Goss 4d.
206. Blessed is the man Clarke-Whitfeld 3d.
286. Blessed Jesu, Stabat Mater Dvorák 6d.
5. Blessing, glory, wisdom B. Tours 4d.
378. Bless the Lord ... M. Kingston 4d.
374. Bless thou the Lord Oliver King 3d.
450. Bless thou the Lord C. Bayley 4d.
97. Blow ye the trumpet Henry Leslie 3d.
118. Bow Thine ear ... W. Bird 3d.
92. Break forth into joy R. Prentice 6d.
415. Ditto S. Coleridge-Taylor 3d.
491. Ditto B. Steane 3d.
323. Brightest and best Rev. E. V. Hall 4d.
340. Bring unto the Lord F. E. Gladstone 3d.
98. Brother, thou art gone Sir J. Goss 4d.
279. By Babylon's wave Gounod 6d.
197. By the rivers of Babylon L. Samson 4d.
121. By the waters of Babylon Boyce 4d.
511. Ditto ... H. Clarke 4d.
116. Call to remembrance J. Battishill 6d.
497. Christ both died E. W. Naylor 3d.
368. Christ is risen ... J. M. Crament 3d.
454. Christ is risen G. B. J. Aitken 3d.
533. Christ is risen ... J. V. Roberts 3d.
307. Christ our Passover Rev. E. V. Hall 3d.
370. Christ the Lord Rev. E. V. Hall 3d.
488. Christians, awake ... J. Barnby 3d.
445. Cleanse me, Lord G. F. Wrigley 3d
52. Come, and let us return Sir J. Goss 3d.
95. Come, and let us return W. Jackson 3d.
201. Come, Holy Ghost ... J. L. Hatton 4d.
283. Come, Holy Ghost Sir G. Elvey 4d.
293. Come, my soul ... G. C. Martin 4d.
314. Come now, and let us H. W. Wareing 4d.
1. Come unto Him ... Gounod 2d.
103. Come unto Me (Bach) J. Stainer 3d.
256. Come unto Me H. R. Couldrey 3d.
334. Come, ye faithful Rev. E. V. Hall 3d.
356. Daughters of Jerusalem H. J. King 3d.
449. Dawns the day ... R. H. Legge 3d.
213. Day of anger (Requiem) ... Mozart 6d.
252. Death and life Walter Parratt 3d.
90. Distracted with care ... Haydn 4d.
277. Enter not into Judgment Dr. Clarke 2d.
362. Eternal source ... F. Brandeis 2d.
470. Eye hath not seen M. B. Foster 3d.
329. Far from their home, our fallen race Rev. H. H. Woodward 3d.
364. Father, hear the prayer F. Brandeis 2d.
46. Father of Heaven Dr. Walmisley 3d.
384. Father of Life ... S. J. Gilbert 3d.
28. Fear not, O land ... Sir John Goss 6d.
446. Flee from evil Rev. W. J. Clarke 3d.
553. For a small moment ... J. Stainer 2d.
254. For ever blessed ... Mendelssohn 3d.
198. For the mountains ... L. Samson 3d.
273. From the deep I called Spohr 6d.
227. Give ear, O Lord T. M. Pattison 2d.
433. Give ear, O Shepherd A. Whiting 3d.
88. Give ear, O ye heavens Dr. Armes 3d.
309 Give the Lord ... C. H. Lloyd 8d.
383. Give unto the Lord H. W. Parker 4d.
2. Glory be to God ... S. S. Wesley 2d.
341. God be merciful ... A. H. Mann 4d.
49. God be merciful ... S. S. Wesley 3d.
236. God be merciful unto us C. F. Lloyd 6d.
105. God came from Teman Dr. Steggall 4d.
128. God is gone up ... Dr. Croft 4d.
131. God is our hope ... Dr. Greene 6d.
101. God is our refuge ... Dr. H. Hiles 6d.
332. God is our refuge ... A. Foote 4d.
75. God said, Behold Sir G. Macfarren 4d.
473. God so loved the world J. V. Roberts 3d.
342. God, that madest earth A. C. Fisher 2d.
344. God, who at sundry times J. H. Mee 4d.
388. Grant, we beseech Thee J. V. Roberts 3d.
550. Grant, we beseech Thee M. Elvey 2d.
187. Great and marvellous Dr. Monk 3d.
517. Ditto ... J. F Bridge 4d.
223. Great is Jehovah ... Schubert 4d.
136. Great is the Lord ... Dr. Hayes 4d.
237. Great is the Lord Sir F. Ouseley 6d.
481. Great is the Lord ... B. Steane 3d.
220. Grieve not the Holy Spirit Stainer 3d.
427. Hail! gladdening Light J. T. Field 2d.
545. Hail! gladdening Light Martin 4d.
326. Hail, thou that art ... A. Carnall 4d.
560. Hail to the Christ ... J. Barnby 3d.
499. Hallelujah, Christ is risen Steane 3d.
382. Hallelujah! the Light O. King 3d.
173. Happy is the man ... E. Prout 6d.
487. Hark the glad sound E. V. Hall 3d.
345. Hark, the herald angels E. V. Hall 3d.
444. Hark! what news ... ... O. King 3d.
404. Harvest Hymn ... F. Tozer 2d.
377. Have mercy upon me Kellow J. Pye 3d.
401. Have mercy upon me J. Shaw 3d.
535. Have mercy upon me J. Goss 4d.
389. Hear me when I call T. Distin 2d.
146. Hear my prayer ... C. Stroud 4d.
339. Hear my prayer Mendelssohn 4d.
442. Hear my words C. H. H. Parry 8d.
310. Hear, O God ... A. Friedländer 6d.
138. Hear, O heavens P. Humphreys 3d.
94. Hear, O Lord Sir John Goss 2d.
139. Hear, O Lord ... C. King 2d.
162. Hear, O Lord Sir F. Ouseley 4d.
203. Hear, O Thou Shepherd Dr. Clarke 4d.
522. Ditto T. A. Walmisley 4d.
376. Hide not Thy face Kellow J. Pye 2d.
330. Holy Ghost to earth descending, Ludmila ... ... Dvorák 4d.
111. Holy, holy, holy ... Dr. Crotch 3d.
246. Ho! every one ... G. C. Martin 4d.
366. Ho! every one J. M. Crament 4d.
412. Honour the Lord ... J. Stainer 4d.
129. Hosanna ... ... O. Gibbons 3d.
43. Hosanna ... Sir G. A. Macfarren 3d.
260. How beautiful are the feet Handel 3d.
321. How excellent is Thy ... Cowen 6d.
373. How long wilt Thou Oliver King 2d.
104. How lovely are ... ... Spohr 8d.
539. I am Alpha ... J. V. Roberts 3d.
268. I am well pleased J. Rheinberger 3d.

Copyright, 1897, by Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

THERE IS A GREEN HILL FAR AWAY

COMPOSED BY

CH. GOUNOD

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY MRS. C. F. ALEXANDER *

ARRANGED FOR SOLO AND CHORUS WITH ORGAN ACCOMPANIMENT BY

J. M. BENTLEY

Price Fourpence

Mus. Doc., Cantab.; Hon. Fellow of the Royal Academy of Music.

London: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, Berners Street (W.), and 80 & 81, Queen Street (E.C.); also in New York.

* By permission, from "Hymns for Little Children." (London: Masters.)

Copyright, 1897, by Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

THERE IS A GREEN HILL FAR AWAY.

a tempo.

Soprano. p

There was no o - ther good e - nough To pay the price of

Alto. p

There was no o - ther good e - nough To pay the price of

Tenor. p

There was no o - ther good e - nough To pay the price of

Bass. p

There was no o - ther good e - nough To pay the price of a tempo.

Gt. add Gamba & Flute. 3 legato. 3 3 3

cres.

sin; He on - ly could un - lock the gate Of

cres.

He on - ly could un - lock the gate Of . . .

sin; cres.

sin; He on - ly could un - lock the gate Of . .

cres.

sin; He on - ly could un - lock the gate Of cres.

f Solo.

Heaven, and let us in. Oh, dear - ly, dear -

f

Heaven, and let us in.

f

Heaven, and let . . us in.

f

Heaven, and let us in. Soft Solo Stop.

p Sw. Sw.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

THERE IS A GREEN HILL FAR AWAY.

Digitized by Google

Also published in Novello's Tonic Sol-fa Series, No. 986, price 2d.

Digitized by Google

RECENT NUMBERS.

THE MUSICAL TIMES (Sacred).

622.	There was silence in Bethlehem's fields	John Stainer.
624.	O saving Victim	F. Kœnig.
625.	Hearken unto me	Myles B. Foster.
628.	I will sing unto the Lord	H. Purcell.
629.	The eyes of all wait upon Thee	A. R. Gaul.
633.	The night is far spent	Bruce Steane.
634.	Thou wilt keep him	A. D. Culley.
636.	Worthy is the Lamb	J. Francis Barnett.
638.	If I go not away	Thomas Adams.
640.	Save me, O God	C. S. Jekyll.
641.	Let us now fear the Lord our God	John E. West.
645.	Sing, O heavens	A. R. Gaul.
646.	God, that madest earth and heaven	C. L. Naylor.
648.	Bow down Thine ear	William Beale.
649.	The strife is o'er	Bruce Steane.
651.	Blessed be the man	Cuthbert Harris.
654.	God, Who madest earth and heaven	E. Harold Davies.
656.	O come, Redeemer of mankind	John E. West.
657.	O Holy Babe	A. C. Mackenzie.

Price Three-Halfpence each.

THE MUSICAL TIMES (Secular).

623.	Spring	Frederic H. Cowen.
626.	The shades of night	J. Varley Roberts.
627.	Now the wearied sun declining	R. F. Lloyd.
630.	Under the greenwood tree	James Shaw.
631.	Autumn	J. Booth.
632.	A Shadow	Jacques Blumenthal.
635.	To Sylvia	Schubert-West.
637.	O happy eyes	E. Elgar.
639.	Pack, clouds, away	W. A. C. Cruickshank.
642.	A wet sheet and a flowing sea	R. H. Evans.
643.	The Fairy Queene	Alexandra Thomson.
644.	How soft the shades	King Hall.
647.	The Queen—God bless her!	Myles B. Foster.
650.	If I had but two little wings	C. H. H. Parry.
652.	In Sherwood lived stout Robin Hood	C. H. Lloyd.
653.	Airs of summer softly blow	H. Elliot Button.
655.	Sleep, baby	J. Christopher Marks.
658.	Home is home however lowly	G. M. Garrett.
659.	Now is my Chloris	Battison Haynes.

Price Three-Halfpence each.

NOVELLO'S OCTAVO ANTHEMS.

571.	Is it nothing to you?	Myles B. Foster	3d.
572.	Ye holy Angels bright	Henry W. Richards	3d.
573.	The eyes of all wait upon Thee	Myles B. Foster	3d.
574.	There shall come forth a Star	Orlando A. Mansfield	3d.
575.	I will not leave you comfortless	Bruce Steane	2d.
576.	There is a green hill far away	Gounod	4d.
577.	Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem	J. H. Maunder	3d.
578.	Be glad and rejoice	Bruce Steane	3d.
579.	Thou, O God, art praised in Sion	B. Luard Selby	3d.
581.	Kings shall be thy nursing fathers	George C. Martin	2d.
582.	In the beginning was the word	Ferris Tozer	4d.
583.	Be ye all of one mind	Arthur E. Godfrey	3d.
584.	Eye hath not seen (S.A.T.B.)	Myles B. Foster	3d.
586.	My soul truly waiteth	Bruce Steane	2d.
587.	Behold My servant	Frederick Bridge	3d.

To be continued.

NOVELLO'S PART-SONG BOOK.

769.	Whether men do laugh or weep	C. Hubert H. Parry	3d.
770.	Tell me, O love	" "	3d.
771.	Follow your saint	" "	2d.
772.	Love is a sickness	" "	2d.
773.	All hail the glorious reign	F. H. Cowen	4d.
774.	Rest thee, my little one	Thomas Facer	3d.
775.	The sea hath many a thousand sands	C Hubert H. Parry	2d.
776.	Turn all thy thoughts to eyes	" "	2d.
777.	Every sweet with sour is tempered	Arthur Berridge	3d.
778.	God save the Queen	Arrd. by J. Frederick Bridge	2d.
779.	Huntsmen's Chorus, from "Der Freischütz" (S.A.T.B.)	C. M. von Weber	2d.
780.	Mark when she smiles	C. H. Lloyd	2d.
781.	Thomalin, why sytten we soe	"	2d.
782.	Sweet day, so cool	E. C. Bairstow	3d.

To be continued.

NOVELLO'S PARISH CHOIR BOOK

342.	Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in A (Unison)	Sir John Goss	3d.
343.	Benedicite, omnia opera, in G	M. B. Elliott	1½d.
344.	Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D	Charles E. Tinney	6d.
345.	Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in F	G. F. Wrigley	3d.
346.	Te Deum Laudamus in B flat	A. Herbert Brewer	3d.
347.	Jubilate Deo in B flat	" "	1½d.
348.	The Apostles' Creed	Edward Cruse	1½d.
351.	The Plain-Song of the Athanasian Creed	J. Stainer	3d.
352.	The Order for the Holy Communion	B. St. J. B. Joule	2d.
354.	Onward, Christian Soldiers ("St. Gertrude"). On Card	Arthur Sullivan	1d.
355.	The Office for the Holy Communion in F	Bruce Steane	6d.
356.	The Office for the Holy Communion in F	J. W. Elliott	6d.
358.	Hymn Tune, "Bishopgarth"	Arthur Sullivan	1d.
360.	The Parish Hymn	George C. Martin	1½d.
362.	A Short Festival Te Deum	" "	6d.

To be continued.

THE ORPHEUS (New Series).

291.	A Cavalier's Song	Percy Pitt	3d.
292.	The Flirt	J. F. Bridge	3d.
293.	The leaves to one another say	C. H. Döring	3d.
294.	The moon looks down	" "	2d.
295.	Far down the green valley	" "	2d.
296.	Street music	Hamilton Clarke	4d.
297.	The kiss	J. Barnby	3d.
298.	In laudem amoris	" "	3d.
299.	There's life to be seen	George Miller	4d.
300.	A Hunting Song	Edward Peiro	3d.
301.	The hunt is up	John Bennet	3d.
302.	When the cock begins to crow	Henry Purcell	3d.
303.	Two Snails	J. Frederick Bridge	3d.
304.	Shall I look to ease my grief?	C. H. Lloyd	3d.
306.	Hark, hark! the lark	Hamilton Clarke	3d.
307.	The Queen—God bless her!	Myles B. Foster	3d.

To be continued.

NOVELLO'S SHORT ANTHEMS.

68	Whom have I in Heaven but Thee	G. J. Elvey	2d.
69.	O wisdom	J. Stainer	1½d.
70.	O Lord and ruler	"	1½d.
71.	O root of Jesse	"	1½d.
72.	O key of David	"	1½d.
73.	O day-spring	"	1½d.
74.	O King and desire	"	1½d.
75.	O Emmanuel	"	1½d.
79.	Lord, on our offences	Mendelssohn	1½d.
82.	I heard a voice from heaven	G. M. Garrett	1½d.
83.	The Lord redeemeth the sou	J. Baptiste Calkin	1½d.
84.	O send out Thy light	" "	2d.
85.	If any man sin	Thomas Adams	1½d.
86.	I heard a voice	Alan Gray	1½d.
87.	The steps of a good man	F. Cambridge	3d.

To be continued.

NOVELLO'S COLLECTION OF TRIOS, QUARTETS, &c. FOR FEMALE VOICES.

304.	You stole my love (arranged by F. Maxson)	W. Macfarren	2d.
305.	Moonlight	Hamilton Clarke	4d.
306.	The Snow	E. Elgar	6d.
307.	Fly, singing Bird	" "	6d.
308.	To-day and to-morrow	Hamilton Clarke	4d.
309.	England	J. L. Hatton	2d.
310.	Hurrah for merry England	H. Hugh Pierson	2d.
311.	Frost Bound	Herbert W. Wareing	3d.
312.	The wings of sleep	C. H. Lloyd	3d.
313.	Night music	Herbert W. Wareing	3d.
314.	A song in snowtime	" "	2d.
315.	The Queen's Song	Eaton Faning	3d.
316.	All hail the glorious reign	F. H. Cowen	3d.

To be continued.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Also published in Novello's Tonic Sol-fa Series, No. 1009, price 1*d*.

Digitized by Google

The Fairy Slipper. A Children's Opera. (Novello's School Music.) By E. Cuthbert Nunn.
[Novello, Ewer and Co.]

"THE Fairy Slipper" has for its basis the ever-welcome story of Cinderella, which in this instance has been deftly arranged as a children's opera. The incidents are developed in three scenes, diagrams for the effective grouping of which are given, together with directions for the costumes. There are seven principal characters, all of whom have short speaking parts, and an unlimited number of youthful folk can be utilised as fairies, guests, and flunkeys. The only scenery required is a representation of the "Kitchen in the Baron's mansion," and a "Ballroom in the palace," both easy of accomplishment even in the "Theatre Royal, Back Drawing-room." The work begins with an overture for pianoforte duet, based upon themes subsequently heard during the course of the play. The first vocal number is a gay trio for the Baron and his eldest daughters, which shortly afterwards is followed by a song for Cinderella. These numbers may be taken as indicative of the general style of the music, which is above the average of merit in works of this class, and distinguished by humorous fancy, rhythmic melody, and skilful musicianship. The care which has manifestly been bestowed by the composer is particularly noticeable in the pianoforte accompaniments to the songs, which, although simple, possess considerable independence and interest. In addition to the overture there is a spirited march and a "Graceful Dance" of attractive character.

The Imperial Souvenir. Devised and Edited by H. Anthony Salmoné. [D. Nutt.]

THIS little book, published at the modest price of a shilling, although coming as an echo of the Diamond Jubilee year, is by no means to be considered de trop on that account. It consists of "a translation of the third verse of the National Anthem metrically rendered into fifty of the most important languages spoken in the Queen's Empire." The languages range from English to Tshi, and include Popo, Oriya, Pashtu, and other euphonious tongues. In one of these it seems that the music has to be sung through twice in order to get all the syllables in! The illustrations include a special design drawn by Sir W. B. Richmond, R.A., and an excellent photograph of the Queen, with a fac-simile of her signature in English and, we presume, Hindustani.

MUSIC IN BIRMINGHAM.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

OWING to M. Paderewski's inability to give the pianoforte recital on November 28 as originally arranged, Messrs. Harrison found it necessary to transpose the engagement for the second and fourth concerts of their series respectively; consequently the celebrated Hallé band, conducted by Mr. Frederic Cowen, appeared at the second concert, and M. Paderewski's visit is now postponed until the final concert in March. The place of honour in the programme was assigned to Schumann's Fourth Symphony. Mr. Cowen had fully grasped its poetic purport, and gave a truly artistic rendering of it. Wagner's "Tannhäuser" Overture and Tschaïkowsky's air and variations from the Suite (No. 3) in G (Op. 55) helped to make an admirable orchestral programme. Miss Ella Russell, Madame Alice Gomez, and Mr. Kennerley Rumford were the vocalists, and Madame Nettie Carpenter played Saint-Saëns's Violin Concerto in A major (Op. 20).

The Festival Choral Society has entered this year upon a new venture, and has, in addition to three choral, included three orchestral concerts in its scheme for the season. The first of the latter series was given in the Town Hall, on the 2nd ult., under Dr. C. Swinnerton Heap's conductorship. The programme was entirely devoted to works by Brahms and Schubert, the principal features of the concert being centred in the fine performance of Brahms's "Tragische" Overture, the same composer's Violin Concerto in D major (Op. 77), superbly and faultlessly given by Miss Gabriel Wietrowetz, and Schubert's Ninth Symphony in C major. The chorus was present on this occasion and gave an impressive rendering of Brahms's "Song of Destiny."

The most notable feature of our busy musical season, and one that aroused a great deal of enthusiasm, was the visit of Dr. Edvard Grieg, who, with M. Johannes Wolff, gave a pianoforte and violin recital in the Town Hall, on the 26th ult. The programme opened with the third of his pianoforte and violin sonatas, and the concert-giver played for his soli "Aus Holberg's Zeit" and two numbers from his "Popular Life in Norway." Madame Medora Henson, who was the vocalist, gave nine of the best known Lieder.

Dr. Winn gave his second orchestral concert on the 10th ult., in the Town Hall, the principal novelty being Liszt's "Les Préludes." The other pieces consisted of Mendelssohn's "Ruy Blas" Overture, Saint-Saëns's "Danse Macabre," and some excerpts from Wagner's music-dramas. Miss Louise Nanney achieved a decided success by her finished and artistic violin playing. The orchestra was in splendid form, and Dr. Winn had evidently bestowed care and attention in the preparation of the works enumerated.

Mr. George Halford's third and fourth orchestral concerts took place in the Town Hall, on November 30 and the 14th ult. His orchestra is making wonderful advance under his careful and efficient training, and he has already given proof of undoubted talent as a conductor. The principal novelties introduced at these concerts consisted of Glazounow's "Poème Lyrique" and Rimsky-Korsakow's "Caprice Espagnol." The symphonies given included Brahms's No. 2 in D and Schubert's "Unfinished." Mr. Robert Kaufmann appeared as the vocalist at the third concert, and M. Siloti, the eminent Russian pianist, at the fourth.

The Royal Society of Artists' musical matinées in connection with the Autumn Exhibition were brought to a successful close on Saturday, the 11th ult. The concert was the 120th given under Mr. Oscar Pollack's direction, and their popularity has steadily increased from their inception up to the present time.

Cowen's "Sleeping Beauty" was given in the large Lecture Theatre of the Midland Institute, on the 17th ult., by Mr. A. R. Gaul's ladies' singing classes, assisted by a number of gentlemen, to a pianoforte and harp accompaniment.

An excellent all-round performance of "Elijah" was given in the Town Hall, on the 18th ult., by the Birmingham Choral Union, under Mr. Thomas Facer's able conductorship.

Mr. Max Mossel's first drawing-room concert of the season was given in the Grosvenor Rooms of the Grand Hotel, on the 16th ult. The concert consisted of a pianoforte and vocal recital, interpreted by Mr. Leonard Borwick and Mr. Plunket Greene.

The Midland Musical Society, under Mr. H. M. Stevenson, gave the first part of Dr. Stanford's oratorio "The Three Holy Children" and Gaul's popular cantata "The Holy City," in the Town Hall.

MUSIC IN BRISTOL.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

CHIEF amongst the many concerts that have taken place during the past month was the performance of "The Messiah" by the Bristol Choral Society, on the 18th ult. More than 600 performers took part, under the direction of Mr. George Riseley, who had devoted much time to the careful preparation of the familiar work. The solos were entrusted to Miss Emily Squire, Miss Jessie King, Mr. Lloyd Chandos, and Mr. Douglas Powell.

Performances of sacred cantatas in places of worship are becoming more general in Bristol and the suburbs. Among the many that took place during Advent were a rendering, on November 28, of Spohr's "Last Judgment," at St. Andrew's, Montpelier, the soloists being Miss Perry, Mr. Cann, and Mr. A. Wilmut; that of Gaul's "Holy City," at St. Mary's, Tyndall's Park, on the 7th ult., the chief singers being Miss Chambers, Miss Annie Boucher, Mr. W. S. Spray, and Mr. W. H. Wickes; and an interpretation of Spohr's "God, Thou art Great," solos by Miss A. Sharland, Mrs. Mathews, Mr. T. Rushworth, and Mr. R. Culverwell, at St. Bartholomew's Church.

Digitized by Google

Two of the younger male-voice glee societies have given their annual "ladies' night." The gleemen sang to a large audience in the Victoria Rooms, on the 9th ult., new and familiar part-songs and glees, the degree of excellence with which they were rendered showing that they had been well prepared. Miss Lucile Hill sang several songs charmingly, and Mr. W. J. Kidner conducted with his customary good judgment. On the 11th ult. the Bristol Æolian Choir, all tonic sol-faists, entertained their friends in St. Philip's Vestry Hall, when they sang with admirable precision and expression. Mr. G. A. Sleigh, the enthusiastic conductor, and his singers are to be congratulated on the success attending their efforts. Miss Marion Harris and Miss Clara Aldersley contributed songs.

The Glasgow Select Choir sang in Bristol on November 29. J. L. Roeckel's pretty cantata "The Hours" was represented, on the 10th ult., by the Teachers' Musical Society, under the direction of Mr. W. J. Kidner. Miss Marion Harris, Mr. James Boddy, and Mr. A. E. Colston were the soloists.

The Clevedon Philharmonic Society gave a performance of Gounod's "Messe Solennelle" and selections from Sullivan's "Prodigal Son," at its concert on the 15th ult.

At the Christmas concert of the Weston-super-Mare Philharmonic Society, on the 16th ult., Barnett's "Ancient Mariner" and Rossini's "Stabat Mater" were given.

MUSIC AT CAMBRIDGE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The Wednesday Popular Concerts, after a chequered career of eight years, have come to an end, and in their place has arisen a new organisation, called "The Masonic Hall Concerts." These performances are more or less of a private character, prices are high, and the comfort of the audience is to be more studied than is possible in the ill-seated Guildhall. They will doubtless prove highly attractive to the select few; but it is a pity that the shilling paying democracy will be entirely excluded, and the series cannot, therefore, be considered a force in the popularisation of the best music. Mr. Noble's music to "The Wasps" was noticed in the November number of The Musical Times, and the only other event that requires mention here is the performance of a miscellaneous programme in Trinity Chapel by the University Musical Society. The chief piece was the Credo from Bach's B minor Mass. This terribly exacting work was, on the whole, very creditably given. If there were unsteadiness here and there, particularly in the opening chorus, the "Et resurrexit" and "Confiteor" went with great swing, and the effect of the "Et expecto," where the full resources of the magnificent organ were brought in, was overwhelming. Miss Kate Thomas, Miss Evelyn Downes, and Mr. Norman Alston were admirable soloists. Dr. Sweeting played the organ part with conspicuous skill and taste and Dr. Gray conducted. The audience was miserably small, considering that such a magnificent work was to be performed.

MUSIC IN DUBLIN.

(From our own Correspondent.)

In addition to its regular homes of music and the drama, Dublin has just thrown open to the public the new Lyric Concert Hall, Burgh Quay, which accommodates about 1,500 persons. The hall was opened on November 26, since when several concerts have been given, under the management of Mr. Farley Sinkins, with leading vocalists and instrumentalists, including Miss Ella Russell, Madame Antoinette Sterling, Mr. Plunket Greene, Signor Salvi, Signor De Angelis (violin), and the child-pianist, Bruno Steindel.

The Dublin Musical Society gave its first concert for the season on November 25, at the Royal University Buildings, Earlsfort Terrace, under the direction of Dr. Joseph Smith. Dvorák's "Spectre's Bride," with a miscellaneous second part, made up the programme, and the principal singers were Madame Marie Duma, Mr. Otto Dene, and Mr. Andrew Black. The same Society gave a Christmas performance of "The Messiah," on the 20th ult., with Miss Prendergast, Miss Alice Lamb, Mr. Lloyd Chandos, and Mr. Lawrence Mooney.

"The Messiah" was also given as a Christmas oratorio in St. Patrick's Cathedral, on the 17th ult., under the direction of Mr. Charles Marchant, Cathedral organist.

On the 1st ult. a performance of "The Messiah" took place in the New Town Hall, Rathmines, with band and choir of 150 performers, under the direction of Mr. Raymond Revelle.

The Dublin University Choral Society opened its sixty-first season, on the 11th ult., with Oliver King's cantata "The Romance of the Roses" and selections from Gounod's opera "Mirella. The solo parts were entrusted to Miss Agnes Neacy (prize soprano of the "Feis Ceoil") and Mr. G. Matthews, and the choir of 150 voices was ably conducted by Mr. Charles Marchant.

MUSIC IN EAST ANGLIA.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The Norwich Festival Committee's first interim concert took place on the 6th ult., in St. Andrew's Hall, when Gounod's "Faust" was performed. The dramatis personæ were disposed as follows: Margarita, Madame Alice Esty; Siebel and Martha, Miss Kirkby Lunn; Faust, Mr. John Child; Valentine, Mr. William Dever; and Mephistopheles, Mr. Alec Marsh. The choruses were well sung, and the Norwich Philharmonic Society was responsible for the orchestral part of the work. Dr. Horace Hill conducted and Dr. Bunnett rendered useful work at the organ.

Sir Frederick Bridge, being honorary president of the Norwich Orchestral Union, conducted by Mr. Ernest Harcourt, attended the concert given by the Society on the 10th ult., when his dramatic cantata "Boadicea" was performed, under the composer's baton. Madame Marie Mallia, Miss F. Burton, Mr. W. H. Gunston, and Mr. Dennham Barri formed the solo quartet. Sir F. Bridge's music received a fair (if not perfect) interpretation. A novelty in the second part was a new orchestral eulogy by Mr. E. Harcourt, entitled "Salve! Victoria Regina," for orchestra, soprano solo, and chorus. The second part included Handel's Organ Concerto in D minor, the solo part being artistically played by Sir F. Bridge, who was also heard in three charming sketches by Schumann.

With the sympathetic assistance of Dr. Bates, Mr. Walter Hansell organised a very enjoyable evening's entertainment at the Church of England Young Men's Lecture Hall, on November 30, when the opportunity was taken of introducing, for the first time in his native city, Mr. Owen Morgan, whose début in the Queen's Hall last June was favourably noticed in the London press. Mr. Morgan possesses a robust tenor voice which he uses with artistic care.

The annual concert on behalf of the Eastern Counties branch of the Commercial Travellers' Benevolent Institution took place in St. Andrew's Hall, Norwich, on November 26. The vocalists were Miss Sarah Berry, Miss Rossow, Mr. James Leyland, and Mr. Harold Charles, while Mdlle. Murkens and Miss Marguerite Swale were responsible for violin and pianoforte solos respectively. Dr. Bunnett contributed some organ solos.

The Great Yarmouth Musical Society commenced its season on the 7th ult., with a very creditable performance of Haydn's "Creation." The chorus, although weak in tenors, showed high proficiency. The band also acquitted itself admirably. Much of the increased improvement in connection with the Society is due to the zealous efforts of Mr. Haydon Hare, who was recently installed as conductor. The vocal trio consisted of Madame Alice Esty, Mr. John Child, and Mr. Alec Marsh. During the interval the late secretary, Mr. W. D. Tomkins, was presented with a handsome study chair by the members of the Society.

The King's Lynn Musical Society gave its first concert of the season on the 8th ult., Mendelssohn's "St. Paul" being the work chosen. Under the conductorship of Mr. A. H. Cross, a very satisfactory performance took place. The principal vocalists were Mrs. C. W. Nelson-Lowe,

Digitized by Google

Mrs. Monkman, Mr. Joseph Reed, and Mr. Arthur Barlow. Mr. F. W. B. Noverre led the band, while Mr. J. H. Pratt and Mr. W. O. Jones presided at the pianoforte and organ respectively.

Under the conductorship of Mr. A. S. Wilde, a successful performance of Mendelssohn's "Son and Stranger" was given at Wymondham, on the 8th ult. The parts were most creditably filled by local vocalists.

The Downham Market Choral Society selected Gluck's "Orpheus" (concert form) as the principal piece at its concert of the 9th ult. With the assistance of Miss Margaret Cooper (Eurydice) and Miss Edith Nutter (Orpheus), a creditable performance resulted. Mr. G. Farrant conducted and the orchestra was led by Mr. F. W. B. Noverre.

The Kirkley (Lowestoft) Madrigal Society gave its third concert on the 7th ult. Mr. Philip Chignell is the leading spirit in the Society, and under his conductorship some madrigals and part-songs were successfully given. Miss Evelyn Ray, Mr. G. E. Jeffries, and Mr. J. J. Manning were responsible for several songs, and Mr. E. E. Abbott played two violin solos in a masterly manner.

The Beccles Choral Society selected Haydn's "Creation" for its initial concert this season, which took place on the 13th ult. Mr. W. W. Harvey conducted a chorus and band numbering about 100 performers, who did their work with great excellence. The solo vocalists were Miss Percival Allen, Mr. James Leyland, and Mr. Edward Iles.

MUSIC IN EDINBURGH.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

FIRST in point of interest last month was the visit of Dr. Grieg to the country whence his name and ancestry were transplanted to his now native Norway. The distinguished composer was greeted by an enthusiastic audience, which severely taxed the capacity of the Music Hall. Dr. Grieg had the sympathetic support of M. Johannes Wolff in selections from his violin and pianoforte compositions, and he gave the utmost pleasure to his appreciative hearers in his own rendering of the "Holbergs" Suite and other pieces. Madame Medora Henson sang some of Grieg's beautiful songs.

The first visit of the Hess Quartet offered a rare treat to Edinburgh music-lovers. The most enjoyable numbers in an excellent programme were Schubert in D minor and Beethoven in G major.

The eleventh series of Messrs. Paterson's orchestral concerts was inaugurated, on the 6th ult., by the Scottish Orchestra, under Mr. Kes and its old leader, M. Sons. Volkmann's fine Symphony in D minor had more justice done to it than Beethoven's Symphony in B flat experienced on the 13th. M. Petschnikoff was the violinist, and in a Wieniawski concerto and two charming Tschaïkowsky pieces won the evident favour of the audience.

The festivities connected with the inauguration of the McEwan Hall culminated, on the 15th ult., in an orchestral concert arranged by the Students' Representative Council. Mr. McEwan's princely gift to the University cost about £120,000, and in its noble proportions and beautiful decorations it can challenge comparison with any building of the kind in the country. At the inauguration ceremony the brilliant audience had an opportunity of hearing Dr. Peace give a recital on the huge Hope-Jones organ. At the orchestral concert the programme included Brahms's "Academic" Overture, Beethoven's C minor Symphony, &c., while the vocal numbers were in the capable hands of Miss Ella Russell and Mr. Ben Davies.

Space is left only for the bare mention of the second historical concert at the University, arranged by Professor Niecks, at which Mr. Collinson conducted the performance of English Cathedral music by the St. Mary's Cathedral choir. The feature of the programme was the Purcell selection. Anthems by Greene, Weldon ("Hear my crying"), Boyce, and others were also given, and the programme was varied by organ solos from the works of Purcell, Arne, and others, played by Mr. Collinson.

On the 11th ult. Spohr's "Last Judgment" was performed at the Advent Service in St. Paul's, under the direction of Mr. W. Prendergast, organist of the church.

MUSIC IN GLASGOW.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

THE opening of the regular musical season took place on the evening of November 30, when the Glasgow Choral Union and the Scottish Orchestra united in a performance of Berlioz's "Faust." This season's orchestra, notwithstanding many changes in its personnel, is an excellent one in every important respect. Mr. Sons again leads the eighty instrumentalists and Mr. Kes is, of course, the conductor of the orchestral adjunct of the scheme. Mr. Joseph Bradley, the esteemed choirmaster of the Union, conducts the choral concerts. Under Mr. Bradley's baton the performance of "Faust" was singularly free from blemish, the choristers acquitted themselves admirably, the orchestra was kept well in hand, and the soloists were Miss Jenny Taggart, Messrs. Ben Davies, Lemprière Pringle, and Walter Harvey. The last-named is a young Glasgow baritone who has evidently a bright career before him. On the 4th ult. the first popular concert was given in presence of an enormous audience, the spare seats in the orchestra being, indeed, crowded. A very familiar feast of light, yet, in its way, good music was provided, and Mr. Atherton Smith, another local vocalist, sang in a highly promising manner. At the second classical concert, on the 7th ult., M. Petschnikoff, the new violinist, made his first appearance here. His technique is excellent, and in pieces like Wieniawski's concertos he takes foremost rank. The programme contained Volkmann's Symphony in D minor (a composition which failed to attract any interest, and for reasons not far to seek) and Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsody (No. 1). Mr. Kes did well to include Beethoven's C minor Symphony in his programme for the 11th ult., the second "Pop." of the series. The ever popular work was magnificently played, and the programme otherwise contained Handel's Largo and the introduction to the third act of "Lohengrin." Miss Mabel Berrey sang and was heartily received.

What will in all probability prove the outstanding feature of the Choral and Orchestral Union season was reserved for the evening of the 14th ult., when Miss Marie Brema, who sang no fewer than nine times, was most enthusiastically received. The orchestral pieces in the programme included Mr. Hamish MacCunn's bright and engaging suite for orchestra "Highland Memories," wherein the young Greenock composer gives, it is pleasing to say, free vent to his melodic gifts; Beethoven's Symphony (No. 4) in B flat, and Cherubini's Overture to "Medéa."

MUSIC IN LIVERPOOL.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

AT the Philharmonic concert given on the 7th ult. Tschaïkowsky's Pianoforte Concerto in B flat took the most prominent place in the programme, and for a very fine rendering of this delightful work thanks are alike due to Mr. F. H. Cowen, the conductor, and Mr. F. Lamond, the solo performer. Handel's "Messiah," which has for some years past alternated with Mendelssohn's "Elijah" at Christmas time, was announced for the 21st ult., and as usual brought the first half of the series of subscription concerts to a close. In high favour as usual have stood a ladies' and a smoking concert given under the auspices of the Liverpool Orchestral Society by Mr. A. E. Rodewald. At the first-named, Dvorák's Symphony in G and Dr. C. H. Parry's Theme and Variations in E minor divided the honours, the latter composer conducting his own composition.

The Schiever Quartet initiated another series of its excellent chamber afternoons in the concert-room of the College of Music, on the 11th ult., a Beethoven programme being rendered in that refined manner to which those who are familiar with the work of the artists in question have always been accustomed. The same quartet filled the programme at the small concert-room, St. George's Hall, the following day, at one of the Sunday Concerts. The latter had on the two or three previous occasions been devoted to ballads and the like, a solitary exception being a Wagner performance, with an orchestra of ninety players, under the direction of Mr. W. I. Argent.

Digitized by Google

Chamber concerts have also been given at the Hall of the College of Music by Messrs. Weingartner, father and son, well known as conscientious and artistic musicians; and by Mr. Leopold, a more recent comer to the ranks of the local professorate, who has deservedly acquired an excellent reputation. The College itself closed its doors for the vacation with a very good students' concert, which included Beethoven's First Symphony in C, conducted, as usual, by Mr. Courvoisier.

On the 14th ult. the Post Office Choral Society gave its annual charity concert, the object selected for benefit being the School for the Blind. The chief work selected was Gade's "Psyche," and Mr. Clarke conducted with the accustomed happy result. At the pro-Cathedral Dr. Armes directed his "St. John the Evangelist," on the 2nd ult., and it was repeated on the 9th ult. For these excellent performances credit is due in the main to Mr. F. H. Burstall.

At Chester, Sir Frederick Bridge's "Flag of England" was announced by his brother, Dr. J. C. Bridge, for the 20th ult.

MUSIC IN MANCHESTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

We are so frequently told by young half-fledged amateurs, puffed out with their new fancies and bursting with anxiety to proclaim them, that our old standard favourites, and especially our long-loved oratorios, are doomed, that it was really consoling on Thursday and Friday evenings, the 16th and 17th ult., to find that, in spite of a drenching rain, which must have caused many people to think twice before venturing out, all the unreserved parts of the Free Trade Hall were crowded fully an hour ere the tuning of the instruments began. A "Messiah" night here means an audience of upwards of 4,000, and surely the record must have been broken on the first evening of the festival wherewith we annually inaugurate Christmas. On the Saturday night there was just as large a gathering in the same room, and a dense crowd in the smaller Association Hall. Where, then, are the signs of decay, or of that slow awakening from our insular obtuseness which is so often prophesied? Mr. Cowen was fortunate in having to guide a choir so well trained by Mr. Wilson, supported by an organist so ready and quick of resource as Mr. Fogg, and an orchestra so talented and complete as is the Hallé corps of instrumentalists; and he enjoyed the co-operation of such experienced soloists as Messrs. Santley and Lloyd, whose good services we have for many years enjoyed at this season. Miss Ada Crossley is welcome in sacred works for many reasons—because of the quiet composure of her style, of that self-reliance which frees the conductor as well as the audience from all anxiety, and for a general completeness of rendering of her work. It was the first time that to Madame Alice Esty the soprano music of "The Messiah" had been entrusted at the Hallé concerts. Mr. Lane, also, on the Saturday evening was fortunate. His large choir is gaining fulness of tone and promptness of attack, and he secured an excellent staff of soloists in Misses Palliser and Butt and Messrs. Ben Davies and Andrew Black.

Of the Thursday evening concerts preceding the Christmas oratorio few words must suffice. Sir Charles Hallé, on the very first night of his orchestral concerts—so many years ago—gave us some extracts from Berlioz's "Faust," and he afterwards found it advisable to have the whole work adapted for English performance. In no work did the Manchester choir so revel or appear to such advantage. Could a second and equal success be drawn from the same pen everybody would be delighted. But it must be a stronger work than "The Childhood of Christ," suitable enough for a small suburban choral society, but not for performance on a grand scale. Nor will "Les Troyens" serve. In spite of every exertion on the part of all concerned, it proved excessively wearisome on the 2nd ult. At the concert of the following Thursday, the 9th ult., Tschaïkowsky's "Pathetic" Symphony was given again, and received with the enthusiasm which a splendid presentation of a most original work deserved. Mr. Cowen was loudly applauded for a rendering which could scarcely be equalled by any orchestra and certainly has never been surpassed here. Mrs. Helen Trust always sings with acceptance, but the Free Trade Hall is rather large for her; and the intonation of M. Gorski also appeared to be disturbed by some over-eagerness to create an effect. The Violin Concerto of Beethoven has so often been played here by the greatest artists that perhaps a keen criticism was unavoidably excited.

At the second Harrison concert, on the 8th ult., Miss Ella Russell sang delightfully, as she generally does in suitable music; and Herr Popper, Mr. Jack Robertson, Madame Burmeister-Petersen, and other artists were there. But it is no disparagement to them to say that the interest centred in the re-appearance of Lady Hallé on the platform where she has so often proved the unequalled refinement of her style, the absolute truth of her intonation, and the pure liquid quality of her tone. That she could not again mount the oft-trodden boards without some strong emotion was evident, but so soon as she became absorbed in Spohr's beautiful Adagio the instinct of the artist conquered the pain of the woman; and everybody hoped that now, after more than two seasons of voluntary, but perfectly natural, withdrawal from the subscription concerts, we may again often greet her as in evenings gone by.

No concert of the Brodsky series has been more interesting than that of the 15th ult. Between one of Haydn's most pleasing quartets and Beethoven's Op. 132—the interpretation of which could not have been surpassed—there was a glorious pianoforte trio by Arensky, followed by the Basso Ostinato of the same composer, interpreted by M. Siloti, who played with a reserve of force most refreshing in these days when almost every pianist seems bent upon smashing the instrument. The Scherzo of the trio was irresistibly redemanded, and, indeed, the first Allegro and the slow movement might have been repeated to the intense pleasure of a crowded and musically educated audience.

Mr. Sachs, with his male-voice choir, gave a concert on the 6th ult., in the doomed concert hall, with a good programme, including Dr. C. H. Lloyd's "Longbeard's Saga"; and on the 8th ult. Dr. Watson, with his Vocal Society, appeared for the second time this winter, giving, together with many other interesting morceaux, John Wrigley's motet "He brought down my strength."

The closing concert at the College of Music was more than usually attractive, showing a rapid expansion of artistic feeling among the students. Dr. C. Swinnerton Heap takes the place of Sir F. Bridge for the next two years as external examiner to the Victoria University.

MUSIC IN NORTHUMBERLAND AND DURHAM.

(From our own Correspondent.)

On the 9th ult. the Durham Amateur Orchestral Society gave a very successful concert in the Town Hall, Durham. Mozart, Haydn, Reinecke, Gounod, and Gluck were represented in the programme, and the vocalist was Miss Jeannie Appleby, who has recently completed her studies at the Royal College of Music. The conductor was Mr. Wallerstein.

The Northern Musicians' Benevolent Society gave its annual concert in the Town Hall, Newcastle, on the 7th ult. The programme included Beethoven's Pianoforte Concerto in C, with Miss Ethel Amers as soloist; Mackenzie's "Burns" Rhapsody, Grieg's "Peer Gynt" Suite, the Overture to Wagner's "Flying Dutchman," and other works. The orchestra numbered about eighty performers, all local musicians, who give their services gratuitously on these occasions to aid the funds of the Society in which they are all interested. The vocalist was Madame Goodall, and Mr. J. H. Beers was the conductor.

On the 14th ult. a performance of Spohr's "Last Judgment" was given in the Cathedral Church of St. Nicholas, Newcastle. A small orchestra was engaged for the occasion and Mr. J. E Jeffries conducted. The work was very creditably performed.

The South Shields Choral Society gave its first concert of the season in the Royal Assembly Hall, South Shields, on the 15th ult. The principal works performed were Mendelssohn's "Walpurgis Night" and Goetz's

Digitized by Google

"Nœnia," the soloists being Miss Jeanie Rankin, Mr. D. S. Macdonald, and Mr. Charles Copland. The orchestra and chorus numbered about 200 and Mr. M. Fairs conducted.

A remarkably fine performance of "The Messiah" was given in the Town Hall, Newcastle, on the 15th ult., by the Newcastle and Gateshead Choral Union, under the conductorship of Mr. James M. Preston. The soloists were Miss Maggie Davies, Madame Marie Bellas, Mr. Lloyd Chandos, and Mr. David Hughes. The choruses were admirably sung by a choir of 400 voices and created much enthusiasm. This Society is doing excellent work in reviving the standard oratorios, which have, during recent years, been rarely heard in this locality, and its continued prosperity may be ardently wished for.

The Sunderland Philharmonic Society announced a Christmas performance of "The Messiah" for the 27th ult., in the Victoria Hall, Sunderland, with Miss Helen Jaxon, Miss Muriel Foster, Mr. Tom Child, and Mr. William Thornton as soloists, Mr. J. M. Preston as organist, and Mr. N. Kilburn as conductor.

On the 16th ult. the Alnwick Choral Union gave a performance of Haydn's "Creation," in the Corn Exchange, Alnwick, under the direction of Mr. C. E. Moore, and with Miss Maud Wadham, Mr. D. T. Macdonald, and Mr. G. W. Moore as soloists. A small orchestra was engaged, and Mr. C. S. Wire presided at the pianoforte.

Parts I. and II. of "The Messiah" were performed at St. Peter's Church, Newcastle, on the 17th ult. Mr. A. Docksey presided at the organ and Mr. T. W. Ritson conducted.

Miss Hildegard Werner gave her silver jubilee concert on the 7th ult., in the Assembly Rooms, when an excellent programme was rendered by several artists. During the evening Miss Werner received some valuable gifts, including a gold bracelet and purse of sovereigns, presented by Lady Browne, and a silver-mounted ebony baton by the Ladies' Mignon String Orchestral Society.

MUSIC IN NOTTINGHAM.

(From our own Correspondent.)

A choir holding two challenge shields, six first prizes, four second, and three third, deserves prominent notice in a journal so largely devoted as is The Musical Times to the encouragement of choral singing. Such is the record of the Nottingham Tabernacle Temperance Prize Choir, conductor, Mr. Riley, accumulated in about ten years. Its career has been one of steady progress, culminating in the capture of the Curwen challenge shield at the National Temperance Choral Union Festival at the Crystal Palace last July; and, for the second time, the winning of the National Grand Challenge Shield at the Autumn Festival recently held at Portsmouth. The shields were presented before an enormous audience on November 25.

The first of Miss Cantelo's classical concerts was held in the Albert Hall, on the 3rd ult., when the Cologne Quartet, led by Mr. Willy Hess, was announced to appear. Its playing aroused enthusiasm, especially in the Dvorák Pianoforte Quintet. Miss Cantelo and Mr. Hess gave a capital rendering of Brahms's Sonata for violin and pianoforte.

The Stapleford Choral Society performed Barnby's "Rebekah" and Mendelssohn's "Hear my Prayer" on the 7th ult. The soloists were Miss Maggie Jaques, Mr. Hamlyn Crimp, and Mr. Herbert Baker. Mr. E. Swift accompanied on the organ.

The Mansfield Harmonic Society is doing good work under Mr. Marshall Ward. On the 7th ult. it gave "The Messiah," the principals being Miss Helene Mearns, Miss K. Tennien, Mr. H. Stansfield, and Mr. W. H. Dawson (from York Minster).

The committee of the Mechanics' Institution organised a classical matinée, on the 20th ult., in place of the organ recitals which have been continued with fluctuating success for several years. The attendance was gratifying alike to promoters and performers, who hardly expected to find such enthusiasm in a Saturday afternoon popular audience. With Mr. Arthur Richards at the pianoforte, Mr. Ellenberger (violin), and Mr. E. Thorpe (violoncello) the programme was in more than safe hands.

On the 9th ult. Messrs. Ellenberger and Thorpe commenced their annual series of chamber concerts. The programme included Dvorák's Pianoforte Trio (Op. 90), which proved a welcome novelty. Messrs. Ellenberger, Johnson, Thorpe, and Miss K. Ellenberger were the artists.

MUSIC IN OXFORD.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Three local societies have given concerts on a considerable scale during the past autumn. The Oxford Gleemen, with the Reading Orpheus Society, who joined them on this occasion, gave Grieg's "Landerkennung," Schumann's "Luck of Edenhall," and Mendelssohn's "To the Sons of Art," in the New Town Hall, and the effect of these two fine choirs in combination with an excellent orchestra was exceedingly grand. In the same place "The Messiah" received a good performance from the Choral and Philharmonic Society, conducted by Mr. Betjemann, and Bach's "Christmas" Oratorio was also well rendered under the direction of Dr. Harwood. Rumour asserts with a good deal of persistency that all these concerts resulted in severe financial losses to those concerned. It can only be hoped that these reports are exaggerated, but it could be in no way cause for surprise if they were true. The number of concerts of all kinds that have been compressed into eight weeks is almost incredible. Three perhaps may be mentioned — the Richter concert, the Albani concert, and the Patti concert. Besides these, the Classical concerts and the Balliol concerts have been in full swing. Gratifying as all this musical activity may be from one point of view, it hardly admits of doubt that, if it crushes the local choral societies out of existence, it will have done more harm than good.

The academic side of music in Oxford during the past term has been of exceptional interest. The lecture of the Professor of Music, elicited by the tercentenary of the publication of Morley's "Plaine and Easie Introduction," was marked by the learning and humour that we expect from him. The syllabus of the lecture, given to every member of the audience, was remarkable for the beautifully executed fac-similes that adorned it. The wise will preserve them with care. The illustrations were very beautiful and were well sung by the excellent body of musicians known as "The Professor of Music's Choir." The other lecture of importance was delivered by Mr. Hadow, and consisted of an account of a book published in the Austrian Empire to prove the influence of Croatian folk-songs on Haydn's music. The general result of this interesting discourse was to produce an absolute conviction that Haydn had been enormously and consciously under the influence of Croatian popular songs, a piece of fresh information of the highest interest. An announcement has since been made that Mr. Hadow is just about to issue a pamphlet on the subject.

MUSIC IN SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Spohr's "Last Judgment" was performed in the Parish Church, Sheffield, on the 10th ult., under Mr. T. W. Hanforth. The choir was augmented and brass and drums supplemented the organ.

The St. Peter's Abbeydale Choral Society performed Bennett's "Woman of Samaria," on the 14th ult., under the direction of Mr. W. Gadsby, when the work was adequately rendered. The principals, most of whom were members of the Society, acquitted themselves admirably. On the same date the Attercliffe Christ Church Choral Society gave an excellent performance of Romberg's "Lay of the Bell."

The Sheffield Amateur Instrumental Society, under Dr. Coward's conductorship, has won an enviable reputation, and its latest concert, also on the 14th ult., will do much to enhance it. Schumann's Symphony (No. 1) in B flat major formed the principal piece in a programme which included Massenet's "Scènes Pittoresques," a selection from "Aïda," and overtures by Nicolai and Sterndale Bennett.

Digitized by Google

The Mansfield Harmonic Society performed "The Messiah," on the 7th ult., in the Town Hall. Mr. F. Marshall Ward conducted.

Sterndale Bennett's "May Queen" was performed, on the 8th ult., by the Doncaster Musical Society. Mr. H. Mackenzie directed an excellent rendering of the popular work. The soloists were Madame Goodall, Miss A. Whitehead, Mr. H. Stansfield, and Mr. J. A. Schofield. Mr. C. Reasbeck led the band.

The Ripley Choral Society performed "The Messiah" on the 8th ult. Band and chorus numbered about 100 performers. The solo vocalists were Mrs. Haynes, Miss Beastall, Mr. L. Parker, and Mr. T. Ranshaw. Mr. J. Beastall conducted.

Elgar's "King Olaf" was performed on the 20th ult. by the Sheffield Amateur Musical Society. To this old established Society Sheffield music-lovers are mainly indebted for the introduction of new works, and "King Olaf" had a reception which fully justified its inclusion in the Society's repertory. The singing of the several dramatic and descriptive choruses was marked by much excellence of tone, attack, and expression. the vivid "Challenge of Thor" chorus and the section entitled "The Wraith of Odin" being worthy of especial praise. The principals were Madame Henson, Mr. William Green, and Mr. Joseph Lycett. The elaborate score was admirably played, Mr. J. Peck leading the band. Mr. J. W. Phillips was organist and Mr. Schöllhammer conducted.

The Ashbourne Choral Society performed Cowen's "St. John's Eve," on the 16th ult. Mr. W. H. Tutt conducted.

Performances of "The Messiah" were given at three of the Sheffield Theatres on Christmas Day, and during the week previous the oratorio was given at Heeley, Cherrytree, and in the Music Hall, Sheffield.

MUSIC IN THE SOUTHERN COUNTIES.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The Sarum Choral Society made its first appearance this season, on the 15th ult., at the Council Chamber, Salisbury, in a miscellaneous programme, which included Hamish MacCunn's choral ballad "Lord Ullin's Daughter." The annual Advent performance of Spohr's "Last Judgment" was given in Salisbury Cathedral on the 7th ult. For some reason the purely instrumental portions of the oratorio, which, on previous occasions, have been played in a masterly manner by the organist, Mr. C. F. South, were omitted. The solos, by members of the Cathedral choir, and choruses were carefully sung, and Mr. South, at the organ, did all that was possible with the accompaniments.

At Andover, on the 9th ult., Mr. G. H. Westbury's choir gave a very successful Mendelssohn concert in the Assembly Room. The choral numbers included the Psalms "Come, let us sing," and "As the hart pants"; the orchestra contributing the "Cornelius" March and the Adagio from the "Scotch" Symphony. The principal vocalists were Madame Eva Scorey, Mrs. Rogers, and Mr. Burlingham.

The principal feature of the concert given by the Wimborne Choral Society, assisted by the Harmonic Society, on the 7th ult., was Macfarren's cantata "May Day." The rendering of the work was, on the whole, satisfactory, the soloist being Miss E. M. V. Rogers. An efficient orchestra, which contributed in no small measure to the success of the concert, was led by Signor Bertoncini, and Mr. H. J. Eaton was the conductor.

An interesting programme of Christmas music was given, on the 7th ult., in the Congregational Church, Boscombe (Bournemouth), under the conductorship of Mr. S. W. Chandler. The selection included Sir Joseph Barnby's anthem "It is high time to awake," Dr. Vincent's "There were Shepherds," and a number of carols.

The Southampton Philharmonic Society gave an admirable performance of Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise," on the 7th ult., under the conductorship of Mr. H. M. Pike. The solos in the work were well sung by Miss Amy Harding and Mr. Bright Jones, and the choruses gave evidence of much careful training.

On the 16th ult. the Dorchester Vocal Association gave a very satisfactory performance of Henry Smart's cantata "The Bride of Dunkerron," conducted by Mr. E. A. Lane. The chorus numbered about eighty, and there was besides a very compact orchestra, led by Mr. Stone. The principal vocalists engaged were Miss Maggie Purvis, Mr. E. Branscombe, and Mr. Bantock Pierpoint.

MUSIC IN YORKSHIRE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The past month has been a fairly busy one in Leeds, and of six or seven concerts at least three may be described as of some artistic moment. First in order of merit and of time comes the subscription concert, on November 24, at which the Hallé band was heard to more than common advantage in the now almost hackneyed "Pathetic" Symphony, with pieces by Beethoven, Wagner, Dvorák, and Liszt. In Sir Charles Hallé's later years, as his energy flagged, slovenly performances marred the well-deserved fame of the Manchester Orchestra. It is no reflection upon his memory to hold that Mr. Cowen has, by his careful attention to points of detail, raised the standard of finish to a point higher than the band has attained for many years past. Some of the performances at this Leeds concert deserve to be called brilliant, notably those of the Symphony and Liszt's first Rhapsody. A special feature of the concert was a very finished rendering of Brahms's "Nänie," by the chorus of the Philharmonic Society. The Leeds Symphony Society, an amateur body, gave a concert on the 7th ult., when its playing of the "Unfinished" Symphony and other standard works evidenced a healthy progress, manifested most, perhaps, in the Nocturne from the "Midsummer Night's Dream" music. Mr. Grimshaw conducted very ably and Mr. Gordon Heller sang some well-chosen songs. The wave of enthusiasm for orchestral music has hardly as yet reached Leeds, but by a singular coincidence the third important concert of the month was also of orchestral music, the Leeds Orchestra, a young and promising Society, giving one of its not too frequent concerts on the 16th ult. Mr. N. H. Bell, organist of one of the Leeds churches, gave a really brilliant performance of the solo part in Beethoven's C minor Pianoforte Concerto, and the orchestra, under Mr. E. Elliott's conductorship, was heard in two movements from Schubert's great Symphony in C, Beethoven's "Prometheus" Overture, and some lighter pieces. Mr. Elliott also took part, with Mr. Rawdon Briggs, in Bach's Concerto in D minor for two violins.

The remaining Leeds concerts to be chronicled are of less artistic importance. One given by the Glasgow Select Choir, aided by the pipers of the Black Watch, gave a pleasant glimpse into the humour and sentiment of Scottish music, and attracted a large and enthusiastic audience. Equally popular was a concert, given on the 8th ult., in aid of the Railway Guards' Friendly Society, at which Miss Maggie Davies, Madame Hope-Glenn, Mr. Lloyd Chandos, and Mr. Watkin Mills were the solo singers; Miss Ethel Heap playing violin pieces, and the Leeds Parish Church Quartet contributing glees. On the 10th ult. little Bruno Steindel gave a pianoforte recital, and on the 14th ult. the second of the Messrs. Haddock's Musical Evenings took place, the Meister Glee Singers proving as popular as ever. Miss Faliero and Miss Ada Crossley also sang, and Miss Edith Robinson played violin solos with much accomplishment. Two youthful pupils at Messrs. Haddock's College made their public début as pianist and violinist respectively, and showed unmistakable promise. We may take it as a welcome sign that the Leeds Corporation are not indifferent to music, that during the continuance of a loan exhibition in the Public Art Gallery they have arranged for a series of free lecture recitals on the great composers for the pianoforte, which have been given by Mr. Charles Wilkinson, a local pianist. These have been attended by large audiences, and, apparently, thoroughly appreciated. This is the more satisfactory since it may be regarded as a stepping-stone towards supplying what is the most crying of all wants in the English provinces—that of local orchestras subsidised out of public monies.

Digitized by Google

At Bradford excellent performances of Dvorák's "Stabat Mater" and Goring Thomas's "Swan and the Skylark" were given at the subscription concert, on the 10th ult. The chorus of the Bradford Festival Choral Society has never done better work, and we recollect no occasion on which the numerous pitfalls for choralists in Dvorák's exacting music were more satisfactorily avoided. The soloists were Miss Palliser, Miss Ada Crossley, Mr. Herbert Grover, and Mr. Andrew Black, who did well, though the first and last-named were out of voice. The orchestra was the Hallé band, the conductor Mr. Cowen, whose tempi in the "Stabat Mater" were open to question, though they had the doubtful advantage of giving more variety than the composer intended. The Bradford Permanent Orchestra gave its second concert on November 20 and its third on the 18th ult. At the former three movements from Beethoven's Eighth Symphony were played creditably, but with less success than attended Stanford's spirited "Shamus O'Brien" Overture and some minor pieces. Mr. Alec Marsh and Miss Alice Esty were the vocalists. The latter was of less moment, the orchestral pieces being of a lighter type and outnumbered by an extra allowance of songs. On the 16th ult. the Messrs. Harrison gave one of their ballad concerts, at which Miss Palliser, Madame Gomez, Mr. Robertson, and Mr. Fergusson sang, Herr Popper being violoncellist, Madame Burmeister-Petersen, pianist, and Mr. Henley, violinist.

At the fifth of the Huddersfield subscription concerts, on November 23, Madame Albani was the chief attraction and sang a varied selection of solos, ranging from "Let the bright Seraphim" to the latest drawing-room ballad. In the absence of Mr. Kaufmann, the Swiss tenor, Mr. G. Fergusson appeared as the other vocalist; Miss Wietrowetz played some violin solos in masterly fashion, and Dr. Peace showed his brilliant powers as a solo organist. At the annual conversazione, on the 7th ult., the chief entertainer was Mr. Charles Fry, assisted by Miss Olive Kennett in a series of recitations, including Longfellow's "King Robert of Sicily," with Mr. John E. West's orchestral setting. On the 14th ult. the Hallé band was responsible for the programme of the sixth concert, which was one of the most enjoyable of the series, Schumann's Fourth Symphony, Max Bruch's G minor Violin Concerto (ably played by Mr. John Dunn), and Tschaïkowsky's masterly variations from the Suite in C were perhaps the most striking features of a very interesting programme. Mr. Cowen conducted and Miss Mabel Berrey was the vocalist. The Glee and Madrigal Society gave one of its concerts of glees, part-songs, and the like, on November 30, under Mr. J. E. Ibeson's conductorship. Miss Bertha Beanland's violoncello solos gave a variety to the programme.

At Dewsbury the Orchestral Society, an amateur body, gave a capital concert on November 30, when a remarkably well arranged programme failed to meet with anything like an adequate response from the public. Spohr's Ninth Concerto was most artistically played by Mr. Rawdon Briggs, and the band made a plucky effort, as successful as could possibly be expected under the circumstances, in the "Hebrides" Overture and pieces by E. German and other living composers, under Mr. G. H. Hirst's careful direction. The vocalist was Miss Ruby Shaw. Mr. Frederick Dawson gave a pianoforte recital at Keighley, on the 7th ult., and met with his usual success. The Batley Choral Society performed the "Creation" on the same evening, with Mrs. Helen Trust, Mr. Tom Child, and Mr. W. Thornton as principals, and under the conductorship of Mr. John Bowling. On November 29 the "Hymn of Praise" and Barnby's "Rebekah" formed the programme of a successful concert given by the Pudsey Choral Union, of which Mr. Jowett is conductor. Miss Kate Shields, Miss Crosthwaite, Mr. Tom Child, and Mr. Walker Lawson were the soloists, the last-named being a new-comer who promises to make a very useful concert baritone. Wallace's "Maritana," a singular choice for a choral society's concert, but a popular one in this part of the world, was given by the Harrogate St. Cecilia Society, on the 14th ult., Miss Elster, Miss Sadée, Messrs. Arthur and Homer being the principals, and Mr. Buckley the conductor. The same work was chosen by the Keighley Musical Union for its concert on the 18th ult., when Madame Sadler-Fogg, Miss Kay, Mr. Brearley, and Mr. Hoyle were the principals. The "Hymn of Praise" was the work selected for the Ilkley Vocal Society's concert, on the 7th ult., under Mr. Akeroyd's conductorship, and, though "The Messiah" season has, at the time of writing, only just begun, we have already to chronicle performances at Armley, under Mr. Pickard; at Farsley, under Mr. Hullay; at Frizinghall, under Mr. Fitton; and at Oakworth, under Mr. Moore. On the 15th ult. Barnett's "Building of the Ship" was performed at Cleckheaton, Mr. W. H. Wright being the conductor.

An excellent performance of "The Golden Legend" is to be credited to the York Musical Society, on the 7th ult., when the improvement shown in the chorus singing since Canon Hudson became conductor seems to have been fully maintained. The soloists were Miss Agnes Nicholls, Mrs. Burrell, Mr. W. Green, and Mr. Andrew Black. The York Musical Union, whose care is for chamber music, had a very enjoyable concert on November 20, when the admirable Brodsky Quartet came over from Manchester and went through a delightful programme, including Mozart's Quartet in F (one of his latest works of the kind) and Grieg's Quartet in G (Op. 27), in addition to movements by Haydn and Schubert. At Scarborough, Mr. Owen Williams is the promoter of some artistic chamber concerts. The third of the eleventh season took place on the 13th ult., when Mendelssohn's D minor Trio (Op. 49) and a Pianoforte and Violin Sonata in E, by Sinding, were the most important things in the programme, the rest of which was made up of solos. The artists were Mr. Cass (violin), Miss Alderson Smith (violoncello), Mr. Owen Williams (pianoforte), and Miss Edith Child (contralto). "Acis and Galatea" and Gade's "Erl-King's Daughter" were given on the 7th ult., by the Scarborough Choral Union, of which Mr. Pitcher is the honorary conductor. Miss Bishop and Messrs. Brearley and Fergusson were the principals. The Selby Abbey Choral Society had its "Messiah" celebration on the 16th ult., in the fine old Abbey Church. The principals were Miss Marjorie Eaton, Miss Enid Grimshaw, Mr. Brearley, and Mr. Peacock, and Mr. Egglesham conducted.

MUSIC IN PARIS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

THE next novelty to be brought out at the Opéra will be a lyrical drama in three acts by M. Samuel Rousseau, entitled "La Cloche du Rhin" (the libretto from the pen of MM. Montargueil and Ghensi), rehearsals of which are now going forward. M. Vidal's "Gauthier d'Aquitaine" is likewise in course of preparation.

At the Opéra Comique the first performance took place, on November 27, of M. Massenet's opera "Sapho." The work is in five acts, the libretto, by MM. Henri Cain and Arthur Bernède, being founded upon M. Daudet's well-known novel bearing the same title. As regards the score, it may be said to be written with a view chiefly to its vocal elements, which the orchestra merely serves to support and place in relief without assuming any symphonic significance. It is above all dramatic music we have here, and although some objections might be raised concerning the somewhat ultra-realistic character of certain scenes, the dramatic spirit pervading the work communicated itself to the audience and its success has been considerable. The Sapho of Madame Calvé is a most touching conception of the part and met with very general appreciation. Mdlle. Wyns and M. Leprestre also came in for a good share of the applause, while MM. Marc Nohel, Gresse, Jacquet, and Dufour were equally efficient in their respective parts. The first performance also took place here of two one-act works—viz., a pastorale, "Daphnis et Chloé," by M. Busser, a pleasing enough little piece, without being particularly original; it was charmingly interpreted by Mdlles. Guiraudon and Tiphaine, MM. Dumontier and Badiali; the other was a comic opera by M. Hirschman, entitled "L'Amour à la Bastille," with music of the lighter order, well rendered by Mdlle. Laisné, MM. Clément and Bernaert.

M. Chevillard continues to develop his qualities as an excellent conductor, and the continued prosperity of the Lamoureux concerts seems thus to be assured. There was a first hearing, at the concert of the 5th ult., of fragments of a little-known work by César Franck, "Rebecca"; sacred music of somewhat austere simplicity. The programme also included the first performance of two numbers from "Scènes de ballet," by M. Hué—a prelude and a "Bacchanale," which obtained great applause, and "L'Enterrement d'Ophélie," by M. Bourgault-Ducoudray, a poetical little piece, pervaded by a sweet and expressive melancholy. At the concert of the 12th ult. we heard for the first time the "Prélude de Fiona," of M. Bachelet, a thoughtful and cleverly-written work, not, however, calculated to attract the attention of the general public. Bach's Concerto for two violins received a fine interpretation on the part of MM. Géloso and Secchiari.

At the Colonne concert of November 21 the first performance here of the overture of Wagner's "Die Feen" was included in the programme, a fact which perhaps merits a record, although little more than a historical interest attaches to this early work of the Bayreuth master. Herr Richard Strauss, of Munich, took part in the concert of November 28, and conducted his symphonic poems "Tod und Verklärung" and "Till Eulenspiegel," two works which, with their rich instrumentation and elevated æsthetic qualities certainly prove him to be a musician of the first rank. He was greatly applauded, as was also Madame Strauss, who interpreted some of her husband's songs. At the concert of the 5th ult. M. Dubois conducted his own violin concerto, a work exceedingly well written for the solo instrument, but wanting in inspiration. M. Marteau was the interpreter, and both he and the composer scored a distinct success. At the same concert Mr. Harold Bauer, just returned from a brilliant tour in Germany and elsewhere, gave a superb and immensely appreciated interpretation of the Pianoforte Concerto in E flat by Beethoven. The concert of the 12th ult., owing to the indisposition of M. Colonne, was conducted by MM. Vincent d'Indy and Pierné.

The famous Société des Concerts du Conservatoire gave its first performance of the season on the 12th ult., the programme including Weber's "Euryanthe" Overture, a Rhapsody by Lalo, and Beethoven's Ninth Symphony. These concerts now take place at the Opéra, which was completely filled by an enthusiastic audience.

THE Borough of West Ham Choral and Orchestral Society inaugurated its fourth season in a most spirited manner at the Stratford Town Hall, on November 25. The places of honour were allotted to Sir Frederick Bridge's hymn "The Rock of Ages" and the cantata "The Flag of England," each conducted by the composer, who was most warmly received. The extremely favourable verdict delivered on the spirited setting of Rudyard Kipling's stirring ballad at the Albert Hall in May was fully ratified by the audience at the other extremity of the metropolis. The patriotic tone of the work, so clearly and effectively reflected in the music, was acknowledged in the heartiest manner, the performance being a triumph for all concerned. The solo part was impressively sung by Miss Teresa Blamy, and the choralists ably acquitted themselves. With Mr. Douglas Powell as soloist the numerous beautiful passages in "The Rock of Ages" also went well. Eaton Faning's "Song of the Vikings," H. E. Nichol's "Ode to Music," and violin and organ solos, by Miss Marie Rodriquez and Mr. G. B. Gilbert respectively, were also in the programme, these works being given under the baton of Mr. W. Harding Bonner, the painstaking conductor of the Society.

MR. H. LANE WILSON'S vocal recital at Steinway Hall, on the 9th ult., included several old English melodies arranged by himself. Among them were "The happy lover," "The beggar's song," "False Phillis," and "Come, let us be merry," to the contrasted spirit of which he personally did justice. Equally successful was Miss Hilda Wilson with "The Forsaken Maid" and "The Slighted Swain," though her artistic gifts naturally found more grateful exposition in Schubert's lovely "Ave Maria" and "Impatience." In other fields of vocal composition, Mr. Lane Wilson's excellent voice and style were acceptably displayed in Handel's "Si tra i ceppi," which every baritone is expected to sing at some stage of his career, and in Massenet's "Pensée d'Automne." Miss Kate Bensted made a most favourable impression by a refined rendering of "As when the dove" ("Acis and Galatea"). Mr. Bernhard Carrodus, the violinist, played with taste and breadth Saint-Saëns's Rondo and Wieniawski's "Légende." The pianist was Miss Eva Lonsdale, who gave a dashing Etude in C sharp minor of her own composition, and Schumann's "Traumeswirren" with adequate point. She also joined Mr. Carrodus in a neat performance of a duet by Niels Gade.

THE Trinity College concert (mainly choral) at St. Martin's Town Hall, on the 14th ult., proved such a success that the policy adopted will doubtless be repeated when occasion offers. Dr. Henry J. Pringuer has done so much with the choir that it can now take its fair share of responsibility in public performances. Some of the members have excellent voices, and the conductor has the entire force, mustering nearly a hundred, completely under control. They sang with precision and commendable regard for expression Mendelssohn's noble setting of the Psalm "Judge me, O God," Benet's delightful old madrigal "All creatures now are merry," Smart's part-song "The Break of Day," Callcott's glee "O snatch me swift," Jackson's "Lord Ullin's Daughter," and Eaton Faning's "Moonlight," a catalogue sufficiently varied to enable judgment to be formed respecting the qualifications of the choir. There is no reason why such a body should not be a powerful support to the College. Miss Buehnell, Miss Suzanne Stokvis, Miss Florence Hughes, and Mr. Richard F. Tate sang solo airs tastefully, and instrumental pieces were contributed by Mrs. Blazey (pianoforte), Mr. Claude J. E. Russell (pianoforte), and Miss Edith Evans (violoncello).

THE Hampstead Academy Choir did credit to Madame Lottie Williams, the principal of the Academy, and to Mr. George Aitken, the conductor, at a concert at the Vestry Hall, Haverstock Hill, on the 7th ult. "Acis and Galatea" formed the first part, and proved thoroughly acceptable to the large audience, its melodious solos and picturesque choruses being rendered with both care and intelligence. It is eminently gratifying to meet with a body of choralists so appreciative of Handel's secular masterpiece. Madame Minna Fischer sang the beautiful music of Galatea with taste and feeling, and her claims to approval were increased by the fact that she took up the part at short notice owing to the indisposition of Miss Margaret Hoare. Mr. Reynolds Wood (Acis), Mr. J. G. Blanchard (Damon), and Mr. Adolph Fowler (Polyphemus) also evinced zeal and spirit. For the second part there were Mr. Hamish MacCunn's "Lord Ullin's Daughter," sung by the choir with appropriate energy; solo pieces by the artists named, and instrumental performances by Madame Lottie Williams (pianoforte), Mr. Ernest Harman (violin), and Mr. H. T. Halfpenny (violoncello). Mr. Herbert L. Cooke was at the organ.

ON the 14th ult. the Catford Choral Society, under the direction of Mr. Alfred Furse, gave its first concert of the present season at St. James's Hall, Forest Hill. The programme included Professor Stanford's "The Revenge" and Sir Frederick Bridge's "The Flag of England," both of which works were sung with precision and dramatic point. There was a tendency to sing flat in Professor Stanford's ballad, but the choir atoned for this by its excellent rendering of "The Flag of England," which work was evidently greatly relished by choir and audience alike. The soprano solo was sung very effectively by Miss Kate Cherry. The choir was also heard in Mr. Eaton Faning's "The Miller's Wooing" and G. A. Macfarren's "Three Fishers." Miss Ethel Brissenden, the hon. accompanist to the Society, played in good style and with excellent effect Mendelssohn's "Variations Sérieuses" and Moszkowski's "En Automne," and Mr. Herbert Walenn's violoncello solos, by César Cui, Noel Johnson, and Popper (of course!), deserve special mention. Miss Cherry and Mr. Samuel Masters sang a number of songs, and Mr. Furse conducted with his usual energy and inspiriting enthusiasm.

THE Stoke Newington Choral Association, one of the most promising of younger suburban musical societies, distinguished itself, on the 6th ult., at Morley Hall,

Digitized by Google

Hackney, by a telling performance of Cowen's "St. John's Eve." This charming cantata, which is not so frequently given in central London as its merits warrant, was closely followed by the large audience, to many of whom it was evidently a novelty. Miss Maggie Purvis sang the grateful music of the heroine with thorough appreciation of its opportunities; Madame Marie Hooton was satisfactory as the elderly Margaret, and the representatives of the young Squire and Robert the Villager respectively were Mr. Edward Branscombe and Mr. John Sandbrook, neither of whom missed a point. There were evidences of good material and of zealous exertion in the chorus (numbering 120), and the capability of the orchestra may be estimated from the fact that it comprised many members of the 1st Life Guards' band. Mr. Percy Taylor conducted with care and decision. A society evincing so much discrimination and enterprise in the choice of works for performance deserves hearty encouragement.

MR. RICHARD GOMPERTZ opened his second chamber concert, on the 1st ult., at the Queen's (Small) Hall, by a meritorious performance of Professor Villiers Stanford's third String Quartet in D minor (Op. 64), first produced by this party on November 11, 1896. Since that date the composer has quickened the time of the slow movement from Adagio molto to Andante (quasi-fantasia), a remarkable alteration, but one which certainly accentuates the dramatic nature of the number. The quartet greatly improves on further acquaintance and is undoubtedly one of the finest examples of British chamber music. The other quartets heard on this occasion were those in E flat by Karl Dittersdorf and in A minor (Op. 51, No. 2) by Brahms. Miss Agnes Witting was a very acceptable vocalist. Dvorák's characteristic Quartet in E flat (Op. 51), Brahms's beautiful example in like form in B flat (Op. 67, No. 3), and the first movement from the Quartet in C minor (posthumous), by Schubert, were the instrumental works selected for the third concert, on the 15th ult., the enjoyment of which was much increased by the finished singing of Miss Fillünger.

AMONG other concerts which have been given since our last issue, and which space does not permit us to notice in detail, are the following: at St. James's Hall, on the 7th ult., by Miss Maude Rihll; at the Queen's (Small) Hall, by Mr. Harold Charles, on the 3rd ult., whose programme included Miss Lehmann's song cycle "In a Persian Garden"; Mr. Luard Selby, on the 8th ult., when several of his own compositions were played and sung; Miss Hilda Stapylton, on the 17th ult.; and a vocal and pianoforte recital, on the same evening, by Miss Olga Leonow and Mr. Charles Inches. At Steinway Hall, by Madame Teresa Tosti and Herr Rudolph Panzer, on November 24; Miss Gertrude Lynes, on November 26; Madame Madeline Freidheim, on November 30; Master Basil Gauntlett (who has made considerable progress in his playing since last heard), on the 7th ult.; and Mrs. Halkett, on the 13th ult. At Kensington Town Hall, on the 14th ult., a chamber concert by Miss Winifred Holiday and Mr. Jasper Sutcliffe. At Portman Rooms, on November 27, the 4th and 11th ult., by the Mozart Society; and on the 16th ult. by the North London Orchestral Society.

MR. NEWLANDSMITH, a very promising young violinist, who has formed a party for the performance of instrumental trios, gave a chamber concert, on the 7th ult., at the Queen's (Small) Hall, that demands notice by reason of the enterprise shown in the production of two new works of this class, and the performance of Smetana's fine Pianoforte Trio in G minor (Op. 15), introduced to London music-lovers at one of Mr. Walenn's chamber concerts on November 17, 1896. The most important of the novelties was a Pianoforte Trio in A (Op. 54), entitled "Walzer Märschen" (Fairy-tale waltzes), by Edward Schütt. This proved a vivacious and dainty composition, consisting of three movements. The other trio, by J. C. Holbrook, only comprised movements severally headed "Weakness" and "Strength." The former was perceptible in both numbers, the latter in neither. The executants of the above works were Messrs. Newlandsmith, Earnshaw, and Mummery, whose playing exemplified the saying that "union is strength." Some songs were sung by Miss Lucia Fydell and recitations given by Miss Margery Dale.

MR. WALTER FORD'S vocal recital at Queen's (Small) Hall, on the 14th ult., possessed somewhat uncommon features. The only instrumental pieces were supplied by the ensemble pianists, Messrs. Ross and Moore, who with remarkable unanimity of feeling gave on two pianofortes Chopin's Rondo in C, the Allegro con spirito from Mozart's Sonata in D, and the waltzes arranged by Brahms specially for Frau Tausig thirty years ago. Mr. Ford's agreeable and cultivated tenor was heard in numerous songs in German, Italian, and English. He sang with notable refinement Brahms's "Minnelied" and immediately afterwards showed refreshing brightness of style in Jensen's animated ditty "Margreth am Thore." Miss Fillünger, who was in excellent voice, gave with splendid effect Schubert's "Die junge Nonne," admirably accompanied by Mr. Henry Bird. Her rendering of the same composer's "Der Jüngling an der Quelle" and "Auflösung" was also replete with sympathetic touches.

THE Victoria Madrigal Society at St. Martin's Town Hall, on the 2nd ult., marked the commencement of its second season by bringing forward Massenet's "Narcissus." This early work of one of the most popular of French composers manifests little of the dramatic power since developed, but it is graceful, melodious, and generally pleasing. There is nothing in the score to surpass the "Hymn to Apollo," a really telling number. Mr. Samuel Masters sang the air of Narcissus, Miss Lucy Clarke gave the recitatives describing the legend, and judgment characterised the rendering of the choruses under the baton of Dr. G. Stanley Murray. Walmisley's madrigal "Sweete Floweres" and Pearsall's "Who shall win my lady fair?" were sung with adequate expression. Justice was also done to the conductor's "Conscript Song" and setting of "The Sands of Dee." Mr. Frederic Griffith, the pianist, both in the cantata and in the solos, did valuable service.

MADAME BERTHA MOORE, at Steinway Hall, on the 3rd ult., introduced an elegant musical piece called "Good night, Babette," one of Mr. Austin Dobson's poems set to music by Miss Liza Lehmann. The spice of dramatic element contained in this work and in the musical duologue "The Holly Branch" (by Charles Thomas and Harriet Young) effectively afforded the concert-giver scope for manifesting her ability. She derived conscientious assistance from Mr. Charles Copland in the first-named and from Mr. Franklin Clive in the second. In these works, as in some solos, Madame Bertha Moore sang with the utmost refinement. Miss Lehmann's music has the great recommendation of melodious charm and general brightness. The vocalists, besides the two already mentioned, who appeared were Madame Dews, Messrs. Lawrence Kellie, Kennerley Rumford, and Maurice Farkoa. Miss Edie Reynolds and Mr. Paul Ludwig respectively played violin and violoncello pieces.

MADAME ADELINA DE LARA'S exceptional ability as a pianist was unmistakably manifested at her concert at the Hampstead Conservatoire, on the 13th ult. As a soloist her efforts were restricted to a group of short pieces by Chopin, Schubert, Rachmaninoff, and Stojowski; but her brilliant and finished performance of these testified to a command of differing schools of thought and expression, combined with the artistic skill to do justice to each. Her interpretation was characterised by the highest intelligence. Madame de Lara also did her share towards a spirited reading of Schumann's Quartet in E flat, in which her associates were Messrs. John Dunn, Hobday, and Ould. Mr. Dunn neatly played Bruch's Romance for violin in A major (pianoforte accompaniment given by Mr. Landon Ronald), and Arensky's Trio in D minor (Op. 32), rendered by Madame de Lara and Messrs. Dunn and Ould, brought the concert to a satisfactory termination.

MR. ARNOLD DOLMETSCH gave distinction to the ballad concert, on November 24, at the Queen's Hall, by a recital of music of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, on the instruments for which the music originally was written. The effect was heightened by the performers being dressed in Louis XV. costumes, and although the tones of the virginals and harpsichords are too weak for this spacious hall, the pieces by Christopher Simpson and Marin Marais, played by Miss Hélène Dolmetsch on a fine specimen of the viol da gamba, were fully appreciated. Mrs. Bertha Moore and Mr. Charles Copland sang a quaint pastoral dialogue between a Nymph and a Shepherd, by John Jenkins, and Mr. Jack Robertson was equally successful in his rendering of a charming setting, by an anonymous composer, of Shakespeare's "Oh, Mistress mine."

Digitized by Google

AN important and interesting prize competition, open to competitors of all nationalities, has been instituted by Herr Ludwig Boesendorfer, the eminent pianoforte manufacturer of Vienna, to signalise the twenty-fifth anniversary of the inauguration of the Boesendorfer Concert Hall by Hans von Bülow, and as a tribute to the memory of the great pianist. Three prizes of 2,000, 1,200, and 800 crowns respectively are to be given for a Pianoforte Concerto with orchestral accompaniment, the successful competitors retaining all proprietary rights in their compositions, and the scores to be sent in to arrive in Vienna not later than July 1 in the present year. Four pianists—viz., Herren Epstein, Leschetizky, Rosenthal, and Grünfeld, and an orchestral conductor, Herr Gericke, are the members of the jury.

THE Bernhard Carrodus String Quartet gave the third concert of the series on the 16th ult., at Queen's (Small) Hall. The leading feature of the programme was Dvorák's imposing Quintet for pianoforte and strings, played with considerable breadth and with correct spirit throughout by Mrs. Ralph, Messrs. B. M. Carrodus, R. Carrodus, W. Richardson, and J. F. Carrodus. In artistic value the next best performance was that of Bach's Chaconne, by Mr. Bernhard Carrodus, who, besides mastering the executive difficulties of the composition, displayed taste and knowledge of effect. Mr. Wilson Pember was the vocalist in lieu of Madame Bertha Moore.

SPOHR'S "Last Judgment" was given in St. Paul's Cathedral on November 30, according to the excellent custom which, for several years, has prevailed here on the first Tuesday in Advent. Nowhere is this impressive work heard to greater advantage, the vast area of the building serving to intensify its lofty dignity and earnestness. The general rendering of the oratorio by which Spohr is best remembered in this country was as satisfactory as on preceding occasions under the conductorship of Sir George Martin, which is saying a great deal. The solos, like the choruses, were devotionally rendered, and there was an efficient orchestra.

A DRAMATIC and musical recital was given by the Misses Cheeseman at the Athenæum, Camden Road, on the 2nd ult., assisted by Mr. Haydn Grover, Mr. Arthur Walenn (vocalist), Mr. Gerald Walenn (violin), Miss Mary Philpott (accompanist), and Mr. William Stewart (reciter). A special feature was the recitation, by Miss F. Cheeseman, of Longfellow's "Old Clock on the Stairs," with musical accompaniment by Haydn Grover; the music, which was very melodious, gave additional effect to the words, without in any way being obtrusive, and the piece was very heartily applauded.

MR. WILLIAM A. GARDNER gave his seventh annual concert at Stanley Hall, Highgate Road, on the 14th ult. The most notable feature of the concert was the artistic rendering of Saint-Saëns's Concerto in G minor by Mr. Gardner's pupils, Miss Grace Furniss and Miss Ethel Bayne, accompanied by the orchestra of the Highgate Philharmonic Society, directed by Mr. Gardner. Other artists who appeared were Miss C. A. Waldron, Mr. P. Sessions, Mr. d'Arcy Clayton, Mr. H. Wynn Reeves (violin), and Mr. Bertie Withers (violoncello).

THE West Ham Philharmonic Society gave its first concert of the season at the Town Hall, Stratford, on the 9th ult. The chief feature of the evening was Beethoven's C minor Symphony, which was performed in a very creditable manner. The orchestral performances gave evidence of good work being done, the Prelude to the third Act of "Lohengrin" receiving a well-merited encore. The soloists were Miss Lilian Coomber, Rev. R. Spurrell, and Miss Agnes Comerford (harp), who were much appreciated. Mr. H. A. Donald ably conducted.

THE violoncello is scarcely a handy instrument for a young lady, but it is now essayed by many aspirants, and certainly Miss May Fussell displayed remarkable facility as a violoncellist at the recital she gave with Miss Gwendolyn Toms in the Queen's (Small) Hall, on Thursday, the 9th ult. The programme was well arranged, and both artists played well, the latter as pianist. Mr. Plunket Greene's vocal selections were interesting, as they always are, and the entertainment was therefore enjoyable, though particulars need not be cited.

MR. ALFRED J. DYE'S annual concert took place at the Queen's (Small) Hall, on the 13th ult., when he received valuable assistance from Madame Zippora Monteith, Miss Lucie Johnstone, Mr. Charles Chilley, Mr. Arthur Walenn, Mr. Herbert Walenn, and Miss Beatrice Thorne. Mr. Dye introduced some new songs, and also took part, with Miss Beatrice Thorne and Mr. Herbert Walenn, in Mendelssohn's D minor Trio and a pianoforte duet by the late C. E. Stephens. Mr. R. Woodthorpe Browne acted as accompanist.

THE choral society connected with Park Church, Highbury, performed a selection from "The Messiah," with orchestral accompaniment, on the 7th ult. The principals were Miss Kate Munro, Miss Lillian Corner, Mr. James Girdwood, and Mr. Seemer Betts. The programme included Haydn's "Clock" Symphony and German's "Henry VIII." Dances, which were rendered by the orchestra in a very effective manner. Mr. Frederick Meen presided at the pianoforte and Mr. John Cook conducted.

THE Cologne String Quartet, consisting of Messrs. Willy Hess, F. Grutzmacher, J. Schwartz, and W. Seibert, gave its first concert in London on the 2nd ult., at the Queen's (Small) Hall, and rendered Brahms's Quartet in A minor (Op. 51, No. 2), and others by Beethoven in C (Op. 59, No. 3) and Schumann in A minor (Op. 41, No. 1), in a manner that indicated great individual ability and careful rehearsal. We shall probably hear more of this party next season.

MR. PERCY SUCH, the gifted young English violoncellist, gave a very successful first concert on the 3rd ult., at the Berlin Singakademie, with the co-operation of the Philharmonic orchestra, and in Schumann's A minor Concerto and another by Davidoff gained the admiration of his audience. The Allgemeine Musik-Zeitung praises the young artist's brilliant technical acquirements and considers his future to be a most promising one.

MR. LEONARD C. F. ROBSON delivered, on the 6th ult., a concert-lecture, at the Abney Literary Society, Stoke Newington, on Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream." The lecturer was assisted in the musical illustrations by Miss M. L. Cowley, Mrs. H. Green, Mr. Bertram Gill, and Mr. H. W. Bull. An interesting feature of the occasion was a selection from "Pyramus and Thisbe," a mock opera by J. F. Lampe, published in 1745.

THE Bermondsey Settlement Choral and Orchestral Union gave a very successful concert in the Town Hall, Bermondsey, on the 9th ult., when Spohr's "Last Judgment" and Mendelssohn's "Hear my Prayer" were performed by full orchestra and chorus. The soloists were Miss Helen Jaxon, Miss Jessie King, Mr. James Horncastle, and Mr. R. E. Miles. Mr. John E. Borland was, as heretofore, an efficient conductor.

A SPECIAL Advent service was held at Holy Trinity, Bishop's Road, on the 16th ult., when Handel's "Messiah" was sung by the choir of the church, augmented by eighty vocalists. The solo parts were taken by Master Percy Hale, Mr. Percy Coward, Mr. Harry Stubbs, and Mr. George Stubbs. Mr. F. G. James played the trumpet obbligato, the organist was Mr. H. W. Richards, and Mr. Edwin Barnes conducted.

MASTER H. VERNON WARNER, son and pupil of Mr. H. E. Warner, organist of Kew Church, played before the Prince and Princess of Wales, and the influential house party recently gathered together at Welbeck Abbey, on the 16th ult., by special invitation of the Duchess of Portland, when the little boy's wonderful performances on the pianoforte were greatly appreciated and commended by the distinguished guests.

Digitized by Google

ON the 12th ult. a performance of Spohr's "Last Judgment" was given at the Church of St. Mary Brookfield, Dartmouth Park Hill. The solo parts were sung by Master Hale (soprano), Mr. H. Sowerby (tenor), and Mr. W. P. Rivers (bass). A string orchestra of about twenty members assisted in the performance, and Mr. Herbert Try played the organ part, specially arranged by Dr. J. M. Ennis, who conducted.

THE first concert of the Civil Service Vocal Union's seventeenth season was given in the Great Hall at Cannon Street Hotel, on the 2nd ult., under the conductorship of Mr. Alfred Furse, when the choir sang excellently. Solos were contributed by Messrs. Samuel Masters, W. A. Peterkin, T. J. Morgan, and Herbert Walenn (violoncello). Mr. J. H. Maunder accompanied.

THE Kyrle Choir, under the direction of Mr. F. A. W. Docker, gave a performance of Rossini's "Stabat Mater" and Spohr's "Last Judgment," on the 1st ult., in All Hallows' Church, Bromley-by-Bow, when the soloists were Madame Edwardes, Madame Lily Howard, Mr. John Probert, and Mr. Reginald Chalcraft. Dr. E. H. Turpin accompanied on the organ.

"THE Holy Supper" (Wagner) will be performed at the Queen's Hall Saturday Symphony Concerts in the early part of 1898. As this work requires four separate male-voice choirs, special aid from tenors and basses will be required. Any gentlemen willing to assist at the rehearsals and performance are requested to apply immediately to Mr. Robert Newman, Queen's Hall.

MISS MACDOUGALL'S second recital, which took place on the 2nd ult., at the Queen's (Small) Hall, was made distinctive by her artistic rendering of Cornelius's "Weinachtslieder" ("Christmas-eve songs"), a charming song cycle of six lyrics in this composer's best manner. Very pleasant variety was given by the pianoforte playing of Miss Katie Goodson.

AT the special Advent services at St. Mark's, Kennington, selections were given from Gounod's "Mors et Vita," with orchestra. Gounod's "Marche Solennelle" was played as concluding voluntary. The solos were sung by members of the choir, assisted by Miss Georgina Tear. Dr. Hamilton Robinson presided at the organ and Mr. Warren Tear conducted.

MR. ERNEST MEADS and Mr. Edgar Archer gave a dramatic and vocal recital at the Hampstead Conservatoire, on the 3rd ult., with much success. Mr. Meads, in his varied recitations, proved himself to be an excellent elocutionist, and Mr. Archer, the possessor of a fine bass voice, sang several songs with intelligence and musical feeling.

Apropos of the Donizetti centenary, the Berlin Allgemeine Musik-Zeitung presents its readers with an amusing and clever portrait of the composer, done by himself, which, though a caricature, is easily recognisable and characteristic. The original, which has never before been reproduced, is in the possession of Herr Siegfried Ochs, in Berlin.

THE Dean and Chapter of Southwark have voted a present of fifty guineas to Dr. A. Madeley Richardson, "in acknowledgment of his great services this year in bringing the music of St. Saviour's to a remarkable state of efficiency in so short a time."

MISS CATHERINE RODBARD gave a successful concert on the 13th ult., at the Assembly Rooms, Balham, when she was assisted by Madame Antoinette Sterling, Mr. Fredk. Ranalow, Miss Marian Jay, Miss Mary Whittingham, and Mr. Claude Pollard.

SPOHR'S "Last Judgment" was sung at St. Anselm's, Davies Street, on the evening of the 16th ult. and on the following Sunday afternoon, under the direction of Mr. David J. Thomas. Soloists and choir acquitted themselves very creditably.

HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN has been graciously pleased to accept a copy of Alicia Adélaïde Needham's new album of twelve "Hush Songs." T.R.H. the Princess of Wales and the Duchess of York have also been pleased to receive copies.

SPOHR'S "Last Judgment" was sung at the Parish Church, Lewisham, on the 1st and 15th ult., by the regular choir of the church, under the direction of Mr. Frederic Leeds, who efficiently presided at the organ.

AT the Central American Exhibition at Guatemala, which has just been closed, the "Bechstein" pianofortes were awarded the first prize—the highest distinction given at the Exhibition.

MR. ALBERT JOLL, organist and choirmaster of St. George's Church, Campden Hill, Kensington, gave an organ recital at St. George's Church, Perry Hill, Catford, on the 1st ult.

AT the meeting of the Abbey Glee Club, on the 14th ult., Sir John Stainer was proposed as an honorary member by the president, Sir Arthur Blomfield, and seconded by Mr. North.

AN orchestral and choral society is being formed at Stepney Meeting House. Mr. John Howell, address as above, will supply all particulars.

FOREIGN NOTES.

BERLIN.—A cycle of Mozart's operas was given at the Royal Opera from the 4th to the 11th ult., including, on the 5th ult. (the death anniversary of the composer), the performance of "Maurerische Trauermusik," the Symphony in G minor, and the Requiem. The Meiningen orchestra, under the direction of Herr Fritz Steinbach, gave four concerts here during November, its performances being greeted with storms of applause. The receipts of these concerts are to be devoted to a Brahms monument fund. A most enthusiastic reception was also accorded to the Paris pianist, M. Risler, who appeared here for the first time in one of the Philharmonic concerts and at recitals given by him on the 4th and 11th ult. The well-known Stern'sche Gesangverein was able, on the 6th ult., to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of its foundation. Professor Julius Stern, the founder, retired from the conductorship in 1874, and among subsequent conductors were Max Bruch, Ernst Rudorff, and, for a short period also, Julius Stockhausen. The festival concert given on this occasion included the "Gloria" from Beethoven's "Missa Solennis," the third part of Schumann's "Faust," and numbers by Bach, Mendelssohn, Bruch, Gernsheim, and others. Frau Marie Goetze, Herr van Rooy, and Professor Joachim were amongst the soloists.——Dr. Martin Blumner, the excellent director of the Singakademie, was the recipient of numerous tokens of esteem on the occasion of his seventieth birthday, on November 21.——An interesting and valuable biography of Brahms, with an analysis of his works, from the pen of Dr. Heinrich Reimann, has just been issued by the Berlin Publishing Society "Harmonie."——On the occasion of the recent fiftieth anniversary of the death of Mendelssohn, the composer's grave in the old churchyard of Holy Trinity was visited by a great number of musicians and art-lovers in the capital. It had been decorated by a profusion of flowers and wreaths contributed by members of the Mendelssohn family and by numerous admirers of the master. Amongst the latter may be instanced the Oratorio Society of Baltimore, whose handsome laurel wreath, as having been the first to arrive, occupied a conspicuous place attached to the simple marble cross which marks the final resting-place of the composer of "Elijah."

BRESLAU.—Herr Theodor Loewe, the enterprising director of the Opera in this town, is to be the successor of the late Herr Pollini in the management of the Hamburg Stadt-Theater.

BROOKLYN (NEW YORK).—Under the auspices of a number of German choral societies here, a monument erected to Mozart was unveiled, on October 23, in Prospect Park, a choir of some thousand voices taking part in the proceedings.

CARLSRUHE.—The romantic opera "Alar," by Count Geza Zichy, was brought out at the Court Theatre for the first time on the 3rd ult., the birth anniversary of the Grand Duchess of Baden, under the direction of Herr Mottl, and very well received, the composer being present. The work is likewise being mounted at the Berlin Opera.

CASSEL.—A posthumous opera by Spohr, who for many years filled the post of Capellmeister at the Court Theatre in this town, is to be brought out at this Institution in the course of the present season. Some special interest attaches to this work, entitled "Der Kreuzfahrer," inasmuch as in it the composer of "Jessonda" is said to have foreshadowed to some extent the artistic principles underlying the modern music-drama.——Herr Heinrich Zöllner's new comic opera, "Das hölzerne Schwert," was brought out here with great success on November 24, and is now also being mounted at Berlin, Leipzig, and Schwerin.

DARMSTADT.—The new comic opera "Das Unmöglichste von Allem," by Anton Urspruch (the libretto of which is an adaptation of Lope de Vega's comedy "El mayor impossibile"), already successfully produced recently at Carlsruhe, again achieved a brilliant success on its first performance at the Hof-Theater, on November 30. Both the composer and the principal performers were recalled many times.

DESSAU.—A musical curiosity! The Duke of Anhalt is the possessor of an antique clock to which some musical works are attached playing a number of tunes. These, according to tradition, are all of them original compositions by Johann Sebastian Bach, and emanating from the period (1717-1723) during which the great Cantor was in the service of Prince Leopold of Anhalt-Koethen. The tunes, with their harmonies, have recently been noted down, for the first time, by the Dessau Court-Capellmeister, Herr August Klughardt, and are about to be published by Messrs. Breitkopf and Härtel, of Leipzig.

HAMBURG.—The first performance here of Herr Bungert's "Odysseus" took place at the Stadt-Theater on November 26, when the reception accorded to the remarkable work by a numerous and critical audience was as enthusiastic as on the occasion of its première last year, at the Royal Opera, Dresden.

LEIPZIG.—Dr. Georg Göhler, of Zwickau, has been appointed the successor of Dr. Kretzschmar in the conductorship of the famous Riedel'sche Gesangverein. Dr. Kretzschmar, whose retirement from the post on account of ill-health is greatly regretted, has, however, accepted the honorary directorship of the Society.——Herr Leo Grill, the highly esteemed professor at the Conservatorium, celebrated last month the twenty-fifth anniversary of his appointment at that Institution.

MADRID.—M. Saint-Saëns was the conductor of three orchestral concerts of the Sociedad de Conciertos, last month, devoted entirely to his own works; and, on the 12th ult., the first performance here of "Samson et Dalila" took place at the Opera-house. The distinguished French composer, who was received throughout with marked enthusiasm, has been nominated a member of the Royal Academy of Spain.

MILAN.—Signor Guiseppe Martucci, the distinguished musician and director of the Bologna Conservatoire, gave a series of three concerts here, between the 5th and 12th ult., devoted respectively to compositions by Bach, Beethoven, and Schumann.

PRAGUE.—Zdenko Fiebich has completed a new opera, entitled "Scharta," which will be first brought out at the National Theatre here. Smetana's grand opera "Libuscha" was given at this theatre on November 25, the excellent conductor, M. Adolf Cěch, being accorded a perfect ovation by the audience on the occasion, which marked the thirty-fifth anniversary of his official connection with the establishment.

RIGA.—Herr Hans Schmidt, a well-known musician and poetical author here, has had the happy idea of connecting by a series of elucidatory verses, founded upon Tieck's story of "Die schöne Magelone," the cycle of Brahms's Lieder bearing the same title. The verses are intended to be recited at intervals between the different songs and greatly assist in the general appreciation of the purport of the latter

ROME.—At the initiative of Signor Ernesto Pacelli, municipal Councillor, it is proposed to establish in this capital a National Lyrical Theatre, to be subventioned both by the municipality and by government, and where performances of opera are to be given throughout the year. The closing of La Scala Theatre cannot fail to assist in the realisation of this important scheme.

STETTIN.—A new choral work, "The Maid of Orleans," the libretto founded upon Schiller's drama, the music by Professor A. Lorenz, was produced for the first time on November 25, by the Musikverein, and proved a work of considerable importance, replete with melody and dramatic energy. It met with an enthusiastic reception under the direction of the composer.

VIENNA.—Tschaïkowsky's "Eugèn Onéguin" was given for the first time at the Imperial Theatre, on November 19, under Herr Mahler's direction, and with Fräulein Renard and Herren Schroedter and Ritter in the leading parts. The reception of the work was a very favourable one. A new three-act operetta, "Die Blumen-Mary," by Herr Carl Weinberger, the composer of several successful similar works, is making full houses just now at the Theater-an-der-Wien.——It is stated that the authorities here have recently discovered, in a desk formerly in the possession of Brahms, a very considerable number of letters written to the master by Wagner, Liszt, and others, which cannot fail to prove of special and peculiar interest.

WEIMAR.—Wagner's "Siegfried" was produced at the Court Theatre for the first time on the 2nd ult., the performance (without any of the customary "cuts"), under Herr Stavenhagen's direction, being an excellent one. The periodical "crisis" in the principal conductorship at the Court Theatre has again set in, Herr Stavenhagen having sent in his resignation, which has been accepted by the Grand Duke. As in the case of his predecessor in office, Eugene d'Albert, differences with the Intendant, Herr von Vignau, are said to be the cause, and the conductorship will once more become vacant at the end of the present season.

WIESBADEN.—The twenty-fifth anniversary of the Wiesbaden Conservatorium für Musik, under the able direction of Herr Albert Fuchs, was celebrated, on November 26, by a concert of chamber music, and by an excellent performance, on the following day, of Handel's "Acis and Galatea," with Herr Mottl's amplifications of the score.

OBITUARY.

"CARADOG" is dead: he drew his last breath at Pontypridd on the 3rd ult. The patronymic of "Caradog"—which name signifies "Full of love"—was GRIFFITH RHYS JONES, and therefore it is hardly necessary to say that he was a Welshman. He was born at Trecynon, December 21, 1834, became a village blacksmith, and afterwards a hotel proprietor. But his claims to notice in these columns are as a well-known and enthusiastic choir leader in the Principality, where he had a deservedly high reputation. He was an accomplished violinist, and while still in his teens aspired to become a choir leader. The first Eisteddfod choir he trained—he was then only nineteen—he led to victory. It consisted of only seventeen performers and the test piece was Beethoven's "Hallelujah to the Father!" The chief event in the career of "Caradog" was when he brought a large choir from South Wales to compete at the National Music Meetings at the Crystal Palace in 1872 and 1873. On the latter occasion one of the Welsh boys who sang in the chorus has since become known to fame—his name is Ben Davies. Those who were present on the former occasion are not likely to forget the tremendous effect made by these enthusiastic Welsh singers in Mendelssohn's "The night is departing" under the still more enthusiastic direction of the victorious "harmonious blacksmith"—"Caradog."

We regret to record the death, on the 5th ult., at Cardiff, after a lingering illness, of FREDERICK ATKINS. The deceased musician was born at Cromhall, Gloucestershire, in 1830, but when very young he came to Cardiff, where he has lived nearly all his life. Until 1889 Mr. Atkins was organist of St. John's Church, Cardiff, where he had been a chorister. His other organ appointments included the Roman Catholic Church at Cardiff, to which he was appointed at the age of twelve. At one time he held a mastership at Cowbridge Grammar School, and went to Oxford with a view of entering the Church. Mr. Frederick Atkins, who was well known and highly respected in Cardiff and South Wales, took the degree of Bachelor in Music, at Oxford, in 1859, at the same time as Sir John Stainer. His son, Mr. Ivor Algernon Atkins, is the recently appointed organist of Worcester Cathedral.

Digitized by Google

JOHN DAVIES, of Dowlais, died on the 3rd ult. The deceased, born in 1831, was the brother of Mr. Dan Davies, the renowned choir leader, to whom he acted as assistant; and on several occasions the famous Dowlais Choir was triumphant at Eisteddfod contests under his direction.

HOFRATH POLLINI, the well known operatic manager, died suddenly, of heart disease, on November 26, at Hamburg. He has been director of the Hamburg Stadt-Theater since 1874, an Institution which he raised to a leading position in Germany, particularly as regards the performance of opera. Not a few young vocalists, who subsequently obtained celebrity, have gained their first operatic experience at the Hamburg Stadt-Theater. In 1882, as will be remembered, the distinguished impresario, with Dr. Hans Richter as conductor, gave the first representations in England of Wagner's "Die Meistersinger" and "Tristan und Isolde," at Drury Lane Theatre. Herr Pollini (whose real name was Bernhard Pohl) was born at Cologne in 1838, and began his career as an operatic baritone at the theatre of his native town. He was only recently married to the well known prima donna, Mdlle. Bianca Bianchi.

Madame RÉTY, a once famous singer under her maiden name of Amélie Faivre, died in Paris, on November 20, at the age of sixty-one. She was for a number of years principal contralto at the Théâtre Lyrique and created the part of Siebel in Gounod's "Faust." Her husband, the late M. Charles Réty, was for many years the musical critic of Le Figaro.

The death is announced, on the 12th ult., at Leipzig, of ENGELBERT ROENTGEN, the highly esteemed leading violinist of the Gewandhaus orchestra and of the Stadt-Theater. He was a pupil of David, at the Leipzig Conservatorium, and for many years a professor of his instrument at that Institution. A highly cultured musician and violinist of the first rank, he but rarely appeared in public as a solo performer, owing to his extreme nervousness. He was the author of some valuable critically revised editions of the violin compositions of Bach and Beethoven. His son, Julius Roentgen, is well known in the musical world as an excellent pianist and composer.

We have also to record the following deaths:—

On November 13, at Dorchester (Mass.), GIDEONI OLIVIERI, vocal teacher in the United States, aged forty-six.

On November 15, at Czernowitz, FANNY EMERY, pianist and teacher.

On November 21, at Cologna Veneta (Italy), VINCENZO MELA, formerly well-known vocalist, composer of "Il Casino di Campagna" (produced in Milan and Paris) and other operatic works, aged seventy-six.

On November 28, at Leipzig, FERDINAND SIEGERT, for many years conductor of the Lehrer Gesangverein, aged forty-eight.

On November 29, at Breslau, REINHOLD SUCCO, organist and vocal teacher and professor at the Berlin Royal Hochschule für Musik since 1874, in his sixty-first year.

On the 5th ult., at New York, ADOLPH NEUENDORFF, composer and orchestral conductor, aged fifty-four.

On the 7th ult., at Creuznach, HERMANN WOLF, composer and musical director.

CORRESPONDENCE.

A SUGGESTION TO MUSIC PUBLISHERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE MUSICAL TIMES."

SIR,—May I be permitted to make another suggestion to music publishers? It is that the date of publication should be printed on all works issued by them. The want of this is greatly felt by those who have to search into past musical history, and it would be a distinct gain to future writers were such a plan adopted.—Yours truly,

R. A. M.

CREYGHTON'S CATHEDRAL MUSIC.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE MUSICAL TIMES."

SIR,—A voice from this part of the world may perhaps add a little interest to the music of the above-named composer. I was a chorister boy in Wells Cathedral in 1852, and subsequently assistant-organist under the late C. W. Lavington. It was a part of my duty to copy music for the choir, and I have good cause to remember the trouble it gave me to decipher the notes from the worn-out copies. Creyghton's music was very popular with our choir at the time, and visitors who came to Wells invariably requested copies of the services and anthems which they heard finely rendered by the choir. In 1851 it was not so easy to obtain printed music, and then only folio size, which was very expensive. It was, therefore, a saving to the Chapter to have the music copied, and it was largely my duty to do the work. It is possible that I may be blamable for incorrectly transcribing it. I wrote rapidly, and as I knew the music by heart I may have frequently trusted too much to my memory.—Yours faithfully,

J. SUMMERS.

The College of Music, Perth, Western Australia.

BRIEF SUMMARY OF COUNTRY AND COLONIAL NEWS.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for any opinions expressed in this summary, as all the notices are either collated from the local papers or supplied to us by correspondents.

ARMAGH.—On the 14th ult. a special Advent service was held in the Cathedral. The music selected for the occasion was "The Last Judgment" (Spohr). The solos were impressively sung by the following members of the choir: Masters Mitchell, Blair, and Marks; Messrs. Crook, Owen, Tarleton, Archer, Dean, and Merriman. The choruses were excellently sung. Dr. T. Osborne Marks (organist and choirmaster) presided at the organ.

BASINGSTOKE.—The Choral Society gave its first concert of the ninth season on the 14th ult., when the programme included Stanford's "Phaudrig Crohoore," Elgar's chorus "It comes from the misty ages," and part-songs. The Society was assisted by "The Recital Trio"—Miss Marie Olson (pianist), Miss Ethel Barns (violinist), and Mr. Charles Phillips (vocalist). Mrs. H. Seymour and Mr. Cyril Miller were the accompanists and Mr. H. E. Powell conducted.

BEDFORD.—The 124th concert of the Bedford Musical Society was given in the Corn Exchange, on the 7th ult., when a commendable deviation from the beaten track was made in the presentation of Handel's "Joshua." The chorus was in excellent form, and they evidently enjoyed singing Handel's vigorous music. The principals were Miss Alice Simons, Miss Jessie Browning, Mr. Reginald Brophy, Mr. Ralph Pearse, and Mr. S. Heath. Unfortunately there was no organ, which proved to be a serious drawback in such a performance. Mr. P. H. Diemer, who conducted, as usual, had a specially hearty greeting on his first public appearance after his recent illness.

BIGGLESWADE.—The Choral Society performed Handel's "Messiah" with much acceptance on the 9th ult. The band and chorus, of about 100 performers, gave an excellent account of themselves, and the soloists—Miss Annie Norledge, Miss Lizzie Neal, Mr. Harry Stubbs, and Mr. W. H. Brereton—admirably acquitted themselves in their respective parts. Miss Miller and Mr. E. P. Cooper presided at the pianoforte and organ respectively, and Mr. J. G. Cooper conducted with conspicuous ability.

BLACKBURN.—The first concert of the twenty-third season of the St. Cecilia and Vocal Union took place on the 13th ult., when a fine performance of Mendelssohn's "Elijah" was given in the Exchange Hall. The choir specially distinguished itself and showed the results of skilful training—tone and attack being most commendable; and the efforts of the band, numbering about fifty performers, were equally praiseworthy. The principal vocalists were Miss Alice A. Simons, Miss Jessie Browning, Mr. Bright Jones, and Mr. Watkin Mills. Mr. S. H. Broughton and Mr. John Ward rendered valuable assistance at the harmonium and organ respectively, and Mr. James H. Rooks conducted with marked tact and efficiency.

BRADFIELD.—Gade's "Erl-King's Daughter" was performed at Bradfield College, on the 18th ult., by the members of the College Musical Society, the soloists being

Digitized by Google

Mr. Ivor Foster, and Masters Brooke and Bannerman, pupils of Bradfield College. The chorus, numbering about fifty boys and masters, has much improved. The orchestra, consisting chiefly of boys, under the leadership of Mr. J. K. Hayes, of Oxford, besides accompanying the cantata, gave a spirited rendering of two movements from a Haydn symphony. Mr. N. Cawley was most efficient in filling in the wind parts on the pianoforte, and Mr. Abdy Williams conducted.

BRIERLEY HILL.—The Choral Society gave Mendelssohn's "St. Paul," on the 20th ult., in the Town Hall. The artists were Miss Aimée Wathen, Miss Minnie Hackett, Mr. J. T. Birch, and Mr. B. Poole. The band was led by Mr. D. Poole and conducted by Mr. Joseph Lewis, Mr. J. S. Lewis presiding at the organ.

BRIGHTON.—The Brighton and Hove Philharmonic Society gave a concert at the Hove Town Hall, on the 17th ult., when the orchestra played Beethoven's Symphony in C minor, Schumann's Concerto in A minor (soloist, Miss Beatrice Hallett), the Prelude to the "Meistersingers," and one of Dvorák's Sclavonic Dances, under the able direction of Dr. F. J. Sawyer. The artists who assisted were Miss Lilian Burgess, Mr. Francis Harford (vocalists), and Mr. Charles Fry (reciter.) During the evening Dr. Sawyer played on the beautiful new Willis organ Guilmant's "Lamentation," and, with the orchestra, Handel's Concerto in B flat for organ and strings, the latter piece being conducted by Mr. John Crapps.——The Brighton Sacred Harmonic Society performed Costa's "Eli" in the Dome, on the 19th ult., with full band and chorus, under the able and experienced direction of Mr. Robert Taylor. The chorus specially distinguished themselves, and the solo numbers were safe in the hands of Miss Lea Bowles (a native of Brighton), Miss Edith Hands, Mr. James Gawthrop, and Mr. Bantock Pierpoint. Mr. P. J. Starnes efficiently presided at the organ.

CHARD.—The Chard Harmonic Society gave a successful concert on the 19th ult., when it performed Gade's "Erl-King's Daughter," with a band and chorus of about eighty performers. The piece was admirably rendered, the principals being Miss Marion Harris (soprano) and Mr. Montague Worlock (baritone), of Bristol. The Rev. H. Dymond, rector of Chaffcombe, was the honorary conductor; Mr. Frank L. Bartlett, of Salisbury, led the orchestra; and Mr. F. G. Risdon was the pianoforte accompanist.

CHELMSFORD.—An excellent performance of "The Messiah" was given, on the 7th ult., by the Musical Society, under the conductorship of Mr. F. R. Frye. The soloists were Miss Ella Wright, Madame Eliza Thomas, Mr. Iver McKay, and Mr. W. H. Brereton.

DARLINGTON.—The Darlington Choral Society, which has now been established for upwards of forty years, gave a Christmas performance of Handel's "Messiah" in the Drill Hall, on the 16th ult., when the band and chorus numbered 200 executants. The choruses were admirably sung, and the band showed its capabilities to the greatest advantage. The principal vocalists were Madame Zippora Monteith, Madame Marie Bellas, Mr. Tom Child, and Mr. Duncanson. Mr. G. Newby Watson led the band, Mr. C. Stephenson presided at the organ, and Mr. T. Henderson was an efficient conductor.

DOVER.—A performance of Handel's "Messiah" was given by the Dover Choral Union, in the Town Hall, on the 8th ult. The soloists were Mrs. Glover Eaton, Miss Emily Foxcroft, Mr. James Gawthrop, and Mr. Henry Sunman. There was a full band and chorus of 150 performers, conducted by Mr. H. J. Taylor, and Mr. F. E. Fletcher presided at the organ.

DUDLEY.—The first concert of the season of the Dudley Choral Society was given on the 1st ult., and consisted of Schumann's Advent Hymn, Elgar's "The Black Knight," Haydn's String Quartet in G (Op. 64, No. 4), and Mendelssohn's "Loreley." The solo music in the first and last-mentioned works was rendered by Miss Aimée Wathen. Mr. H. Süch was the leader of a small but efficient band, and Dr. A. T. Froggatt conducted. The string quartet was played by Messrs. Süch, Woolley, J. A. Beard, and J. Owen.

DUNEDIN (NEW ZEALAND).—The Dunedin Orchestral Society gave its third concert of the tenth season at the Agricultural Hall, on October 6, under the capable direction of Mr. James Coombs. The chief features of the programme were Schubert's "Unfinished" Symphony and the Overture to Mendelssohn's "Son and Stranger," which, with other selections, were excellently rendered by the band of fifty-five performers. Mr. E. Parker was the leader and Mrs. W. Manson sang.

ECCLES.—The Eccles Parish Church Choral Society gave its first concert of the season on the 13th ult., of which the chief feature was Dr. Hiles's "The Crusaders." The tenor solos were effectively sung by Mr. W. Lalande, Miss Mia Withers played two violin pieces by Wieniawski, Madame Hahn conducted, and Mr. C. Taylor was the accompanist.

EXETER.—Mr. S. J. Bishop, of Exeter Cathedral, gave two concerts at the Royal Public Rooms, on November 26, when he was assisted by Madame Gomez, Madame Norledge, Mr. Chilley, Mr. William Henley, and Mr. Arthur Cooke. The programmes were as varied as the performers were excellent. The Exeter Orchestral Society gave a concert in the same rooms, on the 2nd ult., when the programme included the Prelude to Act III. of "Lohengrin," the Allegretto from Beethoven's Eighth Symphony, Schubert's ballet music from "Rosamunde," Auber's Overture "La Sirene," and other selections. Dr. Edwards gave a fine rendering of Mendelssohn's Pianoforte Concerto in G minor, and Miss Annie Boucher sang with much acceptance. Mr. R. B. Moore conducted with skill, and Mr. C. E. Ball was an efficient leader.——The Exeter Oratorio Society gave its "annual festival" in the Victoria Hall, on the 17th ult., the work selected being "Elijah." The chorus, of over 200 voices, and the band, of sixty performers, were admirably balanced and rendered Mendelssohn's familiar music in a manner which calls for high praise. The general verdict was that the oratorio had been magnificently rendered. The principal vocalists were Madame Emily Squire, Miss Lilian Hovey, Mr. Humphrey Jones (of the Cathedral choir), and Mr. Watkin Mills. The organ was safe in the skilful hands of Mr. Vinnicombe, and Dr. Edwards (of Barnstaple) deserves hearty congratulations upon having conducted the performance with marked success.

HANDSWORTH.—The first concert of the fourth series of the St. James's Choral Society was held in the Public Hall, on the 16th ult., when Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise" was performed. The solos were taken by Miss Constance Yorke and Mr. Hamlyn Crimp. The accompaniments were played by Miss Cleobury (pianoforte) and Mr. B. Nock (harmonium). Mr. Richard Richards, organist of St. James's Church, conducted.

HIGH WYCOMBE.—Rossini's "Stabat Mater" was the chief attraction at the concert given by the Wycombe Choral Association, at the Central Hall, on the 6th ult., when the performance of this ever popular work reflected great credit on all concerned. The soloists were Miss Louise Burns (the possessor of a beautiful voice), Miss Lucie Johnstone, Mr. Ager Grover, and Mr. Robert Grice, all of whom sang with much intelligence and acceptance. Mr. J. G. Wrigley, as on former occasions, discharged the duties of conductor and accompanist with conspicuous ability.

HOLLINWOOD.—Dr. C. Lee Williams's cantata "Bethany" was sung at the Parish Church, on Sunday, the 12th ult., under the direction of Mr. John E. Campbell, organist of the church. The soloists were Mr. H. Chadderton, Mr. A. Liley, Miss May Allen, and Master Willie Ashworth.

KNOTTINGLEY.—Rossini's "Stabat Mater" was the work selected for performance by the Knottingley Choral Society, in the Town Hall, on the 14th ult., to open its second season. The band and chorus gave evidence of the careful training it had received under its talented conductor, Mr. Mark Hill. The soloists were Mrs. L. E. Wilson, Miss Madeline Stone-Humphreys, Mr. Austin Mahony, and Mr. Walter Radley, who sang their respective parts with sympathetic feeling. Miss Metcalfe was the pianoforte accompanist and Mr. Chambers led the band.

Digitized by Google

Leeds.—The members of the Woodhouse Moor Wesleyan Choir, assisted by numerous friends from the neighbouring choirs, gave a most successful performance of selections from "The Messiah" on Sunday, the 12th ult. The principals were Madame Ashworth (soprano), Miss M. Rankine (contralto), Mr. T. Brearley (tenor), and Mr. W. C. Luddaby (bass). Mr. A. H. Ashworth conducted and Mr. H. Horsfall (organist and choirmaster of the church) presided at the organ. The Rev. A. Hoyle gave a short and most suitable address on Handel and his work.

Plymouth.—The Plymouth Philharmonic Society gave a most successful concert in the Guildhall, on the 1st ult. The programme included Weber's "Der Freischütz" Overture, Saint-Saëns's Prelude to "Le Déluge," German's "Richard III." Overture, Massenet's "Le dernier Sommeil de la Vièrge" (for strings only), and Elgar's "Imperial March," all of which were excellently rendered by the orchestra. Variety was introduced into the selection by two double choruses from "Israel in Egypt," some part-songs, and a characteristic chorus, "Cobbler's Song," by Mr. Hermann Löhr, which was performed for the first time. Mrs. Helen Trust, Miss Clara Butt, and Mr. Arthur Walenn contributed some well-chosen songs with much acceptance, and Mr. Arthur C. Faull conducted his forces of 270 performers in a manner deserving of the highest praise.——Mr. Winterbottom gave his second symphony concert, in the Stonehouse Town Hall, on the 10th ult. The programme included A. N. Wight's Overture "The merry month of May"; Serenade for flute, violin, and viola, by Beethoven; a Symphony (Op. 8), by F. W. Moreton (organist of St. James the Great Church, Devonport), performed for the first time; Serenade for strings, Mozart; and German's Suite in D minor.

Wellington (New Zealand).—Mr. Maughan Barnett's Musical Society gave the second concert of its third season, on October 7, in the Opera House. The first part of the programme consisted of Hamish MacCunn's "Lord Ullin's Daughter," and a concert-overture in E minor and an unaccompanied madrigal by Mr. Maughan Barnett; the second part being devoted to Mendelssohn's "Athalie," with Madame Eveleen Carlton and the Misses Parsons as soloists.——The Wellington Orchestral Society's concert took place on October 26. Included in the programme were Cherubini's "Abencérrages" Overture, the valse from Tschaïkowsky's "Dornröschen" ballet suite, the Scherzo, Notturno, and Wedding March from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream," "Toréador et Andalouse" from Rubinstein's "Bal Costume" Suite, and two of Brahms's Hungarian Dances. Mr. Maughan Barnett, who conducted, played Beethoven's E flat Pianoforte Concerto, and Mr. J. Hill sang songs by Godard, Chaminade, and MacDowell. Mr. J. H. O. Schwartz conducted the Beethoven Concerto.

Woking.—A successful concert was given in the Public Hall, on the 14th ult., by the new Orchestral and Choral Society. The first part consisted of Stainer's "Daughter of Jairus," and the difficulties of the work were attacked in very creditable style by both chorus and orchestra. The second part included the march and chorus from "Tannhäuser," "Maritana" Overture, and Handel's "Largo." Mr. T. E. Gatehouse was leader of the orchestra and solo violinist, in which latter capacity he was encored for a fine performance of Hubay's "Scènes de la Czarda." The vocalists were Miss Ogilvy, Mr. E. Binford Eyre, and Mr. W. H. Brereton, and Mr. Patrick White conducted with marked ability. We heartily wish the promoters of concerted music in Woking the success which so auspicious a beginning deserves.

Organ Appointments. — Mr. S. Exton Swaffield, Organist and Choirmaster to All Saints', Windsor.—Mr. Harrison White, Organist and Choirmaster to New Court Chapel, Tollington Park.

Choir Appointments.—Mr. John A. Lash, Choirmaster to All Saints' Church, Forest Gate.—Mr. Harold E. Mackinlay, Choirmaster to Islington Presbyterian Church.—Mr. Nelson Stokes, Choirmaster to SS. Simon and Jude, Salford.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

 Notices of Concerts, of which programmes must invariably be sent, and other information supplied by our friends in the country, must be forwarded to us immediately after the occurrence; otherwise they cannot possibly be inserted.

Our correspondents will oblige by writing all names as clearly as possible, as we cannot be responsible for any mistakes that may occur.

Correspondents are informed that their names and addresses must accompany all communications.

We cannot undertake to return offered contributions; the authors, therefore, will do well to retain copies.

Notice is sent to all subscribers whose payment (in advance) is exhausted. The paper will be discontinued where the Subscription is not renewed. We again remind those who are disappointed in obtaining back numbers that, although the music is always kept in stock, only a sufficient quantity of the rest of the paper is printed to supply the current sale.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

R. G. W. H.—(1.) Thomas Oliphant's book on Madrigals is out of print. The "Brief account of the Madrigal Society" and "A short account of Madrigals" are only small pamphlets, which are superseded by his "La Musa Madrigalesca," a book of 338 pages, published in 1837, which might be picked up second-hand. (2.) There is no other work on the history of madrigals other than those you mention. Sir Frederick Bridge's Gresham Lectures we believe are not published. (3.) The madrigal by Arcadelt, "Il bianco e dolce cigno," is published in The Musical Times, No. 183, where it is transposed from F to A, and the words are freely adapted to the music. (4.) In singing "The Dirge of Darthula" (Brahms) to English words, the "h" should be sounded in both instances ("Darthula" and "Truthil"); in "Selàma" the second syllable should be sung with a broad "a."

B. H.—The "Twelfth Mass," usually attributed to Mozart, is classed by such reliable experts as Köchel as amongst the doubtful works of that composer. Parts of it may have been written by Mozart, but the music is very unequal, and the Mass may not improbably be the work of some other composer, "touched up" by the composer of the "Jupiter" Symphony.

H. J. B.—The music of the song entitled "The Skipper and his Boy" was composed by Virginia Gabriel to words written by Hamilton Aidé. We are unable to state if the incident of the song is a true one, or to give the period to which it refers, or to localise the part of the coast at which it happened, supposing it to have really occurred.

Musicus.—The ten scholarships were competed for at the National Training School of Music on February 12, 1876, five being given by Mrs. Freake, four by the Society of Arts, and one by Mr. Frank Morrison. There were 109 candidates, and the examiners were Messrs. John Hullah, W. G. Cusins, and Otto Goldschmidt.

X.—The large organ by Mr. Willis still stands in the Alexandra Palace. You are probably thinking of the instrument, by another builder, formerly in the Albert Palace, Battersea, but which, upon being sold, was removed to Scotland.

Baritone.—The following metronomic rates are suggested for Mendelssohn's "Three Preludes and Fugues for the Organ" (Op. 37). No. 1. ♩ = 84; ♩. = 66. No. 2. ♩. = 56; ♩ = 63. No. 3. ♩ = 144; ♩ = 66.

W. B. (Morpeth).—The 2-4 signature at the "Amen" in Elvey's "In that day" undoubtedly indicates a quicker rate of speed than in the preceding solo and chorus, as suggested by the character of the music.

Digitized by Google

DURING THE LAST MONTH.

Published by NOVELLO, EWER & CO.

BEETHOVEN, L. VAN—"The Ruins of Athens." A Cantata. New Edition. The English words written and adapted by PAUL ENGLAND. 1s. 6d.

ELGAR, EDWARD—"Chanson de Nuit." Pour Violon et Piano. 1s. 6d.

GAUL, A. R.—"The Union Jack." 1st Violin, 6d.; 2nd Violin, 6d.; Viola, 6d.; Violoncello and Bass, 6d.; Wind Parts, 3s.

HIGGS, H. M.—"Our Queen" (Quick March). Arranged for Military Band by HENRY T. DUNKERTON. 5s.

THE VILLAGE ORGANIST.—A series of Pieces for Church and general use. Edited by J. STAINER and F. CUNNINGHAM WOODS. Volume I. (Books 1 to 6), cloth, 6s.

MARSHALL, FLORENCE A.—The Choral Dances (Minuet, Waltzes, and Galop). For Two-part Chorus of Girls' Voices, from "Prince Sprite," a Fairy Operetta. 1s.

MACKENZIE, A. C.—Overture to J. M. Barrie's "The Little Minister." Arranged for Pianoforte Duet by the COMPOSER. 2s. 6d.

—— Overture to J. M. Barrie's "The Little Minister." 1st Violin, 1s.; 2nd Violin, 1s.; Viola, 1s.; Violoncello and Bass, 1s. 6d.

—— Three Dances (Entr'actes), from "The Little Minister." 1st Violin, 1s.; 2nd Violin, 1s.; Viola, 1s.; Violoncello and Bass, 1s. 6d.

HANDLEY, EDWARD—Words only, "The Children's Supplement," bound together with words only "Hymns Ancient and Modern," No. 3. Cloth, 7d.

FACER, THOMAS—"A Merry Christmas." Cantata. For Schools. The words written by SHAPCOTT WENSLEY. Staff and Tonic Sol-fa Notations combined, 1s. Tonic Sol-fa, 6d. Book of words, 7s. 6d. per 100.

MOONIE, J. A.—"A Woodland Dream." Cantata. For Solo Voices and Two-part Chorus, with Accompaniment of small Orchestra. For the use of Schools, Academies, and Colleges. Written by SHAPCOTT WENSLEY. Staff and Tonic Sol-fa Notations combined, 2s. Tonic Sol-fa, 9d. Book of words, 7s. 6d. per 100.

THE SCHOOL MUSIC REVIEW. No. 67. Contains the following Music in both Notations:—"The stars were shining." Carol. For Mezzo-Soprano Solo and Two-part Chorus. By JOSIAH BOOTH. "See the morning star." Christmas Carol For S.S.A. By E. G. MONK. Common Chromatics. Tunes suitable for Memorising. 1½d.

NOVELLO'S SCHOOL SONGS.—Edited by W. G. MCNAUGHT. Published in two forms. A. Voice Parts, in Staff and Tonic Sol-fa Notations, with Pianoforte Accompaniment, 8vo size; B. Voice Parts only in Tonic Sol-fa Notation.

		A.	B.
No. 289.	O world, how fair dost thou seem. FRANZ ABT	1½d.	—
„ 388.	Sabbath Repose .. .. „	1d.

BLAIR, HUGH—"Blessed are they who watch." A Cantata for Advent. For Soprano Solo and Chorus, with Hymns to be sung by the Congregation. Words only, 7s. 6d. per 100.

BRIDGE, F.—"The Cradle of Christ" ("Stabat Mater speciosa"). A Canticle for Christmas. Words only, 5s. per 100.

BARNBY, JOSEPH—"O perfect love." Hymn. For Holy Matrimony. The words written by D. F. BLOMFIELD. (No. 361. Novello's Parish Choir Book.) 1½d.

FIELD, J. T.—(in A). Pater Noster. (No. 364. Novello's Parish Choir Book.) 2d.

BISHOP, HENRY—"Majestic night." Four-part Song. For A.T.T.B. (No. 310. The Orpheus.) 4d.

PURDAY, C. H.—"Lead, kindly Light." The words written by JOHN HENRY NEWMAN. (No. 366. Novello's Parish Choir Book.) 1d.

SUTTON, MRS. CLAUDE HOPE—(in E flat). Magnificat and Nunc dimittis. 3d.

HYSON, J. B.—Diamond Commemoration Hymn, June 20, 1897. 2d.

MORETON, H. VERNON.—The Compline Hymn, "Te Lucis ante Terminum" (A. & M., No. 15). 2d.

PORTMAN, C. G.—Burial Sentences. 1d.

BERGMANN, FRITZ—"I sing the birth." A Christmas Carol. The words written by BEN JONSON. 1½d.

GAUL, ALFRED R.—"Angels, from the realms of glory." Carol. For Church use. Words by JAMES MONTGOMERY. 3d.

DURING THE LAST MONTH—continued.

JONES, LLEWELLYN—"Thou art Heaven's Twilight." A Christmas Carol. The words written by ELIZABETH CONSTABLE ELLIS. 1d.

PRICE, E. A.—"In fields by night the Shepherds lay." Carol. Staff and Tonic Sol-fa Notations combined. 1d.

WHATMOOR, FREEMAN—"Hear ye not the Angel legions?" Christmas Carol. Words by FRANK SILVESTER. 1d.

EGGLESTON, JOHN W.—"Where shall wisdom be found?" Anthem. For Soprano Solo, Alto, Tenor, and Bass. 3d.

HANDEL, G. F.—"O Lovely Peace." Anthem. For Harvest or other Festivals. (No. 588. Novello's Octavo Anthems.) 4d.

BAIRSTOW, ED. C.—"Sweet day, so cool." Four-part Song. S.A.T.B. (Unaccompanied). The words written by GEORGE HERBERT (1593-1632). (No. 782. Novello's Part-Song Book.) 3d.

BUCK, DUDLEY—"In absence." Quartet. For Male Voices (T.T.B.B.). The words written by PHŒBE CARY. (No. 309. The Orpheus.) 3d.

GOUNOD, CH.—"Judex sedenti in Throno" ("Mors et Vita"). (No. 736.* Novello's Octavo Choruses.) 4d.

HOLLINGWORTH, WM.—"When evening spreads her modest gray." Glee. For A.T.T.B. 4d.

H. W. B.—Lockers Park School Song. The words written by R. H. P. 2d.

MARKS, T. OSBORNE—"Who is Sylvia?" Part-Song. For T.T.B.B. The words written by SHAKESPEARE. 3d.

RELTON, HELEN E.—"Songs for Children." Words by R. L. STEVENSON and Others. 6d.

WALMISLEY, T. F.—"Music, all powerful." Glee. For Male Voices. The words written by H. K. WHITE. (No. 311. The Orpheus.) 4d.

COENEN, WILLEM—"Thou wilt remember us" (in E flat). Sacred Song. For Soprano or Tenor. The words written by the Rev. HORATIUS BONAR. 2s.

HAYNES, BATTISON—"The ould plaid shawl." Song. The words written by FRANCIS A. FAHY. No. 1, in B flat; No. 3, in D. 2s. each.

PUGH-EVANS, D.—"The widow's lullaby" ("Cân y weddw"). Song. For Mezzo-Soprano or Contralto voice. The Welsh words written by the Rev. BEN DAVIES, English translation by R. MORRIS LEWIS. 2s.

WEST, JOHN E.—"Marjorie." Gavotte. For the Pianoforte. 2s.

FORD, ERNEST—Melody from the "Faust" Ballet. For Violin and Pianoforte. 1s. 6d.

NOVELLO'S PUBLICATIONS in the TONIC SOL-FA NOTATION. Edited by W. G. MCNAUGHT.

No. 1003.	Home is home, however lowly. S.A.T.B.	G. M. GARRETT	1d.
„ 1004.	Behold my servant. S.A.T.B.	.. F. BRIDGE	1½d.
„ 1005.	The shepherd's waking. S.A.T.B.	EATON FANING	1½d.
„ 1007.	Come, shepherds, follow me. S.A.T.B.	JOHN BENET	1d.
„ 1008.	Dickory, dickory dock. S.S.A.	H. W. SCHARTAU	1d.

F. MENDELSSOHN BARTHOLDY—"Midsummer Night's Dream." Vocal music only. 4d.

HINTS ON CHOIR TRAINING

BY

W. G. McNAUGHT.

REPRINTED, WITH ADDITIONS, FROM

"THE SCHOOL MUSIC REVIEW."

This Pamphlet is intended for Choralists as well as for Choral Society Conductors. All the points that contribute to make a fine choral performance are succinctly treated. For Choirs preparing to enter choral competitions these hints will be found especially useful. The heads under which adjudicators take notes are described and discussed, and a list of suitable test pieces for competitions is given.

Price Twopence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

CONTENTS.

	Page
1898	9
Mr. Walter Macfarren (with Portrait)	10
From my Study	15
Occasional Notes	18
Facts, Rumours, and Remarks	20
John Bacchus Dykes	22
Church and Organ Music	23
The Royal Choral Society	24
Engelbert Humperdinck at the Philharmonic Society	24
Richard Strauss at the Wagner Concerts	25
Queen's Hall Saturday Afternoon Concerts	26
Lamoureux Concerts	26
Crystal Palace Concerts	26
Royal Artillery Band	26
Offenbach's "Grand Duchess" at the Savoy	26
Monday and Saturday Popular Concerts	27
British Chamber Concerts	27
Grieg Recital	27
Herr Buchmayer's Historical Pianoforte Recitals	27
Pianoforte Recitals	28
Madame Blanche Marchesi's Recital	28
Amateur Orchestral Concerts	28
Royal Academy of Music	29
Royal College of Music	29
Guildhall School of Music	30
Musical Association	30
The Highbury Philharmonic Society	31
"King Olaf" at Camberwell	31
"The Redemption" at Portsmouth	31
Mr. Willem Coenen's Pianoforte Recital	32
Mr. Cowen's "Scandinavian" Symphony in Milan	32
"St. Ludmila" in Vienna	32
Mancinelli's "Ero e Leandro" in Madrid	33
Reviews	33
Music in Birmingham	39
,, Bristol	39
,, Cambridge	40
,, Dublin	40
,, East Anglia	40
,, Edinburgh	41
,, Glasgow	41
,, Liverpool	41
,, Manchester	42
,, Northumberland and Durham	42
,, Nottingham	43
,, Oxford	43
,, Sheffield and District	43
,, Southern Counties	44
,, Yorkshire	44
,, Paris	45
Four-part Song—"Now is my Chloris fresh as May."—Battison Haynes	35
Anthem—"There is a green hill far away."—Ch. Gounod. (Extra Supplement.)
General News (London)	46
Foreign Notes	49
Obituary	50
Correspondence	51
Brief Summary of Country News	51
Answers to Correspondents	53
List of Music published during the last Month	54

THE MUSICAL TIMES.

SCALE OF TERMS FOR ADVERTISEMENTS.

	£	s.	d.
Two Lines	0	3	0
Three Lines	0	3	4
For every additional Line	0	0	10
Half a Column	2	0	0
A Column	4	0	0
A Page	7	10	0

Special Pages (Cover, &c.) by arrangement.
A remittance should be sent with each Advertisement.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

To ensure insertion in proper position Advertisements should reach the Office NOT LATER THAN THE TWENTIETH of each Month.

MISS ELLA CHALLIS (Soprano)
Oratorio, Opera, Concerts, At Homes.
48, Tollington Park, N.

MADAME CONWAY (Soprano)
444, Moss Lane East, Oxford Road, Manchester.

MISS MARJORIE EATON (Soprano)
"CORNELIA."—"Miss Eaton sang most charmingly."—Norwood News.
Oratorios, Concerts. 237, Katherine Street, Ashton-under-Lyne.

MISS FANNIE SELLERS (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, Recitals, &c., Crag Cottage, Knaresbro'.

MISS ALICE SIMONS (Soprano)
(Late Parepa-Rosa Scholar and Medalist, R.A.M. Pupil of Signor Manuel Garcia).
Open to receive Engagements in Oratorios, Ballad Concerts, &c.
Apply to 19, Stamford Hill, N.

MISS LILIAN TURNBULL (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Ballad Concerts, At Homes, Banquets, &c.
Address, 10, Cecile Park, Crouch End, N.

MISS MARY WILLIS (Mezzo-Soprano)
For Oratorios, Operas, Concerts, or Private Lessons, address, 9, Rochester Terrace, Camden Road, N.W.

MISS FLORENCE CROFT (Contralto)
MR. D'ARCY CLAYTON (Tenor)
75, Brecknock Road, N.W.

MRS. KATE LEE (Contralto)
For Oratorios, Concerts, Pupils, &c.
41, Rosary Gardens, Gloucester Road, S.W.

MR. J. G. BLANCHARD
(Principal Tenor, Italian Church, Hatton Garden).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Address, 41, Savernake Road, N.W.

MR. WILFRED LALANDE (Tenor)
5, Elm Grove Weaste, Manchester.

MR. HARRY TUDOR (Tenor)
For Concerts, Oratorios, Opera Recitals, &c.
Springfield, Gorton, Manchester.

MR. BINGLEY SHAW (Baritone) has returned to Town from his successful Concert Tour in South Africa. Now booking ENGAGEMENTS for Oratorio, Operatic, and Ballad Concerts, Masonic Ceremonies, Church Festivals; also Singing Lessons. 64, Berners Street, W.

MR. ERNEST TURNER (Baritone), now booking Oratorios, Ballad Concerts, &c. Terms and Press notices, care of Bradford Concert Agency, St. George's Hall, Bradford.

MR. ROLAND HOYLE
(BARITONE)
(Of Sir Charles Hallé's and Principal Provincial Concerts).
Terms, Press notices, &c. 22, Queen St., Cheetham, Manchester.

MR. HENRY SUNMAN
(BASS)
Licentiate (Artist), R.A.M.

"THE RED CROSS KNIGHT" (Prout).—"Mr. Sunman's fine bass voice at once captured the goodwill of his audience. The composer has given some taking airs to Cœur de Lion, and Mr. Sunman's interpretation of them was marked by his usual dramatic force and artistic finish."—Leamington Chronicle, November 20, 1897.

"THE MESSIAH."—"Our local favourite, Mr. H. Sunman, sang the bass songs and recitatives with great fervour and effect, and was certainly the most acceptable soloist to the audience."—Oxford Journal, November 27, 1897.

"ELIJAH."—"The heaviest part of the solo work naturally fell on Mr. Sunman. He is the possessor of a magnificent bass voice, and this was heard to the greatest advantage in the declamatory music given to the Prophet. His rendering throughout was thoroughly conscientious and artistic, and he sang so consistently well that we cannot indicate any particular recitative or air as more deserving of praise than any of the others."—Gloucester Citizen, December 1, 1897.

"CHRISTMAS ORATORIO" (Bach).—"The bass solos were safe in the hands of Mr. Sunman, who sang the numbers allotted to him with force and dignity."—Oxford Times, December 11, 1897.

"THE MESSIAH."—"Mr. Henry Sunman is a powerful bass, and sang with the utmost acceptance."—Dover Standard, Dec. 11, 1897.

"THE MESSIAH."—"As regards Mr. Sunman, it is only necessary to mention his magnificent rendering of 'Why do the nations,' which thoroughly aroused the enthusiasm of the audience, as also did the airs 'The people that walked in darkness' and 'The trumpet shall sound.'"—Abingdon Herald, December 18, 1897.

Please address, Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford.

MISS ALICE MARY SMITH
(Mrs. Alfred Dymes)
Associate of the Royal College of Music
HARPIST.
Care of Messrs. C. Holdernesse and Co., 105, New Oxford Street, W.C.

"A splendid combination of musical talent."—Lincoln Leader.
THE CLAYTON QUARTET.
For complete or part programme.
Miss FLORENCE CROFT (Contralto).
Miss ETHEL BEETLESTONE (Violinist and Soprano).
Mr. D'ARCY CLAYTON (Tenor).
Mr. FRANK WILSON (Humorist and Baritone).
Address, Mr. Clayton, 75, Brecknock Road, N.W.

A.R.C.M. EXAMINATIONS.—Miss BEATRICE WHICKER, A.R.C.M. (certificated ex-Student of R.A.M.), gives PIANOFORTE, SINGING, and HARMONY LESSONS in West-End. Preparation for Examinations. Schools visited. Correspondence, Harmony. Address, 8, Derby Villas, Forest Hill, S.E.

Digitized by Google

MR. STEDMAN'S MUSICAL AGENCY
(Established 1877).
Artists for Opera, Theatre, Oratorio, At Homes, Banquets, &c.
Choir Boys and Girls.
58, Berners Street, W.

THE VIRGIL CLAVIER PIANOFORTE METHOD. — Mr. STIEBLER COOK, A.R.A.M., gives LESSONS on the above system (recommended by Paderewski, Von Bülow, De Pachmann). By far the most rapid and certain means yet devised for acquiring a perfect technique. For particulars, address, 17, Keppel St., Russell Sq., W.C.; or, Secretary, Metropolitan College of Music, 415, Holloway Road, N., where Mr. Cook also receives Pupils.

VOICES TRAINED (Altos included) and Sight-Singing and the PIANOFORTE TAUGHT by Mr. W. A. FROST (Vicar-Choral of St. Paul's Cathedral), at 16, Amwell Street, Myddelton Square, E.C. Many of Mr. Frost's Pupils have obtained Cathedral and other Choir Appointments in open competitions. Latest success, at St. John's, Great Marlborough Street, W.

DR. C. J. FROST requires a NON-RESIDENT ARTICLED PUPIL. Unusual advantages. 72, Wickham Road, Brockley, S.E.

MR. HENRY J. B. DART, Organist, St. James's, Paddington, W., Musical Director of Borough Polytechnic Institute, has a VACANCY for an ARTICLED PUPIL (Resident or Non-Resident). Complete preparation for the profession. 14, Kilburn Priory, N.W.

A WELL-KNOWN London Organist can receive a RESIDENT PROFESSIONAL PUPIL-ASSISTANT. Very favourable terms to talented student. Practical training and experience, and introduction when competent. Mus. Doc., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

CHORISTERS (Boys) WANTED, for West-End Church (R.C.). Terms, from £8. Apply, by letter, stating age and qualifications, to Conductor, 114, Mount St., Grosvenor Sq., W.

VOLUNTEER TENOR WANTED. Communion and Set Services. George Norris, St. Mary's, Graham Street, Eaton Square.

TENOR (£16) WANTED, at once, for Christ Church, Blackfriars Road, S.E. Two Services on Sundays and a weekly Rehearsal. Good reader indispensable. Apply, by letter, to Mr. Ernest Winchester, 16, Lambert Road, Brixton, S.W.

BASS WANTED, for St. Stephen's, Walbrook, E.C. Must be Communicant and good reader. Strictly regular attendance required. Salary, £12. Address, the Organist, giving particulars as to compass, experience, &c.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER WANTED, for Clapham Presbyterian Church. Salary, £50 per annum. Applications up to January 7 next, with copies of testimonials, to be sent to J. Brownlie, at the Church, Clapham Road.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER, or MUSIC MASTER, requires POSITION in or near London. Free after January. Excellent references. Address, A.R.C.O., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

ORGANISTS, CHOIRMASTERS, and others requiring only a limited number of their compositions, should send for DINHAM, BLYTH & CO.'S SPECIMENS (free). Kyries, Anthems, &c., from 24 copies and upwards. 28, Fenchurch Street, London. Established 1872.

AN experienced TUNER and REPAIRER seeks ENGAGEMENT in London or country. Aged 26. Tall and of gentlemanly appearance. Apply, Tuner, 202, Lewisham Rd., S.E.

TRAVELLER. — A thoroughly experienced Musician, of good address and excellent references, requires Post. Either Music or Instruments. E. Cross, Parbold, nr. Southport, Lancs.

BOOK-KEEPER and SALESMAN DISENGAGED after January 8. Pianos, Music, Small Goods. 8 years' experience. Good Refs. Moderate Salary. Apply, Entre Nous, Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

ASSISTANT-SALESMAN (smart) desires RE-ENGAGEMENT. Thoroughly experienced. Well up in Catalogues, Small Goods, &c. T., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

A VOCALIST, on receipt of 3s. 6d., will send, post-free, ADDRESSES of 300 CONDUCTORS or SECRETARIES of Choral Societies in London and the Provinces. Write, "Sop.," care of Musical News, 130, Fleet Street, E.C.

LIST of COMPOSERS who are prepared to TREAT for the SALE and EXCHANGE of their own Published Compositions (Authors' Property exclusively, Unused copies). Correspondence invited.
G. W. J. POTTER, Bedford Road, South Woodford. (Songs, &c.)
T. E. SPINNEY, 19, Endless St., Salisbury. (Songs, Te Deum, &c.)
E. CURTIS, 50, Gayford Rd., Shepherd's Bush. (Pianoforte Solos.)
W. TALBOT, 3, Main Street, Cadoxton, Barry. ("Louise Gavotte," easy, effective teaching piece.) Song, "To meet in the morn.")
JAMES J. MONK, 101, Grove Street, Liverpool.
For insertion in list, address 50, Upham Park Road, Chiswick.

COMPOSITIONS by R. MACHILL GARTH.

DRAMATIC ORATORIO, "EZEKIEL."
To be performed in Bradford March 2, by augmented Chorus and Orchestra. Owing to the demand, and to obviate the necessity of re-publishing separate Chorus Parts, Vocal Score, reduced price, 2s.
"The solo work abounds with charming melodies, the choruses are vigorous and very effectively written, and should become very popular."—Mail.

"THE WILD HUNTSMAN."
A LEGEND
For Solo, Chorus, and Orchestra. Price 1s.
"This work, we may say at once, is most melodious and dramatic. It is a masterly and scholarly example of the best features of the modern 'romantic' school of composition."—Weekly News.

"THE CHARGE OF THE LIGHT BRIGADE."
A Dramatic Setting for Chorus and Orchestra. Price 8d. Sol-fa, 4d.
"Mr. Machill Garth is in music what 'Keats' is in poetry. But he is also full of fire and enthusiasm of his own, as witness this piece."—Citizen.

FESTIVAL SETTING.
MAGNIFICAT AND NUNC DIMITTIS IN E FLAT.
Price 8d.
"This is a splendidly written service, and should rank amongst our principal festival services. It is scored for full orchestra, and, if well sung, would have a magnificent effect."—Yorkshire Musician.

ANTHEM.
"I HAVE SURELY BUILT THEE AN HOUSE."
For Solo, Tenor, Bass, Quartet, and Chorus. Price 3d.; Tonic Sol-fa, 3d.
Composed for the Largs U.P. Church, and performed by the augmented Chorus at the re-opening of the U.P. Church, Bradford.
"A cleverly written anthem, full of interest from first to last. Every choir should make a point of studying it."—News.
R. MACHILL GARTH, Inverkip, Renfrewshire.

BY LORAINE HOLLOWAY, F.R.C.O.

TE DEUM LAUDAMUS in F. Chant Form. Third Thousand. Price 2d.
TE DEUM LAUDAMUS in C. Suitable for Festivals. Price 3d.
MAGNIFICAT and NUNC DIMITTIS in C. Second Edition. Price 3d.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

THE SCHOOL MUSIC REVIEW,
PUBLISHED ON THE 1ST OF EVERY MONTH. Price 1½d. ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION, INCLUDING POSTAGE, 2s.
THE SCHOOL MUSIC REVIEW FOR JANUARY CONTAINS:—
GENERAL NOTES.
TONIC SOL-FA AND PITCH QUESTIONS.
ANSWERS TO THEORY QUESTIONS.
SPECIMEN THEORY QUESTIONS.
MUSICAL TERMS IN COMMON USE.
VOICE PRODUCTION AND READING.
SCHOOL SIGHT SINGING READER.—BOTH NOTATIONS.
BREATHING EXERCISES.
REVIEW.
CORRESPONDENCE.
DIARY OF COMING CHORAL COMPETITIONS.
MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

THE SCHOOL MUSIC REVIEW,
THE JANUARY NUMBER CONTAINS THE FOLLOWING MUSIC:—
"WERE WE FAIRIES, YOU AND I." Two-part Song for S.S. (from "King Bulbous"). By H. FESTING JONES.
"I HAD A LITTLE DOGGY." Junior Unison Song. By J. W. ELLIOTT.
SPECIMEN TESTS. FOR PUPIL TEACHERS AND SCHOOLS.
EXERCISES ON THE SHARP 4TH AND THE FLAT 7TH.
ALSO, EXTRA MUSIC SUPPLEMENT, CONTAINING "VIOLETS." Trio for S.S.A., Unaccompanied. By H. ELLIOT BUTTON. (No. 183, Novello's School Songs. Price 1d.)
The Music and Exercises can always be obtained separately. Price 1½d.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

WANTED, words for SACRED, SEMI-SACRED, and SECULAR SONG (to set to music). J. H. Moore, 25, High Street, Poplar, E.

JUBILATE DEO in C. By P. TOTTENHAM LUCAS. "A bright and spirited chant setting."—Organist and Choirmaster, Dec., 1897. Specimen from the COMPOSER, Rhossili, Swansea.

Digitized by Google

Auction Rooms specially for the Sale of Musical Property.

MESSRS. PUTTICK and SIMPSON, Auctioneers, 7, Leicester Square, London, W.C., hold SPECIAL SALES of MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS on or about the 20th of every month. Sales of Musical Libraries, Music Plates, and Copyrights, Trade Stocks, Manufacturers' Plant, &c., are held as occasion may require. Valuations for Probate or Legacy Duty, or for Public or Private Sale. Terms on application.

CASSOCKS, 800 Tailor-made (black and coloured), Priests' and Choir Surplices, Stoles, Altar Linen, Bags, &c. Cassocks and Surplices cut out and placed for making. Very moderate prices. Surplice, The Church Agency, Ltd., 6, Southampton Street, Strand.

COMPLETE AND REVISED EDITION.

THE

BRISTOL TUNE BOOK

CONTAINING

905 TUNES AND CHANTS.

A COMPANION TO ALL HYMN BOOKS.

Although nearly every denomination has its own Tune Book, the wealth of special tunes and metres contained in the Bristol Tune Book renders it indispensable to every well-equipped Choir.

		s.	d.
No. 17.	Limp Cloth	5	0
,, 18.	Cloth Boards, red edges	6	0
,, 19.	Small Edition	3	6
,, 20.	Tonic Sol-fa	3	6

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Bristol: W. CROFTON HEMMONS, Stephen Street.

And all Booksellers and Musicsellers.

Just Published.

THE CHILDREN'S SUPPLEMENT

BEING A COLLECTION OF

HYMNS FOR CHILDREN'S SERVICES

WITH MUSIC

EDITED BY

THE REV. EDWARD HANDLEY, M.A.,

Magdalen Coll., Oxford.

New Tunes have been specially written for this book by Sir JOHN STAINER, Dr. CHARLES W. PEARCE, Dr. CHARLES VINCENT, Dr. STEGGALL, Mr. MYLES BIRKET FOSTER, Dr. J. VARLEY ROBERTS, and many other eminent Musicians.

Price Three Shillings and Sixpence.

Words only, cloth, Threepence; paper covers, Twopence.

Ditto, bound together (with Words of Hymns, A. & M.), cloth, 7d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Price 3s. 6d., cloth, red edges.

THE TUNE BOOK, with the additional Tunes as used at ST. ALBAN'S, HOLBORN, containing nearly 270 Tunes, for Long, Common, Short, and Peculiar Metres; together with several Gregorian Hymns and Antiphons; the Eight Gregorian Tones; the Music of the Reproaches; the Seven Last Words; and Litany Tunes, &c. London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Third Thousand.

TE DEUM LAUDAMUS in G. By ALFRED J. DYE. Price 4d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Fourth Thousand.

MAGNIFICAT and NUNC DIMITTIS in E flat. By WILLIAM S. VINNING, Mus. Bac., Cantab. Price 3d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

GILL'S EASY VOLUNTARIES.—"Messiah," "Judas," "Elijah," "St. Paul," "Creation." 1s. each book.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Now Ready. On the 1st of each Month. 22s Cols. 2d.; Post-free, 3½d.

MUSICAL OPINION and MUSIC TRADE REVIEW. 150, Holborn Bars, E.C.

CHURCH MUSIC

BY

EDWARD BUNNETT, MUS.D., CANTAB.

SERVICES.

Two Settings of the Venite (in Chant Form). No. 1 (in G), No. 2 (in A)	2d.
Te Deum in E	3d.
Benedictus and Jubilate in E	3d.
Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E	3d.
Cantate and Deus in E	3d.
Communion Service	9d.
Preces and Responses	4d.
Tonic Sol-fa.
Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in F	1½d.
,, ,, ,, A	1½d.
,, ,, ,, E	1½d.

ANTHEMS.

If we believe. Easter Anthem	4d.
Ditto. Tonic Sol-fa	1½d.
The Lord is my Shepherd	3d.
I was glad	3d.
Ditto. Tonic Sol-fa	2d.

FOUR PASTORAL PART-SONGS.

1. O'er silv'ry waters. Four voices	3d.
2. Day is dawning. Four voices	3d.
3. Sing on, sweet bird. Four voices	3d.
4. Lo! Autumn leaves	3d.

ORGAN.

Twelve Short Easy Pieces	net 2s. 0d.
Three Short Andantes	,, 2s. 0d.
Largo in E flat	,, 1s. 0d.
Minuetto	,, 1s. 6d.
Ave Maria	,, 1s. 6d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

COMPOSITIONS

BY

T. MEE PATTISON.

CANTATAS.	Staff. s. d.	Sol-fa s. d.
The Ancient Mariner	2 6	0 6
Do. do. (Choruses only)	1 0
The Lay of the Last Minstrel	2 6
Do. do. (Choruses only)	1 0
May Day	1 0	0 6
The Miracles of Christ (Sacred)	1 0	0 6
ANTHEMS, &c.
All Thy works praise Thee (Harvest)	0 3	0 2
Thou visitest the earth (Harvest)	0 2
I know that my Redeemer liveth (Easter)	0 3
There were shepherds (Christmas)	0 2
Thirteen Offertory Sentences	0 4
Six Kyries	0 2
Te Deum laudamus (in F)	0 3

ORIGINAL ORGAN COMPOSITIONS.

Fifteen Introductory and Concluding Voluntaries	3s. 6d.
Five Concluding Voluntaries	1s. 6d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

NEW SACRED CANTATA.

THE ROLLING SEASONS

By CALEB SIMPER.

Price 1s. 6d. net; Sol-fa, 1s. net.

Orchestral parts are published.

The work occupies about thirty-five minutes in performance.

From the Alderney Gazette: "We strongly advise all organists and choirmasters to get it, for a more tuneful, melodious, and effective composition we have seldom heard. The whole of the Cantata was a treat to hear."

From the Belfast News Letter: "An attractive and splendid little work; abounds in exquisite passages—exceedingly bright and tuneful. The Symphony is a most charming number, the brass, the reeds, and strings in turn contributing to make quite a pretty tone-picture. The work was followed with great interest by the large audience, which frequently testified its approval with enthusiastic applause."

The following new Music will be ready about January 20:—

THANKS BE TO GOD. Easter Anthem	4d.
HOLY COMMUNION SERVICE in D	4d.
Complete, with Benedictus and Agnus Dei.
BENEDICITE (No 5) Very effective	2d.
STORY OF THE CROSS (No. 3)	1d.
A Devotional and Congregational Setting.

WEEKES & Co., 14, Hanover Street, Regent Street, London, W.

Chicago, U.S.A.: CLAYTON F. SUMMY Co., 220, Wabash Avenue.

Just Published.

TWO SONGS.—"The links of love" and "Love at heart." By INA CATHCART. 2s. net.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

MUSIC FOR LENT.

ANTHEMS.

*All ye who weep	Ch. Gounod	3d.
Art thou weary	C. H. Lloyd	6d.
*As pants the hart	Spohr	1½d.
Be merciful unto me	H. Purcell	6d.
Be merciful unto me	E. A. Sydenham	3d.
Be not Thou far from me, O God	F. W. Hird	1½d.
Blessed are they that mourn	A. W. Batson	3d.
Blessed Jesu, Fount of Mercy	Anton Dvorák	6d.
Bow down Thine ear, O Lord	W. Beale	1½d.
Bow Thine ear, O Lord	W. Byrd	3d.
*By Babylon's wave	Ch. Gounod	6d.
By the waters of Babylon	W. Boyce	4d.
By the waters of Babylon	H. Clarke	4d.
Call to remembrance	J. Battishill	6d.
Call to remembrance	R. Farrant	1½d.
*Cast thy burden upon the Lord	Mendelssohn	1½d.
*Come, and let us return	J. Goss	3d.
*Come, and let us return	W. Jackson	3d.
Come, let us worship	Palestrina	1½d.
*Come now, and let us reason together	R. Briant	1½d.
Come now, and let us reason together	H. W. Wareing	4d.
*Come unto Him	Ch. Gounod	2d.
Come unto Me	J. S. Bach	3d.
Come unto Me	H. R. Couldrey	3d.
Come unto Me	M. Kingston	1½d.
Come unto Me	J. S. Smith	1½d.
*Comfort, O Lord	W. Crotch	1½d.
Daughters of Jerusalem	G. J. Elvey	1½d.
Daughters of Jerusalem	H. J. King	3d.
Distracted with care	J. Haydn	4d.
*Enter not into judgment	T. Attwood	1½d.
Flee from evil	W. J. Clarke	3d.
For our offences	Mendelssohn	1½d.
From the deep	Spohr	6d.
Give ear, O Lord	C. Oberthür	1½d.
*Give ear, O Lord	T. M. Pattison	2d.
Give ear, O Shepherd of Israel	A. Whiting	3d.
Give ear unto my prayer	J. Arcadelt	1½d.
*God so loved the world	J. Goss	1½d.
*God so loved the world	M. Kingston	1½d.
*God so loved the world	J. V. Roberts	3d.
*God so loved the world	J. Stainer	1½d.
Grant, we beseech Thee	J. Booth	1½d.
Grant, we beseech Thee	M. Elvey	2d.
Grant, we beseech Thee	J. V. Roberts	3d.
Have mercy upon me, O God	J. Goss	4d.
Have mercy upon me	J. Barnby	3d.
Have mercy upon me	K. J. Pye	3d.
Have mercy upon me	J. Shaw	3d.
Have mercy upon me	J. White	1½d.
*Hear me when I call	King Hall	1½d.
*Hear my prayer	J. Kent	3d.
*Hear my prayer	Mendelssohn	4d.
Hear my prayer	C. Stroud	4d.
Hear my prayer	Winter	1½d.
Hear, O Lord	J. Goss	2d.
Hear, O Thou Shepherd	J. Clarke-Whitfeld	4d.
Hear, O Thou Shepherd	T. A. Walmisley	4d.
*Hear the voice and prayer	J. L. Hopkins	1½d.
Hear us, O Saviour	M. Hauptmann	1½d.
He in tears that soweth	F. Hiller	1½d.
Hide not Thy Face	K. J. Pye	2d.
How long wilt Thou	O. King	2d.
*Hymn of Peace	W. H. Callcott	1½d.
*I came not to call	C. Vincent	3d.
*Incline Thine ear	Himmel	1½d.
In Thee, O Lord	S. Coleridge-Taylor	3d.
*In Thee, O Lord	B. Tours	3d.
In Thee, O Lord	J. Weldon	3d.
Is it nothing to you? (Two-part, S.A.)	M. B. Foster	3d.
Is it nothing to you? (S.A.T.B.)	M. B. Foster	3d.
I will arise	C. Wood	1½d.
I will cry unto God	C. Steggall	3d.
*I wrestle and pray	J. C. Bach	4d.
*Jesu, Blessed Word of God	Ch. Gounod	1½d.
Jesu, Lord of life and glory	G. A. Naumann	1½d.
Jesu, Saviour, I am Thine	B. Steane	1½d.
*Jesu, Word of God Incarnate	Ch. Gounod	1½d.
*Jesu, Word of God Incarnate	W. S. Hoyte	1½d.
*Jesu, Word of God Incarnate	Mozart	1½d.
Jesu, Word of God Incarnate	J. White	1½d.
Judge me, O God	F. A. G. Ouseley	1½d.
Lead, kindly Light	R. Dunstan	3d.
Lead, kindly Light	C. L. Naylor	4d.
*Lead, kindly Light	J. Stainer	4d.
Lead me, Lord	S. S. Wesley	1½d.
Let my complaint	E. H. Thorne	3d.
Let the words of my mouth	J. Barnby	1½d.
Let the words of my mouth	H. Blair	1½d.
Let the words of my mouth	A. D. Culley	3d.
Let us come boldly	C. H. Lloyd	1½d.
Like as the hart	T. Adams	3d.
*Like as the hart	V. Novello	1½d.
*Lord, for Thy tender mercies' sake	R. Farrant	1½d.
Lord, for Thy tender mercies' sake	G. R. Vicars	1½d.
Lord, I call upon Thee	A. D. Culley	1½d.
Lord, I call upon Thee	F. A. G. Ouseley	1½d.
Lord, I call upon Thee	J. E. West	1½d.
Lord, on our offences	Mendelssohn	1½d.
Lord, Thou hast searched	A. Whiting	3d.
Make me a clean heart	J. Barnby	3d.
Make me a clean heart	A. W. Batson	3d.
My God, I love Thee	G. J. Bennett	3d.
My God, look upon me	J. L. Hopkins	3d.
*My God, look upon me	J. Reynolds	1½d.
O come near to the Cross	Ch. Gounod	8d.
O day of penitence	Ch. Gounod	6d.
O God, Thou hast cast us out	H. Purcell	4d.
O have mercy	H. Leslie	1½d.
O Jesu! Victim blest	J. B. Powell	3d.
*O Lamb of God	J. Barnby	3d.
O Lamb of God	G. E. Lake	1½d.
O Lord, correct me	J. Coward	1½d.
O Lord, give ear	W. H. Cummings	2d.
O Lord God of my salvation (Male voices)	E. Ford	4d.
O Lord God, Thou strength	J. Goss	1½d.
O Lord, look down	J. Battishill	3d.
*O Lord, my God	C. Malan	1½d.
*O Lord, my God	S. S. Wesley	1½d.
O Lord, rebuke me not	H. Lahee	1½d.
O most merciful	J. W. Elliott	1½d.
O saving Victim	W. A. C. Cruickshank	3d.
O saving Victim	Ch. Gounod	4d.
*O saving Victim	F. Kœnig	1½d.
O saving Victim	Rossini	3d.
O saving Victim	B. Tours	1½d.
*O Saviour of the world	J. Goss	1½d.
O Saviour of the world (A.T.T.B.)	J. V. Roberts	2d.
Out of the deep	F. E. Gladstone	3d.
Out of the deep	Mozart	1½d.
Out of the deep	J. Naylor	4d.
O ye that love	S. Coleridge-Taylor	1½d.
O ye that love	J. W. Elliott	1½d.
Ponder my words, O Lord	A. D. Culley	1½d.
*Remember not, Lord	H. Purcell	1½d.
*Remember now thy Creator	C. Steggall	4d.
Remember, O Lord	T. A. Walmisley	4d.
*Rend your heart	J. B. Calkin	1½d.
Rend your heart	J. Clippingdale	3d.
Save me, O God	C. S. Jekyll	1½d.
*Seek ye the Lord	C. Bradley	1½d.
*Seek ye the Lord	J. V. Roberts	3d.
Show me Thy ways	J. V. Roberts	3d.
Spare us, Lord, most holy	E. A. Sydenham	1½d.
*Teach me, O Lord	T. Attwood	1½d.
*Teach me, O Lord	B. Rogers	1½d.
Teach me Thy way	W. H. Gladstone	1½d.
*The path of the just	J. V. Roberts	1½d.
The sacrifices of God	H. Blair	1½d.
*There is a green hill	Gounod	4d.
*There is a green hill	Lord H. Somerset	1½d.
*The Story of the Cross	M. B. Foster	3d.
*The Story of the Cross	A. Somervell	3d.
*The Story of the Cross	J. Stainer	3d.
*The Story of the Cross	J. V. Roberts	3d.
Think, good Jesu	Mozart	6d.
*Through peace to light	J. H. Roberts	3d.
Thus saith the Lord	G. M. Garrett	6d.
Try me, O God (A.T.T.B.)	A. D. Culley	2d.
Try me, O God	C. Wood	1½d.
Turn Thee again, O Lord	T. Attwood	1½d.
*Turn Thy face from my sins	T. Attwood	1½d.
Turn Thy face from my sins	C. Steggall	4d.
*Turn Thy face from my sins	A. Sullivan	1½d.
Unto Thee have I cried	G. J. Elvey	3d.
Wash me throughly	S. S. Wesley	3d.
Watch ye and pray	G. R. Vicars	2d.
Word of God Incarnate	Ch. Gounod	3d.
Ye who from His ways have turned	Mendelssohn	3d.

*Anthems marked thus * to be had in Tonic Sol-fa, 1d., 1½d., and 2d. each.*

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Digitized by Google

CAREFULLY REVISED & ENTIRELY NEW ENGLISH VERSION.

THE

PASSION OF OUR LORD

(ACCORDING TO ST. MATTHEW)

SET TO MUSIC BY

JOHN SEBASTIAN BACH.

THE ENGLISH TRANSLATION AND ADAPTATION BY THE

REV. DR. TROUTBECK, D.D.

PRICE TWO SHILLINGS AND SIXPENCE.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

THE ABRIDGED VERSION

AS USED IN

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL

OF THE

PASSION OF OUR LORD

(ACCORDING TO ST. MATTHEW)

SET TO MUSIC BY

JOHN SEBASTIAN BACH.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

THE

PASSION OF OUR LORD

(ACCORDING TO ST. JOHN)

SET TO MUSIC BY

JOHN SEBASTIAN BACH.

THE ENGLISH TRANSLATION AND ADAPTATION BY THE

REV. DR. TROUTBECK, D.D.

PRICE TWO SHILLINGS.
Paper boards, 2s. 6d.; cloth, gilt, 4s.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

IS IT NOTHING TO YOU

AN EASY CANTATA

For use during the Season of Lent, and on Good Friday, specially adapted for Country Choirs

BY THE

REV. E. V. HALL, M.A.

Late Precentor of Worcester Cathedral.

Price Eightpence. Tonic Sol-fa, Threepence.
Words, with Music to the Hymns, price Twopence.

This is an attempt to provide music for Lent and for Good Friday of the simplest kind, for use in country churches. The music is interspersed with well-known hymns, in which the congregation may be invited to join. The Cantata may be used at a special service on Good Friday afternoon or evening, or on any day in Lent, and requires only a solo voice and a small choir.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

THE EPIPHANY

OR

MANIFESTATION OF CHRIST TO THE GENTILES

A SACRED CANTATA

FOR SOLI, CHORUS, AND ORGAN

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

H. J. EDWARDS.

Price Two Shillings.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

THE LAST NIGHT AT BETHANY

A SHORT CHURCH CANTATA

THE WORDS WRITTEN AND COMPILED BY

JOSEPH BENNETT

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

C. LEE WILLIAMS.

Price 2s.; paper boards, 2s. 6d.
Tonic Sol-fa, One Shilling.
String Parts, 8s. 6d.; Wind Parts, 15s. 6d.; Full Score, MS.
Words only, 7s. 6d. per 100.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

GETHSEMANE

A CHURCH CANTATA

THE WORDS WRITTEN AND COMPILED BY

JOSEPH BENNETT

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

C. LEE WILLIAMS.

Price Two Shillings.
Paper boards, Two Shillings and Sixpence.
Words only, 7s. 6d. per 100.
String Parts, 10s. 6d. Wind Parts and Full Score, MS.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

VEXILLA REGIS

(THE ROYAL BANNERS FORWARD GO)

The Latin Words from "The Seven Great Hymns."
Translated by the Rev. J. M. NEALE, D.D.

SET TO MUSIC BY

H. R. SHELLEY.

Vocal Score, paper cover, Two Shillings and Sixpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

THE REQUIEM

FROM

"MORS ET VITA"

BY

CH. GOUNOD.

8VO, PAPER COVER	2s. 6d.
PAPER BOARDS	3s. 0d.
FULL SCORE	£2 2s. 0d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

THE

STORY OF THE CROSS

FOR VOICES AND ORGAN

WITH SHORT INTERLUDES, GIVING OPPORTUNITY FOR MEDITATION

THE WORDS BY THE

REV. E. MONRO

SET TO MUSIC BY

J. STAINER

MYLES B. FOSTER

ARTHUR SOMERVELL

AND

J. VARLEY ROBERTS.

PRICE THREEPENCE EACH SETTING.
Tonic Sol-fa, Three-Halfpence.

THE

STORY OF THE CROSS

WRITTEN BY THE

REV. E. MONRO.

WORDS ONLY. Price 1s. 6d. per 100.
Large Type Edition, 2s. 6d. per 100.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

THE CRUCIFIXION

A MEDITATION

ON THE

Sacred Passion of the Holy Redeemer

THE WORDS SELECTED AND WRITTEN BY THE

REV. W. J. SPARROW-SIMPSON, M.A.

SET TO MUSIC BY

J. STAINER.

VOCAL SCORE, PAPER COVER, ONE SHILLING AND SIXPENCE.
PAPER BOARDS, TWO SHILLINGS. TONIC SOL-FA, NINEPENCE.
WORDS ONLY, WITH HYMN TUNES, TWOPENCE.
WORDS, COMPLETE. TEN SHILLINGS PER HUNDRED.
WORDS OF HYMNS, FIVE SHILLINGS PER HUNDRED.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

PASSION MUSIC

FROM THE ORATORIO "ST. PETER"

BY

SIR JULIUS BENEDICT.

Vocal Score, One Shilling and Sixpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

THE VERSICLES & RESPONSES

AS USED IN

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL

(FERIAL USE)

EDITED BY

J. STAINER, MUS. DOC.,

AND

G. C. MARTIN, MUS. DOC.

Price Fourpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Will be ready on January 3.

A NEW

CANTATA

FOR LENT

ENTITLED

PENITENCE
PARDON AND PEACE

BY

J. H. MAUNDER.

For two Solo Voices, Soprano (or Tenor) and Baritone, and Chorus.

Words selected from Holy Scripture by
The REV. W. J. BETTISON, M.A., Vicar of Leytonstone.

The Hymns and Tunes for the Congregation, viz.:—
"I heard the Voice of Jesus say,"
"Lord, in this Thy mercy's day," and
"How bright these glorious spirits shine,"
from "Hymns Ancient and Modern," by permission of the proprietors.

The Cantata occupies 35 minutes in performance, and may be sung in its entirety at the end of a service; or, if used as a separate Service, the three parts may be separated if preferred by suitable Collects, Lessons, or Addresses. Each part is also available for separate use as an Anthem.

The work can be effectively rendered by the forces usually available in Parish Choirs.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.
Tonic Sol-fa, One Shilling. Words only, Two Shillings per hundred.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

, Specimen Copy for six stamps to any Organist or Choirmaster on application to the COMPOSER, San Remo, Bromley, Kent.

THE BENEDICITE

SET TO MUSIC BY THE FOLLOWING

MODERN COMPOSERS.

GEORGE J. BENNETT (in E flat)	1½d.
GEORGE J. BENNETT (in G)	1½d.
GEORGE J. BENNETT (in D)	3d.
W. T. BEST	3d.
HUGH BLAIR	1½d.
J. F. BRIDGE, JAMES TURLE, and Dr. HAYES	1½d.
H. B. C.	1½d.
J. W. ELLIOTT	2d.
ALFRED J. EYRE (with a Quadruple Chant for the Te Deum)	2d.
ALFRED J. EYRE (No. 2, in F)	1½d.
MYLES B. FOSTER (in F, Chant Form)	4d.
PERCY H. FROST	2d.
HENRY GADSBY (in G, Chant Form)	1½d.
F. E. GLADSTONE (Chant Form)	3d.
F. E. GLADSTONE (Unison)	1½d.
F. A. J. HERVEY (in A flat). From the Canticles (second set)	2d.
W. HUGHES	1½d.
FREDERICK ILIFFE (No. 1)	1½d.
C. HARFORD LLOYD	2d.
GEORGE C. MARTIN (No. 1, in F; No. 2, in E flat; No. 3, in G) each	4d.
T. R. MATTHEWS	1½d.
C. E. MILLER (second setting)	2d.
EDGAR PETTMAN (No. 1, in C; No. 2, set to Double Chants). Cathedral Psalter pointing	2d.
EDGAR PETTMAN (in E flat)	1½d.
J. VARLEY ROBERTS (in B flat)	4d.
BOYTON SMITH (in A flat)	1½d.
CHAS. W. SMITH (in C). For S.A.T.T.B., also simplified form for S.A.T.B.	6d.
J. STAINER and B. BLAXLAND	1½d.
J. STAINER, R. DE LACY, A. GIBBS, and F. CAMPNEYS	1½d.
J. STAINER, W. WINN, and F. WALKER	1½d.
J. STAINER (in D). From the Canticles (second set)	2d.
J. BARNBY JOHN FOSTER MONTEM SMITH (two settings) J. TURLE (two settings) C. A. WICKES (two settings)	1½d.
JOHN E. WEST (in C)	1½d.
W. G. WOOD (in D)	1½d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

NOVELLO'S COLLECTION
OF
RESPONSES TO THE COMMANDMENTS
EDITED BY GEORGE C. MARTIN,
Organist of St. Paul's Cathedral.

Bound in cloth, Five Shillings; or, 47 Numbers at Twopence each.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

THE PRECES and RESPONSES, with LITANY,
According to TALLIS.
Arranged for Four Voices, by JOSEPH BARNBY.
Price Fourpence. Tonic Sol-fa, Fourpence.

THE PRECES and RESPONSES, with LITANY,
According to TALLIS.
Arranged for Four Voices, by JOSEPH BARNBY.
Containing the Confession, harmonised (Ely use); also Organ Accompaniments to Lord's Prayer, Apostles' and Nicene Creeds, by Dr. J. F. BRIDGE.
Price Sixpence.

THE FERIAL RESPONSES, with LITANY.
Edited by JOSEPH BARNBY.
Price Fourpence. Tonic Sol-fa, Fourpence.

THE PRECES and RESPONSES, with LITANY,
Set in Monotone. The simplest Form of an Intoned Service.
By JOSEPH BARNBY.
Price Fourpence.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

In the Press.
NEW EASTER ANTHEM
BY
F. R. GREENISH,
Mus. Doc., Oxon.
"HE SHALL SWALLOW UP DEATH IN VICTORY."
(Ready about February 1.)

Free from difficulty. Very suitable for Parish Choirs. Will form a valuable addition to this composer's popular Church Music. Clergy, Organists, and Choirmasters desiring specimen, please send post-card to Dr. F. R. GREENISH, Haverfordwest, and a copy shall be sent immediately on publication.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

MR. DAVIDSON PALMER'S NEW WORK.
F'cap. 8vo, cloth, 2s. 6d., post-free.
THE RIGHTLY-PRODUCED VOICE.
By E. DAVIDSON PALMER, Mus. Bac., Oxon.

Embodies the results of investigations and experiments extending over many years, and of a kind never carried out before; contains an account of the Author's own voice and vocal experience in boyhood and manhood; and includes chapters on the Teachings of Physiology, Voices of the Past, and the Old Italian Method. May be obtained from the AUTHOR, 2, Highwood Road, Upper Holloway, N.; or, from JOSEPH WILLIAMS, 32, Great Portland Street, W.

INTRODUCTION to the STUDY of THEORY.
A Sequel to the "Elements of Music," and intended to prepare the Student for Professor Prout's Series of Theoretical Works. By FRANKLIN PETERSON. Second Edition. Cr. 8vo, bound, net 1s. 6d.
ELEMENTS of MUSIC. Third Edition. Bound, net 1s.
AUGENER and Co., 199, Regent Street, and 22, Newgate Street.

EBENEZER PROUT'S WORKS.
Bound, each net 3s.
HARMONY: Its Theory and Practice. Tenth Edition.
COUNTERPOINT: Strict and Free. Fifth Edition.
DOUBLE COUNTERPOINT and CANON. Second Edition.
FUGUE. Third Edition.
FUGAL ANALYSIS. Second Edition.
MUSICAL FORM. Third Edition.
APPLIED FORMS. Second Edition.
AUGENER and Co., 199, Regent Street, and 22, Newgate Street.

MOSZKOWSKI'S PIANOFORTE ALBUMS.—
Album of Eight Pieces for Piano Solo (Edit. No. 8,242), net 2s.
Album of Five Pieces for Piano Duet (Edit. No. 8,586), net 2s.
AUGENER and Co., 199, Regent Street, and 22, Newgate Street.
Library and School Department, 81, Regent Street, W.

STEPHEN HELLER'S PROGRESSIVE STUDIES for the PIANOFORTE, critically revised, phrased, and fingered, by HERRMANN SCHOLTZ.
6,187. 25 Studies to cultivate the feeling for rhythm and expression. Op. 47. Net 2s.
6,188. 30 Studies (preparatory to Op. 45). Op. 46. Net 2s.
6,189. 20 Melodious Studies. Op. 45. Net 2s.
AUGENER and Co., 199, Regent Street, and 22, Newgate Street.

THE LEGEND OF THE WOOD
A JUVENILE OPERETTA IN ONE ACT
FOR UNISON SINGING
VERSE BY
MAUD BALDWICK
COMPOSED BY
ALFRED R. GAUL.

Price One Shilling.
Tonic Sol-fa Edition, Price Sixpence. Words, 7s. 6d. per 100.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Ninth and Tenth Thousand.
ALFRED R. GAUL'S
PASSION SERVICE
NEW SACRED WORK
FOR THE SEASON OF
LENT AND GOOD FRIDAY.

"Scholarly writing, combined with unmistakable talent, and eminently adapted to the purpose for which it was written and composed. The work will probably be largely used, and Mr. Gaul have to be congratulated upon another success."—Sheffield Independent.

"The course of sacred events connected with the Passion is laid out by the writer so as to form a series of six distinct 'scenes.' The subjects of these divisions, each occupied with a particular stage of the Mystery, are respectively—'The Traitor at the Table,' 'The Denial,' 'The Condemnation before Pilate,' 'The Mockery on Calvary,' 'The Shadow of Death,' and 'The Holy Sepulchre.' The style of the composition resembles generally that of Mr. Gaul's previous writings—the same effective, grateful part-writing, and the same expressive and melodious treatment of the solo voice. In those sections, notably that of the Unjust Condemnation, where the realistic element is predominant, the composer has manifested his ability to write with dramatic force and intensity as well as with lyric charm. In this respect the choral writing distinguished itself in comparison with that in the 'Holy City,' and other of the composer's works. Mr. Gaul has not written new hymn tunes for the author's lyrics; the tunes selected are from among those in ordinary congregational use. Altogether considered, Mr. Gaul's new work will, undoubtedly, greatly enhance his already high reputation in the line of sacred composition."—Musical Standard.

Price, paper cover, 2s. 6d.; paper boards, 3s.; scarlet cloth, 4s.
Words only, 7s. 6d. per 100.
The loan of Orchestral Parts on application to the COMPOSER.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

TOILERS OF THE DEEP
CANTATA
FOR FEMALE VOICES
VERSE BY JAMES STRANG
MUSIC BY
ALFRED R. GAUL.

CONTENTS.
INTRODUCTION AND CHORUS—"Toiling and toss'd on the restless sea."
CRADLE SONG—"Come, my baby, come away."
CHORUS—"Oh, ho! for the winds that blow."
BALLAD—"A mermaid dwelt in days of old."
TRIO—"The twilight grey is falling."
SONG—"O manly hearts that brave the sea."
CHORUS—"Dark and darker grows the night."
CHORUS—"A prayer for those at sea."
INTERMEZZO—"Break of day."
DUET—"Through golden mists of morn."
CRADLE SONG—No. 2.
CHORUS—"Now let songs of gladness rise."

"This charming work bears all the best marks of the composer's characteristically graceful style. The libretto is of a high order of merit, and worth the music, which from first to last is attractive and without a dull page."—Birmingham Daily Gazette.

"Mr. Gaul has written nothing finer, nor more melodious and captivating in this branch of composition. Taking the Cantata as a whole, it is a delightful work, replete with artistic workmanship."—Birmingham Daily Mail.

Price Two Shillings.
Words, Five Shillings per hundred.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

THE VILLAGE ORGANIST

A Series of Pieces for Church and General Use

EDITED BY

J. STAINER AND F. CUNNINGHAM WOODS.

PRICE ONE SHILLING EACH BOOK.

PREFACE.

THIS Collection has been specially compiled with a view to supplying a want felt by the many organists who have only a small instrument at their disposal in country churches, and who often have some difficulty in finding short and easy Voluntaries suitable for their own use and the instruction of their pupils.

(Each book consists of 20 pages of music.)

BOOK 1.

1. The Good Shepherd .. .. .. Myles B. Foster
2. Andante .. .. W. Warder Harvey
3. Andante con moto .. .. .. A. R. Gaul
4. Christmas Bells .. .. .. G. J. Elvey
5. Minuet .. .. Philip Hayes
6. Judex, from "Mors et Vita" .. .. Gounod
7. Soft Voluntary .. .. .. H. A. Harding
8. Slow March .. .. .. F. Cunningham Woods
9. A Song of Praise .. .. J. Stainer
10. Andante in G minor .. .. .. E. H. Fellowes

BOOK 2.

1. Allegretto .. .. .. F. Cunningham Woods
2. Larghetto .. .. J. Barnby
3. Adagio .. .. W. Warder Harvey
4. Concluding Voluntary .. .. .. A. R. Gaul
5. Introductory Voluntary .. .. E. F. Rimbault
6. Tempo di Minuetto .. .. .. Myles B. Foster
7. Andante con moto, from Quartet in D minor .. .. Schubert
8. Adagio .. .. .. William Sterndale Bennett
9. Introductory Voluntary .. .. Daniel McIntyre

BOOK 3.

1. Andante Tranquillo .. .. .. C. H. Lloyd
2. The Village March .. .. .. Ferris Tozer
3. Romance, from Serenade for Strings .. Mozart
4. Gavotte, from "Semele" .. .. Handel
5. An Evening Prayer .. .. Alfred W. Tomlyn
6. Heaven and the earth display ("Athalie") Mendelssohn

BOOK 4.

1. Meditation .. .. Battison Haynes
2. Allegro moderato .. .. W. John Reynolds
3. Funeral March, from Pianoforte Quintet (Op. 44) .. .. .. Schumann
4. Concluding Voluntary .. .. .. Cuthbert Harris
5. Introductory Voluntary .. .. E. H. Turpin
6. Solemn March .. .. C. H. Lloyd

BOOK 5.

1. Agnus Dei .. .. .. F. Cunningham Woods
2. Minuet, from 9th Pianoforte Sonata .. Mozart
3. Jerusalem Cœlestis ("Mors et Vita") .. Gounod
4. Andante Grazioso .. .. .. Kate Boundy
5. Allegro con brio .. .. Frederick A. Keene
6. Communion .. .. .. W. Wolstenholme
7. Allegro, from Finale to 9th Pianoforte Trio Haydn
8. Concluding Voluntary .. .. .. Cuthbert Harris

BOOK 6.

1. O Salutaris Hostia .. .. .. Myles B. Foster
2. Slow March, from the 4th Sonata .. Boyce
3. O great is the depth, from "St. Paul" Mendelssohn
4. Processional March .. .. .. J. Warriner
5. Largo, from "Xerxes" .. .. Handel
6. Forsake me not, Duet from "The Last Judgment" .. .. Spohr
7. Allegro moderato .. .. W. Warder Harvey
8. Minuet .. .. Samuel Ould

The above Six Books together in One Volume, handsomely bound in cloth, gilt lettered, price 6s.

BOOK 7.

1. Impromptu .. .. John E. West
2. Minuet, from Pianoforte Sonata (Op. 10, No. 3) .. .. .. Beethoven
3. Introductory Voluntary .. .. S. J. Rowton
4. March .. .. Oliver O. Brooksbank
5. Sunday Song .. .. Max Oesten
6. Minuet and Trio, from Quartet (Op. 9, No. 1) .. .. Haydn
7. Pastorale .. .. .. Alfred W. Tomlyn
8. Religioso .. .. T. L. Southgate

BOOK 8.

1. Elegy .. .. C. H. Lloyd
2. Rondo, from No. 6 (Pièces de Clavecin) .. Couperin
3. Andante Grazioso .. .. Frederick A. Keene
4. Soft Voluntary .. .. Ferris Tozer
5. Allegretto Pastorale .. .. W. John Reynolds
6. Andante in F, from String Quartet in D minor .. .. Mozart
7. Meditation .. .. .. W. Wolstenholme
8. Finale, from Pianoforte Trio (Op. 88) Schumann
9. Canon .. .. Battison Haynes

BOOK 9.

1. Larghetto .. .. .. F. Cunningham Woods
2. Recessional March .. .. .. E. H. Fellowes
3. All men, all things ("Lobgesang") .. Mendelssohn
4. Allegro poco maestoso .. .. .. W. G. Cusins
5. Communion .. .. Alfred R. Gaul
6. Andante con moto .. .. John Francis Barnett
7. Andante Religioso .. .. Alfred W. Tomlyn
8. Evensong .. .. Cuthbert Harris
9. Minuet, from Quartet in G minor .. .. Schubert
10. Melody in A .. .. W. H. Callcott

To be continued.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Digitized by Google

ALFRED R. GAUL'S CANTATAS.

*UNA

SIXTH AND SEVENTH THOUSAND.

PRODUCED AT THE NORWICH MUSICAL FESTIVAL, OCTOBER 4, 1893.

"'Una' is quite one of his best."—Musical Standard.

"The result, in the present case, leaves no doubt that into all the places which know his previous compositions 'Una' will find a way and become as much a favourite as its forerunners. . . . Mr. Gaul considers before all things the elegance and symmetry of his melodic phrases."—Musical Times.

"We believe that Mr. Gaul has attained greater popularity with small English provincial choral societies than any other composer living or dead."—London Daily Graphic.

†THE TEN VIRGINS

Third Edition. Ninth and Tenth Thousand.
This Edition contains the additional Soprano air "Sun of my soul."

"The work will certainly go through Saxondom in the wake of its predecessors from the same pen."—London Daily Telegraph.

"Must attain popularity wherever heard. Infinitely superior to any previous effort of the composer."—Liverpool Daily Courier.

"A distinct advance upon any of its predecessors."—Birmingham Daily Post.

"That 'The Ten Virgins' is a much finer work than the everywhere favourite 'Holy City' we have no doubt whatever."—Birmingham Daily Gazette.

PRODUCED WITH THE UTMOST SUCCESS BY THE BIRMINGHAM FESTIVAL CHORAL SOCIETY.

*JOAN OF ARC

Staff Edition. Twentieth to Twenty-fifth Thousand.

"The Exeter Oratorio Society last night achieved a brilliant success, and it may safely be said, without fear of exaggeration, that never before have they performed a work more satisfactory to themselves or more interesting to the audience than 'Joan of Arc.'"—Western Times.

"One of the most delightful Concerts ever given by the South Shields Choral Society was that of last evening, when the principal piece was 'Joan of Arc.' We cannot speak too highly of Mr. Gaul's work, which is of the most interesting description, and will doubtless soon be a favourite with choral societies."—Shields Daily News.

FIFTH AND SIXTH THOUSAND.

PRODUCED AT THE CRYSTAL PALACE, JULY 9, 1892.

†ISRAEL IN THE WILDERNESS

"The work was given under Mr. Gaul's own direction by some 3,000 singers, accompanied by the Palace orchestra. Mr. Gaul has presented in no previous work better characteristics or more successful efforts than are to be found in 'Israel in the Wilderness.' The popular composer was enthusiastically cheered at the close of the performance."—Musical News.

The above Cantatas have been specially planned to meet the requirements of Musical Societies, the greater portion being choral.

Price, paper cover, 2s. 6d.; paper boards, 3s.; cloth, gilt, 4s.; Tonic Sol-fa, 1s.; Vocal Parts, each 1s. Words only, *7s. 6d.; †5s. per 100.
The loan of Orchestral Parts on application to the Composer.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Just Published.

TO BE PERFORMED AT THE ROYAL ALBERT HALL, MARCH 16, 1898.

A NEW EDITION OF

THE RUINS OF ATHENS

A CANTATA

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

L. VAN BEETHOVEN

THE ENGLISH WORDS WRITTEN AND ADAPTED BY

PAUL ENGLAND.

EXTRACT FROM PREFACE.

The original form of the libretto of "The Ruins of Athens," no less than the version hitherto current in England, has greatly operated against the general acceptance of Beethoven's accompanying music, characteristic and beautiful though it is. In order, therefore, to remove this drawback, and to make the work of practical value to choral societies, the present edition has been cast in the form of a cantata. The connecting dialogue of Kotzebue's original has thereby been eliminated, and a slight re-arrangement of the musical numbers, after No. 5, has been found advantageous.

The present edition, unlike that previously published in England, contains the whole of Beethoven's music; the two numbers which have been restored are the "Interlude" and the Recitative (Nos. 5 and 6). It is hoped that this new issue of the work will help to make Beethoven's "The Ruins of Athens" better known and more generally appreciated.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.

Full Score and Orchestral Parts, for use with this Edition, may be had on hire from the Publishers.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

WORKS

FOR

CHORAL SOCIETIES AND CHOIRS.

	s.	d.
THE SILVER STAR. Cantata. Ladies' voices	1	6
THE LORD IS MY SHEPHERD. 8vo	0	8
BY THE WATERS OF BABYLON. 8vo	1	0
Both for Chorus, without Soloists.
EVENTIDE. Part-Song. 8vo	0	2

By N. KILBURN, Mus.B., Cantab.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

A Copy of the JANUARY NUMBER will be posted free to any person not acquainted with the Paper.

THE MUSICAL HERALD, the most widely read of all the musical journals, gives portraits and biographies of leading musicians, with interviews; answers freely questions of general interest relating to pianoforte, organ, violin, mandoline, wood and brass instruments, history, voice culture, harmony; recommends music for all needs; has a monthly prize competition; publishes a monthly part-song; reports concerts; corrects musical compositions; reviews new books.

Price Twopence per number.

Offices: 8 and 9, Warwick Lane, London, E.C.

NEW ORCHESTRAL PUBLICATIONS AND EDITIONS.

Messrs. HAWKES and SON have to announce the following important works:—

Selection from GIACOMO PUCCINI'S Opera "The Bohemians."
New Edition of "Tannhäuser" Overture. By RICHARD WAGNER.
New Orchestral Suite, "Norwegian Scenes." By ALBERT E. MATT.

Full details on application to HAWKES and SON, Denman Street, Piccadilly Circus, London, W.

COMPOSERS and PUBLISHERS of MUSIC set to original texts by Greek and Roman Poets (e.g., Æschylus, Sophocles, Euripides, Horace, Ovid, i.a.) are respectfully requested to communicate with K. F. Koehler, Bookseller, 21, Täubchenweg, Leipzig, under the cipher C.P., No. 839.

HUMOROUS PART SONG FOR S.A.T.B.

TOM, THE PIPER'S SON. By A. BEN ALLEN, Composer of "Dickory, dickory, dock." Price 3d.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

Messrs. FORSYTH BROS.' Latest Publications.

DEDICATED, BY PERMISSION, TO
H.R.H. PRINCESS CHRISTIAN OF SCHLESWIG-HOLSTEIN.

THE BISPHAM ALBUM
OF CLASSICAL SONGS SELECTED AND EDITED BY DAVID BISPHAM
BEING TEN SONGS BY SCHUBERT AND SCHUMANN.

No.			No.
1.	AN DIE MUSIK	Schubert.	6.	NAEBODY	Schumann.
2.	DER ZWERG	„	7.	WHEN THRO' THE PIAZZETTA	„
3.	IHRE STIMME	Schumann.	8.	ROW, GENTLY ROW	„
4.	DER HIDALGO	„	9.	MY SOUL IS DARK	„
5.	SOMEBODY	„	10.	THE CLOWN'S SONG	„

These Songs have been carefully selected from among those which, hitherto not accessible except in the composers' complete works, have undeservedly fallen into comparative neglect. The success which has attended Mr. Bispham's performances of them recently has induced the belief that a convenient reprint would be welcomed by a large number of music-lovers anxious to gain a better acquaintance with all the songs of Schubert and Schumann. The songs have all been provided with expression marks, minute indications of tempo, and breathing marks by Mr. Bispham. PRICE 3s. NET.

"The Bispham Album, whose merits need no recapitulation."—Manchester Courier.

"The marks of expression, indications of tempo, style, &c., furnished by the accomplished editor are extraordinarily full, and will be the equivalent of a valuable lesson to purchasers of the volume."—Observer (London), October 24, 1897.

"The singer's indications as to phrasing and interpretation are obviously of the utmost value."—Musical Standard.

SONGS.	s.	d.
BARNS, ETHEL—The Humble Swain (Sung by Mr. CHARLES PHILLIPS)	4	0
HILLIER, LOUIS H.—La Petite Fille aux Etoiles (The Maiden and the Stars) (Sung by Madame BLANCHE MARCHESI.)	4	0
WOOD, HENRY J.—A Waif and Stray. In A flat	4	0
— Ditto. In F	4	0

VOCAL DUETS.	s.	d.
WILM, NICOLAI VON—Two Duets. Op. 124	4	0
"'A Venetian Night' is a splendid little composition."—Manchester Guardian.
SCHULTZ, EDWIN—Three Duets. Op. 181	4	0
— Three Duets. Op. 187	4	0
— Three Duets. Op. 201	4	0
"Will find favour with cultivated singers and their audiences."—Daily News.
"Great originality, combined with an utter absence of conventionalisms, which render the works highly interesting. Sure to meet with success. . . . 'Waldvöglein' . . . a very fine composition. 'Sommernacht' . . . a very fine slow movement, showing excellent workmanship."—Manchester Guardian.
"There are comparatively so few duets written for mezzo and baritone that Mr. Schultz's works are additionally welcome."—The Musician.

PIANO.	s.	d.
HELMUND, MEYER E.—Nachtstücke. Op. 135 (1. Im Mondschein. 2. Einsamkeit. 3. Zwiegespräch. 4. Unter ihrem Fenster.) each	3	0
HILLIER, LOUIS H.—Tarantella d'Amore (Just published.) Dedicated to and played by Mdlle. ELLA PANCERA. Played by M. DE GREEF.	4	0
JAKOBOWSKI, EDWARD—Three Piano Pieces (1. In Olden Time (Stately Dance). 2. Graceful Waltz. 3. Dance of Spirits.) each	3	0
"Worth the attention of piano students . . . the last-named being extremely characteristic."—Liverpool Post.
RAMSAY, MANSELL B.—Bourrée	3	0
— Hunting Song	2	6
— Crusader's March	3	0
— Styrian Dance	3	0
— Pavilion March	3	0

BANTOCK, GRANVILLE.
TWELVE PIANOFORTE PIECES (in Ten Numbers, each 3s.)

1. RHAPSODIE.
2. MEDITATION.
3. PHANTASY.
4. SCHERZO.
5. NOCTURNE.
6 & 7. LEGEND AND PREGHIERA.
8. MAZURKA.
9 & 10. INTERMEZZO AND SERENADE.
11. CAPRICE.
12. ROMANCE.

The Musical Times says: "Mr. Granville Bantock is one of the most promising composers of what may be termed the young English school of writers. . . . The most attractive, perhaps, are the Meditation, Scherzo, Legend, and Mazurka, but each possesses considerable individuality, and they are a series of SHORT, BRILLIANT, and MODERATELY DIFFICULT pieces that will form a valuable addition to the repertory of any pianist."

"Challenge attention by their evidently artistic aim."—Manchester Guardian.

"Full of character, unconventional, and a pleasant and welcome addition to our pianoforte literature."—The Musician.

FORSYTH BROS., 267, REGENT STREET, LONDON, W.,
AND
126 & 128, DEANSGATE, MANCHESTER.

Digitized by Google

Just Published.

SIX PIECES
FOR THE ORGAN
COMPOSED BY
J. STAINER.

CONTENTS.

I. Andante.
II. (Prelude. / Fughetta.
III. Adagio.
IV. On a Bass.
V. Impromptu.
VI. Rêverie.

Price Four Shillings.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

JUST PUBLISHED.

ORIGINAL HYMN TUNES
BY
JOSEPH BARNBY.
246 Tunes, complete, in one Vol., 188 pp., Demy 8vo, Cloth.

Price Three Shillings and Sixpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

SONG OF NIGHT
(NACHTLIED)
COMPOSED FOR CHORUS AND ORCHESTRA
BY ROBERT SCHUMANN.
(Op. 108.)

THE WORDS TRANSLATED FROM THE GERMAN OF F. HEBBEL
BY
MISS G. E. TROUTBECK.

Price Ninepence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Now Ready.

THE
WESTMINSTER ABBEY HYMN-BOOK
COMPILED UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE DEAN OF WESTMINSTER,
BY THE
REV. JOHN TROUTBECK, D.D.,
Priest in Ordinary to the Queen, and Precentor of Westminster.
WITH TUNES
COMPILED AND ARRANGED UNDER THE MUSICAL EDITORSHIP OF FREDERICK BRIDGE.
MUS. DOC.
Organist and Master of the Choristers of Westminster Abbey; Gresham Professor of Music.

Containing all the best known and most popular tunes, in addition to upwards of
ONE HUNDRED NEW TUNES
now published for the first time, many having been written expressly for the work by BARNBY, BRIDGE, COWEN, MYLES B. FOSTER, GARRETT, GOUNOD, MACKENZIE, MARTIN, MAUNDER, W. H. MONK, PARRY, STAINER, TOURS, WEST, and others.

Demy 8vo, cloth. Price Four Shillings.
Hymns only, price One Shilling.

London and New York: NOVELLO EWER and Co.

Just Published.

THE FULL ORCHESTRAL SCORE
OF JOB
AN ORATORIO
FOR TREBLE, TENOR, BARITONE AND BASS SOLI, CHORUS AND ORCHESTRA
BY
C. HUBERT H. PARRY.

Price 42s.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

DON JUAN'S SERENADE
SONG FOR A BARITONE OR BASS VOICE
With Accompaniment for the Pianoforte
THE WORDS WRITTEN BY
A. TOLSTOI
(English Translation by LADY MACFARREN)
THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY
P. I. TSCHAÏKOWSKY.

Price Two Shillings.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

MARJORIE GAVOTTE
FOR THE PIANOFORTE
COMPOSED BY
JOHN E. WEST.

Price Two Shillings.
Band Parts for Small Orchestra: Strings, Two Shillings; Wind, Two Shillings and Threepence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

CHANSON DE NUIT
POUR VIOLON ET PIANO
COMPOSÉE PAR
EDWARD ELGAR.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Second Edition.

NARCISSUS AND ECHO
CANTATA FOR CHORUS, SOLI, AND ORCHESTRA

Price 3s.; Choral Parts, 1s. each. Also,

"GOD IS OUR REFUGE" (Ps. 46)

For Chorus, Soli, and Orchestra. Price 1s.

COMPOSED BY
EDWIN C. SUCH,
Mus. Bac., Cantab.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

COMPOSITIONS
BY WALTER MACFARREN.

PART-SONGS.

	s.	d.
Spring	0	3
Summer	0	1½
Autumn	0	3
Winter	0	3
You stole my love	0	1½
Tonic Sol-fa, 1d.
Ditto, freely adapted for Female Voices (S.S.A.A.). By Frederick Maxson	0	2
Tonic Sol-fa, 1d.
Dainty love	0	1½
Hunting Song	0	3
Tonic Sol-fa, 1d.
Summer Song	0	3
The Curfew Bell	0	3
The Warrior	0	3
Love's Heigh, Ho!	0	3
Good night, good rest	0	3
The Fairies	0	3
Tonic Sol-fa, 1½d.
Cradle Song	0	3
Tonic Sol-fa, 1d.
Morning Song	0	3
Go, pretty birds	0	3
More life	0	3
Tonic Sol-fa, 1d.
Sweet Content	0	3
Sea Song	0	3
The stars are with the voyager	0	2
Autumn (T.T.B.B.)	0	3
Highland War Song (T.T.B.B.)	0	3
Shortest and longest (T.T.B.B.)	0	3
Windlass Song (T.T.B.B.)	0	3
Tonic Sol-fa, 1½d.
O lady, leave thy silken thread	0	3
Love's parting	0	3
Shepherds all and maidens fair	0	3
Tonic Sol-fa, 1½d.
Night, sable goddess!	0	3
Hence, all you vain delights	0	3
Swallow, swallow, hither wing	0	3
Harvest Song	0	2
Tonic Sol-fa, 1d.
An Emigrant's Song	0	2

SERVICES.

Morning and Evening Service in A	1	0
Or, separately: Te Deum, 4d.; Benedictus, 3d.; Jubilate, Kyrie eleison, 4d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.
Morning and Evening Service in C	0	6
Or, separately: Te Deum, 3d.; Jubilate, Kyrie, Sanctus, 2d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 2d.
Magnificat and Nunc dimittis (Unison)	0	3

PIANOFORTE SOLOS.

Two Bourrées (No. 1) in C minor	1	6
Ditto (No. 2) in C major	1	6
Cradle Song	1	6
Les Etincelles (Galop)	2	0
Fantasia on G. A. Macfarren's Opera da Camera, "The Soldier's Legacy"	2	0
Second Gavotte in E flat	1	6
La Joyeuse (Valse brillante)	2	0
Two Mazurkas (No. 1) in B flat minor	1	6
Ditto (No. 2) in F	1	6
Two Nocturnes (No. 1) in E minor	1	6
Ditto (No. 2) in E major	1	6
Scherzo	2	0
Spinning Song	1	6
Sweet and low (Barnby), transcribed	1	6
Sadowa (Fantasia)	2	0

FOR PIANOFORTE AND VIOLIN.

First Sonata in F	6	0
Second Sonata in D	6	0

FOR PIANOFORTE AND VIOLONCELLO.

Sonata in E minor	6	0

ORGAN.

Prelude in G	0	6

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

THE WIDOW'S LULLABY
(CÂN Y WEDDW)
SONG FOR MEZZO-SOPRANO OR CONTRALTO
THE WORDS WRITTEN BY THE
REV. BEN DAVIES (YSTALYFERA)
THE ENGLISH TRANSLATION BY
R. MORRIS EVANS
THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY
D. PUGHE-EVANS.

Price Two Shillings.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

THOU WILT REMEMBER US
SACRED SONG
THE WORDS WRITTEN BY
THE REV. H. BONAR
THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY
WILLEM COENEN.

In D flat and E flat. Price Two Shillings each.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

THE CHORAL DANCES
MINUET—WALTZES—GALOP
For Two-part Chorus of Girls' Voices from PRINCE SPRITE
A Fairy Operetta
COMPOSED BY FLORENCE A. MARSHALL.

Price One Shilling.
Parts for Violins (1st and 2nd), with Viola and Violoncello ad libitum, can be had from the Publishers.

London and New York; NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

SECOND EDITION, REVISED.

BEETHOVEN
AND HIS NINE SYMPHONIES
BY GEORGE GROVE, C.B.

PRICE, CLOTH, GILT, SIX SHILLINGS.

"I recognise it, without the smallest hesitation, as one of the most important and valuable among recent contributions to musical literature. . . . The best informed of professional musicians may learn a great deal about the master-works of Beethoven from Sir George Grove, whose wide reading and acute perceptiveness have enabled him to marshal an astonishing array of facts, and whose intimate acquaintance with the spirit of the master has qualified him to throw light upon pages which, to many, are still obscure. . . . I must be satisfied with the remarks already made, earnestly recommending all who recognise Beethoven's greatness as shown in his immortal Symphonies to obtain Sir George Grove's volume, and walk in the luminous paths through which he is ready to conduct all who trust his guidance."—Daily Telegraph.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

THE MUSIC TO J. M. BARRIE'S

THE LITTLE MINISTER

Composed for the production of the Play at the Haymarket Theatre, November, 1897

BY

A. C. MACKENZIE.

(Op. 57.)

Just Published.

THREE DANCES

(ENTR'ACTES)

1. LILT. 2. PASTORAL DANCE. 3. ÉCOSSAISE.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence.
String Parts for Full or Small Orchestra, Four Shillings and Sixpence.
Wind Parts and Full Score, MS.
Military Band Arrangement (in the Press).

Just Published.

THE OVERTURE

Arranged for Pianoforte Duet by the Composer.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence.
String Parts for Full or Small Orchestra, Four Shillings and Sixpence.
Wind Parts and Full Score, MS.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

THREE PIECES

FOR THE

PIANOFORTE

1. PRELUDE IN F MINOR.
2. ROMANCE IN A FLAT.
3. ÉTUDE IN F.

COMPOSED BY

A. ARENSKY.

(Op. 42.)

Price Two Shillings each.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

OUR QUEEN

QUICK MARCH

INTRODUCING

BARNBY'S PATRIOTIC CHORUS

VICTORIA—OUR QUEEN

COMPOSED BY

H. M. HIGGS.

Price Two Shillings.

Military Band Arrangement, by HENRY T. DUNKERTON, Bandmaster, Scots Guards, 5s.
String Parts for Full or Small Orchestra, 2s.; Wind Parts, 5s. 3d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

INTERMEZZO

PRELUDE TO ACT III.

FROM THE MUSIC TO

"HENRY VIII."

COMPOSED BY

EDWARD GERMAN.

Arranged for the Pianoforte by THE COMPOSER.

Price Two Shillings.
String Parts, 2s.; Wind Parts, 4s. 3d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

CORONATION MARCH

PRELUDE TO ACT IV.

FROM THE MUSIC TO

"HENRY VIII."

COMPOSED BY

EDWARD GERMAN.

Arranged for the Pianoforte by THE COMPOSER.

Price Two Shillings.
String Parts, 2s.; Wind Parts, 4s. 3d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

MASQUE

FROM THE MUSIC TO

"AS YOU LIKE IT"

COMPOSED BY

EDWARD GERMAN.

Arranged for the VIOLIN AND PIANOFORTE by THE COMPOSER.

No. 1. WOODLAND DANCE. No. 2. CHILDREN'S DANCE.
No. 3. RUSTIC DANCE.

Price Three Shillings and Sixpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

THE

CHALLENGE OF THOR

DRAMATIC CHORUS

For Mixed Voices, with Accompaniment for Orchestra or Pianoforte

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

LONGFELLOW

THE MUSIC FROM THE CANTATA

KING OLAF

COMPOSED BY

EDWARD ELGAR.

Price Fourpence. Tonic Sol-fa, Twopence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

Just Published.

A WOODLAND DREAM

CANTATA

For Solo Voices and Two-part Chorus, with Accompaniment of Small Orchestra, for the use of Schools, Academies, and Colleges

WRITTEN BY

SHAPCOTT WENSLEY

COMPOSED BY

J. A. MOONIE.

Price Two Shillings
(Staff and Tonic Sol-fa Notations combined).
Tonic Sol-fa Edition, Ninepence.
Book of Words, 7s. 6d. per 100.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

THE WAXWORK CARNIVAL

A HUMOROUS OPERETTA

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

BERNARD PAGE

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

ARTHUR RICHARDS.

Price (both Notations together) Two Shillings. Tonic Sol-fa edition 8d.
Book of Words, 12s. 6d. per 100.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

THE FAIRY SLIPPER

("The Story of Cinderella")

A CHILDREN'S OPERA

IN THREE TABLEAUX

WRITTEN AND COMPOSED BY

E. CUTHBERT NUNN.

Price (both Notations together) Two Shillings. Tonic Sol-fa edition, 8d.
Book of Words, 12s. 6d. per 100.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

KING BULBOUS

A COMIC OPERA FOR SCHOOLS AND CLASSES

WRITTEN BY

P. H. CRIB

COMPOSED BY

HENRY FESTING JONES.

(Op. 8.)

Price Two Shillings. Tonic Sol-fa Edition, 8d.
Book of Words, 16s. 8d. per 100.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

THE SNOW QUEEN

AN OPERETTA FOR CHILDREN'S VOICES

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

MRS. GEORGE MARTYN

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

CHARLES BRAUN.

Price One Shilling.
Tonic Sol-fa Edition, 6d. Book of Words, 12s. 6d. per 100.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

THE

EVE OF SAINT AGNES

DRAMATIC BALLAD

From the Poem by KEATS

COMPOSED FOR

SOLI, CHORUS, AND ORCHESTRA

BY

THOMAS WHITNEY SURETTE.

Price Two Shillings.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

REVERIE

FOR

VIOLIN AND PIANOFORTE

COMPOSED BY

J. CHRISTOPHER MARKS.

Price Two Shillings.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

A SUNBEAM MESSENGER

SONG

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

MRS. HENRY CREWE

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

T. R. G. JOSÉ, Mus.D.

Price Two Shillings.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

NEW PART-SONG FOR S.A.T.B.

NYMPHS OF THE OCEAN

BY

W. W. PEARSON.

Octavo. Threepence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

DR. ROLAND ROGERS' NEW PART-SONGS
FOR S.A.T.B.

THREE FISHERS WENT SAILING

Words by KINGSLEY.
Old Notation, Fourpence; Sol-fa, Twopence.

AND

THE STORM

Words by ADELAIDE PROCTOR.
Old Notation, Fourpence; Sol-fa, Twopence.
(Composed, by request, for the Batley Annual Competition, Nov., 1897.)
"An immense success."

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

PRACTICAL HINTS

ON THE

TRAINING OF CHOIRBOYS

(New and Enlarged Edition of, 1897)

BY G. EDWARD STUBBS, M.A.,
Organist and Choirmaster of St. Agnes' Chapel, Trinity Parish, New York.

Manual for the use of Clergymen, Choirmasters, School Teachers, and others interested in the culture of Boys' Voices.
Price Three Shillings and Sixpence.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

Music for Female Voices

WITH ACCOMPANIMENT FOR THE

PIANOFORTE

AND

OTHER INSTRUMENTS.

	s.	d.
A. C. MACKENZIE.—O THOU DIVINE URANIA'S SON. Duet for S.A., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte Duet, Triangle, and Cymbals	0	6
—— REJOICE, FOR LOVE IS LORD. Duet for S.A., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte Duet, Triangle, and Cymbals	0	4
EDWARD ELGAR.—THE SNOW. Trio for S.S.C., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte and Two Violins	0	6
Tonic Sol-fa	0	1½
Violin Parts, 6d. each.
—— FLY, SINGING BIRD. Trio for S.S.A., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte and Two Violins	0	6
Tonic Sol-fa	0	1½
Violin Parts, 6d. each.
HAMILTON CLARKE.—TO-DAY AND TO-MORROW. Trio for S.S.C., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte, Castanets, Triangle, and Tambourine	0	4
Tonic Sol-fa	0	1½
—— TO THE WOODS. Trio for S.S.C., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte, Castanets, Triangle, and Tambourine	0	4
Tonic Sol-fa	0	1½
—— MOONLIGHT. Vocal Waltz for S.S.C., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte, Castanets, Triangle, and Tambourine	0	4
Tonic Sol-fa	0	1½
—— SUMMER. Trio for S.S.A., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte, Castanets, Triangle, and Tambourine	0	4
Tonic Sol-fa	0	1½
FLORENCE MARSHALL.—CHORAL DANCES (Minuet, Waltzes, and Galop) from "Prince Sprite," a Fairy Operetta, with Accompaniment for Pianoforte and Strings (ad lib.)	1	0
String Parts (in the Press).

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

G. RICORDI AND CO.

Best Italian MANDOLINES (Vinaccia, Salvino, &c.).
Best Italian VIOLINS (Stradivarius Model).
Best Italian STRINGS.
Best Italian PLECTRUMS.

PRICE LIST MAY BE HAD ON APPLICATION TO G. RICORDI AND CO.

RICORDI'S "SPECIAL" EDITION

OF VOCAL TUTORS, SOLFEGGI, AND EXERCISES,

With Pianoforte Accompaniment (Full Music Size), as used at the Royal College of Music, the Royal Academy of Music, the Guildhall School of Music, and by all the leading Professors of Singing.

Vol.		Net Price s.	d.
1.	G. NAVA.—Elementary Solfeggi for Medium Voice. Book I.	1	6
2.	—— Elementary Solfeggi for Medium Voice. Book II.	1	6
3.	—— Elementary Solfeggi for Medium Voice. Book III.	1	6
4.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Contralto and Bass. Book I	1	6
5.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Contralto and Bass. Book II.	1	6
6.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Contralto and Bass. Complete	2	6
7.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Mezzo-Sop. and Bar. Book I.	1	6
8.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Mezzo-Sop. and Bar. Book II.	1	6
9.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Mezzo-Soprano and Baritone. Complete	2	6
10.	F. LAMPERTI.—Daily Exercises	1	0
11.	—— First Lessons in Singing for Soprano, Mezzo-Soprano or Tenor. Book I.	1	6
12.	—— First Lessons in Singing for Soprano, Mezzo-Soprano or Tenor. Book II.	1	6
13.	—— First Lessons in Singing for Soprano, Mezzo-Soprano or Tenor. Complete	2	6
14.	G. NAVA.—Fifty-one Progressive Melodies for Soprano or Tenor (Op. 38). Book I.	1	6
15.	—— Fifty-one Progressive Melodies for Soprano or Tenor (Op. 38). Book II.	1	6
16.	—— Fifty-one Progressive Melodies for Soprano or Tenor (Op. 38). Complete	2	6
17.	N. VACCAJ.—Practical Method of Italian Singing	1	6
18.	G. NAVA.—Practical Method of Vocalisation for Bass or Baritone	2	6
19.	—— Elements of Vocalisation for Soprano or Tenor	2	6
20.	G. CONCONE.—Fifty Singing Lessons for Medium Voice.	1	0
21.	—— Forty Singing Lessons for Bass or Baritone	1	0
22.	—— Forty Singing Lessons for Contralto	1	0

May be had of all Musicsellers, and of
G. RICORDI and Co., 265, Regent Street, London, W.

NEW FOREIGN PUBLICATIONS.

	s.	d.
ARENSKY, A.—Concerto. For Pianoforte and Orchestra. New edition:—
Full Score	net 24	0
Orchestral Parts	„ 24	0
Pianoforte Part	„ 8	0
BIBL, R.—Funeral Fugue (In memoriam J. Brahms) on Two Themes from Brahms's "Requiem." For Organ	net 2	0
BRAHMS, J.—Five Waltzes. Arranged for Two Pianofortes (Duet) by the Composer. Op. 39	net 6	0
—— Texte. Vollständige Sammlung der von Johannes Brahms componirten und musikalisch bearbeiteten Dichtungen	net 8	0
—— Sonate (in D), for Pianoforte and Violin, Op. 78. Arranged for Pianoforte and Violoncello	15	0
CAPOCCI, F.—Fifth Sonata (in C minor). For Organ	6	0
CUI, C.—Five Short Duets. For Flute and Violin, with Pianoforte Accompaniment. Op. 56	complete. net 5	0
DUBOIS, TH.—2nd Concerto, for Pianoforte and Orchestra. Arranged for Two Pianofortes	net 9	0
ENNA, AUG.—Concert (in D). For Violin, with Pianoforte Accompaniment	net 6	0
ERICHSON, A.—"Idylle à la Rococo." For Pianoforte. Op. 51	3	0
GABRILOWITSCH, O.—Five Pieces. For Pianoforte. Op. 1:— No. 1. Petite Sérénade. No. 2. Mélodie orientale. No. 3. Valse lente. No. 4. Romance. No. 5. Menuet	each 4	0
GUILMANT, A.—6th Sonata. For Organ (In the Press.)
HAHN, R.—Caprice mélancholique. For Two Pianofortes	8	0
IPPOLITOFF-IWANOW, M.—Quartet (in A minor). For Strings. Op. 13:—
Full Score	net 2	0
Parts	„ 11	0
JÀMBOR, E.—Airs et Danses anciennes hongroises. For Pianoforte Duet. Two Books	each book 7	0
—— Quatuor (in G minor). For Two Violins, Viola, and Violoncello. Op. 55	15	0
KLEINMICHEL, R.—"Russkija Pjesni" (Russian Dances and Melodies). For Pianoforte Solo	net 2	6
LOESCHHORN, A.—Five Pieces. For Pianoforte Solo. Op. 199:—
No. 1. Menuet	4	0
„ 2. Intermezzo	4	0
„ 3. Albumblatt	3	0
„ 4. Scherzino	5	0
„ 5. Capricietto	4	0
—— Four Pieces. For Pianoforte. Op 200:—
No. 1. Gavotte	4	0
„ 2. Menuet	4	0
„ 3. Valse sentimentale	4	0
„ 4. Novelliette	4	0
MOHR, H.—Polacca. For Two Pianofortes (eight hands). Op. 48	6	0
—— The same. For Two Pianofortes (eight hands) and Strings	11	0
OLSEN, O.—"Miniatures." Suite. For String Orchestra:—
Score	net 4	0
Parts	„ 4	0
PACHULSKI, H.—Suite (à la mémoire de Tschaïkowsky). Prelude, Scherzo, Momento lirico, Scènes de ballet. Op. 13:—
Full Score	net 20	0
—— The same. For Pianoforte Duet	„ 10	0
PHILIPP, I.—Valse caprice, sur des thèmes de Strauss. For Two Pianofortes	net 4	0
RAMEAU, J. PH.—Œuvres complètes. Publiées sous la direction de C. SAINT-SAËNS. Vol. III. Cantatas	net 20	0
RITTER, A.—"Olaf's Wedding Dance." For Pianoforte Duet	10	0
—— "Sursum Corda." Fantasia for Orchestra. Arranged for Pianoforte Duet	10	0
ROSENTHAL, M.—"Papillons." For Pianoforte Solo	net 3	6
SAINT-SAËNS.—"Samson and Dalila." Cantabile, arranged for Pianoforte Solo	5	0
SCHÜTT, E.—Walzer-Märchen. For Pianoforte Duet	12	0
—— Elégie Slave. For Violin and Pianoforte	3	0
—— Valse bluette. For Violin and Pianoforte	3	0
SEMENOFF, A.—Douze Etudes artistiques. For Flute. Two Books	each, net 3	0
SÖDERMANN, A.—"Bröllops March." For Pianoforte Duet and Strings	net 2	6
SOKOLOW, N.—Suite. For Violoncello and Pianoforte. Op. 26	complete 8	0
No. 1. Prelude. No. 2. Nocturne. No. 3. Scherzo.
TANÉIËW.—Quatuor (in D minor). For Two Violins, Viola, and Violoncello. Op. 7:—
Full Score	net 1	6
TSCHAÏKOWSKY, P.—"Divertimento." For Two Pianofortes (Duet). (From Suite, Op. 43)	6	0
—— "Casse-noisette." Suite for Orchestra, arranged for Pianoforte Solo	net 6	0
—— Polonaise (from "Eugèn Onéguin"). Arranged for Pianoforte, Violin, and Violoncello	8	0
—— "Hopak." Danse Kosaque (from "Mazeppa"). For Pianoforte Duet	5	0
—— Arioso (from "Pique Dame"). For Violoncello and Piano	3	0
—— "Symphonie pathétique." For Two Pianos (Duet)	net 15	0
VENEZIA, FRANCO DA.—"Pièces romantiques." For Pianoforte Solo. Op. 5:—
Book I. Capriccio, Berceuse, Intermezzo	net 4	0
„ II. Epithalame, Ländler, Finale	„ 4	0
—— Scherzo (in D major). For Pianoforte Solo	„ 4	0

Sold at half-price, if not marked net.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Digitized by Google

THE

Communicant's Choral Card

CONSISTING OF

SURSUM CORDA, SANCTUS, GLORIA IN EXCELSIS, AND THREEFOLD AMEN

ARRANGED BY

THE REV. W. H. BLISS, M.A., MUS. BAC.

Price 1d.; on Card, 1½d.

A SIMPLE CHORAL COMMUNION CARD

CONSISTING OF

KYRIE, BEFORE AND AFTER THE GOSPEL, SURSUM CORDA, SANCTUS, GLORIA IN EXCELSIS, AND THREE-FOLD AMEN.

ARRANGED AND COMPOSED BY

REV. F. R. BRYANS, B.A.

On Card, Threepence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

THE PARISH HYMN

WRITTEN BY THE

REV. W. CUNLIFFE

TUNE BY

GEORGE C. MARTIN.

1.

O GOD, our Father, in compassion hear
Our prayer to Thee, and in Thy love draw near;
Forgive our sin, and ever with us stay
In cloud or sunshine through the live-long day.

2.

Come, Lord, and bless this Parish with the grace
Which helps Thy children in the Christian race:
Breathe on dead souls, and rouse them into life;
Give courage, hope, and conquest in the strife.

3.

Prevent the young: their faltering footsteps guide,
And for their weakness heavenly help provide;
Be Thou their strength, as years on years increase,
And to the aged give Thy heavenly peace.

4.

Let all our brethren in this Parish feel
That Thou, alone, canst all our evils heal:
Draw them to seek Thee in Thy House of Prayer,
And to Thy footstool all their burdens bear.

5.

Our clergy bless, and teach them souls to win,
To guide the wanderers from the paths of sin:
Give them their people's love, and reverence due;
And, when downcast, their fading hopes renew.

6.

Make us receive their message, which is Thine,
And clothe the Living Word with power Divine:
And to our souls do Thou Thyself present,
As we partake the Holy Sacrament.

7.

Bless all who labour in Thy sacred cause
With loyal hearts to teach Thy holy laws;
Give them Thy light, without which all is night,
Till faith and hope be lost in perfect sight.

8.

Dear Father, by Thy Spirit help us now
With deep humility the knee to bow;
And when, at last, of death we cross the ford,
Take us to dwell with Thee, through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Price Three-Halfpence. Words only, price 2s. 6d. per 100.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

WILLIAM J. YOUNG'S

POPULAR PART-SONGS FOR S.A.T.B.

Gaily thro' the greenwood	56th	thousand	2d.
Ditto, Duet for Sopranos	2nd	,,	2d.
A Happy New Year	5th	,,	3d.
Songs of praise the angels sang	8th	,,	3d.
Fairy Revels, 13th thousand; England's Glory..	8th	,,	each 3d.
Anglia! land of the brave	2nd	,,	3d.
Blow, ye balmy breezes, blow	10th	,,	3d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.
COMPOSER, 51, Barton Arcade, Manchester.

NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.'S

ALBUMS FOR PIANOFORTE

AND

STRINGED INSTRUMENTS

(Two Violins, Viola, and Violoncello).

The Pieces in these Albums are so arranged that if any Part, or Combination of Parts, in addition to the First Violin and Pianoforte, is used they will sound complete.

No. 1.

SUITE OF FOUR PIECES

BY ARNOLD DOLMETSCH.

Price 2s. 6d. Separate String Parts, 6d. each.

No. 2.

SUITE OF FIVE PIECES

BY HENRY PURCELL.

Price 2s. 6d. Separate String Parts, 6d. each.

No. 3.

THREE DANCES

From the Music to "Henry VIII."

BY EDWARD GERMAN.

Price 5s. Separate String Parts, 1s. each.

No. 4.

GAVOTTE IN D

BY RAMEAU.

Price 2s. 6d. Separate String Parts, 6d. each.

No. 5.

SIX PIECES FROM THE WATER MUSIC

BY G. F. HANDEL.

1. Bourrée in F. | 3. Minuet in F. | 5. Aria in G.
2. Air in F. | 4. Hornpipe in F. | 6. Allegro in D.

Price 3s. 6d. Separate String Parts, 6d. each.

No. 6.

TWO BOURRÉES

BY G. F. HANDEL.

Price 2s. Separate String Parts, 6d. each.

No. 7.

BENEDICTUS

From Six Pieces for the Violin.

BY A. C. MACKENZIE.

Price 3s. Separate String Parts, 6d. each.

No. 8.

JUDEX FROM "MORS ET VITA"

BY CHARLES GOUNOD.

Price 3s.; Separate String Parts, 6d. each.

No. 9.

WEDDING MARCH

BY MENDELSSOHN

Price 2s. 6d. Separate String Parts, 6d. each.

No. 10.

WAR MARCH ("ATHALIE")

BY MENDELSSOHN.

Price 2s. 6d. Separate String Parts, 6d. each.

No. 11.

CORNELIUS MARCH

BY MENDELSSOHN.

Price 2s. 6d. Separate String Parts, 6d. each.

No. 12.

FUNERAL MARCH

BY MENDELSSOHN.

Price 2s. 6d. Separate String Parts, 6d. each.

No. 13.

GAVOTTE

À LA MODE ANCIENNE

BY GEORGE ELVEY.

Price 2s. Separate String Parts, 6d. each.

To be continued.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Digitized by Google

Just Published.

THE SONGS
IN LE NOZZE DI FIGARO
COMPOSED BY MOZART
EDITED, WITH MARKS OF EXPRESSION AND PHRASING,
BY
ALBERTO RANDEGGER.

PREFACE.

Mozart's keen appreciation of the subtleties of the words he set to music is often so evident that, without a thorough understanding of their significance, it would be impossible to sing the music—to the spirit of which the words are closely allied—in strict accordance with the composer's intention.

With this object in view a special English version has been adapted, to express, as nearly as possible, the literal meaning of the original Italian text.

In these translations no attempt has been made at versification, and they do not claim any literary merit, but they may be used in singing the songs, if desired.

In any case they will prove valuable to singers who are not familiar with the Italian language.

The alterations, cadences, &c., added in small type over the original music, are used by many eminent artists. The Editor, however, does not hold himself responsible for them, and leaves their adoption or rejection to the taste and discretion of the singer.

BOOK 1.
SOPRANO (The Countess).
1. PORGI AMOR. 2. DOVE SONO.
3. AL DESÌO DI CHÌ T'ADORA.

BOOK 2.
SOPRANO (Susanna and Cherubino).
1. DEH VIENI, NON TARDAR.
2. NON SO PIÙ COSA SON. 3. VOI, CHE SAPETE.
4. UN MOTO DI GIOJA.

BOOK 3.
BARITONE (Figaro).
1. SE VUOL BALLARE. 2. NON PIÙ ANDRAI.
3. APRITE UN PO' QUEGL' OCCHI.

BOOK 4.
BARITONE AND BASS (The Count and Bartolo).
1. VEDRÒ MENTR' IO SOSPIRO.
2. LA VENDETTA.

PRICE TWO SHILLINGS EACH BOOK.

In the Press, uniform with above,
THE SONGS
IN DON GIOVANNI
COMPOSED BY MOZART
EDITED, WITH MARKS OF EXPRESSION AND PHRASING,
BY
ALBERTO RANDEGGER.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

SONGS by H. WALFORD DAVIES.

OUR LADY OF THE SNOWS
Poem by RUDYARD KIPLING.
HYMN BEFORE ACTION
Poem by RUDYARD KIPLING
Ad libitum accompaniment for Chorus of Men's voices, in four parts, 4d.
YE JACOBITES BY NAME
Poem by ROBERT BURNS.
THE FAREWELL
Poem by ROBERT BURNS.
THE LAWLANDS O' HOLLAND
OLD BALLAD.
A SONG OF INNOCENCE
Poem by WILLIAM BLAKE.

Price Two Shillings each.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

SONGS by GRAHAM P. MOORE.

NO ANSWER
Poem by ROBERT REINICK.
WANDERER'S NIGHT SONG
Poem by EICHENDORFF.
TO THE ABSENT ONE
Poem by GOETHE.
A RED, RED ROSE
Poem by ROBERT BURNS.
THE DREAM OF YOUTH
Poem by OELBERMANN.
HOW WONDROUS FAIR THOU ART
Poem by STRACHWITZ.

Price Two Shillings each.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

ENGLISH LYRICS
SET TO MUSIC BY
C. HUBERT H. PARRY.

THIRD SET.

TO LUCASTA, ON GOING TO THE WARS
Poem by LOVELACE.
IF THOU WOULD'ST EASE THINE HEART
Poem by BEDDOES.
TO ALTHEA, FROM PRISON
Poem by LOVELACE.
WHY SO PALE AND WAN
Poem by SUCKLING.
THROUGH THE IVORY GATE
Poem by JULIAN STURGIS.
OF ALL THE TORMENTS
Poem by WILLIAM WALSH.

FOURTH SET.

THINE EYES STILL SHINED FOR ME
Poem by EMERSON.
WHEN LOVERS MEET AGAIN
Poem by LANGDON ELWYN MITCHELL.
WHEN WE TWO PARTED
Poem by BYRON.
WEEP YOU NO MORE
Poem ANON.
THERE BE NONE OF BEAUTY'S DAUGHTERS
Poem by BYRON.
BRIGHT STAR
Poem by KEATS.

Price Four Shillings each Set.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.'S
LIST OF WORKS SUITABLE FOR NEW YEAR PRESENTS.

	s.	d.
J. S. BACH.—His Work and Influence on the Music of Germany, 1685-1750. By PHILIPP SPITTA. Three Vols. cloth	42	0
JOSEPH BARNBY.—Original Hymn Tunes. 246 Tunes, complete in One Volume. 188 pp., demy 8vo. .. cloth	3	6
STERNDALE BENNETT.—Twelve Songs .. .. „	2	6
BERLIOZ.—A Treatise on Modern Instrumentation and Orchestration .. .. 8vo, cloth	12	0
BEETHOVEN.—Sonatas. A. ZIMMERMANN .. folio, cloth	21	0
—— Ditto .. .. Elegantly bound in whole Morocco, &c.	51	0
—— Ditto .. .. 8vo, cloth	7	6
J. BLUMENTHAL.—Two Books of Song .. paper, each	4	0
—— Ditto .. .. cloth, each	6	0
FREDERICK CHOPIN.—As a Man and Musician. By FREDERICK NIECKS. Two Vols.	25	0
CAPTAIN C. R. DAY.—The Music and Musical Instruments of Southern India and the Deccan. Illustrated with Seventeen Plates. Handsomely bound	73	6
—— Ditto. Artist's proof copies, on finest Japanese paper ..	147	0
CATHEDRAL PRAYER BOOK (With Music):—
No. 1. Demy 8vo, 620 pp., large type. With Canticles and Psalter pointed for chanting .. Cloth, bevelled, red edges	6	0
No. 2. Demy 8vo, 592 pp., large type. With Canticles and Psalter pointed, set to appropriate Chants (Cathedral Psalter Chants) .. .. Cloth, bevelled, red edges	6	0
No. 3. Imperial 32mo, 692 pp., Pocket Edition. With Canticles and Psalter pointed for chanting. Cloth, bevelled, red edges	3	6
A large variety of Special Bindings in Stock.
CATHEDRAL PARAGRAPH PSALTER .. .. cloth	3	6
CHRISTMAS CAROLS.—New and Old. Rev. H. R. BRAMLEY, M.A., and J. STAINER. Beautifully Illustrated cloth, gilt	7	6
Library Edition, with historical Preface. Roxburgh binding	7	6
E. DANNREUTHER.—Musical Ornamentation, from Diruta to modern times. Two Vols. .. .. each	5	0
—— Ditto .. .. paper boards „	6	0
F. G. EDWARDS.—The History of Mendelssohn's Oratorio "Elijah" .. .. cloth, gilt	3	6
J. W. ELLIOTT.—National Nursery Rhymes and Songs. Beautifully Illustrated and elegantly bound	7	6
CARL ENGEL.—The Literature of National Music .. cloth	5	0
—— Researches into the Early History of the Violin Family cloth	7	6
SIR GEORGE GROVE.—Beethoven and his Nine Symphonies .. .. cloth, gilt	6	0
HANDEL.—"Messiah." Elegantly bound in whole calf. gilt edges, folio	34	0
—— Ditto .. .. folio, cloth	10	0
—— Ditto. Fac-simile of the Autograph Full Score cloth, gilt edges, toned paper	25	0
—— Ditto, ditto .. .. cloth, red edges	21	0
DR. EDUARD HANSLICK.—"The Beautiful in Music." A contribution to the revival of Musical Æsthetics. Translated by GUSTAV COHEN .. .. cloth	6	0
MORITZ HAUPTMANN.—The Letters of a Leipzig Cantor. Translated and arranged by A. D. COLERIDGE. Two Vols. cloth, gilt	21	0
H. HERKOMER.—Six Easy Pieces for the Violin. Illustrated	6	0
—— Ditto. Superior paper, illustrations on Japanese vellum, only a limited number printed (numbered and signed) ..	21	0
LADY ARTHUR HILL.—Holiday Songs..	2	6
A. J. HIPKINS.—A description and History of the Pianoforte and the older Keyboard Stringed Instruments paper boards	3	0
JENNY LIND.—A Record and Analysis of the "Method" of the late Jenny Lind-Goldschmidt. By W. S. ROCKSTRO cloth	2	0
A. C. MACKENZIE.—Eighteen Songs .. .. cloth, gilt	7	6
MENDELSSOHN.—Pianoforte Works (including the Lieder ohne Worte) .. .. folio, cloth, gilt	21	0
—— Ditto, ditto. Elegantly bound in whole Morocco folio, gilt edges	51	0
—— Ditto, ditto .. .. 8vo, cloth, gilt	10	0
—— Lieder ohne Worte. The only complete edition. Eight books (with Portrait of Composer) .. .. .. folio	12	0
—— Ditto, ditto .. .. folio, cloth, gilt	8	0
—— Ditto, ditto. Elegantly bound in whole Morocco .. folio	47	0
—— Ditto, ditto, ditto .. .. 8vo, gilt edges	17	6
—— Ditto, ditto .. .. 8vo, cloth, gilt	6	0
—— Ditto, ditto .. .. cloth, gilt	4	6
—— Symphonies (Solo) .. .. folio	12	0
—— Symphonies (Duet) .. .. „	15	0
—— Overtures (Solo) .. .. „	12	0
—— Overtures (Duet) .. .. „	15	0
—— "Elijah." Arranged by B. TOURS .. .. .. „	5	0
—— Songs .. .. folio, cloth, gilt	21	0
—— Songs .. .. 8vo, cloth, gilt	6	0
—— Songs (Deep Voice).. .. .. .. 8vo, cloth, gilt	8	0
MOORE.—Irish Melodies .. .. .. 8vo, cloth, gilt	4	0
—— Ditto .. .. folio, cloth, gilt	21	0
MOZART.—Sonatas .. .. folio, cloth, gilt	18	0
—— Ditto .. .. .. bound in whole calf extra, gilt edges	48	0
MOZART. Sonatas .. .. 8vo, cloth, gilt	5	0
LIFE OF MOZART. By E. HOLMES. Including his Correspondence .. .. cloth	5	0
LIFE OF MOZART. By OTTO JAHN. Translated from the German by PAULINE D. TOWNSEND, with Five Portraits and Preface by Sir GEORGE GROVE, D.C.L. Three Vols. .. .. cloth	31	6
EMMA MUNDELLA.—The Day School Hymn-Book cloth, bevelled red edges	3	6
NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.'S PIANOFORTE ALBUMS. Edited by BERTHOLD TOURS:— Pieces by Various Composers. Seventeen Vols. cloth, gilt, each	4	0
ORATORIOS, OPERAS, and CANTATAS (Novello's Original 8vo Edition). Any of the above can be had in Roan, rounded corners, red and gilt edges, price 3s. in excess of the marked price of the paper cover edition.
ALBERTO RANDEGGER.—Sacred Songs for Little Singers. Words by F. R. HAVERGAL. Illustrated .. cloth, gilt	5	0
RUBINSTEIN.—Eighteen Two-part Songs .. cloth, gilt	4	6
SCHUMANN.—Original Compositions for the Pianoforte. Edited by A. ZIMMERMANN. Vol. I. .. folio, cloth, gilt	21	0
—— Ditto, ditto .. .. 8vo, cloth, gilt	7	6
—— Ditto, ditto. Vol. II. .. .. .. folio, cloth, gilt	21	0
—— Ditto, ditto. Vol III. .. .. .. folio, cloth, gilt	21	0
—— Pianoforte Album for the Young.. .. .. cloth, gilt	4	6
—— Songs. Vol. I. Edited by N. MACFARREN folio, cloth, gilt	10	6
—— Vocal Album. Containing thirty of his most celebrated Songs .. .. cloth, gilt	4	6
SOUVENIR SONG BOOK. Containing Forty-one Songs for Children by the best English and American Composers large 8vo, paper cover	3	0
J. STAINER.—A Theory of Harmony. With Questions and Exercises for the use of Students .. .. cloth	7	6
—— A Dictionary of Musical Terms. By J. STAINER and W. A. BARRETT .. .. large 8vo, cloth	7	6
SUNLIGHT OF SONG.—A Collection of Sacred and Moral Songs. With Forty-six Illustrations .. handsomely bound	5	0
—— Ditto .. .. paper boards	3	6
FRANKLIN TAYLOR.—Technique and Expression in Pianoforte Playing .. .. cloth, gilt lettered	5	0
TWELVE NEW SONGS. By some of the best and best known British Composers. Edited by H. BOULTON. With handsome Frontispiece by FRANK DICKSEE, R.A. .. cloth	12	0
WESTMINSTER ABBEY HYMN BOOK, with Tunes. Edited by FREDERICK BRIDGE .. .. demy 8vo, cloth	4	0
—— Ditto. Hymns only	1	0

Cheaper Editions of most of the above may also be had. For particulars see Catalogue.

	s.	d.
FREDERIC ARCHER.—The Organist's Journal .. cloth	15	0
J. S. BACH.—Grand Studies. Consisting of Preludes, Fugues, Toccatas, &c.	10	6
W. T. BEST.—Arrangements from Scores of the Great Masters. Five Vols. .. .. cloth, each	36	0
—— Fifteen Celebrated Marches. Arranged from Scores of the Great Masters	4	6
—— Collection of Pieces for Church Use .. .. .. cloth	12	0
—— Six Concert Pieces	8	0
SIR JOHN GOSS.—Collection of Voluntaries .. .. cloth	3	0
—— The Organist's Companion. Four Vols. .. cloth, each	5	0
CH. GOUNOD.—A Selection of Movements from "The Redemption." Arranged by Dr. G. C. MARTIN	5	0
—— A Selection of Movements from "Mors et Vita." Arranged by Dr. G. C. MARTIN..	5	0
HANDEL.—Six Organ Concertos	7	6
—— Choruses. Arranged by H. G. NIXON. Two Vols. each	20	0
JOHN HILES.—Hand-Book for the Organ	21	0
—— Short Voluntaries. Five Vols. .. .. .. cloth, each	5	0
LÉFÉBURE WÉLY.—Six Grand Offertoires	2	6
—— The Modern Organist .. .. cloth	12	0
J. LEMMENS.—Four Organ Pieces in the Free Style	6	0
—— Trois Sonates..	7	6
MENDELSSOHN.—Six Grand Sonatas, and Three Preludes and Fugues. Edited by W. T. BEST	5	0
—— Twelve Lieder ohne Worte. Arranged for Organ paper cover, oblong	3	0
S. NEUKOMM.—Elementary Method for the Organ or Harmonium .. .. cloth	10	6
C. H. RINK.—Practical Organ School. Edited by W. T. BEST cloth	12	0
DR. W. SPARK.—The Organist's Quarterly Journal. Nine Vols .. .. cloth, each	21	0
THE VILLAGE ORGANIST.—Books 1-6, in One Volume, elegantly bound in cloth	6	0
DR. W. J. WESTBROOK.—Voluntaries for the Organ. Three Vols. .. .. cloth, each	10	6
—— The Young Organist. Two Vols. .. .. cloth, each	7	6

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Printed by NOVELLO, EWER and Co., at 69 & 70, Dean Street (W.), and published at 1, Berners Street (W.), and 80 & 81, Queen Street (E.C.). Sold also by KENT and Co., Paternoster Row (E.C.)—Saturday, January 1, 1898.

Digitized by Google

by Google

THE MUSICAL TIMES

AND SINGING-CLASS CIRCULAR.

PUBLISHED ON THE FIRST OF EVERY MONTH.

No. 660.—Vol. 39. FEBRUARY 1, 1898. Price 4d.; Postage, 1½d.

Registered for transmission abroad. Annual Subscription, Post-free, 5s.

ROYAL CHORAL SOCIETY,

ROYAL ALBERT HALL.

Patron: Her Majesty the Queen.
President: H.R.H. The Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, Duke of Edinburgh, K.G.

Conductor: Sir Frederick Bridge, Mus.D.

GOUNOD'S "REDEMPTION"

On ASH WEDNESDAY, February 23, at 8.

Artists:

Miss ELLA RUSSELL. | Mr. P. BROZEL.
Miss MAGGIE PURVIS. | Mr. DANIEL PRICE.
Madame BELLE COLE. | Mr. WATKIN MILLS.

Organist: Mr. H. L. BALFOUR.

BAND AND CHORUS, ONE THOUSAND.

Prices: Stalls, 7s. 6d.; Arena, 6s.; Balcony (Reserved), 5s.; Unreserved, 4s.; Gallery (Promenade), 1s.

ROYAL ACADEMY OF MUSIC,

TENTERDEN STREET, W.

Instituted 1822. Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1830.

Patrons: Her Majesty the Queen and the Royal Family.
President: H.R.H. The Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.
Principal: Sir A. C. Mackenzie, Mus. Doc.

Lent Half-Term begins Thursday, February 17. Entrance Examination therefor, Monday, February 14, at 2.
Lectures by H. Lesingham, Esq., February 2, 9, and 16, at 3.15.
Lectures by Walter Macfarren, Esq., F.R.A.M., February 23, March 2, 9, 16, 23, and 30.
Organ Recital at Queen's Hall, February 10, at 3.
Chamber Concert at St. James's Hall, February 28, at 3.
Prospectus, Entry Forms, and all information may be obtained from the Secretary. F. W. RENAUT, Secretary.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC,

Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1883,

PRINCE CONSORT ROAD, SOUTH KENSINGTON, S.W.

President: H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES, K.G.
Director: C. Hubert H. Parry, Esq., D.C.L., M.A., Mus. Doc.
Hon. Sec.: Charles Morley, Esq., M.P.

HALF-TERM begins February 17. NEXT TERM, May 5.
ASSOCIATE of the R.C.M. Next Examination, April, 1898. Last day for entering, March 9
The DOVE SCHOLARSHIP for VIOLONCELLO will be competed for in March.
Syllabus and official Entry Forms may be obtained of
FRANK POWNALL, Registrar.

THE GUILDHALL SCHOOL OF MUSIC.—

Established by the Corporation of London, 1880.
Principal: William H. Cummings, Esq.
Students' Orchestra meets Mondays, 6.30 p.m. Classes for study of Rudiments of Music, also Sight Singing, held daily. Full particulars of Secretary. By order of the Committee,
Victoria Embankment, Blackfriars, E.C. HILTON CARTER, Sec.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF ORGANISTS.

The Solo Playing tests for the Midsummer Fellowship Examination are: Toccata and Fugue in E major—Bach; Prelude in C (Six Pieces)—Stainer; and Sonata in C sharp minor—Basil Harwood.
The College Library is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on Tuesdays and Thursdays until 7 p.m.
Members desiring practice on the College Organ may obtain particulars on application.
The large Hall, and sundry smaller rooms, may be hired for concerts, meetings, &c.
E. H. TURPIN, Hon. Secretary.
Hart Street, Bloomsbury, W.C.

UNIVERSITY OF DURHAM.

Examinations for Degrees in Music are held in March and September.
Full particulars, with copies of former papers, of Dr. Armes, The Bailey, Durham.

QUEEN'S HALL,

LANGHAM PLACE, W.

LIST OF MR. ROBERT NEWMAN'S CONCERTS,

Season 1898.

THE QUEEN'S HALL

SATURDAY SYMPHONY CONCERTS.

(Under the management of Mr. Robert Newman.)

Conductor: Mr. HENRY J. WOOD.

THE QUEEN'S HALL SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.
Principal Violin.. .. .. Mr. ARTHUR W. PAYNE.
Organist and Accompanist .. Mr. PERCY PITT.

THE QUEEN'S HALL CHORAL SOCIETY.

Saturday Afternoons, at 3.
February 5, 12, 19, 26. | March 5, 12, 19.

Reserved Seats, 7s. 6d., 5s.; Unreserved, 3s., 2s., 1s.
At Robert Newman's Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

LAMOUREUX ORCHESTRAL CONCERTS.

(Under the management of Mr. Robert Newman.)

Conductor: MONS. CHARLES LAMOUREUX.

QUEEN'S HALL GRAND ORCHESTRA of 103 Performers.
Principal Violin .. Mr. ARTHUR W. PAYNE.

Afternoon Concerts.—February 2, March 2, April 20.
Evening Concerts.—February 16, March 15, May 4.

Subscription for Three Afternoon Concerts or Subscription for Three Evening Concerts } 27s. 6d., 22s. 6d., 15s.

Single Tickets—Reserved, 10s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 5s.; Unreserved, 2s. 6d., 1s.
At Robert Newman's Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

Programmes on application at Robert Newman's Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

THE

QUEEN'S HALL SUNDAY AFTERNOON ORCHESTRAL CONCERTS.

(Under the management of Mr. Robert Newman.)

Every Sunday Afternoon, at 3.30.

Conductor: Mr. HENRY J. WOOD.

THE QUEEN'S HALL ORCHESTRA of 90 Performers.
Principal Violin .. .. .. Mr. ARTHUR W. PAYNE.
Organist and Accompanist .. Mr. PERCY PITT.

Robert Newman's Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

QUEEN'S HALL CHORAL SOCIETY.

Conductor: Mr. HENRY J. WOOD.

1898.
February 23 .. .. "STABAT MATER," "HYMN OF PRAISE," } at 3.
April 8.. .. .. "REDEMPTION," at 3.

Organist: Mr. PERCY PITT.

The QUEEN'S HALL CHORAL SOCIETY will also take part in several of Mr. Newman's Saturday Afternoon Concerts.

Tickets, 7s. 6d., 5s., 2s. 6d., and 1s.
Robert Newman's Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

Digitized by Google

PROFESSIONAL NOTICES.

MISS FLORENCE ARMRIDING (Soprano)
(Pupil of Mr. Shakespeare and Medalist, R.A.M.).
Oratorios, Concerts, Lessons, &c., at 20, Conduit Street.
Address, Leicester Villa, Ealing, W.

MISS LIZZIE AUSTIN (Soprano)
(Silver Medalist and Certificate, R.A.M.)
Opera, Oratorio, Concerts, &c. 65, Philbeach Gdns., Earl's Ct., S.W.

MISS ETHEL BARNARD (Soprano)
(Bronze and Silver Medals, Certificate of Merit, and Rutson Memorial Prizeholder, R.A.M.)
German Songs a specialty. 25, Upper Richmond Road, Putney, S.W.

MISS LOUISE CESTRIA (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, Opera Recitals, &c. Address, 45, Bridge St., Chester; or, W. B. Healey and Son, 17, Gt. Marlborough St., W.

MISS ELLA CHALLIS (Soprano)
Oratorio, Opera, Concerts, At Homes.
48, Tollington Park, N.

MADAME CONWAY (Soprano)
444, Moss Lane East, Oxford Road, Manchester.

MISS MARJORIE EATON (Soprano)
"CONNLA."—"Miss Eaton sang most charmingly."—Norwood News.
Oratorios, Concerts, &c. 237, Katherine Street, Ashton-under-Lyne.

MISS AMY FLETCHER (Soprano)
Oratorios, Organ Recitals, and Ballad Concerts.
45, Aberdeen Road, Highbury Grange, N.

MISS FUSSELLE (Soprano)
Licentiate (Artist), R.A.M.
For Concerts, Oratorios, &c. 37, Harrington Square, N.W.

MADAME GOODALL (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Address, Leeds.

MISS CORDELIA GRYLLS (Soprano)
(Of the Crystal Palace Orchestral Concerts, &c.)
3, Broadhurst Gardens, South Hampstead, N.W.

MISS LOTTIE HEROD (Soprano)
Mackenzie Terrace, Woodley, near Stockport.

MISS BESSIE HOLT (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c., address, Rawtenstall, near Manchester.

MISS ADA LEE (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, At Homes, &c. Address, 164, Strand, W.C.

MADAME ANNIE NORLEDGE (Soprano)
For Oratorios and Ballad Concerts.
Address, 1, Northgate, Newark, Notts.

MISS ELSIE PATON (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, Banquets, &c.
Address, 223, Burdett Road, Limehouse, E.

MISS WINIFRED PEAKE (Soprano)
Sainton-Dolby Scholar, Silver Medalist and Cert., R.A.M.
For Oratorios, Concerts, At Homes, &c.,
In Town and Provinces.
10, Wedderburn Road, Hampstead, N.W.

MISS MARGARET PEARSON (Soprano)
Concerts, Oratorios, &c., For terms, &c., 50, Bloom St., Stockport.

MISS ALICE SIMONS (Soprano)
(Late Parepa-Rosa Scholar and Medalist, R.A.M. Pupil of Signor Manuel Garcia).
Open to receive Engagements in Oratorios, Ballad Concerts, &c.
Apply to 19, Stamford Hill, N.

MISS LILIAN TURNBULL (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Ballad Concerts, At Homes, Banquets, &c.
Address, 10, Cecile Park, Crouch End, N.

MISS FLORENCE VEREY (Soprano)
Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
Apply, care of N. Vert, Esq., 6, Cork Street, W.; or, 63, Lower Addiscombe Road, Croydon.

MISS AMY NEWTON LUCAS (Mezzo-Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, At Homes, &c.
"JUDAS MACCABÆUS."—"The soprano was Miss Lucas, who increased the reputation she made here some time ago. She is the possessor of a cultured voice of much power and richness and after each of her numbers she had to bow her acknowledgments. Miss Lucas has a future."—The Driffield Observer and East Riding Advertiser, December 18, 1897.
Mill House, Worcester Park, Surrey.

MISS CLARA WALKER (Mezzo or Soprano)
(Low E to C in alt).
104, Lewisham High Road, S.E.

MISS MARY WILLIS (Mezzo-Soprano)
For Oratorios, Operas, Concerts, or Private Lessons, address,
9, Rochester Terrace, Camden Road, N.W.

MISS ALICE BERTENSHAW (Contralto)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c., Katherine Terrace, Ashton-under-Lyne.

MADAME ALISON CAIRD (Contralto)
Oratorios, Organ Recitals, Concerts, &c.
Lossie House, 40, St. Margaret's Road, Crofton Park, S.E.

"Madame Alison Caird was the singer, and in two sacred songs displayed a voice of exceptional beauty, and dramatic power of a high order. Her articulation was very good."—Kensington Express, January 15, 1898.

"The vocalist, Madame Alison Caird, gave 'Lord, Thou hast searched me out,' from Sterndale Bennett's 'Woman of Samaria,' her singing of which was marked by an exquisite calmness and repose, combined with deep feeling. Her second solo was Mendelssohn's 'But the Lord is mindful of His own,' and of this she gave a grand rendering."—East London Observer, January 15, 1898.

"This lady evidently quickly won her way into the affections of the people, who seemed captivated by her fine clear voice. In her rendering of 'But the Lord is mindful' ('St. Paul') and 'O Lord, Thou hast searched me out' (Sterndale Bennett), she was heard to splendid advantage, and our impression certainly was that there is a great future before this cultured artist."—Eastern Post and City Chronicle, January 15, 1898.

MADAME CLARA DORAN (Contralto)
For Oratorios, Organ Recitals, Concerts, At Homes.
39, Malvern Road, Kilburn, N.W.

MISS EMILY FOXCROFT, A.L.A.M. (Contralto)
For Oratorios, Ballads, &c. 76, Calabria Road, N.

MADAME JENNY HOLDEN (Contralto)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
For terms, press notices, and photo, Ashton-under-Lyne, Manchester.

MRS. KATE LEE (Contralto)
For Oratorios, Concerts, Pupils, &c.
41, Rosary Gardens, Gloucester Road, S.W.

MADAME STEPHANIE OLIVE (Contralto)
For Concerts, Oratorios, Operettas, Recitals, &c. Vacant dates and terms, 63, Fortess Road, N.W.

MISS ADA SLATER (Contralto)
For Oratorios, Concerts, Banquets, At Homes.
54, Dunsmure Road, Stamford Hill, N.

MISS ALICE WOLSTENHOLME (Contralto)
Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Address, Oak Bank, Radcliffe, Manchester.

MR. CHARLES RAY (Solo Alto)
(Principal Alto, Holy Trinity, Sloane Street, S.W., and of "The Amphion Gleemen")
May be engaged for Oratorios, Church Festivals, Special Lenten Services, Concerts, Glee Clubs, &c. Exceptional voice. Excellent testimonials. Address, 21, Oakley Road, Canonbury, N.

MR. J. G. BLANCHARD
(Principal Tenor, Italian Church, Hatton Garden).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Address, 41, Savernake Road, N.W.

MR. TOM CHILD (The Yorkshire Tenor)
(Winner of the 100 Guineas Prize, Music Trades Exhibition, 1896).
Open for Sunday Engagements.
For terms and vacant dates, address, The Poplars, Calverley, near Leeds.

MR. WALTER CLINCH (Tenor)
(Late of St. George's Chapel, Windsor Castle).
For Oratorios, Concerts, At Homes, &c., address, Athole House, Alfred Road, Acton, W.

MR. GEORGE GREENE (Tenor)
Address, The Cathedral, Liverpool.

MR. VERNON HENDERSON (Tenor)
For critiques and terms, apply, 22, Powis Square, W.

MR. EDWIN KELLETT (Tenor)
Oratorios, Concerts.
Address, Knottingley; or, care of Joshua Marshall and Co., Ltd., Bank Street, Bradford.

MR. GWILYM RICHARDS (Tenor)
Winner of Joseph Maas Memorial Prize,
" " Goldberg Prize,
" " Evill Prize,
" " Rutson Prize.
At the Royal Academy of Music.
Of the Crystal Palace and St. James's Hall Concerts.
For Oratorios, Ballad Concerts. 30, Redburn Street, Chelsea, S.W.

MR. CHARLES SAUNDERS (Tenor)
Witham's Terrace, Mossley Road, Ashton-under-Lyne.

MR. HERBERT STANSFIELD
(Solo Tenor, York Minster Choir).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c., 94, Lowther Street; or, Minster, York.

MR. HARRY TUDOR (Tenor)
For Concerts, Oratorios, Opera Recitals, &c.
Springfield, Gorton, Manchester.

MR. JOSEPH WILLIAMS (Tenor)
For Concerts, At Homes, Masonic Banquets, &c.
Address, 22, Bolden Street, St. John's, S.E.

Digitized by Google

MR. HERBERT ALDRIDGE (Baritone)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
Address, Saxonbury Villa, Buxton Road, Stratford, E.

MR. W. H. DAWSON (Baritone)
(York Minster).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c., 25, New Walk Terrace; or, Minster, York.

MR. GEO. H. WILSON (Baritone)
(Pupil of J. B. Smith, Esq.)
Address, Broad Street, Ely, Cambs.

MR. WALTER G. WOODCOCK (Baritone)
(Gold Medalist, L.A.M.)
For Oratorios, Concerts, 38, Buckleigh Rd., Streatham Common, S.W.

MR. J. W. METCALFE (Bass)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
"MESSIAH."—"Mr. Metcalfe's was probably the best rendering of Handel's songs we have had for last quarter of a century. He was artistic in all of the airs, and had a suitable vocal organ with which to sing such massive songs as 'But who may abide' and 'Why do the nations.'"—Burnley Express, December 24, 1897.
Address, The Minster, York.

DR. J. M. ENNIS (D.Mus., Lond.)
(Solo Pianist and Conductor).
For Concerts or Lessons (Pianoforte, Harmony, Counterpoint, Composition). Address, 12, Alwyne Villas, Canonbury, N.

MISS MARIAN JAY (Solo Violinist)
(Pupil of M. Emile Sauret, Medalist and Cert. R.A.M.)
Concerts, At Homes, Lessons.
26, Wigmore Street, W.

MISS A. F. VERNET, L.R.A.M. (Violoncellist)
Concerts, At Homes, Quartet Meetings, Lessons.
The Grange, East Sheen, S.W.

MR. ARTHUR STERNE
(Pupil of Madame Emil Behnke)
Teacher of Singing, &c. For terms, 24, Fairfax Road, Bedford Park, London, W.; and Trinity College, Cambridge.

MR. AUGUSTUS TOOP, A.R.C.O.
Organist and Musical Director, St. Peter's, Vere Street, W.
Accompanist, Teacher of Organ, Piano, and Singing.
60, Berners Street, W.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS.
MISS NELLIE ALLAUN (Contralto), I.S.M.
Cert. (Hons. and Adv.). Concerts. 6, Cavendish Rd., Leeds.

MR. EGBERT ROBERTS (Bass, Conductor, Italian Church, Hatton Garden) requests that communications respecting Oratorios, Concerts, or Lessons be addressed, 45, Pentonville Road, N. Oratorio and Concert Parties arranged.

MR. ERNEST TURNER (Baritone) (of St. James's Hall and Provincial Concerts). Address, 8, St. Margaret's Place, Bradford; or, 37, Caversham Rd., Kentish Town, N.W.

MISS MAUDE BALLARD
(SOPRANO)
Copy of testimonial from the late Sir JOSEPH BARNBY shortly before his death: "I have much pleasure in recommending Miss Maude Ballard as an admirable singer, possessed of a very good voice and considerable dramatic talent, who is likely to make a good position in the musical world. She sang Mendelssohn's 'Loreley' at a concert I conducted with the greatest possible success. In fact, she is an admirable musician, and one who could be relied upon, whether on the stage or concert platform.—JOSEPH BARNBY."
"In the absence of Miss Esther Palliser, through illness, her solo, 'Hear ye, Israel,' was undertaken by Miss Maude Ballard, a lady who possesses that extreme rarity, a pure and perfectly trained soprano voice. She received a well-merited encore. Her other solo, 'I will extol Thee' (Costa), was sung very well indeed, the difficult florid passages being executed with ease and brilliancy."—Kensington News.
Press notices, terms, and photo, 13, Herbert Rd., Stockwell, S.W.

MISS
EMILY DAVIES
(DRAMATIC SOPRANO)
For Oratorios, Ballad Concerts, At Homes, &c. Address, Severn House, 434, Seven Sisters' Road, Finsbury Park, N.

MISS MAGGIE JAQUES
(SOPRANO)
FEBRUARY ENGAGEMENTS:—
Ashton-under-Lyne, February 1; Derby, 2; Market Rasen, 3; Fulbeck, 4; Birmingham, 5; Chapel-en-le-Frith, 7; Howden, 8; Dunfermline, 15; Airdrie, 16; Windermere, 17.
Terms, &c., address, 3, Eagle Parade, Buxton, Derbyshire.

MRS. S. FORD
(SOPRANO).
For terms and Press notices, address, Avondale, Park Road, E., Wolverhampton.

MADAME ADA LOARING
(SOPRANO)
Merrion, Wellington Road, Peckham, S.E.

MISS
BEATRICE PALLISTER
THE NEW YORKSHIRE SOPRANO
(Her first Season).
ENGAGEMENTS:—
Sheffield, 6: Doncaster, 5; Hunstanton, 7; Thorne, 2; Hull, Grantham, Selby, Chesterfield, Denby, Winterton, Retford, Faversham, Barmouth, Criccieth, Poole Quay, Oswestry, Horncastle, Woodhouse, Matlock, Mossley.
Terms and critiques from 59, Broxholme Lane, Doncaster.

MADAME LAURA SMART
(SOPRANO).
Oratorios, Operatic Recitals, Ballad Concerts.
Address, 106, Bolingbroke Grove, Wandsworth Common, S.W.; or, 50, Church Street, Liverpool.

GERTRUDE WESLEY
(SOLO HARPIST AND MEZZO-SOPRANO),
High Street, Doncaster.

MISS LUCY CLARKE
(THE PREMIER WELSH CONTRALTO).
Address, care of Richard Elliott, 26, Wellington Street, Strand, W.C.

MISS BERYL CLIVE
(CONTRALTO)
Has REMOVED to 235, New Cross Road, London, S.E.

MISS STONE-HUMPHRIES
(CONTRALTO)
(Pupil of Mr. Randegger).
For terms, Press notices, address, Womersley, Pontefract.

MR. BRIGHT JONES
(TENOR).
For terms, apply, Glenhurst, Bath; or, N. Vert, Esq., 6, Cork St., W.

MR.
ALFRED KENNINGHAM
(TENOR),
Vicar-Choral, St. Paul's Cathedral; Organist and Choirmaster, St. Dionis Church, Parson's Green; Professor of Singing, Richmond School of Arts, can accept Oratorio and Concert Engagements. Voice production thoroughly taught and explained. Pupils prepared for examination by the Associated Board of the Royal Academy and Royal College. Address, Orpheus Lodge, Parson's Green, S.W.

MR. JOS. REED
(PRINCIPAL TENOR, TRINITY COLLEGE).
For Oratorios, Ballad Concerts, &c. Terms, Garden Walk, Cambridge.

MR. THURGATE SIMPSON
(TENOR).
Oratorio, Operatic Recitals, Ballads. Specially engaged for Oratorio.
For terms, dates, &c. Address, Collyhurst, Manchester.

MR. MONTAGUE BORWELL
(BARITONE).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c.;
Works undertaken at sight if necessary.
Care of Mendelssohn Parry, 11, Northumberland Mansions, W.

MR. JAMES BRAND
(BARITONE).
Voice naturally adapted in quality and compass for baritone rôles of high range.
Terms, Press notices, 20, Honiton Road, Kilburn, N.W.

Digitized by Google

MR. C. W. FREDERICKS

(TENOR VOCALIST)

(Of the Trocadero, Paris; Crystal Palace and St. James's Hall, London; and Hereford Musical Festivals. Vicar-Choral, Lichfield Cathedral).

"Mr. Charles Fredericks has sung at my house. I find he possesses a charming tenor voice of good compass and pure quality, which he uses to great advantage, particularly in oratorio music.

"CHARLES GOUNOD."

"Crystal Palace Company, London, S.E.

"I was so favourably impressed by your highly artistic rendering of the pieces which you sang at the concert here recently, that I have placed you on the list of those tenor vocalists whom I consider worthy of an occasional engagement at our very best class of concerts, and I hope that I may soon have a chance to hear you here again.

"AUGUST MANNS."

EXTRACTS FROM PRESS NOTICES.

"ST. PAUL."—"Mr. Fredericks, whose reputation as a tenor had preceded him, at once established himself as a favourite. His performance was simply magnificent."—Newport Advertiser, Dec. 18, 1897.

"MESSIAH."—"Mr. C. W. Fredericks, of Lichfield Cathedral, was an efficient tenor."—Wakefield Free Press, December 11, 1897.

"JUDAS MACCABÆUS."—"Mr. Fredericks received loud applause for the air 'Sound an alarm,' which was splendidly rendered."—Wandsworth Times, December 18, 1897.

"LORD OF THE ISLES."—"Mr. Fredericks sang his parts with the masterly and easy style for which he is famed."—Cannock Advertiser, May 8, 1897.

"ELIJAH."—"Mr. Fredericks, of Lichfield Cathedral, faithfully accounted for the tenor items."—Perthshire Journal, March 31, 1897.

"Mr. C. W. Fredericks enchanted the audience by his sweet rendering of the air 'If with all your hearts.'"—Perthshire Advertiser, March 31, 1897.

"CREATION."—"Another air of the more 'popular' order fell to Mr. Fredericks, and for 'In native worth' he received an unmistakable encore, a compliment well earned."—Wellingborough News, January 29, 1897.

Address, Mr. Fredericks, Vicar-Choral, Cathedral, Lichfield; or, 218, Trinity Road, Wandsworth, London, S.W. Telegraphic address, "Fredericks, Lichfield."

MR. FREDERIC HOSKING

(BARITONE)

(Principal Bass, Church of the Annunciation, Bryanston Street, W.)

Address, 37, Lawford Road, Camden Road, N.W.

MR. EDWARD ILES

(BARITONE).

Address, 31, York Street, Gloucester Place; or, Mr. N. Vert, 6, Cork Street, Burlington Gardens, W.

MR. BANTOCK PIERPOINT

(BARITONE).

Address, 44, Plympton Road, Brondesbury, N.W.; or, N. Vert, 6, Cork Street, W.

MR. DANIEL PRICE

(BARITONE),

Westminster Abbey. Address, 18, Clarendon Road, W.

MR. CHARLES TREE

(Winner of the 100 Guineas International Baritone Competition, London, 1896; thirty competed).

For Oratorio, Opera, Concerts (compass, lower F to upper A).

1, Finborough Road, S.W.; or, Mr. Healey, 17, Great Marlborough St.

MR. MUSGROVE TUFNAIL

(BARITONE).

22, Ferndale Road, Clapham, S.W.

MR. ARTHUR WALENN

(BARITONE).

Address, Mr. N. Vert, 6, Cork Street, W.; or, Lincoln House, Dartmouth Park Hill, N.

MR. & MRS.

WALLIS A. WALLIS

(BARITONE AND SOPRANO).

For Oratorios, Concerts, &c.; also to Recite with Music.

Duets a specialty.

Engaged: Tour in Scotland and North in January.

Address, Sharon, Acton, W.

MR. CHARLES WALTON

(BARITONE)

(Pupil of Andrew Black, Esq.).

Terms, Press notices, &c., 79, Coppice Street, Oldham.

MR. JNO. W. GREENWOOD

(BASS-BARITONE).

For Oratorios, Operas, Concerts, &c.

Address, 41, Queen's Road, Halifax.

MR. JOHN BROWNING

(PRINCIPAL BASS, Leeds Parish Church).

Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Address, Parish Church, Leeds.

MR. EDGAR ARCHER

(PRINCIPAL BASS, City Temple).

"I have great pleasure in stating that Mr. Edgar Archer has a fine bass-baritone voice, sings well, and with admirable effect."—WILLIAM H. CUMMINGS, Principal, Guildhall School of Music.

Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Apply, 153, Adelaide Road, N.W.

MR. ARTHUR BARLOW

(BASS).

For Oratorios, Operas, Concerts, &c.

Note new address, 6, Beech Mansions, West Hampstead, N.W.

MR.

LLEWELLYN

All communications respecting ORATORIO, CONCERTS, &c., to HEALEY'S AGENCY, 17, Great Marlborough Street, London, W.

MR. HENRY SUNMAN

(BASS),

Licentiate (Artist), R.A.M.

"THE RED CROSS KNIGHT" (Prout).—"Mr. Sunman's fine bass voice at once captured the goodwill of his audience. The composer has given some taking airs to Cœur de Lion, and Mr. Sunman's interpretation of them was marked by his usual dramatic force and artistic finish."—Leamington Chronicle, November 20, 1897.

"THE MESSIAH."—"Our local favourite, Mr. H. Sunman, sang the bass songs and recitatives with great fervour and effect, and was certainly the most acceptable soloist to the audience."—Oxford Journal, November 27, 1897.

"ELIJAH."—"The heaviest part of the solo work naturally fell on Mr. Sunman. He is the possessor of a magnificent bass voice, and this was heard to the greatest advantage in the declamatory music given to the Prophet. His rendering throughout was thoroughly conscientious and artistic, and he sang so consistently well that we cannot indicate any particular recitative or air as more deserving of praise than any of the others."—Gloucester Citizen, December 1, 1897.

"CHRISTMAS ORATORIO" (Bach).—"The bass solos were safe in the hands of Mr. Sunman, who sang the numbers allotted to him with force and dignity."—Oxford Times, December 11, 1897.

"THE MESSIAH."—"Mr. Henry Sunman is a powerful bass, and sang with the utmost acceptance."—Dover Standard, Dec. 11, 1897.

"THE MESSIAH."—"As regards Mr. Sunman, it is only necessary to mention his magnificent rendering of 'Why do the nations,' which thoroughly aroused the enthusiasm of the audience, as also did the airs 'The people that walked in darkness' and 'The trumpet shall sound.'"—Abingdon Herald, December 18, 1897.

"CHRISTMAS" (Macfarren), AT THE GUILDHALL, PLYMOUTH.—"The recit. and song with chorus, 'A Christmas Tale,' relating the old story of King Alfred and the beggar, was magnificently sung by Mr. Henry Sunman, L.R.A.M., whose rich, powerful bass, which he uses with expression and animation, was exactly suited to the work. . . . Mr. Sunman made two more appearances, rendering 'The Village Blacksmith' and Gounod's 'Nazareth,' both with full orchestral accompaniment, and afforded a perfect treat, his singing of the latter being particularly finished."—Western Daily Mercury, Dec. 28, 1897.

Please address, Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford.

THE CELEBRATED SOLO BOYS

MASTER SHOWELL FORD

AND

MASTER ROLAND FORD

(Of the Birmingham Town Hall Concerts, &c.)

For Concerts, Organ Recitals, Choir Festivals, &c.

For terms and Press notices, address, Mr. S. Ford, Avondale Road, E., Wolverhampton.

SOLO BOYS.

LONDON TRAINING SCHOOL FOR CHORISTERS, POLYTECHNIC, REGENT ST., W.

PRESIDENT, MR. ALBERTO RANDEGGER.
PRINCIPAL, MR. JAMES BATES.

The following twelve Solo Boys can be strongly recommended for Oratorios, Festival Services, Concerts, Organ Recitals, &c.: MASTERS STANLEY MARCHANT (Christ Church, Lancaster Gate), WILLIE GAMMAGE (Benchers' Chapel, Gray's Inn), WILLIAM McLEAN (St. Peter's, Cranley Gardens), PERCY HALE (Holy Trinity, Sloane Square), HERBERT HARDEN (Hampstead Parish Church), JAMES McBEAN (Holy Trinity, Wandsworth), HENRY JEFFRIES (St. Margaret's, Westminster), ALBERT RUSSELL (All Saints', North Kensington), ARTHUR WIDLAKE (St. Peter's, Hammersmith), WILLIAM EVERED (Christ Church, Brondesbury), STANLEY SMITH (St. Mark's, Hamilton Terrace), REGGIE HERN (St. Mark's, North Audley Street). The boys can be heard, by appointment, at their practising rooms, which are nearly opposite the Queen's Hall, Langham Place. For copies of recent testimonials, critiques, &c., address, Mr. JAMES BATES, Polytechnic, Regent Street, W. Telegrams: "Bates," Polytechnic, London.

Digitized by Google

MR.

BLAXLAND'S SOLO BOYS

Experienced. Reliable. Artistic.

For Church Festivals, Concerts, Banquets, &c.

MASTER

WILLIE CHILD

(SOPRANO).

Master CHILD has had an experience unsurpassed in the Standard Works (Latin and English words), and is acknowledged by competent judges (vide testimonials in Musical Times, Dec., 1897, of Madame ALBANI, Madame JANOTHA, and others) to be a singer of the most exceptional merit.

RECENT TESTIMONIALS.

"THE MESSIAH," January 14, St. Peter's, Eaton Square, S.W.

"Jan. 19, 1898.—I should have written to you before about your excellent solo boy (WILLIE CHILD). Technically and emotionally his performance of the solo work in 'The Messiah' was of the highest order, and I may safely say that, during a long experience, I have never heard anything of the kind which gave me equal satisfaction. From the conductor's point of view the feeling of absolute safety which he inspired is not his least valuable recommendation.

(Signed) "G. F. HUNTLEY, Mus. Doc., Cantab.
"Org. and C.M., St. Peter's, Eaton Sq., S.W."

"To Mr. Blaxland."

"THE PRODIGAL SON" and Ballads, Jan. 5, 1898, at Richmond.

"Master CHILD has a beautiful soprano voice. . . . His finest achievement was the aria 'O that thou hadst hearkened,' sung with much fervour and expression, a remark which applies to all his other efforts."—The Richmond and Twickenham Times, Jan. 8, 1898.

"Master WILLIE CHILD, a talented treble. . . . His particularly sweet voice and sympathetic style won him well deserved applause. . . . a superb rendering of 'Angels ever bright and fair.' . . . his reception was immense."—The Herald, Jan. 8, 1898.

"Master WILLIE CHILD . . . gifted with a voice of delicious quality . . . sang with beautiful expression."—The Surrey Comet, Jan. 8, 1898.

"I was charmed by Master CHILD'S singing, and consider his voice one of the most sympathetic and sweet sopranos I have heard.

"G. BISACCIA."

"Dec. 13, 1897."

Mr. BLAXLAND has resigned the appointment of Organist and Choirmaster at Christ Church, Brondesbury, and is now conducting the music at St. John's, Great Marlboro' Street. The professional quartet from this church can be engaged for Church Festivals.

Terms on application to

Mr. BLAXLAND, 2, Willesden Park Houses, Willesden Green, N.W.

MR. DUTTON'S SOLO BOYS.

MR. DUTTON (St. Paul's Cathedral) supplies Boys, PERSONALLY TRAINED, for Church Festivals, Concerts, At Homes, &c.

Recent unsolicited Testimonials from Organists.

Master PERCY GOUGH.

Oct. 11, 1897.—SELECTION, "CREATION" and WEBER'S "JUBILEE" CANTATA. "I was exceedingly pleased with Gough's rendering of the solos, and so were the Congregation."—Org., Holy Trinity, Bexley.

Oct. 18, 1897.—BALLADS. "Gough gave the greatest satisfaction. Everyone was delighted with the quality of his voice and the good training he has received."—Org., S. John's, Sevenoaks.

Oct. 22, 1897.—"CREATION." "We were greatly pleased with Gough's singing."—Org., S. Augustine's, Honor Oak Park.

Dec. 13, 1897.—"LAST JUDGMENT." "Gough sang splendidly to-night."—Org., Holy Innocents', Hammersmith.

Master HAROLD CURD

(Solo Boy, St. Alban's, Holborn).

Oct. 23, 1897.—"HYMN OF PRAISE." "Curd sang beautifully and was much appreciated."—Org., Holy Trinity, Penge.

Nov. 29, 1897.—"GOD, THOU ART GREAT." "Curd sang very nicely, and everybody was charmed with him."—Org., S. Paul's, Southwark.

Dec. 3, 1897.—"GOD, THOU ART GREAT," and SULLIVAN'S "FESTIVAL" TE DEUM. "We were all delighted with Curd. His voice is excellent. I trust we may see him here again soon."—Org., S. Andrew's, Dover.

Dec. 8, 1897.—ORGAN RECITAL. "We were very pleased with Curd's singing—in fact, he is the best boy we have heard for a long time."—Org., S. Michael's, Braintree.

Dec. 17, 1897.—"I thank you for sending such an excellent boy as Harold Curd. His singing gave us infinite pleasure."—Conductor, Tetbury Philharmonic Society.

Mr. DUTTON has several other good boys holding Solo appointments.

For Terms, &c., address, MR. HENRY J. DUTTON, 19, Alpha Road, New Cross, S.E.

HAND-BELL SOLOIST.—Mr. ARTHUR J. MANGER. Concerts, Dinners, At Homes, &c. 100, Manor Road, Brockley, S.E.

MR. JOSEF CANTOR'S

"GEMS OF THE OPERAS"

CONCERT COMPANY.

All communications, Church Street, Liverpool.

Telegrams—"Cantor, Liverpool."

THE

MANCHESTER OPERATIC RECITAL AND CONCERT PARTY

are now booking dates.

Miss LOUIE FIDLER. Miss STANLEY BURGESS.

Mr. THURGATE SIMPSON. Mr. TOM INCE.

Mr. STEANE LOUCH.

Pianoforte, Mr. WM. LOUCH, L.R.A.M.

For terms, dates, &c, address,

Secretary, Steane Louch, 6, Nelson Street, Oxford Road, Manchester.

THE EUTERPEAN VOCAL QUARTET

Misses ANNIE SWINFEN, ANNIE WILSON,
Messrs. AGER GROVER, MUSGROVE TUFNAIL.
Concerts, Banquets, &c.
Address, Mr. M. Tufnail, 22, Ferndale Road, S.W.

ROYAL WINDSOR GLEE SINGERS

(Of St. George's Chapel Royal and Eton College Chapel).

Mr. WALTER CLAY. Mr. ABEL STARKEY.
Mr. DAVID HUMPHREYS. Mr. WALTER DODDS.

For Concerts, At Homes, Masonic or other Banquets, &c., address, D. Humphreys, 19, The Cloisters, Windsor Castle; or, N. Vert, Esq., 6, Cork Street, W.

THE GEORGIAN SINGERS

(Of the Imperial Institute Concerts).

MR. FRED. NAYLOR (Alto)
(Gentleman of the Choir of St. George's Chapel Royal and Her Majesty's Private Chapel, Windsor Castle).

MR. JAMES DEMPSTER (Tenor)
(Eton College Chapel Choir and Robinson Prize Scholar, Guildhall School of Music).

MR. HARRY CARVER (Baritone and Humorist).

MR. BELL KEMPTON (Bass)
(Gentleman of the Choir of St. George's Chapel Royal and Her Majesty's Private Chapel, Windsor Castle).

For Concerts, Banquets, At Homes, Garden Parties, &c.
Whole Concerts arranged.

The Quartet have their own Accompanist, and their répertoire includes Songs, Part-Songs, Glees, Madrigals, Humorous Songs and Sketches, Plantation Songs, &c.

Terms on application to Mr. Bell Kempton, 16, The Cloisters, Windsor Castle.

MR. W. C. AINLEY, Mus. Bac., Cantab. (1884), teaches HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, &c., by correspondence. Terms moderate. Eastfield House, Mirfield, Yorkshire.

DR. ALLISON instructed by Post Candidates who OBTAINED DEGREES OF MUS.D. AND MUS.B. at Oxford (1897), Cambridge, Dublin, and Durham Universities, Diplomas of L.R.A.M. (1897, &c.), A.Mus. L.C.M., L.Mus. L.C.M., F.R.C.O. and A.R.C.O.; Appointments at College and School of Music, and as Chapel Royal, Cathedral, and Parish Church Organists; Gold Medals, Prizes, "Honours" and Pass Certificates (of the Colleges of Music) to the number of 500. Harmony, Counterpoint, Orchestration, and Revision of Compositions, by Post, to correspondents anywhere. Personal instruction in Theory, Singing, Organ, and Pianoforte. Cambridge House, 68, Nelson Street, Manchester.

REVISION OF MUSICAL COMPOSITIONS. Dr. Horton Allison, Mus.D. 68, Nelson Street, Manchester.

TO COMPOSERS, CONDUCTORS, PUBLISHERS, &c.

MR. RUTLAND BOUGHTON undertakes the SCORING of COMPOSITIONS for Orchestra and Military Band and the arranging and revising of same for publication. Excellent testimonials. Address, Beaconsfield House, Aylesbury.

MR. J. PERCY BAKER, A.R.A.M., Mus. Bac., Dunelm, teaches HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, &c., by post. Personal Lessons in Pianoforte or Theory at own or pupil's residence; or at 84, New Bond Street, W. Schools attended. Address, Willersley House, Old Charlton.

DR. ORLANDO A. MANSFIELD, Mus. Doc. T.U.T., L.Mus. L.C.M., F.R.C.O., L.T.C.L. (Author of "The Student's Harmony"), Torquay, PREPARES by Post for MUSICAL EXAMINATIONS. MSS. revised. Examination pieces analysed.

Digitized by Google

MR. T. HEMMINGS, Mus. Bac., Oxon., F.R.C.O., L.Mus.T.C.L., gives LESSONS in HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, &c., and prepares CANDIDATES for ARTS and MUSICAL EXAMINATIONS by Post. Latest successes, Mus. Bac., Oxford and Durham, L.R.A.M., A.R.C.M., F.R.C.O., A.R.C.O., &c. Sheppard Street, Stoke-on-Trent.

DR. F. J. KARN, Mus. Bac., Cantab.; Mus. Doc., Trinity College, Toronto; L.Mus., T.C.L., gives LESSONS Personally or by Post in HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, FUGUE, FORM, ORCHESTRATION, ACOUSTICS, &c., and prepares for Musical Examinations. Latest successes: LONDON MUS. BAC., December, 1897; L.R.A.M. (Pianoforte), 1898; F.R.C.O. and A.R.C.O., January, 1898; MUS. BAC., DURHAM, March and September, 1897, and all previous years; and FIRST, March and September, 1897, and all previous years; A.R.C.M., 1896 and 1897; OXFORD, MUS. BAC., FINAL and FIRST, 1896 and 1897; CAMBRIDGE, FINAL and FIRST MUS. BAC.; DUBLIN, MUS. BAC.; L.R.A.M. (Composition), 1897; Mus. Bac. and Mus. Doc., Toronto; L.Mus. and A.Mus., L.C.M.; L.T.C.L. and A.T.C.L., 1896 and 1897; Senior Local R.A.M. and R.C.M. Special and individual attention given to Correspondents. Upwards of 420 Diplomas and Degrees and several Gold and Silver Medals gained by pupils. MSS. corrected for publication; Analysis of classical works for Examinations. Terms moderate. Address, 70, Parkhill Road, London, N.W.

MR. W. E. PITMAN, Mus. Bac., Oxon., F.R.C.O., teaches HARMONY and COUNTERPOINT, personally or by correspondence, and coaches for the Universities, Royal College of Organists, and other Musical Exams. Thorough grounding in the various subjects. For terms, address, W. E. Pitman, Ivy Lodge, Kenley, Surrey.

DR. W. JOHN REYNOLDS, Mus. Doc., Lond., L.Mus., T.C.L. (Organist, St. Michael's, Cornhill), prepares CANDIDATES for MUSICAL EXAMINATIONS, personally or by Post. Many successes. Particulars on application. 66, Highbury Grove, London, N.; or, at the Church.

DR. HAMILTON ROBINSON, Mus. Doc., Dunelm, F.R.C.O., Lecturer on Harmony in King's College, Lond., Organist and Choirmaster, St. Stephen's, South Kensington. PIANOFORTE and ORGAN LESSONS HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, COMPOSITION, &c., personally or by correspondence. Preparation for University, R.C.O., and all other Examinations. Classes. 54, Baron's Court Road, West Kensington, W.

MR. BRUCE STEANE (Composer of "The Ascension," contributor to Novello's Octavo Anthems, &c.) prepares rapidly and systematically for MUSICAL EXAMS. in all subjects, personally or by Post. MSS. corrected and revised for publication. Address, "The Leas," Clyde Road, Wallington, Surrey.

MR. R. STOKOE, Mus. Bac., Cantab., F.R.C.O., gives ORGAN LESSONS at Christ Church, Down Street, Piccadilly. Harmony, Counterpoint, &c., taught personally or by Post. 86, Rossiter Road, Balham, S.W.

DR. TAYLOR, Mus.D., Oxon., F.R.C.O., L.T.C.L. (Author of "Vocal Score Reading Exercises" and "Figured Bass and Melody Exercises," for R.C.O. Students), prepares CANDIDATES for MUSICAL EXAMINATIONS by Post. Address, Wolverhampton Road, Stafford.

DR. THOMAS (Mus. Doc., Oxon.; O. and C., St. Clement's; Conductor) desires RESIDENT PUPILS to train for the profession. Univ. Degree. Carlyle, Boscombe, Bournemouth.

MR. A. W. TOMLYN, Mus.B., Dunelm, L.T.C.L., Berwick-on-Tweed, COACHES CANDIDATES for University and all other Exams. by Post. Every possible attention and assistance guaranteed. Latest success, Final Mus. Bac., Durham, March, 1897.

MR. W. H. TUTT, Mus. Bac., Cantab., L.R.A.M., teaches HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, ACOUSTICS, &c., by correspondence. Ashburn, Derbyshire.

PROFESSOR J. E. VERNHAM, King's Coll., Lond., LECTURER in HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, and VOICE-PRODUCTION, &c., Organist and Choirmaster of St. Paul's, Knightsbridge, gives Lessons in all subjects and prepares Pupils for Examinations.

MR. W. WOLSTENHOLME, Mus. Bac., Oxon., teaches HARMONY and COUNTERPOINT by correspondence. Compositions revised. 86, Oswald Street, Blackburn.

A.R.C.M. TEACHERS' SINGING EXAM.—Miss BESSIE FURZE, A.R.C.M., COACHES by correspondence, in Physiology of Voice, for above Exam. 22 Holly Avenue, Jesmond, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

SPECIAL COACHING for A.R.C.M., 1895-1897, Sixteen Successes; 1897-1898, L.R.A.M., Seven Successes. Address, Mr. H. H. L. Middleton, Mus.B. (Cantab.), F.R.C.O., L.R.A.M., A.R.C.M., Dollis Road, Finchley, N.

THE TRAINING of ALTOS.—LESSONS in VOICE PRODUCTION and SINGING given by MUNRO DAVISON, L.R.A.M. (Singing), F.R.C.O., L.T.C.L., Professor of Alto Singing, Guildhall School of Music; Solo Alto, Temple Church, &c.; Professor of Singing, Organ, Pianoforte, and Harmony, 142, Stroud Green Road, N.

MR. FREDERIC W. PARTRIDGE, A.R.C.M. (strongly recommended by Mr. Santley), teaches the ART of SINGING at a Studio in the West-End, or at his private residence, 11, Manor Grove, Beckenham, S.E.

VOICE PRODUCTION, STYLE, AND ARTISTIC SINGING.

MR. F. ST. JOHN LACY, A.R.A.M., &c. Receives Pupils at his residence, Albany Chambers, York Street, Queen Anne's Gate, S.W. (St. James's Park Station).

N.B.—Mr. St. John Lacy does not accept concert engagements.

VOICES TRAINED (Altos included) and Sight-Singing and the PIANOFORTE TAUGHT by Mr. W. A. FROST (Vicar-Choral of St. Paul's Cathedral), at 16, Amwell Street, Myddelton Square, E.C. Many of Mr. Frost's Pupils have obtained Cathedral and other Choir Appointments in open competitions. Latest successes, at St. John's, Great Marlborough Street (Alto), and St. Andrew's, Queen Victoria Street (Bass).

VOICE-TRAINING.—DAVIDSON PALMER'S METHOD. Of the utmost importance to Tenors; also to Boy Singers at the changing period. For terms for lessons, address, E. DAVIDSON PALMER, Mus. Bac., Oxon., 2, Highwood Road, Upper Holloway, N.

GUILD OF CHURCH MUSICIANS, LONDON.

Patron: His Grace the ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY.
President: The Very Rev. FRANCIS PIGOU, D.D., Dean of Bristol.

A.G.C.M. and F.G.C.M. Diploma Examination, July 7, 1898. The "Mendelssohn" Prize, of the value of Two Guineas, is awarded at this Examination to the Candidate obtaining the highest number of marks.

Musical Examination for Clergy. This Examination has been formulated with the object of testing the musical efficiency of clergy desirous of officiating in Choral Services. July 7, 1898.

A Bronze Medal will be awarded for the best Kyrie, with Gloria Tibi and Gratias Tibi.

A Bronze Medal for the best Anthem.

A Silver Medal for the best original Air with Variations for the Organ.

The Council also offer two Exhibitions, each of the value of £5, to be given to the Candidate who shows the most conspicuous merit in the art of organ accompaniment.

Annual Membership Subscription, 10s. 6d. Life, £5 5s.
Choir Enrolment, £2 2s.
The new Calendar is sent (Post-free) for fourteen stamps.
Free register for Organists requiring appointments.
Representatives required in England and abroad.
For further particulars, apply to
Dr. Lewis, Silvermead, Twickenham, S.W.

LONDON ORGAN SCHOOL AND INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

PRINCES STREET, CAVENDISH SQUARE, W.

Patron: His Grace the ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY.
Established in 1865 by the Rev. SCOTSON CLARK, Mus. Bac., Oxon.
Principals and Directors of Studies:
HENRY CLARK, T. H. YORKE TROTTER, M.A., Mus. Doc., Oxon.

PRIVATE LESSONS in ORGAN, PIANOFORTE, SINGING, VIOLIN, CELLO, FLUTE, CLARINET, GUITAR, HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, ELOCUTION, LANGUAGES, &c.

CLASSES in HARMONY, Counterpoint, Composition, Orchestration, and Musical Dictation, under the direction of Dr. Yorke Trotter.
ELOCUTION CLASS (Mr. Charles Fry).
ENSEMBLE CLASSES (Mr. Edward O'Brien).
SINGING CLASSES (Mr. Walter Mackway, A.R.A.M.).
SOLFEGE CLASS for Children (Mr. J. Mewburn Levien).
FRENCH CONVERSATION CLASS (Mr. Arthur Fayne).
ORCHESTRAL PRACTICES are held weekly.
DAY and EVENING LESSONS given throughout the year.
PUPILS CAN ENTER at ANY TIME.
Prospectus on application to
A. J. SCOTT, Secretary.

Victoria College Corporation, Ltd.
Incorporated 1891.

VICTORIA COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

Patrons:
The Rt. Hon. THE MARQUIS OF LORNE, K.T.
The Rt. Hon. THE EARL OF DARTMOUTH.

BOARD OF EXAMINATION.
J. H. LEWIS, Mus. Doc., D.C.L. (Principal).
GEORGE PRIOR, Mus. Doc., Oxon., F.R.C.O. (Registrar).
J. M. BENTLEY, Mus. Doc., Cantab., Hon. F.R.A.M.

Metropolitan Examinations, in all subjects and for all grades, including the Diplomas of Associate (A.V.C.M.), Associate in Music (A.Mus. V.C.M.), Licentiate (L.V.C.M.), and Licentiate in Music (L.Mus. V.C.M.), will be held April 14, 1898. Last day of entry, March 24.

Next Local Theoretical Examination, April 14, 1898. Local Practical Examinations are now being held at the various Centres.

Gold, Silver, and Bronze Medals are offered for competition.
The Educational Department is under the direction of Dr. Prior.
Local Secretaries required for towns not already represented.
Full particulars on application.
GEO. A. STANTON, F.G.C.M., Secretary.
Central Office: 11, Burleigh Street, Strand, W.C.

NEW ORGAN STUDIO, with Three-manual PIPE ORGAN, blown by water. Terms for Practice, 1s. per hour. At Smyth's Music Depôt, 54, London Road, Forest Hill, S.E.

Digitized by Google

DR. HOCH'S CONSERVATOIRE for all branches of Music, in Frankfort-on-the-Maine. The Summer Term commences March 1. Director, Professor Dr. B. SCHOLZ. Tuition is given by Messrs. Director Dr. B. Scholz, Professor J. Kwast, L. Uzielli, F. Meyer, E. Engesser, Music Director A. Glück, K. Friedberg, and Ch. Eckel (in Pianoforte); Mr. H. Gelbaar (in Organ); Professor H. Heermann, Professor Naret-Koning and F. Bassermann, Concertmeister A. Hess (in Violin and Viola); Professor B. Cossmann, Professor Hugo Becker (in Violoncello); W. Seltrecht (in Contra-Bass); M. Kretzschmar (in Flute); R. Müns (in Oboe); L. Mohler (in Clarinet); F. Thiele (Fagotto); C. Preusse (in Horn); J. Wohllebe (in Trumpet); Frau Professor Schroeder-Hanfstaengl and Herren A. Siutermanns, J. M. Hemsing, S. Rigutini, Frau Buff-Hedinger, Frl. Cl. Sohn, and Frl. A. Kolb (in Singing); Director Dr. Scholz and Messrs. Professor J. Knorr, C. Breidenstein, and B. Sekles (in Theory and Composition); Professor V. Valentin (in German Literature); Mr. K. Hermann (in Declamation and Mimics); Frl. del Lungo (in Italian Language). Prospectus to be had, gratis and post-free, from the Secretary of the Dr. Hoch's Conservatoire, 4, Eschersheimerlandstrasse. Applications for entry should be made immediately as only a limited number of pupils will be accepted.

THE STERN CONSERVATOIRE OF MUSIC. Founded 1850. — Professor GUSTAV HOLLAENDER, Director, 20, Wilhelmstrasse, Berlin, S.W. Conservatoire: Development in all branches of Music. Operatic School: Complete Training for the Stage. Orchestral School (comprising all solo and all orchestral instruments). Seminary: Special Training for Teachers. Chorus School. Elementary Piano and Violin School. Principals: Frau Prof. Selma Nicklass-Kempner, Adolf Schulze, Prof. Benno Stolzenberg (Vocal); Prof. Friedrich Gernsheim, Representing Director; Ludwig Bussler, Hans Pfitzner (Composition, Theory, Musical History); Felix Dreyschock, Albert Eibenschütz, Prof. Heinrich Ehrlich, Prof. Friedr. Gernsheim, A. Papendick, Otto Singer, Alfred Sormann, E. E. Taubert, L. C. Wolf (Piano); Fr. Poenitz (Harp, Harmonium); Otto Dienel, Royal Musical Director (Organ); Prof. Gustav Hollaender, Willy Nicking (Violin); Anton Hekking (Cello); Emanuel Reicher (Dramatic School), &c. Charges: From 125 marks (£6 5s.) up to 500 Marks (£25) annually. Prospectuses may be obtained through the Conservatoire. Pupils received at any time. Consultation hours from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. On September 1, 1897, Prof. Benno Stolzenberg (Vocal and Operatic School), Emanuel Reicher (Dramatic School), Hans Pfitzner (Composition, Piano), Otto Singer (Piano) entered the staff of teachers of the Conservatoire.

TO MUSIC TEACHERS, STUDENTS, GLEE PARTIES, &c.—PRACTICE-ROOMS, also a CONCERT-ROOM to seat 100 persons, TO BE LET, by the hour or for longer periods; each room is furnished with a good piano, and supplied with fire and gas when needed. Terms moderate. Smith's Piano Warehouse, 179, Oxford Road, Manchester. Artists may have letters addressed to Smith's City Warehouse, 34, Oxford Street, near the Free Trade Hall.

ORGANISTS, CHOIRMASTERS, and others requiring only a limited number of their compositions, should send for DINHAM, BLYTH & CO.'S SPECIMENS (free). Kyries, Anthems, &c., from 24 copies and upwards. 28, Fenchurch Street, London. Established 1872.

CONCERT ORGANISERS, CHORAL SOCIETY CONDUCTORS, &c., before arranging fixtures should state their requirements, with approximate date. Unique facilities offered. Address, Secretary, Albion Concert Bureau, 298, Regent Street, London. Telegrams: Intonate, London. Literature on application.

WALENN CHAMBER CONCERTS

(Second Series)

(Under the direction of Mr. CECIL BARTH)

QUEEN'S (SMALL) HALL,

TUESDAY, February 22; TUESDAY, March 29; TUESDAY, April 26, commencing at 8.15.

Artists:

Vocalists	..	Miss ESTHER PALLISER. Madame MARIAN McKENZIE. Mr. ARTHUR WALENN.
Violin ..	..	Miss DOROTHEA WALENN. Mr. GERALD WALENN.
Violoncello	..	Mr. HERBERT WALENN.
Pianoforte	..	Miss MAUDE RIHLL. Miss DORA BRIGHT. Mr. HERBERT PARSONS.

Conductor—Mr. GEORGE CLUTSAM.

GRAND EISTEDDFOD,

QUEEN'S HALL, W.

Adjudicators: CAVE. ALBERTO RANDEGGER, Hon. R.A.M.; DAVID JENKINS, Esq., Mus. Bac., Cantab.

THURSDAY EVENING, February 24, 1898.

CHORAL AND SOLO COMPETITIONS

(Vocal and Instrumental) open to ALL-COMERS.

Preliminary Competitions, February 23. No entrance fees.

Seats: Reserved—Stalls and Grand Circle, 7s. 6d., 5s., 3s.; Unreserved—Arena, 2s.; Area, Balcony, and Orchestra, 1s.

For further information, Syllabus, and Official Entry Forms, apply to the General Secretary.

E. MAENGWYN-DAVIES.

54, Claverton Street, S.W.

SIXTEENTH MUSICAL COMPETITION.—TWELVE GUINEAS in PRIZES again offered. Conditions, copy of hymns, and specimen copy of previous prize tunes Post-free for Three-halfpence. Jas. Broadbent, 13, Brunswick Place, Leeds.

CHOIR BOYS. — WANTED, at once, ONE LEADER. Aged eleven to twelve years. Experienced. £4 to £5 per annum. Apply on Tuesdays or Thursdays, between 7 and 9 p.m., at St. Michael's Church, Burleigh Street, Strand, W.C.

CHORISTERS (Boys) WANTED, for West-End Church (R.C.). Terms, from £8. Apply, by letter, stating age and qualifications, to Conductor, 114, Mount St., Grosvenor Sq., W.

BOY TREBLE WANTED, for Private Choir. Good voice essential. Under 12 preferred. Board, lodging, and salary. F. Levick, Welbeck Abbey, Worksop, Notts.

ALTO WANTED, for City Church. Apply, by letter, Geo. F. Grover, 133, Aldersgate Street, E.C. Stipend, £10 per annum.

ALTO and TENOR WANTED, for St. Andrew's Church, Stoke Newington, N. Salary, from £12 to £15 each. Apply to C. J. C. Boddington, 166, Lordship Rd., Stoke Newington, N.

A VACANCY has occurred in the Choir of St. James's, Camberwell, for TENOR (Voluntary). Good Services. Oratorio performances. S. S., 43, Loughborough Road, Brixton.

TENOR WANTED, St. John's, Great Marlborough Street. Experienced in Church work. Masses: Gounod, Guilmant, &c. (English words); Cathedral Psalter. Good sight-reader and artistic singer. Salary, £30. Apply, by letter only, Mr. Blaxland, 2, Willesden Park Houses, Willesden Green, N.W.

BASSES, TENORS, and ALTOS (expenses only) WANTED, for Choir, St. John's, Great Marlborough Street. Men desiring to obtain experience in high-class Church music, apply, by letter (marked Voluntary), to Mr. Blaxland, 2, Willesden Park Houses, Willesden Green, N.W.

BASS (deep, not Baritone) WANTED, for the American Church in Paris. Good voice, reliable reader, and thorough experience in Anglican Church music essential. Cathedral Service. Three years' engagement. Salary, £110 first year; £120 afterwards. Single man preferred. Apply, by letter only, stating age and past experience, and enclosing copies of testimonials, to Mr. Augustus Toop, 60, Berners Street, W.

MISS ESTELLA LINDEN (Soprano), 2½ years principal Soloist at West-End Church, desires APPOINTMENT as PRINCIPAL VOCALIST in London Church. 16, St. Stephen's Road, Bayswater, W.

MISS INGRAM TUCKER (Deputy Contralto Soloist, City Temple) is disengaged for an APPOINTMENT as PRINCIPAL VOCALIST in a London Church. Twynham, Whetstone, N.

The above two artists may also be engaged together, for Duets, &c.

SOPRANO (Cert., good voice) will sing for expenses. Ballads, At Homes, Oratorios, &c. Address, letters only, M., 56, Dynham Road, West Hampstead.

MEDALIST, R.A.M. and Sc. Arts (Soprano), will give SERVICES for expenses. Extensive répertoire. Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Medalist, Messrs. Novello & Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

ALTO (experienced) open to accept CHURCH APPOINTMENT, Quartet or Glee Club. F. C., 56, Sparsholt Road, Crouch Hill, N.

LADY (experienced) seeks POST as TEACHER of PIANOFORTE and THEORY in School or College of Music. Holds L.R.A.M. and A.R.C.M. diplomas. Address, H. M., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

MUSICAL EDITOR and (or) PUBLISHING MANAGER.—A well-known Cantata and Anthem Composer is DISENGAGED. Energetic; good connection. Address, William Lane Frost, care of Curwen's, Warwick Lane, London. Cantatas, &c., scored and arranged.

AN A.R.C.O. (28), well educated (Public School). Composer, with some literary experience, wishes to obtain POST on the Staff of Musical Magazine. Ross, 91, Dresden Road, N.

ORGANIST REQUIRED, for the Parish Church of St. Botolph Without, Bishopsgate, in the City of London. Salary, £60 per annum. Services: Sundays, great Festivals, and one night weekly; two Choir Practices. An additional payment of £20 for training the Choir is made by the Rector. Apply, stating qualifications and age, with copies of testimonials, by February 14, 1898, to F. G. Fitch, 15, Devonshire Square, Bishopsgate, E.C. Canvassing prohibited.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER WANTED, for St. James's Church, Bath. Must be a thoroughly capable Musician, and accustomed to train a Choir. Address (by letter only), with copies of testimonials, the Vicar and Churchwardens, 2, St. James's Street (South), Bath.

Digitized by Google

Trinity College London (Music)

INSTITUTED 1872.

MANDEVILLE PLACE, MANCHESTER SQUARE, W.

President:
THE RIGHT HON. LORD COLERIDGE, M.A., Q.C.

Warden:
PROFESSOR E. H. TURPIN, Mus.D.

Director of Examinations:
PROFESSOR JAMES HIGGS, Mus.B.

Registrar:
PROFESSOR J. GORDON SAUNDERS, Mus.D.

RTY-NINTH HALF-YEARLY HIGHER EXAMINATIONS.

Diplomas and certificates were presented at the public distribution by the Warden (Professor E. H. Turpin, Mus.D.) on Wednesday, January 19, 1898, to the following successful candidates:

LICENTIATES IN MUSIC.—John W. Bertenshaw, Mus.B., Henry H. Hancock, William Rigby, Mus.B., James T. W. Wicksey, Mus.B.

ASSOCIATES IN MUSIC.—Mary G. Atkinson, Guillermina M. A. Christie, Ernest Clough, Mary Dixon, Annie J. Forbes, Christina Goudie, Annie F. Goulding, Jane Harrison, George W. Lloyds, Elizabeth H. Lumsden, Harold F. Morris, Hilda C. Nichols, Richard Robinson, Crosby Smith, William C. Somerville.

PRELIMINARY CERTIFICATES for ASSOCIATE IN MUSIC.—Elsie B. Bate, Eleanor Reynell, Aubrey B. Weston.

MATRICULATION CERTIFICATES.—Honours: Kathleen G. Bingham, Georgina E. C. Gosselin, Isa A. Kempson. Pass: Mary Dixon, Evelyn A. Duke, Ada C. Harper, Blanche M. C. Mitchell, Edith E. Robbins, Mary L. Scott, Adela V. Tunnicliffe, Evelyn M. Walkley, Ernest G. White, Beatrice F. Weaver, John Wright.

ASSOCIATE PIANISTS.—Mabel Boorman, Beatrice C. Brown, Henrietta E. Kitson, Kathleen B. Turton.

CERTIFICATED PIANISTS.—Gertrude Austin, Eda A. Brain, Frances A. Browne, Beatrice M. Clark, Isabella Cumming, Maud Cuttell, Mary E. Finlayson, Ada Gray, Ada A. H. Hilleary, Olive C. W. Hills, Joseph Hull, Maggie Jones, Martha M. Jones, Lenora K. Jarman, Lilian E. Marshallsay, Elsie F. B. Martin, Muriel Martin, Esther S. Mathers, Jessie Orange, Alice M. Probyn, Lucy Ramsey, Lilian Rogers, Helen M. Smith, Sophie C. Von der Heyde, Beatrice F. Weaver, Maude A. West, Katherine M. Worts.

CERTIFICATED ORGANISTS.—Arthur Dyson, Alexander Schofield.

ASSOCIATE VIOLINIST.—Edith C. Tapscott.

CERTIFICATED VIOLINIST.—Janet M. Bucknall.

ASSOCIATE VOCALISTS.—Agnes M. Groser, Harry W. Kemp.

CERTIFICATED VOCALISTS.—Rebecca G. Ashton, Jane A. Bowker, Eli Witton.

PRACTICAL LICENTIATE (Pianist).—Joseph Ormesher.

PRACTICAL LICENTIATE (Vocalist).—Munro Davison.

HARMONY CERTIFICATES.—George Austin, William Bradley, Nellie Eastaway, George T. Firth, Emily C. Griffiths, Francis W. Harris, James H. Mould, Alice J. Norton, Florence E. D. O'Neill, Fanny Winterbottom.

COUNTERPOINT CERTIFICATES.—Honours: Susan K. Farrow, Robert B. Kettlewell. Pass: George Austin, William Bradley, Florence E. D. O'Neill, Ellen M. Shorrock.

Number of Candidates, 204; total number of passes, 94; absent, 5.

EXAMINERS: G. E. Bambridge, F.T.C.L.; Henry C. Banister (the late); Francesco Berger; Henry R. Bird, F.T.C.L.; William Creser, Mus.D.; A. E. Drinkwater, M.A.; Charles Edwards; Alfred Gilbert, F.T.C.L.; Arthur J. Greenish, Mus.D.; Professor James Higgs, Mus.B.; Rev. H. G. Bonavia Hunt, Mus.D.; E. H. Lemare; Haydn Keeton, Mus.D.; Tivadar Nachèz; F. G. Mitford Ogbourne; C. W. Pearce, Mus.D.; J. Sims Reeves; Professor Gordon Saunders, Mus.D.; Rev. John Troutbeck, D.D.; Professor E. H. Turpin, Mus.D.; and A. H. Walker, B.A., Mus.D.

By Order,
SHELLEY FISHER, Secretary.

In the Press.

TO BE PRODUCED BY THE ROYAL CHORAL SOCIETY, AT THE ROYAL ALBERT HALL, MARCH 16, 1898.

THE

GATE OF LIFE

DRAMATIC CANTATA

FOR

Soprano, Tenor, and Bass Soli, Chorus, and Orchestra

THE VERSE WRITTEN BY

SHAPCOTT WENSLEY

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

FRANCO LEONI.

PRICE TWO SHILLINGS.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

John Broadwood & Sons

PIANOFORTE MAKERS

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT TO

HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCE OF WALES
HER ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCESS OF WALES
HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE DUKE OF EDINBURGH
(DUKE OF SAXE-COBURG AND GOTHA)

AND THE

REST OF THE ROYAL FAMILY.

John Broadwood & Sons

respectfully draw attention to, and invite inspection of, their newly introduced and improved straight and cross strung

HORIZONTAL

AND

UPRIGHT PIANOFORTES.

33, GREAT PULTENEY STREET (near Regent Street),
LONDON, W.

Just Published.

TO BE PERFORMED BY THE ROYAL CHORAL SOCIETY AT THE ROYAL ALBERT HALL, MARCH 16, 1898.

A NEW EDITION OF

THE RUINS OF ATHENS

A CANTATA

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

L. VAN BEETHOVEN

THE ENGLISH WORDS WRITTEN AND ADAPTED BY

PAUL ENGLAND.

EXTRACT FROM PREFACE.

The original form of the libretto of "The Ruins of Athens," no less than the version hitherto current in England, has greatly operated against the general acceptance of Beethoven's accompanying music, characteristic and beautiful though it is. In order, therefore, to remove this drawback, and to make the work of practical value to choral societies, the present edition has been cast in the form of a cantata. The connecting dialogue of Kotzebue's original has thereby been eliminated, and a slight re-arrangement of the musical numbers, after No. 5, has been found advantageous.

The present edition, unlike that previously published in England, contains the whole of Beethoven's music; the two numbers which have been restored are the "Interlude" and the Recitative (Nos. 5 and 6). It is hoped that this new issue of the work will help to make Beethoven's "The Ruins of Athens" better known and more generally appreciated.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.

Full Score and Orchestral Parts, for use with this Edition, may be had on hire from the Publishers.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

THE ASSOCIATED BOARD of the R.A.M. and R.C.M. for LOCAL EXAMINATIONS in MUSIC.

President:
H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES, K.G.

ASSOCIATED BOARD:

THOMAS THRELFALL, Esq. (R.A.M.), Chairman.
Hon. G. W. SPENCER LYTTELTON, C.B. (R.C.M.), Deputy-Chairman.
Sir ALEXANDER C. MACKENZIE, Mus. Doc., St. And., Cantab., et Edin., F.R.A.M., Principal of R.A.M.
C. HUBERT H. PARRY, Esq., M.A., Mus. Doc., Cantab., Oxon., et Dub., D.C.L., Director of R.C.M.

SAMUEL AITKEN, Esq.	Royal Academy of Music.
Professor JAMES DEWAR, F.R.S., &c.
CAVE. ALBERTO RANDEGGER.
FREDERICK WESTLAKE, Esq.
His Honour Judge MEADOWS WHITE, Q.C.
Sir GEORGE GROVE, C.B., D.C.L., LL.D.	Royal College of Music.
Sir WALTER PARRATT, Mus. Doc., Oxon.
Sir ARTHUR SULLIVAN, Mus. Doc., Cantab. et Oxon.
FRANKLIN TAYLOR, Esq.

Honorary Treasurer:
CHARLES MORLEY, Esq., M.P.

Honorary Auditor:
Sir CHARLES LISTER RYAN, K.C.B.

Honorary Secretary:
SAMUEL AITKEN, Esq.

LOCAL CENTRE EXAMINATIONS, 1898.

The PRELIMINARY LOCAL EXAMINATION (Paper work) and also the HARMONY or COUNTERPOINT EXAMINATION will take place at the various Centres on February 16, and the FINAL LOCAL EXAMINATIONS (Practical Subjects), between March 29 and April 15.

See Syllabus A.

LOCAL SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS.

These Examinations, arranged in circuits, will be held during the periods (a) March-April, (b) June-July, (c) October-November.
See Syllabus B.

The Board has decided to offer for competition Two Exhibitions every year, until further notice, one for the R.A.M. and one for the R.C.M., tenable for two years.
Conditions and full particulars are contained in the Syllabus for 1898.
Copies of either Syllabus will be sent Post-free on application to the Central Office, 32, Maddox Street, London, W.

SAMUEL AITKEN, Hon. Secretary.

With this Number are presented gratis Extra Supplements, consisting of an Anthem, entitled, "Alleluia! now is Christ risen," by Thomas Adams; and a Portrait of Mr. W. H. Cummings, specially taken for this paper by Mr. J. Caswall Smith.

THE MUSICAL TIMES

AND SINGING-CLASS CIRCULAR.

FEBRUARY 1, 1898.

MR. WILLIAM H. CUMMINGS.

THE musical book-lover and antiquary who is privileged to make the acquaintance of Mr. W. H. Cummings's library is very soon tempted to break the tenth commandment. This remarkably fine collection, of which the books number 4,500 volumes, contains some rare treasures. Upon the well-filled shelves are tomes from the libraries of Henry VIII., Edward VI., Charles I., Charles II., Oliver Cromwell, and Handel's patron, the Duke of Chandos. The Handel section is quite unique. Here is the great man's will in his own autograph, the inventory of his household goods—such as they were—and one of his handsome lace sleeve ruffles. The fine portrait of Handel, which Hawkins considered to be the best likeness in existence of the master, and therefore the most valuable of all—that painted for the composer by F. Kyte—is one of the gems of the collection. There is also another portrait, by Hudson; and Mr. Cummings possesses the original pastel of the celebrated Goupy caricature of Handel, also a bronze bust by Roubiliac, in addition to a letter in French from Handel to his brother-in-law.

The walls of the pleasant Dulwich house which Mr. Cummings has built for himself are adorned with other oil portraits of distinguished musicians. We gaze upon the features of John Bull; of Abel, the celebrated viol-da-gamba player, by Gainsborough; William Shield; Dr. Dupuis; Weber, painted in London shortly before his death at 103, Great Portland Street; Corelli; and Benjamin Cooke. There is also a large collection of line engravings of musicians. Hardly less interesting are two old keyboard instruments—one is a Clavier-Gebunden (about 1650), the other is a Spinet (1720) by Máhoon. Amongst the large collection of autographs is to be found manuscript music by Bach, Beethoven, Handel, Haydn, Mozart, Purcell, Lawes, Locke, Arne, Sterndale Bennett, Bishop, and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," as arranged by him for the pianoforte, besides many letters from musical celebrities.

There is a manuscript score of the music to "Macbeth," believed by Mr. Cummings to be in Purcell's handwriting. The collection of printed books is no less interesting. Here is the first edition of J. S. Bach's "Die Kunst der Fuge" (1752), the third book of the "Clavierübung" (1727), engraved on copper by Bach himself; a perfect copy (probably unique) of Purcell's "Don Quixote," all the editions of Morley's "Plaine and Easie Introduction," a complete and unique set of the Salmon and Locke controversial essays, and many other scarce works dear to the heart of the musical antiquary. Special mention must be made of a fine copy of Goudimel's Psalms (1565) which, in England at least, is said to be unique. Mr. Cummings has given commendable attention to his bindings, which are in excellent taste. A set of Couperin, for instance, is appropriately clothed in white vellum, while Beethoven is rightly clad in royal red. Mr. Cummings's son, Mr. Norman Cummings, has just completed an excellent catalogue of his father's library, which we sincerely hope will ultimately be printed, at least for private circulation; such a volume would be invaluable for the purposes of reference. Turning from the books, the pictures, and the manuscripts to their distinguished owner, we may gather from his own lips a few particulars concerning his successful and honourable career.

William Hayman Cummings was born at Sidbury, Devonshire, August 22, 1831. The family soon afterwards removed to London, and the boy's earliest recollection is the funeral of Thomas Attwood, organist of St. Paul's, which took place on March 31, 1838, nearly sixty years ago. Attwood was buried in the vaults of the Cathedral, and Mr. Cummings vividly remembers seeing the coffin being brought into the sacred edifice, and also that there were very few people present at the interment. Young Cummings began his musical life by becoming a chorister of St. Paul's Cathedral. In those days the singing men held very easy-going views in regard to the matter of duty, and it was not an uncommon thing for altos, tenors, and basses to absent themselves. On such occasions the service became "parochial" (so-called)—that is to say, there was no music and the boys got a holiday. Mr. William Hawes, of flogging notoriety, was the master of the St. Paul's boys as well as of the Children of the Chapel Royal. The voice-training methods of this castigating gentleman were original and somewhat after this manner. He would get a dozen boys round him at the grand pianoforte, upon the side of which was duly deposited a lady's riding-whip. The smallest boys were in front, and if any boy sang a wrong note the whip was exercised upon the poor little fellow who happened to be nearest to this unfeeling tyrant. Even the buns with which dear old Miss Hackett was ever treating the St. Paul's boys failed to ameliorate the stings of these constant chastisements; and matters ultimately became so outrageously cruel that Cummings's father applied to the Court of Chancery and obtained the release of his son from the whip-loving Mr. Hawes.

Digitized by Google

The Temple Church had recently been restored and adapted for a full choral service. Master Cummings became a Temple chorister, and it is interesting to record that he sang at the opening service of the renovated sanctuary, the actual date being November 20, 1842. The event is important, for, be it noted, the Temple choir was then the only surpliced choir in London, with the exception of St. Paul's, Westminster Abbey, and the Chapel Royal. Here is a preliminary notice of the opening from the Musical World of November 17, 1842:

> Temple Church.—This venerable structure, which has undergone a complete repair and splendid renovation, will be opened for Divine service on Sunday next; when Boyce's Service in A, the responses and chant by Tallis, King's Anthem, "O pray for the peace of Jerusalem," and Handel's "Hallelujah" will be sung by Messrs. Hobbs, Hawkins, Horncastle, Calvert, and the newly appointed choristers, under the direction of Mr. Turle and Mr. Goss.

In the following year (1843) Mr. (now Dr.) E. J. Hopkins was appointed organist of the Temple, and Chorister Cummings soon became his pupil for the organ. At that time Cummings, who received his general education at the City of London School, lived at 3, Red Lion Square, in a large house (now demolished) which contained an organ. He deputised a good deal at various churches, and remembers that the pedal touch of the organ at Christ Church, Newgate Street, was so heavy that he had to stand on each note before it would go down—in fact, it proved to be a kind of musical treadmill. He conducted a Temple Choral Club, which consisted of his fellow choristers, who were also "players upon instruments"; thus he was ever picking up musical knowledge of various kinds, which proved to be of good service to him in after life. There is a great deal in the art of "picking up." During his choristership at the Temple Church, Master Cummings sang amongst the altos at the first performance of the revised version of "Elijah," at Exeter Hall, April 18, 1847, under the composer's direction. He sat in the front row of the altos, and his enthusiastic singing attracted the notice of Mendelssohn, who asked Cummings his name, wrote it upon one of his own visiting cards and gave it to the youthful singer.

One day, after his voice had broken, his organ master, Dr. Hopkins, told him that an organist was wanted at Waltham Abbey. It is interesting to record the fact, discovered by Mr. Cummings, that Tallis was a former organist of Waltham Abbey; he retained his appointment until the dissolution of the Abbey in 1540, when he was dismissed with 20*s.* for wages and 20*s.* for reward. Having donned a tail coat, in which he felt very uncomfortable, Cummings applied for the post at Waltham and obtained it. When he had an engagement on Saturday, he would go to Waltham Abbey on the Sunday morning, leaving Red Lion Square at 5 a.m. and walking the intervening fifteen and three-quarter miles in time for the eleven o'clock service! It was at Waltham Abbey, and during the organistship of Mr. Cummings, who adapted the tune, that Mendelssohn's music to "Hark! the Herald Angels sing" was first sung. The circumstances attending the adaptation were fully recorded in The Musical Times of December last.

After leaving Waltham, Mr. Cummings commenced his long and distinguished career as a tenor singer. He began by being a deputy at the Temple Church, at the Chapel Royal (for Mr. Charles Lockey), and "perpetual deputy" for Mr. J. W. Hobbs, at Westminster Abbey. When the appointment of solo tenor at the Temple Church became vacant, it was offered to Mr. Cummings, at a salary of sixty guineas, and he was to attend in person "when it suited him." He was subsequently appointed a Gentleman of the Chapel Royal. One day Robert Barnby said to him: "Why don't you go under Hobbs?" Mr. Cummings not only became an "apprenticed" pupil of that distinguished tenor for three years, but subsequently married his daughter, Clara, named after her godmother, Clara Novello, now the Countess Gigliucci. Mr. Cummings made his first great success as a tenor vocalist in the capacity of a substitute for Mr. Sims Reeves. One afternoon the late G. W. Martin came to Cummings and said: "Reeves cannot sing for me in 'Judas' at Exeter Hall; you must take his place. If you don't, I can't give my concert." Cummings had good reason for hesitating to accept this "eleventh hour" request as he had not studied the part. Martin then said: "I'll give you twenty guineas if you'll do it," and, suiting the action to the word, he took twenty sovereigns out of his pocket and, counting them, said, "There, take those on account." Such an opportunity was not to be lightly thrown away. Cummings diligently set to work to get up the part, with the result that he made a great success, and from that time he was fairly launched upon the sea of prosperity as a leading tenor singer.

Digitized by Google

Mr. Cummings very soon appeared at the various musical festivals, where his natural musicianship and exceptional reading powers, in addition to his "tuneful voice," were turned to excellent service. Some of his experiences as a singer may now be related. For the Birmingham Festival of 1864 Sir Arthur Sullivan had composed his cantata "Kenilworth," the tenor music in which he wrote expressly for Mario. As an intimation had been received from the great Italian tenor that illness prevented him from coming to Birmingham, Mr. Cummings was asked if he would sing Mario's part at sight. He consented and scored a triumphant success. In addition to being thanked by the committee for having rendered this valuable service, he was presented with the handsome gold watch chain he now wears. Throughout the festival he sang nearly all the music assigned to Mario. But he declined to sing the tenor part in Verdi's quintet "È scherzo od è folia" unless it could be rehearsed with the other vocalists and the orchestra. Upon telling Costa his decision, the great conductor facetiously replied: "You are quite right; that scherzo is no joke!"

At the Norwich Musical Festival of 1866 (at which Sir Arthur Sullivan's "In Memoriam" Overture was produced), Mr. Sims Reeves and Mr. Cummings were engaged as principal tenors, the latter being referred to as "that very improving artist." As Mr. Sims Reeves was indisposed, his place was taken by Mr. Cummings throughout the week. A journal remarked: "What would have become of the tenor music of the festival had not Mr. Cummings been there we can't imagine. He undertook everything that his distinguished comrade was unable to perform, some of the pieces at a moment's notice, and many without any possible preparation." Amongst the latter was the Romance "O ma maîtresse," from Felicien David's "Lalla Rookh." There was no copy of this air—then introduced to the English public for the first time—in the hall. The orchestra had their parts in MS. and Benedict the full score, also in MS. Without any hesitation Cummings volunteered to sing from the full score, whilst Benedict conducted from a first violin part! It resulted in a tremendous success, and the song was for years afterwards one of the most effective in Cummings's répertoire. He subsequently introduced the song into America, where he caused it to become very popular.

The following concert experiences may best be narrated in Mr. Cummings's own words: "On one occasion I was engaged to sing the principal tenor part in 'Acis and Galatea' at a concert in a well-known county town. Although the conductor was a doctor of music, he was apparently so unfamiliar with the work that he had failed to discover that two principal tenors were required—one to take the part of Acis and the other that of Damon. When we were about to proceed to the platform, I enquired the whereabouts of Damon. 'Oh!' replied the doctor of music conductor, 'I had not noticed that another tenor was required. Do, for heaven's sake, sing both parts,' whereupon I answered, 'for Handel's sake I will,' and I did." "At the Tercentenary Shakespeare Festival, held at Stratford-on-Avon, in April, 1864, I played the part of Amiens in 'As you like it.' An enormous wooden theatre was built, capable of holding between three and four thousand people. Whilst singing the song 'Blow, blow, thou winter wind,' I was standing exactly under the drop-curtain. Unfortunately someone in the wings accidentally touched the spring which caused it to descend. I saw it falling and when it almost touched my head, I quietly advanced a step or two and continued singing the song. I should have been injured, or perhaps killed, but for my presence of mind. The incident was noticed by the audience, who at the conclusion gave vent to their excitement by tremendous cheers."

Here is a typical Wesley story as told to us by Mr. Cummings. "At one of the morning rehearsals for a Gloucester Festival, Dr. S. S. Wesley, the conductor, seemed to be more than usually absent-minded, and he wasted a considerable amount of time. At length Henry Blagrove, the leader of the violins, whispered to me, 'The orchestra are becoming very impatient, do try to get the Doctor to go on.' I immediately stepped up to the conductor's desk and said: 'Dr. Wesley, will you kindly run through my music at once; I want to get away?' 'Why such haste?' he slowly replied. Knowing his weakness for fishing, I thought to enlist his sympathy by saying: 'I want to make arrangements for some grayling fishing.' At the sound of the word 'fishing' Wesley instantly put down his baton and, folding his arms, said: 'Grayling fishing! you get grayling fishing, a young man like you! It is shameful. Here am I, an old fisherman, and never had such a chance.' More conversation—of a piscatorial rather than a musical nature—followed, with the result that Wesley forgot all about the rehearsal and the music; he was only aroused from his rod-and-line reverie to a consciousness of the bow-and-fiddle business in hand by the band calling him to 'attention' in that manner peculiar to them when applause is their theme."

Digitized by Google

Mr. Cummings has not only sung at innumerable concerts in every part of Great Britain, but he has also paid two professional visits to the United States—the first in 1871—where, as in his native country, his artistic singing was always highly appreciated. He has also appeared in opera at the Gaiety Theatre and elsewhere. But it was as a concert singer, and especially in oratorio, that Mr. Cummings undoubtedly made his mark. Sterndale Bennett held him in such esteem that he composed the air "His salvation is nigh them that fear Him" expressly to suit Mr. Cummings's voice, and as the singer for whom it was written shows us the manuscript of the song in Bennett's own hand, he calls our attention to the excision of several bars in this devotional air which Bennett made at Mr. Cummings's suggestion. One of the severest tests to which a singer can be put is in the rendering of the recitative. Many vocalists who can sing an air with tolerable acceptance utterly fail in their attempts to vocalise unmeasured music. It is no exaggeration to say that Mr. Cummings was one of the best exponents of the difficult art of recitative singing. The secret of his success was painstaking earnestness, patient and serious practice, and indomitable perseverance. Of how many young singers in the present day can this be said? Some of them, who make such haste to become famous, may be surprised to learn that Mr. Cummings, while preparing for his greatest success—the tenor solos in Bach's "St. Matthew" Passion—spent a whole week in studying one recitative! But such is the fact. Moreover, in preparing this particular work, he carefully read and pondered the Gospels and books bearing upon the subject of the Crucifixion, in order that his whole nature might be impregnated with the solemn character of the subject-matter so nobly illustrated by Bach.

The first time that Mr. Cummings sang the tenor solos in the "St. Matthew" Passion was at Messrs. Novello's oratorio concerts, Exeter Hall, April 6, 1870, when everyone was struck by the devotional fervour of his singing of those deeply expressive recitatives and airs. But he created a still more profound impression in the same work exactly a year later in Westminster Abbey, when the hearts of the listeners in that venerable sanctuary were thrilled at the intensely pathetic delivery of the words, "And he went out and wept bitterly." Was there any special cause for the sad, sad tone in the singer's voice? Yes: Mr. Cummings had just lost his father.

As a teacher of singing Mr. Cummings has had great experience; and no one could better demonstrate to his pupils the highly important, but far too much neglected, practice of singing every word with distinct enunciation. From 1879 to 1896 he was one of the professors of singing at the Royal Academy of Music, of which he is now an honorary member, and he still serves on the Committee of Management. He also taught singing at the Royal Normal College and School for the Blind at Upper Norwood, where his patience and his kindly nature were much appreciated by his afflicted pupils. In 1882 Mr. Cummings became chorus-master of the now defunct Sacred Harmonic Society, and subsequently conductor in succession to Halle. He was Precentor of St. Anne's, Soho, 1886-88, and, for some years, honorary organist and choirmaster of the Chapel of Ease, Dulwich. The beautiful spinet already referred to is graced by a silver plate bearing the following inscription:—

Presented to William Hayman Cummings, Esquire, by some of his friends in Dulwich and its neighbourhood, as a slight recognition of his great services in the Dulwich College Chapel of Ease, and especially of his kind and gratuitous labours as organist and choirmaster. April 5th, 1881.

In 1884 he was made a Fellow of the Society of Antiquaries, a distinction which he fully deserved.

In June, 1896, Mr. Cummings was elected Principal of the Guildhall School of Music, in succession to the late Sir Joseph Barnby. He has found that the post is by no means a sinecure in a huge establishment attended by 3,700 pupils. Since his accession to office the present Principal has planned many new schemes which greatly increase the value of the school curriculum, one of the latest being the establishment of a weekly practice of chamber music.

As a writer and lecturer upon music Mr. Cummings is widely known. His biography of Purcell—a subject upon which he is the authority—in the "Great Musicians" series, is a standard work on that great English master. His little book on "The Rudiments of Music," in Novello's series of Primers, has had an enormous circulation, and the same publication includes the "Biographical Dictionary of Musicians." Mr. Cummings has contributed articles to Sir George Grove's "Dictionary of Music and Musicians" and the "Dictionary of National Biography." He has been a frequent contributor to these columns, one of the most valuable being the series of articles on the history of "God save the King," which appeared in The Musical Times during the year 1878. He has lectured on many musical subjects at various places, including a series on "English Schools of Composition" at the Royal Institution in 1894. His compositions include "The Fairy Ring," a cantata produced at St. James's Hall, May 24, 1872; a Morning Service in D; anthems, part-songs, prize glees, and many songs. He has edited Purcell's "King Arthur" and some of the Purcell Society's publications.

Digitized by Google

Very few musical men possess the business-like qualifications of Mr. Cummings. He is a man of affairs in the best sense of the term. In his capacity as one of the Vice-presidents of the Musical Association (of which he is one of the original members), as a leading spirit in the management of the Incorporated Society of Musicians, and as Treasurer of the Philharmonic Society (in succession to the late Charles Edward Stephens) since 1892, Mr. Cummings has proved himself to be an admirable speaker and the possessor of tact, common-sense wisdom, and untiring energy. But it is more especially in the Treasurership of that ancient Institution, the Royal Society of Musicians, which he has held for twenty-one years, that his administrative qualities find full scope and his sympathetic nature a fine outlet.

We cannot more fittingly conclude this biographical sketch of a much esteemed man in the musical profession than by the following anecdote, which, we may add, was related to us by Mr. Cummings some years ago, without the least thought of its publication. The incident brings out one of the best traits in his character—his kind-heartedness.

The Royal Society of Musicians, with commendable generosity, occasionally gives relief to musicians in necessitous circumstances who are not members of the Society. One such case was that of the late Joseph Warren, a musical antiquary of the best type, who, shortly before his death (in 1881), had felt the pinch of poverty. With characteristic kindness and thoughtful consideration of Warren's feelings, Mr. Cummings avoided any official letter with its "a receipt in due course will oblige," but took the money himself to Bexley, where he visited the old antiquary several times. Warren had parted with nearly all his books; but one day, very shortly before his death, he drew from under the mattress on which he was lying a small vellum-bound book, in its original binding, 5 inches in height and 3 in width. The book was a perfect copy of Goudimel's Psalter of 1565, which is said to be unique in this country. Warren, in handing the precious volume to the kind treasurer, feebly said: "I want you to accept this book from me," adding, "I don't want it to go to America." Mr. Cummings, taken greatly by surprise, began to say that he could not accept it as a gift, when Mrs. Warren motioned to him to be silent. After he had left the sick room, Mr. Cummings said to the old antiquary's wife: "Mrs. Warren, this is a very valuable and rare book, and it is very kind of your husband to give it to me. But, knowing your circumstances, I cannot possibly accept it without sending you something in return." The "something" took the form of a cheque for Forty Pounds!

FROM MY STUDY.

The death of "Lewis Carroll" has served to stimulate the interest shown for a long time past in the literature of the nursery. Beyond question the subject has a certain fascination even for children of the larger growth. And this is not strange. The rhymes and jingles, the strange tales and delightfully unmeaning verse, the simple tunes handed down from generation to generation—all these belong to that other self of ours who, as we look back upon him, seems so impossible, yet whose reality we cherish in love of the little ones that to-day attest it. Not more wonderful is it that grown-up children often seek to get behind the traditional lore of the nursery to see how it was made and to discover what it means. Our smaller brethren and sisters are moved by no such curiosity. They accept as sufficient that which appears on the surface. The falling down of Jack and Jill, after their praiseworthy attempt to fetch water from a height, is simply a falling down, the sensations of which every child has realised. That suffices for him, and to treat the event as symbolical, to point out a higher meaning, though it may not end in disillusion—for a child's faith is strong—would certainly bore him. Curiosity comes later, and must be powerful indeed when it discovers that "Alice in Wonderland" really illustrates a game of chess. The pleasure of exercising it, however futile the effort, is undoubtedly great, and not even the most inane jingle has escaped notice, or remained free from those who would build a theory upon it. Nursery tunes give no scope for more than speculation as to their origin and earlier forms, and even that range of inquiry is narrowed by comparative absence of material.

Apropos, I have just laid hands upon a work, entitled "An Essay on the Archæology of our Popular Phrases and Nursery Rhymes," by John Bellenden Ker, Esq. (Longman, 1835). The author, looking at the ditties we have all sung in the days of our simple faith, pronounces them "unmeaning metrical farragoes," and asks himself the question why such things enjoy a popularity that is "repugnant to the nature of language and the feelings of common sense." Struck by this anomaly (which children cannot perceive), our author sought to get behind the present form of the ditties, to discover, if possible, some actual sense and reason for their existence. Doing so, an ingenious idea occurred to him, and he asked himself: "Can the sound of the present version guide me in reaching an earlier version of the words?" He says: "I am persuaded they appeared, originally, during the existence of a form of our speech in which the sound of the form they now present to carried the sense they were intended to ex In this view, by referring the sound o present form to words which at tha belonged to our language, I have endea to restore them to the state in which, I believe, they were first produced. In all those I have tried by this test, I have found connected meaning to be the result." This is not quite convincing, because, in referring to the speech of our Saxon forefathers for words the sound of which resembles that of the modern versions, no two investigators would be likely to agree. The field of work is one more or less of conjecture, and one cannot be sure of facts. However, our author continues:

Digitized by Google

"The reinstated specimens are not offered as models of composition, nor as the effusions of superior genius, but simply for that which I believe them to have been. To me, they seem popular Pasquinades, elicited by the soreness felt by the population at the intrusion of a foreign and onerous Church sway, bringing with it a ministry to which a goaded people imputed fraud and exaction. As such, these compositions gained that popularity which is now continued to them as traditionary jingles. The disguise of their true form I believe to be owing to the nature of their original import, and to have been suggested, to those interested in neutralising such import, by the unparalleled change which was then rapidly supervening in our language. The common origin and nature of both forms rendered such artifice feasible to zeal and ingenuity."

Putting Mr. Ker's theory more tersely, it amounts to this: (1) The originals of our nursery rhymes and songs were satirical attacks upon the rapacity of the Church, which was sufficient to ensure their popularity; (2) as the language changed, the clergy, while preserving the sound, altered the sense, and made the satires harmless by turning them really into nonsense. This strikes us, at first, as decidedly far-fetched; but the leading proposition may not, after all, be wide of the mark. In the unlettered ages, popular rhymes and songs, transmitted from mouth to mouth, were the weapons of the oppressed against oppressors. Mr. Ker's theory largely depends, of course, upon the actual relations of the Saxon clergy and the poorer classes. In his "Saxons in England," Mr. Kemble places that relation in a favourable light. This he does, however, by quoting largely from official documents, supposed to regulate the conduct of the clergy. Many other authorities agree more closely with what we know of human nature, whether clerical or lay; among them, Mr. Toland, referring to Milton's "History of Britain," observes: "We have not this history as it came out of the author's hands; for the licensers, those sworn officers to destroy learning, liberty, and good sense, expunged several passages of it, wherein he exposed the superstitious pride and cunning of the monks in the Saxon times, but which were applied by the sagacious licensers to Charles the Second's bishops."

The reader may be interested in some examples of what our author conceives to be the Saxon originals of the nursery rhymes now in vogue. Let me first present one of the most familiar among the latter:

The lion and the unicorn
Were fighting for the crown;
The lion beat the unicorn
All round the town.
Some gave him white bread,
Some gave him plum cake,
And sent him out of town.

Guided by the sound of these lines, Mr. Ker produces the subjoined Anglo-Saxon version:

Die laeyen end die u nick oe'ren
Weêr-vecht! Ding! Voer dij Krouwn!
Die laeyen biedt, die u nick oe'ren
All rouwhond er bauwt dij toe hun.
Sie Oom geev' hem wyte breed,
Sie Oom geev' hem blaem keck,
End seyn t'hem houde af to chun.

In modern English the Saxon version means:

"Fight against! contest! lay your claws upon him who comes to load you with fresh rates, and with eager intention to put a fresh yoke upon your neck. Like a surly mastiff, growl at him who offers to assess you afresh, and put another yoke upon your neck. Be sure you make the fellow comprehend your reproof, that you blast him properly, and that you make known to him, by some practical sign, that the sooner he betakes himself to his own den the better for him."

Who would have thought that behind our combative acquaintances, the Lion and the Unicorn, lay this "ignorant impatience of taxation"?

Now let us take the legend—

Hie! diddle diddle,
The cat and the fiddle,
The cow jumped over the moon,
The little dog laughed to see such sport,
While the dish ran after the spoon.

Again guided by the sound, Mr. Ker arrives at the subjoined Saxon version—

Hye! died t'el, died t'el
De guit end de vied t'el,
De Kauw j'hummt; Hoeve eer dij moê aen,
De lij t'el doghe laft tot sij aus sport;
Hou yl te dies: "Kan! haft er dij spaê aen."

Which means:

"You that work hard for your bread, do contrive among yourselves to shame the common thief and mischief-maker. This Jack-daw (priest) keeps on repeating, 'Plough the land duly, be painstaking, my man,' and this curse to every virtue continues harping on in the same strain till he is stopped short. Be sure you salute him at once with, 'My active fellow, take you this spade and get your own bread with it honestly, and don't filch from others.'"

One other example will suffice:

Taffy was a Welshman, Taffy was a thief;
Taffy came to my house and stole a leg of beef;
I went to Taffy's house, Taffy was not at home;
Taffy came to my house, and stole a marrow bone.

Our Welsh friends have always resented this stanza as a libel on their honesty. According to Mr. Ker, it is nothing of the kind, and has no reference to them at all. Here, according to our authority, is the original verse:

Tuyf je was er wee helsch m'aen, Tuyf je was er dief;
Tuyf je geê em t'Oom hye huys; aen stoel er leeck af beefe
Hye wennt toe Tuyf hys huys; Tuyf je was nae't aet hou'em,
Tuyf je geê't 'em t'Oom hye huys, aen stoel er maer rouw boó hun.

Digitized by Google

This being interpreted, means:

"Tuyf (the priest), by his calling, has ever proved a grievance to us all. Tuyf has ever proved a diminisher of our property. Tuyf will hardly ever let my cousin Farmer leave his house, while up in the pulpit he shudders at the very name of the profane layman. The farmer places his house and its contents at the disposal of Tuyf, and Tuyf, for the sake of what he can take out of, is condescending and officious to the master of it. Tuyf will hardly ever let my cousin Farmer leave his house, while up in his pulpit he turns the austere and unsympathising denouncer of affliction upon the whole class."

Though Mr. Ker's process is decidedly not convincing, it is full of interest, and does not lack plausibility. To think that our innocent children, singing their nursery songs, are playing with materials that, in their original form, made Wat Tyler and Jack Cade, and through one of them gave the City arms its dagger!

Lady Morgan's "France in 1829-30" contains an attractive chapter on music—a chapter, moreover, which cannot fail to divert those who, having later developments in mind, note that the sprightly authoress champions the music of Rossini as a triumph of the romantic and the dramatic over a frigid and inexpressive classicism. She appears to look upon Rossini as, in later years, other amateurs regarded Wagner; yet between the composer of the "Ring" and the composer of "William Tell" what a difference!

Lady Morgan states that when she first visited France Rossini was scarcely known even by name, nor had he much advanced on her second visit, in 1818. At that period, the Princess Volkonska gave amateur representations of Italian operas, of which she was herself the prima donna. "On one evening, when we were invited, the 'Italiana in Algieri' was represented, but nobody knew anything about it. The first few phrases of the overture were startling, and the audience began to exhibit symptoms of surprise rather than of admiration. The music was marked by that brio, that gaiety, for which even 'Don Juan' had not prepared them, and to which neither Cherubini nor Paer had accustomed their unawakened organs. At this distance of time I am amazed that it did not cause more emotion in ourselves, but great novelties perhaps occasion, in the first instance, a shock that is not gracious. It struck us, however, sufficiently to cause enquiries after his name—for it was not in the list of Maëstri celebrated in France. Somebody in the next box said that the piece was by a young composer called Rossini, of the Teatro San Mose, at Venice."

Eleven years later Lady Morgan found Rossini the centre of musical life in the French capital. His 'Comte Ory' was running at the Academie, so long barred against Italian music, and everybody was impatiently awaiting the début of "William Tell." "Having called one morning at his apartments," writes our authoress, "Madame Rossini conducted us into her bedroom, as Rossini was busy in the saloon, trying some of the scenes of his new piece. He had been working till a late hour the night before, and when he joined us he seemed weary and exhausted." Here Lady Morgan declares her belief that the stories of Rossini's indolence were not true, resting her faith on the general principle that he who makes for himself a high and durable reputation must be industrious.

As Lady Morgan had to leave Paris before the production of "William Tell," Rossini kindly gave her tickets for a night rehearsal. I pass over her general description of the scene. Of the composer she says: "Rossini, with a roll of paper in his hand, and leaning heavily upon his stick, bent his anxious face over the orchestra, and, from time to time, in the gentlest voice and most supplicating tone, 'hinted a fault and hesitated dislike,' as the 'caro violoncello' was too piano, or the 'Signor mio flauto' was too forte." That is a good description. Lady Morgan gives a very just estimate of the work, then going on to say that it is the music of liberty, following on with an interesting disquisition: "What it is that constitutes the local character of music, or its adaptation to express the various passions of the moral world, escapes the scrutiny of philosophers, and is not to be rendered in books of instruction, or the mere learned treatises of the writers of systems. It is incapable of definition, but it exists deep in the innermost soul of genius, an instinctive perception—a feeling independent of reason. The mechanical composer knows it not; the imitator cannot repeat it; but when produced by the magic of imaginative inspiration, it is felt and acknowledged in the applause of multitudes, who are totally unable to explain the causes of their pleasure." Apparently, it did not occur to Lady Morgan that her recognition of the music in "William Tell" as the music of liberty may have been due to the suggestion of the subject, the poetry, the scenery, and the incidents. Had simply the music been performed, what then would she have seen in it beyond its merits as such? In these matters nothing is so easy as self-deception.

X.

CRITICS ON STRIKE.

Provincial readers of The Musical Times cannot fail to have been struck by the extraordinary apparent dearth of concerts which prevailed in London from the middle of December to the middle of January. Unthinking non-musical observers may no doubt be tempted to ascribe this cessation of musical activities to the Christmas holidays, but a Hanwell correspondent has placed us in the possession of a mass of information which places an entirely different and altogether astounding construction on the situation. Briefly put, his communication may be summarised as follows: During the whole of the period mentioned above concerts were being held at the rate of from fifty to seventy per week, but owing to a resolute and practically unanimous lock-out on the part of the Musical Critics' Federation, none of these entertainments were noticed in any of the newspapers. Conferences were held between representatives of the Federation and of the Amalgamated Society of Singers and Players; appeals were made to Archbishops, Cardinals, and members of the Cabinet to effect a reconciliation between the conflicting parties; and even the German Emperor was approached by telegram in the hopes of his consenting to act as arbitrator in the dispute; but after a month's hostilities the A.S.S.P. triumphed all along the line, the critics returned to work, and the status quo has been re-established in its integrity.

Digitized by Google

Inasmuch as the Great Strike was precipitated by the action of the critics, it may be as well at the outset to state as briefly as may be the grounds which induced them to take this momentous step, and the demands which they formulated as the indispensable preliminaries to their resuming their normal functions. They pointed out that the number of concerts held in the metropolis had practically trebled in the space of the last thirty years, and that this enormous multiplication of musical entertainments carried with it no corresponding increase in their emoluments. They further asserted that the conscientious discharge of his duties by a modern musical critic involved a simultaneous ubiquitousness on his part compared with which the exploits of Sir Boyle Roche's bird were the merest child's play, and that whereas a course of esoteric Buddhism might possibly provide them with one astral body, three or four at the least would be required to meet the exigencies of the situation. Failing this resource, they were obliged to rush from one concert hall to another in a manner which not only imposed a severe tax on their wardrobe and physique, but was incompatible with that mental habit of equanimity so essential to the dispassionate discharge of their critical functions. These charges constituted the gravamen of their indictment, but a host of minor complaints were also preferred. For example, it was pointed out that the inclusion of a host of new features in so-called musical entertainments—dancing, recitation, "cantillation," &c.—entailed on the musical critic studies of an encyclopædic range, in order to keep pace with this expansive construction of the term "concert." The ordinary resources of their critical terminology were, in consequence, exhausted by the strain. They dwelt, again, upon the notorious perversity displayed by certain performers for deviating from the vernacular and singing in a variety of foreign and outlandish tongues. In particular they instanced the outrageous and extravagant versatility of one popular bass singer, who, at one of his recitals, sang in French, German, Italian, English, Modern Greek, and the Irish brogue! Where was this to end? Were they to spend their hard-earned leisure in mastering Patagonian, Japanese, Bohemian, and Matabele, in order to keep pace with this morbid craze for preposterous polyglottism? Finally, they denounced in scathing terms the recrudescence of the prodigy nuisance, the abuse of encores, the introduction into the concert-room of the semi-obscurity of Bayreuth, and roundly declared that unless their demands were conceded they would absolutely refuse to notice any concerts whatsoever within or without the four-mile radius. The irreducible minimum of these demands was ultimately formulated as follows:

(1) An Eight-Concert Week, allowing two concerts for Saturdays, exclusive of operatic performances.

(2) No singer to be allowed to perform in more than three languages, or two, if one be extra-European.

(3) No performer to be allowed to appear in public under the age of eight, unless the pianoforte be fitted with a patent incubator.

(4) No concert to last more than two hours.

(5) No conjuring, contortion, prize fighting, "imitations," thought reading, or bicycle riding to be allowed at ballad or classical concerts.

The effect produced by this announcement, which was formally communicated to the Secretary of the Amalgamated Society of Singers and Players, can better be imagined than described. Six days' grace were allowed for the consideration of the ultimatum, and during those six days it is not too much to say that musical London was in a state of positive ferment. But the A.S.S.P. never wavered for a moment. It is asserted, indeed, that two weak-kneed trombone players and a suburban tenor named Tremolini advocated a conciliatory policy, but with these exceptions the members were unanimous in repudiating the demands of the critics. In support of this non-possumus attitude they adduced a multitude of undoubtedly cogent and formidable arguments. As regards the Eight-Concert Week, they pointed out that unless concerts were to last all day, it would reduce their opportunities of public appearance on an average to about once in two years—which was absurd. Turning to the linguistic problem, they declared that polyglot performers were a logical and indisputable outcome of Imperial expansion, the modern passion for foreign travel, and, finally, of the widespread recognition of the principle of nationality in music. The boycotting of performers under the age of eight years they stigmatised as a most arbitrary and unprincipled attempt to stifle the natural efflorescence of genius, and a flagrant violation of the dictum maxima debetur pueris reverentia. It was also ludicrously inconsistent with the popular movement now on foot to include Baby Suffrage as one of the foremost planks in the programme of the Radical party. As to demands (4) and (5), they were beneath the dignity of detailed discussion. In a word, the ultimatum of the critics was rejected in toto and the Great Strike began.

Digitized by Google

It might have been supposed that in regard to organisation the advantages would have been all on the side of the critics, owing to their being a much smaller body. But as a matter of fact the solidarity of the performers was unshaken from the outset, while a certain amount of suspicion attached to the attitude of some of the critics. This involved the "picketing" of the principal concert halls of the metropolis, and in the foggy weather which prevailed about Christmas the inclemency of the atmosphere told heavily on the constitutions of the members of the federation. An unfortunate incident which occurred outside St. James's Hall, when the representative of the Brixton Sentinel, who was suspected of being a "black leg," was roughly handled by his colleagues, rescued by the police, and conveyed away in a motor-cab, created a painful impression; and to make matters worse, the proprietors of certain newspapers, instead of supporting their representatives, stopped their salaries as long as they refused to send in their "copy." Again, the performers, revelling in the consciousness of their freedom from censorship, indulged in the most extravagant eccentricities. Thus one popular pianist created a great sensation by giving a concert at which the pianoforte was supported on the back of a strong man, while a vocal recital was held at Queen's Hall in which all the songs were sung in Volapük to the accompaniment of a steam barrel-organ. The public, instead of discountenancing these extravagances, flocked to witness them in unheard of numbers, and the free list was entirely suspended. It was at this stage of the conflict that the Kaiser was approached by some benevolent amateurs with a view to his acting as arbitrator, but his prompt answer, "I raise my glass to the heroic opponents of the reptile press—Wilhelm," obviously precluded the possibility of his adopting a judicial attitude. Lord Salisbury declined to intervene, on the ground that the failure of the concert of Europe had indisposed him to undertake any further efforts in the interests of harmony.

As for the memorable but abortive conference between the representatives of the critics and the artists, which lasted from January 7 to 13, a brief outline of what took place must suffice. A profound impression was created by the pathetic appeal of that accomplished writer, Mr. Vernon Pshaw, who described how he had attended four concerts on the same afternoon, with the result that he not only lost his umbrella, but got the programmes so mixed up in his head that he found it almost impossible to write a notice of any of them. Mr. Albert Berkeley described how in his heroic efforts to bicycle from St. James's Hall, after hearing a new vocalist, to the Queen's Hall, in time to hear a new violinist, he collided with a sandwich-man, was summoned for "scorching," and had to pay, in addition to the fine and costs, a handsome solatium to the injured man. The arguments already set forth at the beginning of this article were re-stated with no lack of energy and eloquence; but the artists, relying on the support of the public, and exhilarated by the Kaiser's telegram, refused to give way on any single point. Financially their position had improved, while that of the critics had deteriorated. From acting on the defensive, they were now the aggressors, and showed no disposition to deny themselves the fruits of victory. Still, on one or two points they were prepared to give way. Contortionists were banished from the concert platform, and a Roumanian baritone, who had announced a vocal recital, at which he would sing while performing on the trapèze, was ordered to amend his programme. It was proposed that the age for the appearance of infant prodigies (with incubator), fixed by the critics at eight, should be reduced to four. The eight-concert week was rejected, but it was suggested as a compromise that no critic need attend more than four concerts in the same day, or more than three in the same afternoon. As regards the linguistic question, the artists offered to sacrifice Sanskrit, Mæso-Gothic, Coptic, Mingrelian, Phuphluntine, Salicylic, Dalecarlian, Carthaginian, Koumiss, Pyro-Gallic, and the Ballybunnion dialect of North Kerry. That the critics were so infatuated as to reject these generous terms will hardly be credited, but it is none the less true.

Over the final scenes of this terrible feud we gladly draw a veil. The stubborn refusal of the critics to withdraw an iota of their demands, followed suddenly and unaccountably by their utter collapse and abject surrender, will ever remain one of the most extraordinary psychological puzzles of this or any other century. Various explanations, more or less plausible, have been put forward, the most convincing being that which attributes this change of front to the collective interference of the critics' wives. Anyhow, the fact remains that by January 15 they were back at their work, and the notices which appeared in the newspaper issues of Monday, January 17, contained no traces of that dissatisfaction which prompted the lock-out a month or so pre

d by Googl

It may be that this calm is deceptive, like that which precedes a storm, and we are therefore glad to hear it rumoured that a prominent M.P. intends at an early date to recommend the formation of a permanent board of arbitration for the settlement of such disputes as that which has recently convulsed the musical world.

Some recent performances of Sir A. C. Mackenzie's "Dream of Jubal" have served to revive an objection—advanced mainly by the younger line of critics—against any combination of music and the speaking voice. In so far as this objection is a question of taste, there is, of course, no possible reward in disputing it. It seems, however, to be a modern discovery, unless a peculiar feature in Rousseau's "Pygmalion," may be taken as representing that author's views on the point. The monologue in "Pygmalion," and also the few words of dialogue in the closing scene, are accompanied by music, the application of which is limited to the performer's pantomime, leaving the voice to speak alone. So far, the contention of our present objectors finds support. But the preponderance of opinion and practice on the other side is overwhelming. We will not go back to the Greek drama, concerning which little bearing on the question is known, and mistakes are easy. There is, however, the practice of our own stage, which at emotional moments very often combines the spoken words with music, and—what is more to the point—we have the high example of illustrious masters. Beethoven united the orchestra and the speaking voice in "Fidelio," Mendelssohn in "Antigone," Schumann in his "Manfred," and so on. The practice of these composers may not be identical, but they all admitted the principle involved, and that is the point at issue. It may be stated, further, that the public do not appear to be in agreement with the critics aforesaid. The "Dream of Jubal," in which accompanied recitation is carried to the farthest possible point, has become a favourite work, more often performed than any other of Sir A. C. Mackenzie's larger compositions; and it should also be noted that the accompanied recitation of ballads, and short poems generally, has come into something like a fashion. Of course, all this does not prove that our objectors are wrong; but it warrants us in hesitating before we agree that they are right.

Much depends as regards effect, and, through effect, as regards opinion, upon the manner in which accompanied recitation is carried out. Let us concede that it is not pleasant to hear a reciter shouting at the top of his voice in order to force words through a mass of musical sound. But that is an abuse of the true process. The composer of accompaniment to recitation should, so to speak, take himself into strict custody before beginning. Reticence and restraint are the conditions under which he should work—reticence at times when the spoken word does not obviously call for music; restraint when it does. The aim should be to strengthen at proper moments the impression made by the text, but never at the cost of that impression, which necessarily stands first and foremost. Let the speaking do its perfect work unhampered. In recompense, the composer should, following Sir A. C. Mackenzie's admirable example, avail himself of fitting opportunities for interludes, during which he can express himself more fully in the sense of text preceding. Under these conditions we see, in accompanied recitation, everything to encourage and nothing for which to apologise. It is a legitimate form of art, and should be cultivated to its highest point, not abused.

Imagination is a necessary part of the equipment of the programme-annotator. But in unskilful hands imagination may run riot, even unto that domain designated by a similar word (riot) minus its first vowel. An example of this, if not of the mock-heroic, or Eroica-mockery, is furnished in the interesting letter, printed in another column (p. 122), from Mr. H. E. Krehbiel, the eminent musical critic and writer on music, of New York. So-called "programme" music, when the themes are not labelled by the composer, affords a fine field for the exercise of the imaginative faculty. Sometimes, however, water is the environment, wherein the mere imaginationist may soon get out of his depth. Without in the least degree imputing a verdict of "found drowned" in all such cases, the subjoined examples from analyses of Sterndale Bennett's charming overture "The Naiades" illustrate how the same melodies may conjure up totally different associations in the minds of two accredited writers upon music. We give two of the themes from that fanciful work, followed, in parallel columns, by the said divergent impressions. The first is an episode, thus:— which is said to portray—

The splashing of large water-drops, tossed from the wavelets, which assume the human shape of the Naiades.	Fairy bells tinkling their gladness.

Here is the second subject—and its respective impressions—

The love looks of the damsels of the deep, whereby they allure mortals to destruction.	As though some water deity sang while floating on the bosom of a stream restless from past disturbance.

The former of the above "fancies," referring to the second subject, suggests expression in countenance, while the latter implies expression, or possibly the want of expression, in vocal utterance.

More than one hundred years ago the "Surprise" Symphony was first performed, under the direction of its genial and—pace Mr. Hadow—Croatian composer, "Papa" Haydn. The place of execution was the Hanover Square Rooms; the date, March 23, 1792. Haydn is said to have introduced that startling chord in the slow movement, which gave the symphony its name, in order to arouse his soporific audience from their after-dinner slumberousness. "There all the women will scream," remarked Haydn to his friend Gyrowetz. Although the programme-annotator had not sprung into existence in those days, the mantle of imagination seems to have been cast around the shoulders of a writer in a newspaper called, appropriately enough for our purpose, the Oracle! This imaginative scribe described the point of the "Surprise" Symphony in the following surprising manner:—

Digitized by Google

Act 2d. opened with a first performance of the Grand Overture composed by Haydn for this evening. The Second Movement was equal to the happiest of this great Master's conceptions. The Surprise might not be unaptly likened to the situation of a beautiful Shepherdess, who, lulled to slumber by the murmur of a distant Water-fall, starts alarmed by the unexpected firing of a fowling-piece. The flute obligato was delicious.

Not only the "flute obligato," but the "beautiful Shepherdess," the "distant Water-fall," and especially the "fowling-piece" are all "delicious." There can be nothing but the highest commendation of this novel way of working the critical oracle by that critic of the Oracle.

Some little time back we were told that Handel's "Messiah" was growing obsolete, but the recent correspondence in the Standard with reference to the present unsatisfactory manner of rendering its choruses is a proof of the wide and lively interest still taken in Handel's masterpiece. To quote the critic of the Standard: "It is obviously inconsistent that the solos should be sung with all the devotional fervour of which the singer is capable, and the choruses rendered with the expressionless rhythmic beat of a machine." As in most cases, there are doubtless faults on both sides. The soloists, apparently forgetful of the epic nature of the work, often seek to infuse dramatic intensity into their singing, which emphasises the coldness of manner in which it has become customary to deliver the choruses. Solo vocalists may therefore be asked to remember that the spirit of "The Messiah" is subjective and that to seek to make it dramatic is to destroy its character. On the other hand, there is need for the choristers to remember that they are dealing with the truths which form the foundation of Christianity, and that to treat the text merely as syllables for vocalisation is to rob the music of its object. That little or no thought is given to expression in the choruses must have been painfully apparent to all thoughtful musicians who have attended the various performances of the oratorio this Christmas. The invariability of tone-colour, the utter absence of exuberant thanksgiving in the "Hallelujah" Chorus were especially noticeable to all who listened with open ears. There can, indeed, be little doubt that with the increase in the use of choirs the attention of conductors and choristers has been more and more devoted to the acquirement of mechanical accuracy in accentuation and articulation until everything else has been well-nigh forgotten. To quote the critic of the Observer: "If anyone fancies that Handel meant his choruses to be so sung, we will ask that person whether he would like the solos to be delivered in the same way, and if not, why not?" The same writer also remarks that "Handel's rhythms—those of his quick movements especially—have much affinity with those of the dance; and, unfortunately, it is just this feature that most strongly appeals to the music-loving but thoughtless amateurs who form the bulk of English choirs." It may, however, confidently be asserted that a few words from a conductor who had the courage of his opinions would break down this unnatural and monotonous style, which if persisted in will become detrimental to the life of the oratorio.

Wagner's "The Holy Supper of the Apostles" has just been issued by Messrs. Novello and Co. in their cheap octavo series of oratorios and cantatas, and it may not be without interest to quote the following extracts from the Preface of the new edition of this very remarkable sacred work by a great operatic composer:

"The Holy Supper of the Apostles" ("Das Liebesmahl der Apostel") was composed by Richard Wagner in 1843, when he was thirty years of age. He had already written "The Flying Dutchman," but "Tannhäuser" had not then been commenced; therefore the present composition is one of the Bayreuth master's early works. Wagner was at that time Hofcapellmeister at Dresden with a salary of £225. His duties were to conduct at the "Opera-theatre," to look after the music at the Hofkirche on Sundays, and to direct the Court orchestral concerts. In addition to these routine duties, which he discharged for seven years, Wagner became conductor of the "Liedertafel," a choir of male voices established in 1839, which doubtless had something to do with his having been appointed conductor of a great "Männersängerfest," held at Dresden in July, 1843. It was for this festival gathering of men's voices that he composed "The Holy Supper of the Apostles," which was first performed in the Frauenkirche, Dresden, July 6, 1843, under his direction. The band and chorus, the latter assembled from various places, numbered about 1,000 performers. The first performance of the work in England took place at the Birmingham Musical Festival, September 1, 1876, the conductor being the late Sir Michael Costa.

As in his operas, Wagner wrote his own words for this "Scriptural Scene." The subject is suggested by the 4th chapter of the Acts of the Apostles, ending with the 31st verse. The music is laid out for a choir of Disciples, sometimes divided into three separate sections, and a choir of Apostles, twelve bass voices. A short passage of twenty-five bars (p. 38) is indicated to be sung by "voices from above." The earlier portion of the work is sung without accompaniment. During the last chord of the vocal phrase "Be not afraid," sung by the "voices from above," the orchestra enters with fine effect in the form of a roll on the drums on C lasting for thirty bars, beginning pianissimo and gradually increasing to fortissimo. There are four drums, three of which (2, 3, 4) are tuned to C. Wagner begins his roll with the third drum, at bar 19 the fourth drum is added, and four bars later the second drum is introduced for rhythmic purposes.

The orchestral score consists of piccolo, two flutes, two oboes, two clarinets, four bassoons, serpent, four horns, four trumpets, three trombones, tuba, four kettle-drums (three of which, as already stated, being tuned to C), and strings.

We understand that this fine work, which is practically unknown in England, is shortly to be performed at one of Mr. Robert Newman's orchestral concerts, at the Queen's Hall. It would also make a fine impression at the Royal Albert Hall, sung by Sir Frederick Bridge's noble army of tenors and basses.

The most recent instalment of the "Dictionary of National Biography" (Vol. LIII.) contains the lives of all the illustrious Smiths. Very few musicians bearing that familiar patronymic seem to have been considered worthy of a place in this monumental Walhalla. (The "Harmonious Blacksmith" is really not a Smith, but a myth.) Of the half-dozen musical Smiths here biographised the two worthiest are foreign-born, thus showing the catholicity of the "Dictionary." The organ-building fame of Father Smith—as he was called—is well known; but it may not be so well known that he munificently bequeathed "one shilling a piece," not to "his sisters, his cousins, and his aunts," but to "his brothers, his sisters, his nephews, and nieces." The other German-made Smith was Christopher of that ilk, "Handel's man," to w the composer of "The Messiah" bequeathed all his manuscript scores, which are now in the Royal music library at Buckingham Palace. But what became of Handel's working library of books and musical scores, other than his own compositions, printed and in manuscript? No writer on Handel, so far as we know, has raised this rather important question. Another German name, as well as an eminent organ-builder, appears in the notice of John Snetzler, who having made money in England returned to his native land; but, after being "so long accustomed to London porter and English fare," he forsook his German surroundings and came back to London. Reginald Spofforth, the composer of one of the most popular glees ever written—"Hail! smiling morn"—worthily finds a place. There is an interesting biography, by Mr. Joseph Knight, of Harriett Smithson, the wife of Hector Berlioz—to whom that love-stricken composer referred in his memoirs as "la belle Smidson," the "artiste inspirée dont tout Paris délirait." The degree methods of Dr. Nicholas Staggins would have staggered the present-day Union of Graduates in Music. The account has quite a Gilbertian flavour: "In 1682 he was admitted Mus. Doc. of Cambridge—it was said through interest and without due tests"! But was Staggins anathematised for this false doctoring? No; he was most handsomely rewarded. We read: "To meet such allegations, a grace was passed on July 2, 1684, constituting Staggins Professor of Music at the University"! It is perhaps not altogether surprising to learn that Staggins was found dead in his bed.

Digitized by Google

THE singing of carols at Christmastide has long been a permanent institution in our churches; but nowhere do the simple strains seem more appropriate than in the Foundling Hospital Chapel, and Mr. H. Davan Wetton, the talented organist, never had a more happy thought than when he conceived the idea of these carol services, which were given in the afternoons of Christmas Day and the following Sunday. That the carol singing was enjoyed by the children was manifest from the intelligent manner in which they took up the unison passages entrusted to them. "Good King Wenceslas," of course, was there, and the story of "The First Nowell" was told again with sympathetic zeal. "Who is this?" (words by Mr. Chatterton Dix, music by Mr. Myles B. Foster) was also excellently sung, as were also Dean Farrar's "In the field with their flocks abiding" (set by Mr. John Farmer) and Henry Smart's "Jesus in the manger." The most charming effects, however, were produced in Barnby's "Cradle-song of the Blessed Virgin" and in "Sleep, baby, sleep," by Thomas Adams, the little singers in these carols frequently attaining a beautiful pianissimo. To attend such services, beautiful in their sweet simplicity, is to link together many hallowed associations.

DR. E. J. HOPKINS is about to relinquish the active duties of the organistship of the Temple Church, which he has so efficiently and honourably discharged for nearly fifty-five years. We understand that the Benchers of the two Honourable Societies, with their accustomed liberality, and to mark their high sense of Dr. Hopkins's long and faithful services, have arranged for their distinguished organist to retire upon his full salary; and they have most considerately decided that this arrangement shall be carried into effect with as little delay as possible, in order that Dr. Hopkins, while still hale and hearty, may have a full opportunity of thoroughly enjoying the rest and leisure that his retirement will afford him. They will also permit him to continue to retain the title of Honorary Organist of the Temple Church. A biographical sketch of Dr. Hopkins, with a new portrait of him, a view of the interior of the Temple Church, and other illustrations, appeared in THE MUSICAL TIMES for September, 1897. The many friends of the genial and venerable "father of English organists" will unite in wishing him much happiness in his well-earned retirement.

THE outline programme of the Leeds Musical Festival, to be held in October, is now practically settled. The old and well-tried masterpieces will be worthily represented by Bach's B minor Mass, Beethoven's "Choral" Symphony, and Mendelssohn's "Elijah," all of which afford full scope for the glorious voices of the Yorkshire chorus-singers. Two of the Festival novelties—Professor Stanford's Latin "Te Deum" and a short composition by Herr Humperdinck—have already been referred to in these columns.

IT is also very satisfactory to learn that the general committee of the Leeds Festival have unanimously adopted the recommendation of the executive committee that Mr. Edward Elgar should write a new choral work for the festival. This novelty is to be a dramatic cantata entitled "Caractacus," for four principal soloists, orchestra, and chorus. Mr. Elgar informs the committee that the work is sketched as follows: "Scene I., a British camp. Scene II., Druid scene. Then follow three other scenes, which are still under consideration—that is, whether or no we shall make them into two. The final scene is a Roman triumph, a great choral and orchestral climax. The whole of the music is, in general, like my 'King Olaf.'" The subject of Caractacus admirably lends itself to vigorous dramatic treatment, which is one of Mr. Elgar's strong points, and of which "King Olaf" is a fine example. The new cantata for Leeds will furnish Mr. Elgar with a splendid opportunity to still further demonstrate his remarkable dramatic powers, and we may rest assured that he will fully realise all the expectations that have been formed of him as one of our foremost native composers.

A SKETCH-BOOK by Mozart, the existence of which had hitherto been unknown to lovers of the master, has just come to light in Berlin, having been lent by the owner, for the purpose of inspection and verification, to the committee of the Berlin Mozart Gemeinde. The book, as the inscription on the cover in the hand of Mozart's father indicates, dates from London, in the year 1764, when the composer was eight years old, and there can be no doubt whatever of its genuineness. It contains forty-two leaves, filled with more or less developed ideas, many of them most charming little fragments, and furnishing most interesting and important evidence of the early development of this heaven-born genius. We are glad to learn that the Mozart Gemeinde, in their next periodical issue, intend publishing a number of these sketches, some of them in fac-simile, a proceeding which will be welcomed by music-lovers the whole world over.

THE January number of the Berlin Neue Deutsche Rundschau contains a number of hitherto unpublished and highly interesting letters written by Wagner to his friend Carl Heckel, of Mannheim, the zealous early champion of the cause of the Bayreuth master. The letters are important, more particularly, on account of the glimpse afforded by them of the struggles preceding the realisation of the Festspiele. It also appears, from a note appended by Heckel, that there exist (according to Frau Cosima's admission) four complete dramas from the pen of Wagner, entitled respectively "Luther," "Friedrich der Grosse," "Hans Sachs," and "Herzog Bernhard von Weimar"—truly a tantalising statement for the admirers of the master.

Digitized by Google

THE great Artaria collection of musical autographs has recently passed into the possession of Dr. Erich Prieger, of Bonn. It includes various autographs of Haydn, Mozart, Schubert, and Beethoven, all in their way interesting; those, however, of Beethoven are by far the most important. In addition to a great number of sketch-books, which have been partly examined by Nottebohm, some unpublished songs and an unprinted opera entr'acte of the year 1813 may be named: the oratorio "Christus am Oelberg" ("Mount of Olives"), the E flat Pianoforte Trio (Op. 70, No. 2), the last two pianoforte sonatas (Op. 110, in A flat, and Op. 111, in C minor), and the cavatina from the Quartet (Op. 130). With these, however, the list is not exhausted; there are treasures even greater: the Credo, Sanctus, Benedictus, and Agnus Dei from the "Missa Solemnis," and the choral portion of the Ninth Symphony. Dr. Prieger is a Beethoven enthusiast, and it is satisfactory to know that these priceless relics of the master are in his safe keeping.

THE autographs of Beethoven's works are, indeed, scattered in various countries, including our own; and some have, unfortunately, suffered mutilation. Among such is the Pianoforte Sonata in G (Op. 79), the first movement of which has quite recently been acquired by Messrs. Hill and Sons. Against the word Sonata on the title-page is written "autograph—di Beethoven," and a foot-note, signed "Wm. H.," says: "These words are in Clementi's handwriting; the present specimen, therefore, contains autographs of two of the greatest masters of this age." The writing of the music is neat; there are in all nine pages of music; the paper is oblong, with eight staves on the page.

MESSRS. OBACH & Co., of 20, Cockspur Street, have sent us a beautiful etching, by Professor Wilhelm Unger, of the late Johannes Brahms. It is a companion plate (18¼ in. by 14⅝ in.) to the same publishers' Beethoven and Wagner, and represents the lamented master in the last year of his life, an aged man, with long white beard. There be those who still consider Brahms to have been merely an uninspired dry-as-dust; but many others who love his music and revere the master to whom they owe some of the happiest and most ennobling moments of their lives. To such we recommend this beautiful memento of a great musician and a noble man.

MR. AUGUST MANNS, who has so pre-eminently maintained the cause of music at the Crystal Palace for more than forty years, has kindly promised to supply material—which is sure to be of a deeply interesting nature—for a biographical sketch of him in our March number. A new portrait of the veteran conductor, specially taken for THE MUSICAL TIMES, will accompany this account of his life-work.

MARY VICTORIA COWDEN-CLARKE.

BORN, LONDON, JUNE 22, 1809.
DIED, GENOA, JANUARY 12, 1898.

THE distinguished literary circle which used to meet at the house of Vincent Novello has lost one of its last two or three members in the person of Mrs. Cowden-Clarke, whose death, we much regret to record, took place at the Villa Novello, Genoa, on the 12th ult.

The eldest of Vincent Novello's eleven children, Mrs. Cowden-Clarke was born, as was also her father, at what was then No. 240, Oxford Street (situated nearly opposite the Marble Arch), on June 22, 1809, the same year in which Mendelssohn, Tennyson, and Mr. Gladstone first saw the light. She was named Victoria after her father's friend, the Rev. Victor Fryer, to whom Novello dedicated his first musical publication, "A Collection of Sacred Music," the issue of which, in 1811, laid the foundation of the house of Novello & Co. As a child, Victoria Novello acquired that intense love of Shakespeare which not only became deep-rooted in her nature, but bore such splendid fruit. She very early developed her literary faculties, her first appearance in print being a paper entitled "My Arm-chair," which she contributed to Hone's "Table Book."

Amongst the men of letters—Keats, Leigh Hunt, and Charles Lamb being the shining lights—who frequented Vincent Novello's house was Charles Cowden-Clarke, whose father kept a school at Enfield at which Keats was a pupil. His name is imperishably linked with the dawning genius of the young poet, Keats, who in a poetical epistle (1816) "To Charles Cowden Clarke" addresses him as "you first taught me all the sweets of song," and which contains the couplet:

> Who read for me the sonnet swelling loudly
> Up to its climax, and then dying proudly?

Charles Cowden-Clarke, more than twenty years her senior, fell in love with Mary Victoria Novello and married her on July 5, 1828, when she was nineteen years of age. They spent their honeymoon at the "Greyhound," Enfield, the bridegroom's native place, where Charles Lamb was then living. The genial author of "A Dissertation upon Roast Pig" failed, however, to come across their honeymoon path; but he afterwards wrote to Mr. Clarke: "Benedicks are close; but how I totally missed you at that time, going for my morning cup of ale daily [at the "Greyhound"], is a mystery. 'Twas stealing a match before one's face in earnest. But certainly we had not a dream of your propinquity. . . . I promise you the wedding was very pleasant news to me indeed." Charles Lamb, "the cordialest of hosts," told the young bride that he never stammered when he told a lie!

After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Cowden-Clarke took up their abode with the Novello family. Under that hospitable roof they came into contact with such celebrities as Coleridge, the Kembles, Malibran, Mendelssohn, Landseer, Hazlitt, Douglas Jerrold, and many others, some already mentioned, eminent in literature and art. It was Leigh Hunt who introduced Mrs. Cowden-Clarke to Charles Dickens—"dear Charles," as he was always called in the Novello family. "I hear you have been playing Mrs. Malaprop lately," remarked the author of "Pickwick" to Novello's daughter, an observation which resulted in an invitation from him to her to assist in some amateur theatrical performances which were stage-managed by Dickens, who was "supreme as manager, super-excellent as actor, and ardently enthusiastic in his enjoyment of exercising his skill in both capacities."*

Digitized by Google

During the course of their happy married life Mr. and Mrs. Cowden-Clarke were much engaged in literary pursuits, the former in writing for the press and in lecturing in various parts of the country, while his gifted wife devoted herself to those Shakespearian studies which brought her well-earned fame. Her magnum opus originated in quite a commonplace way. In 1829, the year following her marriage, Mrs. Cowden-Clarke was staying with her husband's sister at Standerwick, when one morning at breakfast someone remarked that there was no Concordance to Shakespeare in existence. The young guest—she was then only twenty—then and there resolved to undertake the work. That very morning, during a walk to Warminster, she, with her Shakespeare in her hand, jotted down an outline of her plan and wrote the first line of her intended book. For the next sixteen years she industriously pursued her self-imposed task, and ultimately produced a monumental book of reference which will long preserve her name in English literature. The Concordance was soon followed by "The Girlhood of Shakespeare's Heroines"; and, conjointly with her husband, a copiously annotated edition of the great poet's works, with preface and story of his life (1869), which was followed, in 1879, by "The Shakespeare Key; unlocking the treasures of his Style, elucidating the peculiarities of his Construction, and displaying the beauties of his Expression, forming a Companion to 'The Complete Concordance to Shakespeare.'" Mrs. Cowden-Clarke's numerous books and essays include "The Life and Labours of Vincent Novello" (which originally appeared in The Musical Times), and English translations of Cherubini's "Counterpoint," Catel's "Treatise on Harmony," and Berlioz's "Instrumentation."

Mrs. Cowden-Clarke edited The Musical Times from 1853 to 1856. During her editorship Leigh Hunt wrote several articles, and she herself contributed a series entitled "Music among the Poets and Poetical Writers," which, beginning February 1, 1855, was continued for nearly four years.

In 1856 Mr. and Mrs Cowden-Clarke, with the other members of the Novello family, left England and settled at Nice; but since 1861 they have resided at the Villa Novello, Genoa. On March 13, 1877, Mrs. Cowden-Clarke lost her husband, who died in his ninetieth year, and now she herself has been called to her rest at the age of eighty-eight. Less than two years ago she published a most interesting book entitled "My Long Life: an autobiographic sketch" (Fisher Unwin). The pages of this pleasantly written volume reflect the tranquillity of a mind at perfect peace, and breathe a spirit of unalloyed happiness in the retrospect of a long life well and truly spent in works of supreme value and usefulness. To such a sweet nature death would come as gently as the calm twilight at the close of a long, sunny day.

WAS HAYDN A CROATIAN COMPOSER?

Mr. W. H. Hadow, in a deeply interesting book,† has set himself the task of answering this ethnological question. We may say at the outset that, with admirable skill, he emphatically replies in the affirmative. Haydn has hitherto been classed amongst the great composers that have been "made in Germany." But after reading these well-written and highly instructive pages, very little, if any, doubt can exist that Haydn is a Slavonic product. Let us follow Mr. Hadow in his cleverly demonstrated argument. At the outset he frankly acknowledges his indebtedness to a Croatian musician, Dr. Frantisek S. Kuhac, first for a full use of his pamphlet "Josip Haydn i Hrvatske Narodne Popievke; reprinted from the Vienac, Zagreb, 1880," and, secondly, for musical quotations from his "Juzno-slovjenske Narodne Popievke: Zagreb, 1878-1881," a large and valuable collection of South-Slavonic folk-songs, to which reference has already been made in these columns. (The Musical Times, November, 1893, p. 652.) Mr. Hadow is one of the comparatively few writers on music in this country who does not rest satisfied with second-hand information. Accordingly he paid a visit to Croatia last year, where he saw Dr. Kuhac, and where he obtained fresh information on the spot.

After making a strong claim for nationality in music, Mr. Hadow proceeds to furnish proof of the Croatian element in Haydn's compositions. He contrasts the inevitable four-bar unit of measurement, carrying with it the corresponding stanza of eight or sixteen or thirty-two of the German or English folk-song, with the wider range of stanza to be found, for instance, in the melodies of Haydn's quartets, the latter being a characteristic feature of Slavonic tunes. Croatia has not had any reputation as an artistic nation; in this respect she has been under a cloud. But Mr. Hadow assures us that "throughout the country the love of music prevails"; and Dr. Kuhac declares that one in every three of the population "either sings, plays, or composes." Moreover, there is a significant Croatian proverb to the effect that "an age is known by its music." Speaking of the country itself, Mr. Hadow says that "few towns are more charming than Agram, few regions more delightful than the long fertile valley of the Save in which it lies." He gives an amusing instance of the places having two names—one the German, used for official purposes; the other Slavonic, for the benefit of the population. "Wishing to make pilgrimages," he says, "to Eisenstadt, where Haydn was Kapellmeister, and to Zeljez, where Schubert taught music to Countess Esterházy, I took a ticket at Vienna for the first of these places, only to find, when my watch informed me of my destination, that Eisenstadt and Zeljez were the same place, and that the name upon the railway station was Kis Martom." Similar varieties of spelling are characteristic of the names of people. Dr. Pohl, for example, gives no less than fourteen variants of spelling the family name of Haydn, and there are at least six in documents relating to the composer himself. The name Haydn, be it remarked, is very widely spread in Croatian villages; and both on his father's and mother's side Joseph Haydn was of Slavonic descent. The composer had also a Slavonic love of sport, which has left his name at Eisenstadt in the following proverb: "To je lovac i ribar kao Haydn; i.e., as good a shot and fisherman as Haydn." No one with the least sense of humour can fail to enjoy and appreciate the strong jocose element in Haydn's music, its genial fun being as spontaneous and refreshing as a bubbling stream on a summer's day. Humour, like sport, is a marked attribute of the people, although, as Mr. Hadow records, it is sometimes primitive, as when a Croat will tell you: "It is as true as that two and two make seven"; and again, though somewhat on a higher level, as the gibe at the Bosnian brethren, "who were ordered to abstain from something in Lent, and therefore took no water in their wine!"

* Mrs. Cowden-Clarke repeated her impersonation of Mrs. Malaprop at Westwood House, Sydenham, on July 25, 26, 27, 1881, when in her 73rd year, these being her last appearances as an actress.

† "A Croatian Composer: notes towards the study of Joseph Haydn." By W. H. Hadow, M.A., Fellow of Worcester College, Oxford. Seeley and Co., Limited. 1897.

Digitized by Google

After referring to Haydn's religious feeling and other similarities between the composer and the Croat peasantry, Mr. Hadow brings forward the strongest point of his argument—viz., the remarkable resemblance of Haydn's melodies to the Croatian folk-songs. Here are his words:—

Some of his tunes are folk songs in their simplest form, some are folk songs altered and improved, the vast majority are original, but display the same general characteristics. He would stand wholly outside the practice of the great composers if he wrote, by habitual preference, in an idiom that was not his own.

His acquaintance with these folk-tunes must have begun from his earliest years. . . . The common employment of folk songs dates from the Symphony in D major (1762) to the Salomon Symphonies of 1795 [? 1791]; they find their way into everything—hymns, quartets, divertimenti; not, of course, because Haydn had any need to take them, but because he loved them too well to leave them out.

Mr. Hadow then proceeds to give many examples in music type in support of his most interesting contention, the authorities for the folk-songs being taken from Dr. Kuhac's invaluable collection. It would be unfair to Mr. Hadow to quote from these convincing examples, we must therefore refer the reader to the book itself, in the purchase of which half-a-crown will be well invested. The last specimen is that of the well-known tune, the Austrian National Anthem, which Haydn was commissioned to compose in 1797. The beginning of this noble tune is derived from a genuine Croatian folk-song, one of the five variants of which we venture to reproduce:—

Variant from Cembe—

After demonstrating, in quite a fascinating manner, how Haydn gradually evolved or did "beat out the melody by which he has given voice to a nation's patriotism," Mr. Hadow proceeds, though this seems almost superfluous, to defend Haydn from any charge of plagiarism. His concluding words, upon nationalism in music, are as pregnant with earnest thought as they are eloquent in their admirable diction. This little book should find its way into the hands of every earnest musical student in the country.

THE "ASSOCIATED BOARD" EXAMINATIONS IN AUSTRALASIA.

MR. SAMUEL AITKEN, the Honorary Secretary of the Associated Board of the Royal Academy of Music and the Royal College of Music, and Mr. C. Lee Williams, late organist of Gloucester Cathedral, returned from Australia on the 24th ult., where the latter has discharged the duties of examiner to the Board. Mr. Aitken, who is full of enthusiasm for his work, has kindly supplied us with the following information in regard to his experiences at the Antipodes.

Mr. Williams and Mr. Aitken landed at Sydney on September 18, and at once proceeded to organise the examinations. The first were held in Queensland, and commenced at Toowoomba on October 1. Proceeding to Rockhampton, Mr. Williams examined there on October 4, and afterwards returned to Brisbane, October 7. The Brisbane examinations occupied three days. A distribution of certificates and medals was held there, at which the acting Premier, Sir Horace Tozer, presided. Mr. Aitken has made a special feature all through of giving the results of the examinations at the end of each day; and in all cases within twenty-four hours of the final examination a public meeting has been held and the distribution of awards has been made. This was adopted not only at Brisbane, but also at Sydney, on which occasion Lord Hampton officiated; at Melbourne, where Lord Brassey acted in a similar capacity; at Hobart (Tasmania), and at Wellington (New Zealand). The Associated Board has examined altogether about 800 candidates in the Australasian colonies and Gibraltar.

It is interesting to record that, generally speaking, a much higher standard of musical excellence has been attained than was anticipated. Mr. Williams writes: "At many centres, notably Sydney, Melbourne, Brisbane, and Rockhampton, I found candidates that would have passed with credit the Local Centre Examinations in England, and the vocal talent in Wellington (New Zealand) I must specially mention as far above the requirements of the present syllabus; and I feel sure that future examinations will prove this to be correct. In Sydney, Melbourne, and Brisbane I found a few individual cases of such extremely high merit that I can only suppose there must be teaching power in these cities of a very high order indeed." In consequence of the requirement of the syllabus a much larger percentage of passes has been obtained than is customary in the examinations of the Associated Board; but this has been fully explained, and as the Colonies next year will have precisely the same examinations as those prepared for the United Kingdom, Colonial candidates will have no cause for complaint. One remark of Mr. Williams's is worth repeating: "Those who failed were chiefly very young candidates, who seemed to require an Elementary Examination before attempting anything further." We are sure that this will be very satisfactory to the Colonies. Although the passes have come out sixty-five per cent. as against the entries, the Honours awarded have been only three per cent. It was explained to the Australian candidates that the Honours of the Associated Board are by no means easy to obtain.

As showing the desire of the Associated Board to worthily advance the cause of genuine examinations in the Colonies, we cannot do better than quote from a speech delivered by Mr. Aitken, at Melbourne, under the presidency of Lord Brassey:

I should like to remark that the innovation of elementary examinations by this Board was tried for the first time last year in the United Kingdom, and it has been attended with conspicuous success. Its immediate effect, as far as our Home Examinations are concerned, is that it has nearly doubled our school candidates for the present year.

Now I am inclined to think that the chief work that this Board will do on its advent to Australia is to raise the tone of teaching. It has set a high standard, and it means to maintain that high standard, and although the examination this year has not been quite like those we have had in the United Kingdom, I do not think you will have any occasion to find fault with the scheme which will shortly be set forth in the syllabus for next year.

I wish to say to you that one of the objects I have dearest at heart is to see these examinations placed upon a paying and financially successful basis, and as soon as that is the case it will give me the greatest possible pleasure to recommend to my Board the formation of scholarships for students similar to those which have recently been instituted in the Mother Country in every colony in Australasia.

We may add that Mr. Chamberlain has cordially given his official approval of this important section of the Associated Board's work; and, further, Mr. Aitken, during his recent tour, personally gave in each province of the colony a gold and silver medal to the candidates gaining the highest number of marks in the lower and higher divisions respectively.

Digitized by Google

CHURCH MUSIC.

ONE interesting feature of the music sung during the Christmas and New Year festival season has been a more extended recognition of Bach's "Christmas" Oratorio. Many years ago the work was sung annually at St. George's, Bloomsbury, under the auspices of the Royal College of Organists, and directed by Mr. R. Limpus. This was probably the first Church use in this country of this fine work. These annual performances ceased, however, in the time of the first hon. secretary and founder of the Institution just named. For some time little was heard of the "Christmas" Oratorio. Now it is again to the fore, and there are signs of an appreciation so distinct in character as to give rise to the hope that it is at last to take its rightful place as one of the musical associations of Christmastide.

One of the difficulties in the way of its general use in a complete form is its length. The busy people of this world seem little inclined to put aside a succession of evenings for attendance at a series of musical services, at which the several sections of this work, dealing with the several festivals of the season are performed upon the appropriate days.

Amongst recent performances of portions of this oratorio may be mentioned one under the direction of Mr. T. Popplewell Royle, at St. Olave's, Woodberry Down. Upon this occasion the beautiful contralto solos were heard to full advantage, having been rendered by Madame McKenzie.

Bach's "Christmas" Oratorio is not only replete with tuneful themes, fine counterpoint, and harmony even now quite modern in its resources, but it contains many interesting features of a picturesque, not to add, dramatic character.

An examination of the various "forms" presented in the fine solos and bright, effective choral movements will reveal many striking advances in the direction of the logically evolved plans often designated "instrumental forms."

It may be pointed out that the germs of logical statement can be traced very far back in the annals of Church music; and perceptions of the principles underlying almost all modern musical constructions may be recognised, even in the music of the great contrapuntal period.

The ancient Introit, preceding the Mass, followed by an appropriate verse from a Psalm, with the "Gloria Patri," to be in turn succeeded by the repetition of the Introit, it is not going too far to describe as a distinct application, by accident perhaps rather than design, of the episodical method of construction. Then, as every student knows, the vocal church fugue, like the instrumental fugue, has its recurring subject presentations intermingled with episode sentences; thus resting upon a basis similar to that of the rondo form. To go back again to an early period, the musical texts known as canti fermi were types of the Leitmotiv, as in a fugue with or on a chorale, in which the church-song did duty as a "leading theme" in the midst of the surrounding contrapuntal activity. To take another illustration, a sixteenth-century canticle form with an alternative chant verse expressed the principle of the episodical method of composition.

The Church music of the Neapolitan and other schools bordering upon or included in the "great transition period" supplies frequent signs of the growth of the "form" instincts, within as without the classic lines of Church music. The sacred art of Bach and Handel also carries forward the development of constructive method.

In the Viennese Church school of the eighteenth century, formed by Haydn, Mozart, and their followers, it is true the musical forms had become strong enough to definitely divide into the various sections of the Binary and Episodical plans the verbal paragraphs of the Mass, and at times to cause an unwarranted disregard of the character of the sacred text. Still, the fact remains that the development of musical construction was not unduly impeded in Church music by the verbal exigencies and contrapuntal genius of sacred choral music. The large acceptance and, it must be recorded with satisfaction, prudent employment of the principles of musical "form" in our modern English Church music are in harmony with methods observable in the growth of Church music in the course of several centuries.

ORGAN MUSIC.

NOT so many years ago most of our Cathedral organs were unworthy of their position as regards tone, capacity, and mechanism. A great change has happily taken place, and doubtless the few remaining ineffective, worn-out instruments will soon be either removed or rebuilt. The new organ for Lincoln Minster will ere long be placed in that glorious building. The organ in Winchester Cathedral has been recently rebuilt.

An appeal has been made by the Dean of Gloucester and Mr. A. H. Brewer, the Cathedral organist. The statement sets forth that: "The original organ was built by Harris about 200 years ago, and underwent several important alterations in the latter part of the last century. Bishop added to it about 1830, and in 1847 it was entirely rebuilt by Willis. It was again rebuilt nine years ago by the same firm, but several stops have still to be put in in order to complete the design that was then made, and the sum of £650 will have to be raised for the purpose of carrying out the work. The following is the list of stops required:—Solo organ complete, to include tuba, clarinet, orchestral oboe, and harmonic flute; Swell organ—contra-fagotto, 16 ft.; Choir organ—clarinet; Pedal organ—ophicleide and octave. The Dean and Mr. Brewer feel confident that the public will agree the additions are really necessary in order to make the instrument worthy of the Cathedral, and capable of rendering the large amount of modern church music used in the services, recitals, and festivals."

Remembering the great services rendered to the art for generations by the Gloucester musical festivals, the enlightened policy pursued by the Dean and Chapter in providing frequent special musical services and organ recitals, and the historical interest attached to the great church in many ways, this call to complete the fine Cathedral organ so worthily and effectively employed, will, it may be hoped, meet with a satisfactory and prompt response.

Recitals of considerable artistic interest have been given during the past month. At Leeds Town Hall, on the 1st ult., Mr. W. E. Belcher, the city deputy-organist, gave an excellent scheme, in which seasonable Christmas music naturally found acceptable recognition. The selection included Guilmant's musicianly treatment of the "Adeste Fideles" and an ancient "Noel" song; Pastorale in E, by G. Morandi; Christmas Offertoire, on a Picardy melody, by J. Grison; and "The March of the Magi," by T. Dubois. Organists cannot be charged with the prevailing tendency to limit programme materials to the latest successful novelties, a tendency quite as narrow and unsatisfactory in its way as the habit of clinging to a few standard works on the ground of abiding success and interesting associations. In this connection it is satisfactory to note that Mr. Belcher's New Year's day programme and other schemes evidence an interest in Mendelssohn's organ sonatas which is general enough to be almost counted a revival.

Digitized by Google

Equally satisfactory in another direction is an all-round evidence of the more general and ready recognition of English music, notably modern English organ music. Sir John Stainer's beautiful "Six Pieces" form the latest illustration of the interest taken by our organ players in our national art. The Prelude in C major has been selected by the Council of the Royal College of Organists as one of the Fellowship solo-playing tests at the Midsummer examination. The recital programmes afford from day to day testimony of the wide and general acceptance of these scholarly and effective movements.

At St. Matthew's Church, Northampton, Mr. W. W. Starmer, of Tunbridge Wells, gave a recital on the 9th ult. The selection included an Adagio and Allegro Fugato, by John Stanley; Choralvorspiel, "In Dir ist Freude," by Bach, one of a type of that great master's organ works too much neglected; Berens' Fantasia in C minor, and well-known movements by Dubois, whose organ music is now extensively played both here and on the Continent. The programme of a concert at the Royal Albert Hall, on the 9th ult., included the Adagio ma non troppo (No. 3 of "Six Pieces," by Stainer), played by Mr. Tonking. Mr. Rudolph Loman gave his monthly recital, on the 11th ult., at the Dutch Church, Austin Friars. His programme included Merkel's Sonata in D minor (No. 5); Guilmant's Scherzo in F, a form no longer a novelty in the music specially written for the organ; and Widor's popular Toccata in F.

A question on a recent examination paper of the R.C.O. has reference to the English organ music of the eighteenth century. It is important to note that much of this is being unworthily neglected. There is a large number of voluntaries and concertos written by J. Stanley, Arne, Boyce, Greene, and other "makers of music" of that period, that will well repay the attention of our organ players, despite the vagaries known as "cornet" (the old stop of artificial harmonies), "flute," and "trumpet" solos, and a fair amount of characteristic old-fashioned ornamentation of the day. In this connection, it should be added, organ music written in the early part of the present century by S. Wesley, W. Russell, and others deserves resuscitation, as containing many movements of charming tunefulness, vigorous thought, and genuine dignity.

An admirable organ was lately placed in the Blackburn Road Congregational Chapel, Bolton, the work of Messrs. Willis. The instrument is one of those most useful organs with about forty draw-stops, of three manuals and pedal organ, containing all the truly artistic organist may reasonably desire, but without any organ-building extravagances and luxuries, only suitable to large buildings, which so many players set their hearts upon, in the form of tubas, heavy pedal reeds, and other manifestations of power, pure and simple. The instrument was opened by Mr. H. L. Balfour. That gentleman's programme contained some typical organ sonata music, as the first movement from Dr. Hopkins's very charming Sonata in A and Rheinberger's fine Sonata in F sharp major, a work of great dignity and character.

Particulars of recitals of interest given at St. Matthew's, Denmark Hill, by Dr. Warriner, and upon the Electric Organ Company's fine instrument at St. George's, Hanover Square, by Mr. C. E. Jolley, came too late for further reference.

FACTS, RUMOURS, AND REMARKS.

JUDGED by a concert-notice which has reached me, the Manx man as musical critic is diverting, whatever he may not be. Of a tenor it is said, "he sang very well, though, perhaps, a trifle slow, this being particularly noticeable at the end of the verse where he took an octave for a crotchet. Otherwise his excellent voice was heard to advantage." Undue slowness, or anything else, might result from taking an octave for a crotchet. The critic, eulogising the soprano, remarks: "Perhaps Mrs. Nicholls' only fault was that she held her book." Of the bass we read that he has a "rhythmical voice," and that, in the choruses, "his superior vocal organ could be distinctly heard and easily distinguished."

THE Boy has recently been at work in Dublin, in the office of the Evening Mail, and, as usual, gave special attention to the musical criticisms. He turned "rich, flexible voice" into "rich, flexible vocal"; described Mr. Dan Jones as "the well-known Welsh ttnor"—a slap, apparently, at abounding consonants—remarking also that "he took the pace" (place) of Mr. Evan Cox, and sang "the Green Islt of Erin" and "The Sailor Grave." This, if not the Boy's best achievement, bears his well-known mark of distinction.

MR. TOBIAS MATTHAY calls my attention to Aldo Antonietti, a young violinist who is half an Englishman by blood, and wholly one by birth and training. His mother was a professor of singing formerly known as Miss Grace Bolton. "Antonietti," writes Mr. Matthay, "was first taught by his father, but, for some considerable number of years, has been a pupil of the Royal Academy of Music, where I have watched his career with great interest and expectancy. Lately, he has been playing at our concerts with enormous virtuosity and real musical intelligence. At an Academy concert, not long since, he played Mendelssohn's Concerto so wonderfully finely that many musicians who heard him preferred his reading to that of Sarasate, given a few days before. He is only sixteen, and is a real wonder-artist—a musician all round, ravenously fond of all kinds of music, and composes most charmingly and freshly too." This is high praise, and we are all delighted to see a new and brilliant star on the horizon.

THE Ulster Times of the 15th ult. contained a wonderful criticism on a performance of "The Messiah" by the Portadown Philharmonic Society. Not much less than two columns and a half are devoted to the opinions of the writer, yet, considering the character of those opinions, readers had no ground for complaint. I will quote some fairly representative passages that it may be seen how far the writer is qualified for distinction as a "new" critic.

REFERRING to the chorus, the Irish journalist observes: "The delivery and reading of some of the choruses was (sic) absurd. The Hallelujah chorus, for example, was turned out worse than any other chorus in the book—that is, having regard to its capabilities. It was stiff, monotonous, and heavy. It was one long, dull moan of dread indifference." The members did not acquit themselves well in other ways. They are described as taking their places and arranging themselves in much the same way that a heap of rubbish would arrange itself when thrown from a grape." What can that mean? "As artists they could not sit down properly," while, in rising, they came up "in batches at a time." Poor chorus! But their critic is unrelenting, and goes on: "Their pronunciation was horrid, and bad beyond anything we had ever heard before. In this chorus, the sopranos . . . were simply execrable. They screamed their F's until their voices cracked and tore into shreds." "The Hallelujah chorus . . . was simply butchered, and the life thrashed out of it."

Digitized by Google

Our critic, being quite impartial, does not spare the principal singers. The tenor took "Every valley" as if after a good dinner, and he was about to lounge in peace and contentment with the whole world." "His stage manner wants patching." The soprano was "either looking over her shoulder at him (the conductor), or up through her front hair at him. . . . She carries her score on her left arm, much as a hotel waiter carries his napkin or duster. . . . As soon as she has finished her solo, she ignores the existence of the instruments, and gives a tug at the end of it, then throws the symphony at us much in the same way as one throws a bone at a dog, and with a snap of her jaw and a glance of her grand eyes says: 'There now, you've got it. Much good may it do you!'"

Concerning the bass soloist, this promising writer observes: "In the air, 'But who may abide,' he was simply, to use a vulgar expression, out of it. . . . In fact, Mr. —— was afraid to open his mouth, the contour of which is rather flat, and not such a mouth as could give proper expression to an awful warning like this." The critic further remarks that the Society can "supply some fun for their friends." Whatever may be lacking in that regard, he himself is able to furnish, and the gaiety of Portadown is thus assured, unless, indeed, the writer should be called away to entertain a larger circle.

The programme of the Saturday concerts fixed to begin at the Crystal Palace, on March 12, is prefaced by the following note:—

It will be seen from the Outline Programmes of the Eight Concerts that they have been constructed, more prominently than of late seasons, on the conservative lines of Musical Art, and that the lion's share of their contents has been selected from the popular works of the older masters of immortal fame, without, however, excluding works of contemporary composers of eminence, or those of young aspirants of promise.

From the numerous requests received from the Subscribers, it is believed that this scheme will give general satisfaction.

I have not the slightest desire to over-rate the significance of these official words, but do hope and believe that they indicate a return to good taste on the part of a public long seduced by the noise and glitter of much modern orchestral music. The spell of sensationalism in its very nature cannot endure. It is largely dependent upon novelty and surprise, and when those qualities vanish, the charm also departs.

Of the forty-one works definitely promised in the Crystal Palace programme, twenty-nine are German, seven are English, and three French; one is Spanish and another Bohemian. The Russian and Scandinavian schools are not represented at all, and there is not a single piece of Italian origin. Wagner's name appears in the list only three times, but Beethoven stands for eleven compositions, Mendelssohn for three, and Sullivan also for three. Two unnamed works by British musicians (also unnamed) will have to be added to the home list. Of the twenty-three chosen composers, seventeen are no longer with us. Those still living are A. C. Mackenzie, Saint-Saëns, Sarasate, Sullivan, MacCunn, and Dvořák. Save Mr. MacCunn, these are, comparatively speaking, veterans.

It may be of interest to compare the programme of the forthcoming Lamoureux concerts with that of the Crystal Palace. Of the thirty works in the former list not one is English, at which, of course, no Englishman is surprised. Of the masters commonly known as classical, only three have a place—Beethoven, who contributes six works; Brahms, who is down for two, and Cherubini, represented by his "Anacreon" Overture. Of German composers ante-Wagner, only Beethoven appears, and Wagner has as great a show as his one chosen predecessor. The mark of the programme is its preference for the younger French composers, who are well represented by Franck, Massenet, D'Indy, Du Coudray, Chevillard, Breton, Chabrier, &c. Only two Sclavonic musicians have a place. Are the public weary of the Tartar school?

There is a breeziness about the musical critic of the Johannesburg Standard and Diggers' News which cannot fail to command admiration. In a recent article I read: "The pièces de résistance were, however, the Liebmann Sisters, the two unaffected maidens in virginal white. . . . Miss Alice Liebmann opened fire with the 'Reverie.' And when she had instilled as much dreamy soul and brain into Vieuxtemps as that master could have wished, she changed the theme and strummed on the fecund violin and Spanish bolero arrangement. Then there was an interval, and the bouquets were stored behind, and men drank." It may be urged that this style is not dignified. But we must consider that Johannesburg is too young for dignity, and probably loves breeziness. Yet not all Johannesburg, for a correspondent out there writes indignantly complaining of so much flippancy. Ah, well!—many men, many minds.

Joseph Bennett.

THE ROYAL CHORAL SOCIETY.

One of the largest audiences which have been attracted by the Royal Choral Society assembled at the Albert Hall on New Year's Day, when was given the now expected annual performance of Handel's masterpiece. The choir was not in its full strength, many seats being vacant amongst the tenors, and the basses appearing less numerous than usual. This naturally affected the balance of tone, but as regards precision of attack there was no falling away from the high standard of former years. Less precision and more regard to expression were indeed desirable. With highly trained choirs unanimity has been cultivated to such perfection in the choruses of "The Messiah" that the dance rhythms with which they have such affinity have become unduly emphasised, and the work rendered less impressive than it would be were more attention paid to the meaning of the text. No such fault, however, can be found with the rendering of the solos, which were sung with all possible intensity of expression by Madame Albani, Miss Clara Butt, Mr. Edward Lloyd, and Mr. Watkin Mills. Mr. H. L. Balfour presided at the organ and Sir Frederick Bridge conducted.

QUEEN'S HALL CHORAL SOCIETY.

An excellent performance of Handel's "Messiah" was given on Christmas Day by the Queen's Hall Choral Society, under the direction of Mr. Henry J. Wood. Following exaggerated and petrified tradition, the choruses were sung with little expression, but with commendable precision in attack and articulation. The soloists were Madame Clara Samuell, Miss MacDougall, Mr. Ben Davies, and Mr. Norman Salmond, all of whom gave expressive interpretations of their respective parts.

Digitized by Google

On New Year's Day Mr. Wood conducted a performance of Mendelssohn's "Elijah," the choral portions of which were sung with admirable appreciation of their dramatic character, with the exception of the first of the "Baal" choruses, in which a return was made to the stiff and wooden accentuation accepted as orthodox in "The Messiah." Mr. Santley was the exponent of the part of the Prophet, and sang the famous air, "Is not His word like a fire," with a vigour and fervency that aroused the enthusiasm of his listeners. The soprano and contralto solos were effectively rendered by Madame Henson and Miss Ada Crossley, and Mr. Lloyd Chandos was the principal tenor vocalist. Miss Winifred Wynne, Miss Anita Sutherland, Mr. James Leyland, and Mr. Mervyn Dene formed an efficient second solo quartet, and Mr. Percy Pitt played the organ with admirable discretion and skill.

SATURDAY SYMPHONY CONCERTS.

MR. ROBERT NEWMAN has earned the thanks of those interested in the welfare of British music by including at least one work by a native composer in most of the programmes announced for performance during his new season of symphony concerts at the Queen's Hall. The opening concert, on the 15th ult., attracted a large audience, which was regaled with fine performances of Tschaïkowsky's "Pathetic" Symphony, the "Parsifal" Prelude, with the Finale to Act III., Mr. Cowen's "Four Old English Dances," and a new suite from Johan Halvorsen's music to an old Indian drama, "Vasantasena." This novelty proved distinctly disappointing, for the Norwegian composer presents nothing new or striking. We have heard all his sham Hindoo music with its cheap local colouring in melody and orchestration before, and we are heartily tired of this and all similar absurd attempts at reproducing the characteristics of Indian music on European instruments. We hope Herr Halvorsen, who is undoubtedly a clever composer, will in future devote himself to Norwegian music and write as he feels, not as he thinks a Hindoo ought to feel. As for Mr. Cowen's delightful little dances, we were once more struck with the charm of their dainty subject-matter and the pellucid orchestration. The treatment of the wood-wind especially is quite suggestive of the "unpremeditated art" of Schubert. The dances were beautifully played and greatly enjoyed. A successful début was made by Miss Emma d'Egremont, a contralto singer gifted with a capital voice and unmistakable musical feeling. She sang the florid air "O toi qui m'abandonnes," from Meyerbeer's "Le Prophète," and Schubert's superb song "Die junge Nonne" with much expression and thorough mastery over their difficulties.

At the second concert, on the 22nd ult., Mr. Cowen's "Scandinavian" Symphony received a splendid interpretation. As we listened to the many beauties of the opening Allegro, as revealed by Mr. Wood's sympathetic and highly-finished performance, we wished that all those students could have been present who, some weeks ago, rattled through this fine movement at the Royal College concert in the most casual way. They would have learned a valuable lesson. Mr. Wood's reading of the beautiful Adagio, the delicious Scherzo, and the vigorous Finale displayed his rare gifts and the fine qualities of the music to the fullest advantage. The "Pilgrims' March," from Berlioz's "Harold in Italy" Symphony, was included in the programme, and the concert opened and closed with the "Meistersinger" and "Lohengrin" Preludes respectively. M. Achille Rivarde gave a refined performance of Mendelssohn's Violin Concerto, and Mr. Orme Darvall sang the elaborate scena, "Die Frist ist um," from Wagner's "Flying Dutchman." He has a fine bass voice, and sang with good effect, dramatically and emotionally; but he does not yet form his notes with all requisite firmness, and his pronunciation of the German text was far from distinct.

MONDAY AND SATURDAY POPULAR CONCERTS.

MR. ARTHUR CHAPPELL resumed his popular concerts at St. James's Hall, on the 3rd ult., with Mendelssohn's early Quartet in E flat (Op. 12), which was excellently interpreted by Lady Halle and Messrs. Haydn Inwards, Gibson, and Paul Ludwig. Lady Halle gave a brilliant rendering of Tartini's Violin Sonata in G minor of reputed demoniacal origin; Miss Fanny Davies played Beethoven's Sonata in E flat (Op. 81), and, subsequently, associated with Mr. Paul Ludwig, concluded the evening with two movements from Rubinstein's Sonata in D (Op. 18), a dismemberment of an accepted work to be condemned. Miss Isabel MacDougall's singing of Peter Cornelius's "Weihnachtslieder" (Christmas-eve songs) was a very pleasurable feature of the concert.

On the 8th ult. Beethoven's Septet, performed by Lady Halle and Messrs. Gibson, Clinton, Paersch, Wotton, Reynolds, and Paul Ludwig, attracted, as usual, a large audience, and Haydn's Quartet in G (Op. 64) closed the afternoon. The soloists were Miss Fanny Davies, Mr. Paul Ludwig, and Mr. Meux, the last-named singing with admirable expression and finish.

The following Monday, Lady Halle and Messrs. Haydn Inwards, Gibson, and Paul Ludwig opened the evening with Dvorák's Quartet in E flat (Op. 51), and Lady Halle, aided by M. Slivinski and Mr. Paersch, gave a highly-finished reading of Brahms's delightful Trio in E flat (Op. 40) for pianoforte, violin, and French horn. M. Slivinski contributed a brilliant performance of Schumann's "Etudes en forme de Variations" (Op. 13), but seemed to labour under the impression that speed was the most important attainment. Madame Medora Henson sang an attractive selection of songs by Grieg and Schubert.

An exceptionally refined and highly-finished performance of Schubert's charming Quartet in A minor (Op. 29), by the same string players as those of the preceding Monday, opened the concert on the 15th ult., which was concluded with Saint-Saëns's Quartet in B flat (Op. 41). Miss Fanny Davies was thoroughly at home in Schumann's "Kreisleriana," and Lady Halle was heard once more in the familiar Romance in G from Dr. Joachim's "Hungarian" Concerto. Mr. Francis Harford, who made his first appearance at these concerts on this occasion, made a favourable impression in songs by Schubert, Berger, and Villiers Stanford.

Smetana's characteristic Quartet in E minor formed an attractive feature of the following Monday concert and was conscientiously interpreted, although with lack of intensity of expression, by Lady Halle and Messrs. Haydn Inwards, Gibson, and Hugo Becker. A very fine performance, however, was subsequently given by Miss Fanny Davies, Lady Halle, and Herr Becker of the revised version of Brahms's beautiful Trio in B (Op. 8). Mr. Whitney Mockridge was the vocalist.

Schubert's magnificent Quintet in C (Op. 163) was rendered in a most finished manner, on the 22nd ult., by Lady Halle and Messrs. Haydn Inwards, Gibson, Herbert Walenn, and Hugo Becker. Mr. Frederick Dawson gave an admirable performance of Chopin's Impromptu in F (Op. 36) and took part in Schumann's Pianoforte Trio in D minor (Op. 63), in which he preserved a praiseworthy balance of tone with the strings. Some songs, tastefully sung by Mr. James Leyland, completed the selection.

RECITALS FOR CHILDREN, YOUNG AND OLD.

THE two recitals announced by Madame Blanche Marchesi and Mrs. Kendal, and which took place respectively on the 4th and 17th ult., at St. James's Hall, proved so attractive to "children, young and old," that very few seats were vacant on either occasion. The programmes consisted of an excellent selection of songs having reference to children and childhood's days, and a no less admirable choice of fairy tales. Madame Marchesi was prevented by ill-health from taking part in the second recital, but at the first she sang with her usual exquisite finish Massenet's "Les Enfants," Gabriel Fauré's "En Prière," and other appropriate lyrics by Taubert, Brahms, and Chaminade. At the second performance her place was taken by Miss Esther Palliser, who proved a most able substitute, and who rendered Wagner's "Dors, mon enfant," Schubert's "Haiden Röslein," Brahms's "Sandmännchen," and other lyrics with the utmost charm and sympathy. Comment is scarcely necessary concerning Mrs. Kendal's reading, but it may be said that this talented actress was manifestly at one with her subject, and was singularly happy in her expression of the earnestness and quaint humours of childhood. Her most successful efforts were in Hans Andersen's amusing story "The Butterfly" and in "Little Pictures of School Life," by Miss Maude Valérie White, the effectiveness of the latter being enhanced by that lady's musical illustrations at the pianoforte, and the singing of an incidental "Evening Hymn" by Mr. Stedman's choir boys. Other accompaniments were played by Miss Miriam Timothy on the harp, Mr. J. M. Coward on a Mustel organ, and by Mr. Henry Bird on the pianoforte.

Digitized by Google

HIGHBURY PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY.

DISTINCTION was given to the second concert this season of the Highbury Philharmonic Society (which took place on the 18th ult., at the Highbury Athenæum) by the first performance in London of Mr. Arthur Somervell's cantata "The Power of Sound," specially written for the Wakefield Musical Festival of 1895, and produced, in April of that year, at Kendal, where these festivals—or competitions—are annually held. Mr. Somervell has selected his text from Wordsworth's poem "On the Power of Sound," and has set it in eight musical numbers. The first of these is a chorus, which is preceded by a short instrumental introduction. The chorus is bold and diatonic in character, the intervals of the principal theme striding over the scale with an assured step. This opening portion is effectively contrasted by a second section in the subdominant, in which the measure is changed from common to six-eight, and the music, following the spirit of the text, becomes more suave in character. A solo for tenor or soprano follows, the words of which are the fourth stanza of the poem "Blest be the song." This contains some charming passages and gives place to a chorus, "When civic renovation dawns," in which effective use is made of musical idiom common to old English songs. The next number is laid out for mezzo-soprano solo and chorus in four parts, for first and second soprano and first and second contralto. The most memorable portion of the work, however, is the chorus "The pipe of Pan," laid out in the form of an old English country dance, and possessing immense vigour and rhythmic force. The stanza, "By one pervading spirit," is also set as a solo for tenor or soprano, and the last number concludes with an effective and well-developed choral fugue. In its entirety the cantata is a favourable example of its composer's talent, and will be found well suited to small choral societies. It was excellently interpreted on this occasion by Mr. Betjemann's intelligent choir and orchestra, the solos being sympathetically sung by Miss Nina Faliero. The remainder of the programme was occupied by the concert-room version made by C. O. Sternau, and translated into English by the Rev. J. Troutbeck, of Weber's opera "Preciosa." This work contains some of Weber's most graceful melodies, and the chorus "The stars in their gladness" is probably one of his widest known compositions. The overture is too popular to need comment. In this arrangement the story is chiefly told in melodrama, which was excellently delivered by Madame Rose Dafforne. Preciosa's song was charmingly rendered by Miss Faliero, and full justice was done to the extremely melodious and vivacious choral and instrumental portions, under the able direction of Mr. G. H. Betjemann.

ROYAL ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

MR. E. F. JACQUES began, on the 12th ult., at the Royal Academy of Music, a series of three lectures of exceptional interest on Eastern music. Mr. Jacques, who must have made a special study of the subject for some time past, spoke extemporaneously throughout, and in his first discourse gave a singularly clear explanation of the Indian system of music. In his preliminary remarks Mr. Jacques said that the music of Southern India was the most developed Eastern music as far as we knew. That of other nations might be more so, but it was only of Indian music that we possessed reliable information. Before the appearance of Captain C. R. Day's work on "The Music and Musical Instruments of Southern India and the Deccan," even this was practically a sealed book to Europeans. Thanks to this volume, and the labours of a still more comprehensive but unhappily uncompleted work on Oriental music by A. M. Chinnaswami Mudaliyar, the basis of Indian music was now capable of being understood. The system was most developed in Southern India, which, from geographical reasons, had been less disturbed by hostile invasions than the North. The scales were seventy-two in number and were divided into two chief branches, the one being based upon a combination of two tetrachords whose extreme notes formed a perfect fourth, as in our major scale C—F, G—C; while in the other the F was sharpened. The extreme notes of these tetrachords were never altered, but only the two intermediate notes. Thus the lower tetrachord of the first great division, say C to F, was treated as follows: (1) C, D flat, E double flat, F; (2) C, D flat, E flat, F; (3) C, D flat, E natural, F; (4) C, D, E flat, F; (5) C, D, E, F; and (6) C, D sharp, E, F. The upper tetrachord was treated in precisely the same manner, and, as any combination of these tetrachords was permitted, there resulted thirty-six scales, each possessing distinctive intervals. The same method was pursued with the other great division of the octave (C—F sharp, F sharp—C), the total number of scales being seventy-two. This remarkably comprehensive system, of course, included our major mode, but the favourite scales of Indian musicians were those which had the semitone between the first and second notes of the tetrachord. Further tonal variety was obtained by a complex method of omission or selection and use of certain notes of the seventy-two scales. In some melodies the fourth and seventh notes would be omitted, which had given rise to the assumption that the Indian scale was pentatonic. In others, certain notes would be avoided in ascending, but employed in descending passages, or vice versâ. The series so formed were called "ragas," and the ingenuity of Indian musicians had been devoted for centuries to the development of these tonal variations, until there were said now to be in existence a thousand and one, none of which could possess less than five notes. Native players were, however, more famed for the skilful use of a particular "raga" or "ragas" than for the knowledge of a large number; and probably very few knew them all. It was remarkable that the names of the notes of the scale had affinity with our system of sol-fa titles. The Indian names were as follows:—Sa, Ri, Ga, Ma, Pa, Da, Ni, being the first syllables of the words Shadjama (peacock), Rishaba (ox), Gandhava (goat), Madhyama (heron), Panchama (cuckoo), Daivata (horse), and Nishada (elephant). With regard to these, Mr. Jacques pointed out that the most important notes, the first, fourth, and fifth, were named after birds, and the others after animals. Indian rhythms were very different from European. The most favoured were five, seven, and nine, the latter not counted in three threes, but alternate five and four. Their accentuation was no less distinctive.

At the second lecture, delivered on the 19th ult., Mr. Jacques showed the difference which existed between the scale systems of India and ancient Greece. Whereas the proclivities of the Hindoos were to use and develop everything, those of the Greeks were selective, and thus the latter only adopted certain Eastern scales which appealed to their keen sense of proportion. They dispensed with double flats and only depressed by a semitone the second and third notes of the tetrachords. Thus their first scale, called "Dorian," corresponded to the white notes on the keyboard from E to E; the second, the "Phrygian," from D to D; and the third, the "Lydian," from C to C. The inversions of the tetrachords of these scales were respectively named "Hypo-Dorian," "Hypo-Phrygian," and "Hypo-Lydian." The Lydian scale looked like our major mode, but it had the important difference that the key-note was not C, but F; the same system being applied to the "Phrygian" and "Dorian" scales. Many other details were described with admirable lucidity, and the interest of the lectures was further increased by the rendering of a number of Indian songs by Miss Ethel M. Wood and Mr. Ranalow, whose admirable singing of the singularly difficult music merits hearty praise. Some Greek songs were also finely sung by M. Aramis, the Greek baritone, and two of the most popular Indian airs and variations were excellently played on the violin by Mr. P. Miles. It should be added that the Indian songs at the first lecture were all sacred (Kruthis) and composed by Tagarajayya, who might be termed the Schubert of Southern India; and at the second discourse were taken from a selection of popular tunes made by Rajah Surindro Tagore.

Digitized by Google

ROYAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

STUDENTS' concerts do not, as a rule, inspire in the critic's breast the hope of combining the performance of his duty with the enjoyment that should come of listening to great masterpieces. Indeed, the prospect of hearing, say, Beethoven's B flat Pianoforte Trio played by three young students is generally the reverse of pleasing. The great work we have just named is one of those efforts of genius which one would rather not hear interpreted by pupils. But since it was included in the programme of the 258th College concert, on the 20th ult., we must mention the fact that Ada Thomas (pianoforte), William Read (violin), and Robert Grimson (violoncello) were the performers, and played the notes and observed the expression marks in their parts with conscientious care and some effect. Schubert's String Quartet in A minor (Op. 29) is a less trying work, and accordingly was given with more satisfactory results by Mary Noverre, C. Barré Squire, Edward Behr, and R. Purcell Jones, the emotional qualities of the beautiful music being well reproduced. Lallie Hodder's singing of Marcello's air "Quella Fiamma" was a distinct improvement upon her previous efforts. Her voice is growing strong and beautiful throughout its wide range. She sings with much feeling and dramatic impulse, and her enunciation, especially her treatment of the vowels, deserves high commendation. She may be warned against a slight tendency to tremolo and exaggerated expression. Gwilym Evans, who has a genuine light tenor voice of agreeable quality, sang Mendelssohn's Rhenish Folk-song smoothly and unaffectedly, his intonation being delightfully true. Ethel Wilson, a very young pupil, was asked to battle with the tremendous difficulties of Brahms's pianoforte variations on a theme by Paganini (Op. 35, No. 1). To say that she overcame them all would not be in accordance with facts; but we can readily forgive some wrong and missed notes in view of the many good qualities which her performance displayed—e.g., an excellent touch and wrist action; a rich, full tone, and such breadth and strength as well as refinement as are not often found in one so young. Altogether a highly promising pupil.

THE INCORPORATED SOCIETY OF MUSICIANS.

THE annual conference of the Incorporated Society was this year held in London, the head-quarters chosen being the Hôtel Cecil. The opening meeting was held at the Mansion House, on the 4th ult., the Lord Mayor occupying the chair to receive the Society, but subsequently giving place to Sir John Stainer. After Mr. Edward Chadfield, the general secretary, had read the annual report, from which it appeared that 190 new members had been elected during the year and £500 had been added to the reserve fund, Sir John Stainer delivered an address, in the course of which he commented upon the utility of the Society to its members, the immense advance made in recent years by the art in this country, and dwelt upon the harm done to the progress of music by incompetent and amateur teachers. It was this class who largely supported the trade in valueless certificates and unfairly competed with the capable and efficiently trained musician. In conclusion, the speaker expressed a hope that this matter of musical teaching would receive Government attention.

In the afternoon Mr. Joseph Seymour read a paper, in the grand hall of the Hôtel Cecil, on "The Irish Feis Ceoil." The words "Feis Ceoil" (pronounced "Faysh Kyole") were explained as signifying "Festival of music," or "Musical Festival," the former, "Feis," being associated with the ancient gatherings of the bards at Tara, presumably referred to by Thomas Moore in the line, "The harp that once thro' Tara's halls." The modern "Feis Ceoil," first celebrated in Dublin in May of last year, lasted six days, and was a musical gathering consisting of prize competitions for composers and performers, and four concerts. At the next meeting, to be held at Belfast on May 2 of this year, the scheme includes the performance of Sir Arthur Sullivan's cantata "The Golden Legend." The "Feis Ceoil" was now a registered association, having its head-quarters at Dublin, and had caused the formation of a large number of musical societies in various parts of the country. Much more interesting information was given, which went to show that the "Feis Ceoil" is doing excellent work and is deserving of every support. In the discussion which followed, Dr. Prout testified to the musical feeling shown in many of the compositions sent in by Irish candidates, which only needed proper development to contribute to the fame of Irish music.

The evening was occupied by an invitation concert, which does not call for comment.

Dr. Swinnerton Heap was the chairman of the following day, and in his opening remarks expressed a regret, widely shared by music-lovers, that so many new works of sterling merit by British composers were rarely heard after their first production. Dr. Frank J. Sawyer subsequently read a paper on "The tonic basis of Music," in which he exhaustively proved what has been long accepted by practical and thoughtful musicians. His listeners were complacently satisfied with this demonstration until he attacked the tonic sol-fa notation, which he vigorously and totally condemned, and declared "we can never sufficiently deplore." This, of course, led to a lively discussion, and Dr. Sawyer, in replying to a vote of thanks, said that, as usual, the least important point had been seized upon, but that he was glad to have found such an excellent red herring to draw across the track at this meeting.

In the afternoon a large number of the members accepted an invitation from Messrs. Broadwood to visit their pianoforte factories, and to listen to an address at Pulteney Street from Mr. Walter Macfarren, who, in a genial manner, related some of the notable facts connected with the development of the business and its connection with famous executants.

This dissipation was corrected on the following morning by a paper from Dr. Iliffe on Bach's "Forty-eight Fugues," in which their construction was exhaustively analysed and explained, and followed by a discussion, taken part in by Professor Prout, Dr. Hiles (who presided), Dr. Frost, Mr. Isaacs, and Mr. H. Davies. In the afternoon Mr. George Langley followed with a paper on "Wagner's musical expression of human emotion, as exemplified by 'Lohengrin,'" scarcely a well chosen subject for such an occasion, but worked out with painstaken detail that would doubtless have surprised the composer had he been present. Still less happy was Mr. Howard Swan's subsequent account of a "discovery" he had made regarding the relation between sound and light, which he explained to be the existence of a force which circulated through the nervous system. If Mr. Swan pursues this subject in the light of modern science he will doubtless make other "discoveries."

Perhaps the most notable event of the conference was the performance, during a concert in the evening, of Tallis's Forty-part Motet by a choir of about 400 voices, under the direction of Dr. Mann. It is not a work that one yearns to hear twice, but it is a remarkable example of the glorification of early contrapuntal ingenuity. The last performance was on May 20, 1890, at the Holborn Restaurant, when Dr., now Sir, Frederick Bridge was the conductor. The musical doings of the conference were closed with the interpretation of a toy symphony, in the execution of which fifteen doctors of music and twenty-nine musicians took part, conducted by Professor Prout.

The conference was closed on the 7th ult. by a banquet, at which Mr. W. H. Cummings presided with his usual geniality and happy flow of speech. Everybody seemed well pleased with everybody else during the week, but it is obvious that there is room for advance in the selection of subjects brought forward for consideration and discussion on these occasions.

Digitized by Google

MUSICAL ASSOCIATION.

"MODERN Sensationalism" was the promising title of the paper contributed by Dr. Charles Maclean to the meeting, on the 10th ult., of the Musical Association. As the writer was detained on the Continent, the paper was read at short notice by Mr. T. L. Southgate, who must have found it a somewhat uncongenial task, as the view taken of the subject was not that generally accepted. Dr. Maclean began by stating that "the term sensationalism need not necessarily be used in a bad sense" and that "all speech was sensational at early stages of society." These statements were passable, although they indicated a different meaning of the term sensationalism than that commonly conveyed by the word to-day. The writer was not happy in his estimation of the great masters. Meyerbeer was declared to be "the arch-sensationalist, in a bad sense, of his day." Berlioz "was no doubt a sensationalist of the most aggravated type." Liszt "never emerged from the false atmosphere" of "empty flashiness" and "extravagance." Tschaïkowsky "belonged to that class of writers . . . who write an emptiness one day and, soaring high the next day, expect their reputation to attach to the latter while the former is ignored." Rubinstein "was a much greater man than Tschaïkowsky, simply because his leonine genius came out even in the smallest thing he did, and in fact because he was an original composer." Only Wagner met with entire approbation. Verdi was apparently forgotten, and Richard Strauss, beyond the statement that he was obviously a "sensationalist" and "probably the most powerful wielder of the orchestra now alive," was left "to the adjudication of the audience." Dr. Maclean's opinions were more acceptable in reference to sensationalism in musical design and orchestration. In the former it naturally is found chiefly in programme-music and in the latter it is observable in "neglect of the mezzo-tint, patchiness of colour without reference to design, and tricks on individual instruments." Most music-lovers will agree also that "the dignified school of Joachim still seems to produce the best violinists," and that with regard to pianists "the school known in this country as that of Sterndale Bennett still produces the players who give the most pleasure." It is also obvious that "the question of operatic sensationalism is practically in effect very little else than the question of operatic realism"; but the statement that Wagner "did little more than substitute one set of conventions for another" is calculated to excite the wrath of Bayreuth. The paper concluded with some remarks on criticism, and would-be critics may ponder with advantage over the following requirements of the position: "A critic must have powers imaginative and analytical; a quick sympathy, untrammelled by convention or technical precept; a natural sensibility; force and kindly affections; a vigorous and well-disciplined understanding; a judicial composure, dwelling above the fitful region of prejudice; above all, he must have experience." This being Dr. Maclean's commendable definition of a critic, it was very satisfactory to hear his opinion that, "in point of fulfilling these conditions, our country compares, on the whole, favourably with any other."

As may be anticipated, many of the foregoing opinions were combated in the subsequent discussion. Mr. Cunningham Woods, who presided, said that Dr. Maclean seemed to think that as soon as a man became national in his music, he became a sensationalist—a sentence that neatly explained the basis of many of Dr. Maclean's opinions. Mr. Southgate manifestly gave expression to the sentiments of those present when he said that, considering the period in which Meyerbeer lived, he thought we had more reason to be grateful to Meyerbeer for his operas than to find fault, and that although some of Berlioz's orchestral effects were sensational, he was undoubtedly a national composer. In his opinion, also, Tschaïkowsky had no thought of sensationalism when composing, but merely strove to express the Slavonic temperament. Dr. Harding thought that Dr. Maclean had fallen into the error he had striven to describe, and that his paper was one of the most sensational which had ever been read before the Association.

At the conclusion of the discussion, Mr. Standish exhibited the recently-invented flute by M. Georgi. The advantages of this instrument are that it entirely dispenses with all keys and is held like the oboe and clarinet. Mr. Arthur Green played several solos on the Georgi flute, and, subsequently, Mr. Finn followed on the Boehm flute. In richness of tone in the third octave the comparison was decidedly in favour of the latter instrument, but allowance must be made for the greater experience and skill of the player and possible improvements still to be made in the Georgi flute. The exhibition excited much interest, and Mr. Welsh, in describing previous efforts, said that the advantages offered by the Georgi flute would undoubtedly cause it to have a fair trial.

WORKINGTON COMPETITIONS AND MUSIC FESTIVAL.

THE little town of Workington (Cumberland) enjoyed a veritable feast of music on the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 4th ult. For many years past similar gatherings have been held, but the present festival far exceeded in importance all its predecessors. All day long, on the 1st, 3rd, and 4th, there were competitions of junior and senior choirs, solo singers, quartets (instrumental and vocal), violinists and pianists in several classes, cornet players, trombone players, harpists, sight singers, &c. The number of competitors and the eagerness they displayed were amazing. In all, about 900 individuals competed for the £125 prizes, medals, &c., offered. The St. Cuthbert's Choir, from Carlisle, won the chief choral prize, the Seaton Wesleyans coming second. The challenge shield, given by Canon Rawnsley, in the junior choir section, was held last year by the West Seaton School Board Choir, but on this occasion it was gained by the Carlisle Fawcett Boys (Mr. W. H. Reid), who sang with great delicacy the trio arrangement of Barnby's "Sweet and low." West Seaton had to put up with the sight singing prize. The Derwent folk (Mr. Hannah) were successful in the male-voice section. On the evening of the 1st ult. "Elijah" was performed with a small professional band, imported for the occasion, the soloists being Miss Bertha Rossow, Miss Bellas, Mr. G. Richards, and Mr. W. Cradock. On the 2nd ult. (Sunday) "The Messiah" was performed with the same cast, except that Madame Belle Cole replaced Miss Bellas. On the 3rd ult. a popular miscellaneous concert was given with much success. Dr. McNaught adjudicated the competitions and conducted the oratorios. Mr. Owen Lloyd and Miss Annie Patterson (Mus. Doc., of Dublin) assisted in the harp section, which was a most attractive feature. Miss Patterson also gave a lecture on "Irish music," in which she was assisted by the harp-playing of Miss Kathleen Purcell, of Bath. Mention is due of the successful labours of Mr. Scott in preparing the chorus for the oratorios, and of Mr. Goddard, another local professor, for his frequent assistance throughout the festival with the accompaniments. But when all is said regarding the work of the promoters, the main credit for the existence and life of the scheme must be given to Mr. W. Griffiths. He should be supremely satisfied with the widespread importance of the scheme he initiated many years ago and has assiduously laboured at ever since. The effect of these gatherings upon the taste and the whole life of the hundreds of young people who take part cannot be over-estimated.

BRITISH MUSIC IN BRUSSELS.

A CONCERT, devoted chiefly to music by British composers, was given, on the 9th ult., at the Alhambra Hall, Brussels, by the Ysaye Symphony Orchestra, this being the first of a series of performances, each similarly dedicated to the musical productions of a particular nation, to be given here during the next few weeks. Professor C.

Digitized by Google

Villiers Stanford, as a distinguished representative of contemporary British art, had been invited to conduct. The programme included works by Sir Alexander Mackenzie, Dr. Hubert Parry, Professor Stanford, and some few examples from the old English masters; the solo interpreters were Mr. Leonard Borwick and Mr. Plunket Greene, both making their first appearances in the Belgian capital on this occasion. The same may be said as regards the works produced. English music, except amongst the British residents here, had, in fact, been hitherto almost entirely unknown in Brussels, and the existence of a vigorous, characteristic and independent modern British school, as revealed by the present performance, came as a surprise to many amongst the numerous audience, who showed their appreciation throughout by most hearty applause. The concert, in short, was a complete success. Nor should we omit to add a word in praise for its important share in so satisfactory a result of the orchestra, the excellent qualities of which Professor Stanford took occasion to specially acknowledge, both at the rehearsal and at the conclusion of the concert. A highly appreciative notice of the performance, from the pen of M. Maurice Kufferath, is published in the leading Brussels musical journal, Le Guide Musical, of which he is the editor, and the following extracts from which, as emanating from the pen of so distinguished a musical author and critic, cannot fail to prove interesting to our readers:—

"One of the principal works in the programme," says M. Kufferath, "was Professor Stanford's 'Irish' Symphony, a very fine composition, broadly conceived, clearly developed, richly instrumented, and deriving its specially characteristic features from the legitimate use made in it of the racy popular melodies of Ireland. Altogether, the symphony is a work of high value, destined, we are persuaded, to remain on record as one of the most finished examples of English musical art of the present time. Dr. Hubert Parry's 'Symphonic Variations' enlisted the interest of the musicians present rather than of the general audience. They are essentially a production of science, a masterly exercise of thematic elaboration, interesting more particularly on account of the ingenuity of its developments. The 'Britannia' Overture of Sir Alexander Mackenzie represents a fine piece of orchestral writing, effective in its sonority and exhilarating in its rhythms. As regards the soloists, Mr. Plunket Greene, the possessor of a fine and most flexible baritone voice, completely justified the great reputation enjoyed by him on the other side of the Channel; while Mr. Leonard Borwick proved himself a most delightful pianist, whose playing possesses an almost feminine charm, which enthrals the listener. The Andante from Schumann's Concerto, as interpreted by him, was a perfect thing, replete with subtle poetic suggestion, chaste, reserved, altogether in keeping with the spirit and character of the work . . . Not less charmingly rendered were a number of short pieces by Purcell, Mendelssohn, and Chopin, at the conclusion of which the pianist was recalled four times. The series of ancient Irish and Welsh songs, charmingly sung by Mr. Plunket Greene, ranked not least amongst the surprises afforded by this concert, and were immensely appreciated, especially those entitled 'All through the night' and 'Hugh Maguire.' Effectively instrumented by Professor Stanford, these form part of a highly interesting collection of Irish and Welsh songs published by Messrs. Novello and Co., of London, representing a perfect treasure store of beautiful and fascinating melodies. A very characteristic air by the seventeenth century master, Greene, also formed part of the programme. To sum up, the English concert was a novel experience for us, and a most interesting one."

An English festival concert is to be given at Monte Carlo on the 20th inst. The programme will be entirely composed of orchestral works by British composers. M. Tivadar Nachèz, who has been specially engaged for this concert, will play Sir Alexander Mackenzie's Benedictus and Frederic Cliffe's Violin Concerto, which, it will be remembered, was composed for the last Norwich Festival and played by M. Nachèz on that occasion.

REVIEWS.

Novello's Parish Choir Book. Nos. 339-348. [Novello, Ewer and Co.]

The issue of this series goes on with undiminished flow. No. 339 is a hymn entitled "How shall we teach our children to proclaim," the words written by Dean Hole, of Rochester, and the music composed by Sir George C. Martin. The hymn is in commemoration of "Queen Victoria's Nurses" and the music is calculated to enforce the spirit of the words. School teachers will do well to take notice of this simple but effective work. No. 340 is the Te Deum composed by Sir John Goss for the thanksgiving service at St. Paul's Cathedral, on February 27, 1872, for the restoration to health of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales. The setting is one of the best examples of this composer's church music and is admirably suited for festival services. Six settings of the Kyrie eleison, by J. Clippingdale, forms No. 341, and will doubtless be acceptable in churches where this is the only part of the Communion service which is sung. No. 342 is a re-issue of the Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in unison, by Sir John Goss, and is an excellent specimen of its class. A simple arrangement in chant form, by M. B. Elliott, of the Benedicite provides No. 343, and the two following numbers are settings of the Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, by Charles E. Tinney and G. F. Wrigley respectively. The former is of festive character, and would interest a capable and well-trained choir. The latter is more simple in nature, but it is very bright, and, although presenting a few difficulties, it is effectively written for the voices. Nos. 346 and 347 have been supplied by Herbert Brewer, and consist of the Te Deum and Jubilate, composed for the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Choral Union, in June of this year. In both these settings Mr. Brewer has made much and effective use of voices in unison, and the music is of that broad and diatonic character suitable to large bodies of singers. In No. 348 the Apostles' Creed will be found set to music in monotonic recitation, by Edward Cruse. The harmonies for the organ are simple and appropriate and have already won wide acceptance.

Singing Verses for Children. Words by Lydia-Avery-Coonley. Music by Eleanor Smith, Jessie L. Gaynor, F. W. Root, and F. H. Atkinson. Pictures by Alice Kellogg Tyler. [Macmillan and Co.]

Considerably more than "a rattle and a straw" are now apparently deemed necessary to meet the requirements of childhood's amusements, much thought and skill are lavished on efforts to cultivate artistic perception in the brains of little folks, and of such endeavours the handsomely got up volume of "Singing Verses for Children" is a striking example. The verses are neatly turned, and are distinguished by poetical fancy. The settings, with regard to the capabilities of children, are not so satisfactory. Comparatively few young singers can sing effectively below the treble stave, especially down to B and C as demanded in several of the songs, while three lyrics are made impossible to the majority of those for whom they are intended by the requirement of a vocal range of an octave and a fourth. If, however, the music is not always well suited to the children, Mamma will doubtless come to the rescue, and in so doing will find much that will prove pleasurable to herself as well as her listeners. The tinted illustrations are excellent. They are admirably drawn, possess the humour inseparable from all true delineations of childhood, and are characterised by a lively and pleasing fancy.

Original Compositions for the Organ. Nos. 255-258. [Novello, Ewer and Co.]

The first of these four numbers is a commemoration march, "Victoria—our Queen," founded on themes from Barnby's patriotic chorus. This bright and effective composition is by Mr. John E. West, who is not only an excellent musician, but a skilful organist, and therefore it is admirably set out for the instrument. The violin—which strict Scotch folk used to designate "the sinfu' wee fiddle"

Digitized by Google

—has now almost become canonized in the services of the Church. Therefore No. 256 of this series, a Romance for violin and organ in D, will be very welcome, especially when it bears all the high qualities which are associated with the name of Mr. Hamilton Clarke. The melodiousness of the Romance is no less attractive than its natural simplicity. The esteemed Professor of Music at Durham University and the organist of the Cathedral, Dr. Philip Armes, contributes the next two numbers. The first (No. 257) is a Pastorale in F, in the usual 6-8 time, which flows along very tunefully and with characteristic charm. The second (No. 258) is an Introduction and Fugue in C. It may be taken for granted that, coming from the pen of so distinguished a theorist, this short composition will be academically correct; but, in addition to its intrinsic merit, no slight recommendation lies in its absolute freedom from difficulty. It is well within the capacity of the majority of organists.

Scène Bacchanale, from the "Faust" Ballet. Pianoforte Solo. By Ernest Ford.
Melody from the "Faust" Ballet. Composed by Ernest Ford. Arranged for Pianoforte solo by I. A. de Orellana.
Impromptu in A flat. Pianoforte Piece. By P. Tschaïkowsky.
Reverie. For Violin and Pianoforte. Composed by J. Christopher Marks.
Skippers Three. Song. Words by Clifton Bingham. Music by H. Chilver Wilson.

[Novello, Ewer and Co.]

THE music written by Mr. Ford for the "Faust" ballet at the Empire is one of this clever young musician's most notable achievements, and the present arrangement of the "Brindisi," "Valse," and "Bacchanale" will doubtless prove very acceptable to a large number of pianists. They contain few difficulties and provide vivacious music for the home. The "melody" is one of the most pleasing portions of the ballet and it has been effectively arranged for the household instrument. It would form a good study for the cultivation of the legato touch and independence of the fingers, and a sympathetic pianist could make the piece very expressive. Admirers of Tschaïkowsky's genius may be recommended the Impromptu in A flat, which will be found a suggestive and poetical little piece. Mr. Marks's "Reverie" is a simple composition of considerable charm and is capable of being read at sight by executants of average ability. "Skippers Three" is a sea song of the good old times, when English sailors had plenty of opportunity of showing their pluck and prowess. In the present instance "The brave Skippers, one, two, three," have only one gun between them, but they manage to defeat their foe and remain "masters of the sea," which is highly satisfactory.

On Parting. Words by Byron. Music by Ernest Ford.
A Match. Words by Swinburne. Music by Frederick Westlake.
There is a Garden in her Face. Words by Thomas Campion. Music by Percy Jackman.
The Rover of Lochryan. Words by Hew Ainslie. Music by Robert F. McEwen.

[Weekes and Co.]

THE above songs form part of a commendable issue entitled, somewhat unnecessarily, "An English Series of Original Songs," but the lyrics are worthy of the attention of cultured vocalists. Mr. Ford's setting of Byron's lines is spontaneous and grateful to sing. The accompaniment will interest a good pianist and trouble a bad one. The words of "The Match" are somewhat enigmatical, but atonement is made by the straightforwardness of the music, a balance if not a union of sentiment being thus established. The old ballad style has been successfully imitated in "There is a garden in her face" and the music is, moreover, graceful. "The Rover of Lochryan" is directed to be sung "With Enthusiasm"—note the capital E—and calls for vigorous treatment by both vocalist and accompanist. So given, it would have a stirring effect, and it may be recommended to contraltos who possess a dramatic style.

Overture to "The Little Minister." By A. C. Mackenzie. Arranged for Pianoforte duet by the Composer.

[Novello, Ewer and Co.]

THE enjoyment still nightly experienced by large audiences at the Haymarket Theatre by Mr. J. M. Barrie's charming play "The Little Minister," produced in November last, is not a little enhanced by Sir Alexander Mackenzie's vivacious incidental music, of which the overture is the most important portion. Judging by its reception when performed for the first time in a concert-room by the Philharmonic Society, on December 2 last, at the Queen's Hall, the work promises to rival in popularity the composer's "Britannia" Overture. There are good reasons for this, for the themes possess both life and beauty, and their treatment and the orchestration are most masterly. The bagpipe-like strains with which the overture opens at once suggest the locality to which the music has reference, and it is difficult to keep the feet still when the rollicking first subject comes bounding in and with unflagging vivacity pursues its headlong career until subdued by the serene beauty of the second subject, one of the most charming melodies Sir Alexander has invented. The reel which forms the Coda closes the work in a most spirited manner, and, in its entirety, the overture can scarcely fail to have an exhilarating effect on the attentive listener. The characteristics of the music have been well preserved in the pianoforte version, and the duet, while easy to read and play, is decidedly a brilliant piece.

Novello's Part-Song Book. Nos. 779-781.

[Novello, Ewer and Co.]

"THE Huntsmen's Chorus," from Weber's romantic opera "Der Freischütz," which forms No. 779 of this series, will doubtless prove a welcome addition. The original version was for alto, tenor, and first and second bass; but the present arrangement, for soprano, alto, tenor, and bass, is equally effective, and as ladies have followed the chase since the time of Diana, there is presumably no inappropriateness in their singing "The joy of the hunter on earth all surpasses." Nos. 780 and 781 have been supplied by C. H. Lloyd, who has gone to Edmund Spenser for his text and taken that poet's "Mark when she smiles" and "Thomalin, why sytten we soe?" the words of the latter being derived from "The Shepheardes Calendar." The music of both these part-songs is distinguished by artistic perception and accomplished musicianship, and is of a character that will interest well trained choirs.

Masque from the Music to "As you like it." Composed by Edward German. Arranged for Violin and Pianoforte by the Composer.
Gavotte Ancienne. Composed by George Elvey. Arranged as a quintet for Pianoforte and Stringed Instruments by Berthold Tours.

[Novello, Ewer and Co.]

THE selection from Mr. Edward German's incidental music to Mr. George Alexander's production of Shakespeare's "As you like it," at the St. James's Theatre, comprises the "Woodland," "Children's," and "Rustic" dances from the Masque in the last act of the play. The first is an Allegro moderato in G minor, which is thoroughly English in conception and possesses attractive individuality. The "Children's" dance is an Andantino quasi-Allegretto in G of a graceful character, which provides an admirable contrast to that which has gone before, and, it may be added, to that which follows. Those who saw the production will doubtless remember that this dance was one of the prettiest portions of the Masque, and to such the present version will have pleasing association. The "Rustic" dance is full of vigour and joviality. A notable effect is produced at the change of rhythm from 2-4 to 6-8 measure, the passage being led up to with remarkable cleverness and resulting in a most spirited conclusion. The pieces as arranged form an attractive series and are well worthy of the attention of those who possess average command of the violin and pianoforte.

Sir George Elvey's Gavotte à la mode ancienne has been arranged in this instance by the late Berthold Tours for the pianoforte and the usual string quartet in an ingenious

Digitized by Google

When the Sabbath was past.

AN EASTER ANTHEM.

S. Mark xvi. 1, 2; S. Luke xxiv. 2—6; and part of a Hymn by the late Bishop of Wakefield.

Composed by Myles B. Foster.

London: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, Berners Street (W.), and 80 & 81, Queen Street (E.C.); also in New York.

Andante con moto tranquillo.

Organ. Gt. to Sw.

Soprano. mf sostenuto.

When the sab - bath was past, Ma - ry Mag - da - le - ne, and Ma - ry the mo - ther of Alto. mf sostenuto.

When the sab - bath was past, Ma - ry Mag - da - le - ne, and Ma - ry the mo - ther of Tenor. mf sostenuto.

When the sab - bath was past, Ma - ry Mag - da - le - ne, and Ma - ry the mo - ther of Bass. mf sostenuto.

When the sab - bath was past, Ma - ry Mag - da - le - ne, and Ma - ry the mo - ther of dim.

James, and Sa - lo - me, bought spi - ces, that they might come, they might come, might dim.

James, and Sa - lo - me, bought spi - ces, that they might come, they might come, might dim.

James, and Sa - lo - me, bought spi - ces, that they might come, they might come, might dim.

James, and Sa - lo - me, bought spi - ces, that they might come, they might come, might

Copyright, 1898, by Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Go

Digitized by Google

ALLELUIA! NOW IS CHRIST RISEN

ANTHEM FOR EASTER

COMPOSED BY

THOMAS ADAMS.

1 Cor. xv. 20, 21. Price Threepence.

London: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, Berners Street (W.), and 80 & 81, Queen Street (E.C.); also in New York.

* Ancient Easter Melody.

Copyright, 1898, by Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

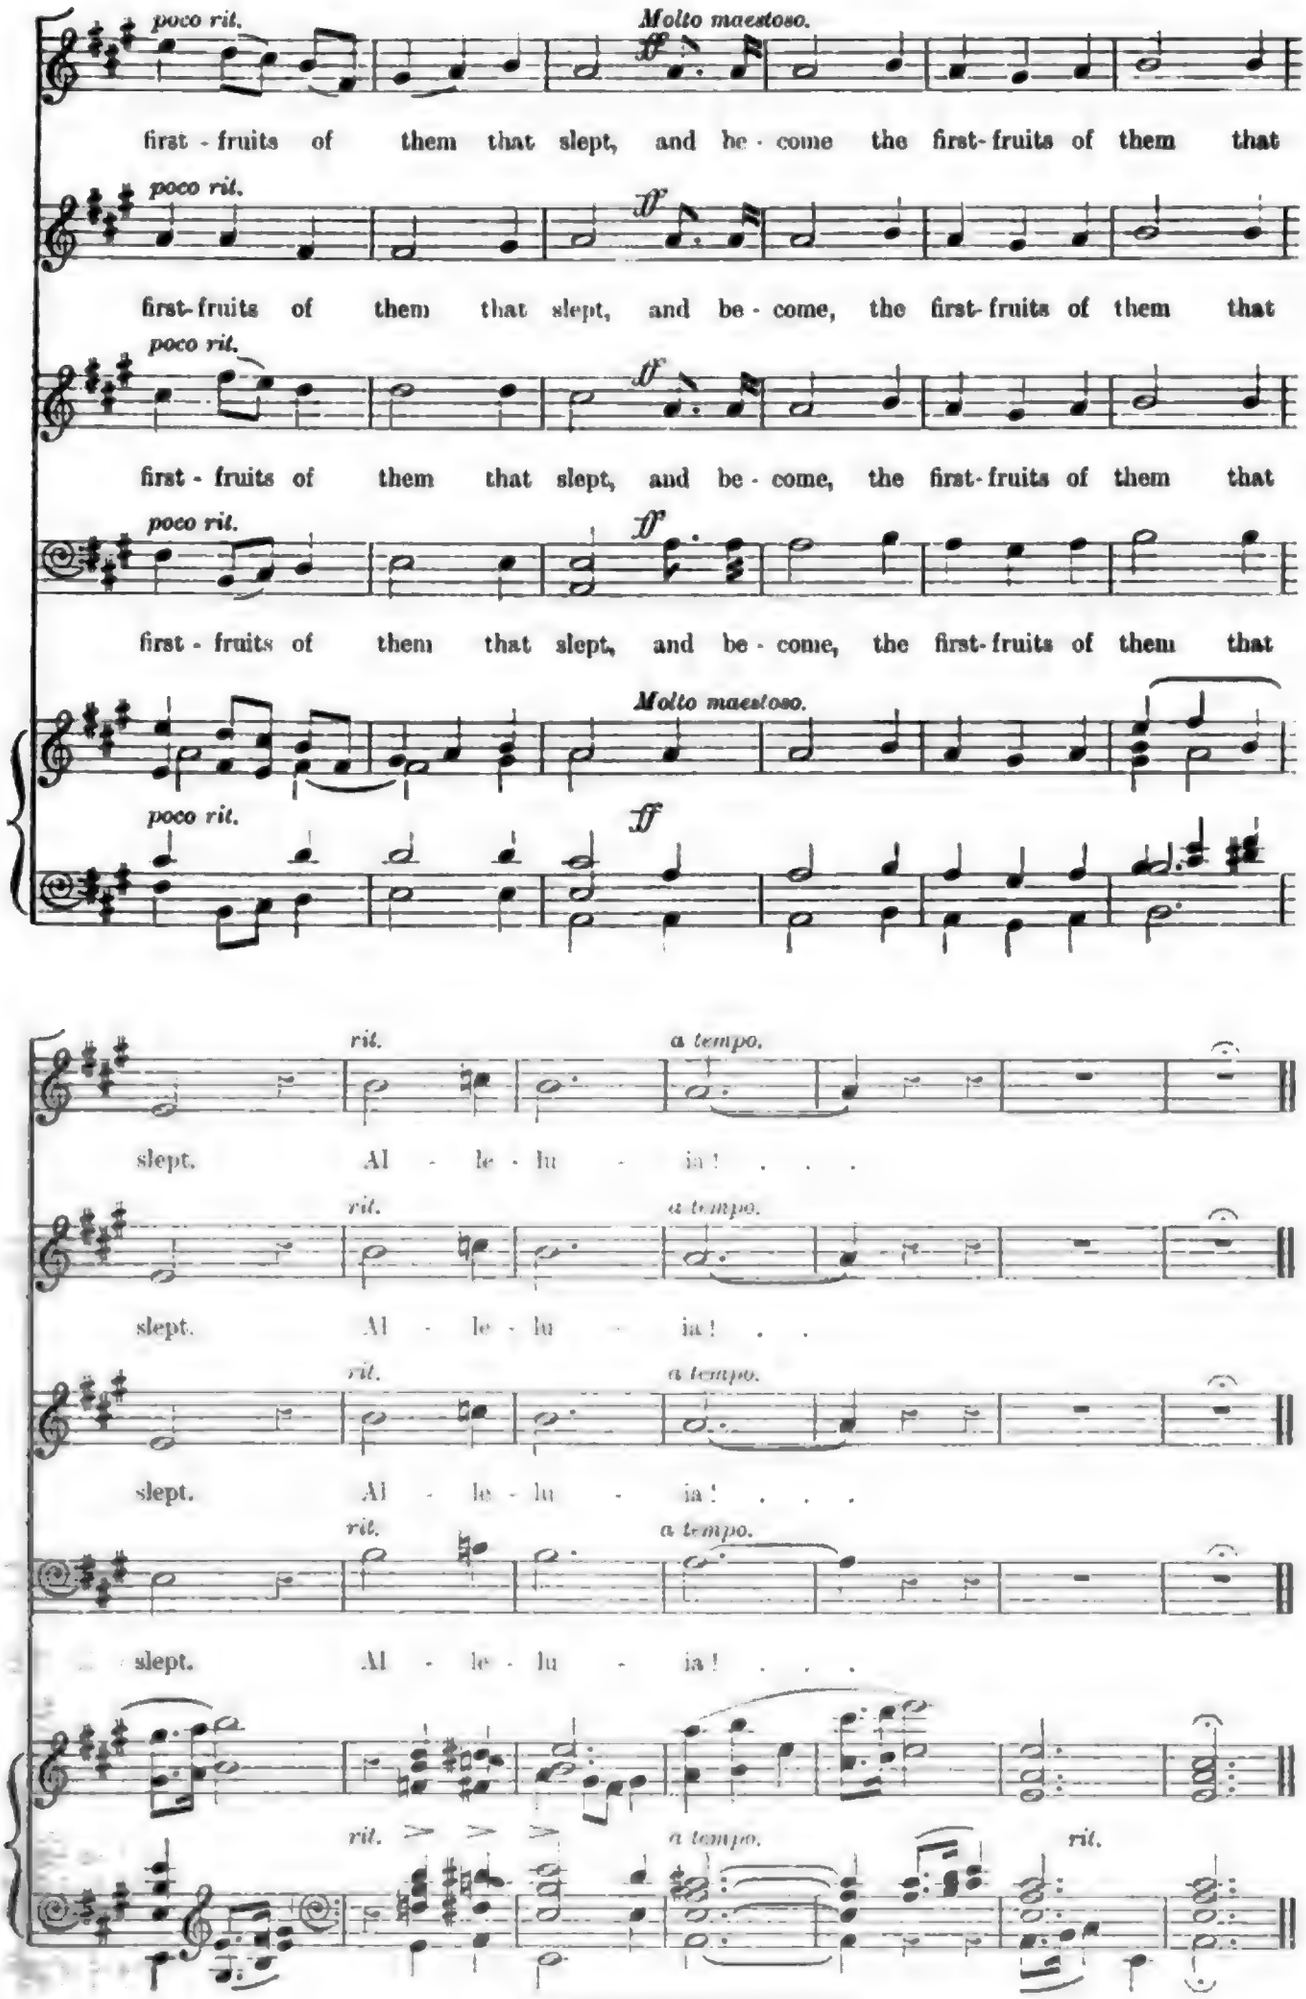
Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google



Also published in Novello's Tonic Sol-fa Series, No. 1026, price 1½d.

Digitized by Google

ROYAL ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

METROPOLITAN EXAMINATION, 1897-8.

The following Candidates have passed:—

In HARMONY.—As TEACHER.—Minnie Hailstone. Examiners: Messrs. F. W. Davenport, Battison Haynes, and F. Corder (Chairman).

In SINGING.—As PERFORMERS.—Jessy Frankland, Mary Haynes, Eva Spinney, Mary Beatrice Tobin.

As TEACHERS.—Henry H. Sowerbutts, Elizabeth Virtue Waite. Examiners: Messrs. A. Randegger, F. Walker, and W. H. Cummings (Chairman).

In PIANOFORTE.—As PERFORMERS and TEACHERS.—Mary Armstrong, Alice Mary Bulleid, Madeline Mary Campbell, Lydie Rachel de Mouilpied, Agnes Isabel Fennings, Jessie S. Gardner, Naomi Anne Greenhill, Nellie Hills, Dorothy Hue-Williams, Ruby Kettle, Jessie Evelyne Mayes, Marian Isabel Miller, Margaret Ellen Nicol, Helen Ogilvie, Mary Catherine Parsey, Laura Pechell, Myra Louise Quérée, Mabel Annie Bright Rutland, Felix Gerald Swinstead, Marian Jane Symons, Ann Musgrove Todd, Wilhelm Albert Volk, Mabel Flora Yates.

As TEACHERS.—Lucy Andrews, Kathleen S. Stratten Applin, John Post Attwater, Helen Elisabeth Drummond Baker, Alice Masters Balean, Haydn Thomas Beeston, Winifred Hilda Bigg, Allan Lee Biggs, Charlotte Reid Bingham, Margaret Phyllis Binns, Constance Blackwell, Edith Florence Briggs, Helen Broadbent, Violet Mary Bruce, Emma Gertrude Bullick, Emily Fox Bunston, Bernard J. Buscot, Eveline Hannah Butterfield, Ethel Estella Caines, Anna Grace Carr, Lilian Amy Carter, Elsie Emma Chard, Alice Maude Clark, Marguerite Rose Clevely, Edith Amelia Conigrave, Beatrice Mary Louisa Cooke, Mary Elizabeth (Ellice) Cooper, Margaret Clark Corstorphine, Florence Ethel Davies, Hannah Mabel Davis, May Frances Davis, Nina Marion Davis, Reginald de la Haye, Albert Ernest Denman, Lilian Kate Lucy Devis (Lilian Holbrook), Kate Douglas, Edith Mary Downing, Jane Duff, Louisa Sheeres Dunstan, Evelyn Kate Edwardes, Annie H. Evans, Charlotte Mary Fullford, Edith Nellie Gaine, Frances Mary Gibbon, Alexander Martin Gifford, Elizabeth Laura Goodey, Anna Mary Gould, Blanche Eleanor Greening, Lily Louisa Griffith, Joyce Scott Guthrie, Agnes Elsie Hackney, Ethel Marian Hall, Laura Hammond, Edith Harvey, Marion Hill Hawken, Sarah Anne Hazell, Amelia Maud Sinclair Hind, Elinor Mary Hodges, Alice Margaret Hogg, Katharine Howard Holderness, Margaret Ellen Holmes, Bertha Maud Rosa Holt, Ernest Horne, Constance Mary Horrocks, Rebecca Clift Hoskins, Elizabeth Jane Hunt, Kate Iggleden, Muriel Wearne, Percival Iredale, Frances Ann Jackson, Amy Florence Annie James, Annie Edith James, Eva Harrison Joscelyne, Florence Moore Kinnish, Eva Margaretha Klepper, Annie Mary Lackington, Clara Beatrice Laverack, Lucy Melissa Layng, Amy Gertrude Leigh, Frank William Lesterleigh, Fanny Elizabeth Lewis, Bessie Loader, Emma Helena Lord, Emily Maud Lucas, Amelia Mack, Murrulla Macpherson, Mary Margaret Manduell, Agnes Julia Martin, Jean W. Martyn, Helen Mary Massey, Edith May Mather, Sarah Anne Mather, Elfriede Henriette Marie Meyer, Edward Plummer Mills, Ella Elizabeth Morse, Alice Louise Mullett, Murielle Augusta Nixon, Gertrude Noel, Nellie North, A. Catharine Oldfield, Louisa Crew Parsons, Sarah Ann Partoon, Florence Adela Pickworth, Emma Gertrude Race, Blanche Helena Rennie, Elizabeth Robinson, John Arthur Rodgers, Margaret Alfreda Roper, Isabella Ross, Eleanor Frances Salisbury, Marion Wayland Savage, Amelia Seppings, Laura Elizabeth Shallcross, William Henry Sharpe, Edith Mary Slack, Ada Glades Smith, Daisy Smith, Marianna Alice Smith, Lilian Sparrow, Evelyn Spencer, Mabel Emily Spry, Margaret Stanford, Mary Anna Sophia Tarbit, Mary Jane Taylor, Jane Forrest Templeton, Josephine Mary Thompson, Rose Camfield Thompson, Eva May Turner, Thekla Editha Uhlhorn-Zillhardt, Harry Venn, Alice Walker, Edith Mary Walker, Frances Emily Walker, Aurora Mary Alice West, Mary Wheldon, Eleanor Beatrice Wilkins, Anna Carr Wilkinson, John Herbert Williams, Flora Louisa Willoughby, Leonora Maria Ramsay Wilson, Fanny Wiltshier, Ethel Winder, Edith Hester Yates. Examiners: Tobias Matthay, F.R.A.M.; A. Schloesser, Hon. R.A.M.; Walter Macfarren, F.R.A.M. (Chairman); H. R. Eyers, F.R.A.M.; Septimus Webbe, A.R.A.M.; F. Westlake, F.R.A.M. (Chairman); Carlo Albanesi, Hon. R.A.M.; T. B. Knott, A.R.A.M.; Oscar Beringer, Hon. A.R.M. (Chairman).

In ORGAN.—Edgar C. Broadhurst, Isaac Davidson, Walter Groocock, Edward Emanuel Harper, Arthur Pollitt. Examiners: Messrs. Rowland Briant, Henry R. Rose, and C. Steggall (Chairman).

In VIOLIN.—As PERFORMER and TEACHER.—Lucy Eveline Fife.

As TEACHERS.—Thomas Barratt, Lillian Dyke, Fanny Mary Eveleigh, Margaret Mary Maud Lancelyn Green, Zoë May Wadely.

In VIOLONCELLO.—As PERFORMER and TEACHER.—Enid Margaret Helen Scott.

As TEACHER.—Algernon Samuel Salter.

In HARP.—As PERFORMER and TEACHER.—Anna Elizabeth Maude Carnes.

In DOUBLE-BASS.—As PERFORMER and TEACHER.—Adolf Lotter. Examiners: Messrs. F. Corder, G. H. Betjemann, and John Thomas (Chairman).

CONCONE'S LESSONS

NEW EDITION

WITH MARKS OF EXPRESSION AND PHRASING

BY

ALBERTO RANDEGGER.

PRICE ONE SHILLING AND SIXPENCE EACH.

50 LESSONS FOR THE MEDIUM PART OF THE VOICE.

25 LESSONS. A SEQUEL TO THE FIFTY LESSONS FOR THE MEDIUM PART OF THE VOICE.

15 VOCALISES. A SEQUEL TO THE TWENTY-FIVE LESSONS FOR THE MEDIUM PART OF THE VOICE.

40 LESSONS FOR CONTRALTO.

40 LESSONS FOR BASS OR BARITONE.

The sterling value and great usefulness of Concone's Lessons have been so long recognised and so generally admitted, that their extensive adoption caused, as a natural consequence, the issue of numerous editions in almost every country where the study of the Art of Singing is cultivated. No edition, however, which has hitherto come under my notice, seems to me as correct, complete, and reliable as it should be.

I have endeavoured to rectify this deficiency by adding in the present edition signs of expression and phrasing, where I considered it expedient to do so, completing, and in some cases altering, the breathing marks, and altogether carefully revising the whole work.—ALBERTO RANDEGGER.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Also published in Novello's Tonic Sol-fa Series, No. 1023, price 1½d.

Digitized by Google

manner, so that "any one or all of the string parts may be omitted without disturbing the completeness of the composition." Musical courtesy can obviously go no farther, and if Wagner had adopted this principle he would have saved his executants much worry. Whether the Bayreuth master's genius would have been equal to this method may be questionable; but there can be no doubt as to the success of the procedure in the present instance, and the Gavotte, rendered with whatever strings may be available, is an effective piece likely to appeal in equal degree to the heads and toes of its listeners.

Intermezzo. Coronation March. From the Music to "Henry VIII." By Edward German. Arranged for the Pianoforte by the Composer. [Novello, Ewer and Co.]

THE "Three Dances" from Mr. Edward German's incidental music to "Henry VIII." may be said to have travelled over the world, and further excerpts from the same score can scarcely fail to be acceptable to a large number of pianists. Both the "Intermezzo" and the "Coronation March" are characterised by the same spontaneity which so largely constitutes the attractiveness of the dances, and both form pleasing and effective pianoforte pieces. The March is the more brilliant of the two, and if played with due spirit would be decidedly stirring. Neither will present executive difficulties to average executants.

MUSIC IN BIRMINGHAM.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

THE Festival Choral Society gave its forty-second annual Christmas performance of "The Messiah," on Boxing night, in the presence of one of the largest assemblies that has ever been known to have been present in our Town Hall. Dr. C. Swinnerton Heap conducted a very fine performance, the singing of the chorus being of the highest excellence throughout. The principal artists included Miss Rosina Hammacott (soprano), Miss Alice Lamb (contralto), Mr. Herbert Grover (tenor), and Mr. David Hughes (bass). Mr. C. W. Perkins presided at the organ with his accustomed tact and skill.

An artistic musical matinée was given at the Edgbaston Assembly Rooms, on the 8th ult., which took the form of a pianoforte and vocal recital interpreted by Madame Marie Fromm (pianoforte), pupil of Madame Schumann; Mrs. Montague Fordham (soprano), and Mr. Ernest Sharpe (bass). The principal novelty was the first performance in England of a cycle of seven songs, given in German, by the Danish composer, Lange-Müller, entitled "Sulamith Lieder." The accompaniments are extremely beautiful and almost symphonic in character, and were most effectively played by Madame Fromm.

The most prominent event at the beginning of January is the annual conversazione in connection with the Midland Institute, which lasts four nights; and since the amalgamation of the Birmingham Amateur Opera Society with the Midland Institute, operatic performances have proved the chief feature of attraction at these functions. This year the Amateurs presented Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Gondoliers." The performance was the best production ever attempted by them, and reflected great credit upon all concerned. Mr. E. W. Priestley conducted, and the stage management was in the experienced hands of Messrs. France and Monckton.

An afternoon concert was given at the Edgbaston Assembly Rooms, on the 15th ult., in aid of the St. Anthony Home for Destitute Girls. The artists were three sisters of the talented Grimson family, who gave an admirable rendering of Beethoven's delightful Serenade Trio (Op. 8) in D for violin, viola, and violoncello. The programme also included Grieg's Pianoforte and Violin Sonata in G major (Op. 13), graphically interpreted by the Misses Annie and Jessie Grimson; and pianoforte, violoncello, and violin solos by the Misses Annie, Amy, and Jessie Grimson respectively. The vocalist was Miss Eva Spinney.

Mr. George Halford's fifth orchestral concert of the present season attracted a large audience to the Town Hall on the 18th ult. He has under him an excellent body of players, who understand their conductor, and the result is that we are in a fair way of attaining the highest artistic level in the rendering of purely orchestral works. One important feature of these concerts is the introduction to local audiences of works of universal fame that have not enjoyed a hearing in this city, and in this direction Mr. Halford is doing useful and interesting work. The novelty of the evening consisted of Tschaïkowsky's Fantasia on Shakespeare's "Tempest," an early work by the Russian composer (Op. 18). The Fantasia is in one movement and the themes introduced have a direct musical bearing upon the chief incidents in the drama. The performance, considering its enormous difficulties, was a very fine one in every respect. The other pieces were Smetana's overture, "Die Verkaufte Braut," Mendelssohn's "Scotch" Symphony, and Brahms's "Akademische Fest" Overture. Miss Marie Fillünger was the vocalist and showed cultured vocalisation in her admirable singing of songs by Schubert and Brahms.

The Birmingham Festival Choral Society gave a magnificent performance of Sir Arthur Sullivan's ever-welcome dramatic cantata "The Golden Legend," in the Town Hall, on the 20th ult., in the presence of a crowded auditorium. The principal parts were admirably sustained by Madame Marie Duma, Miss Lilian Hovey, Mr. Charles Saunders, and Mr. Andrew Black. To Mr. F. W. Bright, a local basso and member of the Society, was assigned the small part of the Forester. Mr. C. W. Perkins rendered valuable service at the organ and Dr. Heap conducted with great tact and judgment. The chorus was in excellent form throughout and the playing of the orchestra was faultless in every way. Bach's sacred cantata "O Light everlasting," performed here for the first time at the recent musical festival, followed "The Golden Legend." The choristers acquitted themselves in a most praiseworthy manner and showed greater familiarity with the work than they did at the festival.

MUSIC IN EAST ANGLIA.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

THE only musical event of any importance in Norwich during the Christmas holidays was the re-appearance, after many years' absence from the city, of Mr. Aptommas, who gave a harp recital in the concert-room of the School of Music, on December 30. Mr. Aptommas repeated his recital on the 18th and 20th ult., at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Dr. Bunnett's organ recitals re-commenced on the 15th ult., when the recently elected "Norfolk" Scholar at the Royal College of Music, Miss Marion Broom, made her first appearance in Norwich. Possessed of a rich contralto voice and good style, Miss Broom may be expected to do credit to her native county and to her professors.

The Choral Society of Cley-next-the-Sea gave a sacred concert on the 5th ult., in the Town Hall, conducted by Mr. H. Parker. The cantata "Jesus of Nazareth" filled the first part of the programme, in which Miss Bustard, Miss Craske, andMessrs. A. E. Bolton, J. Bustard, W. E. Newton, H. and J. Porter did useful work. In the second half Mr. T. J. Preston, a tenor vocalist, of Holt, sang with acceptance.

MUSIC IN EDINBURGH AND PERTH.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

ON New Year's Day the Choral Union gave its annual mid-day performance of "The Messiah," in the Music Hall, before a very large audience. The choruses were sung in an excellent style, which spoke volumes for the conductor's skill and the patience of the singers. The effect of some of the fine choruses in the second part was somewhat marred by the hurried tempo adopted by Mr. Collinson. Madame Esty and Mr. Alec Marsh each scored a great success.

At the third meeting of the tenth session of the Edinburgh Bach Society, Professor Prout delivered a lecture to a large gathering of the members. The genial professor chose the second book of the "Forty-eight" for his subject, and played and explained a good round dozen of the preludes and fugues.

On the 18th ult., at the fourth meeting of the same Society, Mr. Arnold Dolmetsch gave one of his delightful concerts on ancient instruments, in the Freemasons' Hall. The programme included concertos for one and two harpsichords, a sonata for flute, viol d'amore, viol da gamba, and harpsichord, and solos for these instruments and for the lute. Mr. Dolmetsch was assisted by Madame and Miss Hélène Dolmetsch, and by Messrs. Winram, O'Brien, and Herbert Laubach. Miss May Gibb won general approval by her rendering of two songs.

Digitized by Google

Messrs. Paterson's orchestral concerts were brought to a conclusion on the 24th ult., and everyone awaits with interest and considerable anxiety the decision of the Scottish Orchestra directors as to whether the company should undertake another season.

On the 17th ult. the crying necessity for a larger hall was once more shown. Messrs. Paterson could have filled the Music Hall nearly twice over to hear Mr. Kirkhope's Choir, conducted by Mr. Kes, and accompanied by the Scottish Orchestra, give a performance of the first and third acts of "Lohengrin." Waiving all the well-worn questions as to the desirability of such performances, it must be conceded that the musical result was very satisfying. A novel arrangement of the chorus and of the relative position of chorus and orchestra was not so successful as was hoped. The audience was very enthusiastic in its recognition of the conductor and performers. The soloists were Mesdames Ella Russell and Emily Squire, and Messrs. Brozel, Price, Sandbrook, and Atherton Smith.

On the 19th ult. the third University concert was given in the Music Class Room, when Professor Niecks presented a most interesting programme of chamber music for pianoforte and wind instruments. Messrs. Fransella (flute), Malsch (oboe), Clinton (clarinet), Borsdorf (horn), Wotton (bassoon), and Miss Adela Verne (pianoforte) worked together in delightful accord, and an audience very inadequate to the interest and importance of the occasion was delighted by Mozart's lovely Quintet in E flat and Beethoven's scarcely less beautiful work in the same key. Compositions by Rubinstein (Op. 55), Saint-Saëns (Op. 79), and Rietz (Op. 41) completed the programme.

On the 20th ult. Miss Isabel MacDougall gave her first concert here, and a delightful programme attracted a large audience to the Music Hall. Miss Wild accompanied and played several solos.

The Perth Orchestral Society gave its annual concert in December and showed a marked advance in its performances of Beethoven's First Symphony. Cherubini's "Anacreon" Overture, and other pieces of a lighter character, were well and carefully rendered. Mr. Andrew Black was the vocalist.

MUSIC IN GLASGOW.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The annual New Year's Day performance of "The Messiah" drew to St. Andrew's Hall an audience which filled in every corner our leading concert-room. This is, of course, no new experience. The soloists provided by the management of the Choral Union for the occasion were Miss Ella Russell and Madame Belle Cole, Mr. T. Henry Brearley and Mr. Daniel Price. The Scottish Orchestra supplied the accompaniments and Mr. Joseph Bradley conducted. Handel's work, again under the auspices of our premier choral society, was repeated on the evening of the 12th ult., when another very large audience found its way to the City Hall. On this occasion the Choral Union had the assistance of the Glasgow Amateur Orchestral Society, and the soloists were Miss Maggie Davies, Miss Kirkby Lunn—quite as much at home in oratorio as in opera—Mr. Harry Berrey, and Mr. Bantock Pierpoint. At the orchestral concert on the 4th ult., the seventh of the series, the novelty in the programme took the shape of Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Scheherazade" Suite. It may be doubted if Mr. Kes and his orchestra have gained much by introducing us to the Russian composer; but, on the other hand, it falls to be noted that so far as the Scottish Orchestra season has already gone, Muscovite musicians have had a tolerably big innings. With one exception they have not succeeded in arousing any particular interest, and the suite just named is in turn eccentric, feeble, and blatant. The programme otherwise contained Smetana's symphonic poem "Ultava," Saint-Saëns's prelude to the "Deluge"—with its beautiful violin solo played to admiration by Mr. Sons—and songs by Miss Florence Oliver of a somewhat ambitious type. The lady again sang at the Saturday popular concert on the 8th ult., when Haydn's Symphony (No. 9 of the Salomon set) and a movement from Mozart's Concerto in E flat for violin and viola were accorded a hearty welcome.

The Russian school was again to the front on the 11th ult. with Glazounoff's Fourth Symphony—yet another example of straining after effect. Mr. Kes's orchestral transcription of Schumann's "Etudes Symphoniques" was interesting in its way, showing, at all events, his reverence for the familiar themes. Mr. Adolf Brodsky, the principal of the Manchester College of Music, played Mendelssohn's Violin Concerto, and earned for himself a distinct success by reason of his pure tone and artistic method.

At the popular concert on the 15th ult. the outstanding feature of the evening was Tschaïkowsky's "Pathétique" Symphony, played in admirable style, and Miss Ella Russell sang in her well-known cultured manner. The last choral concert of the series took place on the 18th ult., when the first and third acts of "Lohengrin" were given. The Elsa of the cast was the lady just named, and the other soloists were Madame Emily Squire, Messrs. Philip Brozel, John Sandbrook, Atherton Smith, and Daniel Price. The Glasgow Choral Union sang the choruses, the accompaniments were in the safe charge of the Scottish Orchestra, and Mr. Bradley conducted. The orchestra has, by the way, received an invitation to proceed to Holland for a week's tour at the close of our local season. Concerts will be given in Amsterdam, Haarlem, Rotterdam, The Hague, &c.

The Paisley Choral Union gave its first concert for the season on the 7th ult., when this interesting Society revived Macfarren's "Lady of the Lake," a work which has always enjoyed favour on the banks of the Cart. Misses Emily Davies and Florence Oliver, Messrs. Iver McKay, Atherton Smith, and James Fleming sang the solos, a contingent of forty performers from the Scottish Orchestra played the accompaniments, and Mr. James Barr conducted with all his customary skill.

Miss Isabel MacDougall, a lady well known in Glasgow circles, gave a vocal recital in the Queen's Rooms, on the evening of the 17th ult., when she was assisted by Miss Margaret Wild, a pianist of considerable ability. Miss MacDougall drew upon Scarlatti, Saint-Saëns, Schubert, and Grieg, and also showed how well she could warble both an Irish and a Scotch ditty. She will be heartily welcomed back to Glasgow.

MUSIC IN LIVERPOOL.

(From our own Correspondent.)

One of the best performances on record, so far as the memory of local events may be carried back, was that of Handel's "Messiah," given by the Musical Society, under Mr. D. O. Parry, on December 28. This chorus, indeed, may lay claim to being one of the finest in Lancashire, and is at present keeping well to the front the traditions of its earlier namesake, which, a quarter of a century ago, was, under the late James Sanders, a local landmark of musical excellence. The attack, equality of tone, and clearness of execution were such as is not often realised by the average chorister of the present day, and upon the result all concerned are to be congratulated. The principals were Miss Helen Jaxon, Miss Dora Barnard, Mr. J. S. Robinson, and Mr. Hargreaves Hudson, who sang the music originally allotted to Mr. Andrew Black most admirably. Dr. A. L. Peace was at the organ, and there was a good orchestra.

The first concert of the second half of the Philharmonic series took place on the 11th ult., with a programme in which Haydn's familiar Symphony in B flat held the place of honour, the other chief features being Tschaïkowsky's Capriccio Italien for orchestra, Vieuxtemps's Fantasia Appassionata for violin—delightfully played by Lady Halle—and Mendelssohn's "Hear my Prayer," in which the solo was rendered by Madame Albani. The directorate of the Society and its conductor, Mr. F. H. Cowen, are to be congratulated upon the fact that Bach's "St. Matthew" Passion music has been selected for the final concert to be given in Lent. It has been a reproach to this Society that this fine work has not had an earlier hearing, and, for that matter, nothing from the pen of the great Leipzig Cantor comes to memory as having been given in the Philharmonic Hall since Max Bruch conducted the "Magnificat" about twenty years ago.

Digitized by Google

On the Cheshire side of the Mersey the Wallasey Choral and Orchestral Society, a newly formed organisation, gave Handel's "Messiah," on December 30, under Mr. J. F. Swift; and at Rock Ferry the long established Amateur Musical Society has performed Hoffman's "Melusina," under Mr. W. R. Pemberton. At Birkenhead, the Claughton Orchestral Society has given an excellent performance of Dr. J. C. Reynolds's "Childhood of Samuel," a highly interesting and melodious cantata, under the conductorship of the composer. Spohr's "Last Judgment" has also been given by members of the long established Birkenhead Cambrian Choral Society, under the same conductor, at Christ Church, Claughton.

The second chamber concert of the Schiever series took place at the hall of the College of Music, on the 15th ult., the regular members of the string quartet being supplemented by Mr. W. H. Dagas, a clever pianist.

Among other events of the past month has been brought to the front a movement for the revival of the Liverpool Vocalists' Union, which, under Mr. T. C. Jones, was for a lengthy period one of the most important factors in the musical life of the second city. It is to be hoped that the proposals in question may result in something tangible; at the same time, could not the restoration of the Apollo Glee Club, which has been only a name for a score of years or so back, be attempted? In days gone by, and for a period extending over three generations, the company which used to meet at the sign of "The Clock" was one of the most deservedly noteworthy among musical organisations in the North of England.

MUSIC IN MANCHESTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The chiefly interesting events in our musical life during the opening month of the year were the first performance here of Sir A. C. Mackenzie's "Dream of Jubal" and the re-appearance, after so long an interval, of Lady Halle at the concerts with which her name is for ever associated, and at which, for so many seasons, she was perhaps the greatest attraction. Sir Alexander Mackenzie's idyll has been rather long in finding a place in our programmes, which, happily, are growing much less exclusive than of old, so that we may hope in future to keep more in accordance with the times. The performance was, generally, worthy of the work; and proved how thoroughly both choir and orchestra enjoyed their duty, and how zealously Mr. Cowen and the chorus-director, Mr. R. H. Wilson, had undertaken the presentation of this important composition. The sympathy of the principals, Misses Palliser and Bertenshaw, Messrs. Lloyd and Black, was shown by the heartiness with which the solo strains were sung. The recitation of Mr. Charles Fry—always associated with "The Dream"—was in admirable taste throughout, and would almost reconcile us to that alternation of speaking and singing which is carried farther in Sir Alexander Mackenzie's idyll than in any other cantata we remember. Mendelssohn's music to "Athalie" is purely incidental and, to a certain extent, may be said to be extraneous; but when, in concert performance, the recited portions of the drama necessary to the understanding of the position are curtailed as much as possible, the duality of the mode of interpretation is always felt to be a weakness. In "The Dream" there is a yet greater return to what in the old form of English opera was a constitutional defect. The mixture of song and recitation, however good each may be—and both were truly admirable here on the 6th ult.—prevents either mode of utterance attaining due climax of effect. Of portions of the musical setting of the frequently highly poetic words of Mr. Joseph Bennett it would be difficult to speak too highly. Sir Alexander Mackenzie has risen to the full height of the librettist's demand; his melodious endowment is, far and away, beyond what may be found in any similar Continental work of this generation; his power of orchestration is unquestioned; and we are sincerely thankful that there is none of that groping after mysterious depth of effect which is so characteristic of, and so utterly wearisome in much of the ambitious German music-writing of to-day. We hope soon to hear at these concerts Sir Alexander Mackenzie's masterly Overture to "The Little Minister," which was so enthusiastically received at the last Philharmonic concert in London.

Turning to the programme of the 13th ult., it would be impossible to pass over without warmest praise the performance of Mendelssohn's most charming "Melusine" Overture and of the little Grieg pictures, "The first meeting" and the "Norwegian dance." The orchestra has never been so thoroughly held in hand and had its different sections kept in such subordination; and the prominence which the scoring gives to the wood-wind afforded a good opportunity of judging how unsurpassed are the delicacy and general excellence of that division of the Manchester force. Possibly the presence of Lady Halle stimulated everybody to the utmost exertion, as it prompted every member of the band to spring to his feet when she appeared. We have many times been compelled to acknowledge the perfection of Lady Halle's playing in purity of tone, in unvarying truth of intonation, in executive skill, and, above all, delicacy of phrasing and complete devotion to the intention of the composer whose ideas she undertakes to convey to her audience. And, now that the ice has been broken and the natural pain surmounted, nothing could possibly minister more to the success of the Halle concerts than the oft-coming of one of the greatest violinists of the age. Miss Jaxon, a Liverpool pupil of the Royal College of Music (London), made her first appearance here; but we await further opportunities of judging what use she is capable of making of her pure and well-trained mezzo-soprano voice. The audience recognised the nervousness with which her first song, "Let the bright seraphim," was commenced, and warmly gave Miss Jaxon that sympathetic welcome which was, probably, all that she wanted in order to lead to a more comfortable display of her powers when she comes again.

It has not been given to any but the very greatest of the masters to have such infinite variety of resource and consummate musicianship as to make it possible, without weariness, to listen to a long programme entirely drawn from the works of one composer. And yet there is a strong inducement to those desiring to meet a popular demand to bring to a hearing the most attractive compositions of the hero of the hour. We have scarcely yet escaped from the extreme violence of the Wagner mania, and begun to settle down to a calm estimate of the position which Wagner will ultimately occupy in the musical Walhalla. Already his successor has been discovered; and even a new school demands attention. The "Pathetic" Symphony of Tschaïkowsky excited an interest which refuses to be satisfied until the portfolio of its highly talented author has been thoroughly ransacked. To that splendid orchestra which Mr. Cowen is evidently determined to raise to the highest eminence we, in this part of the kingdom, look for help in our attempt to gauge the progress which, during the last thirty years, music has made. So far, the opinion is almost universal that Tschaïkowsky, although a master of orchestration, scarcely inferior to Berlioz, but having, like Wagner, his pet tricks, and although gifted with an imagination fertile and brilliant, had not that ability to mould his movements consistently, an ability which the great masters so assiduously cultivated. Without this no work has thoroughly maintained the place in the public esteem to which, primarily, some novelty of expression or of device seemed to entitle it. The opinion is also held that Tschaïkowsky lacked not only the power of continuity, but also a clear judgment as to the intrinsic value of his themes, and of phrases which he often repeats with a freedom unwarranted by their triviality. In the Fifth Symphony in E minor (given here for the second time on the 20th ult.) there is abundant evidence of this last failing, especially in the first and last movements. The slow movement is of higher merit; the melody given to the horn, and so exquisitely played by Mr. Paersch, is charming and were it not for the incongruity (far exceeding any requirement of necessary variety) the Andante would oft bear repetition apart from its fellow sections. The third movement has not a tithe part of the voluptuous "go" of the valse selected from the serenade for strings (Op. 48). Considering the very limited répertoire of violoncellists, Mr. Fuchs was quite justified in again playing the Variations (Op. 33) and the Pezzo Capriccioso (Op. 62), and nobody now before the public could have more skilfully rendered them. Of the songs which Mr. Kennerley Rumford introduced, "Nur, wer die sehnsucht kennt," is really charming.

Digitized by Google

Mr. Brodsky arranged the scheme of his fourth chamber concert with his usual foresight, and with a true devotion to the supremacy of Beethoven. Upon Tschaïkowsky's String Quartet in C (Op. 29) it is unnecessary to dwell. It was followed by the Quartet in G minor of Brahms, which was almost perfectly given, Miss Olga Neruda being at the pianoforte, with her beautiful crisp touch, legitimate style, and artistic adaptation of the tone to the force of the stringed instruments, which have not developed as the clavier has in recent times. But, delightful as was Brahms—in spite of a too persistent worrying of some of his themes—he was but the intermediate step between Tschaïkowsky and Beethoven, whose Quintet in C (Op. 29) was so refreshingly welcome.

The first performance of "Samson" by the Philharmonic Choir, under Mr. Lane's direction, on the 22nd ult., was noteworthy and encouraging; not because of the band, which was, probably, as efficient as the resources of a young society would permit, especially when considerable liberality was exercised in securing the services of Mesdames Ella Russell and Marian McKenzie, with Messrs. Lloyd Chandos and Santley, but because of the evident development of our local resources. Decidedly the best features of the performance were the choruses, especially those of greatest difficulty.

MUSIC IN NORTHUMBERLAND AND DURHAM.

(From our own Correspondent.)

There have been very few concerts of any importance in this district during the past month. The Newcastle Chamber Music Society gave its second concert of the season in the Assembly Rooms, Newcastle, on the 19th ult. The executants were Señor Arbos, Mr. Ferdinand Weist-Hill, Mr. A. Hobday, Mr. W. H. Squire, and Mr. James M. Preston, and the vocalist was Miss Marie Fillünger. The principal pieces in the programme were string quartets by Dvorák, in E flat (Op. 51), and Borodine, in D major (No. 2), and Brahms's Sonata in G major (Op. 78) for violin and pianoforte. All the works were thoroughly well played and the concert was highly successful.

The Newcastle and Gateshead Choral Union announced a popular performance of Haydn's "Creation," in the Town Hall, Newcastle, for the 26th ult., with Mdlle. Bertha Rossow, Mr. Joseph Reed, and Mr. Lemprière Pringle as principals. This excellent Society, under the conductorship of Mr. James M. Preston, is supplying a want which has been greatly felt during recent years, by giving periodical performances of standard oratorios in an adequate manner. It is satisfactory to know that the laudable efforts of those concerned have, so far, met with the success they have so fully merited.

MUSIC IN NOTTINGHAM.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The annual "Messiah" concert of the Sacred Harmonic Society took place on December 27, and was noteworthy as being the occasion of the first public appearance of Mr. Henry J. Wood (of the Queen's Hall Concerts) as conductor. Despite a short rehearsal with the orchestra (which was largely composed of local players), Mr. Wood secured a very good rendering of the accompaniments and proved himself a valuable acquisition to the Society. The soloists were Miss Lilian Coomber, Miss Jeanie Rankin, Mr. James Leyland, and Mr. Watkin Mills; the trumpet obbligato being assigned to Mr. Tomlinson. The whole concert was exceptionally good. Mendelssohn's "Walpurgis Night," the third act of "Tannhäuser," and a miscellaneous selection is the programme announced for the next concert. From the progress of the rehearsals under Mr. Wood a great treat is anticipated.

The annual report of the Nottingham Nonconformist Choir Union shows steady progress in the Society, which may be expected to send a record contingent to the Crystal Palace next summer. The full rehearsals under Mr. John Adcock, and the various sectional concerts in different quarters of the city, are doing good work in choral singing and in sustaining interest amongst members of the affiliated choirs.

The Philharmonic Choir is being re-organised, under the conductorship of Mr. Ralph Horner, who has been recently appointed. A revival of byegone successes will be a welcome result.

Again Messrs. Ellenberger and Thorpe provided the patrons of their classical concerts with a genuine treat on the 20th ult. They enlisted the services of the Rev. H. L. D. de Brisay, whose clarinet playing in two Meditations by Walthew and in Mozart's Clarinet Quintet gained loud applause. Miss Margaret Clark and Mr. Ellenberger gave a vigorous and evenly balanced rendering of Bach's Double Concerto. Borodine's String Quartet in D, with Wolfram's song from "Tannhäuser" and Bemberg's "Despair," well sung by Mr. Lakin, completed the programme. Miss Alice Hogg rendered efficient assistance at the pianoforte.

MUSIC IN YORKSHIRE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Since our last chronicle was written "Music in Yorkshire" has been to a large extent synonymous with Handel's "Messiah," of which the usual number of performances took place during the week preceding Christmas. Not more than a few representative ones can be mentioned here. At Huddersfield the Choral Society's chorus is very much at home in Handel's choral music, and it may be seriously doubted whether anywhere else, all the world over, is as much justice done to it, so far as its grandeur and masculine vigour are concerned. In other respects the performance on December 17 was not remarkable, but followed local traditions rather slavishly. Miss Palliser, Miss Jeanie Rankin, Mr. Leyland, and Mr. Hughes were the principals, and Mr. John Bowling conducted. On December 20 Mr. Alfred Benton conducted at Morley a performance which was remarkable, in that it was intended to include several of the pieces usually omitted, the series of pieces following the trumpet air being restored to the programme, though in the end some had to be omitted. Franz's score was used, with the addition of the trombones in the more important choruses, and the soloists were Miss de Boufflers, Miss Frood, Mr. Tom Child, and Mr. Ineson. The following evening, at Dewsbury, we had the Handel-Mozart-Franz score without alteration, save the restoration of the original version of "The trumpet shall sound," for which wind parts have been written by Mr. G. Hirst, the Society's conductor. The principals in a really excellent all-round performance were Madame Duma, Miss Thornton, Mr. Child, and Mr. Ineson. On the 22nd, Professor Stanford conducted "The Messiah" for the first time since he became conductor to the Leeds Philharmonic Society. His reading of the work was, as may be imagined, a thoroughly artistic and intelligent one, and displayed many points of interest. The tempi, speaking generally, were slower than common, at any rate in these parts, where such choruses as "All we, like sheep," are rushed through at a breakneck speed. It is to be hoped the precedent set by Dr. Stanford will lead to a more dignified treatment of Handel's music. Another novelty was the adoption of an alternative second part to the air "Why do the nations?" contained in the "Dublin" conducting score now at St. Michael's College, Tenbury, and reproduced in Chrysander's fac-simile of the autograph. It is in the form of a recitative, and leads with capital effect direct into the chorus "Let us break." Madame Albani, Miss Sarah Berry, Mr. Lloyd Chandos, and Mr. Watkin Mills were the soloists. The last of the performances we have selected as types is that of the Halifax Society, on December 23, when the performance, if hardly up to the high standard of finish one is accustomed to with this Society, was, in many respects, an excellent one. The soloists were particularly good, Miss Helen Jaxon pleasing by her simple unaffected expression as much as, if not more than, Mr. Ffrangcon-Davies by his artistic and dramatic, if rather highly-coloured reading of the bass solos. Mr. Brearley, the tenor, and Miss Jeanie Rankin, the contralto, were thoroughly satisfactory, and Mr. T. Smith conducted. It is worthy of note that the trumpet obbligato was, on each of these occasions, played by Mr. John Tomlinson, a Leeds musician, who in this particular work is not surpassed by any trumpeter we have heard, in London or the provinces.

Digitized by Google

Beyond "Messiah" concerts there is little to chronicle. The Royal Carl Rosa Company has visited Bradford, and given a "holiday" programme of popular operas like "Maritana," "Bohemian Girl," "Carmen," "Mignon," "Faust," and "Trovatore," with "Tannhäuser" thrown in as a makeweight. On the 7th ult. the Messrs. Haddock gave, at Bradford, one of their concerts of English chamber music, and repeated it the following day at Leeds. Mr. J. F. Barnett was the composer honoured on this occasion, and he furnished a programme of agreeable music, including a pianoforte and violin sonata, a violoncello solo, songs, pianoforte pieces, and a string quartet, the last-named evincing a virility for which the earlier part of the programme hardly prepared one. On the 11th ult. the Meister Glee Singers were the popular favourites at another of the Huddersfield Subscription Concerts, Miss Maggie Davies being the soprano, Miss Stewart, the harpist, and Mr. Pearson, the organist. A particularly interesting feature of the concert was the artistic violin playing of Mr. Bromley Booth, a soloist of great promise. At the Bradford Subscription Concert, on the 14th ult., the Hallé band, under Mr. Cowen, played, among other things, Schumann's Fourth Symphony and the air and variations from Tschaïkowsky's third Orchestral Suite. Mr. Slivinski played Saint-Saëns's G minor Concerto with a sensitive touch, a brilliant technique, and thoroughly artistic taste, and Miss Olitzka was the vocalist. On the 17th ult. the second of Miss Eisele and Mr. Rawdon Briggs's chamber concerts was given in Leeds, the programme including pianoforte trios by Beethoven and Schumann and Brahms's Sonata for pianoforte and violoncello (Op. 38). On the following evening, at the third of the Messrs. Haddock's musical evenings, Beethoven's Septet was the chief thing in a miscellaneous programme, and was well played by Messrs. Edgar Haddock, Speelman, Fuchs, Hoffmann, Norton, Lalande, and Paersch; all, save the leader, members of the Halle orchestra. Mr. Ayres was the pianist and Miss Alice Esty and Mr. Alec Marsh were the vocalists.

MUSIC IN PARIS.

(From our own Correspondent.)

There is nothing of special interest to notice in the doings at the Opéra, where "Die Meistersinger" continues to bring in large receipts. The five hundredth performance here, on the 6th ult., of "Roméo et Juliette," with Mdlle. Ackté and M. Saleza in the title parts, does, however, merit a record. Mdlle. Delna has been engaged for a term of three years.

The lamented death of M. Carvalho has, of course, somewhat delayed the bringing out of M. Bruneau's "L'Attaque du Moulin." M. Albert Carré, the new director, has appointed M. Vizentini stage manager and M. Messager director of the choral forces, while MM. Daubé and Luigini remain at their posts as conductors, and M. Henri Carvalho continues to be general secretary.

Much of interest has been brought forward during the past few weeks at the Lamoureux concerts. At that of December 19 a symphonic poem, entitled "Thamar," by Balakirieff, was given here for the first time, a somewhat lengthy but interesting work; while M. Albert Geloso, a violinist of the first rank, gave a fine rendering of Bach's "Chaconne," and his brother, César Geloso, played the Pianoforte Concerto in G minor, by Saint-Saëns, with marked success. In the concert of December 26 Dvorák's Violoncello Concerto was produced for the first time, and received full justice at the hands of Herr Hugo Becker, a violoncellist with an excellent technique at his command, whose success was complete. On the same occasion we also heard Rimsky-Korsakoff's symphony "Antar," in four movements, a decidedly interesting composition, and much applauded, especially the parts superscribed "Les délices du pouvoir" and "Les délices de la vengeance." The performances of the 9th ult. included two charming new songs by M. G. Marty, "C'est le vent qui m'a fait pleurer" and "Berceuse," effectively rendered by Madame Marty and greatly appreciated by the audience. The succeeding concert of the 16th ult. was conducted once more by M. Lamoureux himself, who on his reappearance was treated to a most flattering ovation. The pianist on this occasion was Mr. Leonard Borwick, whose interpretation of Schumann's Concerto was truly exquisite and his success proportionately great. Mr. Borwick's triumph attained its climax after his subsequent rendering of a Prélude by Rachmaninoff and a Caprice by Scarlatti-Tausig. Tschaïkowsky's "Pathetic" Symphony was played here for the first time on this occasion.

Referring to the Colonne concerts, that given on the 16th ult. only requires to be specially mentioned, inasmuch as all the remaining ones have been devoted to Berlioz's "La Damnation de Faust," the performance of which still continues to be a lucrative speculation. The concert in question, in addition to Beethoven's immortal Ninth Symphony, included a fine performance of "Istar," symphonic variations from the pen of M. Vincent d'Indy.

The Concerts du Conservatoire continue to take place at the Opéra and to command the highest attainable figure as regards receipts. Recent performances included, inter alia, fragments from "Les Béatitudes," by Cesar Franck, with Mdlle. Grandjean, MM. Affre, Delmas, and Bartet in the solo parts.

Towards the end of December last two of the usual obligatory compositions sent in by present laureates of the Prix de Rome obtained a public hearing. They were "Les Nuits," of De Musset, set to music by M. Carraud, and indicating a musician of marked artistic temperament; and "Tobie," a poem by M. Collin, with a somewhat monotonous subject, a difficulty which the composer, M. Silver, has striven to surmount in a very musicianlike manner. The interpreters were Mdlles. Marsy and Blanc, MM. Manguière and Cazeneuve, both pieces being very favourably received.

The Crystal Palace orchestral concerts, on Saturday afternoons, will be resumed on the 12th prox., and be continued until April 30. Sir Alexander Mackenzie's "Three Dances," from his incidental music to Mr. J. M. Barrie's play "The Little Minister," are found in the first programme, and at the second and last concerts of the series there is respectively promised a "New Piece for Orchestra, by a British Composer"; but with these exceptions the selections consist of well-known works, chiefly by Continental composers. From a preliminary note it seems that this policy has been adopted owing to "the numerous requests from subscribers," who, it may therefore be hoped, will generously support the scheme. The third concert will be devoted entirely to Beethoven, In Memoriam the master's death on March 26, 1827, and the assistance of the Crystal Palace Choir will be sought for Mendelssohn's motet "Hear my Prayer," to be sung on April 2, with Miss Susan Strong as the soloist; and on April 23 for the same composer's "Hymn of Praise" and Bishop's serenade "Sleep, gentle lady." The solo instrumentalists comprise Lady Halle, Mdlle. Kleeberg, and Messrs. Joachim, Belinski, Renard, Lamond, and Gabrilowitsch; and the principal vocalists announced are Mesdames Ella Russell, Clara Samuell, Susan Strong, Marian McKenzie, Rosa Green, Marie Berg, Isabel MacDougall, and Messrs. Henry Piercy, Arthur Walenn, Andrew Black, and Santley. Mr. August Manns, of course, conducts, and doubtless has still further developed the executive abilities of his orchestra. The Thursday and Saturday evening concerts will be resumed on the 17th prox., with a "Grand Irish Concert" in celebration of St. Patrick's Day, and at the performance on the 31st prox. there will be sung Rossini's "Stabat Mater." Miss Ella Russell, Miss Esther Palliser, Signorina Giulia Ravogli, Mr. Edward Lloyd, and Mr. Santley have been secured for Good Friday afternoon, and a miscellaneous concert on "Handel Festival Scale," at which Madame Adelina Patti will appear, is fixed for June 25.

Digitized by Google

Royal College of Organists.—January examinations. The following have passed the examination admitting to Fellowship:—F. Attenborough (Burton-on-Trent), E. C. Bairstow (London), R. H. Bellairs (Oxford), R. Garrett Cox (Bletchley), J. H. Curran (London), J. R. Dear (London), L. A. Hamand (Uxbridge), H. H. Hancock (Blandford), J. N. Ireland (London), W. Riley (Bury), A. Thompson (Lancaster), H. C. Warrilow (Dartford), J. H. Williams (London), and H. Woolley (Blackpool). The following have qualified for the Associateship:—J. W. Armitage (Huddersfield), P. A. Black (Strathview), W. E. G. Bloxham (London), F. Boothroyd (Doncaster), T. W. Brooks (Cambridge), A. N. Bulmer (Morecambe), A. Coldwell (Holmfirth), C. H. Collins (Huddersfield), E. P. Cross (London), W. T. Crossley (Bradford), E. J. Cunnah (Gwyersyllt), G. D. Haller (Hornsea), T. H. Hannay (London), A. Hilton (Manchester), R. Kinder, jun. (Philadelphia, U.S.A.), H. C. Lake (Plymouth), S. G. Metzger (Altrincham), E. Pearson (Manningham), W. E. Pope (Yateley), E. C. Schofield (Garforth), E. B. Slinn (Boscombe), F. W. Sturgess (London), J. F. Sykes (Huddersfield), A. J. Tattam (Southampton), R. A. Taylor (Kidderminster), A. Toop (London), E. Tregoning (Gulval), E. E. Vinnicombe (Chagford), E. Watson (Liverpool), and W. G. Whittaker (Heaton).

At Trinity College, London, on the 19th ult., on the occasion of the distribution of diplomas and certificates gained at the forty-ninth half-yearly Higher Examinations, Dr. E. H. Turpin, the warden, delivered an address containing some excellent advice to the students. Virtually his text was perseverance, self-reliance, self-help, and the adoption of a high standard. Everything must not be left to the teacher: the pupil must exercise thought as well as industry. Specially important was it that all the fundamental principles of the art of music should be thoroughly mastered; indeed, Dr. Turpin deemed this so important that he considered it would be a good thing, as was the practice in olden days, to go back to the beginning after a certain stage of efficiency had been attained. Without perfect grounding it was impossible to make much headway. He deprecated haste, which often resulted in nervousness, and thereby the marring of good work, and maintained that a period of rest—at least a month—should be taken between the preparation and the examination. A large number of students attended to receive their testimonials of efficiency.

The concerts given by the boys of the Grocers' Company's Schools, at Hackney Downs, are always of sufficient importance to call for special record. At the Christmas entertainments given this season "The Mikado" was the attraction. This popular comic opera has often been performed by amateurs, but we doubt whether any group of school pupils have ever before given a performance so complete and satisfactory in every respect as was heard on this occasion. The voices are admirably trained in this school, but the surprising thing was to find boys acting with the ease and skill of old stagers. Pooh-Bah (H. E. Baggs), The Mikado (J. R. Hopkins), Nanki-Poo (E. M. Gull), Ko Ko (P. R. Friswell), and Yum Yum (E. M. Penn) were excellent. The stage arrangements were all that could be desired. The whole performance was superintended by Mr. Ernest Newton, music-master of the school, and the Rev. H. Gull, the head-master of the school. We understand that the school boys will perform Mackenzie's "Dream of Jubal" at Easter.

Sir Alexander Mackenzie has recently been presented with a large and very handsome silver cup by Messrs. Harrison and Cyril Maude in recognition of his beautiful incidental music to "The Little Minister," written for the production of Mr. Barrie's play at the Haymarket Theatre. Sir Alexander has also received from Professor Stanford a handsomely-bound copy of the MS. full score of that composer's "Requiem," together with the score of his "Phaudrig Crohoore," as an appreciation of the fine performance of the former work given by the students of the Royal Academy of Music under the direction of their Principal.

Alderman Sir Stuart Knill has presented to the Guildhall School of Music a magnificent silver Jubilee Commemoration Cup, in memory of his Mayoralty. The cup is to be held one year by an eminently deserving student, whose name will be inscribed upon it, and who will also receive a silver medal. The cup will remain at the School in perpetuity, but the medal will become the personal property of the winner. The first award has just been made to a very successful contralto singer, Miss Maude Clough.

The Denmark Hill Musical Society, assisted by the church choir, numbering about 150 voices, gave Mrs. Joseph Robinson's sacred cantata "God is Love," in St. Matthew's Church, Denmark Hill, on the 18th ult. The choruses were excellently sung, and the solos were given by Masters McLean and Pavitt, Messrs. Bainbridge, Hardwicke, Malcolm, Macfarlane, and George Harrison. Dr. J. Warriner (organist of the church and conductor of the Society) accompanied the singers, and Mr. W. A. J. Ponton afterwards gave an organ recital.

M. Arthur de Greef, the Belgian pianist, who, since the year 1890, has appeared several times in London, gave a pianoforte recital on the 18th ult., at St. James's Hall, and played a selection of pieces by Grieg with fascinating delicacy and appreciaton of their romantic and fantastic character. He was also successful in pieces by Scarlatti and Saint-Saëns, but his reading of Beethoven's Sonata in F minor (Op. 57) was somewhat deficient in breadth of phrasing and depth of expression.

The Kyrle Choir, under the direction of Mr. F. A. W. Docker, gave a performance of "The Messiah," at St. Luke's Church, Bermondsey, on the 12th ult. The soloists were Madame Edwards, Miss Grainger Kerr, Mr. Frederick Williams, and Mr. Edwin Webster. On the 19th ult. the choir rendered "Elijah" in Holy Trinity Church, Canning Town. The soloists were Miss A. Wilmot Briggs, Miss Marion Arber, Mr. Herbert Clinch, and Mr. Robert Greir. Dr. E. H. Turpin accompanied on the organ.

Professor Villiers Stanford's "L'Allegro ed il Pensieroso" Symphony was performed, for the first time in Amsterdam, on December 30, by the excellent orchestra of the Concertgebouw, under the composer's direction. The reception given to the work by the very numerous audience was a most favourable one, Professor Stanford being recalled several times at the conclusion of the performance, and highly appreciative notices have appeared in various newspapers.

Miss Rosa Kenney gave an interesting dramatic and musical recital on the 11th ult., at the Steinway Hall. Miss Kenney, Miss Winifred Watson, and Mr. Grahame Herington were responsible for the recitations, some of which were tastefully accompanied at the pianoforte by Mr. Franz Liebich, and Miss Beatrice Frost and Mr. W. A. Sanderson sang a good selection of songs in a refined manner.

Mr. Aldo Antonietti, the son of an Italian father and English mother, one of the most brilliant violinists who have ever been trained at the Royal Academy of Music, recently gave an orchestral concert at Berlin with overwhelming success. A great future is predicted for this remarkable young artist, now only sixteen years of age, who, after giving a concert at Milan, will shortly be heard in London.

Dr. H. G. Bonavia Hunt delivered a lecture on the 17th ult., at Trinity College, London, on "Ecclesiastical Music." This lecture was introductory to a course of six, intended for the clergy and candidates for Holy Orders desirous of instruction in the rendering of the "Priest's Part" in choral services of the Church. These discourses may be warmly recommended to those for whom they are designed.

Mr. Otto Goldschmidt has been elected President of the Madrigal Society. This is the first time that the office has been held by a professional musician.

Digitized by Google

THE ninth annual report of the Plain-song and Mediæval Music Society records that "the list of members shows a steady increase, but is still far too small, considering the number of amateurs who are interested and of professional musicians who ought to be interested" in the objects of the Society. Mr. H. B. Briggs, 14, Westbourne Terrace Road, is the honorary secretary.

THE Incorporated Society of Musicians has decided to offer two prizes of £25 each for (1) the best sonata for violin and pianoforte, or violoncello and pianoforte, and (2) for the best trio or quartet for pianoforte and strings. The competition is open only to members of the Society. The adjudicators are Professor Prout, Dr. Hiles, and Mr. S. Midgley.

THE opening of the Gloucester Musical Festival has been postponed to September 11, a week later than usual, owing to the meeting of the British Association having been fixed for the first week in that month. Dr. C. Harford Lloyd will write an orchestral work for the Sunday service, and Miss Ellicott will also write a short orchestral piece for the secular concert.

HANDEL'S "Athaliah" will be revived by the Handel Society, at the Queen's Hall, on the 5th ult. The occasion will be of special interest to lovers of Handel, this work not having been given in London for a great many years, although some of the choruses have been heard from time to time at the Handel Festivals.

MR. EDWARD GERMAN will provide the music for Mr. George Alexander's production of "Much Ado about Nothing," at the St. James's Theatre, including an original March, music for the church scene, and certain dances, among which is a "Bourrée" to be danced by the entire company in the ball-room.

THE autograph of Beethoven's Overture "Zur Weihe des Hauses," forming part of the Artaria collection recently sold in Vienna, has been presented by the owners to the trustees of the Viennese Museum, this interesting MS. not being included in the number acquired by Dr. Prieger, of Berlin.

A GRAND Eisteddfod is to be held at the Queen's Hall on the evening of the 24th inst. We are informed that the entries are very numerous, especially from English competitors, and the prospects of the meeting are very favourable. Mr. E. Maengwyn-Davies, 54, Claverton Street, is the honorary secretary.

THE Christmas and Epiphany Services at St. Margaret Pattens, Rood Lane, were, musically, very successful. Mr. W. M. Wait's cantata "God with us" was exceedingly well rendered, on the 9th ult., under the direction of the composer, who is the organist and choirmaster of the church.

MR. EMILE SAURET has given some highly successful performances recently at Antwerp, Warsaw, and other Continental places, where his rendering of the A minor Concerto by Vieuxtemps and of his own Elégie et Rondo (Op. 48) aroused the enthusiasm of his audience.

MISS BLANCHE GORDON, a promising young English contralto and pupil of Sims Reeves, gave her first concert at the Steinway Hall, on the 20th ult., and made a favourable impression, owing to the rich tone of her voice and clear articulation.

MR. ARTHUR DOLMETSCH gave, on the 17th ult., at the London Institution, an interesting historical lecture on "Musical Ornamentation" in the sixteenth, seventeenth, and eighteenth centuries, a subject exhaustively treated by Mr. Dannreuther in one of Messrs. Novello's primers.

DVORÁK'S "Te Deum" was performed for the first time in Europe at a recent concert of the Slavonic Choral Society, in Vienna, under the direction of M. Hubad, producing a very favourable impression.

SIR ARTHUR SULLIVAN and Sir Alexander Mackenzie have had the honour of being elected Members of the Royal Academy of Music of Sweden.

LADY HALLÉ will shortly leave England for a tour in the United States and Canada.

FOREIGN NOTES.

AMSTERDAM.—The opera "Cleopatra," by the Danish composer August Enna, brought out here for the first time on November 30 last, has proved so successful that its performance has been repeated quite a number of times since.

BAYREUTH.—During his recent sojourn in Rome, Herr Siegfried Wagner gave a reading at the pianoforte to a private circle of the two completed acts of a comic opera upon which he has been for some time engaged. The subject of the work, which is in three acts, is taken from a popular German tale, and the score, so far as completed, while exhibiting some excellent workmanship, is said to be following in the direction pointed by "Hansel and Gretel"; Humperdinck having been Herr Wagner's principal musical instructor. The new work by the son of the Bayreuth master is to be brought out this year at the Munich Opera, when it cannot fail to excite much curious interest.

BERLIN.—The anniversary of Weber's death, December 18, was chosen for the celebration in a special manner of the six hundredth performance at the Royal Opera of his ever-green "Freischütz," this being, moreover, by far the largest number of performances of any one opera on record here. The gala representation, at which the Emperor was present from first to last, was initiated by the "Euryanthe" Overture, followed by a graceful little one-act play, written for the occasion by Herr Ernst von Wildenbruch, and entitled "Hosterwitz," the name of the village near Dresden where Weber resided during the summer months and where he wrote his "Freischütz." A brochure containing a representation of the composer's house at Hosterwitz, a fac-simile of the play-bill, and other details connected with the memorable first production here of the work in 1821, were distributed in the house and forms an interesting souvenir of the occasion.——In celebration of the sixtieth birthday of Max Bruch, which occurred on the 6th ult., a festival concert, consisting exclusively of works by that composer, was given, on the 2nd ult., at the Bechstein Hall, before a numerous audience. The performances included several choral numbers, the String Quartet in E (Op. 10), the Fantasia for two pianofortes (Op. 11), the second Violin Concerto, and a number of songs. There was a formidable array of distinguished artists—Mesdames Carreño, Joachim, and Marx Goldschmidt, MM. Sarasate, Joseph Hofmann, the Halir Quartet, and others—while the choral works were exceedingly well rendered by the Philharmonic choir, under Herr Siegfried Ochs's direction.

BRESLAU.—Herr L. Emil Bach's one-act opera "The Lady of Longford" was brought out on December 15, at the Stadt-Theater, under Herr Loewe's direction, and fairly well received.

BUDAPESTH.—The tenor Broulik, who (as mentioned by us at the time) had been summarily dismissed by the management of the National Opera some months since for declining to appear for the fourth time within one week in a principal Wagnerian part, has just been awarded 25,000 francs damages and his costs by the Court of Appeal.

CARLSRUHE.—The third concert of the season of the Opera orchestra, under Herr Mottl's direction, included the first performance of the "Wallenstein" Trilogy, originally intended to furnish symphonic preludes to the three divisions of Schiller's drama, by M. Vincent d'Indy. The nobly conceived work, with its interesting thematic developments and brilliant orchestral effects, produced a highly favourable impression. At the same concert, Mdlle. Elsa Ruegger, the young Belgian violoncellist, was accorded a most flattering reception.

COBURG.—Herr Carl Pohlig, for some years conductor at the Hamburg Stadt-Theater, and engaged in the management of last year's Bayreuth Festspiele, has been appointed to the conductorship at the Court Theatre here.

COLOGNE.—M. Charles Lefebvre's oratorio "Judith," with Madame Moran-Olden, of Munich, and Herr Orelio, of Amsterdam, in the solo parts, was produced for the first time at the Gürzenich Concert of December 21, under Dr. Wüllner's direction, and exceedingly well received.——A new comic opera, "Der Prinz wider Willen," by Herr Otto Lohse, was brought out with great success, on the 1st ult., at the Stadt-Theater.

Digitized by Google

Frankfort-on-Main.—Spinelli's opera "A Basso Porto" was produced for the first time on the 6th ult., at the Stadt-Theater, with considerable success, several numbers, including a chorus, having been redemanded.

Geneva.—M. E. Jacques-Dalcroze's new lyrical comedy "Sancho" was brought out with great success at the Grand Théâtre, on December 13. The composer, a professor at the Geneva Conservatoire, is already favourably known in England by some of his chamber compositions and his "Poème Alpestre," produced at St. James's Hall. An opera, "Janie," from his pen was performed some years ago, both here and at one or two German theatres. The librettist of the present work, M. R. Yve-Plessis, effectively deals with some of the humorous episodes in the career of the worthy squire, Sancho Panza, and has afforded the composer numerous opportunities for equally effective musical treatment. The score, while frankly Wagnerian in its employment of representative themes and the "continuous melody," nevertheless betrays a marked individuality, fully entering into the spirit of gaiety pervading the various situations, and also containing passages of exquisite tenderness and poetic charm. The performance was a very satisfactory one, and has been repeated a number of times since. The new work will probably also be brought out ere long at Carlsruhe, under Herr Mottl's direction.

Hamburg.—Both Herr Pierson, of Berlin, and Herr Loewe, of Breslau, having declined the direction of the Hamburg Stadt-Theater, the succession of the late Herr Pollini has been, it is said, finally accepted by Herren Bittong and Bachur, both having been for a number of years associated with the management of that establishment. Herr Bittong was also the stage manager on the occasion of the first performance in England of "Die Meistersinger" and "Tristan and Isolde," at Drury Lane Theatre, in 1882. It is stated that Herr Pollini has left an autobiography which should contain some valuable material for a contemporary history of the operatic stage.

Leipzig.—In consequence of the annually increasing number of pupils at the Conservatorium an additional vocal professorship has just been created at this famous Institution, and Herr Wolfgang Knudson, of Christiania, has been appointed to the post. Herr Knudson, who is a teacher of considerable ability, has already filled a similar position at the Cologne Conservatorium. By way of a new departure, also, a course of interesting lectures is being given here by Dr. Ernst Groth, on the literature of the nineteenth century and its influence upon music. The sum of ten thousand marks has been handed to the directors of the Conservatorium by Fräulein Emma Gramann, in memory of her late brother, Carl Gramann, the well-known composer, and former pupil of the Institution.——Dr. Edvard Grieg has been staying here for the past few weeks.——Paderewski is about to resume his career as a concert pianist and is announced to make his appearance at the Gewandhaus concert, on the 3rd inst., when he will play Chopin's F minor Concerto and some smaller pieces. The conductor will be Herr Nikisch, who has just concluded an engagement for life at the Gewandhaus.

Lille.—Mr. Isidore de Lara's opera "Moïna," first brought out some months ago at Monte Carlo, has been performed here several times recently and received with marked favour.

Madrid.—A new opera appertaining to the modern Spanish school, entitled "La Revoltosa," the libretto by Fernandez Shaw and Lopez Silva, the music by A. Chapi, was brought out on December 18, at the Royal Opera, with immense success. M. Camille Saint-Saëns, who was present on the occasion, was greatly struck with the merits of the work, which he pronounced a veritable chef-d'œuvre.

Mannheim.—An excellent first scenic representation of Liszt's "Saint Elizabeth" was given on December 18, at the Court Theatre, under Herr von Reznicek's direction. Fräulein Heindl was an admirable representative of the titular part, and the choral portions of the work were most effectively rendered.

Milan.—In connection with the congress of sacred music recently held here in commemoration of the fifteenth century of the death of St. Ambrose, the performance at the Church of Santa Maria delle Grazie of a sacred trilogy, entitled "La Passione di Cristo," formed the principal musical feature of the proceedings, and attracted the attention of all musicians present, at whose request the performance was repeated. The composer of this undoubtedly important and remarkable work, the Abbé Lorenzo Perosi, is a young man of twenty-five, a former pupil of the Milan Conservatorio, who has already written several masses. The trilogia is about to be published by Copra, of Turin.

Moscow.—Mr. Eugene d'Albert, who recently gave a series of concerts both here and at St. Petersburg, in which some of his own compositions were included, has met with such an enthusiastic reception that he will probably ere long visit the country again. Herr Gustav Kogel, the Frankfort Capellmeister, is again conducting the Philharmonic concerts here this season with brilliant success.——A new opera by Rimsky-Korsakoff, entitled "Sadki," is about to be brought out at the Imperial Opera, the event being, of course, looked forward to with intense interest. Borodine's "Prince Igor" is likewise in preparation.

Munich.—Herr von Possart, the Intendant of the Royal Opera, has been nominated an honorary member of the Mozarteum, in Salzburg, in recognition of the artistic services rendered by him in initiating the model performances periodically given here of Mozart's operas.——Fräulein Hertha Ritter, an excellent young vocalist, gave a highly successful concert here recently. She is a daughter of the late Alexander Ritter, the composer of "Der Barbier von Bagdad," and one of the most talented pupils of Eugen Gura.

Palermo.—The Cercolo Artistico has opened a competition offering a prize of two thousand lire for a musical comedy in one act with or without chorus, the competition being confined to composers of Italian nationality.

Parma.—The post of director of the Conservatoire in this town, which had been vacant for some time, has at length been filled by the appointment of Signor Giovanni Tebaldini, chapel-master of St. Antonio, in Padua, and well-known author on musical subjects.

Prague.—Heinrich Hofmann's new choral work "Prometheus" was produced here for the first time on December 20, by the pupils of the Conservatorium and the choristers of the German Theatre, under the direction of Herr Laubner, and met with an enthusiastic reception.——At the National Theatre, Zdenko Fiebich's new three-act opera "Sharka" was brought out on the 5th ult., under Herr Cech's direction, and received with high favour. The libretto, by Agnes Schulz, is founded upon a Bohemian legend, and the score, while considerably influenced by Wagner, is nevertheless by no means devoid of originality and marks a distinct advance upon its predecessors by the same composer.

Rome.—At an orchestral concert given here last month a highly favourable reception was accorded to a new symphonic poem by Signor Bossi, the director of the Liceo Benedetto Marcello, in Venice. The work, which is entitled "Il Cieco," has been inspired by Pascoli's poem similarly named.——Madame Teresina Tua, the famous violinist, has taken up her residence during the winter in this capital, where she is giving lessons to a number of specially gifted pupils.

St. Petersburg.—A season of German opera, extending over five weeks, is to be opened next month at the Théâtre Marie, under the conductorship of Herr Theodor Loewe, of Breslau. The performances will consist chiefly of Wagner's operas, but Goldmark's "The Cricket on the Hearth" and Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel" are likewise included in the scheme.——Herr Arthur Nikisch, who, just previous to Christmas, conducted one of the concerts of the Imperial orchestra, aroused the enthusiasm of his audience to such a degree that at the conclusion of the performance some of his most ardent admirers literally carried the famous conductor in triumph through the hall. Considering the climate and the time of year, who is there could doubt the genuine warmth of such a reception?

Stockholm.—A female tenor, Madame Gonti-Geisler, has caused some sensation here in leading parts at the Royal Opera. The journals are full of admiration of her sonorous voice and excellent training.

Vienna.—An influential committee, with Baron von Bezecny as president and Herren Mahler and Richter as vice-presidents, has been formed here for the purpose of erecting a monument to Brahms in one of the public places of the capital. Preliminaries have already been entered into, and there is every probability of a speedy realisation of the scheme. A marble tablet, with a portrait of the master in relievo, is also to be shortly unveiled at the favourite resting-place of Beethoven in the Helenen-Thal, at Baden, near Vienna. The historical spot has hitherto been marked only by a plain inscription.——At one of the recent Philharmonic concerts, under Dr. Richter's direction, a new violin concerto by Herr Hans Koester was produced for the first time and received with marked favour. A choral work, "Sylvester-Glocken," by the same talented young composer, was likewise to obtain a first hearing at a concert of the Berlin Philharmonic choir last month.——In connection with the jubilee celebrations of the Emperor Francis Joseph's reign, in May next, a grand competition of military bands is being arranged. It is expected that bands from all parts of Europe will take part and prizes to the total amount of fifteen thousand florins will be distributed.——A blind violinist, Herr Otto Steinheimer, gave a concert here on December 30, and in Goldmark's Violin Concerto, variations by Joachim, and other pieces, proved himself a complete master of his instrument and was greeted with salvos of applause.——A viola d'amore player, it is not uninteresting to note, has just been engaged for the Opera orchestra, in the person of Herr Steiner, to be employed when the occasion arises.

Digitized by Google

Weimar.—Herr Kryzanowski has been appointed to succeed Herr Stavenhagen in the conductorship at the Court Theatre.

OBITUARY.

The death of George Benjamin Allen took place at Brisbane, Queensland, on November 30, 1897. The deceased musician, who was a somewhat prolific composer, was born in London, April 21, 1822. He was a chorister at Westminster Abbey, and afterwards a bass singer in the choir of Armagh Cathedral. He originated and executed the scheme for building the Ulster Hall, Belfast. After being organist of All Saints', Kensington Park, he went to Australia, where he settled, first at Melbourne, and, since 1890, at Brisbane. Mr. Allen made several successful tours with his well-organised opera company. He graduated Bachelor of Music at the University of Oxford in 1852.

The Rev. William Statham died on the 7th ult. He had been for thirty years vicar of Eldesmere Park, and was well known in musical circles, holding the degree of Mus. Doc., Dunelm, long before the diplomas granted by the Northern University were placed on their present footing. Deceased was sixty-two years of age.

On December 30, at 64, Myddelton Square, Louise, the beloved wife of James C. N. White (Birkbeck Institution). For many years associated with the Sacred Harmonic Society, Leslie's Choir, Crystal Palace, Handel Festival, and other choral associations.

The only grandson of Carl Maria von Weber, Lieutenant-Colonel Carl von Weber, an officer in the Saxon army, died at Dresden on December 16. Unlike his father, who, although the author of an excellent biography of the composer of "Freischütz," was not musically gifted, Carl von Weber was an accomplished musician and an occasional contributor to the press on subjects connected with the art. He also wrote and adapted, with considerable ability, a new libretto to his grandfather's posthumous comic opera "Die drei Pintos," the clever completion, by Herr Mahler (now director of the Vienna Opera), of the unfinished score of which first brought that gentleman's name prominently before the public, the work having been repeatedly performed some years ago at leading German and Austrian theatres. The only surviving sister of the deceased is married to the well-known poet, Herr Wildenbruch, of Berlin.

The death is announced, on December 20, at Naples, at the mature age of eighty-two, of Giovanni Bisaccia, a distinguished vocalist in his day, and a composer of talent. A pupil in composition of Donizetti, he wrote several comic operas, including "Dom Taddeo," successfully brought out at the Teatro Nuovo, Naples, in 1858. A popular vocal teacher in his later years, he also occupied the post of chapel-master at the church of San Ferdinando, in which capacity he produced a number of sacred compositions.

M. Henri Lavoix, the well-known musical critic and author, died in Paris, on December 27, in his fifty-second year. He was, for a number of years, attached, in an official capacity, to the Bibliothèque Nationale, and some few years since was appointed librarian at the Bibliothèque Sainte Geneviève. He was the author of a History of Music, a History of Instrumentation, an interesting volume entitled "Les Traducteurs de Shakespeare en Musique," and other works. As a critic he contributed, amongst other journals, to the Gazette Musicale, the Revue de France, and the Journal Officiel. He also edited a valuable collection of French Motets of the twelfth and thirteenth centuries.

M. Léon Carvalho, the famous director of the Paris Opéra Comique, did not live to see the completion, now fast approaching, of the handsome new building erected on the site of the theatre which was destroyed in the memorable conflagration of May, 1888. His death, which occurred on December 29, at the age of seventy-two, has deprived the French capital of the services of a most able, keen-sighted, and resourceful operatic manager, whose name will always remain especially associated in the history of the art with the early successes of Gounod in the domain of opera. Appointed director, in 1856, of the now defunct Théâtre Lyrique, M. Carvalho at once showed his discernment in bringing out a number of more or less important works by the younger generation of French composers, the success of many of which was, it must be admitted, considerably aided by the assumption of leading parts by his wife, the late Madame Miolan Carvalho. The list of these interesting premières is a long one, and it will suffice to mention Gounod's "Le Médecin malgré lui," "Faust," "Philémon et Baucis," "Mireille," and "Roméo et Juliette"; Bizet's "Les Pêcheurs de Perles" and "La Jolie Fille de Perth"; Reyer's "La Statue," and Joncières's "Sardanapale" in order to show the artistic importance of the managerial activity of the deceased at the Théâtre Lyrique. In 1876 M. Carvalho succeeded Du Locle in the directorship of the Opéra Comique, where his success was equally marked from an artistic and financial point of view. Amongst the distinguished vocalists who made their Paris début under his management here may be instanced Mesdames Van Zandt, Calvé, Delna, and Sybil Sanderson. After the destruction of the theate, and the removal of the company to its temporary quarters in the Place du Châtelet, M. Carvalho resigned, but again resumed the management three years later, in 1891. He was a native of the West Indies (his real name being Carvaille), studied for some years at the Paris Conservatoire, and commenced his career as an operatic basso.

The South American impresario, Angelo Ferrari, died at Buenos Ayres on December 29, at the age of sixty-eight. He was a native of Italy, a brilliant pianist, and early in life established himself in the Argentine Republic as a professor of his instrument. For the last twenty years, however, he has been the highly successful manager of operatic companies performing the most important works of the European repertory in Brazil, Uruguay, and elsewhere. He was also the director of the Buenos Ayres Grand Opera House, said to be the largest in the world, where his management was attended with brilliant success.

An artist greatly esteemed in Italy, Signor Luigi Albanesi, died on the 10th ult., at Naples, at the age of seventy-seven. Born at Rome, the son of a much-sought miniature painter, he made his musical studies under Ernest Coop and Polidoro, and eventually acquired considerable reputation as a pianoforte virtuoso and teacher of his instrument, in which latter capacity he has formed many excellent pupils. An earnest and imaginative musician, he has published over 150 compositions for the pianoforte, an oratorio, "Le sette parole di Gesù Cristo," several masses, and a number of motets with organ accompaniments. He was the father of Mr. Carlo Albanesi, who succeeded the late Mr. Thomas Wingham in a professorship at the Royal Academy of Music.

Digitized by Google

The death is announced in Paris, on the 17th ult., of M. ANTOINE FRANÇOIS MARMONTEL, the distinguished pianoforte teacher, among whose pupils were Bizet, Joseph Wieniawski, Vincent d'Indy, Dubois, and many other musicians of note. He was the successor of Zimmermann, in 1848, as pianoforte professor at the Conservatoire, and has published a number of works for teaching purposes. He had nearly completed his eighty-second year.

Signor NICOLINI, the one-time popular operatic tenor, chiefly known of late years as the husband of Madame Patti, died on the 18th ult., at Pau, after a painful and protracted illness. He was the son of a Breton innkeeper named Nicolas, and was born at Tours, in February, 1834, having thus nearly completed his sixty-fourth year. After studying successfully at the Paris Conservatoire, he began his career at the Opéra Comique in 1855, the engagement here, although not marked by any special success, extending over four years. He afterwards went to Italy, where he sang at Milan, Florence, and other principal towns, and rapidly established himself in the favour of the Italian public. His first appearance at Covent Garden Theatre, in 1866, was, however, not an unqualified success. His voice, a tenor of the robusto order, and fine stage presence gained him many admirers; but the persistent tremolo, which, in common with many other singers of the period, he affected, offended the ears of connoisseurs. He, however, knew how to profit by the criticisms passed upon him in this respect, and when, in 1871, he once more appeared in London, this time at Drury Lane, with the indicated defect in his method greatly modified, his acceptance as a principal "star" of the lyrical stage became general, and he was engaged by Mr. J. H. Mapleson for several seasons in succession, amongst his most admired parts being Faust, Lohengrin, and Raoul, in "Les Huguenots." Signor Nicolini had been associated with Madame Patti—since 1868 the Marquise de Caux—both in this country and in various professional tours on the Continent, and upon the legal release of either party from their previous matrimonial engagements, the association became one for life. They were married at a village church, near the well-known estate of Craig-y-Nos, acquired by the diva, where henceforth Signor Nicolini lived the life of a country gentleman, participating in the immense popularity enjoyed by his gifted wife throughout the neighbourhood.

We have also to record the following deaths:—

On December 13, at St. Louis (U.S.), LOUIS MAYER, violoncellist, musical author, and composer of considerable reputation in America, aged sixty.

On December 24, at Limbach, JOHANNES PACHE, cantor and popular vocal composer, aged forty.

On December 25, at Breslau, JULIUS HAINAUER, founder of the well-known music publishing firm, aged seventy.

On December 26, at Frankfort-on-Main, FRIEDRICH WILHELM DIETZ, violinist of the Museum orchestra, and composer of chamber music, a pupil of Spohr, aged sixty-five.

On December 31, at St. Augustine's Road, Camden Square, London, CHARLES FITCH FURTADO, professor of music, aged eighty-one.

On the 4th ult., at Breslau, HEINRICH LICHNER, Royal musik-director, composer of choral works, aged fifty-nine.

On the 6th ult., at Rome, GAETANO CAPOCCI, chapelmaster of San Giovanni di Laterano, since 1854, member of the St. Cecilia Academy, distinguished composer of Church music, aged eighty-six.

On the 11th ult., at Milan, ANTONIO BESANA, formerly a director of La Scala Theatre, founder and president of the Municipal Music Schools, and other musical institutions, aged eighty-seven.

On the 13th ult., at 1, Dawson Place, London, the Maëstro ETTORE FIORI, for many years professor of singing at the Royal Academy of Music, who was born at Leghorn, in 1824.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON.—The following have satisfied the examiners: B.Mus. examination — George Daniel Rawle and John Latham; Intermediate examination in music—Arthur Beeley, James Stuart Corley, Charles James Kennedy, O. Scott, Ernest William Wallis, Eleanor Copland Finlay, and Harry Ernest Hunt.

CORRESPONDENCE.

ANALYTICAL PROGRAMMES IN NEW YORK.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE MUSICAL TIMES."

SIR,—Will you accept an American contribution to the interesting matter which Mr. J. S. Shedlock has given us on the subject of analytical programmes? When I wrote my monograph on the history of the Philharmonic Society of New York (published by Novello, Ewer and Co. in 1892), I was put in possession of a complete set of the Society's programmes. At the second concert, given on February 18, 1843, Beethoven's "Eroica" Symphony was played, and the programme was provided with the following elucidation of its contents:—

"This great work was commenced when Napoleon was First Consul, and was intended to portray the workings of that extraordinary man's mind. In the first movement the simple subject, keeping its uninterrupted way through harmonies that at times seem in almost chaotic confusion, is a grand idea of Napoleon's determination of character. The second movement is descriptive of the funeral honours paid to one of his favourite generals, and is entitled 'Funeral March on the death of a hero.' The winding up of this movement represents the faltering steps of the last gazers into the grave, and the listener hears the tears fall on the coffin ere the funeral volley is fired, and repeated faintly by an echo. The third movement (Minuet and Trio) describes the homeward march of the soldiery, and the Finale is a combination of French revolutionary airs put together in a manner that no one save a Beethoven could have imagined."

For twenty-five years this singular note appeared at intervals in the programmes of the Philharmonic Society, until an indignant protest from one of my predecessors, as music reviewer for the Tribune newspaper, led to its banishment.—Yours very respectfully,

H. E. KREHBIEL.

New York, December, 1897.

BRIEF SUMMARY OF COUNTRY AND COLONIAL NEWS.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for any opinions expressed in this summary, as all the notices are either collated from the local papers or supplied to us by correspondents.

ANDOVER.—Mr. Arthur C. Bennett's annual concert took place in the Town Hall, on the 11th ult., when his pupils played Mozart's "Jupiter" Symphony, the "Figaro" Overture, and other pieces; Miss Ethel Wood met with a hearty acknowledgment of her singing of the "Jewel" song, while Mr. David Jones and Mr. Prosper Burnett were warmly received.

ARBROATH.—Selections from Handel's "Messiah," with orchestral accompaniments, were given in Abbey Parish Church, on December 29, by the choir, which numbered about fifty voices. Mr. H. Hollingworth led the orchestra, Mr. W. Brooke presided at the organ, and Mr. T. Booth, organist of the church, conducted.

BOURNE END.—The fourth annual concert of the Stanyon Choral Society took place in Woodburn Town Schools, on the 13th ult., under the able conductorship of Mr. T. W. Lardner (organist of Great Marlow Parish Church). The concert began with a careful and effective rendering of Stainer's sacred cantata "The Daughter of Jairus." The second part of the concert was miscellaneous. The soloists were Miss Miriam Jackson (soprano), Mrs. Weaver (contralto), Mr. W. R. Maxwell, and Mr. E. C. W. Oldham. Miss Hunt was the violinist, and the accompanists were Mrs. Edward Sladen and Mr. W. S. Vale, at the pianoforte and organ respectively.

BOWDON.—At the annual meeting of the Bowdon Downs Congregational Church, held on the 12th ult., a mural tablet of alabaster with granite bordering, to the memory of the late Mr. John Mills, was unveiled in the church.

Digitized by Google

The inscription of the tablet runs: "In memory of John Mills, of Northwold, Dunham Massey, honorary organist and choirmaster from 1868 to 1883. This tablet was placed here by the choir in recognition of his devoted service."

Bristol.—The famous Bristol Madrigal Society at its ladies' night, on the 13th ult., sang, with its accustomed excellence, a number of madrigals of the sixteenth century, together with compositions by musicians of the present day, including a charming piece entitled "Robin Hood," by Dr. C. H. Lloyd.

Burton-on-Trent.—A very successful performance of "The Messiah" was given on December 30, by the Musical Society, under the skilful direction of Dr. Plant. The solos were taken by Madame Blanche Powell, Miss Minnie Cullis, Mr. William Green, and Mr. Bantock Pierpoint. Mr. Fred. Ward again led the orchestra and Mr. W. S. Dove presided at the organ.

Dublin.—A most attractive and interesting concert was given on the 19th ult., in the Antient Concert Rooms, by Mr. Arthur McConnell. The Ben Edar Glee Choir, who, under Mr. McConnell's baton, won the first prize for small choral societies at the first Feis Ceoil, contributed several pieces in a most capable manner. The Bohemian Quartet, Miss Ruby McConnell, Miss Frances McConnell, Mr. Dan Jones, Mr. E. Gordon Cleather, with Mr. Arthur Darly as solo violinist, and Mr. H. Hartey as solo pianist, also helped to make up a programme perfectly unique in its all-round excellence.

Gloucester.—Mr Joseph Bennett, in his capacity as president of the Choral Society, gave a highly interesting lecture on "Beethoven: the Man," at the Guildhall, on the 19th ult. Miss Fanny Davies and Madame Medora Henson gave illustrations of the master's pianoforte and vocal music. The Mayor of Gloucester was in the chair, and the lecture was listened to with great interest by a large audience.

Gravesend.—Sir Frederick Bridge's "Cradle of Christ" was sung at Milton Parish Church, on December 26. The soloists were Masters Arthur Allen and Cyril Hubbard, and Mr. Walter Fletcher. Mr. C. Burrows Moss presided at the organ.

Great Malvern.—A sacred concert was given on December 30, in Holly Mount Church, by the members of the choir, when the cantata entitled "The Holy Child" (T. Adams) formed the first part of the programme. The second portion was of a miscellaneous character. The vocalists were Miss Picksley, Mrs. Rhodes, Miss Ethel Moffatt, and Mr. Springhall. Miss Picksley and Mr. Springhall played respectively Mackenzie's "Benedictus" and Thomé's Andante Religioso. Miss B. Gwillam was a valuable accompanist.

Rawtenstall.—Miss Bessie Holt gave a successful concert at the Co-operative Hall, on the 4th ult., when she had the valued co-operation of Madame Antoinette Sterling, who, as usual, charmed her audience. The gifted concert-giver was heard to great advantage in several songs, which she sang with marked ability and expressive feeling. Mr. Abram Hamer contributed some violin solos with acceptance and Mr. Fred. Hamer was an efficient accompanist.

Rotherham.—The Rotherham Choral Society gave its annual performance of "The Messiah" in the Drill Hall, on December 27, under the able conductorship of Mr. Thomas Brameld. Miss Maggie Jacques, Madame Jenny Holden, Mr. Thurgate Simpson, and Mr. Dan Billington were the principals, and the performance gave full satisfaction.

St. Albans.—The St. Albans Oratorio Society performed "The Messiah," on the 11th ult., in the Assembly Room, Town Hall, under the able direction of Mr. W. H. Speer. The choruses were admirably rendered and the orchestra gave a good account of itself. The soloists were Madame Bertha Rossow, Mrs. E. Gentle, Mr. G. H. Perrins, and Mr. Robert Grice. Miss Daisy Etheridge was the first violin and Mr. George Rose rendered good service at the pianoforte.

Sydney, N.S.W.—The Sydney Philharmonic Society has performed, during the season just closed, Berlioz's "Faust" (twice), "Hinemoa," by Mr. Alfred Hill, an Australian composer; Sullivan's "Martyr of Antioch," Haydn's "Creation," and "The Messiah"—a very creditable record. For the present year it is contemplated to give Saint-Saëns's "Samson and Delilah," Gade's "Psyche," a repetition of Berlioz's "Faust," and Sullivan's "Golden Legend." The Sydney Amateur Orchestral Society has also done excellent work, having added to its répertoire numerous important works, including Mendelssohn's "Reformation" Symphony and Beethoven's C minor Symphony. Signor Haxon is conductor of both societies.

Organ Appointments.—Mr. Alfred S. Johnson, Organist and Choirmaster to St. George's Parish Church, Dublin.—Mr. James Downie, Organist and Choirmaster to New Kilpatrick Parish Church.—Mr. Alfred Furse, Organist and Choirmaster to Wesleyan Church, Barry Road, Dulwich.—Mr. H. Caledfryn Williams, Organist and Choirmaster to Willesden Presbyterian Church.—Mr. B. M. Waugh, Organist and Choirmaster to Christ Church, Everton, Liverpool.—Mr. W. T. Winkworth, Organist and Choirmaster to the Parish Church, Thatcham, Newbury.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

 Notices of Concerts, of which programmes must invariably be sent, and other information supplied by our friends in the country, must be forwarded to us immediately after the occurrence; otherwise they cannot possibly be inserted.

Our correspondents will oblige by writing all names as clearly as possible, as we cannot be responsible for any mistakes that may occur.

Correspondents are informed that their names and addresses must accompany all communications.

We cannot undertake to return offered contributions; the authors, therefore, will do well to retain copies.

Notice is sent to all subscribers whose payment (in advance) is exhausted. The paper will be discontinued where the Subscription is not renewed. We again remind those who are disappointed in obtaining back numbers that, although the music is always kept in stock, only a sufficient quantity of the rest of the paper is printed to supply the current sale.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

G.—(1) For information on the subject of madrigals and their composers consult the article "Madrigal" in Grove's "Dictionary of Music and Musicians." You will find biographies of the several composers therein referred to in the same work, or in the "Dictionary of National Biography." (2) Romberg's "Lay of the Bell," Barnby's "Rebekah," Van Bree's "St. Cecilia's Day," Cowen's "St. John's Eve," or "King Harold," by F. Cunningham Woods. Either of these works will probably answer your purpose and interest your choir.

A. B.—Haydn's Symphony in C, headed "Roxelane," was so designated by the composer because the slow movement consists of a series of variations upon a French romance, entitled "Roxelane." This section of the symphony was arranged for pianoforte solo by Haydn, and may be found in any collection of his pianoforte works. Haydn used the first movement of the symphony, but with a different ending, as the overture to his comic opera "Il Mondo della luna."

A. W. G.—For biographical information concerning Dr. Edvard Grieg consult the following: "Edvard Grieg, et la musique Scandinave," by Ernest Closson. This is a reprint from the Guide Musical and is published by Messrs. Schott and Co.; also articles in the Spectator for May 18, 1888; the Woman at Home, January, 1894; The Musical Times, February, 1894; and in the Century Magazine, March, 1894.

Digitized by Google

Folk-Song.—"Traditional Tunes," edited by Mr. F. Kidson, is published by Messrs. C. Taphouse and Son, Oxford. The songs edited by Miss Lucy Broadwood, to which you refer, are probably "English County Songs," published by Messrs. Cramer and Co. "Songs and Ballads of Northern England," edited by Messrs. Stokoe and S. Reay, are published by Walter Scott, Limited, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

R. G. W. H.—The following is a list of the unaccompanied choral music by Brahms:—Op. 22, Marienlieder (two books); Op. 29, two motets, five voices; Op. 62, seven songs for choir; Op. 74, two motets; Op. 93a, six songs and romanzes; Op. 104, six songs; Op. 109, "Fest und Gedenksprüche"; and Op. 110, three motets, four and eight voices.

W. E. R.—For information upon the practical use of the baton consult the chapter headed "The orchestral conductor. Theory of his art," in Berlioz's "Treatise on modern instrumentation" (Novello); also the article "Time-beating," by the late W. S. Rockstro, in Grove's "Dictionary of Music and Musicians."

Enquirer.—Full directions as to the proper method of performing "the turns, shakes, &c., in Bach's music" will be found in Part I. of Mr. Dannreuther's primer "Musical Ornamentation," pp. 159-210 (Novello, Ewer and Co., price 5s.)

T. H.—The part-song by Mendelssohn, "Awake, the starry midnight hour" (No. 25 of Novello's Part-Song Book), is an arrangement for four voices of the Volkslied "Parting and Meeting" (Op. 47, No. 4), No. 38 of Novello's complete edition of Mendelssohn's songs.

H. de St.—A very good arrangement, from the quartet, of Haydn's "Hymn to the Emperor" (The Austrian National Anthem) is contained in the Haydn Album, Peters's edition, No. 1822.

C. A. G.—We cannot possibly undertake to give "the approximate value of a beautiful little violin" even "in good condition." You had better submit it to a reliable firm like Messrs. W. E. Hill and Son, 38, New Bond Street, W.

M. C.—We regret that we do not know of "any Amateur Musical Societies, whose object, at least in part, is to promote general musical knowledge amongst its members."

C. N. W.—We gave full particulars of the Boesendorfer prize competition for a pianoforte concerto in our January issue, page 48. There is really nothing more to add.

F. W. G.—We are unable to state "at which University it would be easiest to pass in Musical Degrees." Residence is not at present a condition at any University.

Careful.—It is of the greatest importance that you should entrust the re-building of the organ to a firm who have a high reputation for absolutely reliable mechanism.

Baritone.—Use your own judgment as to the disposition of the hands so long as the passages are played correctly and smoothly.

F. N.—The "Cradle Songs of many Nations" was published by Messrs. Ward and Lock in 1882.

MR. CHARLES KNOWLES
(BARITONE).

Of the Crystal Palace and principal Provincial Concerts.

Leeds Choral Union.—"Samson and Delilah."—"Mr. Charles Knowles sustained a dual rôle in a style to show the rapid progress he has made of late. His singing throughout was to the point and clever."—Leeds Mercury, November 4, 1897.

Wakefield Choral Society.—"Messiah."—"Mr. Charles Knowles acquitted himself excellently in the heavy work which fell to him."—Wakefield Express, December 11, 1897.

Orchestral Concert.—"Mr. Charles Knowles next appeared and sang Mendelssohn's 'I am a roamer' in so excellent a manner as to gain a hearty encore, which he responded to with 'Revenge.' Mr. Knowles gave Gounod's 'Nazareth,' which was vociferously encored, and he favoured the audience with 'The Wolf.' . . . We hope soon to be favoured with a revisit."—Walsall Advertiser, January 1, 1898.

Stockport S.S. Choir.—"Mr. Charles Knowles was in fine voice and created a very good impression. 'Honour and arms' was greeted with loud applause, which undoubtedly was well earned. . . . Mr. Knowles followed with a clever enunciation of 'Nazareth,' for which he was loudly applauded, and he repeated the last verse."—Stockport Chronicle, January 19, 1898.

For terms, dates, &c., address, 61, Burley Street, Leeds.

DURING THE LAST MONTH.

Published by NOVELLO, EWER & CO.

PARKER, HORATIO—"The Legend of St. Christopher." A Dramatic Oratorio. For Solo Voices, Chorus, Orchestra, and Organ. The verse by Isabella Parker. 5s.

THE VILLAGE ORGANIST. A series of Pieces for Church and general use. Book 10. 1s. (For Contents, see page 138.)

GERMAN, EDWARD—Coronation March (Prelude to Act IV.). From the Music to "Henry VIII." 1st Violin, 6d.; 2nd Violin, 6d.; Viola, 6d.; Violoncello and Bass, 6d.

—— Intermezzo (Prelude to Act III.). From the Music to "Henry VIII." 1st Violin, 6d.; 2nd Violin, 6d.; Viola, 6d.; Violoncello and Bass, 6d.

WAGNER, RICHARD—"The Holy Supper of the Apostles" ("Das Liebesmahl der Apostel"). A Scriptural Scene. For Men's Voices, with full Orchestra. 2s.

MAUNDER, J. H.—"Penitence, Pardon, and Peace." A short Lenten Cantata (Suitable also for Advent and General use). For Soprano (or Tenor) and Baritone Soli and Chorus. The words selected from Holy Writ by the Rev. W. J. Bettison. 1s. 6d.; board covers, 2s. Tonic Sol-fa, 1s. Words only, 2s. per 100.

MANCINELLI, LUIGI—Prologue to "Ero e Leandro." An Opera in Three Acts. Words by Tobia Gorrio, translated by Mowbray Marras. 1s.

THE ORGANIST AND CHOIRMASTER'S DIARY, 1898. Cloth, 2s. 6d.

KING, OLIVER—"The Romance of the Roses." Cantata. For Soprano and Tenor Soli, Chorus, and Orchestra. The words written by Ellis Walton. Book of words, 7s. 6d. per 100.

THE SCHOOL MUSIC REVIEW. No. 68. Contains the following Music in both Notations:—"Were we fairies, you and I." Two-part Song for S.S., from "King Bulbous," composed by H. Festing Jones. "I had a little Doggy." Junior Unison Song. By J. W. Elliott. Specimen Tests for Pupil Teachers and Schools. Exercises on the sharp 4th and the flat 7th. 1½d.

NOVELLO'S SCHOOL SONGS.—Edited by W. G. McNaught. Published in two forms. A. Voice Parts, in Staff and Tonic Sol-fa Notations, with Pianoforte Accompaniment, 8vo size; B. Voice Parts only in Tonic Sol-fa Notation. A. B.
No. 291. In the Twilight. Unaccompanied Trio
Franz Abt 1½d. —

ADKINS, J. E.—(in D). Magnificat and Nunc dimittis. 6d.

CANE, LAURENCE—(in D). Magnificat and Nunc dimittis. 3d.

MARTIN, GEORGE C.—(in A flat). Te Deum laudamus and Benedictus. For A.T.T.B. 6d.

SMITH, BOYTON—(in E flat). Magnificat and Nunc dimittis. (No. 367. Novello's Parish Choir Book.) 3d.

ADAMS, THOMAS—"Alleluia! now is Christ risen." Anthem. For Easter. (No. 592. Novello's Octavo Anthems.) 3d.

BARNBY, JOSEPH—"Let all our brethren join in one." Hymn for Harvest Thanksgiving. The words written by A. C. Ainger. (No. 365. Novello's Parish Choir Book.) 1d.

BENNETT, W. STERNDALE—"O na wyddwn pa le y cawn ef" ("O that I knew where I might find Him"). (Rhif 40. Anthemau Novello.) Pris 3c.

BOYSON, AMBROSE—"Here, Lord, we offer Thee." Hymn. The words by the Rev. Gerald Blunt. 3d.

CROSS, SYDNEY—"I heard a voice from heaven." For use in the Burial Service. On Card. 6c.

FOSTER, MYLES B.—"When the Sabbath was past." Anthem. For Easter. 1½d.

HAYES, WILLIAM—"Mawr yw yr iôn" ("Great is the Lord"). (Rhif 23. Anthemau Novello.) 4c.; Sol-ffa, 1½c.

MACFARLANE, WILL C.—"Happy is the man that findeth wisdom." Anthem. For Four Voices. 25c.

MESSITER, A. H.—"O praise the Lord." Psalm 117. Ablution Anthem. 12c.

NOBLE, H. C. A.—"There shall be no more pain." Hymn. The words written by M. I. Macpherson. 1d.

SELBY, BERTRAM LUARD—"O God, Thou art my God." Anthem. For Tenor and Soprano Soli and Chorus. (No. 585. Novello's Octavo Anthems.) 4d.

SHORT, JOSEPH—"Out of the depths." Sacred Solo. For a Baritone Voice. 6d.

SKELDING, DINELLI—Vesper Hymn. Words by the Rev. A. C. Macpherson. 1d.

MACKENZIE, A. C.—"For the flame of love is as fire" ("Rose of Sharon"). (No. 777. Novello's Octavo Choruses.) 4d.

Digitized by Google

DURING THE LAST MONTH—continued.

HARWOOD, BASIL—"Tell me, I charge you." A Four-part Song. For S.A.T.B. The verse written by THOMAS AMORY. 6d.

MULHOLLAND, HAYDN—"Dreamland." Four-part Song. For S.A.T.B. The words written by CHRISTINA ROSSETTI. 4d.

PRENDERGAST, ARTHUR H. D.—Echo Song. Written by ADDISON (1672-1719), and set to music as a Male-voice Part-Song for Chorus and Echo Quartet (T.T.B B.). 3d.

—— "Golden Slumbers." Lullaby. Written by THOMAS DEKKER (1599), and set to music as a Part-Song for Male Voices (T.T.B.B.). 3d.

PEARSON, W. W.—"Three Merry Fishers." Humorous Part-Song. For S.A.T.B. The words written by G. WM. OLLETT. 3d.

SULLIVAN, ARTHUR—"Wreaths for our graves." Choral Song. The words written by L. F. MASSEY. (No. 785. Novello's Part-Song Book.) 6d.

THOMAS, A. GORING—"Fairest of lands." Soprano Solo and Chorus of Female Voices. From "The Sun Worshippers." 4d.

BORTON, LADY—"Immortality." Sacred Song. The words written by JAMES MONTGOMERY. 2s.

COENEN, WILLEM—"Come unto Me." Sacred Song. No. 2, in G. 2s.

TSCHAÏKOWSKY, P. I.—"Don Juan's Serenade." Song. For a Baritone or Bass Voice, with Accompaniment for the Pianoforte. The words written by A. TOLSTOI (English translation by Lady MACFARREN). 2s.

NOVELLO'S ORIGINAL COMPOSITIONS for the ORGAN.

			s.	d.
No. 259.	Pastoral or Offertory ..	HAMILTON CLARKE	1	0

NOVELLO'S PUBLICATIONS in the TONIC SOL-FA NOTATION. Edited by W. G. McNAUGHT.

No. 1006.	Summer Eve. S.S.S.A. ..	J. L. HATTON	1½d.
,, 1009.	Now is my Chloris fresh as May. For S.A.T.B.	BATTISON HAYNES	1d.
,, 1017.	O thou whose beams. For A.T.T.B.B.	Sir JOHN GOSS	2d.
Rhif 40.	O na wyddwn pa le y cawn ef (O that I knew where I might find Him)	W. STERNDALE BENNETT	1½c.

TSCHAÏKOWSKY, P.—"Nature and Love." Short Cantata. For two Soprani and Contralto Soli and Three-part Chorus of Female Voices. 4d.

ROBERT COCKS & CO.'S PUBLICATIONS.

ORGAN RECITAL MUSIC.

COMPOSITIONS and ARRANGEMENTS by EDWIN H. LEMARE Complete list, Post-free on application.

THE RECITAL SERIES of ORIGINAL ORGAN COMPOSITIONS. By E. H. Lemare, Amhurst Webber, W. Wolstenholme, Filippo Capocci, D'Evry, M. E. Rossi, H. A. Wheeldon, and Alfred Hollins. Collected and edited by EDWIN H. LEMARE, Organist of St. Margaret's, Westminster.

NEW WORK.

THE ORGANIST.

A COLLECTION of ORIGINAL COMPOSITIONS and ARRANGEMENTS for the ORGAN (pedal obb.).

Just issued, Book I., containing Six Movements, by ALFRED REDHEAD. Post-free, 1s.

THE CANDIDATES' PRACTICAL SCALE and ARPEGGIO HANDBOOK. By GRAHAM P. MOORE.

Specially arranged for the use of Students preparing for the Examinations (Pianoforte) of the Associated Board of the R.A.M and R.C.M.

Compiled in strict accordance with the Syllabus of the Associated Board, each book containing full directions as to the requirements of the Examiners.

Issued in four books, each being complete in itself and containing only those Scales required for the respective Examinations.

	s.	d.
Book 1. Contains all Scales and Arpeggi required for the Local School Exams. Lower Division .. .. net	1	0
Book 2. Contains all Scales and Arpeggi required for the Local School Exams. Higher Division .. .. net	1	6
Book 3. Contains all Scales and Arpeggi required for the Local Centre Exams. Junior Grade .. .. .. net	1	9
Book 4. Contains all Scales and Arpeggi required for the Local Centre Exams. Senior Grade :—
Part 1. Scales .. .. net	2	0
Part 2. Arpeggi .. .. net	2	0

ROBERT COCKS & CO.'S PUBLICATIONS—continued.

EDUCATIONAL WORKS for the R.A.M. and R.C.M. Associated Board, Trinity Coll., and other Examinations.

ADOLPHE SCHLOESSER'S COMPLETE SCALE and ARPEGGIO TUTOR for the PIANOFORTE. Containing all the Scales and Arpeggi required by Candidates preparing for the Metropolitan, Local, Trinity College, and other Examinations, including the Associated Board of the R.A.M. and R.C.M.

Specially printed in very clear Notation, with the necessary directions for practice.

Editions with English and Foreign fingering :—	s.	d.
Scales only	4	0
Arpeggi only	4	0
Complete (Scales and Arpeggi), 79 pages	6	0

ROBERT COCKS & CO.'S NEW EDITION OF

STANDARD CLASSICAL PIECES,

Revised and edited by a Professor of the R.A.M. 187 Nos. now ready (list free).

ADOLPHE SCHLOESSER'S CLASSICAL MUSIC. 73 Nos. (list free).

Post-free on application.

THE PROFESSOR'S DESCRIPTIVE LIST (Catalogue No. 9) of SONGS, CANTATAS, OPERETTAS, DUETS, TRIOS, PART-SONGS, METHODS, STUDIES, &c. (74 pages), with extracts from criticisms which have appeared in the principal London and Provincial papers, forming a valuable aid to the selection of vocal music for the class-room, drawing-room, or concert hall.

Post-free for six stamps.

A BOOK OF SONG WORDS: containing in a handy form the Words of One Hundred Songs, with the Names of Authors and Composers, and the keys and compass of all editions published.

Will be found of great assistance in the selection of Songs by Professionals as well as Amateurs, and most useful to those Vocalists who, preferring to sing without a copy of the music, are not always sure of remembering the words.

London: ROBERT COCKS & CO., 6, New Burlington Street, W.
Music Publishers to H.M. THE QUEEN and H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES.

MR. and MRS. WALLIS A. WALLIS
(Baritone and Soprano).
Duets, Cantillations, &c. Address, Sharon, Acton, W.

MR. JOHN COATES
(BARITONE).
At liberty for Concerts, At Homes, &c., 29, Chivalry Road, S.W.

MR. GORDON HELLER
(BARITONE)
A.R.C.M. (Double Diploma).
20, Blenheim Terrace, Leeds.

£10.—SOPRANO (Lady) WANTED, for Church at Lewisham. Two Services and one week evening. Apply, X. T., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

WANTED, ALTO, for St. Gabriel's, Pimlico. Good reader indispensable. Salary, £15. Apply, E. Douglas Smith, 161, Ledbury Road, Bayswater, W.

CONTRALTO Vocalist, willing to assist at Concerts, Organ Recitals, &c., for expenses. Apply, Blanche Smith, 52, Greek Street, Soho, W.

TUNER WANTED, for out-door work. Must be first-class workman and thoroughly experienced. Apply, enclosing photo, to Allegro, Messrs. Novello and Co., 1, Berners St., W.

TWO ADDRESSES ON MUSIC

DELIVERED FROM THE CHAIR OF MUSIC, UNIVERSITY, EDINBURGH,

BY

SIR HERBERT OAKELEY.

Price Sixpence.

Edinburgh: JAMES THIN, Publisher to the University.

"Sir Herbert Oakeley, Emeritus Professor, University of Edinburgh, has published two 'Inaugural Addresses,' selected, on account of their special fitness for a popular audience, from those delivered by him at various times. Sir Herbert spoke always, not with authority only—though his words had the weight due to admirable scholarship—but with grace and charm. His utterances were invariably characterised by wide knowledge, critical acumen, and liberal thought. Thus, in the lectures before us, we have not only an eloquent demonstration of the value of music as an educational agent, but abundant evidence of a capacity, too rare among schoolmen, to regard the subject from all points of view, and to lend it all possible aid by apt allusion and illustration."—The Globe.

Digitized by Google

CONTENTS.

	Page
Mr. William H. Cummings (with Portrait)	81
From my Study	85
Critics on Strike	87
Occasional Notes	90
Mary Victoria Cowden-Clarke	93
Was Haydn a Croatian Composer?	94
Associated Board—Examinations in Australasia	95
Church and Organ Music	96
Facts, Rumours, and Remarks	97
The Royal Choral Society	98
Queen's Hall Choral Society	98
Saturday Symphony Concerts	99
Monday and Saturday Popular Concerts	99
Recitals for Children, Young and Old	99
Highbury Philharmonic Society	100
Royal Academy of Music—Mr. Jacques's Lectures	100
Royal College of Music	101
The Incorporated Society of Musicians	101
Musical Association	102
Workington Competitions and Music Festival	102
British Music in Brussels	102
Reviews	103
Music in Birmingham	113
„ East Anglia	113
„ Edinburgh and Preth	113
„ Glasgow	114
„ Liverpool	114
„ Manchester	115
„ Northumberland and Durham	116
„ Nottingham	116
„ Yorkshire	116
„ Paris	117
Easter Anthem—"When the Sabbath was past."—Myles B. Foster	105
Easter Anthem—"Alleluia! now is Christ risen."—Thomas Adams."—(Extra Supplement.)
General News (London)	117
Foreign Notes	119
Obituary	121
Correspondence	122
Brief Summary of Country News	122
Answers to Correspondents	123
List of Music published during the last Month	124

THE MUSICAL TIMES.

SCALE OF TERMS FOR ADVERTISEMENTS.

	£	s.	d.
Two Lines	0	3	0
Three Lines	0	3	4
For every additional Line	0	0	10
Half a Column	2	0	0
A Column	4	0	0
A Page	7	10	0

Special Pages (Cover, &c.) by arrangement.
A remittance should be sent with each Advertisement.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

To ensure insertion in proper position Advertisements for March should reach the Office NOT LATER THAN THE EIGHTEENTH of this Month.

SUITABLE FOR EASTER.

RESURGAM

A SACRED CANTATA

BY

JOSEPH C. BRIDGE, M.A., D.Mus.,

Organist of Chester Cathedral.

(Performed with great success at the Chester Festival, 1897.)

Vocal Score, One Shilling and Sixpence. Full Score and Band Parts can be had on loan from Composer.

The work takes thirty minutes in performance, and the Solos and Choruses are within the powers of an ordinary good Church Choir. The Solo parts are for Contralto and Tenor, but may be sung by boys if necessary.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

NEW CHANT and KYRIE BOOK.—Mr. T. SIMPSON (Compiler and Editor of the Burnley Tune Book) has nearly ready for the Press an extensive COLLECTION of CHANTS, KYRIES, GLORIAS, &c., embracing all the well-known compositions along with many new ones, and is open to receive a few more Chants, &c., for insertion after approval. The collection will include a large number of Chant Settings to the Te Deum and Benedicite, as well as new settings to the Daily Psalms, and has been over twenty years in compilation. Address, 23, Manchester Road, Burnley.

THE SCHOOL MUSIC REVIEW,

PUBLISHED ON THE 1ST OF EVERY MONTH. Price 1½d. ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION, INCLUDING POSTAGE, 2s.

THE SCHOOL MUSIC REVIEW FOR FEBRUARY CONTAINS:—

GENERAL NOTES.
THE TONIC BASIS OF ALL MUSIC. By Dr. FRANK J. SAWYER.
HELPS TO SIGHT SINGING FROM BOTH NOTATIONS. By F. C. FIELD HYDE, L.R.A.M., &c.
SCHOOL SIGHT SINGING READER.
THE CHORAL PIECES FOR COMING COMPETITIONS.
SIGHT SINGING IN SYDNEY SCHOOLS.
WARD'S STAFF NOTATION TONAL MODULATOR.
A MUSICAL UTOPIA.
WORKINGTON FESTIVAL.
CORRESPONDENCE.
MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

THE SCHOOL MUSIC REVIEW,

THE FEBRUARY NUMBER CONTAINS THE FOLLOWING MUSIC:—

"SEE THE CONQU'RING HERO COMES." Trio and Duet from "Judas Maccabæus." By HANDEL.
"THE COMING OF SPRING" (Frühlings Aukunft). Unison Song. By ROBERT SCHUMANN. From Kinderlieder. Op. 79.
SPECIMEN TESTS FOR PUPIL TEACHERS AND SCHOOLS.
EXERCISES ON THE SHARP 4TH AND THE FLAT 7TH.

Also, EXTRA MUSIC SUPPLEMENT, CONTAINING "TO-DAY." Two-part Song. From "Every-day Songs for Boys and Girls." By E. J. TROUP. (No. 486, Novello's School Songs. Price 1d.)

The Music and Exercises can always be obtained separately. Price 1½d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

ORGANS for SALE or HIRE.—New Organs: 13 stops, 15 stops, 17 stops, 21 stops, and 30 stops. Second-hand Organs, nearly new: 15 stops, 17 stops, 20 stops, 22 stops. One-manual Organ for £20. Organs built to any specification, and constructed on the most improved principles, at low prices. A. Monk's Organ Works, 550A, Holloway Road, London.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

THE NEW ORGAN SEAT

(By Royal Letters Patent)

INVALUABLE TO ALL ORGAN PLAYERS.

THE MOST IMPORTANT INVENTION OF MODERN TIMES.

USED AND RECOMMENDED BY LEADING ORGANISTS.

(A Book of Testimonials will shortly be published.)

May be affixed to existing Seats without any alteration or expense.

PRICE 25s. EACH. CARRIAGE PAID.

TO BE OBTAINED, WHOLESALE AND RETAIL, FROM
THE ARCADE MUSIC COMPANY, READING;
OR, DIRECT FROM THE PATENTEE,
MR. JOSEPH MEES, STOURBRIDGE.

Second Edition.

NARCISSUS AND ECHO

CANTATA FOR CHORUS, SOLI, AND ORCHESTRA

Price 3s.; Choral Parts, 1s. each. Also,

"GOD IS OUR REFUGE" (Ps. 46)

For Chorus, Soli, and Orchestra. Price 1s.

COMPOSED BY

EDWIN C. SUCH,

Mus. Bac., Cantab.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

WANTED, March 25, ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER, Holy Trinity Church, Swansea. Full services. Recitals. Salary, £60. Apply, enclosing testimonials, to Vicar.

ASSISTANT-ORGANIST, Presbyterian Church, Richmond, Surrey.—WANTED, STUDENT, who will give Services in return for experience and expenses. Full musical service. Apply, by letter (enclosing testimonials), to R. P. Hart, 7, Ulva Road, Putney, S.W.

ORGANIST and CHOIR-TRAINER. £200.—A Professional Gentleman is anxious to make an EXCHANGE for similar post in a warmer climate. Stipend, £60. Good teaching connection, &c. Fine church; 3-manual organ. Address, Mus. Prof., Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

ORGANIST (R.C.), present appointment many years, would CHANGE to another where the organ is a good one. R. V., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER, of considerable experience (M.A., Mus. Bac., F.R.C.O.), is open for RE-ENGAGEMENT. Midlands or South preferred. Excellent testimonials. Address, Magister, Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners St., W.

ORGANIST requires ENGAGEMENT in Protestant Church. Small salary. Address, A. Crawley, 11, Oakhurst Grove, East Dulwich, S.E.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER, F.R.C.O., seeks RE-ENGAGEMENT. Present post two and a half years. Accustomed to Recitals; excellent testimonials. Apply, C. W., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER, of great experience, desires another APPOINTMENT as above. Will be at liberty after Easter. Good Choir-trainer and Recitalist. F.R.C.O., 36, Pyrland Road, Canonbury, N.

ASSISTANT-ORGANIST, experienced in full Choral Services, will give his SERVICES at good Church. W. district preferred. W. R., 59, Pembridge Road, W.

ASSISTANT-ORGANIST (30) wants ENGAGEMENT. Bass Voice. H. S., R.A.M., Tenterden Street, W.

ASSISTANT-ORGANIST.—A Member of I.S.M. and Oxonian (ten years' experience as O. and C.) would accept APPOINTMENT as above; also to assist with pupils (org., piano, violin, &c.). Non-resident. Coaching for Mus. Bac. might be accepted as part payment. Address, Oxonian, Fant School of Music, Maidstone.

A GENTLEMAN of good musical ability, having had considerable first-class experience, is anxious to join another in Business. Could introduce small capital and would be willing to take complete control. Particulars to No. 412, Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

GOOD TUNER WANTED. Must be able to Repair, and good knowledge of Harmoniums and Organs. Apply, Amfield's Music Warehouse, Dolgelley, North Wales.

WANTED, PIANO TUNER. State age, references, and salary, to Waddington Bros., 9, Woodhouse Lane, Leeds.

WANTED, TUNER, who can also act as Salesman in spare time. Pianos, sheet music, and small goods. Seaside town. Apply, stating terms, Sparks and Son, Littlehampton.

TUNER and REGULATOR WANTED, for permanent Situation, by old-established firm. Must be thoroughly efficient. State age, capabilities, references, and enclose photo, to Provinces, Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

WANTED, for India, a good, steady, all-round workman as PIANOFORTE TUNER, REGULATOR, and REPAIRER. Age not under 24. Good climate. Hills in summer. Address, B., care of J. W. Vickers, 5, Nicholas Lane, E.C.

WANTED, for the Country, an experienced PIANOFORTE TUNER. Must also thoroughly understand American Organs and Harmoniums. T. A., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

WANTED, First-class TUNER of PIANOFORTES and AMERICAN ORGANS. Must be thoroughly competent and reliable. Highest references. Apply, with photo, stating salary required and experience, J. Herbert Marshall, Leicester.

TUNER, steady and reliable, seeks ENGAGEMENT. Good character. Knowledge of American Organs, ordinary Repairs, &c. Tuner, P.E., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

AN experienced TUNER and REPAIRER seeks ENGAGEMENT. Thorough knowledge of Harmoniums and American Organs. Highest references. Apply, 202, Lewisham Rd., S.E.

TUNER or MANAGER.—Young Man desires BERTH as Out-door TUNER or MANAGER of small Music Business. Good testimonial from former employer as Tuner and Manager. Successful Salesman. Abstainer. Apply to Tuner, 1, Beaudesert, Leighton Buzzard.

TUNER-SALESMAN (First-Class).—Gentleman requires APPOINTMENT in first-class House; used to high-class work. Highest references. F. B., Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

PIANOFORTE TUNER desires ENGAGEMENT in or near London, as OUT-DOOR TUNER. British Pianoforte Co., Crown Place, Kentish Town.

WANTED, APPRENTICE to the MUSIC TRADE. Good opportunity for capable youth. One just leaving school preferred. Board in. Phillips and Co., 13, Clapham Common, S.W.

ASSISTANT WANTED. Young Man for Counter, with knowledge of Tuning and Repairs preferred. State salary required, references, and enclose photo, U'Glow, Music Stores, Falmouth.

MANAGER for a PIANO BUSINESS WANTED. One who can tune. Must be a successful Salesman. Salary and commission. Manchester district. Apply, R. N., Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

MUSICSELLERS WANTED, everywhere, to take SOLE LOCAL AGENCY for our Publications. HARMONIC PUBLISHING COMPANY, Wandsworth, London.

A YOUNG GENTLEMAN (21) desires SITUATION in a Music Warehouse. Can play piano and organ well. Good Salesman. Excellent references. M. S. S., Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

FOR DISPOSAL.—Good TUNING CONNECTION, with small MUSIC BUSINESS, in provincial town, populous centre. Very little competition. In same hands 17 years; exceptional reasons for disposal. Small stock, low price. Address, Equity, Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

PIANO BUSINESS for SALE, a few miles out of Manchester, doing a nice three years' trade, and capable of extension. Amount required to take over as going concern, about £2,000. Apply, R. H., Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

ORGAN PRACTICE. Three manuals and pedals. One shilling per hour. The South London Organ Studio, 343, Coldharbour Lane, close to Brixton Station.

ORGAN PRACTICE (City), 1s. per hour. Three manuals, C.O. pedals. Willis (from Minories), 2, Church Row, Aldgate, E.C.

A TWO-MANUAL PIPE ORGAN, with Pedals, recently built for a gentleman's private room, is now FOR SALE. Would suit Chapel, Mission Room, or any place of worship. Apply, by appointment, Organ Factory, 7, Jeffrey's Place, Camden Town, N.W.

FOR SALE.—TWO-MANUAL ORGAN, with Pedals. Now in use at New Road Congregational Church, Bury. For particulars, apply, G. Webb, West Bank, Bury.

SECOND-HAND ORGANS for SALE.

1. A fine Two-manual Organ by ROBSON. 26 stops, full compass, handsome case. Now standing in our factory. Price £200.
2. The Lewis Organ, now standing in the Congregational Chapel at Crosby. Two manuals and pedals, 14 stops, full compass. Spotted metal, as good as new. Built in 1891. Price £300. Apply to Mr. E. L. Roberts, 15, Alexandra Road, Crosby, Liverpool, or to the undersigned.

Also three or four smaller Organs, one and two-manual. Apply to Norman and Beard, 24, Queen Victoria Street, London, E.C.

ON SALE, the TWO-MANUAL ORGAN now in St. Mary's, Bangor, to make room for large three-manual Organ. Great Organ, 7 stops; Swell Organ, 5 stops. Pedal Organ, Bourdon, three couplers, three composition pedals. Price where it stands, £125. Apply, Junior Vicar, Bangor.

CC ORGAN for SALE. Three manuals, 31 stops, 3 reeds. Price very low. Apply, Dowling Bros., Musical Depôt, 152, Fortess Road, N.W.

ORGANS (CHURCH). Fine toned, modern, 2 manuals, pedal, 15 stops. £95. Another, 6 stops, 2 manuals. £40. Eustace Ingram, 361, Liverpool Road, London, N.

ORGANS (New and Second-hand) for SALE, from £20, with pedals. Instruments for Church, Chapel, and College, built on the most modern principles, at Bedwell and Sons', Cambridge Organ Works, Cambridge.

ORGAN, in Country Church, for immediate SALE. Several new and second-hand Organs, with 3-2 manuals. W. E. Richardson, Central Organ Works, Hulme, Manchester.

9 GUINEAS.—AMERICAN ORGAN (list price, 20 guineas), 11 stops, including two knee-stops and the beautiful solo stops, voix celeste and vox humana; two octave couplers, handsome high case; in use about four months; ten years' warranty; easy terms arranged. Packing and carriage free. Approval. Full price paid will be allowed within three years if exchanged for a higher-class instrument. D'Almaine and Co. (established 113 years), 91, Finsbury Pavement, E.C. Open till 7. Saturdays, 3.

Digitized by Google

FOR SALE, a BARGAIN.—A Fine-toned CHURCH ORGAN, with 827 pipes, in oak case. Excellent condition.

SPECIFICATION.

Great Organ.—Open diapason, 8 ft.; stop diapason treble, 8 ft.; do., do., bass, 8 ft.; flute, 4 ft.; principal, 4 ft.; twelfth, 2⅔ ft.; fifteenth, 2 ft.; sesquialtra, various; clarinet, 8 ft.

Small Organ.—Bourdon, 16 ft.; open diapason, 8 ft.; Lieblich treble, 8 ft.; do., bass, 8 ft.; gemshorn, 4 ft.; piccolo, 2 ft.; vox humana, 8 ft.; oboe, 8 ft.; tremblant.

Pedal Organ.—Open diapason, 16 ft.; 2½ octaves radiating pedals; couplers: swell to great, swell to pedals, great to pedals, 2 composition pedals to great organ.

Messrs. MILSOM AND SON, of 15, Milsom Street, Bath, have instructions from the Trustees of the Masonic Hall, Bath, to sell the above organ for the sum of £70.

ON SALE.—TWO-MANUAL ORGAN (BEVINGTON). Now in St. John's Church, Monkstown, Dublin. To make room for large three-manual organ now building. Great organ, 7 stops; swell organ, 8 stops. Pedal open diapason. Price, where it stands, £100. Apply, Peter Conacher and Co., Huddersfield.

14 GUINEAS.—PIANO, solid iron frame upright grand (list price 23 guineas); full compass, trichord, celeste action, &c.; in handsomely carved walnut wood case, four feet in height; in use only six months; sent on approval, carriage free, to any part of the United Kingdom; ten years' warranty; easy terms arranged; full price paid will be allowed if exchanged for a higher class instrument within three years. D'Almaine and Co. (established 113 years), 91, Finsbury Pavement, City. Open till 7. Saturdays, 3.

BECHSTEIN PIANO; upright. Slightly used. Great bargain. 11, Parkhurst Road, Holloway.

ORGAN PEDALS to PIANOS.—New method of Attachment by TUBULAR PNEUMATIC. This action surpasses all mechanical actions for prompt and Organ-like Touch. It is less expensive, easy to attach, and does not injure the most delicate Pianoforte. Prospectus, with full description and price lists, on application to Norman Bros. and Beard, Organ Works, Norwich.

HIGHEST AWARDS WHEREVER EXHIBITED.

MERIT MEDALS { REAL IMPROVEMENTS. COMPACTNESS.

N.B.—No award ever obtained by any Attachment (London or elsewhere) when in competition with

AINSWORTH'S

Organ—Pedal—Combination

FOR PIANOS.

ORIGINAL PATENTEES AND OLDEST MANUFACTURERS.

AINSWORTH'S O.P.C. is not an attachment, but is an elegant and very compact Metallic-Coupler, altogether superior to attachments, and requiring less than half their space. Pedals are removable at pleasure, and the O.P.C. suits all Pianos.

THE

SUPERIORITY & PERFECTION

OF THE

O.P.C.

is the outcome of nearly twenty years' study and experiment.

AINSWORTH (himself an Organist of over twenty years) would be pleased for you to have his List, wherein are described his inventions, which were successful in obtaining H.M.R.L. Patent thrice for real improvements, and which also are recommended by the entire musical profession, and are an unparalleled success. Enquiries respectfully solicited.

Trade and Professional terms, with List, sent free on enquiry. Foreign enquiries will ensure attention by covering postage.

AINSWORTH'S CRESDIMO ORGAN WORKS,

BRINSCALL, CHORLEY (ENGLAND).

NICHOLSON AND CO.,

ORGAN BUILDERS,

PALACE YARD, WORCESTER.

(ESTABLISHED 1841.)

Specifications and Estimates sent free.

THE OLD FIRM.

P. CONACHER & CO.,

Organ Builders,

SPRINGWOOD WORKS,

HUDDERSFIELD.

TWO GOLD MEDALS.

BY ROYAL APPOINTMENT.

NORMAN & BEARD,

ORGAN BUILDERS,

NORWICH AND LONDON

(ESTABLISHED 1870),

Have recently restored the following Organs:—

BOMBAY CATHEDRAL;

ST. PAUL'S, PADDINGTON;

THE TEMPLE CHURCH, LONDON;

ALL SAINTS', MARGARET STREET, LONDON.

N.B.—Estimates for New Organs or Reconstructions free.

TESTIMONIAL FROM DR. PEACE, OF LIVERPOOL:—

"January 24, 1897.

"I have much pleasure in expressing my high opinion of the Organ you have erected in Trinity Presbyterian Church, Birkenhead. As regards its general quality of tone, the instrument possesses those characteristics which are always associated with high-class workmanship, whilst the mechanical part of it is everything that the most exacting could wish.

"So far as my experience with your work goes, I think it is decidedly one of the best instruments you have built, and I think the congregation has every reason to be congratulated on the possession of a really excellent specimen of genuine artistic Organ-building.

"Yours very truly,

"A. L. PEACE."

ADDRESS:

NORMAN & BEARD,

24, QUEEN VICTORIA STREET, LONDON, E.C.

Telephone 416, Bank.

"TOWER" ORGAN WORKS.—Specifications. Rebuilding, Repairs, Voicing and Tuning by experienced Artists. Pipes and Fittings. Second-hand Organs and Materials. T. R. Willis (from Minories), 2, Church Row, Aldgate, London, E.C.

T. R. WILLIS (from Minories, est. 1827), Maker and Importer of Brass and Wood Instruments, Harmonium Reeds, Strings, Wire, Violins, Concertinas, &c. 2, Church Row, Aldgate, E.C.

PAUL WERNER

(COURT PIANOFORTE MAKER),

DRESDEN.

These high-class UPRIGHT and GRAND PIANOFORTES are unrivalled for excellence of tone, touch, finish, and design.

Price List free on application. Liberal discount for cash.

Sole Agents:

BREITKOPF AND HÄRTEL,

Music Publishers, 54, Great Marlborough Street, London, W.

Auction Rooms specially for the Sale of Musical Property.

MESSRS. PUTTICK and SIMPSON, Auctioneers, 7, Leicester Square, London, W.C., hold SPECIAL SALES of MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS on or about the 20th of every month. Sales of Musical Libraries, Music Plates, and Copyrights, Trade Stocks, Manufacturers' Plant, &c., are held as occasion may require. Valuations for Probate or Legacy Duty, or for Public or Private Sale. Terms on application.

Digitized by Google

CASSOCKS, BLACK and COLOURED, tailor-made Surplices, Stoles, Altar Linen, Bags. Priest's wife has large stock ready. Cassocks and Surplices cut and placed for making. Apply, letter only, Surplice, 6, Southampton Street, Strand, W.C.

FOR SALE, a Set of "THE MUSICAL TIMES" from 1844 to 1895, in 35 volumes, bound in cloth (not uniform). Vol. 13 is missing and the letterpress in Vols. 1 and 2 is incomplete. For further particulars, apply to Mr. J. Alsop, 17, Devon Square, Newton Abbot.

COMPOSERS and PUBLISHERS of MUSIC set to original texts by Greek and Roman Poets (e.g., Æschylus, Sophocles, Euripides, Horace, Ovid, &c.) are respectfully requested to communicate with K. F. Koehler, Bookseller, 21, Täubchenweg, Leipzig, under the cipher C.P., No. 839.

COMPLETE AND REVISED EDITION.

THE

BRISTOL TUNE BOOK

CONTAINING

905 TUNES AND CHANTS.

A COMPANION TO ALL HYMN BOOKS.

Although nearly every denomination has its own Tune Book, the wealth of special tunes and metres contained in the Bristol Tune Book renders it indispensable to every well-equipped Choir.

		s.	d.
No. 17.	Limp Cloth	5	0
,, 18.	Cloth Boards, red edges	6	0
,, 19.	Small Edition	3	6
,, 20.	Tonic Sol-fa	3	6

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Bristol: W. CROFTON HEMMONS, Stephen Street.

And all Booksellers and Musicsellers.

Just Published.

THE CHILDREN'S SUPPLEMENT

BEING A COLLECTION OF

HYMNS FOR CHILDREN'S SERVICES

WITH MUSIC

EDITED BY

THE REV. EDWARD HANDLEY, M.A.,

Magdalen Coll., Oxford.

New Tunes have been specially written for this book by Sir JOHN STAINER, Dr. CHARLES W PEARCE, Dr CHARLES VINCENT, Dr. STEGGALL, Mr. MYLES BIRKET FOSTER, Dr. J. VARLEY ROBERTS, and many other eminent Musicians.

Price Three Shillings and Sixpence.

Words only, cloth, Threepence; paper covers, Twopence.

Ditto, bound together (with Words of Hymns, A. & M.), cloth, 7d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Price 3s. 6d., cloth, red edges.

THE TUNE BOOK, with the additional Tunes as used at ST. ALBAN'S, HOLBORN, containing nearly 270 Tunes, for Long, Common, Short, and Peculiar Metres; together with several Gregorian Hymns and Antiphons; the Eight Gregorian Tones; the Music of the Reproaches; the Seven Last Words; and Litany Tunes, &c. London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Third Thousand.

TE DEUM LAUDAMUS in G. By ALFRED J. DYE. Price 4d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Fourth Thousand.

BENEDICITE, OMNIA OPERA. Set to Music by W. H. HOLLOWAY. Price 2d.

"A varied and pleasing setting."—Manchester Courier.

ALSO,

HE IS RISEN. Anthem for Easter. Duet and Chorus. Price 3d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

CHURCH MUSIC

BY

EDWARD BUNNETT, MUS.D., CANTAB.

SERVICES.

Two Settings of the Venite (in Chant Form). No. 1 (in G), No. 2 (in A)	2d.
Te Deum in E	3d.
Benedictus and Jubilate in E	3d.
Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E	3d.
Cantate and Deus in E	3d.
Communion Service	9d.
Preces and Responses	4d.
Tonic Sol-fa.
Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in F	1½d.
,, ,, ,, A	1½d.
,, ,, ,, E	1½d.

ANTHEMS.

If we believe. Easter Anthem	4d.
Ditto Tonic Sol-fa	1½d.
The Lord is my Shepherd	3d.
I was glad	3d.
Ditto. Tonic Sol-fa	2d.

FOUR PASTORAL PART-SONGS.

1. O'er silv'ry waters. Four voices	3d.
2. Day is dawning. Four voices	3d.
3. Sing on, sweet bird. Four voices	3d.
4. Lo! Autumn leaves	3d.

ORGAN.

Twelve Short Easy Pieces net	2s. 0d.
Three Short Andantes ,,	2s. 0d.
Largo in E flat ,,	1s. 0d.
Minuetto ,,	1s. 6d.
Ave Maria ,,	1s. 6d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

COMPOSITIONS

BY

T. MEE PATTISON.

CANTATAS.	Staff. s. d.	Sol-fa. s. d.
The Ancient Mariner	2 6	0 6
Do. do. (Choruses only)	1 0
The Lay of the Last Minstrel	2 6
Do. do. (Choruses only)	1 0
May Day	1 0	0 6
The Miracles of Christ (Sacred)	1 0	0 6
ANTHEMS, &c.
All Thy works praise Thee (Harvest)	0 3	0 1
Thou visitest the earth (Harvest)	0 2
I know that my Redeemer liveth (Easter)	0 3
There were shepherds (Christmas)	0 2
Thirteen Offertory Sentences	0 4
Six Kyries	0 2
Te Deum laudamus (in F)	0 3

ORIGINAL ORGAN COMPOSITIONS.

Fifteen Introductory and Concluding Voluntaries	3s. 6d.
Five Concluding Voluntaries	1s. 6d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

BY LORAINE HOLLOWAY, F.R.C.O.

TE DEUM LAUDAMUS in F. Chant Form. Third Thousand. Price 2d.

TE DEUM LAUDAMUS in C. Suitable for Festivals. Price 3d.

MAGNIFICAT and NUNC DIMITTIS in C. Second Edition. Price 3d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

FOR LENT.

BENEDICITE, OMNIA OPERA

IN F

By J. PERCY BAKER, MUS.B., A.R.A.M.

Price Fourpence.

Easy as a chant. Melodious to listen to. Interesting for both choir and organist.

A Specimen Copy free, on application to the COMPOSER, Willersley House, Old Charlton.

Fourth Thousand.

MAGNIFICAT and NUNC DIMITTIS in E flat. By WILLIAM S. VINNING, Mus. Bac., Cantab. Price 3d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

GILL'S EASY VOLUNTARIES.—"Messiah," "Judas," "Elijah," "St. Paul," "Creation." 1s. each book.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

NEW EASTER MUSIC, &c.,
By CALEB SIMPER.

*THANKS BE TO GOD. New .. .. 4d.
New and attractive. Splendid Solos for Soprano (or Tenor) and Bass, with effective Choruses.
*NEW EASY COMMUNION SERVICE in D .. .. .. 4d.
Complete, with Benedictus and Agnus Dei.
NEW BENEDICITE (No. 5) .. .. 2d.
A Congregational setting. Very melodious.
NEW STORY OF THE CROSS (No. 3) .. .. 1d.
A charming arrangement, well harmonised.
*IF YE THEN BE RISEN. 5th 1,000 .. .. 4d.
Also the following universal favourites:—
*O LET YOUR SONGS BE OF HIM. 9th 1,000 .. .. 3d.
*AND BEHOLD I AM ALIVE. 10th 1,000 .. .. 4d.
*TO HIM BE GLORY. 8th 1,000 .. .. 3d.
*KING OF KINGS. New and very popular Easter Anthem .. .. 4d.
Twenty-fifth Thousand. Now ready.
*CHRIST OUR PASSOVER. New Easter Anthem. 10th 1,000 .. 4d.
*I AM HE THAT LIVETH. 17th 1,000 .. .. 4d.
Sung at several Choral Festivals.
HE IS RISEN (87th ed.). O SING TO THE LORD (7th 1,000) each 3d.
WHY SEEK YE (25th ed.). IF WE BELIEVE (16th 1,000) .. each 3d.
AND BEHOLD THERE WAS A GREAT EARTHQUAKE. 15th 1,000 .. 3d.
THE LORD IS MY STRENGTH. 13th 1,000 .. .. 3d.
HALLELUJAH! NOW IS CHRIST RISEN. 17th 1,000 .. .. .. 3d.
An easy arrangement of a portion of Handel's "Hallelujah" Chorus.
*THIS IS THE LORD'S DOING. 5th 1,000 .. .. 3d.
*AWAKE, THOU THAT SLEEPEST. 17th 1,000 .. .. 3d.
CHRIST IS RISEN. 14th edition .. .. 4d.
EASY HOLY COMMUNION SERVICE in E flat. 16th 1,000 .. .. 4d.
*EASY HOLY COMMUNION SERVICE in G. 5th 1,000 .. .. .. 4d.
HOLY COMMUNION SERVICE in F. 12th edition .. .. .. 6d.
POPULAR FESTAL CHANT TE DEUM in A flat. 8th 1,000 .. 2d.
TE DEUM in G. 17th edition. 4d. TE DEUM in F. 35th edition 3d.
CELEBRATED MAGNIFICAT AND NUNC DIMITTIS in F. 79th edit. 4d.
Sung at Fifteen Choral Festivals.
FAVOURITE MAGNIFICAT AND NUNC DIM. in E flat. 29th edition 4d.
Sung at Three Choral Festivals.
MAGNIFICAT AND NUNC DIMITTIS in G. 13th edition .. .. 4d.
NEW FESTAL MAGNIFICAT AND NUNC DIM. in B flat. 3rd 1,000 4d.
*NEW MAGNIFICAT AND NUNC DIMITTIS in D. 14th edition .. 4d.
Partly in unison. Already a great favourite.
POPULAR BENEDICITES in A, B flat, F, and E flat .. .. each 2d.
TE DEUM in E flat. Easy Service. 8th edition .. .. .. 3d.
*MAGNIFICAT AND NUNC DIMITTIS (No. 6). 7th edition .. .. 4d.
*ANNIVERSARY SELECTIONS (Nos. 2 and 4) .. .. .. each 2d.
Those marked (*) are also published in Tonic Sol-fa.

NEW SACRED CANTATA.
THE ROLLING SEASONS
By CALEB SIMPER.
Price 1s. 6d. net; Sol-fa, 1s. net.
Orchestral parts are published.
The work occupies about thirty-five minutes in performance.
From the Alderney Gazette: "We strongly advise all organists and choirmasters to get it, for a more tuneful, melodious, and effective composition we have seldom heard. The whole of the Cantata was a treat to hear."
From the Belfast News Letter: "An attractive and splendid little work; abounds in exquisite passages—exceedingly bright and tuneful. The Symphony is a most charming number, the brass, the reeds, and strings in turn contributing to make quite a pretty tone-picture. The work was followed with great interest by the large audience, which frequently testified its approval with enthusiastic applause."
WEEKES & Co., 14, Hanover Street, Regent Street, London, W.
Chicago, U.S.A.: CLAYTON F. SUMMY Co., 220, Wabash Avenue.

Very effective, and not difficult.
EDWYN A. CLARE'S
NEW AND ATTRACTIVE
EASTER ANTHEMS.
CHRIST SHALL GIVE THEE LIGHT
8th 1,000. Price 3d. Very pleasing, easy, and melodious.
THANKS BE TO GOD
7th 1,000. Price 4d.
Contains melodious and expressive Solos for Bass and Soprano (or Tenor), with two animated, imitative, and telling Choruses. Also,
HE IS RISEN (13th 1,000). WHY SEEK YE (10th 1,000) .. each 3d.
HALLELUJAH! NOW IS CHRIST RISEN. 8th 1,000 .. .. .. 3d.
NOW IS CHRIST RISEN. 8th 1,000 .. .. 3d.
THE LORD REIGNETH. 5th 1,000 (Tonic Sol-fa, 2d.) .. .. 3d.
PRAISE THE LORD, O JERUSALEM. 17th 1,000 .. .. .. 3d.
A popular and easy Anthem, suitable for any season.
MAGNIFICAT AND NUNC DIMITTIS in D. 9th 1,000 .. .. 4d.
Sung at a Choir Festival at Petersham, New South Wales.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

WINCHESTER'S CHURCH MUSIC.
FOR LENT.

	s.	d.
THE STORY OF THE CROSS (Words only, 1s. per 100) ..	0	1½
THE STORY OF THE CROSS, Another Setting with five Metrical Litany Tunes	0	2
THE CROSS. Special Hymn for Lent (Words only, 1s. per 100)	0	2
BENEDICITE. Three Settings .. .. each	0	2
THE LITANY	0	2
SIX KYRIES, 2d.; Four others in D	0	1½
BENEDICTUS, 2d. (another, 1½d.); CANTATE DOMINO..	0	2
GREGORIANS: Venite, 1d.; Te Deum, 1½d.; Benedictus, 1½d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 2d.; Deus Misereatur ..	0	1
VERSICLES, PRECES AND RESPONSES (minor key) ..	0	1
FERIAL RESPONSES	0	1½
ANTHEM—"Blessed is He that cometh" (Palm Sunday) ..	0	1½

FOR EASTER.

ANTHEM—"Hallelujah! Christ is risen"	0	3
ANTHEM—"I will give thanks"	0	4
ANTHEM—"The Lord is my Shepherd"	0	3
TE DEUM. Service in F	0	3
JUBILATE	0	1½
BENEDICTUS	0	2
COMMUNION SERVICE in F	0	4
AGNUS DEI, 1½d.; BENEDICTUS QUI VENIT	0	1½
TEN OFFERTORY SENTENCES. For S A T B.	0	3
MAGNIFICAT AND NUNC DIMITTIS in F	0	3
MAGNIFICAT AND NUNC DIMITTIS in G	0	3
GRAND FESTIVAL MARCH for ORGAN	1	6
TEN ORIGINAL COMPOSITIONS for ORGAN	4	0

BOUND VOLUMES OF
WINCHESTER'S CHURCH MUSIC SERIES.
Nos. 1 to 50, bound in cloth, gilt, 4s.
London: HART and Co. 22, Paternoster Row, E.C.

FOR THE LENTEN SEASON AND GOOD FRIDAY.
THIRD EDITION.
SONG OF THE PASSION
(According to St. John)
A SACRED CANTATA
For Solo, Recitative (Male Voices), and Chorus, with Hymns introduced, to be sung by the Congregation.
THE WORDS SPECIALLY WRITTEN BY MILDRED GAUNTLETT
MUSIC BY
WILLIAM S. VINNING,
Mus.B., Cantab.
PRICE ONE SHILLING AND SIXPENCE.
Hymns with Music to be had separately, price Twopence.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.
"This composition is the work of a competent musician. We do not see how it could be better done."—Church Times.
"The work is well laid out, and no doubt will be extensively used during the coming season."—Musical News.
"The choruses are vividly dramatic, and their variety of construction form striking features of the Cantata."—Bath Journal.
"A most interesting and dramatic work."—Newcastle Daily Journal.
"The choral writing shows the practical hand of the musician, and altogether the work is well written."—Birmingham Daily Post.

THE FOLLOWING LIST CONTAINS SOME OF THE CHURCHES WHERE THIS CANTATA HAS BEEN RENDERED:—
London:—St. Peter's, Bayswater; All Saints', Norfolk Square; St. Matthew's, Denmark Hill; St. Paul's, Chiswick; Church of the Good Shepherd, Marylebone; St. Peter's, Brockley; St. George's, Bloomsbury; St. John's, Brockley; St. Matthias, Stoke Newington; St. Matthew's, Ealing. The Cathedral, Newcastle; St. Ann's, Newcastle. St. Mary's, Bathwick; in Bristol; Holy Trinity, Brighton; Holy Trinity Church, Formby; Christ Church, Epsom; Parish Church, Runcorn; Holy Trinity, Twickenham; St. Alban's, Teddington; Holy Trinity, Leghill; St. Giles, South Mimms; All Saints', Southampton.

Digitized by Google

Just Published.

A NEW

CANTATA

FOR LENT

ENTITLED

PENITENCE
PARDON AND PEACE

BY

J. H. MAUNDER.

For two Solo Voices, Soprano (or Tenor) and Baritone, and Chorus.

Words selected from Holy Scripture by
The REV. W. J. BETTISON, M.A., Vicar of Leytonstone.
The Hymns and Tunes for the Congregation, viz.:—
"I heard the Voice of Jesus say,"
"Lord, in this Thy mercy's day," and
"How bright these glorious spirits shine,"
from "Hymns Ancient and Modern," by permission of the proprietors.

The Cantata occupies 35 minutes in performance, and may be sung in its entirety at the end of a service; or, if used as a separate Service, the three parts may be separated if preferred by suitable Collects, Lessons, or Addresses. Each part is also available for separate use as an Anthem.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.
Tonic Sol-fa, One Shilling. Words only, Two Shillings per hundred.

Musical News, January 15, 1898, says: "The music is throughout appropriate, devotional, and effective, and appears to us by far the best from Mr. Maunder's pen that we have hitherto seen. The choruses are not difficult for an ordinarily well-trained choir to sing, while the solos for baritone and soprano, if making more demands on the executants, are both melodious and expressive of the text. . . . We have no hesitation in cordially recommending choirmasters to add Mr. Maunder's cantata to the répertoire of their choirs."

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

. Specimen Copy for six stamps to any Clergyman, Organist, or Choirmaster on application to the COMPOSER, San Remo, Bromley, Kent.

SUITABLE FOR ANY FESTIVAL.

ANTHEM

AWAKE, PUT ON THY STRENGTH

5th Thousand. Price 4d. Tonic Sol-fa, 2d.

BY

F. R. GREENISH, Mus. Doc., Oxon.

Immensely popular. Free from difficulty, but full of variety and extremely melodious throughout. Sung at Haverfordwest Choral Festival (500 voices); Wellingborough (750 voices); Longwood Church Festival, with orchestra; Centenary Hall, Sydney, with orchestra; and elsewhere.

Interesting to the singers; impressive and effective to the listeners. Very highly spoken of by the musical press.

Specimen copy sent free, and loan of band parts if required, on application to Dr. F. R. GREENISH, Haverfordwest.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

NEW WORK on the AMERICAN ORGAN

A DESCRIPTION OF THE MECHANISM, STOPS, CONSTRUCTION, &c., WITH DRAWINGS OF THE VARIOUS PARTS, AND CONTAINING DIRECTIONS FOR THE MOST EFFECTIVE COMBINATIONS OF THE STOPS, ALSO FOR TUNING AND REGULATING AMERICAN ORGANS

By J. C. SPANSWICK.

"The book is fully illustrated, deals with every part, and is indispensable."—Commonwealth.

"Mr. Spanswick's thorough up-to-date little work tells you everything."—Clock Tower.

London: METZLER and Co., 42, Great Marlborough Street, W.
1897.
Price Two Shillings net.

Now ready. F'cap. 8vo, cloth, 2s. 6d., Post-free.

THE RIGHTLY-PRODUCED VOICE. By E. DAVIDSON PALMER, Mus. Bac., Oxon. Voices with and without registers.—Falsetto; its true nature and how it may be transformed.—Account of the Author's own voice and vocal experience.—The speaking voice of manhood.—Teachings of Physiology.—The proper treatment of women's and boys' voices.—The old Italian method, and the training of Tenors. May be obtained from the AUTHOR, 2, Highwood Road, Upper Holloway, N.; or, from JOSEPH WILLIAMS, 32, Great Portland Street, W.

POPULAR FESTIVAL ANTHEMS

BY

E. A. SYDENHAM.

THE LORD IS MY LIGHT ..	(Tonic Sol-fa, 1½d.) ..	..	3d.
GREAT IS THE LORD ..	(Ditto, 1½d.) ..	..	3d.
O GIVE THANKS	(Ditto, 1½d.) ..	..	3d.
SING UNTO THE LORD ..	(Ditto, 1½d.) ..	..	3d.

The above Anthems are especially suitable for Church Festivals.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

TWELVE SHORT AND EASY FULL ANTHEMS. For Parish Choirs. The Music composed by FREDERICK ILIFFE, Mus. Doc., Oxon. Each Anthem singly, as under:—

No. 1.	Lord, I call upon Thee; haste Thee unto me	..	2d.
*No. 2.	I look for the Lord; my soul doth wait for Him	..	3d.
†No. 3.	Worship and praise the Lord, for He is good	..	3d.
†No. 4.	O worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness	..	3d.
*†No. 5.	Thou that sitteth between the Cherubims ..	..	3d.
*†No. 6.	I will magnify Thee, O God, my King.. ..	..	4d.
No. 7.	My song shall be of mercy	..	2d.
†No. 8.	The Lord is King	..	3d.
No. 9.	Fret not thyself	..	3d.
†No. 10.	Awake up my glory..	..	3d.
†No. 11.	Blow up the trumpet	..	3d.
†No. 12.	Behold now, praise the Lord	..	4d.

Those Nos. marked * consist of two movements; each of these movements may be used separately as a Short Anthem. Those marked † may appropriately be used on Festivals.

"These little Anthems are decidedly superior to many of their class. In attempting to write down to the ability of an average parochial choir, many composers seem to think that to be easy it is also necessary to be common-place. Into this error Mr. Iliffe has not fallen. His melodies are pleasing, and his harmonies good. He seems to have a partiality for beginning with the Dominant rather than with the Tonic chord, as we find this peculiarity in three out of the six Anthems before us; the effect, however, is by no means unpleasant. The Anthems show real musical feeling, and can be recommended for general use, especially as they are quite within the reach of any choir making the least pretensions to musical efficiency."—Musical Times.

"In these unpretentious works Mr. Iliffe has succeeded in producing something far beyond the region of common-place, and we can most heartily commend them to those choirs for whom they are professedly written. . . . The very neat workings of the subject . . . a pedal passage here and there, suggest—as is elsewhere visible through the entire set—that Mr Iliffe is capable of writing more elaborate and weightier works than these."—Manchester City News.

"These little Anthems are simple and beautiful."—Athenæum.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

WORKS BY

GEO. J. TREDAWAY

(Organist to His Grace the Duke of Newcastle).

1. A VADE MECUM FOR CHURCH CHOIRS. Comprising every Office in the Book of Common Prayer set to the Ancient Plain-song, according to authentic Use. 90 pp. Price 1s.
2. MERBECKE'S HOLY COMMUNION OFFICE (reprinted from above). 12 pp. Price 3d.
3. The same, with Ambrosian "Te Deum" in Plain-song notation. 12 pp. Price 3d.

London: "ORGANIST AND CHOIRMASTER" Office, 9, Berners St., W.

PRACTICAL HINTS

ON THE

TRAINING OF CHOIRBOYS

(New and Enlarged Edition of, 1897)

By G. EDWARD STUBBS, M.A.,

Organist and Choirmaster of St. Agnes' Chapel, Trinity Parish, New York.

Manual for the use of Clergymen, Choirmasters, School Teachers, and others interested in the culture of Boys' Voices.

Price Three Shillings and Sixpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

WORKS by F. DAVENPORT, Professor of Harmony and Composition at the Royal Academy of Music. Published under the authority of the Committee of the R.A.M.

ELEMENTS OF MUSIC. Crown 8vo, 1s.

"In the space of some fifty pages, the reader will find all that is necessary to be known about the pitch of notes, intervals and scales, rests, time and abbreviations, and will, we doubt not, also find how much there is of which he was ignorant concerning these subjects, although he had already flattered himself that he had mastered their elements a long time ago."—Saturday Review.

ELEMENTS OF HARMONY & COUNTERPOINT.

Crown 8vo, 2s. 6d.

This Work is intended to meet a growing demand for a more concise and simpler exposition of the Day theory. It includes as much of the science of Counterpoint as is necessary for students who enter for the Royal Academy, Local, and other similar examinations.

London: LONGMANS, GREEN and Co.

Digitized by Google

MUSIC FOR LENT.

ANTHEMS.

*All ye who weep	Ch. Gounod	3d.
Art thou weary	C. H. Lloyd	6d.
*As pants the hart	Spohr	1½d.
Be merciful unto me	H. Purcell	6d.
Be merciful unto me	E. A. Sydenham	3d.
Be not Thou far from me, O God	F. W. Hird	1½d.
Blessed are they that mourn	A. W. Batson	3d.
Blessed Jesu, Fount of Mercy	Anton Dvorák	6d.
Bow down Thine ear, O Lord	W. Beale	1½d.
Bow Thine ear, O Lord	W. Byrd	3d.
*By Babylon's wave	Ch. Gounod	6d.
By the waters of Babylon	W. Boyce	4d.
By the waters of Babylon	H. Clarke	4d.
Call to remembrance	J. Battishill	6d.
Call to remembrance	R. Farrant	1½d.
*Cast thy burden upon the Lord	Mendelssohn	1½d.
*Come, and let us return	J. Goss	3d.
*Come, and let us return	W. Jackson	3d.
Come, let us worship	Palestrina	1½d.
*Come now, and let us reason together	R. Briant	1½d.
Come now, and let us reason together	H. W. Wareing	4d.
*Come unto Him	Ch. Gounod	2d.
Come unto Me	J. S. Bach	3d.
Come unto Me	H. R Couldrey	3d.
Come unto Me	M. Kingston	1½d.
Come unto Me	J. S. Smith	1½d.
*Comfort, O Lord	W. Crotch	1½d.
Daughters of Jerusalem	G. J. Elvey	1½d.
Daughters of Jerusalem	H. J. King	3d.
Distracted with care	J. Haydn	4d.
*Enter not into judgment	T. Attwood	1½d.
Flee from evil	W. J. Clarke	3d.
For our offences	Mendelssohn	1½d.
From the deep	Spohr	6d.
Give ear, O Lord	C. Oberthür	1½d.
*Give ear, O Lord	T. M. Pattison	2d.
Give ear, O Shepherd of Israel	A. Whiting	3d.
Give ear unto my prayer	J. Arcadelt	1½d.
*God so loved the world	J. Goss	1½d.
*God so loved the world	M. Kingston	1½d.
*God so loved the world	J. V Roberts	3d.
*God so loved the world	J. Stainer	1½d.
Grant, we beseech Thee	J. Booth	1½d.
Grant, we beseech Thee	M. Elvey	2d.
Grant, we beseech Thee	J. V. Roberts	3d.
Have mercy upon me, O God	J. Goss	4d
Have mercy upon me	J. Barnby	3d.
Have mercy upon me	K. J Pye	3d.
Have mercy upon me	J. Shaw	3d.
Have mercy upon me	J. White	1½d.
*Hear me when I call	King Hall	1½d.
*Hear my prayer	J Kent	3d.
*Hear my prayer	Mendelssohn	4d.
Hear my prayer	C. Stroud	4d.
Hear my prayer	Winter	1½d.
Hear, O Lord	J. Goss	2½.
Hear, O Thou Shepherd	J. Clarke-Whitfeld	4d.
Hear, O Thou Shepherd	T. A. Walmisley	4d.
*Hear the voice and prayer	J. L. Hopkins	1½d.
Hear us, O Saviour	M. Hauptmann	1½d.
He in tears that soweth	F. Hiller	1½d.
Hide not Thy Face	K. J. Pye	2d.
How long wilt Thou	O. King	2d.
*Hymn of Peace	W. H. Callcott	1½d.
*I came not to call	C. Vincent	3d.
*Incline Thine ear	Himmel	1½d.
In Thee, O Lord	S. Coleridge-Taylor	3d.
*In Thee, O Lord	B Tours	3d.
In Thee, O Lord	J. Weldon	3d.
Is it nothing to you? (Two-part, S.A.)	M. B. Foster	3d.
Is it nothing to you? (S.A.T.B.)	M. B Foster	3d
I will arise	C. Wood	1½d.
I will cry unto God	C. Steggall	3d.
*I wrestle and pray	J. C. Bach	4d.
*Jesu, Blessed Word of God	Ch. Gounod	1½d.
Jesu, Lord of life and glory	G. A. Naumann	1½d.
Jesu, Saviour, I am Thine	B. Steane	1½d.
*Jesu, Word of God Incarnate	Ch Gounod	1½d.
*Jesu, Word of God Incarnate	W. S Hoyte	1½d.
*Jesu, Word of God Incarnate	Mozart	1½d.
Jesu, Word of God Incarnate	J. White	1½d.
Judge me, O God	F. A. G. Ouseley	1½d.
Lead, kindly Light	R. Dunstan	3d.
Lead, kindly Light	C. L. Naylor	4d.
*Lead, kindly Light	J. Stainer	4d.
Lead me, Lord	S. S. Wesley	1½d.
Let my complaint	E. H. Thorne	3d.
Let the words of my mouth	J. Barnby	1½d.
Let the words of my mouth	H. Blair	1½d.
Let the words of my mouth	A. D. Culley	3d.
Let us come boldly	C. H. Lloyd	1½d.
Like as the hart	T. Adams	3d.
*Like as the hart	V. Novello	1½d.
*Lord, for Thy tender mercies' sake	R. Farrant	1½d.
Lord, for Thy tender mercies' sake	G. R. Vicars	1½d.
Lord, I call upon Thee	A. D. Culley	1½d.
Lord, I call upon Thee	F. A. G. Ouseley	1½d.
Lord, I call upon Thee	J. E. West	1½d.
Lord, on our offences	Mend-lssohn	1½d.
Lord, Thou hast searched	A. Whiting	3d.
Make me a clean heart	J. Barnby	3d.
Make me a clean heart	A. W. Batson	3d.
My God, I love Thee	G. J. Bennett	3d.
My God look upon me	J. L. Hopkins	3d.
*My God, look upon me	J. Keynolds	1½d.
O come near to the Cross	Ch. Gounod	8d.
O day of penitence	Ch. Gounod	6d.
O God, Thou hast cast us out	H. Purcell	4d.
O have mercy	H. Leslie	1½d.
O Jesu! Victim blest	J. B Powell	3d.
*O Lamb of God	J. Barnby	3d.
O Lamb of God	G. E. Lake	1½d.
O Lord, correct me	J. Coward	1½d.
O Lord, give ear	W. H. Cummings	2d.
O Lord God of my salvation (Male voices)	E. Ford	4d.
O Lord God, Thou strength	J. Goss	1½d.
O Lord, look down	J. Battishill	3d.
*O Lord, my God	C. Malan	1½d.
*O Lord, my God	S. S. Wesley	1½d.
O Lord, rebuke me not	H. Lahee	1½d.
O most merciful	J. W. Elliott	1½d.
O saving Victim	W. A. C. Cruickshank	3d.
O saving Victim	Ch. Gounod	4d.
*O saving Victim	F. Kœnig	1½d.
O saving Victim	Rossini	3d.
O saving Victim	B. Tours	1½d.
*O Saviour of the world	J. Goss	1½d.
O Saviour of the world (A.T.T.B.)	J. V. Roberts	2d.
Out of the deep	F. E. Gladstone	3d.
Out of the deep	Mozart	1½d.
Out of the deep	J. Naylor	4d.
O ye that love	S. Coleridge-Taylor	1½d.
O ye that love	J W. Elliott	1½d.
Ponder my words, O Lord	A. D Culley	1½d.
*Remember not, Lord	H. Purcell	1½d.
*Remember now thy Creator	C. Steggall	4d.
Remember, O Lord	T. A. Walmisley	4d.
*Rend your heart	J. B. Calvin	1½d.
Rend your heart	J. Clippingdale	3d.
Save me, O God	C. S. Jekyll	1½d.
*Seek ye the Lord	C. Bradley	1½d.
*Seek ye the Lord	J. V. Roberts	3d.
Show me Thy ways	J. V. Roberts	3d.
Spare us, Lord most holy	E. A. Sydenham	1½d.
*Teach me, O Lord	T. Attwood	1½d.
*Teach me, O Lord	B Rogers	1½d.
Teach me Thy way	W. H Gladstone	1½d.
*The path of the just	J. V. Roberts	1½d.
The sacrifices of God	H. Blair	1½d.
*There is a green hill	Gounod	4d.
*There is a green hill	Lord H. Somerset	1½d.
*The Story of the Cross	M B Foster	3d.
*The Story of the Cross	A. Somervell	3d.
*The Story of the Cross	J. Stainer	3d.
The Story of the Cross	J. V. Roberts	3d.
Think good Jesu	Mozart	6d.
*Through peace to light	J. H. Roberts	3d.
Thus saith the Lord	G M. Garrett	6d.
Try me, O God (A.T.T.B.)	A. D. Culley	2d.
Try me, O God	C Wood	1½d.
Turn Thee again, O Lord	T. Attwood	1½d.
*Turn Thy face from my sins	T. Attwood	1½d.
Turn Thy face from my sins	C. Steggall	4d.
*Turn Thy face from my sins	A. Sullivan	1½d.
Unto Thee have I cried	G. J. Elvey	3d.
Wash me throughly	S. S Wesley	3d.
Watch ye and pray	G. R. Vicars	2d.
Word of God Incarnate	Ch. Gounod	3d.
Ye who from His ways have turned	Mendelssohn	3d.

*Anthems marked thus * to be had in Tonic Sol-fa, 1d., 1½d., and 2d. each.*

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Digitized by Google

THE PASSION OF OUR LORD. (According to St. Matthew.) J. S. BACH. Octavo, paper cover, 2s. 6d.

THE PASSION OF OUR LORD. J. S. BACH. Abridged, as used at St. Paul's Cathedral. Octavo, 1s. 6d. Book of Words, with Music to the Chorales, 6d.

THE PASSION OF OUR LORD. (According to St. John.) J. S. BACH. Octavo, paper cover, 2s.; paper boards, 2s. 6d.; cloth, gilt, 4s.

THE PASSION OF CHRIST. G. F. HANDEL. Octavo, 3s.; paper boards, 3s. 6d.; cloth, gilt, 5s.

THE PASSION OF OUR LORD. (The Seven Words of Our Saviour on the Cross.) J. HAYDN. Octavo, 2s.; paper boards, 2s. 6d.; cloth, gilt, 4s.

THE PASSION OF OUR LORD. (The Seven Words of Our Saviour on the Cross.) CH. GOUNOD. Octavo, 1s.

THE PASSION OF OUR LORD. ("Der Tod Jesu.") C. H. GRAUN. Octavo, 2s.; paper boards, 2s. 6d.; cloth, gilt, 4s.

THE PASSION OF OUR LORD. HEINRICH SCHÜTZ. Octavo, 1s.

OUT OF DARKNESS. (Psalm cxxx.) For Soli, Chorus, and Orchestra. GEORG HENSCHEL (Op. 30). 2s. 6d.

OUT OF DARKNESS (De Profundis) (Psalm cxxx.) For Soli, Chorus, and Orchestra. Composed by CH. GOUNOD. English or Latin words. Octavo, 1s.; paper boards, 1s. 6d.; Full Score, 15s.; String Parts, 4s. 6d.; Wind Parts, 7s.; Vocal Parts, 3s.

ZION'S WAYS DO LANGUISH. Soprano Solo and Chorus, from "Gallia" (Motet). CH. GOUNOD. Octavo, 1s.

THE MISERERE, &c., as used in St. Paul's Cathedral Lenten Services. Arranged by J. STAINER. Octavo, 3d.

MISERERE MEI, DEUS. The Music composed by J. BARNBY. Octavo, 3d.

MISERERE MEI, DEUS. Set to the well-known Ancient Chant, as arranged and harmonised by VINCENT NOVELLO; from the Appendix to the Accompanying Harmonies to the Brief Directory of Plain-song, by the Rev. THOMAS HELMORE, M.A. Price 2d.

MISERERE MEI, DEUS. The Music composed by EDGAR PETTMAN. Price 1½d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co

Just Published.

THOU WILT REMEMBER US

SACRED SONG

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

THE REV. H. BONAR

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

WILLEM COENEN.

In D flat and E flat. Price Two Shillings each.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

IS IT NOTHING TO YOU

AN EASY CANTATA

For use during the Season of Lent, and on Good Friday, specially adapted for Country Choirs

BY THE

REV. E. V. HALL, M.A.

Late Precentor of Worcester Cathedral.

Price Eightpence. Tonic Sol-fa, Threepence.
Words, with Music to the Hymns, price Twopence.

This is an attempt to provide music for Lent and for Good Friday of the simplest kind, for use in country churches. The music is interspersed with well-known hymns, in which the congregation may be invited to join. The Cantata may be used at a special service on Good Friday afternoon or evening, or on any day in Lent, and requires only a solo voice and a small choir.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

THE LAST NIGHT AT BETHANY

A SHORT CHURCH CANTATA

THE WORDS WRITTEN AND COMPILED BY

JOSEPH BENNETT

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

C. LEE WILLIAMS.

Price 2s.; paper boards, 2s. 6d.
Tonic Sol-fa, One Shilling.
String Parts, 8s. 6d.; Wind Parts, 15s. 6d.; Full Score, MS.
Words only, 7s. 6d. per 100.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

GETHSEMANE

A CHURCH CANTATA

THE WORDS WRITTEN AND COMPILED BY

JOSEPH BENNETT

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

C. LEE WILLIAMS.

Price Two Shillings.
Paper boards, Two Shillings and Sixpence.
Words only, 7s. 6d. per 100.
String Parts, 10s. 6d. Wind Parts and Full Score, MS.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

VEXILLA REGIS

(THE ROYAL BANNERS FORWARD GO)

The Latin Words from "The Seven Great Hymns."
Translated by the Rev. J. M. NEALE, D.D.

SET TO MUSIC BY

H. R. SHELLEY.

Vocal Score, paper cover, Two Shillings and Sixpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

THE REQUIEM

FROM

"MORS ET VITA"

BY

CH. GOUNOD.

8VO, PAPER COVER	2s. 6d.
PAPER BOARDS	3s. 0d.
FULL SCORE	£2 2s. 0d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

In the Press.

FOR GOOD FRIDAY.

PARAPHRASE

OF THE

ANIMA CHRISTI

"SOUL OF JESU, MAKE ME HOLY"
(Prayer of St. Ignatius)

SET TO MUSIC BY

W. H. STOCKS.

Price Three Halfpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

THE STORY OF THE CROSS, for Voices and Organ, with Short Interludes, giving opportunity for Meditation. By J. STAINER. Price 3d.; Tonic Sol-fa, 1½d.

THE STORY OF THE CROSS, for Voices and Organ, with Short Interludes. By MYLES B. FOSTER. Price 3d.; Tonic Sol-fa, 1½d.

THE STORY OF THE CROSS, for Voices and Organ, with Short Interludes. By ARTHUR SOMERVELL. Price 3d.; Tonic Sol-fa, 1½d.

THE STORY OF THE CROSS, for Voices and Organ, with Short Interludes. By J. VARLEY ROBERTS. Price 3d.; Tonic Sol-fa, 1½d.

THE STORY OF THE CROSS. By the Rev. E. MONRO. Words only. Price 1s. 6d. per 100. Large Type Edition, 2s. 6d. per 100.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

THE CRUCIFIXION

A MEDITATION

ON THE

Sacred Passion of the Holy Redeemer

THE WORDS SELECTED AND WRITTEN BY THE

REV. W. J. SPARROW-SIMPSON, M.A.

SET TO MUSIC BY

J. STAINER.

VOCAL SCORE, PAPER COVER, ONE SHILLING AND SIXPENCE.
PAPER BOARDS, TWO SHILLINGS. TONIC SOL-FA, NINEPENCE.
WORDS ONLY, WITH HYMN TUNES, TWOPENCE.
WORDS, COMPLETE, TEN SHILLINGS PER HUNDRED.
WORDS OF HYMNS, FIVE SHILLINGS PER HUNDRED.

Also, separately from the above:

GOD SO LOVED THE WORLD

ANTHEM FOR FOUR VOICES

(UNACCOMPANIED)

PRICE THREE-HALFPENCE; TONIC SOL-FA, ONE PENNY.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

PASSION MUSIC

FROM THE ORATORIO "ST. PETER"

BY

SIR JULIUS BENEDICT.

Vocal Score, One Shilling and Sixpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

LEAD, KINDLY LIGHT

HYMN

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

JOHN HENRY NEWMAN

THE TUNE COMPOSED BY

C. H. PURDAY.

Price One Penny.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

THE

CROSS OF CHRIST

CANTATA FOR LENT AND PASSION-TIDE

THE WORDS SELECTED FROM THE HOLY SCRIPTURES, INTERSPERSED WITH APPROPRIATE HYMNS BY

W. MAURICE ADAMS

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

THOMAS ADAMS.

Price One Shilling.
Tonic Sol-fa Edition, price Sixpence.
Words only, 7s. 6d. per 100.

Also, separately from the above,

NEARER, MY GOD, TO THEE

Anthem for Soprano Solo and Chorus, price Threepence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

SAVIOUR OF THE WORLD

(SALVATOR MUNDI)

A SACRED CANTATA

THE WORDS WRITTEN AND ARRANGED FROM HOLY SCRIPTURE BY

FREDERIC E. WEATHERLY, M.A.

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

ARTHUR E. DYER,

Mus. Doc., Oxon.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

THE BENEDICITE

SET TO MUSIC BY THE FOLLOWING

MODERN COMPOSERS.

GEORGE J. BENNETT (in E flat)	1½d.
GEORGE J. BENNETT (in G)	1½d.
GEORGE J. BENNETT (in D)	3d.
W. T. BEST	3d.
HUGH BLAIR	1½d.
J. F. BRIDGE, JAMES TURLE, and Dr. HAYES	1½d.
H. B. C.	1½d.
J. W. ELLIOTT	2d.
M. B. ELLIOTT (in G)	1½d.
ALFRED J. EYRE (with a Quadruple Chant for the Te Deum)	2d.
ALFRED J. EYRE (No. 2, in F)	1½d.
MYLES B. FOSTER (in F, Chant Form)	4d.
PERCY H. FROST	2d.
HENRY GADSBY (in G, Chant Form)	1½d.
F. E. GLADSTONE (Chant Form)	3d.
F. E. GLADSTONE (Unison)	1½d.
F. A. J. HERVEY (in A flat). From the Canticles (second set)	2d.
W. HUGHES	1½d.
FREDERICK ILIFFE (No. 1)	1½d.
C. HARFORD LLOYD	2d.
GEORGE C. MARTIN (No. 1, in F; No. 2, in E flat; No. 3, in G) each	4d.
T. R. MATTHEWS	1½d.
C. E. MILLER (second setting)	2d.
EDGAR PETTMAN (No. 1, in C; No. 2, set to Double Chants). Cathedral Psalter pointing	2d.
EDGAR PETTMAN (in E flat)	1½d.
J. VARLEY ROBERTS (in B flat)	4d.
BOYTON SMITH (in A flat)	1½d.
CHAS. W. SMITH (in C). For S.A.T.T.B., also simplified form for S.A.T.B.	6d.
J. STAINER and B. BLAXLAND	1½d.
J. STAINER, R. DE LACY, A. GIBBS, and F. CHAMPNEYS	1½d.
J. STAINER, W. WINN, and F. WALKER	1½d.
J. STAINER (in D). From the Canticles (second set)	2d.
J. BARNBY JOHN FOSTER MONTEM SMITH (two settings) J. TURLE (two settings) C. A. WICKES (two settings)	1½d
JOHN E. WEST (in C)	1½d.
W. G. WOOD (in D)	1½d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

THE

Communicant's Choral Card

CONSISTING OF

SURSUM CORDA, SANCTUS, GLORIA IN EXCELSIS, AND THREE-FOLD AMEN

ARRANGED BY

THE REV. W. H. BLISS, M.A., MUS. BAC.

Price One Penny; on Card, Three-Halfpence.

A SIMPLE CHORAL COMMUNION CARD

CONSISTING OF

KYRIE, BEFORE AND AFTER THE GOSPEL, SURSUM CORDA, SANCTUS, GLORIA IN EXCELSIS, AND THREE-FOLD AMEN.

ARRANGED AND COMPOSED BY

REV. F. R. BRYANS, B.A.

On Card, Threepence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

BENEDICITE IN G

BY

GEORGE J. BREWER.

Price Threepence.

MAGNIFICAT AND NUNC DIMITTIS IN E FLAT.

Price Fourpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

THE VERSICLES & RESPONSES

AS USED IN

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL

(FERIAL USE)

EDITED BY

J. STAINER, MUS. DOC.

AND

G. C. MARTIN, MUS. DOC.

Price Fourpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

NOVELLO'S COLLECTION

OF

RESPONSES TO THE COMMANDMENTS

EDITED BY GEORGE C. MARTIN,

Organist of St. Paul's Cathedral.

Bound in cloth, Five Shillings; or, 47 Numbers at Twopence each.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

THE PRECES and RESPONSES, with LITANY,

According to TALLIS.

Arranged for Four Voices, by JOSEPH BARNBY.

Price Fourpence. Tonic Sol-fa, Fourpence.

THE PRECES and RESPONSES, with LITANY,

According to TALLIS.

Arranged for Four Voices, by JOSEPH BARNBY.

Containing the Confession, harmonised (Ely use); also Organ Accompaniments to Lord's Prayer, Apostles' and Nicene Creeds, by Dr. J. F. BRIDGE.

Price Sixpence.

THE FERIAL RESPONSES, with LITANY.

Edited by JOSEPH BARNBY.

Price Fourpence. Tonic Sol-fa, Fourpence.

THE PRECES and RESPONSES, with LITANY,

Set in Monotone. The simplest Form of an Intoned Service.

By JOSEPH BARNBY.

Price Fourpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

THE LEGEND OF THE WOOD

A JUVENILE OPERETTA IN ONE ACT

FOR UNISON SINGING

VERSE BY

MAUD BALDWICK

COMPOSED BY

ALFRED R. GAUL.

Price One Shilling.

Tonic Sol-fa Edition, Price Sixpence. Words, 7s. 6d. per 100.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Ninth and Tenth Thousand.

ALFRED R. GAUL'S PASSION SERVICE

NEW SACRED WORK

FOR THE SEASON OF

LENT AND GOOD FRIDAY.

"Scholarly writing, combined with unmistakable talent, and eminently adapted to the purpose for which it was written and composed. The work will probably be largely used, and Mr. Gaul have to be congratulated upon another success."—Sheffield Independent.

"The course of sacred events connected with the Passion is laid out by the writer so as to form a series of six distinct 'scenes.' The subjects of these divisions, each occupied with a particular stage of the Mystery, are respectively—'The Traitor at the Table,' 'The Denial,' 'The Condemnation before Pilate,' 'The Mockery on Calvary,' 'The Shadow of Death,' and 'The Holy Sepulchre.' The style of the composition resembles generally that of Mr. Gaul's previous writings—the same effective, grateful part-writing, and the same expressive and melodious treatment of the solo voice. In those sections, notably that of the Unjust Condemnation, where the realistic element is predominant, the composer has manifested his ability to write with dramatic force and intensity as well as with lyric charm. In this respect the choral writing distinguished itself in comparison with that in the 'Holy City,' and other of the composer's works. Mr. Gaul has not written new hymn tunes for the author's lyrics; the tunes selected are from among those in ordinary congregational use. Altogether considered, Mr. Gaul's new work will, undoubtedly, greatly enhance his already high reputation in the line of sacred composition."—Musical Standard.

Price, paper cover, 2s. 6d.; paper boards, 3s.; scarlet cloth, 4s.

Words only, 7s. 6d. per 100.

The loan of Orchestral Parts on application to the COMPOSER.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

TOILERS OF THE DEEP

CANTATA

FOR FEMALE VOICES

VERSE BY JAMES STRANG

MUSIC BY

ALFRED R. GAUL.

CONTENTS.

INTRODUCTION AND CHORUS—"Toiling and toss'd on the restless sea."
CRADLE SONG—"Come, my baby, come away."
CHORUS—"Oh, ho! for the winds that blow."
BALLAD—"A mermaid dwelt in days of old."
TRIO—"The twilight grey is falling."
SONG—"O manly hearts that brave the sea."
CHORUS—"Dark and darker grows the night."
CHORUS—"A prayer for those at sea."
INTERMEZZO—"Break of day."
DUET—"Through golden mists of morn."
CRADLE SONG—No. 2.
CHORUS—"Now let songs of gladness rise."

"This charming work bears all the best marks of the composer's characteristically graceful style. The libretto is of a high order of merit, and worth the music, which from first to last is attractive and without a dull page."—Birmingham Daily Gazette.

"Mr. Gaul has written nothing finer, nor more melodious and captivating in this branch of composition. Taking the Cantata as a whole, it is a delightful work, replete with artistic workmanship."—Birmingham Daily Mail.

Price Two Shillings.

Words, Five Shillings per hundred.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

ANTHEMS FOR EASTER.

Above all praise and all majesty	Mendelssohn	1½d.
*All men, all things	Mendelssohn	4d.
As Christ was raised	G. A. Macfarren	2d.
*As it began to dawn	M. B. Foster	1½d.
As it began to dawn	C. Vincent	3d.
*As Moses lifted up the serpent	F. Gostelow	3d.
As we have borne	J. Barnby	1½d.
At the Lamb's high feast	E. V. Hall	3d.
At the Sepulchre	H. W. Wareing	4d.
*Awake, thou that sleepest	J. Stainer	6d.
*Awake up, my glory	J. Barnby	1½d.
Awake up, my glory	B. Haynes	1½d.
Awake up, my glory	M. Wise	3d.
Be glad, O ye righteous	H. Smart	4d.
*Behold, the Angel of the Lord	B. Tours	1½d.
*Behold the Lamb—All glory to the Lamb	Spohr	1½d.
*Blessed be the God and Father	S. S. Wesley	4d.
Blessed be Thou	Kent	4d.
Blessing and glory	Boyce	1½d.
*Blessing, glory	B. Tours	4d.
Break forth into joy	J. Barnby	1½d.
*Break forth into joy	S. Coleridge-Taylor	3d.
*Break forth into joy	T. R. Prentice	6d.
*Break forth into joy	B. Steane	3d.
*Christ being raised from the dead	G. J. Elvey	1½d.
Christ being raised from the dead	S. Webbe	1½d.
Christ both died and rose	E. W. Naylor	3d.
Christ is risen	G. B. J. Aitken	3d.
Christ is risen	J. M. Crament	3d.
Christ is risen	G. J. Elvey	1½d.
*Christ is risen	E. H. Thorne	1½d.
*Christ is risen	J. V. Roberts	3d.
*Christ our Passover	J. Goss	1½d.
Christ our Passover	E. V. Hall	3d.
Christ our Passover	G. A. Macfarren	2d.
*Christ our Passover	B. Tours	1½d.
*Christ the Lord is risen to day	E. V. Hall	3d.
Come, ye faithful	E. V. Hall	3d.
For it became Him	O. King	1½d.
For us the Christ	Ch. Gounod	3d.
*From Thy love as a Father	Ch. Gounod	1½d.
Give thanks unto God	Spohr	4d.
God hath appointed a day	B. Tours	1½d.
God, Who is rich in mercy	G. M. Garrett	1½d.
*Hallelujah!	Handel	2d.
Hallelujah! Christ is risen	B. Steane	3d.
*Hearken unto Me	M. B. Foster	1½d.
*He is risen	H. Gadsby	1½d.
*If we believe that Jesus died	J. Goss	1½d.
If we believe that Jesus died	G. A. Macfarren	2d.
If ye then be risen	J. Naylor	3d.
I declare to you the Gospel	W. A. C. Cruickshank	4d.
I will alway give thanks	J. B. Calkin	1½d.
*I will alway give thanks	J. Clarke-Whitfeld	3d.
I will greatly rejoice	W. A. C. Cruickshank	4d.
*I will magnify Thee	J. B. Calkin	4d.
I will magnify Thee	B. L. Selby	1½d.
*I will mention	A. Sullivan	6d.
I will sing of Thy power	M. Greene	4d.
*I will sing of Thy power	A. Sullivan	1½d.
Jesus Christ is risen to-day	O. King	4d.
Let God arise	M. Greene	6d.
Lord, before Thy footstool bending	Spohr	3d.
Lord Christ! when Thou hadst overcome	Haydn	1½d.
*Lord, Thy arm hath been uplifted	Spohr	2d.
*Lo, the winter is past	B. Farebrother	3d.
Lo, the winter is past	H. Gadsby	3d.
Magnify His Name	G. C. Martin	4d.
My beloved spake	H. Purcell	6d.
My heart was glad	A. Carnall	4d.
Not unto us, O Lord	H. Gadsby	6d.
*Not unto us, O Lord	T. A. Walmisley	1½d.
*Now is Christ risen	G. B. Allen	1½d.
*Now is Christ risen	J. E. West	1½d.
*Now on the first day of the week	H. Lahee	1½d.
O clap your hands	M. Greene	4d.
*O clap your hands	J. Stainer	6d.
O clap your hands	E. H. Thorne	6d.
O clap your hands	T. T. Trimnell	3d.
*O come, let us sing	M. B. Foster	3d.
*O give thanks	J. Goss	3d.
O give thanks	S. S. Wesley	4d.
*On the first day of the week	E. M. Lott	1½d.
Open to me the gates	F. Adlam	4d.
*Praise His awful Name	Spohr	2d.
Praise Jehovah	Mendelssohn	4d.
*Rejoice in the Lord	J. B. Calkin	3d.
*Rejoice in the Lord	G. J. Elvey	1½d.
Rejoice in the Lord	G. C. Martin	6d.
Rejoice, O ye people	Mendelssohn	1½d.
*Sing praises unto the Lord	W. A. C. Cruickshank	1½d.
*Sing praises unto the Lord	Ch. Gounod	6d.
Sing to the Lord	Mendelssohn	8d.
Thanks be to God	J. W. Gritton	3d.
The Day of Resurrection	E. V. Hall	3d.
*The end of the Sabbath	A. Carnall	1½d.
*The first day of the week	B. Steane	3d.
The Lord hath brought us	E. H. Thorne	3d.
*The Lord hath done great things	H. Smart	4d.
*The Lord is King	J. Pittman	1½d.
*The Lord is King	T. T. Trimnell	4d.
The Lord is my strength	S. Coleridge-Taylor	3d.
*The Lord is my strength	W. H. Monk	1½d.
*The Lord is my strength	V. Novello	1½d.
*The Lord is my strength	H. Smart	1½d.
*The Lord is risen	G. M. Garrett	4d.
*The strain upraise	A. Sullivan	1½d.
*The strife is o'er	B. Steane	1½d.
*They have taken away my Lord	J. Stainer	1½d.
This is the day	S. C. Cooke	3d.
This is the day	E. V. Hall	4d.
This is the day	G. A. Macfarren	2d.
This is the day	A. W. Marchant	3d.
*This is the day	J. Sewell	2d.
This is the day	J. Turle	3d.
When Christ, Who is our life, shall appear	J. V. Roberts	2d.
When my soul fainted within me	J. F. Bridge	1½d.
*Who is like unto Thee?	A. Sullivan	6d.
*Why rage fiercely the heathen?	Mendelssohn	6d.
Why seek ye the living?	A. Alexander	3d.
Why seek ye the living? (Two-part)	M. B. Foster	3d.
Why seek ye the living?	E. J. Hopkins	1½d.
Why seek ye the living?	F. Peel	4d.
Worthy the Lamb—Hallelujah!	Crotch	3d.
*Worthy is the Lamb	J. F. Barnett	1½d.
*Worthy is the Lamb	Handel	2d.

*Anthems marked thus * to be had in Tonic Sol-fa, 1d., 1½d., and 2d. each.*

HYMNS FOR EASTER.

J. BARNBY. CHRIST THE LORD IS RISEN TO-DAY .. .. 1½d.

W. T. BEST. JESUS CHRIST IS RISEN .. .. 3d.

DR. IONS. JESUS CHRIST IS RISEN TO-DAY .. .. .. 1½d.

J. B. CALKIN. LIGHT'S GLITT'RING MORN BEDECKS .. .. 1½d.

V. NOVELLO. JESUS CHRIST IS RISEN TO-DAY .. .. .. 1½d.

NINE HYMNS WITH TUNES FROM "THE HYMNARY" .. 1d.

Christ the Lord is risen to-day .. .. .. G. J. Elvey.
Far be sorrow, tears, and sighing .. .. C. Steggall.
Welcome, happy morning! age to age shall say A. Sullivan.
Come, ye faithful, raise the strain .. .. A. Sullivan.
At the Lamb's high feast we sing .. .. German.
The day of Resurrection .. .. H. Smart.
Jesus Christ is risen to-day .. .. Ch. Gounod.
O Blessed Trinity .. .. Old Melody.
Soon the fiery sun ascending .. .. .. German.

EASTER HYMN

(MANE PRIMA SABBATI)

SET TO MUSIC FOR

SOPRANO AND TENOR SOLI, CHORUS, AND ORCHESTRA (OR ORGAN)

BY

GEORGE J. BENNETT.

Composed for the Festival of the Sons of the Clergy, St. Paul's Cathedral, 1895.

Price One Shilling.

CAROLS FOR EASTER.

REV. T. HELMORE. CAROLS FOR EASTER-TIDE. Words, 1½d.; Melody, 6d. .. .. Vocal score 1s.

J. T. FIELD. FOUR EASTER CAROLS .. .. 2d.
The Crown is on the Victor's brow.
Christ is risen!
Welcome, happy morning.
Easter flowers are blooming bright.

E. G. MONK. SING THE BATTLE SHARP AND GLORIOUS. Carol 1½d

LONDON AND NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Digitized by Google

NEW ANTHEMS
FOR EASTER.

Just Published.

WHEN THE SABBATH WAS PAST
COMPOSED BY
MYLES B. FOSTER.

Price Three-Halfpence; Tonic Sol-fa, Three-Halfpence.

ALLELUIA! NOW IS CHRIST RISEN
COMPOSED BY
THOMAS ADAMS.

Price Threepence; Tonic Sol-fa, Three-Halfpence.

Will be Published immediately.

I HEARD A GREAT VOICE
COMPOSED BY
GERARD F. COBB.

Price Threepence; Tonic Sol-fa, Three-Halfpence.

I WILL GO UNTO THE ALTAR OF GOD
COMPOSED BY
CUTHBERT HARRIS.

Price Threepence; Tonic Sol-fa, Three-Halfpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

NEW EASTER ANTHEM
BY
F. R. GREENISH,
MUS. DOC., OXON.

HE SHALL SWALLOW UP DEATH IN VICTORY.

Price Threepence.

Tenor Recitative; expressive and effective Treble Solo; Quartet or Semi-Chorus; and Full Chorus.
Free from any kind of difficulties, but full of variety, and written in the Composer's usual melodious, devotional, and musicianly style. Very suitable to any average Parish Choir, and certain to be a useful addition to Dr. Greenish's popular Church Music. Specimen copy sent free, on application to Dr. F. R. GREENISH, Haverfordwest.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

TE DEUM LAUDAMUS
AND BENEDICTUS
(CHANT FORM)
Set to Music in the Key of A flat
FOR MEN'S VOICES
BY
GEORGE C. MARTIN.

Price Sixpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

RIDE ON! RIDE ON IN MAJESTY
HYMN FOR PASSION SUNDAY
Words by the Very Rev. DEAN MILMAN
SET TO MUSIC BY ARTHUR HENRY BROWN.

Price Three-Halfpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

WREATHS FOR OUR GRAVES
CHORAL SONG
THE WORDS WRITTEN BY
L. F. MASSEY
THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY
ARTHUR SULLIVAN.

Price Sixpence; Tonic Sol-fa, Threepence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Ready immediately.

THE CATHEDRAL
Prayer Book and Psalter
(WITH WELSH WORDS).

No. 5. THE PSALTER, WITH CANTICLES AND PROPER PSALMS, set to appropriate Chants, with Morning and Evening Prayer, &c.

DEMY 8vo, CLOTH, 2s. 6d.

TONIC SOL-FA EDITION, in the Press.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Now Ready.

THE
WESTMINSTER ABBEY HYMN-BOOK
COMPILED UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE DEAN OF WESTMINSTER,
BY THE
REV. JOHN TROUTBECK, D.D.,
Priest in Ordinary to the Queen, and Precentor of Westminster.
WITH TUNES
COMPILED AND ARRANGED UNDER THE MUSICAL EDITORSHIP OF FREDERICK BRIDGE,
MUS. DOC.,
Organist and Master of the Choristers of Westminster Abbey,
Gresham Professor of Music.

Containing all the best known and most popular tunes, in addition to upwards of
ONE HUNDRED NEW TUNES
now published for the first time, many having been written expressly for the work by BARNBY, BRIDGE, COWEN, MYLES B. FOSTER, GARRETT, GOUNOD, MACKENZIE, MARTIN, MAUNDER, W. H. MONK, PARRY, STAINER, TOURS, WEST, and others.

Demy 8vo, cloth. Price Four Shillings.
Hymns only, price One Shilling.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

THE VILLAGE ORGANIST

A Series of Pieces for Church and General Use

EDITED BY

J. STAINER AND F. CUNNINGHAM WOODS.

PRICE ONE SHILLING EACH BOOK.

Books 1 to 6, elegantly bound in one Vol., cloth, 6s.; Books 7 to 12, elegantly bound in one Vol., cloth, 6s.

PREFACE.

THIS Collection has been specially compiled with a view to supplying a want felt by the many organists who have only a small instrument at their disposal in country churches, and who often have some difficulty in finding short and easy Voluntaries suitable for their own use and the instruction of their pupils.

BOOK 1.

1. The Good Shepherd .. Myles B. Foster
2. Andante .. W. Warder Harvey
3. Andante con moto .. A. R. Gaul
4. Christmas Bells .. G. J. Elvey
5. Minuet .. Philip Hayes
6. Judex, from "Mors et Vita" .. Gounod
7. Soft Voluntary .. H. A. Harding
8. Slow March .. F. Cunningham Woods
9. A Song of Praise .. J. Stainer
10. Andante in G minor .. E. H. Fellowes

BOOK 2.

1. Allegretto .. F. Cunningham Woods
2. Larghetto .. J. Barnby
3. Adagio .. W. Warder Harvey
4. Concluding Voluntary .. A. R. Gaul
5. Introductory Voluntary .. E. F. Rimbault
6. Tempo di Minuetto .. Myles B. Foster
7. Andante con moto, from Quartet in D minor .. Schubert
8. Adagio .. William Sterndale Bennett
9. Introductory Voluntary .. Daniel McIntyre

BOOK 3.

1. Andante Tranquillo .. C. H. Lloyd
2. The Village March .. Ferris Tozer
3. Romance, from Serenade for Strings .. Mozart
4. Gavotte, from "Semele" .. Handel
5. An Evening Prayer .. Alfred W. Tomlyn
6. Heaven and the earth display ("Athalie") .. Mendelssohn

BOOK 4.

1. Meditation .. Battison Haynes
2. Allegro moderato .. W. John Reynolds
3. Funeral March, from Pianoforte Quintet (Op. 44) .. Schumann
4. Concluding Voluntary .. Cuthbert Harris
5. Introductory Voluntary .. E. H. Turpin
6. Solemn March .. C. H. Lloyd

BOOK 5.

1. Agnus Dei .. F. Cunningham Woods
2. Minuet, from 9th Pianoforte Sonata .. Mozart
3. Jerusalem Cœlestis ("Mors et Vita") .. Gounod
4. Andante Grazioso .. Kate Boundy
5. Allegro con brio .. Frederick A. Keene
6. Communion .. W. Wolstenholme
7. Allegro, from Finale to 9th Pianoforte Trio .. Haydn
8. Concluding Voluntary .. Cuthbert Harris

BOOK 6.

1. O Salutaris Hostia .. Myles B. Foster
2. Slow March, from the 4th Sonata .. Boyce
3. O great is the depth, from "St. Paul" .. Mendelssohn
4. Processional March .. J. Warriner
5. Largo, from "Xerxes" .. Handel
6. Forsake me not, Duet from "The Last Judgment" .. Spohr
7. Allegro moderato .. W. Warder Harvey
8. Minuet .. Samuel Ould

BOOK 7.

1. Impromptu .. John E. West
2. Minuet, from Pianoforte Sonata (Op. 10, No. 3) .. Beethoven
3. Introductory Voluntary .. S. J. Rowton
4. March .. Oliver O. Brooksbank
5. Sunday Song .. Max Oesten
6. Minuet and Trio, from Quartet (Op. 9, No. 1) .. Haydn
7. Pastorale .. Alfred W. Tomlyn
8. Religioso .. T. L. Southgate

BOOK 8.

1. Elegy .. C. H. Lloyd
2. Rondo, from No. 6 (Pièces de Clavecin) .. Couperin
3. Andante Grazioso .. Frederick A. Keene
4. Soft Voluntary .. Ferris Tozer
5. Allegretto Pastorale .. W. John Reynolds
6. Andante in F, from String Quartet in D minor .. Mozart
7. Meditation .. W. Wolstenholme
8. Finale, from Pianoforte Trio (Op. 88) .. Schumann
9. Canon .. Battison Haynes

BOOK 9.

1. Larghetto .. F. Cunningham Woods
2. Recessional March .. E. H. Fellowes
3. All men, all things ("Lobgesang") .. Mendelssohn
4. Allegro poco maestoso .. W. G. Cusins
5. Communion .. Alfred R. Gaul
6. Andante con moto .. John Francis Barnett
7. Andante Religioso .. Alfred W. Tomlyn
8. Evensong .. Cuthbert Harris
9. Minuet, from Quartet in G minor .. Schubert
10. Melody in A .. W. H. Callcott

BOOK 10.

1. Allegro moderato .. E. Bunnett
2. Opening Voluntary .. Ferris Tozer
3. While my watch I am keeping, Choral from "The Redemption" .. Gounod
4. Meditation .. E. D'Evry
5. Slow Air, from Suite de Pièces .. Lully
6. Allegretto Pastorale .. H. A. J. Campbell
7. Allegretto Grazioso, from the last Movement of 4th Pianoforte Sonata .. Mozart
8. Hallelujah Chorus, from "The Messiah" .. Handel

BOOK 11.

1. Pastorale .. Battison Haynes
2. Gavotte, from the 12th Sonata for 2 Violins and Cello .. Boyce
3. Evensong .. Kate Boundy
4. Minuet, from the Organ Concerto in B flat (No. 2, 2nd Set) .. Handel
5. Allegretto .. Oliver Brooksbank
6. Marche Funèbre (Op. 72, No. 2) .. Chopin
7. Communion .. W. Wolstenholme
8. Prelude in E minor and Chorale .. J. S. Bach
9. Andante con moto .. G. A. Macfarren

BOOK 12.

1. Berceuse (Op. 77, No. 3) .. Alexandre Guilmant
2. Introductory Voluntary .. Hamilton Clarke
3. Prayer .. Bruce Steane
4. Melody .. S. Coleridge-Taylor
5. Eventide .. Clowes Bayley
6. Postlude .. Josiah Booth
7. Jubilant March .. W. John Reynolds

To be continued.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Digitized by Google

JUST PUBLISHED.

ORIGINAL HYMN TUNES

BY

JOSEPH BARNBY.

246 Tunes, complete, in one Vol., 188 pp., Demy 8vo, Cloth.

Price Three Shillings and Sixpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

SIX PIECES

FOR

THE ORGAN

COMPOSED BY

J. STAINER.

CONTENTS.

I. Andante.
II. Prelude. Fughetta.
III. Adagio.
IV. On a Bass.
V. Impromptu.
VI. Rêverie.

PRICE FOUR SHILLINGS.

DAILY TELEGRAPH.

"Six Pieces for the Organ" are from the experienced and scholarly pen of Sir John Stainer. The book opens with a meditative Andante of great beauty—a movement of which one does not readily tire. In succession we have a capital Prelude and Fughetta, an Adagio of varied character and effect; a very interesting and ingenious movement "On a Bass," an Impromptu, and a Rêverie, which brings the set to a worthy end. No organist should be without these excellent pieces, which are likely to become popular.

DAILY CHRONICLE.

In Sir John Stainer's "Six Pieces for the Organ" are exhibited taste, vigour, and the perfect knowledge of the resources of the instrument that only practical experience can bring. The Fughetta following the Prelude is a particularly pleasing example of this able musician's ripened manner.

MORNING ADVERTISER.

In organ music Messrs. Novello are always rich in quantity and quality, and among the pieces before us which may be specially recommended for the student and the Church are six by Sir John Stainer.

CHURCH TIMES.

"Six Pieces for the Organ" by John Stainer, are all alike admirable, and will charm every true musician. The first, third, fifth, and sixth are sweetly smooth and tuneful. A sprightly Fughetta of excellent subject forms No. 3. "On a Bass," No. 4, is remarkably varied, and constitutes a fine and telling piece.

BRISTOL TIMES AND MIRROR.

Sir John Stainer has written for the organ six charming pieces—an Andante, a Prelude and Fughetta, an Adagio, a piece founded on a Bass theme, an Impromptu, and a Rêverie, which are brought together in one volume.

THE SCOTSMAN.

Sir John Stainer is the writer of "Six Pieces for the Organ," which for scholarly writing and agreeable manner may be warmly commended.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

WILLIAM J. YOUNG'S

POPULAR PART-SONGS FOR S.A.T.B.

Gaily thro' the greenwood	56th thousand		2d.
Ditto, Duet for Sopranos	2nd	,,	2d.
A Happy New Year	5th	,,	3d.
Songs of praise the angels sang	8th	,,	3d.
Fairy Revels, 13th thousand; England's Glory	8th	,,	each 3d.
Anglia! land of the brave	2nd	,,	3d.
Blow, ye balmy breezes, blow	10th	,,	3d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.
COMPOSER, 51, Barton Arcade, Manchester.

Just Published.

DON JUAN'S SERENADE

SONG FOR A BARITONE OR BASS VOICE

With Accompaniment for the Pianoforte

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

A. TOLSTOI

(English Translation by LADY MACFARREN)

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

P. I. TSCHAÏKOWSKY.

Price Two Shillings.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

THREE PIECES

FOR THE

PIANOFORTE

1. PRELUDE IN F MINOR.
2. ROMANCE IN A FLAT.
3. ÉTUDE IN F.

COMPOSED BY

A. ARENSKY.

(Op. 42.)

Price Two Shillings each.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

TWENTY-FOUR

SONGS FOR LITTLE PEOPLE

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

NORMAN GALE

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

GERARD F. COBB.

(Op. 35.)

IN TWO BOOKS.

Book I.	Book II.
A change wanted.	A Protest.
Bedfordshire.	A Thief.
Bessie.	Auntie Nell.
Carrying Angels.	Aunt Jan.
Late for Tea.	Cradle Song.
Off to the Sea.	Fairies in Faces.
Out early.	Lost Labour.
Silver Sammy.	Mustard and Cress.
The bad Boy.	Off to Africa.
The Violin.	The 'Logical Gardens.
Tim's Grace.	The Swan.
Tubbing.	The Walls of Jericho.

PREFACE.

The words of these Four-and-Twenty little Songs have been selected from Mr. Norman Gale's delightful volume of Children's Poems. A few modifications of the original text have been made in order to facilitate their musical rendering.

Though in the first instance, no doubt, the songs will be mainly sung to children rather than by them, the Composer's aim has been to observe such conditions in his settings as to make it easy for children to join in singing them themselves. With this object he has endeavoured to furnish simple, rhythmical melodies of a suitable compass, and it will be found that in the case of sixteen out of the twenty-four songs the vocal range is confined to the octave, whilst in only three instances does it exceed nine notes.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence each.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

Music for Female Voices

WITH ACCOMPANIMENT FOR THE

PIANOFORTE

AND

OTHER INSTRUMENTS.

	s.	d.
A. C. MACKENZIE.—O THOU DIVINE URANIA'S SON. Duet for S.A., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte Duet, Triangle, and Cymbals	0	6
—— REJOICE, FOR LOVE IS LORD. Duet for S.A., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte Duet, Triangle, and Cymbals	0	4
EDWARD ELGAR.—THE SNOW. Trio for S.S.C., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte and Two Violins	0	6
Tonic Sol-fa	0	1½
Violin Parts, 6d. each.
—— FLY, SINGING BIRD. Trio for S.S.A., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte and Two Violins	0	6
Tonic Sol-fa	0	1½
Violin Parts, 6d. each.
HAMILTON CLARKE.—TO-DAY AND TO-MORROW. Trio for S.S.C., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte, Castanets, Triangle, and Tambourine	0	4
Tonic Sol-fa	0	1½
—— TO THE WOODS. Trio for S.S.C., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte, Castanets, Triangle, and Tambourine	0	4
Tonic Sol-fa	0	1½
—— MOONLIGHT. Vocal Waltz for S.S.C., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte, Castanets, Triangle, and Tambourine	0	4
Tonic Sol-fa	0	1½
—— SUMMER. Trio for S.S.A., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte, Castanets, Triangle, and Tambourine	0	4
Tonic Sol-fa	0	1½
FLORENCE MARSHALL.—CHORAL DANCES (Minuet, Waltzes, and Galop) from "Prince Sprite," a Fairy Operetta, with Accompaniment for Pianoforte and Strings (ad lib.)	1	0
String Parts (in the Press).

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

G. RICORDI AND CO.

Best Italian MANDOLINES (Vinaccia, Salvino, &c.).
Best Italian VIOLINS (Stradivarius Model).
Best Italian STRINGS.
Best Italian PLECTRUMS.

PRICE LIST MAY BE HAD ON APPLICATION TO G. RICORDI AND CO.

RICORDI'S "SPECIAL" EDITION

OF VOCAL TUTORS, SOLFEGGI, AND EXERCISES,

With Pianoforte Accompaniment (Full Music Size), as used at the Royal College of Music, the Royal Academy of Music, the Guildhall School of Music, and by all the leading Professors of Singing.

Vol.		Net Price s.	d.
1.	G. NAVA.—Elementary Solfeggi for Medium Voice. Book I.	1	6
2.	—— Elementary Solfeggi for Medium Voice. Book II.	1	6
3.	—— Elementary Solfeggi for Medium Voice. Book III.	1	6
4.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Contralto and Bass. Book I	1	6
5.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Contralto and Bass. Book II.	1	6
6.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Contralto and Bass. Complete	2	6
7.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Mezzo-Sop. and Bar. Book I.	1	6
8.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Mezzo-Sop. and Bar. Book II.	1	6
9.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Mezzo-Soprano and Baritone. Complete	2	6
10.	F. LAMPERTI.—Daily Exercises	1	0
11.	—— First Lessons in Singing for Soprano, Mezzo-Soprano or Tenor. Book I.	1	6
12.	—— First Lessons in Singing for Soprano, Mezzo-Soprano or Tenor. Book II.	1	6
13.	—— First Lessons in Singing for Soprano, Mezzo-Soprano or Tenor. Complete	2	6
14.	G. NAVA.—Fifty-one Progressive Melodies for Soprano or Tenor (Op. 38). Book I.	1	6
15.	—— Fifty-one Progressive Melodies for Soprano or Tenor (Op. 38). Book II.	1	6
16.	—— Fifty-one Progressive Melodies for Soprano or Tenor (Op. 38). Complete	2	6
17.	N. VACCAJ.—Practical Method of Italian Singing	1	6
18.	G. NAVA.—Practical Method of Vocalisation for Bass or Baritone	2	6
19.	—— Elements of Vocalisation for Soprano or Tenor	2	6
20.	G. CONCONE.—Fifty Singing Lessons for Medium Voice.	1	0
21.	—— Forty Singing Lessons for Bass or Baritone	1	0
22.	—— Forty Singing Lessons for Contralto	1	0

May be had of all Musicsellers, and of
G. RICORDI and Co., 265, Regent Street, London, W.

JUST PUBLISHED.

TECHNIQUE

AND EXPRESSION

IN

PIANOFORTE PLAYING

BY

FRANKLIN TAYLOR.

With numerous Musical Examples from the Great Masters.
Price Five Shillings, in cloth, gilt lettered.

WESTMINSTER GAZETTE.

A work by that well-known authority on such matters, Mr. Franklin Taylor, on "Technique and Expression in Pianoforte Playing," may be safely commended to all students of what Wagner once styled the "Household orchestra."

ATHENÆUM.

Mr. Franklin Taylor has written much and of great value as a theorist, his latest essay equalling the best of his previous utterances as regards pianoforte manipulation. . . . Mr. Franklin Taylor displays intimate knowledge of the requirements of youthful aspirants who seek to gain excellence in the works of such modern masters as Schumann, Chopin, Brahms, and Rubinstein. . . . The treatise is noteworthy for a happy mixture of classical and modern systems of teaching the pianoforte so far as regards advice to the earnest student.

BRISTOL TIMES AND MIRROR.

Everything from the pen of the author of this work is welcomed by pianists, students, teachers and matured players, because there is purpose in all he writes, and because of the help and instruction to be derived therefrom. The present volume, fresh from the press of Messrs. Novello and Co., is one of the best of the kind. Hard-working students who read it attentively, in conjunction with their daily practice, will find their work greatly aided thereby. The publication may be in a great measure used as a guide-book or key to the splendid series of Progressive Exercises—52 numbers in all—arranged by the same famous professor, and issued by the same firm, as well as by advanced and skilled pianists. . . . Every phase and detail of pianoforte playing is fully dealt with in a clear and intelligible way, and illustrated by copious extracts taken from the works of all the greatest pianoforte composers and players. The volume is printed on excellent paper, and is strongly bound.

BIRMINGHAM DAILY GAZETTE.

"Technique and Expression in Pianoforte Playing" is a book of 180 closely-printed pages, octavo, wherein are set down with great system and lucidity the observations and the experience of a long and successful career of teaching. . . . The suggestions which relate to the mechanical and intellectual sides of pianoforte-playing we regard as invaluable, and again we envy the favoured youth of the present age, rich in the accumulated experiences of others; standing on the shoulders of men who have struggled unaided; reaping a rich harvest sowed with infinite labour by their predecessors.

YORKSHIRE POST.

Mr. Franklin Taylor, both by repute and by his writings, is known as one of the most systematic teachers of pianoforte technique in this country. . . . "Technique and Expression in Pianoforte Playing" is an excellent manual by an expert who can express himself clearly, and has ideas worth the expressing. . . . Over 200 examples from classical pianoforte music add to the value of the manual, which may be strongly recommended not only to students, but also to the half-taught teachers that abound.

LEEDS MERCURY.

"Technique and Expression in Pianoforte Playing" is the title of a book through which Franklin Taylor seeks to express some thoughts and theories that a long course of teaching has served to recommend. Mr. Taylor is emphatically practical, and his remarks are capable of bearing much good fruit. . . . The chapters on Expression and Fingering will be found particularly useful and suggestive.

GLASGOW HERALD.

Mr. Taylor writes with clearness and point, and gives the reader the benefit of his lengthened experience as a teacher of the pianoforte. The text is illumined by copious score illustrations.

SCOTSMAN.

As a recognised authority on his subject, Mr. Franklin Taylor may fairly claim the attention of teachers and students of the pianoforte for his book on "Technique and Expression." His practical experience in imparting instruction has taught him to understand the common difficulties, and how to overcome them; while, as the editor of one of the most exhaustive series of technical studies published, he has the advantage of a very wide range of knowledge of pianoforte music. The present book is an attempt to set down and illustrate the suggestions and methods which he has found useful in the practical work of pianoforte teaching. . . . The book, which is plentifully supplied with musical examples from the best composers, deals with the subject in a sensible and business-like fashion; and to students and teachers it may be recommended as one of the best books of its kind.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Digitized by Google

SIR CHARLES HALLÉ'S
PRACTICAL PIANOFORTE SCHOOL.

SECTION 1, No. 1.—THE POPULAR PIANOFORTE TUTOR.

SECTION 1.—ELEMENTARY (12 Nos.). | SECTION 3.—MODERATELY DIFFICULT (30 Nos.).
" 2.—EASY (30 Nos.). | " 4.—DIFFICULT (40 Nos.).
SECTION 5.—VERY DIFFICULT (26 Nos.).

SIR CHARLES HALLÉ'S MUSICAL LIBRARY.
(APPENDIX TO HIS PIANOFORTE SCHOOL.)

SECTION A.—ELEMENTARY (12 Nos.). | SECTION B.—EASY (30 Nos.).
SECTION C.—MODERATELY DIFFICULT (30 Nos.).

EDGAR HADDOCK'S PRACTICAL VIOLIN SCHOOL.

SECTION 1.—ELEMENTARY. | SECTION 2.—EASY.
SECTION 3.—MODERATELY DIFFICULT.

LÖHR'S SCHOOL SONGS.
FOR EQUAL VOICES IN UNISON, AND TWO AND THREE PARTS.

The latest additions to this Series include:

A Welcome (Two Parts) .. .. J. Clippingdale.
Close of Day
Song of the Scented Wood .. ..H. A. Maclean, B.A.
Cherry Ripe (Duet) ..Arr. by Rev. A. W. Batson, Mus. Bac., Oxon.

The Lilies of the Field (Sacred Duet) .. .. .. Alfred Redhead.
Hunting Song (Unison) .. .. E. A. Dicks.
Morning (Two Parts)

FULL CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION.

DEDICATED, BY PERMISSION, TO
H.R.H. PRINCESS CHRISTIAN OF SCHLESWIG-HOLSTEIN.

THE BISPHAM ALBUM OF CLASSICAL SONGS.
SELECTED AND EDITED BY DAVID BISPHAM.
BEING TEN SONGS BY SCHUBERT AND SCHUMANN.
PRICE 3s. NET.

"The marks of expression, indications of tempo, style, &c., furnished by the accomplished editor, are extraordinarily full, and will be the equivalent of a valuable lesson to purchasers of the volume."—Observer.

BANTOCK, GRANVILLE.
TWELVE PIANOFORTE PIECES (in Ten Numbers, each 3s.).

"All are original in a remarkable degree, and there are beautiful and effective passages by the score."—Times.
"They are a series of short, brilliant, and moderately difficult pieces that will form a valuable addition to the répertoire of any pianist."—Musical Times.

NEW SONGS.

	s.	d.
BARNS, ETHEL—The Humble Swain (Sung by Mr. CHARLES PHILLIPS.)	4	0
PITT, PERCY—Nature's Lullaby (Sung by Madame LUCILE HILL.)	4	0
YOUNG, FILSON—Forget not thou	4	0

PIANO SOLO.

	s.	d.
HILLIER, LOUIS H.—Impressions of Venice (a) Sulla Laguna. (b) Campana de Venezia. "Extremely effective."—Times.	each 3	0
—— Tarantella d'Amore (Played by Mdlle. PANCERA and M. DE GREEF.)	4	0

JUST PUBLISHED.

HELMUND, E. MEYER.
FOUR PIECES FOR PIANO (Op. 152).

	s.	d.
1. Polka Excentrique	3	0
2. Souvenir	3	0
3. Gavotte Pompadour	3	0
4. Gavotte Lyrique	3	0

CANTATA FOR FEMALE VOICES.

PAGE, ARTHUR.
AN APRIL SHOWER (Words by BERNARD PAGE). 1s. 6d.

"The subject will prove a happy thought to many a schoolmistress and mother of a family of girls. . . . The music is light, easy, and tuneful, and the poetry flows merrily."—Daily News.
"The setting is light and graceful, and the composer has imparted many delightful qualities to his work."—Nottingham Daily Guardian.

FORSYTH BROS., 267, REGENT STREET, LONDON, W.,
AND
126 & 128, DEANSGATE, MANCHESTER.

Digitized by Google

Just Published.

THE

Legend of St. Christopher

A DRAMATIC ORATORIO

FOR SOLO VOICES, CHORUS, ORCHESTRA, AND ORGAN

THE VERSE BY

ISABELLA PARKER

THE MUSIC BY

HORATIO PARKER.

(Op. 43.)

Price Five Shillings.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

To be performed, on March 17, by the Queen's Hall Choral Society. Conductor, Mr. HENRY J. WOOD.

A NEW OCTAVO EDITION

OF

THE HOLY SUPPER OF THE APOSTLES

(DAS LIEBESMAHL DER APOSTEL)

A Scriptural Scene

FOR MEN'S VOICES, WITH FULL ORCHESTRA

WRITTEN AND COMPOSED BY

RICHARD WAGNER.

Price Two Shillings.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

PRODUCED AT THE BIRMINGHAM TRIENNIAL MUSICAL FESTIVAL, 1897.

HAMLET

SYMPHONIC POEM

COMPOSED BY

EDWARD GERMAN.

String Parts, 6s. 6d.; Wind Parts and Full Score, MS.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

SIXTH SONATA

(IN B MINOR)

FOR THE ORGAN

COMPOSED BY

ALEXANDRE GUILMANT.

(Op. 86.)

Price Four Shillings net.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

COMPOSITIONS

BY

W. H. CUMMINGS.

CANTATA.

	s.	d.
The Fairy Ring	2	6
Vocal Parts, 4s.; String Parts, 12s.; Wind Parts and Full Score, MS.; Harmonium (in lieu of Wind Parts), 5s.; Book of Words, 7s. 6d. per 100.

SONGS.

Life's Twilight	2	0
Yellow lie the corn rigs	2	0
The face of an angel (in D and E) .. .. each	2	0

ANTHEMS.

O Lord, give ear unto my prayer	0	2
Folio Edition, 6d.
The Lord is nigh unto them (in the Press).

PART-SONGS, GLEES, &c.

Victoria (S.A.T.B.)	0	3
Oh! were I but a drop of dew (S.A.T.B.)	0	1½
Folio Edition, 6d.
Song should breathe of scents and flowers (A.T.T.B.)	0	3
Oh! the summer night (A.T.T.B.B.)	0	6
Love is a sweet, yet a cruel thing (S.S.A.T.T.B.), from "The Fairy Ring"	0	3
Peace to the dreamer (S.A.T.B.), from "The Fairy Ring" ..	0	3

EDUCATIONAL WORKS.

Rudiments of Music	1	0
Paper boards, 1s. 6d.
Biographical Dictionary of Musicians	2	0
Paper boards, 2s. 6d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

DR. ROLAND ROGERS' NEW PART-SONGS

FOR S.A.T.B.

THREE FISHERS WENT SAILING

Words by KINGSLEY.

Old Notation, Fourpence; Sol-fa, Twopence.

AND

THE STORM

Words by ADELAIDE PROCTOR.

Old Notation, Fourpence; Sol-fa, Twopence.

(Composed, by request, for the Batley Annual Competition, Nov., 1897.)

"An immense success."

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Popular Part-Songs for S.A.T.B.

By W. W. PEARSON.

Nymphs of the Ocean ..	3d.	The Oyster Dredgers ..	2d.
The Skaters	3d.	Evening	2d.
The Lake	3d.	*Sweet to live (38th thou.)	2d.
*'Tis Morn	3d.	*Welcome, young Spring! ..	2d.
Sweet Spring (Madrigal) ..	3d.	*The Anglers (14th thou.) ..	2d.
The River	3d.	The Dream of Home ..	2d.
Over the mountain side ..	3d.	Summer and Winter ..	2d.
Soul of living music ..	3d.	*Departed Joys	2d.
The Stormy Petrel	3d.	There's beauty in the deep	1½d.
The Coral Grove	3d.	Soldier, rest!	1d.
Pibroch of Donuil Dhu ..	3d.	Woods in Winter	1d.
Blow, Western Wind! ..	3d.	Autumn	1d.
Stars of the Night	3d.

HUMOROUS PART-SONGS.

*Three Doughtie Men. (64th thousand)	3d.
Three Children Sliding. (10th thousand)	3d.
A Ryghte Merrie Geste	4d.
The Snow-white Doe	4d.
*Ben Bowlege (EDWARD OXENFORD)	3d.
The Carrion Crow	3d.
Call John!	3d.
Three Merry Fishers. (Just published)	3d.

DESCRIPTIVE CHORUSES.

With Pianoforte or Orchestral Accompaniments.

The Iron Horse	4d.	The Ocean	3d.
Off to Sea	4d.	*The Ironfounders (36th thou.)	3d.
Jäger Chorus	3d.	The Cyclists	4d.
The Lifeboat	4d.

Orchestral Parts on application to the COMPOSER, Elmham, Dereham. Tonic Sol-fa Editions at half the above prices of those marked *.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

ALFRED R. GAUL'S CANTATAS.

*UNA

SIXTH AND SEVENTH THOUSAND

PRODUCED AT THE NORWICH MUSICAL FESTIVAL, OCTOBER 4, 1893.

"'Una' is quite one of his best."—Musical Standard.

"The result, in the present case, leaves no doubt that into all the places which know his previous compositions 'Una' will find a way and become as much a favourite as its forerunners. . . . Mr. Gaul considers before all things the elegance and symmetry of his melodic phrases."—Musical Times.

"We believe that Mr. Gaul has attained greater popularity with small English provincial choral societies than any other composer living or dead."—London Daily Graphic.

†THE TEN VIRGINS

Third Edition. Ninth and Tenth Thousand.
This Edition contains the additional Soprano air "Sun of my soul."

"The work will certainly go through Saxondom in the wake of its predecessors from the same pen."—London Daily Telegraph.

"Must attain popularity wherever heard. Infinitely superior to any previous effort of the composer."—Liverpool Daily Courier.

"A distinct advance upon any of its predecessors."—Birmingham Daily Post.

"That 'The Ten Virgins' is a much finer work than the everywhere favourite 'Holy City' we have no doubt whatever."—Birmingham Daily Gazette.

PRODUCED WITH THE UTMOST SUCCESS BY THE BIRMINGHAM FESTIVAL CHORAL SOCIETY.

*JOAN OF ARC

Staff Edition. Twentieth to Twenty-fifth Thousand.

"The Exeter Oratorio Society last night achieved a brilliant success, and it may safely be said, without fear of exaggeration, that never before have they performed a work more satisfactory to themselves or more interesting to the audience than 'Joan of Arc.'"—Western Times.

"One of the most delightful Concerts ever given by the South Shields Choral Society was that of last evening, when the principal piece was 'Joan of Arc.' We cannot speak too highly of Mr. Gaul's work, which is of the most interesting description, and will doubtless soon be a favourite with choral societies."—Shields Daily News.

FIFTH AND SIXTH THOUSAND.

PRODUCED AT THE CRYSTAL PALACE, JULY 9, 1892.

†ISRAEL IN THE WILDERNESS

"The work was given under Mr. Gaul's own direction by some 3,000 singers, accompanied by the Palace orchestra. Mr. Gaul has presented in no previous work better characteristics or more successful efforts than are to be found in 'Israel in the Wilderness.' The popular composer was enthusiastically cheered at the close of the performance."—Musical News.

The above Cantatas have been specially planned to meet the requirements of Musical Societies, the greater portion being choral.

Price, paper cover, 2s. 6d.; paper boards, 3s.; cloth, gilt, 4s.; Tonic Sol-fa, 1s.; Vocal Parts, each 1s. Words only, *7s. 6d.; †5s. per 100.
The loan of Orchestral Parts on application to the Composer.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

THE MUSIC TO J. M. BARRIE'S

THE LITTLE MINISTER

Composed for the production of the Play at the Haymarket Theatre, November, 1897

BY

A. C. MACKENZIE.

(Op. 57.)

Just Published.

THREE DANCES
(ENTR'ACTES)

1. LILT. 2. PASTORAL DANCE. 3. ÉCOSSAISE.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence.
String Parts for Full or Small Orchestra, Four Shillings and Sixpence.
Wind Parts and Full Score, MS.
Military Band Arrangement (in the Press).

Just Published.

THE OVERTURE

Arranged for Pianoforte Duet by the Composer.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence.
String Parts for Full or Small Orchestra, Four Shillings and Sixpence.
Wind Parts and Full Score, MS.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

THE MUSICAL TIMES.

CASES

FOR BINDING THE NUMBERS FOR THE PAST YEAR,

VOL. XXXVIII.,

Are now ready, and may be had of all Musicsellers in Town and Country.

CLOTH, BEVELLED BOARDS, HANDSOME DESIGN IN BLACK,

PRICE 1S. 6D.

Title-page and Index may be had gratis on application.
Cases for the Volumes from 1877 (Vol. xviii.) can also be had.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published. 8vo. 3d.

THREE MERRY FISHERS

Humorous Part-Song for S.A.T.B.

BY

W. W. PEARSON,

Composer of "Three Doughtie Men."

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

FORTY-SIXTH ANNUAL ISSUE.
Now Ready.

THE MUSICAL DIRECTORY, ANNUAL & ALMANACK for 1898

CONTENTS—
Names and Addresses of all Professors of Music, Musicsellers, Instrument Manufacturers, Dealers, &c., throughout the Kingdom. Obituary Notices, Principal Musical events of the past year in London and the Provinces, New Copyright Music published during the past year, Miscellaneous information.

Price, paper cover, 3s.; by Post, 3s. 3d.
" crimson cloth, 4s.; by Post, 4s. 3d.
RUDALL, CARTE and Co., 23, Berners Street, London, W.

Now Ready. On the 1st of each Month. 208 Cols. 2d.; Post-free, 3½d.

MUSICAL OPINION and MUSIC TRADE REVIEW. 150, Holborn Bars, E.C.

HUMOROUS PART-SONG FOR S.A.T.B.

TOM, THE PIPER'S SON. By A. BEN ALLEN, Composer of "Dickory, dickory, dock." Price 3d.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

CHAPPELL & CO.'S PUBLICATIONS.

THE BEHNKE VOICE-TRAINING METHOD.

Price, in paper covers, Two Shillings; in cloth, Three Shillings.

VOICE-TRAINING PRIMER

BY MRS. EMIL BEHNKE AND DR. CHARLES W. PEARCE.

An easy Catechism of Vocal Physiology and Musical Theory, for the use of Vocal Students generally. This work is also intended as a Text-Book for preparing Candidates for Vocal Examinations, particularly those of the Associated Board of the R.C.M. and R.A.M., the Incorporated Society of Musicians, and Trinity College, London. It contains in one volume all the information required for answering the viva voce questions of Examiners.

Sixtieth Thousand. Price, in paper covers, One Shilling and Sixpence; in cloth, Three Shillings.

VOICE-TRAINING EXERCISES

In Six separate Books, for Soprano, Mezzo-Soprano, Contralto, Tenor, Baritone, and Bass.
BY EMIL BEHNKE AND DR. CHARLES W. PEARCE.

Third and Improved Edition. Price, in paper covers, One Shilling and Sixpence; in cloth, Three Shillings.

VOICE-TRAINING STUDIES

In Six separate Books, for Soprano, Mezzo-Soprano, Contralto, Tenor, Baritone, and Bass.
BY EMIL BEHNKE AND DR. CHARLES W. PEARCE.

"This work contains 24 Progressive Studies in different styles, and is intended as a companion or supplementary volume to 'Voice-Training Exercises.' Those of a more cantabile character are to be used as Solfeggi, the others are to be sung as Vocalises. In this Second Edition the accompaniments have been simplified. Highly favourable opinions of these Studies have been expressed by Sir John Stainer, Sir Robert Stewart, Mr. W. H. Cummings, and other eminent authorities."

POPULAR WORKS FOR CHORAL SOCIETIES

UP TO DATE; OR, THE CHILDREN OF THE 19TH CENTURER. A Cantata for Children. By W. H. SONLEY JOHNSON and REGINALD ATKINS. Price 1s. 6d. net.
GRAY'S ELEGY. Cantata, by A. CELLIER. Paper, 2s. 6d. net; cloth, 4s. net.
FAUST. Dramatic Legend, by HECTOR BERLIOZ. New Edition. 3s. 6d. net; cloth, 5s. net; Tonic Sol-fa, 2s. 6d. net.
GOD IS LOVE. A Sacred Cantata, by Mrs. JOSEPH ROBINSON. Paper, 3s. net; cloth, 10s. 6d. net.
KENILWORTH. Cantata, by ARTHUR SULLIVAN. Paper, 3s. 6d. net.
LALLA ROOKH. Cantata, by FREDERICK CLAY. Paper, 3s. 6d. net.
FRIDOLIN; OR, THE MESSAGE TO THE FOROE. A Dramatic Cantata, by A. RANDEGGER. Paper, 4s. net; cloth, 6s net.
THE JACKDAW OF RHEIMS. Comic Cantata, by THOMAS INGOLDSBY and GEORGE FOX. 2s. 6d. net. Voice parts, each 6d. net; Harmonium part, 1s. net; Tonic Sol-fa, 1s. 6d net.
THE MARTYR OF ANTIOCH. Sacred Musical Drama, by ARTHUR SULLIVAN. Paper, 3s. net; cloth, 8s. net.
TRIAL BY JURY. Comic Operetta, by W. S. GILBERT and ARTHUR SULLIVAN. Paper, 3s. net.

POPULAR NUMBERS OF
CHAPPELL'S PENNY OPERATIC PART-SONGS

FOR SOPRANO, ALTO, TENOR, AND BASS.

*1. Hymn of the Fisherman's Children. Adapted to a Melody from Hérold's "Zampa."
*2. Fays and Elves (In mia fe). From Flotow's "Marta."
*3. Spring's bright glances (In Elvezia non v'ha). From Bellini's "La Sonnambula."
5. Here we rest (Qui la selva). From Bellini's "La Sonnambula."
6. Onward to battle (Squilli echeggi). From Verdi's "Il Trovatore."
7. Rataplan (Rataplan). From Donizetti's "La Figlia del Reggimento."
8. The Gipsy's Star (Vedi! le fosche). From Verdi's "Il Trovatore."
9. War Song of the Druids (Dell' aura tua profetica). From Bellini's "Norma."
11. Come to the Fair! (Accorete giovinette). From Flotow's "Marta."
12. Friendship (Per te d'immenso giubilo). From Donizetti's "Lucia di Lammermoor."
*13. Away, the morning freshly breaking (The Chorus of Fishermen). From Auber's "Masaniello."
*14. Pretty Village Maiden (Peasants' Serenade Chorus). From Gounod's "Faust."
15. The soft winds around us (The Gipsy Chorus). From Weber's "Preciosa."
16. See how lightly on the blue sea (Senti la danza invitaci). From Donizetti's "Lucrezia Borgia."
18. On yonder rock reclining. From Auber's "Fra Diavolo."
*19. Happy and light. From Balfe's "Bohemian Girl."
22. Come, old comrade (The celebrated Chorus of Old Men). From Gounod's "Faust."
23. 'Gainst the Powers of Evil (The Chorale of the Cross). From Gounod's "Faust."
28. The tuneful sound of Robin's horn. Tyrolese Chorus from Rossini's "Guglielmo Tell."
29. The Chorus of Huntsmen. From Weber's "Der Freischütz."
92. Hail to the bride! From Wagner's "Lohengrin."
34. A bridal wreath we twine. Chorus of Bridesmaids from Weber's "Der Freischütz."
35. Behold! how brightly breaks the morning. The Barcarolle from Auber's "Masaniello."
47. The Harvest Home. From Mozart's "Le Nozze di Figaro."

NEW SERIES (8vo SIZE).

52. The Farandole. From Audran's "Olivette."
53. You swear to be good and true. From Cellier's "Dorothy."
54. From deep forest hoary. From Planquette's "Rip Van Winkle."

To be continued.

NEW SERIES OF
CHAPPELL'S VOCAL LIBRARY OF PART-SONGS (8vo SIZE)

118.	Venetian Song (F. Paolo Tosti). S.A.T.B. ..	King Hall	3d.	122.	Sigh no more, ladies. A.T.T.B.B. ..	R. J. S. Stevens	3d.
119.	Mighty Lord (Gounod's "Marche Religieuse"). S.A.T.B.	King Hall	3d.	123.	Peace, perfect Peace. S.A.T.B.	.. Gounod	3d.
120.	Soft and Low (from Gounod's "Mock Doctor"). S.A.T.B.	King Hall	4d.	124.	Beauty's Eyes (Tosti). S.A.T.B.	King Hall	3d.
121.	Crossing the Bar. S.S.A.T.B.B.	Arthur M. Goodhart	3d.	125.	Hark! my soul (Gounod). S.A.T.B.	King Hall	3d.
				*126.	Soldiers' Chorus ("Faust"). S.A.T.B. ..	Gounod	4d.
				127.	A Regular Royal Queen ("Gondoliers") ..	Sullivan	6d.

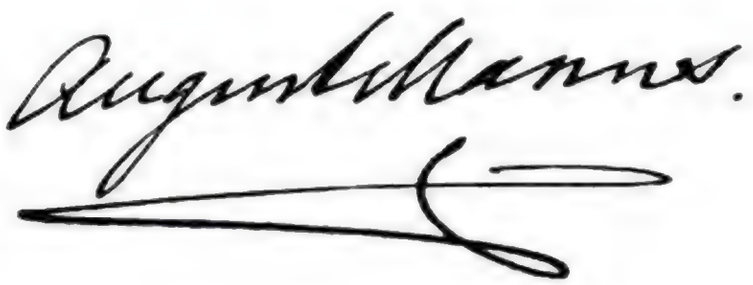
*To be continued. Numbers marked thus * also published in Tonic Sol-fa.*

Complete Lists on application to

CHAPPELL AND CO., LTD., 50, New Bond St., London.

Printed by NOVELLO, EWER and Co., at 69 & 70, Dean Street (W.), and published at 1, Berners Street (W.), and 80 & 81, Queen Street (E.C.). Sold also by KENT and Co., Paternoster Row (E.C.)—Tuesday, February 1, 1898.

Digitized by Google



THE MUSICAL TIMES

AND SINGING-CLASS CIRCULAR.

PUBLISHED ON THE FIRST OF EVERY MONTH.

No. 661.—Vol. 39. MARCH 1, 1898. Price 4d.; Postage, 1½d.
Registered for transmission abroad. Annual Subscription, Post-free, 5s.

ROYAL CHORAL SOCIETY,
ROYAL ALBERT HALL.

Patron: HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN.
President: H.R.H. THE DUKE OF SAXE-COBURG AND GOTHA, DUKE OF EDINBURGH, K.G.

Conductor: Sir FREDERICK BRIDGE, Mus.D.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, MARCH 16, AT 8.

BEETHOVEN'S
THE RUINS OF ATHENS
AND FRANCO LEONI'S
THE GATE OF LIFE
(First time of performance).

Artists:
Miss ESTHER PALLISER.
Mr. BEN DAVIES.
Mr. ANDREW BLACK.
Organist: Mr. H. L. BALFOUR.
BAND AND CHORUS, ONE THOUSAND.

Prices: Stalls, 7s. 6d.; Arena, 6s.; Balcony (Reserved), 5s.; Unreserved, 4s.; Gallery (Promenade), 1s.

HANDEL'S "MESSIAH"
ON GOOD FRIDAY, APRIL 8, AT 7.

Artists:
Miss ESTHER PALLISER. | Mr. LLOYD CHANDOS.
Miss CLARA BUTT. | Mr. SANTLEY.

Prices as above.

ROYAL ACADEMY OF MUSIC,
TENTERDEN STREET, W.

Instituted 1822. Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1830.

Patrons: HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN AND THE ROYAL FAMILY.
President: H.R.H. THE DUKE OF SAXE-COBURG AND GOTHA.
Principal: Sir A. C. MACKENZIE, Mus. Doc.

Lent Half-Term began Thursday, February 17.
Lectures by Walter Macfarren, Esq., F.R.A.M., March 2, 9, 16, 23, and 30.
Orchestral Concert at Queen's Hall, March 28, at 3.
Syllabus for the 1898-99 L.R.A.M. Examination will be issued shortly.
Prospectus, Entry Forms, and all information may be obtained from the Secretary. F. W. RENAUT, Secretary.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF ORGANISTS.

The next F.R.C.O. Examination begins on July 11.
The Solo Playing tests are: Toccata and Fugue in E major—Bach (Novello and Co., Augener and Co.); Prelude in C (Six Pieces)—Stainer (Novello and Co.); and Sonata in C sharp minor—Basil Harwood (Schott and Co.).
The A.R.C.O. Examination begins on July 18.
A second edition of the Book of Examination Papers has been issued and may be obtained by members. Price 5s.; postage, 5d.
The College Library is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on Tuesdays and Thursdays until 7 p.m.
Members desiring practice on the College Organ may obtain particulars on application.
The large Hall, and sundry smaller rooms, may be hired for concerts, meetings, &c.

E. H. TURPIN, Hon. Secretary.
Hart Street, Bloomsbury, W.C.

THE GUILDHALL SCHOOL OF MUSIC.—
Established by the Corporation of London, 1880.
Principal: WILLIAM H. CUMMINGS, Esq.
Students' Orchestra meets Mondays, 6.30 p.m. Classes for study of Rudiments of Music, also Sight Singing, held daily. Full particulars of Secretary. By order of the Committee,
Victoria Embankment, Blackfriars, E.C. HILTON CARTER, Sec.

QUEEN'S HALL,
LANGHAM PLACE, W

LIST OF MR. ROBERT NEWMAN'S CONCERTS,
SEASON 1898.

THE QUEEN'S HALL
SATURDAY SYMPHONY CONCERTS.
(Under the management of Mr. ROBERT NEWMAN.)

Conductor: Mr. HENRY J. WOOD.

THE QUEEN'S HALL SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.
Principal Violin.. .. .. Mr. ARTHUR W. PAYNE.
Organist and Accompanist .. Mr. PERCY PITT.
THE QUEEN'S HALL CHORAL SOCIETY.
SATURDAY AFTERNOONS, AT 3.

Reserved Seats, 7s. 6d., 5s.; Unreserved, 3s., 2s., 1s.
At ROBERT NEWMAN'S Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

LAMOUREUX ORCHESTRAL CONCERTS.
(Under the management of Mr. ROBERT NEWMAN.)

Conductor: MONS. CHARLES LAMOUREUX.

QUEEN'S HALL GRAND ORCHESTRA OF 103 PERFORMERS.
Principal Violin .. Mr. ARTHUR W. PAYNE.

AFTERNOON CONCERTS.—March 2, April 20.
EVENING CONCERTS.—March 15, May 4.

Single Tickets—Reserved, 10s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 5s.; Unreserved, 2s. 6d., 1s.
At ROBERT NEWMAN'S Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

Programmes on application at ROBERT NEWMAN'S Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

THE
QUEEN'S HALL SUNDAY AFTERNOON ORCHESTRAL CONCERTS.
(Under the management of Mr. ROBERT NEWMAN.)
EVERY SUNDAY AFTERNOON, AT 3.30.

Conductor: Mr. HENRY J. WOOD.

THE QUEEN'S HALL ORCHESTRA OF 90 PERFORMERS.
Principal Violin .. .. .. Mr. ARTHUR W. PAYNE.
Organist and Accompanist .. Mr. PERCY PITT.

ROBERT NEWMAN'S Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

QUEEN'S HALL CHORAL SOCIETY.

Conductor: Mr. HENRY J. WOOD.

GOOD FRIDAY AFTERNOON, April 8.
REDEMPTION, AT 3.

Organist: Mr. PERCY PITT.

The QUEEN'S HALL CHORAL SOCIETY will also take part in several of Mr. Newman's Saturday Afternoon Concerts.

Tickets, 7s. 6d., 5s., 2s. 6d., and 1s.

ROBERT NEWMAN'S Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

Digitized by Google

THE GUILD OF ORGANISTS.

Established 1887.

Patrons:
THE ARCHBISHOPS OF CANTERBURY AND YORK
AND TWENTY BISHOPS.

President:
E. J. HOPKINS, Esq., Mus. Doc., Cantuar.

Warden:
J. T. FIELD, Esq., L.T.C.L.

For full particulars of Membership, Free Register, &c., address, the Honorary Secretary, Fred. B. Townend, 24, Queen Victoria Street, London; or, Brentwood, Essex.

GUILD OF CHURCH MUSICIANS,

LONDON.

Patron: His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury.
President: The Very Rev. Francis Pigou, D.D., Dean of Bristol.

A.G.C.M. and F.G.C.M. Diploma Examination, July 7, 1898. The "Mendelssohn" Prize, of the value of Two Guineas, is awarded at this Examination to the Candidate obtaining the highest number of marks.

Musical Examination for Clergy. This Examination has been formulated with the object of testing the musical efficiency of clergy desirous of officiating in Choral Services. July 7, 1898.

A Bronze Medal will be awarded for the best Kyrie, with Gloria Tibi and Gratias Tibi.

A Bronze Medal for the best Anthem.

A Silver Medal for the best original Air with Variations for the Organ.

The Council also offer two Exhibitions, each of the value of £5, to be given to the Candidate who shows the most conspicuous merit in the art of organ accompaniment.

Annual Membership Subscription, 10s. 6d. Life, £5 5s.
Choir Enrolment, £2 2s.
The new Calendar is sent (Post-free) for fourteen stamps.
Free register for Organists requiring appointments.
Representatives required in England and abroad.
For further particulars, apply to
Dr. Lewis, Silvermead, Twickenham, S.W.

LONDON ORGAN SCHOOL AND INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

Princes Street, Cavendish Square, W.

Patron: His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury.
Established in 1865 by the Rev. Scotson Clark, Mus. Bac., Oxon.
Principals and Directors of Studies:
Henry Clark, T. H. Yorke Trotter, M.A., Mus. Doc., Oxon.

PRIVATE LESSONS in ORGAN, PIANOFORTE, SINGING, VIOLIN, CELLO, FLUTE, CLARINET, GUITAR, HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, ELOCUTION, LANGUAGES, &c.

CLASSES in HARMONY, Counterpoint, Composition, Orchestration, and Musical Dictation, under the direction of Dr. Yorke Trotter.
ELOCUTION CLASS (Mr. Charles Fry).
ENSEMBLE CLASSES (Mr. Edward O'Brien).
SINGING CLASSES (Mr. Walter Mackway, A.R.A.M.).
SOLFEGE CLASS for Children (Mr. J. Mewburn Levien).
FRENCH CONVERSATION CLASS (Mr. Arthur Fayne).
ORCHESTRAL PRACTICES are held weekly.
DAY and EVENING LESSONS given throughout the year.
PUPILS CAN ENTER at ANY TIME.
Prospectus on application to
A. J. SCOTT, Secretary.

Victoria College Corporation, Ltd.
Incorporated 1891.

VICTORIA COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

Patrons:
The Rt. Hon The Marquis of Lorne, K.T.
The Rt. Hon. The Earl of Dartmouth.

BOARD OF EXAMINATION.
J. H. Lewis, Mus. Doc., D.C.L. (Principal).
George Prior, Mus. Doc., Oxon., F.R.C.O. (Registrar).
J. M. Bentley, Mus. Doc., Cantab., Hon. F.R.A.M.

Metropolitan Examinations, in all subjects and for all grades, including the Diplomas of Associate (A.V.C.M.), Associate in Music (A.Mus. V.C.M.), Licentiate (L.V.C.M.), and Licentiate in Music (L.Mus. V.C.M.), will be held April 14, 1898. Last day of entry, March 24.

Next Local Theoretical Examination, April 14, 1898. Local Practical Examinations are now being held at the various Centres.

Gold, Silver, and Bronze Medals are offered for competition.
The Educational Department is under the direction of Dr. Prior.
Local Secretaries required for towns not already represented.
Full particulars on application.
GEO. A. STANTON, F.G.C.M., Secretary.
Central Office: 11, Burleigh Street, Strand, W.C.

ST. MARK'S, Kennington.—ROSSINI'S STABAT MATER, with Orchestra, Wednesdays, MARCH 2, 9, 16, 23, and 30, at 8 p.m. CRUCIFIXION, GOOD FRIDAY, 3.30. Leader, Mr. Barwell Organist, Dr. Robinson; Conductor, Mr. Warren Tear.

GRESHAM COLLEGE LECTURES.

The LECTURES in MUSIC will be delivered in the Great Hall of the City of London School, Victoria Embankment, E.C., by Professor Sir Frederick Bridge, Mus. Doc., as under:—

Monday, Feb. 28, "Organ Music" (English School), Samuel Wesley.
Tuesday, March 1, "Chopin" (born March 1, 1809), Pianoforte Music and Songs.
Thursday, March 3, "The Development of the Oratorio"—IV. (German School).
Friday, March 4, "Tschaikowsky" (Chamber Music).
The Lectures begin at six o'clock and are free to the public.

MUSICAL INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE,

Limited.
Principal: Edwin M. Lott, Mus. Doc.
Founded 1878. Incorporated 1893.
Central Office: 113, Great Portland Street, W.
Local Theoretical Examination, May 17, 1898.
Practical Examinations throughout the kingdom.
W. A. PHILPOTT, Mus. Doc., Secretary.

DR. HOCH'S CONSERVATOIRE for all branches of Music, in Frankfort-on-the-Maine. The Summer Term commences March 1. Director, Professor Dr. B. Scholz. Tuition is given by Messrs. Director Dr. B. Scholz, Professor J. Kwast, L. Uzielli, F. Meyer, E. Engesser, Music Director A. Glück, K. Friedberg, and Ch. Eckel (in Pianoforte); Mr. H. Gelhaar (in Organ); Professor H. Heermann, Professor Naret-Koning and F. Bassermann, Concertmeister A. Hess (in Violin and Viola); Professor B. Cossmann, Professor Hugo Becker (in Violoncello); W. Seltrecht (in Contra-Bass); M. Kretzschmar (in Flute); R. Müns (in Oboe); L. Mohler (in Clarinet); F. Thiele (Fagotto); C. Preusse (in Horn); J. Wohllebe (in Trumpet); Frau Professor Schroeder-Hanfstaengl and Herren A. Sistermanns, J. M. Hemsing, S. Rigutini, Frau Buff-Hedinger, Frl. Cl. Sohn, and Frl. A. Kolb (in Singing); Director Dr. Scholz and Messrs. Professor J. Knorr, C. Breidenstein, and B. Sekles (in Theory and Composition); Professor V. Valentin (in German Literature); Mr. K. Hermann (in Declamation and Mimics); Frl. del Lungo (in Italian Language). Prospectus to be had, gratis and post-free, from the Secretary of the Dr. Hoch's Conservatoire, 4, Eschersheimerlandstrasse. Applications for entry should be made immediately as only a limited number of pupils will be accepted.

THE STERN CONSERVATOIRE OF MUSIC. Founded 1850.—Professor Gustav Hollaender, Director, 20, Wilhelmstrasse, Berlin, S.W. Conservatoire: Development in all branches of Music. Operatic School: Complete Training for the Stage. Orchestral School (comprising all solo and all orchestral instruments). Seminary: Special Training for Teachers. Chorus School. Elementary Piano and Violin School. Principals: Frau Prof. Selma Nicklass-Kempner, Adolf Schulze, Prof. Benno Stolzenberg (Vocal); Prof. Friedrich Gernsheim, Representing Director; Ludwig Bussler, Hans Pfitzner (Composition, Theory, Musical History); Felix Dreyschock, Albert Eibenschütz, Prof. Heinrich Ehrlich, Prof. Friedr. Gernsheim, A. Papendick, Otto Singer, Alfred Sormann, E. E. Taubert, L. C. Wolf (Piano); Fr. Poenitz (Harp, Harmonium); Otto Dienel, Royal Musical Director (Organ); Prof. Gustav Hollaender, Willy Nicking (Violin); Anton Hekking (Cello); Emanuel Reicher (Dramatic School), &c. Charges: From 125 marks (£6 5s.) up to 500 Marks (£25) annually. Prospectuses may be obtained through the Conservatoire. Pupils received at any time. Consultation hours from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. On September 1, 1897, Prof. Benno Stolzenberg (Vocal and Operatic School), Emanuel Reicher (Dramatic School), Hans Pfitzner (Composition, Piano), Otto Singer (Piano) entered the staff of teachers of the Conservatoire.

SIXTEENTH MUSICAL COMPETITION.—TWELVE GUINEAS in PRIZES again offered. Conditions, copy of hymns, and specimen copy of previous prize tunes Post-free for Three-halfpence. Jas. Broadbent, 13, Brunswick Place, Leeds.

ST. ANNE'S, Soho.—BACH'S PASSION (St. John), Fridays in Lent, 8 p.m. (GOOD FRIDAY, 4 p.m.). Full Orchestra and Organ. Admission, body of Church, by ticket, obtainable gratis by sending stamped envelope to Rector, 28, Soho Square, W.; galleries, without ticket. Surplus, after expenses, for Poor Fund.

A PROFESSOR OF SINGING

Is required immediately for the new

"ELDER" CONSERVATORIUM

ADELAIDE UNIVERSITY.

Minimum Salary, £500 per Annum.

Full particulars can be obtained from the Agent-General for South Australia, 4, Crosby Square, E.C.

FOR LENT.

TWO SETTINGS of the BENEDICITE, OMNIA OPERA. One in Key of E and one in Key of F. Price Twopence each.
Also, the STORY OF THE CROSS. Price Twopence.
By E. BUNNETT, Mus.D.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

PROFESSIONAL NOTICES.

MISS FLORENCE ARMRIDING (Soprano)
(Pupil of Mr. Shakespeare and Medalist, R.A.M.).
Oratorios, Concerts, Lessons, &c., at 20, Conduit Street.
Address, Leicester Villa, Ealing, W.

MISS ETHEL BARNARD (Soprano)
(Bronze and Silver Medals, Certificate of Merit, and Rutson Memorial Prizeholder, R.A.M.)
German Songs a specialty. 25, Upper Richmond Road, Putney, S.W.

MISS ELLA CHALLIS (Soprano)
Oratorio, Opera, Concerts, At Homes.
48, Tollington Park, N.

MADAME CONWAY (Soprano)
444, Moss Lane East, Oxford Road, Manchester.

MISS AMY FLETCHER (Soprano)
Oratorios, Organ Recitals, and Ballad Concerts.
45, Aberdeen Road, Highbury Grange, N.

MISS FUSSELLE (Soprano)
Licentiate (Artist), R.A.M.
For Concerts, Oratorios, &c. 37, Harrington Square, N.W.

MADAME GOODALL (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Address, Leeds.

MISS CORDELIA GRYLLS (Soprano)
(Of the Crystal Palace Orchestral Concerts, &c.)
3, Broadhurst Gardens, South Hampstead, N.W.

MISS ADA LEE (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, At Homes, &c. Address, 164, Strand, W.C.

MADAME ANNIE NORLEDGE (Soprano)
For Oratorios and Ballad Concerts.
Address, 1, Northgate, Newark, Notts.

MISS MARGARET PEARSON (Soprano)
Concerts, Oratorios, &c. For terms, &c., 50, Bloom St., Stockport.

MISS AMY SARGENT, A.R.A.M. (Soprano)
124, Marylebone Road, N.W.

MISS FANNIE SELLERS (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, Recitals, &c., Crag Cottage, Knaresbro'.
"Creation."—"We were pleased with Miss Sellers last week at St. George's, but on this occasion she even excelled her performance in that town."—Newport Advertiser, December 25, 1897.

MISS FLORENCE VEREY (Soprano)
Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
Apply, care of N. Vert, Esq., 6, Cork Street, W.; or, 63, Lower Addiscombe Road, Croydon.

MISS AMY NEWTON LUCAS (Mezzo-Soprano)
(Late Corporation Exhibitioner, G.S.M.)
For Oratorios, Concerts, At Homes, &c.
Mill House, Worcester Park, Surrey.

MISS MARY WILLIS (Mezzo-Soprano)
For Oratorios, Operas, Concerts, or Private Lessons, address, 9, Rochester Terrace, Camden Road, N.W.

MISS NELLIE ALLAUN (Contralto), I.S.M.
Cert. (Hons. and Adv.). Concerts, &c. 6, Cavendish Road, Leeds.

MISS ALICE BERTENSHAW (Contralto)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c., Katherine Terrace, Ashton-under-Lyne.

MADAME CLARA DORAN (Contralto)
For Oratorios, Organ Recitals, Concerts, At Homes.
39, Malvern Road, Kilburn, N.W.

MISS ADA SLATER (Contralto)
For Oratorios, Concerts, Banquets, At Homes.
54, Dunsmure Road, Stamford Hill, N.

MR. WALTER CLINCH (Tenor)
(Late of St. George's Chapel, Windsor Castle).
For Oratorios, Concerts, At Homes, &c., address, Athole House, Alfred Road, Acton, W.

MR. ARTHUR F. JOHNS (Tenor)
For Oratorios, Ballad Concerts, Banquets, &c.
Address, 202, Grove Road, Bow, E.

MR. ALBERT MONAGHAN (Solo Tenor)
(York Minster).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
For terms, vacant dates, address, York Minster.

MR. GWILYM RICHARDS (Tenor)
Winner of Joseph Maas Memorial Prize,
" " Goldberg Prize,
" " Evill Prize,
" " Rutson Prize.
At the Royal Academy of Music.
Of the Crystal Palace and St. James's Hall Concerts.
For Oratorios, Ballad Concerts. 30, Redburn Street, Chelsea, S.W.

MR. HERBERT STANSFIELD
(Solo Tenor, York Minster Choir).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c., 94, Lowther Street; or, Minster, York.

MR. WILSON THERLEA (Tenor)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c., address, 79, Gt. Ducie St., Manchester.

MR. HARRY TUDOR (Tenor)
For Concerts, Oratorios, Opera Recitals, &c.
Springfield, Gorton, Manchester.

MR. JOSEPH WILLIAMS (Tenor)
For Concerts, At Homes, Masonic Banquets, &c.
Address, 22, Bolden Street, St. John's, S.E.

MR. and MRS. WALLIS A. WALLIS
(Baritone and Soprano).
Duets, Cantillations, &c. Address, Sharon, Acton, W.

MR. J. W. METCALFE (Bass)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
"Messiah."—"Mr. Metcalfe's was probably the best rendering of Handel's songs we have had for last quarter of a century. He was artistic in all of the airs, and had a suitable vocal organ with which to sing such massive songs as 'But who may abide' and 'Why do the nations.'"—Burnley Express, December 24, 1897.
Address, The Minster, York.

MISS MARIAN JAY (Solo Violinist)
(Pupil of M. Emile Sauret, Medalist and Cert. R.A.M.)
Concerts, At Homes, Lessons.
26, Wigmore Street, W.

MISS BESSIE HOLT (on Tour with Madame Antoinette Sterling's Concert Party). The following places are booked: Accrington, Bacup, Colne, Settle, Saltaire, Howarth, Haslingden, Keighley, Ilkley, Great Harwood, Bolton, Southport, Rochdale, Hebden Bridge, Todmorden, Halifax, Scarborough, Newcastle, &c. Address, Rawtenstall, Manchester.

MR. TOM CHILD, the Yorkshire Tenor (winner of the 100 Guineas Prize, London), is engaged at the following places this season:—
Only a few vacant dates in March; at liberty on Sundays.
Blackpool, 15 Concerts; Bridlington, 7; Leeds, 6; York, 2; Doncaster, 2; Calverley, 4; Dewsbury, 2; Morley, 2; Manchester, 2; Darlington, 2; Bradford, 3; Bramley, 2; Farsley, 2; Preston, Oakworth, Pocklington, Bacup, Rotherham, Sheffield, Retford, Pudsey, Horsforth, Scarborough, Batley, Sunderland, Bishop Auckland, Selby, Gateshead, Selkirk, Beverley, Droyladen, Saddleworth, Malsis Hall, Ossett, Ripponden, Potternewton, Liverpool, Consett, Durham, Harrogate, Brighouse, Oulton, Bury, Hull, Rochdale, Pontefract, Accrington, Keighley, Armley, Thornton, Delph, Oldham, Ballymena, Ireland.
Permanent address: The Poplars, Calverley, Leeds.

MR. EGBERT ROBERTS (Bass, Conductor, Italian Church, Hatton Garden) requests that communications respecting Oratorios, Concerts, or Lessons be addressed, 45, Pentonville Road, N. Oratorio and Concert Parties arranged.

MISS MAUDE BALLARD
(SOPRANO)
Copy of testimonial from the late Sir Joseph Barnby shortly before his death: "I have much pleasure in recommending Miss Maude Ballard as an admirable singer, possessed of a very good voice and considerable dramatic talent, who is likely to make a good position in the musical world. She sang Mendelssohn's 'Loreley' at a concert I conducted with the greatest possible success. In fact, she is an admirable musician, and one who could be relied upon, whether on the stage or concert platform.—Joseph Barnby."
"In the absence of Miss Esther Palliser, through illness, her solo, 'Hear ye, Israel,' was undertaken by Miss Maude Ballard, a lady who possesses that extreme rarity, a pure and perfectly trained soprano voice. She received a well-merited encore. Her other solo, 'I will extol Thee' (Costa), was sung very well indeed, the difficult florid passages being executed with ease and brilliancy."—Kensington News.
Press notices, terms, and photo, 13, Herbert Rd., Stockwell, S.W.

MISS
EMILY DAVIES
(DRAMATIC SOPRANO)
For Oratorios, Ballad Concerts, At Homes, &c. Address, Severn House, 434, Seven Sisters' Road, Finsbury Park, N.

MRS. S. FORD
(SOPRANO).
For terms and Press notices, address, Avondale, Park Road, E., Wolverhampton.

MADAME ADA LOARING
(SOPRANO)
Merrion, Wellington Road, Peckham, S.E.

MISS MARIE ROBERTS
(SOPRANO)
For Oratorio and Miscellaneous Concerts.
Address, Fitzjohn's Mansions, Netherhall Gardens, N.W.

Digitized by Google

MISS MAGGIE JAQUES

(SOPRANO)

February and March Engagements:—

Ashton-under-Lyne, Ballads, Feb. 1; Derby, Ballads, 2; Market Rasen, "Joan of Arc," 3; Fulbeck, "Hymn of Praise" and "Hear my Prayer," 4; Birmingham, "Messiah," 5; Chapel-en-le-Frith, Ballads, 7; Howden, "Judas," 8; Dunfermline, "Judas," 15; Airdrie, "Judas," 16; Windermere, Ballads, 17; Exeter, Ballads, 21; Tipton, "Bride of Dunkerron," 22; Caythorpe, "Hymn of Praise" and "Hear my Prayer," 25; Dudley, "Spring" and "Rose Maiden," March 2; Pontypool, "St. David," 14; Abersychan, "St. David," 15; Wigan, Ballads, 16; Lytham, "Creation," 17; Sheffield, "Flag of England," 21; Derby, "Acis and Galatea" and "Ode on St. Cecilia's Day," 22; Walsall, "Samson," 28; Uttoxeter, "King Olaf," 31.

Terms, &c., address, 3, Eagle Parade, Buxton, Derbyshire.

MISS

BEATRICE PALLISTER

THE NEW YORKSHIRE SOPRANO

(Her first Season).

Forty-eight engagements booked or fulfilled to present date.

Miss Pallister has vacant dates for Summer Seaside Engagement.

Terms and critiques from 59, Broxholme Lane, Doncaster.

MADAME LAURA SMART

(SOPRANO).

Oratorios, Operatic Recitals, Ballad Concerts.
Address, 106, Bolingbroke Grove, Wandsworth Common, S.W.; or, 50, Church Street, Liverpool.

MISS NELLIE WILLIS

(SOLO SOPRANO)

Oratorio, Operatic, or Ballad Concerts.
Adwick-le-Street, Doncaster.

MISS BERYL CLIVE

(CONTRALTO)

Has REMOVED to 235, New Cross Road, London, S.E.

MR.

ALFRED KENNINGHAM

(TENOR),

Vicar-Choral, St. Paul's Cathedral; Organist and Choirmaster, St. Dionis Church, Parson's Green; Professor of Singing, Richmond School of Arts, can accept Oratorio and Concert Engagements. Voice production thoroughly taught and explained. Pupils prepared for examination by the Associated Board of the Royal Academy and Royal College. Address, Orpheus Lodge, Parson's Green, S.W.

MR. JOS. REED

(PRINCIPAL TENOR, TRINITY COLLEGE).

For Oratorios, Ballad Concerts, &c. Terms, Garden Walk, Cambridge.

MR. THURGATE SIMPSON

(TENOR).

Oratorio, Operatic Recitals, Ballads. Specially engaged for Oratorio.
For terms, dates, &c. Address, Collyhurst, Manchester.

MR. GORDON HELLER

(BARITONE)

A.R.C.M. (Double Diploma).
20, Blenheim Terrace, Leeds.

MR. EDWARD ILES

(BARITONE).

Address, 31, York Street, Gloucester Place;
or, Mr. N. Vert, 6, Cork Street, Burlington Gardens, W.

MR. CHARLES KNOWLES

(BARITONE).

Of the Crystal Palace and principal Provincial Concerts.

Leeds Choral Union.—"Samson and Delilah."—"Mr. Charles Knowles sustained a dual rôle in a style to show the rapid progress he has made of late. His singing throughout was to the point and clever."—Leeds Mercury, November 4, 1897.

Wakefield Choral Society.—"Messiah."—"Mr. Charles Knowles acquitted himself excellently in the heavy work which fell to him."—Wakefield Express, December 11, 1897.

Orchestral Concert.—"Mr. Charles Knowles next appeared and sang Mendelssohn's 'I am a roamer' in so excellent a manner as to gain a hearty encore, which he responded to with 'Revenge.' Mr. Knowles gave Gounod's 'Nazareth,' which was vociferously encored, and he favoured the audience with 'The Wolf.' . . . We hope soon to be favoured with a revisit."—Walsall Advertiser, January 1, 1898.

Stockport S.S. Choir.—"Mr. Charles Knowles was in fine voice and created a very good impression. 'Honour and arms' was greeted with loud applause, which undoubtedly was well earned. . . . Mr. Knowles followed with a clever enunciation of 'Nazareth,' for which he was loudly applauded, and he repeated the last verse."—Stockport Chronicle, January 19, 1898.

For terms, dates, &c., address, 61, Burley Street, Leeds.

MR. BANTOCK PIERPOINT

(BARITONE).

Address, 44, Plympton Road, Brondesbury, N.W. or, N. Vert, 6, Cork Street, W.

MR. DANIEL PRICE

(BARITONE),

Westminster Abbey. Address, 18, Clarendon Road, W.

MR. CHARLES TREE

(BARITONE).

1, Finborough Road, S.W.; or, Mr. Healey, 17, Great Marlborough St.

MR. MUSGROVE TUFNAIL

(BARITONE).

22, Ferndale Road, Clapham, S.W.

MR. CHARLES WALTON

(BARITONE)

(Pupil of Andrew Black, Esq.).

Terms, Press notices, &c., 79, Coppice Street, Oldham.

MR. EDGAR ARCHER

(PRINCIPAL BASS, City Temple).

"I have great pleasure in stating that Mr. Edgar Archer has a fine bass-baritone voice, sings well, and with admirable effect."—William H. Cummings, Principal, Guildhall School of Music.

Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Apply, 153, Adelaide Road, N.W.

MR. LLEWELLYN

ORATORIO, OPERA, BALLAD CONCERTS.

Mr. Llewellyn will esteem it a favour if Secretaries of Societies, Conductors, &c., who may have made application for his services in any quarter, and failed to obtain answers, will communicate with Healey's Agency, 17, Great Marlborough Street, London, W.

MR. ALLAN BIGGS

L.R.A.M., F.R.C.O.

(THE NEW YORKSHIRE PIANIST).

6, Christchurch Terrace, Doncaster.

SOLO BOYS.

LONDON TRAINING SCHOOL FOR CHORISTERS, POLYTECHNIC, REGENT ST., W.

President, MR. ALBERTO RANDEGGER.
Principal, MR. JAMES BATES.

The following twelve Solo Boys can be strongly recommended for Oratorios, Festival Services, Concerts, Organ Recitals, &c.: Masters STANLEY MARCHANT (Christ Church, Lancaster Gate), WILLIE GAMMAGE (Benchers' Chapel, Gray's Inn), WILLIAM McLEAN (St. Peter's, Cranley Gardens), PERCY HALE (Holy Trinity, Sloane Square), HERBERT HARDEN (Hampstead Parish Church), JAMES McBEAN (Holy Trinity, Wandsworth), HENRY JEFFRIES (St. Margaret's, Westminster), ALBERT RUSSELL (All Saints', North Kensington), ARTHUR WIDLAKE (St. Peter's, Hammersmith), WILLIAM EVERED (Christ Church, Brondesbury), STANLEY SMITH (St. Mark's, Hamilton Terrace), REGGIE HERN (St. Mark's, North Audley Street). The boys can be heard, by appointment, at their practising rooms, which are nearly opposite the Queen's Hall, Langham Place. For copies of recent testimonials, critiques, &c., address, Mr. James Bates, Polytechnic, Regent Street, W. Telegrams: "Bates," Polytechnic, London.

Digitized by Google

MR. DUTTON'S SOLO BOYS
FOR LENTEN ORATORIOS.

MR. DUTTON (St. Paul's Cathedral) supplies Boys, PERSONALLY TRAINED, for Church Festivals, Organ Recitals, Concerts, At Homes, &c.
For vacant dates, terms, and further particulars, address—
Mr. HENRY J. DUTTON, 19, Alpha Road, New Cross, S.E.

THE CELEBRATED SOLO BOYS
MASTER SHOWELL FORD
AND
MASTER ROLAND FORD
(Of the Birmingham Town Hall Concerts, &c.)
For Concerts, Organ Recitals, Choir Festivals, &c.
For terms and Press notices, address, Mr. S. Ford, Avondale, Park Road, E., Wolverhampton.

MR. JOSEF CANTOR'S
"GEMS OF THE OPERAS"
CONCERT COMPANY.

All communications, Church Street, Liverpool.

Telegrams—"Cantor, Liverpool."

THE EUTERPEAN VOCAL QUARTET
Misses ANNIE SWINFEN, ANNIE WILSON,
Messrs. AGER GROVER, MUSGROVE TUFNAIL.
Concerts, Banquets, &c.
Address, Mr. M. Tufnail, 22, Ferndale Road, S.W.

THE GEORGIAN SINGERS
(Of the Imperial Institute Concerts, &c.).
Mr. FRED. NAYLOR (Alto)
Mr. JAMES DEMPSTER (Tenor)
Mr. HARRY CARVER (Baritone and Humorist)
Mr. BELL KEMPTON (Bass)
(Of the Choirs of St. George's Chapel Royal and Her Majesty's Private Chapel, Windsor Castle, and Eton College Chapel).
Terms on application to Mr. Bell Kempton, 16, The Cloisters, Windsor Castle; or, the usual Agents.

ROYAL WINDSOR GLEE SINGERS
(Of St. George's Chapel Royal and Eton College Chapel).
Mr. WALTER CLAY. Mr. ABEL STARKEY.
Mr. DAVID HUMPHREYS. Mr. WALTER DODDS.
For Concerts, At Homes, Masonic or other Banquets, &c., address, D. Humphreys, 19, The Cloisters, Windsor Castle; or, N. Vert, Esq., 6, Cork Street, W.

HAND-BELL SOLOIST.—Mr. ARTHUR J. MANGER. Concerts, Dinners, At Homes, &c. 100, Manor Road, Brockley, S.E.

MR. W. C. AINLEY, Mus. Bac., Cantab. (1884), teaches HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, &c., by correspondence. Terms moderate. Eastfield House, Mirfield, Yorkshire.

DR. ALLISON instructed by Post Candidates who OBTAINED DEGREES OF MUS.D. AND MUS.B. at Oxford (1897), Cambridge, Dublin, and Durham Universities, Diplomas of L.R.A.M. (1897, &c.), A.Mus. L.C.M., L.Mus. L.C.M., F.R.C.O., and A.R.C.O.; Appointments at College and School of Music, and as Chapel Royal, Cathedral, and Parish Church Organists; Gold Medals, Prizes, "Honours" and Pass Certificates (of the Colleges of Music) to the number of 500. Harmony, Counterpoint, Orchestration, and Revision of Compositions, by Post, to correspondents anywhere. Personal instruction in Theory, Singing, Organ, and Pianoforte. Cambridge House, 68, Nelson Street, Manchester.

REVISION OF MUSICAL COMPOSITIONS. Dr. Horton Allison, Mus.D. 68, Nelson Street, Manchester.

MR. J. PERCY BAKER, A.R.A.M., Mus. Bac., Dunelm, teaches HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, &c., by post. Personal Lessons in Pianoforte or Theory at own or pupil's residence; or at 84, New Bond Street, W. Schools attended. Address, Willersley House, Old Charlton.

MR. T. HEMMINGS, Mus. Bac., Oxon., F.R.C.O., L.Mus.T.C.L., gives LESSONS in HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, &c., and prepares CANDIDATES for ARTS and MUSICAL EXAMINATIONS by Post. Latest successes, Mus. Bac., Oxford and Durham, L.R.A.M., A.R.C.M., F.R.C.O., A.R.C.O., &c. Sheppard Street, Stoke-on-Trent.

DR. ORLANDO A. MANSFIELD, Mus. Doc. T.U.T., L.Mus. L.C.M., F.R.C.O., L.T.C.L. (Author of "The Student's Harmony"), Torquay, PREPARES by Post for MUSICAL EXAMINATIONS. MSS. revised. Examination pieces analysed.

DR. F. J. KARN, Mus. Bac., Cantab.; Mus. Doc., Trinity College, Toronto; L.Mus., T.C.L., gives LESSONS Personally or by Post in HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, FUGUE, FORM, ORCHESTRATION, ACOUSTICS, &c., and prepares for Musical Examinations. Latest successes: LONDON MUS. BAC., December, 1897; L.R.A.M. (Pianoforte), 1898; F.R.C.O. and A.R.C.O., January, 1898; MUS. BAC., DURHAM, March and September, 1897, and all previous years; and FIRST, March and September, 1897, and all previous years; A.R.C.M., 1896 and 1897; OXFORD, MUS. BAC., FINAL and FIRST, 1896 and 1897; CAMBRIDGE, FINAL and FIRST MUS. BAC.; DUBLIN, MUS. BAC.; L.R.A.M. (Composition), 1897; Mus. Bac. and Mus. Doc., Toronto; L.Mus. and A.Mus., L.C.M.; L.T.C.L. and A.T.C.L., 1896 and 1897; Senior Local R.A.M. and R.C.M. Special and individual attention given to Correspondents. Upwards of 420 Diplomas and Degrees and several Gold and Silver Medals gained by pupils. MSS. corrected for publication; Analysis of classical works for Examinations. Terms moderate. Address, 70, Parkhill Road, London, N.W.

MR. W. E. PITMAN, Mus. Bac., Oxon., F.R.C.O., teaches HARMONY and COUNTERPOINT, personally or by correspondence, and coaches for the Universities, Royal College of Organists, and other Musical Exams. Thorough grounding in the various subjects. For terms, address, W. E. Pitman, Fir Cottage, Kenley, Surrey.

MR. G. DAN RAWLE, B.Mus. (Lond.), L.Mus. T.C.L., PREPARES CANDIDATES, by Correspondence, for University Degrees and other Examinations in Music. Terms moderate. 14, Sunnyside Road, Ealing, W.

DR. W. JOHN REYNOLDS, Mus. Doc., Lond., L.Mus. T.C.L. (Organist, St. Michael's, Cornhill), prepares CANDIDATES for MUSICAL EXAMINATIONS, personally or by Post. Many successes. Particulars on application. 66, Highbury Grove, London, N.; or, at the Church.

DR. HAMILTON ROBINSON, Mus. Doc., Dunelm, F.R.C.O., Lecturer on Harmony in King's College, Lond., Organist and Choirmaster, St. Stephen's, South Kensington. PIANOFORTE and ORGAN LESSONS, HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, COMPOSITION, &c., personally or by correspondence. Preparation for University, R.C.O., and all other Examinations. Classes. 54, Baron's Court Road, West Kensington, W.

MR. BRUCE STEANE (Composer of "The Ascension," contributor to Novello's Octavo Anthems, &c.) prepares rapidly and systematically for MUSICAL EXAMS. in all subjects, personally or by Post. MSS. corrected and revised for publication. Address, "The Leas," Clyde Road, Wallington, Surrey

MR. R. STOKOE, Mus. Bac., Cantab., F.R.C.O., gives ORGAN LESSONS at Christ Church, Down Street, Piccadilly. Harmony, Counterpoint, &c., taught personally or by Post. 86, Rossiter Road, Balham, S.W.

DR. TAYLOR, Mus.D., Oxon., F.R.C.O., L.T.C.L. (Author of "Vocal Score Reading Exercises" and "Figured Bass and Melody Exercises," for R.C.O. Students), prepares CANDIDATES for MUSICAL EXAMINATIONS by Post. Address, Wolverhampton Road, Stafford.

DR. THOMAS (Mus. Doc., Oxon.; O. and C., St. Clement's; Conductor) desires RESIDENT PUPILS to train for the profession. Univ. Degree. Carlyle, Boscombe, Bournemouth.

MR. A. W. TOMLYN, Mus.B., Dunelm, L.T.C.L., Berwick-on-Tweed, COACHES CANDIDATES for University and all other Exams. by Post. Every possible attention and assistance guaranteed. Latest success, Final Mus. Bac., Durham, March, 1897.

MR. W. H. TUTT, Mus. Bac., Cantab., L.R.A.M., teaches HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, ACOUSTICS, &c., by correspondence. Ashburn, Derbyshire.

MR. W. WOLSTENHOLME, Mus. Bac., Oxon., teaches HARMONY and COUNTERPOINT by correspondence. Compositions revised. 86, Oswald Street, Blackburn.

SPECIAL COACHING for A.R.C.M., 1895-1897, Sixteen Successes; 1897-1898, L.R.A.M., Seven Successes. Address, Mr. H. H. L. Middleton, Mus.B. (Cantab.), F.R.C.O., L.R.A.M., A.R.C.M., Dollis Road, Finchley, N.

THE TRAINING of ALTOS.—LESSONS in VOICE PRODUCTION and SINGING given by MUNRO DAVISON, L.R.A.M. (Singing), F.R.C.O., L.T.C.L., Professor of Alto Singing, Guildhall School of Music; Solo Alto, Temple Church, &c.; Professor of Singing, Organ, Pianoforte, and Harmony, 142, Stroud Green Road, N.

TRAINING OF TENORS.—DAVIDSON PALMER'S METHOD.—For terms for lessons, address, 2, Highwood Road, Upper Holloway, N. The principles on which this method is based are fully explained in Mr. Palmer's new book, "THE RIGHTLY-PRODUCED VOICE," which contains information of the utmost importance to tenors. Price 2s. 6d., post-free, from the AUTHOR, at the above address. See advertisement on another page.

MR. FREDERIC W. PARTRIDGE, A.R.C.M. (strongly recommended by Mr. Santley), teaches the ART of SINGING at a Studio in the West-End or at his private residence, 11, Manor Grove, Beckenham, S.E.

Digitized by Google

MACDONALD SMITH'S SYSTEM.

("FROM BRAIN TO KEYBOARD.")

"Likely to be one of the most valuable weapons which has been added to the armoury of the modern teacher during this century."—Sir Frederick Bridge.

RECENT TESTIMONY.

"I play old pieces infinitely better (without practice) than I used to when working at them."—G. P., London.

"I have done no finger studies of any sort since your instructions came, yet I can play ever so much better."—E., Mus. Bac., F.R.C.O.

"Difficulties which were once almost insurmountable now seem to fall to pieces as I play. The keyboard, which once seemed hard and unyielding, has now become like velvet to my fingers."—D. Parkes, Plymouth.

"Was afraid to play a piece in public. Now I have no fear at all. I play no technical exercises."—H., Mus. Bac.

"To me it has been a veritable godsend."—C. S. Parsonson, Mus. Bac.

"You were quite right in assuming that I was in the habit of playing with a limp arm. I have derived wonderful benefit from your hint on this point."—K., Belfast.

"I had decided to send this piece (Czerny's Toccata) with test passages marked, but on playing it to-day I find the difficulties have almost vanished."—C., L.R.A.M.

"My technique has improved wonderfully—nay, almost incredibly. . . . I never feel the need of them (technical exercises) now; during the last few months I have done nothing of the sort."—C. T. R. Scott, Brussels.

"For lightness of touch I would not take off my hat to anybody. A lady said to me the other day that I must have practised a great deal to procure such a touch, and when I told her I did not practise at all at the keyboard, she looked dumbfounded."—W., F.R.C.O.

"I have found the system of the greatest possible use in teaching the piano, more particularly in the case of adult pupils, to many of whom music is now a delight instead of a toil as formerly. To teachers whose time is so fully occupied that they have no time for practice, Macdonald Smith's system is worth ten times the modest fee which he charges for lessons."—Chas. G. Bryan, Southport.

COMPLETE COURSE OF SIX LESSONS, BY CORRESPONDENCE, THREE GUINEAS.

Terms and conditions for Personal Lessons (concert players only) on application. Prospectus Post-free.

MACDONALD SMITH,
Steinway Hall, Lower Seymour Street, London, W.

RESIDENT PUPIL.—Mr. H. A. JEBOULT, F.R.C.O., A.R.C.M. (O. and C.M., Parish Church, Taunton, &c.), has a VACANCY. Usual subjects for the profession. Fine Willis organ and good services. Comfortable home and low fees to talented youth. 1, Belvedere Road, Taunton.

WANTED, SOLO BOY, £20, and ALTO, £12, for the Church of the Ascension, Balham. Good sight-readers. Apply, by letter, to Adolphus Antoine, 43, Alderbrook Rd., Balham, S.W.

ALTO WANTED, for Church in South Hampstead. Salary, £10. Two services Sunday and weekly rehearsal. Apply, Mus. Doc., 32, King Henry's Road, N.W.

LEADING TENOR REQUIRED, for St. Bartholomew's Church, Sydenham. Salary, £20. Application should be made, by letter, to Dr. Fredk. G. Shinn, 12, Peak Hill Avenue, Sydenham.

MAGDALEN COLLEGE CHOIR.—CHORISTERSHIPS and ACADEMICAL CLERKSHIP.—There will be VACANCIES for two or more Choristers about Easter. Competition, Tuesday, March 22. Age, 9½ to 12½. Also for an Academical Clerk (Bass voice), about June next; age, under 21. For particulars, apply, President, Magdalen College, Oxford.

MISS ESTELLA LINDEN (Soprano), 2½ years principal Soloist at West-End Church, desires APPOINTMENT as PRINCIPAL VOCALIST in London Church. 16, St. Stephen's Road, Bayswater, W.

MISS INGRAM TUCKER (Deputy Contralto (Soloist, City Temple) is disengaged for an APPOINTMENT as PRINCIPAL VOCALIST in a London Church. Twynham, Whetstone, N.

The above two artists may also be engaged together, for Duets, &c.

SOPRANO (Med. cert), experienced in Oratorio and Ballad, will give services for expenses. Press opinions. Vocalist, Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

WANTED, immediately, a DAILY VISITING TEACHER (Lady) of good musical ability and experience in teaching the Pianoforte, for Raine's Girls' School. Must have some diploma or certificate. Further particulars may be obtained of the Head Mistress, Cannon Street Road, E.

LADY (experienced) seeks POST as TEACHER of PIANOFORTE and THEORY in School or College of Music. Holds L.R.A.M. and A.R.C.M. diplomas. Address, H. M., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

LADY (Dresden Cert.) desires VISITING ENGAGEMENT as Piano Teacher in School of Music or otherwise. Thorough technical training on Dresden system. Expression and production of tone special features. Highest refs. Miss Phillips, Streblener Strasse 5 III, Dresden.

A LADY (good Accompanist and Sight Reader) wishes to meet a good Violinist who would give her LESSONS in EXCHANGE for Accompaniments. Address, Mrs. Frame, 12, Tedworth Square, Chelsea, S.W.

WANTED, for English Church in Russia, a LADY ORGANIST and CHOIR TEACHER. Must have excellent references and testimonials. Apply, at once, to Miss Cooper, Teachers' Guild Registry, 74, Gower Street, W.C.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER WANTED, for West Parish Church. Salary, £50. Apply, J. B. McKay, Ashbrook, Galashiels.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER of St. Andrew's Church, Moscow, desires RE-ENGAGEMENT, Anglican or Gregorian. Experienced. Apply, till April 25, to A.R.C.O., English Church, Moscow.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER desires APPOINTMENT. 15 years' experience. First-class testimonials, Charles Cuthbert, 4, Gt. Cheetham St., Lower Broughton, Manchester.

TO CLERGY DESIRING BEST CHURCH MUSIC.—Experienced PRIEST (Univ. Prizeman), with thorough knowledge of Choir Training, and well-known Organist, holding important public appointment, both with Cathedral experience, desire entire RESPONSIBILITY for establishing CHORAL SERVICE of highest type of excellence. In return for total stipend and salary of £300 per ann. they can offer, beside usual clerical assistance and good preaching and intoning, efficient choir-training and the best attainable proficiency in the reverent rendering of the Services. For particulars and references, apply, Clericus, Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

WANTED, good PIANO TUNER. References required. Apply, stating salary required, W. Brotherton, 40, South Road, Bishop Auckland.

TUNER.—WANTED, a First-class PIANO TUNER for country work. A permanent and good berth for a steady, pushing man. Send photo and references, stating wages required, age, &c, to Duck, Son and Pinker, Pulteney Bridge, Bath.

WANTED, by an experienced TUNER and REPAIRER, one or two days' work a week. Highest references. Apply, 202, Lewisham Road, Lewisham, S.E.

WANTED, by a good reliable TUNER, ENGAGEMENT for a week or two every month. London or South. First-class references. C. J. S., Nutley, Carew Rd., Eastbourne.

TUNER (Improver) requires SITUATION. Good Tuner. Well up in small repairs. Good references. A. N. T., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

COUNTER ASSISTANT WANTED. Must have good knowledge of the Catalogues, English and Foreign, and Small Goods. Dale, Forty and Co., Cheltenham.

AN energetic YOUNG MAN, with capital to invest, wishes to communicate with a firm of Piano Makers or Dealers as MANAGER or other position. Thoroughly practical Piano and American Organ Maker. Fine Regulator, Tuner, &c. Good Salesman. Excellent references. B.C., Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners St., W.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER, of considerable experience (M.A., Mus. Bac., F.R.C.O.), is open for RE-ENGAGEMENT. Midlands or South preferred. Excellent testimonials. Address, Magister, Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners St., W.

NEW ORGAN STUDIO, with Three-manual PIPE ORGAN, blown by water. Terms for Practice, 1s. per hour. At Smyth's Music Depôt, 54, London Road, Forest Hill, S.E.

ORGAN PRACTICE. Three manuals and pedals. One shilling per hour. The South London Organ Studio, 343, Coldharbour Lane, close to Brixton Station.

ORGANS (CHURCH). Fine toned, modern, 2 manuals, pedal, 15 stops. £95. Another, 6 stops, 2 manuals. £40. Eustace Ingram, 361, Liverpool Road, London, N.

ORGANS (New and Second-hand) for SALE, from £20, with pedals. Instruments for Church, Chapel, and College, built on the most modern principles, at Bedwell and Sons', Cambridge Organ Works, Cambridge.

ORGAN, in Country Church, for immediate SALE. Several new and second-hand Organs, with 3-2 manuals. W. E. Richardson, Central Organ Works, Hulme, Manchester.

TWO-MANUAL ORGAN for SALE.—Sw.: horn diapason, 8 ft., and gemshorn, 4 ft.; choir: Lieblich gedacht, 8 ft., and flute, 4 ft.; couplers: sw. to ch., ch. to peds., sw. super-octave. Two octaves of pedals. Polished mahogany case, gilt front. Suitable for Mission Hall; now standing in Drawing-room. Can be seen and tried at any time. Price, where it stands, £30. 22A, Christchurch Road, Streatham Hill, S.W.

Digitized by Google

ORGAN for SALE, now in Albrighton Church, near Wolverhampton. One-manual, 8 stops. Pedal clavier. Handsome front. £30. Apply, Vicar.

FOR SALE.—TWO-MANUAL and PEDAL ORGAN, containing 23 stops, 3 couplers, and 5 composition pedals. For full particulars, apply, W. M., 10, Whiteley Road, Gipsy Hill, S.E.

ORGAN for SALE.—Two Manuals and Pedals. 9 stops. In splendid condition. Handsome front. Suitable for gentleman's drawing-room, chapel or mission-room. Price, with desk seat, £70. Can be seen at any time at 6, Oakleigh Road, Whetstone, N.

PIPE ORGAN for SALE, built by Snetzler in 1760, containing 6 stops. Compass, BB to E, 54 notes. Suit gentleman's hall. Particulars, apply, Joseph William Blackham, Incorporated Account, 180, Corporation Street, Birmingham.

9 GUINEAS.—AMERICAN ORGAN (list price, 20 guineas), 11 stops, including two knee-stops and the beautiful solo stops, voix celeste and vox humana; two octave couplers, handsome high case; in use about four months; ten years' warranty; easy terms arranged. Packing and carriage free. Approval. Full price paid will be allowed within three years if exchanged for a higher-class instrument. D'Almaine and Co. (established 113 years), 91, Finsbury Pavement, E.C. Open till 7. Saturdays, 3.

ORGAN PEDALS to PIANOS.—New method of Attachment by TUBULAR PNEUMATIC. This action surpasses all mechanical actions for prompt and Organ-like Touch. It is less expensive, easy to attach, and does not injure the most delicate Pianoforte. Prospectus, with full description and price lists, on application to Norman Bros. and Beard, Organ Works, Norwich.

14 GUINEAS.—PIANO, solid iron frame upright grand (list price 23 guineas); full compass, trichord, celeste action, &c.; in handsomely carved walnut wood case, four feet in height; in use only six months; sent on approval, carriage free, to any part of the United Kingdom; ten years' warranty; easy terms arranged; full price paid will be allowed if exchanged for a higher class instrument within three years. D'Almaine and Co. (established 113 years), 91, Finsbury Pavement, City. Open till 7. Saturdays, 3.

HIGHEST AWARDS WHEREVER EXHIBITED.

Merit Medals { REAL IMPROVEMENTS. COMPACTNESS.

N.B.—No award ever obtained by any Attachment (London or elsewhere) when in competition with

AINSWORTH'S
Organ—Pedal—Combination
FOR PIANOS.

ORIGINAL PATENTEES AND OLDEST MANUFACTURERS.

AINSWORTH'S O.P.C. is not an attachment, but is an elegant and very compact Metallic-Coupler, altogether superior to attachments, and requiring less than half their space. Pedals are removable at pleasure, and the O.P.C. suits all Pianos.

THE SUPERIORITY & PERFECTION
OF THE
O.P.C.

are the outcome of nearly twenty years' study and experiment.

AINSWORTH (himself an Organist of over twenty years) would be pleased for you to have his List, wherein are described his inventions, which were successful in obtaining H.M.R.L. Patent thrice for real improvements, and which also are recommended by the entire musical profession, and are an unparalleled success. Enquiries respectfully solicited.

Trade and Professional terms, with List, sent free on enquiry.
Foreign enquiries will ensure attention by covering postage.

AINSWORTH'S CRESDIMO ORGAN WORKS,
BRINSCALL, CHORLEY (England).

Auction Rooms specially for the Sale of Musical Property.

MESSRS. PUTTICK and SIMPSON, Auctioneers, 7, Leicester Square, London, W.C., hold SPECIAL SALES of MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS on or about the 20th of every month. Sales of Musical Libraries, Music Plates, and Copyrights, Trade Stocks, Manufacturers' Plant, &c., are held as occasion may require. Valuations for Probate or Legacy Duty, or for Public or Private Sale. Terms on application.

Awarded Medal of Honour at the International Inventions Exhibition London, 1885.

THE ONLY AWARD.

RUMMENS'
Organ Pedal Attachment
FOR PIANOFORTES.

DETACHABLE PEDAL BOARD.
EQUAL TO ORGAN PRACTICE.

Testimonials from all the Chief Organists of the day.
Write for particulars to
H. J. RUMMENS,
1, WYNNE ROAD, late 47, CHURCH ROAD, BRIXTON, S.W.

THE OLD FIRM.

P. CONACHER & CO.,
Organ Builders,
SPRINGWOOD WORKS,
HUDDERSFIELD.
TWO GOLD MEDALS.

NICHOLSON AND CO.,
ORGAN BUILDERS,
PALACE YARD, WORCESTER.
(ESTABLISHED 1841.)
Specifications and Estimates sent free.

By Royal Appointment.

NORMAN & BEARD,
Organ Builders,
NORWICH AND LONDON
(Established 1870),

Have recently restored the following Organs:—

BOMBAY CATHEDRAL;
ST. PAUL'S, PADDINGTON;
THE TEMPLE CHURCH, LONDON;
ALL SAINTS', MARGARET STREET, LONDON.

N.B.—Estimates for New Organs or Reconstructions free.

Testimonial from Dr. PEACE, of Liverpool:—
"January 24, 1897.

"I have much pleasure in expressing my high opinion of the Organ you have erected in Trinity Presbyterian Church, Birkenhead. As regards its general quality of tone, the instrument possesses those characteristics which are always associated with high-class workmanship, whilst the mechanical part of it is everything that the most exacting could wish.

"So far as my experience with your work goes, I think it is decidedly one of the best instruments you have built, and I think the congregation has every reason to be congratulated on the possession of a really excellent specimen of genuine artistic Organ-building.

"Yours very truly,
"A. L. PEACE."

Address:
NORMAN & BEARD,
24, QUEEN VICTORIA STREET, LONDON, E.C.

Telephone 416, Bank.

Digitized by Google

Trinity College London (Music)

INSTITUTED 1872.

MANDEVILLE PLACE, MANCHESTER SQUARE, W.

President:
THE RIGHT HON. LORD COLERIDGE, M.A., Q.C.
Warden:
PROFESSOR E. H. TURPIN, Mus.D.
Director of Examinations:
PROFESSOR JAMES HIGGS, Mus.B.
Registrar:
PROFESSOR J. GORDON SAUNDERS, Mus.D.

HIGHER EXAMINATIONS IN MUSIC.

The Higher (Professional) Examinations, open to all Persons (whether students of the College or not), are held in January and July of each year, at the College in Mandeville Place, W., viz.:—

DIPLOMA OF ASSOCIATE IN MUSIC (A.Mus. T.C.L.).
Candidates are required to pass the Matriculation Examination, or an equivalent, and to satisfy the Examiners in the following subjects: Harmony (up to four parts), Counterpoint (three parts), Musical History, and either Choir Training, or Vocal and Aural Physiology, or Elementary Acoustics. Examination fee, £2 2s. (and Matriculation Examination fee, 10s. 6d.).

DIPLOMA OF LICENTIATE IN MUSIC (L.Mus. T.C.L.).
Candidates, except in the case of a Graduate in Music of a British University, must previously have obtained the Grade of Associate in Music. The Examination will include the following subjects: Harmony (five parts), Counterpoint (five parts), Double Counterpoint, Imitation, Canon and Fugue, Form and Instrumentation. Examination fee, £3 3s.

HIGHER CERTIFICATES, PRACTICAL DIVISION.
Candidates for the Higher Certificates (Practical or Theoretical) are not required to pass the Matriculation Examination. The subjects of Examination are:—

i. Pianoforte Playing, with the titles of Associate-Pianist (A.T.C.L. Pianist) and Certificated Pianist.
ii. Organ Playing, with the titles of Organ-Associate (A.T.C.L. Organist) and Certificated Organist.
iii. Solo-Singing, with the titles of Associate-Vocalist (A.T.C.L. Vocalist) and Certificated Vocalist.
iv. Orchestral Instruments, with the titles of Associate-Violinist (A.T.C.L. Violinist), &c., &c.

Examination fee, £2 2s. each subject.

A prize of the value of Five Guineas, presented by Dr. Thomas J. Colman, Chairman of the Bristol Centre for Local Examinations, is awarded annually, in July, to the Candidate gaining the highest number of marks of the year in Pianoforte Playing at the Higher Examinations.

HIGHER CERTIFICATES, THEORETICAL DIVISION.
Subjects: Harmony, Counterpoint, Instrumentation, &c., &c. Examination fee, £1 1s. each subject.

PRACTICAL LICENTIATESHIP.
Candidates are required to pass (1) a Practical Examination of Associate Standard, and (2) Examinations in Harmony and Counterpoint, in not more than four parts. Examination fee, £3 3s.

The Matriculation, Diploma of Associate in Music, and Higher Theory Certificate Examinations are also held in JANUARY at certain Local Centres.

The Fiftieth Half-yearly Examinations as above will take place at the College, JULY 18 to 26, 1898, the latest time for entering being JUNE 18, 1898. Regulations and forms of application may be had from the undersigned.

By Order of the Board,
SHELLEY FISHER, Secretary.
Mandeville Place, Manchester Square, W.

Just Published.

TO BE PRODUCED BY THE ROYAL CHORAL SOCIETY, AT THE ROYAL ALBERT HALL, MARCH 16, 1898.

THE

GATE OF LIFE

DRAMATIC CANTATA

FOR

Soprano, Tenor, and Bass Soli, Chorus, and Orchestra

THE VERSE WRITTEN BY

SHAPCOTT WENSLEY

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

FRANCO LEONI.

PRICE TWO SHILLINGS.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

John Broadwood & Sons

PIANOFORTE MAKERS

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT TO

HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCE OF WALES
HER ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCESS OF WALES
HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE DUKE OF EDINBURGH
(DUKE OF SAXE-COBURG AND GOTHA)

AND THE

REST OF THE ROYAL FAMILY.

John Broadwood & Sons

respectfully draw attention to, and invite inspection of, their newly introduced and improved straight and cross strung

HORIZONTAL

AND

UPRIGHT PIANOFORTES.

33, GREAT PULTENEY STREET (near Regent Street),
LONDON, W.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC,

Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1883,

PRINCE CONSORT ROAD, SOUTH KENSINGTON, S.W.

President: H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES, K.G.
Director: C. HUBERT H. PARRY, Esq., D.C.L., M.A., Mus. Doc.
Hon. Sec.: CHARLES MORLEY, Esq., M.P.

The NEXT TERM will begin on May 5. Entrance Examination, May 3, at 11 o'clock.
ASSOCIATE of the R.C.M. Next Examination, April, 1898. Last day for entering, March 9.
The DOVE SCHOLARSHIP for VIOLONCELLO will be competed for in March. Last day for entering, March 16.
Syllabus and official Entry Forms may be obtained of
FRANK POWNALL, Registrar.

Just Published.

TO BE PERFORMED BY THE ROYAL CHORAL SOCIETY AT THE ROYAL ALBERT HALL, MARCH 16, 1898.

A NEW EDITION OF

THE RUINS OF ATHENS

A CANTATA

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

L. VAN BEETHOVEN

THE ENGLISH WORDS WRITTEN AND ADAPTED BY

PAUL ENGLAND.

EXTRACT FROM PREFACE.

The present edition, unlike that previously published in England, contains the whole of Beethoven's music; the two numbers which have been restored are the "Interlude" and the Recitative (Nos. 5 and 6). It is hoped that this new issue of the work will help to make Beethoven's "The Ruins of Athens" better known and more generally appreciated.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.

Full Score and Orchestral Parts, for use with this Edition, may be had on hire from the Publishers.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

THE ASSOCIATED BOARD of the R.A.M. and R.C.M. for LOCAL EXAMINATIONS in MUSIC.

President:

H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES, K.G.

LOCAL CENTRE EXAMINATIONS will be held from MARCH 29 to APRIL 15 in the following Centres:—

Aberdeen, Ayr, Bangor, Barnstaple, Bath, Bedford, Belfast, Birmingham, Blackburn, Bolton, Bournemouth, Bradford, Brighton, Bristol, Cambridge, Canterbury, Cardiff, Carlisle, Cheltenham, Chester, Colchester, Cork, Croydon, Darlington, Derby, Dorchester, Dover, Dublin, Dumfries, Dundee, Eastbourne, Edinburgh, Elgin, Exeter, Folkestone, Glasgow, Gloucester, Gravesend, Greenock, Guernsey, Guildford, Hastings, Hereford, Huddersfield, Hull, Inverness, Ipswich, Isle of Wight, Jersey, Lancaster, Leamington, Leeds, Leicester, Limerick, Lincoln, Liverpool, London, Londonderry, Maidstone, Manchester, Margate, Middlesbrough, Newcastle-upon-Tyne, Newport (Mon.) and Monmouthshire, Northampton, Norwich, Nottingham, Oxford, Perth, Peterborough, Plymouth, Portsmouth, Preston, Reading, Rochester and Chatham, St. Andrew's (Fife), Salisbury, Scarborough, Sheffield, Shrewsbury, Southampton, Southport, Swansea, Taunton, Torquay, Truro, Tunbridge Wells, Ulverston, Watford, Weston-super-Mare, Wigan, Wolverhampton, Worcester, Yarmouth (Great), York.

LOCAL SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS will be held during the MARCH-APRIL period in the following Towns:—

Aberystwith, Abingdon, Aylesbury, Basingstoke, Bedford, Bexley Heath, Blackburn, Blackpool, Bristol, Chester, Chichester, Cirencester, Croydon, Cupar, Dundee, Eastbourne, Edinburgh, Exeter, Felixstowe, Gateshead, Gravesend, Harrogate, Huddersfield, Hull, Hunstanton, Ingleton, Ipswich, Isle of Wight, Kirkcaldy, Leeds, Limpsfield, Lincoln, Liverpool, Llandudno, Middlesbrough, Newcastle-upon-Tyne, Preston, Reading, Redhill, Rochester, Scarborough, Sheffield, Skipton, Southampton Southsea, Stamford, Stroud, Taunton, Tunbridge Wells, Watford, Weston-super-Mare.

SAMUEL AITKEN, Hon. Secretary.

Central Office, 22, Maddox Street, London, W.

With this number are presented gratis Extra Supplements, consisting of an Anthem, entitled "I heard a great voice," by Gerard F. Cobb, and a Portrait of Mr. August Manns, specially taken for this paper by Messrs. Negretti and Zambra.

THE MUSICAL TIMES

AND SINGING-CLASS CIRCULAR.

MARCH 1, 1898.

MR. AUGUST MANNS.

The orchestral conductor—or the conductor of an orchestra—plays an important part in modern musical life. But it should not be forgotten that the permanent introduction into England of even the baton itself, as a time-beating stick, is within living memory. When Spohr temporarily used it at the Philharmonic Society's concerts in 1820, the gentlemen of the orchestra revolted—if they did not misconduct themselves—at the innovation. It was not until 1832 that the conductors, such as they were, of the Philharmonic concerts began to use the baton. For many years the only professional conductor—i.e., one who devoted himself entirely to the art—was the late Sir Michael Costa. But Costa's experience as a purely orchestral conductor was limited to the seventy-three concerts he conducted at the Philharmonic (1846-1854) and an occasional symphony at a provincial festival. It might perhaps be supposed that the reign in England of the modern orchestral conductor—to use the current term—began with Hans Richter, when he conducted his first orchestral concert in London, at St. James's Hall, May 5, 1879. But for nearly a quarter of a century previously there had been working at the Crystal Palace, literally "in season and out of season," a conductor who, though foreign born, has had a great influence upon orchestral music in England. For more than forty-two years Mr. Manns has zealously discharged his conducting duties with singular ability. His name has become a household word, not only in English musical circles, but throughout the length and breadth of the land. His life story, as related to us by the veteran conductor himself, while the sun shines brightly into his pleasant study on this February morning, is not only full of interest, but is heightened by many incidents as fascinating as they are varied.

August Friedrich Manns was born at Stolzenburg, a village near Stettin, in North Germany, March 12, 1825. His father was a glass-blower, with "a pound a week and ten children," of whom August was the fifth. When the father returned from his day's work he would take down his fiddle from the wall and make music to his children, while they listened with open-mouthed rapture to the simple strains. Thus was the true love for music generated under the humble roof of that working man's home. At the age of six Master August was sent to the village school, where the day's work always commenced with a hymn sung from a figure-notation upon the ancient "movable doh" system. In course of time the father's fiddle was augmented by another, a violoncello, and a horn, played by August's elder brothers, and later on by an old F flute, played by the future conductor of the Crystal Palace orchestra. Such music-making, although all by ear, was a delightful feature in the home life.

At the age of ten, August temporarily took the place of one of his brothers at the factory, but he had no liking for the work of glass-blowing. It may be presumed, in passing, that the boy had no visions of that glass palace in which he was afterwards to labour for nearly half-a-century. There was some idea of making him a schoolmaster, but music strongly asserted itself. At the age of twelve he was sent to a school, kept by his uncle, at Torgelow, a neighbouring village. Here he became a musical pupil of Herr Tramp, the village musician, who, having fought at the battle of Leipzig, retained a memento of the event in the form of a bullet in his hip. Up to this time the boy had been self-taught, and Tramp soon put him into the pathway of acquiring the proper fingering of both the flute and clarinet; but his chief instrument was the violin. As he had no means of buying an instruction book, he copied out the greater part of Rode, Kreutzer, and Baillot's book on the violin. How very different is the lot of the student in these days of cheap primers on music? Young Manns was soon able to help his master in playing at village dances, wedding festivities, &c., consequent upon Herr Tramp's assurance that such practice would be beneficial to his bow-arm.

Digitized by Google

The next step in the musical education of August Manns was taken when, at the age of fifteen and after he had been confirmed, he was apprenticed for three years to Urban, the town musician of Elbing. For two hours every morning the pupils played together easy symphonies by Haydn and Mozart, also lighter music for the garden concerts which the town musician had to conduct. There was a healthy rivalry amongst these boys, who were taught every instrument in the orchestra. There were, however, various makeshifts. Manns had to play the second oboe part on the flute; a season later the first oboe on the C clarinet. The imperfect mechanism of the latter instrument in those days necessitated the boy's practising a passage nearly all day long before he could get it to go properly. This practical experience in the knowledge of the embouchure of the different wind instruments was of the greatest practical advantage to the future conductor. It would be impossible for him to have made the mistake of a pianistical-conductor who, in rehearsing the trio in Beethoven's Eighth Symphony, made the horns go over their difficult passage twelve times in succession (which "killed the players' lips" for two days) instead of telling them how to play it. In his third year Manns played first violin in the string-band and first clarinet in the wind-band of Urban's Town-band; and he was selected by Urban to receive special lessons in harmony and composition. "God has been very good to me," says the veteran conductor, with his seventy-two years of life behind him, as he recalls the memories of those youthful days. "My parents were too poor to pay for any extra lessons, so a few merchants at Elbing subscribed together, whereby I received instruction on the violin from Herr Gross, a former pupil of the celebrated Ferdinand David, of Leipzig."

When young Manns was nearing the conscription age, a friend remarked to him: "They will be making a hussar of a fine young fellow like you." But Manns "stole a march" on the authorities by enlisting in an infantry regiment, stationed at Dantzig, as one of the first clarinets in the band. At the same time he played the violin in the theatre orchestra, fiddled for the ballet rehearsals for three or four hours every day, and performed as a solo violinist at concerts. He also began to arrange and compose for the band. The Revolution of 1848 caused the regiment to remove to Posen. Here Manns was noticed by Wieprecht, who helped to transfer him to Gungl's orchestra at Berlin, where he played first violin. This was but a stepping-stone to the post of conductor and solo violinist at Kroll's Gardens, the Crystal Palace of Berlin, which Mr. Manns held from 1849 till the place was destroyed by fire in 1851. He also worked hard at harmony and composition under Gyer, and produced much dance and other music of a light character which was very popular.

The burnt-out conductor at Kroll's had only been idle for two months when Colonel von Roon (afterwards Count and Field-Marshal, well known in the great war of 1870), then in command of a crack infantry regiment at Königsberg, wrote to his staff-officer in Berlin to the following effect: "I can't stand my present bandmaster. I want a young man. Can you find out what has become of that young fellow with long hair who used to conduct at Kroll's before it was burnt down?" The result was the engagement as bandmaster of the "young fellow with long hair" by Colonel von Roon, who was a man of great culture and refinement. Manns began by discharging a dozen of the bad players, and held frequent rehearsals for four or five weeks. He also formed a string band in the regiment, and arranged works like Beethoven's "Coriolan" Overture and movements from Beethoven's symphonies for the wind-band, and in many ways made the musical reputation of the regiment very prominent. At Cologne, whither the regiment had removed, King Frederick William IV., who was very fond of music, inspected the troops, and at the banquet following the band greatly distinguished itself before the royal guest.

Hitherto Mr. Manns's music-makings had been of the lighter kind. He had now reached the age of twenty-eight and craved for music of a higher type. The opportunity of what proved to be a momentous change in his life came with the visit to Cologne of Herr Schallehn, who had been appointed director of the music at the Crystal Palace, Sydenham, soon about to be opened. Schallehn engaged August Manns to play the E flat clarinet in the Crystal Palace band, to be sub-conductor of the band, and to make himself generally useful as copyist, &c., at a wage of £3 per week. Manns duly came to England and played at the opening of the Crystal Palace, by the Queen, on June 10, 1854. The band at that time was practically a brass wind-band of sixty-four performers, Mr. Manns being one of the three wood-wind players. After the opening, the next great event at the Crystal Palace was a "Grand Military Fête in aid of the sick and wounded and the widows and orphans of Her Majesty's Forces engaged in the [Crimean] war," which was then in progress. The fête, held on October 28, 1854, was attended by 40,000 people. The great feature of the day was a combined performance of thirteen military bands, including the celebrated "Les Guides" band from Paris. Herr Schallehn, who conducted, had previously handed to his sub-conductor, Manns, three volumes of national airs, British, French, and Turkish respectively, with the request that he would compose (or arrange) a set of national-air quadrilles to be played by the combined bands on that auspicious and patriotic occasion. Mr. Manns worked at his task night and day, composing, scoring, and copying out the parts of these said quadrilles. Schallehn also asked him to make a pianoforte arrangement of the score, which he did, though his knowledge of the pianoforte was extremely limited. The result of Manns's continuous and arduous labours brought on an illness. Great was his astonishment when, on receiving the proofs of the "Alliance Quadrilles," he found that they were stated to be "composed by H. Schallehn!" The natural indignation of the indefatigable sub-conductor may be best set forth in his own forcible words, as recorded in the following extract from the Musical World of November 18, 1854:

Digitized by Google

THE CRYSTAL PALACE BAND.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "MUSICAL WORLD."

Sydenham, November 9, 1854.

SIR,—You being the worthy exponent of the wrongs of artists, may I trouble you to inform the musical world, the treatment I have received at the hands of a person in "a little brief authority." I am certain that I have only to appeal for justice to Englishmen—that which I am denied by a countryman of my own—when I shall receive it, more especially from those who hate petty tyranny and counterfeitism, if I may so use the word, in that art which should be above anything mean or despicable. I was engaged last May to be sub-conductor of the band of the Crystal Palace—my duty was to play an E flat clarinet, and conduct the band when the conductor was not present—I have done so, and, besides, corrected the mistakes in all the music played, the palpable inefficiency of the proper party not being able to discern whether the parts were right or not. I have tried also to put into some correct shape, the collection of useless music, not suitable, nor ever will be, for the said band, purchased at the expense of the Company. On the occasion of the fête in aid of the Patriotic Fund, I arranged a set of quadrilles suitable for the occasion, combining English, French and Turkish melodies, together with some original matter added of my own, and christened them "The Alliance Quadrille." I had them well rehearsed for the occasion, and they were played with éclat. I arranged them for the pianoforte and gave them to Mr. Schallehn, the conductor, who said he could sell them for me. What was my surprise to perceive, in a day or two, my quadrille announced by a publisher in the City as "The Alliance Quadrille," composed by Henry Schallehn. I went to Mr. Schallehn and demanded his reason for so acting, when he coolly offered me one pound, stating that that even would pay me, and rudely informing me his name would sell them better than mine. I spurned his offer, when he stated, for my impudence, I should then and there be dismissed and leave the Crystal Palace band. I have served in some of the first orchestras in Europe, and I have never heard of such uncalled for and futile vengeance from a party in power—whether the true artist could act so or not, I leave your readers to determine. I have made a full and true statement to the chairman of the directors of the whole circumstance, and it rests with them, whether artists who join their band are to be thus treated for merely protesting against appropriation of their property by their conductor.

I have the honour to remain, Mr. Editor,
Yours respectfully,
AUGUST MANNS.

In the same issue of the Musical World the following appeared as its first leader, written by the late James W. Davison, then editor. This article is in Davison's best style; and it is also interesting thus to know that "J. W. D." not only championed the cause of "a German artist of the name of Manns," but that his (Manns's) name, in all probability, first appeared in print in an English newspaper in this leader. Here it is:

An appeal is made to us, in our columns to-day, which we cannot resist. A German artist, of the name of Manns, was engaged by Herr Schallehn as sub-director of the Crystal Palace Band; possessing the quality of a musician, which the director himself so much needed, Herr Manns soon made himself very useful as composer and arranger for the orchestra. On the occasion of the performance for the benefit of the Patriotic Fund, at which "Les Guides" and several military bands assisted, the sub-director composed a quadrille on national melodies at the request of his superior in office, Herr Schallehn. The director was so well pleased with the performance that he immediately published the quadrille under his own name; and, according to Herr Manns, sold the copyright to a publisher for ten guineas. These unusual proceedings were protested against by the composer, but the only compensation which the director offered him in return was a pound for his time, which he said was ample compensation. However, Herr Manns did not feel disposed to give up so easily his reputation and profits to another, and continued his expostulations, which the director at last silenced emphatically by discharging the refractory composer from the orchestra.

Thus the poor musician is suddenly deprived of his means of subsistence, and for no other reason but that he is talented, and will not quietly allow another man to appropriate the fruits of his brains.

The tale requires no comment; every Englishman will burn with indignation at such an act of injustice, and will watch with eagerness the result of the injured artist's appeal to the managers of the Crystal Palace Company. There is but one step to take, and we trust the directors will take that step. It is to restore Herr Manns to his place in the orchestra, and to discharge the man who, without talent and character, acts the part of tyrant over the unfortunate men who are his superiors in everything but salary.

The appeal of Mr. Manns to the directors of the Crystal Palace was fruitless. Schallehn produced the contract, which contained a clause that everything that the sub-conductor did in the way of arrangements, &c., should be his (Schallehn's) property. Schallehn therefore dismissed Mr. Manns, who was paid his week's salary of £3 and departed. Subsequent events justify us in giving this detailed account of the "Alliance Quadrille" incident.

Alone in London, and having become responsible for defraying the cost of a younger brother's education, it was necessary for Mr. Manns to get work. He assiduously began to practise his violin. One day he met a friend who, being about to give a concert at Leamington, asked his co-operation. The discharged clarinettist's success as a solo violinist at this concert was so great that he settled for a short time at Leamington as a teacher, where he managed to make a living. In the winter of 1854-55 he became a violinist in Mr. Wood's opera band in Scotland, and played at the first desk with one Mackenzie, "the Scottish Paganini," whose little son, then a red-faced boy six or seven years old, used to run about the music-stands, but who is now so well known as Sir Alexander Mackenzie, Principal of the Royal Academy of Music.

Digitized by Google

After the Scottish opera season had finished, Mr. Manns accepted an engagement from a M. de Boer to conduct the summer concerts of 1855 at Amsterdam. Before starting he heard from Mr. (now Sir) George Grove, secretary of the Crystal Palace Company, that the directors had decided to make a change, consequent upon their great dissatisfaction with Herr Schallehn, with whom they had had great trouble since Mr. Manns left. But the Amsterdam engagement could not be broken without the payment of a fine of 2,000 gulden, and Manns departed to charm the Dutchmen. An appeal to M. de Boer brought the reply that he could not possibly spare his chef d'orchestre; that formerly he had lost money by his concerts, but that since Mr. Manns had come he, for the first time, had made them pay. However, he hoped the directors would keep the place open till October, when the engagement would expire. This they could not promise to do in the event of some one suitable being previously found. In the meantime Mr. Manns sent his excellent Amsterdam programmes to Mr. Grove, "who," he says, "kept me warm with the directors." However, upon his return he was duly installed, in the autumn of 1855, as director of the music at the Crystal Palace, in whose service he has remained up to the present time. The pen of that ready writer, J. W. Davison, again came to the aid of Mr. Manns, in the following note of warm welcome and encouragement and prophetic insight, which is abridged from one of the leaders in the Musical World of October 20, 1855:

Herr Schallehn has been dismissed from the direction of the Crystal Palace Band, and Herr August Manns has been appointed in his place. The new director is the martyr to whose case we drew attention some twelve months ago. It will be remembered that he was discharged by Herr Schallehn because he objected to the appropriation of his compositions by the director. It is unnecessary to repeat the details of the affair now; our only reason for alluding to the subject being a desire to justify the severe views we entertained of Herr Schallehn's conduct, and which seem now to be shared by the directors.

The change will, we trust, lead to some necessary improvements in the band. Herr Manns has a capital opportunity of distinguishing himself. His resources are sufficient to constitute one of the finest bands in the kingdom, and we shall be glad to find the Crystal Palace orchestra achieve such a reputation under his conductorship. . . . Herr Manns is too intelligent a musician not to appreciate the nature of his resources and the requirements of his public. It may be safely predicted, that the music at the Crystal Palace will be one of its principal attractions within a short time after the instalment of the new director.

Henceforward the career of Mr. Manns is almost inseparably associated with the Crystal Palace. He brought to his duties a youthful enthusiasm, a highly æsthetic temperament, a strongly developed feeling for rhythmic accentuation resulting from his early experiences as a player of dance music, and a remarkable gift for natural and delicate phrasing. A different spirit, a new life animated the players. Having a thorough artist at their head, they became impregnated with the poetry of artistic utterance in the interpretation of orchestral music. Mr. Manns found an enthusiastic colleague and most appreciative friend in Sir George Grove, the secretary of the Crystal Palace Company, who not only "kept him warm with the directors" during the Amsterdam period, but for many years afterwards.

Mr. Manns gave his first concert at the Crystal Palace on Saturday, October 20, 1855. Here is the programme:

PART THE FIRST.

(String Band in the Music Court.)

1. Festival Overture .. .. Leutner.
2. Fantasia Brillant for Violin, on airs from "Der Freischütz" .. .. } Moeser.
   Violin, Mr. Manns.
3. Solo for Pianoforte, "The Chimes of England" Holmes.
   Pianoforte, Mr. Darlinton.
4. Romance for Violin, Opus 50, in F .. .. Beethoven.
   Violin, Mr. Manns.
5. Overture, "Oberon" .. .. Weber.

PART THE SECOND.

(Wind Band in the Central Transept.)

1. Overture, "Ruy Blas" .. .. Mendelssohn.
2. Waltz, "Des Wanderers Lebewohl" .. Strauss.
3. Charivari .. .. Zulehner.
4. Marian Redowa .. .. Manns.
5. Overture, "Le Roi d'Yvetot" .. .. Adam.

AUGUST MANNS,
Musical Director.

The permanent band was then a wind-band, from which, with four specially engaged string players, Mr. Manns improvised an orchestra of about thirty-four performers—"strings and wind." Later on, through the liberality of the directors, the band was changed into a full orchestra. At first the concerts were given in different parts of the Palace. It was not until the opening of the second season, on November 15, 1856, that they found their permanent home "in the New Music Room," which, however, was not completed until 1859, three years later. It would be entirely beyond the limits of this biographical sketch to record the remarkable history of the world-famed Saturday concerts. Those who wish for a more detailed account will find it admirably set forth in an interesting pamphlet by Dr. F. G. Shinn.* We can only

* "Forty Seasons of Saturday Concerts at the Crystal Palace. A retrospect and an appeal." By Frederick G. Shinn. Crystal Palace Company, Sydenham. 1896.

Digitized by Google

refer to some of the more important features of Mr. Manns's remarkable régime at the Crystal Palace.

It is quite evident that music at the Palace, in spite of Sir George Grove's "warmness," was not very considerately regarded at first. At the concert of December 6, 1856, "part of the Haydn Symphony"—the most important number in the programme—was omitted, "in order that Mr. Adolphus Francis may read Byron's 'Prisoner of Chillon,' as an experiment of the capabilities of the New Music Room for lecturing purposes." It is no wonder that this proceeding drew forth a strong protest from J. W. Davison in the columns of The Times. But we must hasten on. The work of Mr. Manns can best be judged by the following "general statistics" from the last official report—made up to May, 1895—of the Saturday Concerts:

General Statistics.

1. The total number of Compositions performed at the thirty-nine Series of Saturday Concerts amounts to	1,550
2. The number of Symphonies, Suites, Serenades, and other works of Symphonic form and dimensions	195
3. Overtures, Marches, Entr'actes, Ballet Airs, and other detached Orchestral works	585
4. Concertos, Fantasias, and other Compositions for various Instruments (with and without Accompaniments)	576
5. Oratorios, Masses, Cantatas, and other Choral works	194
6. The number of Composers	300
Nationality of same:—
German	104
English	82
French	39
Italian	26

The rest (49), Belgian, Bohemian, Danish, Dutch, Hungarian, Polish, Russian, Spanish, and Swedish.

But these statistics relate only to the Saturday concerts. Allowing an average of 300 performances per annum, Mr. Manns has conducted (in round figures) about 12,000 orchestral concerts during his forty-two years' régime at the Crystal Palace. The practical interest which he has always shown in English music is strikingly demonstrated in the above statistics. English composers now eminent have reason to be grateful to him for his kindly encouragement and the valuable hall-mark of a performance at the Crystal Palace.

Mr. Manns was the first to introduce Sir Arthur Sullivan to the English public, when he conducted the first Mendelssohn Scholar's delightful "Tempest" music (April 5, 1862). During the season of 1878-79 the names of Villiers Stanford and Hubert Parry appear—the former as the composer of a MS. Symphony in B flat, the latter as the composer of an overture, "Guillem de Cabestanh, Troubadour." The compositions of Frederic Cowen, Hamish MacCunn, Frederic Cliffe, and Edward German also received due recognition and careful performances; and it was an exceedingly happy thought to commemorate the fortieth anniversary of the Saturday Concerts by a concert entirely devoted to English music.

In connection with the introduction of Sir Arthur Sullivan's "Tempest" music, the following letter, written thirty-three years after the event, from the composer to his early friend, cannot fail to be of interest:

"Grand Hotel, Paris,
"12 April, 1895.

"Dear Manns,

"I was delighted to see that you were well again, and back at your old post. Don't go and get ill again, for you can be ill spared. It was a real pleasure to me to be able to help you even in such a very small manner. I wish I could have done more to shew my regard and affection for you. To-day is the 12th April. On the 12th April, 1862, was performed the music to 'The Tempest' for the second time (the 5th April was the first performance).

"How much do I not owe to you, my dear old friend, for the helping hand you gave me to mount the first step on the ladder! I shall always think of you with gratitude and affection.

"Ever yours sincerely,
"Arthur Sullivan."

Several "first performances in England" of orchestral classics, including Mendelssohn's "Reformation" Symphony, have taken place at the Crystal Palace. The music of Schubert—the dearly-beloved of Sir George Grove—and Schumann has been specially fostered at Sydenham. Mr. Manns introduced to English audiences the great C major Symphony in two instalments (1856), the lovely B minor Symphony (1867), the delightful "Rosamunde" music, &c. Amongst the frequent applications received at the Crystal Palace for the loan of scores and parts of unusual works was one from Vienna itself for one of Schubert's MS. symphonies, a strange fact which all concerned in the music of the Palace may regard with special satisfaction.

Schumann's music has always had a warm corner in Mr. Manns's heart. More than forty years ago, when Schumann was unjustly depreciated by a section of the London musical press, Mr. Manns championed his cause with heroic enthusiasm. He gave two performances of the D minor Symphony, then unknown in England, in 1856, and wrote the following sensible words of appreciation in the programme-book (March 15, 1856):

. . . Nothing is so absurd as to speak of Schumann's music as is the fashion with many critics. That which is the delight of so large a number of musical people, not to say which carries with it such evidences of genius and knowledge, can never be contemptible, as some would have us believe. At any rate, no judgment can be formed till we are much better acquainted with it than the musical public of England now are. It should not be forgotten that the compositions of Beethoven, and even of Mozart, were, for long after their first appearance, received with the same rapture and the same dislike by different sections of the musical world.

Digitized by Google

Brahms (in 1863), Raff (in 1870), and Dvorák (in 1879) also first became known in England through the interpretations of Mr. Manns's orchestra. Brahms was introduced by a selection from his Grosse Serenade in D for small orchestra (Op. 11), concerning which the following formed the concluding words of an interesting notice of the composer in the programme-book of April 25, 1863:

This Serenade, though recently published, was written some years back, and exhibits perhaps less individuality than his [Brahms's] later works, which are more independent of preceding composers. The movements are, however, very pleasing, and will favourably introduce this new composer to the Crystal Palace audience. A. M.

Mention must be made of various commemoration performances—beginning with that in 1856 celebrating the centenary of Mozart's birth—and historical concerts which have been a marked feature of the musical life at the Crystal Palace.

It is impossible to over-estimate the educational value of Mr. Manns's work, or its effect upon the progress of music in England. Many students are under a deep debt of gratitude to Mr. Manns and Sir George Grove—the former for giving performances of such high standard and intelligence, the latter for helping the listener towards a poetic appreciation of the music so admirably rendered. The catholicity of the veteran conductor's taste has been a marked feature throughout. Moreover, he has sternly set his face against any "tampering with the classics." Would that other conductors were as loyal to the composer's intention. Mr. Manns relates a very bad specimen of "tinkering" which came under his notice. When some concert performances of operas were given at the Crystal Palace, Mr. Manns, knowing that prima donnas would not attend rehearsals, took the precaution to borrow the band parts from the opera-house. At the band rehearsal of "Fidelio," in which Titiens was to sing, he was greatly surprised not to hear the three horns in the accompaniment to Leonora's air "Komm, Hoffnung, lass den letzten Stern" (No. 9). He stopped the band, and said: "Again." Still the horns were silent. "Horns, horns," he cried, but in vain. "Our parts are pasted over," at last replied those hornists three, who therefore could not play their notes, even by "hook or by crook." Mr. Manns promptly had the coverings damped off the parts, and the notes which Beethoven wrote were duly played as he intended that they should. Two days later the same parts were used at a performance at the opera-house for which there had been no rehearsal. Great was the astonishment of the great conductor (who shall be nameless) when he heard those horn notes which he had so wantonly and carefully eliminated. He was so annoyed that he discharged the librarian on the spot!

Mr. Manns has conducted six Triennial Handel Festivals, with a success which has called forth universal praise—a tribute of appreciation which is felicitously expressed in the Burns motto appended to the following sketch from our genial contemporary Punch:

"A Manns a man for a' that"— and so he has proved himself.
From Punch, June 30, 1883.
(By kind permission of the Proprietors.)

Mr. Manns had to undertake the conductorship of the Handel Festival of 1883 at a few hours' notice. At his first choral rehearsal, held at Exeter Hall, some of the old Costaites showed some mutinous inclinations; but the new conductor restored good humour amongst his singers by practically demonstrating the pedestrian capabilities of Polyphemus by taking "monstrous strides" across the platform, stopping at each rest, and singing the notes with Polyphemic gusto. He concluded his final choral rehearsal with the following tactful speech: "Ladies and Gentlemen,—If you have as much confidence in me as I have in you, we shall have a great success." No wonder that all went as "merry as a marriage-bell."

Mr. Manns has rarely accepted engagements outside the Crystal Palace. But he conducted the Promenade Concerts at Drury Lane in 1859, and, beginning in 1879, he conducted the Orchestral Concerts of the Glasgow Choral Union for thirteen seasons in succession. He possesses the Order of Science and Art, bestowed by the Duke of Saxe-Coburg, and also that of the Fourth Class of the Order of the Crown, conferred upon him by the German Emperor when that monarch visited the Crystal Palace in 1891.

It is in the natural order of things that a public favourite so highly esteemed as Mr. Manns should be the recipient of more than one tangible expression of regard and appreciation. In 1865 he received, from the hands of Mrs. Scott Russell, a purse containing two hundred guineas, together with a clock and candelabra, a present from the visitors of the Crystal Palace. On June 17, 1882, a sum of £800, subscribed by all the leading musicians of the day, was presented to him by the late Sir George Macfarren. Three years ago, in commemoration of his seventieth birthday, he received a silver bowl from the members of his permanent orchestra. But this "three score years and ten" anniversary was made still more memorable by a very remarkable demonstration in the form of a brilliant reception at the Grosvenor Gallery. It took place on April 30, 1895, under the presidency of H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg, when his old friend and colleague, Sir George Grove, presented an address to Mr. Manns, offering him the congratulations of the leading musicians of the metropolis. This auspicious event was "a recognition by his brother musicians of the efforts he had made in the cause of music in England, and in advancing the claims of English composers."

Digitized by Google

Mr. Manns has a vein of humour. In his reply to this address, after referring to some of his early troubles at the Crystal Palace, he proceeded to say: "But there was another source of trouble in store for me, which, however, I had brought upon myself by that tremendous crop of long black hair which I had so lovingly cultivated at that time. Week after week did the postman bring me letters containing curl-papers of every description, with neatly written advice as to how I was to use them. I used also to receive some tiny pink notes, in which were enclosed threepenny-bits, containing repeated requests that I should go to the barber and—get my hair cut!"

SOME PRESENT ASPECTS OF MUSIC.

Probably few persons who have given the matter serious thought are quite satisfied with the condition of music at the present day. You may point out that never has there been general content—that always the art, in the language of the retired admirals and generals who haunt West-End clubs, has been "going to the dogs." I do not dispute it, for the croaker seems to be a necessary part in the organisation of society, and he is seldom remiss in the discharge of his duties. But I cannot remember a time in which music seemed to be so much out of hand as now. The good ship once had a compass to steer by, a definite course, and men on board who knew how to take her into port; whereas now one is uneasily conscious that she is the prey of conflicting winds and currents, that nobody knows where she is going, and that the crew have no ear for the voice of authority. This may simply indicate the apparent confusion of change, just as, in a kaleidoscope, the bits of glass tumble to chaos before forming another symmetrical figure. Not that the illustration of the kaleidoscope is entirely apposite. In the case of that ingenious toy we know a thing of beauty must arise from momentary dislocation. In the case of music we cannot be sure, and uncertainty warrants anxiety. But is it true that music is simply adjusting itself to new conditions and not degenerating into a state of anarchy?

Amid all the turmoil of faction, and the bewilderment of conflicting schools, one fact stands indisputable—namely, that the art is passing through an experience of mediocrity. Never has it so much lacked the leadership of genius and commanding power as now, although at no previous time, perhaps, has it been served by so many who just come short of that high qualification. From Bach and Handel to Brahms, through 150 years of astonishing development, genius has influenced, if not ostensibly guided, the course of music; setting the mass of devotees an example backed by authority, overcoming all opposition, and finally—this generally after death—being accepted as law-giver. But now the highest seats in the temple are vacant, the living voice of authority is silent, and, like a swarm of bees without a queen, the neophytes are pursuing their own devices, unguided and unchecked. It may be urged that this condition of personal independence is the most healthy, inasmuch as it allows free play to individual qualities and the pursuit of individual aims. We do not know this, for history supplies no material with which to work out an estimate of probable results. Never, till now, has there been a condition of personal independence, nor is that condition fully set up at the present moment. The bell-wethers whom the flock have placidly followed may be dead and gone, but the sound of their phantom tintinnabulation is still heard on the hills, and still regarded, though in diminishing degree. For now that we have no leader, word has gone forth that it is shameful to be led. "Live your own life" is urged upon musicians, as upon the restless, aimless crowd of half "emancipated" women. That sounds very well, but first be sure that your own life is worth living; be sure that you are capable of living any life at all in the paths of individualism to which unthinking people invite you. Individualism, however, is the note of the present; soon the ghostly bells will be inaudible, and then it may be said or sung, "All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way."

From that state of things peculiar results may be expected. It is well for genius to pursue its own course, and from its independence, as well as its influence, has always come the gain of art. That is its divine mission, discharging which it cannot err. For less than genius there is no such function. When the heaven-sent leader falls, his subordinates should secure the position last gained, make the best of its possibilities, and await another commander-in-chief. To the credit of British moderation and common-sense, this is what our own composers do. They work out ideas of art which have received the approval of great masters, which those masters have themselves propounded, and they leave to others less prudent the task of showing how incompetent are any powers below those of the highest to do more. There are plenty of the latter class in active operation, and we do not lack such examples of their work as make the judicious grieve and the merry-minded laugh. Unfortunately these futilities are assisted by the cult of the new—nay, the worship of the new, for certain of our generation are worse than children in that regard. The nursery loves fresh toys, but often goes back to the well-worn doll or the familiar rocking-horse as to tried and faithful friends. Our novelty worshippers expend much of their strength in trying to break up the things of yesterday, and in devoting the remainder to clamour for greater extravagances to-morrow. Nothing in music that is wild and whirling comes amiss to them, and they listen to noisy incoherence with as much apparent reverence as did poor Edward Irving to the jabber of the "unknown tongues." Remonstrate with them and they bid you remember how often results have shamed unbelief and mocking. We are not told how often results have done "the other thing," but that of course. Sensible men meet the specious argument by asking if we really are to understand that because some innovations in the past have confounded their opponents, therefore everything new is good and meekly to be accepted. We are to "try the spirits," not to fall down and worship them out of hand. Certain Bereans, when the Christian creed was preached to them, searched the Scriptures for authority, and were commended by the Apostle for their caution. An access of the Berean spirit is wanted in these days to save us from running after false lights and urging music into a swamp. Prove all things; hold fast only that which trial and judgment pronounce to be good. Especially distrust men who come airily out of obscurity with fresh revelations. They are for the most part notoriety hunters, who have been putting two and two together in some dark corner and now proclaim that the result is five. The greatest musical reformers have shown their authority by success in the older way. They inspired confidence by proving that they had a right to lead. The wild eccentric of to-day is backed by no achievement and no experience. His credentials, if he have any, should be demanded and examined.

Digitized by Google

How do these considerations bear upon the kaleidoscope theory? They tend to show, certainly, that there is a state of confusion. The bits of glass are falling from their ordered place, but are they arranging themselves anew into a more beautiful form? We can have no faith in such a result under present circumstances. The best that can be hoped is that conservative musicians may be able to restore the old order till the man of genius comes who shall teach us the right direction and method of further advance.

With regard to the eccentric and often repelling forms which music, especially that for orchestra, is now taking, an important question arises. How are we to explain the measure of favour which those forms receive? I shall not attempt to define the ratio of that measure to the whole body of musical opinion, but no one can attend concerts and fail to see that it is considerable. Moreover, the frenetic applause bestowed upon some noisy and incoherent composition, blazing with colour like a variegated poster, and backed by a "sensational" story, often exceeds that awarded to masterpieces of art. The other day Mr. Lamoureux played in succession the Overture to "Die Zauberflöte," Saint-Saëns's "Danse Macabre," and Beethoven's Choral Symphony. Which work did the audience most delight to honour? There can be no question which. The fact stood out, "gross as a mountain," that their preference was for the "Danse Macabre," with its false fifth and its rattling bones, its clock chiming and its cock-crowing. They would hear it more than once, and did so, though the Choral Symphony had to wait, like a neglected suitor in an anteroom. Here was a demonstration which almost made one regret the passing of the time when frequenters of orchestral concerts were a small body whom the Hanover Square Rooms of that day could accommodate, but who made up in taste and culture what they lacked in numbers. Under the musical oligarchy of which I speak true art had some chance as against the false and meretricious; the award of favour was made by a public who, for the most part, knew what they were doing—whose very failings, such as an excess of caution, leaned to virtue's side. The change from past oligarchy to present democracy was, of course, inevitable and no less certain to produce the evil of a lowered standard in taste and appreciation. Musical education has so extended that the masses have acquired that proverbially dangerous thing, a little knowledge, and have brought into the determining counsels of music a taste not yet freed from vulgarity, together with a capacity of judgment which is swayed by the most primitive instincts. Hence the French composer with his bones, his cock-crowing, and his fiddle out of tune delights more than the finish of Mozart or the grandeur of Beethoven. I am not censuring the public as those who have wilfully gone astray. A man must act according to his lights, and, if the lights be dim, his mistakes are rather a misfortune than a fault. But the state of things just indicated is extremely unpleasant and may be of long endurance. When the franchise was extended, and the "mob" of former days came into the polling booth like a flood, a question arose in the ranks of the old depositories of power, "Who shall educate our masters?" The same query is now put in anxious musical circles and, as yet, no answer has been given. One thing may be taken for granted—we cannot force improvement. It must be left to the always slow process of popular enlightenment, and there is great need of patience among those who would fain see the end brought about at a stroke. At present, music is in the power of the uncultured, who are ready to welcome every form of extravagance, and to determine matters of art by reference to considerations very much other than those to which the commanding voice rightfully belongs.

Digitized by Google

This, however, is a phase in the development of music which could not be avoided; which must have been foreseen. In one sense, moreover, it has a welcome aspect. Mistaken taste and faulty standards of judgment are better than none at all. Their demonstration shows at least an interest in the subject such as may be wisely directed towards the highest results. In this thought perplexed musicians may find some comfort, as promising growth out of the state of childhood which demands mere sensations and into that of manhood with its subordination to the higher things. That growth is promoted by every wise step in musical education, by every concert-giver who insists on demonstrating the good things of art, by every concert-goer who strives towards an intellectual appreciation of the works he hears. All such efforts at advancement tend away from the region where the rattle of dead men's bones is offered as music.

Joseph Bennett.

THE STRUCTURE OF INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC.*

By W. H. Hadow, M.A., B.Mus.

I.

EARLY CONTRAPUNTAL AND MELODIC FORM.

The history of music is the record of a continuous development in which it is of little use that we should seek for origins. If, then, historians have traced the course of instrumental structure from the early years of the seventeenth century, this is not because there was no instrumental music before that date, but because from thenceforward the facts became more accessible and the problems on the whole more interesting.

By structure in music is meant the disposition of ideas over a movement or composition. Its ideal is to be organic, to hold in coherent unity a diversity of separate parts. Take away the unity and it becomes chaotic; take away the diversity and it becomes monotonous; and each of these is on its own side the negation of art. A well-constructed work, in short, is one which so embodies the principles of contrast, balance, and proportion as to stimulate our interest throughout its course, and to leave us with a single organic impression at the end. This result is effected partly by arrangement of themes, partly by distribution of tonal centres, both these being closely related to the truth and value of the emotional content.

Instrumental composers of the early seventeenth century were largely affected by two preceding influences: first, that of the ecclesiastical counterpoint; second, that of the dance measure. Both alike were probably vocal in origin; both alike at periods too early to determine called in the aid of instruments to support the voices or emphasise the rhythm. By the middle of the sixteenth century we find—(a) contrapuntal works written either to be played or sung as occasion served, and marked by their composers "buone da cantare e suonare"; (b) collections of instrumental dance tunes, such as those of Pierre Atteignant (1530), Tielman Susato (1551), and, a little later, the "Orchésographie" of Thoinot Arbeau (1588). To the former we owe the organ compositions of the Gabrielis, probably written as introductions to vocal works, and such early sonatas as those of Turini (1625); the traditions of the latter were carried on by Michael Prætorius and Ghro of Meissen (1612).

The early sonatas were written in simple imitative counterpoint with little or no real modulation, the influences of the ecclesiastical modes being still strong upon them. The dance tunes were much freer in tonality and adopted a large variety of forms, the most important of which are—(1) a two-clause stanza, the first clause modulating out of the key and the second modulating back; and (2) a three-clause stanza of which the third clause repeats the first and the second separates them by a passage of contrast. It should be added that in these early days the latter form is of extremely rare occurrence—indeed, as a rule, the clauses, whether two or three in number, contained different thematic material.*

By the middle of the century both types had considerably developed. The contrapuntal movements were gradually shaking off the influence of the modes and beginning in a cautious and tentative manner to modulate among the nearly related keys. The dance tunes were not only growing more organic as individual numbers, but were being collected together in small groups so arranged as to produce the best effect of contrast in grace and character.† This systematisation of movements gave rise to a distinction, sometimes ascribed to Biagio Marini, between sonate da chiesa and sonate da camera, the former consisting wholly

* The substance of three lectures, musically illustrated, delivered at the Royal Institution, February 12, 19, and 26, 1898.

* See especially the collections of Ghro (1612) and Hammerschmied (1639).

† Thomas Morley (1597) recommends the alternation of Pavan and Galliard, and this seems to have been done in the Ballets of Hammerschmied, though the dances are not named. Later in the century the choice was mainly among the Allemande, Courante, Saraband, Gavotte, and Gigue.

Digitized by Google

or mainly of abstract contrapuntal movements, the latter of a prelude followed by a series of dance measures. Meanwhile the opera was influencing the course of events, not only by its incidental music, but by the elaboration of the overture. This, in the hands of Lulli, adopted usually the stereotyped form of a Grave introduction, an Allegro in free imitative counterpoint, and a Minuet or other dance tune by way of Finale. The so-called "Italian" overture was added about thirty years later, and after some experiments settled down into a scheme of three movements—an Allegro, an Adagio or Andante, and a Finale, quick in time and light in character.

Among Italian composers who aided the cause of chamber music may be mentioned Giovanni Maria Bononcini, Vitali, Bassani, and Giuseppe Torelli, who is said to have written the first concerto. In Germany, during the same period, we have Andreas Hammerschmied, Johann Pezel (the town piper of Leipzig), and Dietrich Becker (violinist to the Corporation of Hamburg). But all these men are of comparatively small account beside Arcangelo Corelli, the first great master of instrumental structure. His work, as usually classified, falls into six books, two each of sonate da chiesa and sonate da camera, one of violin sonatas, and one of concerti grossi. His style is largely influenced by contrapuntal methods, especially in the sonate da chiesa and the concerti; but at the same time his melody is clearer and more incisive than that of any previous chamber composer, and among his many varieties of stanza he helped to establish some which were of considerable importance in the subsequent history of the art. Thus the simple two-clause form, which at the beginning of the century had been somewhat loose and inorganic, is developed by his time into the well-known binary scheme (a_1—b_2 ‖ a_2—b_1), which plays so important a part in the work of J. S. Bach and Domenico Scarlatti. The simple three-clause form (A B A) appears hardly at all in Corelli, but in its place he employs a very noticeable compromise between the two—ternary in general outline, binary in the arrangement of some of its details.* This form may be expressed mechanically as follows:—

1.	2.	3.
Melody ending on a half-close or modulatory to the dominant or relative major: a_1 — b_2	Treatment of similar melodic phrases with freer modulation: a_2 — a_3 &c.	Re-statement of original melody, the last part altered so as to end with a full close in the tonic: a_1 — b_1

Here we have the first definite recognition of the three principles—duality, plurality, unity—on which is founded the structure of the first movement in a typical Beethoven sonata. We cannot say that Corelli invented it, for it is in different ways foreshadowed by Lulli and other melodic writers of the mid-century;* but at least he brought it into active existence. And though it is less frequent in his work than the simple binary stanza, yet there are quite enough examples to show that its occurrence is not fortuitous but intentional. After his time it unquestionably dropped out of favour. There are a few instances in Rameau and Vivaldi, and some half-dozen in J. S. Bach; but through the first half of the eighteenth century the binary stanza is paramount, and it is not until the time of C. P. E. Bach that the "three principles" become really operative as a continuous rule. Nor should this be a matter of surprise. It is not in music alone that the higher organism takes longer to reach maturity.

Again, the generation which overlapped and succeeded Corelli was mainly occupied with problems other than those of technical structure. The early violin sonatas of Corelli and Biber gave impetus to the development of solo playing, and so helped to educate and encourage the virtuoso schools of Somis and Geminiani, Vivaldi and Tartini. At the same time, the harpsichord was rescued from its position as an accompanying instrument and restored to independence by the lessons of Purcell and the sonatas of Johann Kuhnau. With this increased interest in solo writing came a corresponding advance in musical expression. The "Ordres" of Couperin and the "Suites" of Rameau are filled with little pictorial movements, catching the externals of some mood or scene and expressing them by simple devices of phrase and figure. Indeed, Couperin sometimes approaches very close to sheer programme music, as in the battle-piece ("La Triomphante") of the tenth Ordre. Domenico Scarlatti, on the other hand, attempts in his short clavier pieces to touch the inner significance of an emotional mood; his range of feeling is wider than that of the French composers, and his method of expression less obvious and more subtle. But he accepted the plain binary form without caring to alter or extend its general outline, though he enriched its content by organising it into separate themes or melodies, and so preparing the way for the distribution of first and second subject. In a word, Corelli had suggested two main schemes of melodic structure; the generation that followed him perfected the simpler and left the more complex to its successor.

* The other method of compromise, a binary stanza in which the details are ternary, was also tried by Corelli, especially in the first book of Sonate da Camera, and apparently discarded as unsatisfactory.

* There is a gavotte in Lulli's "Amour Malade" of the form:

A.	B.	A.
Melody ending on a half-close.	Clause of contrast ending the second time on a full-close in the tonic.	Re-statement of original melody with full-close borrowed from B.

Again, some folk-songs of the seventeenth century are of the form A ‖: B A., where the clause of contrast bears some thematic resemblance to the clause of assertion, and the ternary form A ‖: B A :‖ in which the same is the case, appears occasionally with Couperin. For another variant of simple ternary form see the "Tambourin en Rondeau," from Rameau's third Concerto.

Digitized by Google

The structural work of J. S. Bach may be considered under four principal heads. First, he settled our scale by the adoption of equal temperament and so opened out new possibilities of modulation. Second, he completed the scheme of the fugue, which, during the past century, had been gradually elaborated by the organ composers, from Sweelinck and Scheidt to Buxtehude and Pachelbel. Third, he established in his suites a sequence of movements which was gradually becoming current in his day—the more serious intellectual music first, then the saraband making direct appeal to emotion, then at the end the lighter numbers of bourrée or gigue. Fourth, he brought to its climax the pure binary form of the previous age and gave valuable aid to the development of ternary structure. The three principles—duality, plurality, unity—underlie the key system of many of his fugues and appear unmistakably in such works as the Prelude in D (No. 29 of the 48) and the Finale of the "Italian" Concerto, though in both they are overlaid by his favourite method of contrapuntal imitation. His work, indeed, is the consummation of all preceding tendencies. He was a devoted student of the French and Italian masters, and his genius enabled him to apply their teaching to a fuller and more adequate solution of their problems.

(To be continued.)

FROM MY STUDY.

There have been many attempts to accomplish the impossible in making music fit a "programme," but perhaps the most extraordinary of all such efforts came under my notice the other day. Looking through "Ackermann's Repository of Arts, Literature, and Fashions" for 1816, I lighted on a review of a musical work entitled "The Surrender of Paris, a characteristic Divertimento for the Pianoforte, including the events from the Duke of Wellington and Prince Blücher's marching to that Capital to the evacuation by the French troops and taking possession by the Allies, composed by Louis Jansen." This mouthful of title is promising, and not at all belied by the nature of the work. On that score the reviewer may be allowed to speak. After mentioning some of the events and scenes pictured by the music, including the "Hesitation of the Chambers what to do," he goes on:

"After this comes a real musical curiosity, viz., a Moderato recording the eighteen articles of capitulation, article by article. The words themselves, to be sure, are not added, and this omission prevents us from judging whether every feeling and sentiment has been correctly expressed; but, nevertheless, one fancies to hear the high contracting parties actually speak and negotiate; there is the proposal first and then the reply, by a few abrupt chords, concords and discords. This is carrying the picturesque in music to so great a height of perfection that, after seeing thus much, a trial at the Old Bailey set to music in the shape of a Divertimento would not at all surprise us. But the author goes farther still. The articles must be signed and ratified, and even this Mr. J. has succeeded in bringing about in good harmony. The name of every commissioner is musically spelt in recitative, among which Baron de Muffling and the Prince of Eckmühl absolutely excite our tears."

The idea of expressing articles of capitulation on the pianoforte is deliciously bold, and a copy of "The Surrender of Paris" should be regarded by its fortunate possessor as a real treasure.

In "One of our Conquerors," a novel which is not quite easy reading, and, therefore, may not have been extensively read, Mr. George Meredith has some interesting remarks upon music in England. These are provoked by the action of Mr. Victor Radnor, a reputedly wealthy City man, who takes a "place" in the country, cultivates Society, and gives a concert, in which he plays a flute duet with the Honourable Dudley Sowerby, and acts also as conductor. Society was gently flustered by this active co-operation in making music, but not on the whole offended, though "Sir Rodwell Blackington would have preferred Radnor's not leading or playing either. Colonel Corfe and Mr. Caddis declined to consider such conduct English in a man of station, notwithstanding Royal Highnesses, who are at least partly English—partly, we say, under our breath, remembering our old ideal of an English gentleman, in opposition to German tastes." Colonel Corfe consulted some of the ladies on the point and found that they approved their host's action, by way of a start. They, says Mr. Meredith, "had none of the colonel's remainder of juvenile English sense of the manly," and "you cannot wield a bâton without looking affected." "Some of the minor ladies would have been glad if Mr. Radnor had kept himself somewhat more exclusive. Dr. Schlesian heard remarks upon which his weighty Teutonic mind sat crushingly. 'Do these English care one bit for music?—for anything finer than material stuffs?—their beef, their beer, and their pew in eternity?' His wrath at their babble and petty brabble doubted that they did." Mr. Meredith is not of the same opinion as his German doctor. "But they do," he urges. "Art has a hold of them. They pay for it, and the thing purchased grapples. It will get to their bosoms to breathe from them in time, entirely overcoming the taste for feudalism, which still a little objects to see their born gentleman acting as leader of musicians. A people of slow movement, developing tardily, their country is wanting in the distincter features, from being always in the transitional state, like certain sea fish rolling head over—you know not head from tail. Without the Welsh, Irish, and Scotch in their composition there would not be much of the yeasty ferment; but it should not be forgotten that Welsh, Irish, Scot are now largely of their numbers, and the taste for elegance, and for spiritual utterance, for Song, nay, for Ideas, is there among them, though it does not everywhere cover a rocky surface to bewitch the eyes of aliens." This then is the creed of one of the most penetrating minds of our day, and it is worth transcribing for general consideration.

Digitized by Google

Lately reading the "Life and Letters of Samuel Palmer, Painter and Etcher," I came upon sundry references to music, which, considering the eminence of the writer in another art, may be of interest to the reader.

Here is an opinion plainly stated, at any rate: "The love of unrhythmical melody is, I think, the sure mark of a barbarian. In this kind of music the cats are beyond all competition—unrivalled. No prima donna can approach their subtle enharmonics." Palmer was writing to Miss Frances Redgrave, and the passage quoted forms part of an attack on the Ritualists, whom the painter held in cordial detestation.

My second extract is from a letter to Mr. T. H. Wright. After referring to the language and style of some eminent literary men, Palmer goes on to say:

"To me the most curious thing is the moderate extent of Milton's vocabulary; seeing that it is perhaps, effectively, the richest in our tongue. In the poetry of prudence, a word is a word; in the poetry of (Plato's) madness, it is many; and all the best poets are out of the body while they write, though the bodily hand holds the pen. Yet, on referring to the most superhuman passages we find the words simple: so placed, however, under the divine frenzy, that one word does duty for many. So, in real music, the simplest change of key occurring at the right time in the right place, effects everything; as the 'shadows brown' in Handel's setting of 'Il Penseroso' are solemnised in a moment by descending one semitone upon the adjective; going into the key of the fourth, if I remember rightly. The barbaric blurters of unprepared discords could not have effected it by any amount of hideousness. A friend of mine of exquisite musical taste (Mr. F. O. Finch), who was one of the mourners at Sir Thomas Lawrence's funeral, always remembered, as the procession entered the West door of St. Paul's, a flattened seventh in the bass of the organ then solemnly rolling: it was in its right place. The mere thing itself occurs continually. But moderns who have stimulated their musical appetites with burs, and thistles and prickles, find everything else insipid. Corelli's harmonies are thin, they say. 'Make the gruel thick and slab.'"

"Cards and music," writes Palmer, in another letter, "are the great destroyers of conversation. If I were an absolute monarch and wanted to clench the people in a hopeless tyranny, I would take off the duty on cards, and have thousands of reams of cheap music at every stationer's. A poor soul, enervated by opera music, cares neither for itself nor its country."

It does not appear that Palmer published his musical opinions. Had he done so a nest of wasps would have swarmed about him. But he knew how to deal with insects. Once, when painting in the open air, a whole colony of wasps appeared on the scene, "crawling about my face and spectacles, and eating little clean, round holes into the oil paint as I laid it on. But never having, on any consideration, left off a sketch from external annoyances, I persevered to the end, only moving my hand and arm very gently, as I knew they were insects full (as the novelists say) of just pride and proper spirit, and by respecting their heroic instincts I came off unstung." There is nothing so safe, sometimes, as "masterly inactivity."

Some pretty anecdotal pickings might be made from "The Secret History of the Green Room," published anonymously in 1793 (2 Vols.), and now scarce. Of Charles Bannister it said: "Having sent an old pair of breeches as a pattern for a new pair, he expressed great displeasure at the want of a fob in the latter. The tailor observed to him that he imagined there was no occasion for one, as he had found in the fob of the old breeches the duplicate of a pawned watch." Bannister used to tell this story against himself with great glee. He had a ready wit of his own, and his "good things" passed current in town. "Being in company where a Mr. Nix gave imitations of actors, he was asked what he thought of the likenesses, and replied: 'Though I scorn a bribe, I cannot declare my opinion for Nix.'" Dignum, the once popular tenor, knew what hunger was in his youth, and considered himself entitled to compensation when blessed with a full pocket. "In the forenoon he would eat a mutton chop at one house, a basin of soup at a second, and a beefsteak at a third. By this means he became very corpulent. There was, however, one convenience attending his indulgence of appetite: if wanted at rehearsal he was sure to be found in some chop-house near Covent Garden, reasoning with the cook-maid or contemplating the beauties of the larder."

Madame Mara sang at the first great musical festival in Westminster Abbey, and, not knowing English customs (this being her initial visit), she quitted the orchestra between her solos and walked about the cloisters. Meanwhile the other principals were taking part in the choruses, as was then expected of them. Mara's rivals and enemies at once proclaimed that she had insulted the audience. This had its effect. The public became hostile, and Oxford was the first to show it.

Digitized by Google

"At a grand musical festival in that city, she sat still during the first chorus, and, when she began a solo, she was received with a universal hiss, upon which she walked out and, crossing the street, retired to her own lodgings. The brutality of some of the auditors even induced them to come out and hiss her across the street; the indignation was communicated to the mob, who, without knowing the true cause, had almost laid violent hands upon her." We were a polite nation in those days. A deputation of gentlemen persuaded Mara to return to the concert-room, but fresh difficulties arose. Again keeping her seat during a chorus, the cry arose, "Turn Madame Mara out!" She, not understanding a word, smiled sweetly on the audience, whereupon the Vice-Chancellor rose and pompously stated that soloists were always expected to join in the choruses. Not understanding him either, Mara turned to Miss George, enquiring, "What does that man say?" Getting an explanation, she remarked, "Oh! I do not know his rules. I will go home." "Accordingly," says our author, "off she walked; nor has she since honoured Oxford with her musical charms."

The editor of this green room gossip quotes from the Edinburgh Herald some verses written by Mrs. Jordan on the death of her mother, to whom that famous artist and ill-treated woman was devotedly attached. "Though we will not investigate Mrs. Jordan's poetical talents," remarks our editor, "yet, as they were exerted to perpetuate the memory of a mother, we think they deserve every indulgence." It may be added that they are creditable as an offering on the altar of filial piety:—

Be ready, Reader, if thou hast a tear,
Nor blush if sympathy bestows it here:
For a lost Mother hear a Daughter's moan,
Catch the sad sounds and learn like her to groan.
Yet e'en those groans, sad echoes all to mine,
Must prove faint offerings at so dear a shrine.
If feeble these, how feebler far must be
The tribute to be paid by poesy:
The bleeding heart that's whelmed by real woe
Affects no flowers near Helicon that grow;
Sobs and swoln sighs ill suit smooth numbered lays,
The tear that waters cypress drowns the bays.
Hard then must be the task in mournful verse
The praise of a lost parent to rehearse.
Mild, suffering Saint, exemplary through life,
A tender Mother and a patient Wife;
Whose firm fidelity no wrongs could shake,
While curbed resentment was forbid to speak.
This silent anguish marked her for its own,
And comfort, coming late, was barely known;
It like a shadow smiled and slipped away—
For churlish Death refused to let it stay;
A two-fold dart he levell'd to destroy
At once both Mother's life and Daughter's joy.
Better a double summons had been given,
To wipe out sorrow's score and make all even,
By kindly calling both at once to Heaven.

It would, indeed, have been better as events turned out. X.

All genuine music-lovers will be gratified to learn that a Folk-song Society, having for its chief objects the preservation and identification of people's songs, is in active process of formation. The preliminary meeting was held on January 27 at 8, Adelphi Terrace, when amongst those who took an active part in the proceedings were Messrs. Alfred Nutt, J. A. Fuller Maitland, E. F. Jacques, F. Kidson, A. P. Graves, Mrs. Gomme, and Miss Lucy Broadwood, a list of names which promises well for the future good work of the Association. The Folk-lore Society has since stretched out a very sympathetic hand, and its president, Mr. Nutt, has made the committee a generous offer which it is hoped it will be able to accept. This is that if the Folk-song Society will bring a hundred yearly subscribers of a guinea each, the Folk-lore Society will admit them to all the privileges of the older Society, send them its annual publications, devote two of its meetings to the Folk-song Society, and publish its proceedings. Such a union is most desirable, for it is obvious that these Societies have so much in common that they can scarcely fail to derive mutual benefit from amalgamation. Hitherto the preservation of folk-songs has been left to individual effort, and the collections of Mr. William Chappell and Mr. W. A. Barrett are well known to students. Mr. S. Reay has laboured in the North and the Rev. Baring Gould in the West of England; and the collection of "County Songs" by Miss Lucy Broadwood and Mr. J. A. Fuller Maitland is frequently drawn upon by concert-givers. The late Brinley Richards and Mr. John Thomas and Dr. Joseph Parry have worked in the cause of Wales; Ireland has good reason to be grateful to Professor Villiers Stanford, and Mr. Gill has busied himself with Manx minstrelsy. Many others have devoted time and study to the fascinating subject, prominent amongst such being Mr. Kidson, whose researches have provided the readers of The Musical Times with a valuable and interesting series of articles entitled happily "New lights on old tunes."

At first sight it may appear to some music-lovers that there is scarcely need for a Society to take up the work which thus has been so widely carried on individually; but, although there has been much enthusiasm, there has not always been a corresponding amount of knowledge, and several of the collections are marred by incongruous harmonies and even alteration of notes and phrases to meet the supposed requirements of modern ears. To correct such malpractices and preserve the people's tunes in their integrity, there is necessary the authority of a recognised Society. In doing this, and thereby making folk-music more widely known and appreciated, no little influence will be exerted in the cultivation of good taste; for in its construction is to be discovered an epitome of the principles upon which musical art is founded. A genuine folk-tune contains in itself the temperament of the people from whence it had its birth and subsequent shaping. A thousand conflicting sentiments and hopes and fears have moulded it into its latest form, in which it may be said to be the crystallization of human emotion. Its preservation is never more necessary than when music as an art is flourishing, for as Dr. Hubert Parry has well observed: "As art-music grows and pervades the world, pure folk-music tends to go out of use among the people. . . . Civilisation reduces everything to a common level, and 'the people' cease to make their own tunes, and accept vulgarised and weakened portions of the music of the leisured classes, and of those who wish to be like them." The Folk-song Society has, therefore, our heartiest wishes for its success, for it has a useful and withal a pleasant mission.

Did Garrick really write the words of "Heart (not "Hearts") of Oak"? The song was sung in a pantomime called "Harlequin's Invasion: A Christmas Gambol," written by Garrick, and first performed at Drury Lane, December 31, 1759. The piece is thus described by one of Garrick's biographers: "'Harlequin's Invasion,' i.e., his invasion of Parnassus and the territory of Shakespeare. Contrary to custom in pantomime, the several personages have the use of their tongues. The dialogue was written by Garrick, and the plot and machinery were of his invention. Harlequin and his fantastic train were conquered in the end, and Shakespeare triumphed over the Smithfield group." The original advertisement announcing the production of "Harlequin's Invasion" contains the following notification: "No gentleman can possibly be admitted behind the scenes, or into the orchestra, on account of the machinery and music." "Harlequin's Invasion" has never been printed. But Garrick's "Poetical Works" (published in 1785 and dedicated to Sheridan) contain three of the songs, and one other is separately printed; but there is no trace of "Heart of Oak." Is it possible that the song was interpolated (as a lyric) into Garrick's piece, and that the words may be by another author and not by the great actor? or that he did not think the words were worth being preserved? One of the songs, which calls upon the mortals to fight for "King" Shakespeare, begins:

Digitized by Google

To arms! ye brave mortals, to arms!

Another is entitled: "Old women we are," and has the following refrain which might have emanated from Girton:

For look the world thro'
And you'll find one in ten,
Old women can do
As much as old men.

The music, by Dr. Boyce, seems to have been first printed on a single sheet, with the title "Heart of Oak. A song sung by Mr. Champness in Harlequin's Invasion. Set by Dr. Boyce." It is by no means surprising to find that the original form of Dr. Boyce's melody has been altered. Dotted notes have replaced the composer's even notes, &c. The last vocal phrase originally stood thus:—

There is an extra verse to "Heart of Oak," which we venture to think is not generally known. Here it is, transcribed from the original copy, which was "Printed by Authority":

We'll still make 'em run, and we'll still make 'em sweat,
In spite of the Devil and Brussels' Gazzette:
Then cheer up, my Lads, with one Heart let us sing,
Our Soldiers, our Sailors, our Statesmen, and King.
Heart of Oak, &c.

It must have occurred to many of our readers that the cinematograph would lend itself to the solving of some of the most difficult problems connected with the realistic presentation of scenery on the stage. Of all these difficulties, none are more exacting than those entailed in the accurate fulfilment of the directions of Wagner in his music-dramas, the locus desperatus, perhaps, being found in the last act of "Die Walküre." The lamentable inadequacy of the means hitherto employed at Covent Garden to represent the aerial horsewomen is familiar to the habitués of the opera. In Paris, by means of a sort of switchback railway, better results were secured. But matters have been carried a step farther by the enterprise of the manager at Breslau, who, so it is stated, has rehearsed the evolutions of the Valkyries in the open before an expert photographer, and intends, at an early opportunity, to reproduce them cinematographically on the stage of his theatre. Our only surprise in the matter is that Germany and not America should have been the pioneer in taking what may prove to be an epoch-making new departure in the scenic development of the modern stage.

Sir Frederick Bridge has called our attention to what seems to be a misreading in regard to the accompaniment of the "great whales" recitative in Haydn's "Creation." The score stands thus, beginning at the end of bar 5:—

It will be observed that the violoncellos are divided. But if all the violoncellos play the notes assigned to them in lines 3 and 4 of the above, the double-basses are not reinforced by the upper octave. The effect is anything but satisfactory. Moreover, with double-basses that are tuned only down to E, the progression of the bass part has some curious vagaries. It is therefore obvious that some of the violoncellos should be directed to play, as usual, in octaves with the double-basses. Haydn doubtless intended that the cembalo should be used, and this would give the notes of the bass as written—i.e., moving in octaves with the double-basses. We are much obliged to Sir Frederick Bridge for pointing out this matter for the benefit of other conductors of Haydn's genial work, and we shall be very glad to make known any similar discoveries for the mutual benefit of our readers.

Digitized by Google

Every intelligent musician takes an interest in the music of the ancient nations of the East, where, amid unchanging conditions, the art of the most remote past can be studied. Such an interest is shown by Mr. E. F. Jacques, who has chosen Eastern music as the subject of three lectures at the Royal Academy of Music, and also by the special audience who listen to his words. This is, we trust, but the beginning of things, for it will do us all good to have personal knowledge of the fact that there was an art of music before Europe had emerged from barbarism—music which we may never fully understand but from which it may yet be possible to derive pleasure and some profit. In the course of his first lecture, Mr. Jacques referred to Captain C. R. Day's "The Music and Musical Instruments of Southern India and the Deccan," justly describing that important volume as having largely helped to reveal much concerning its subject that had previously been hidden or, at best, left in obscurity. The knowledge there placed within the reach of students is valuable for its own sake, but it becomes as fascinating as the archæology of Egypt when we consider that here we obtain a glimpse of the old, old world, which existed ages before the most primitive musical forms were established in Europe. There is, moreover, the light which Indian music throws upon the character of a subtle-minded and gifted people. The music of a race is full of important suggestion as to the race itself. To those who know how to interpret it, it reveals with unfailing accuracy more than the historian can teach; the singular complexity of scales, accents, and rhythms which characterises Indian music, for example, being a transcript, so to speak, of the mind which delights in infinite ingenuity, in subtle distinctions, and in ways of thought and action that are determined by minute processes compared to which the splitting of hairs is a simple task. We commend Captain Day's remarkable book to the attention of amateurs, and commend Mr. Jacques for dealing with a subject which it especially becomes every musician in the heart of the Empire, which embraces India, to know something about.

Most people fancy, as a clever American critic observes, that the art of writing musical criticisms requires no knowledge or preparation at all as long as you can "sling ink." And he goes on to illustrate his assertion by the following pretty anecdote: There was once an amiable colonial reporter who aspired to write of matters musical. One day there came to his town a little group of earnest musicians, who cast anchor and announced a chamber concert. Among other works they essayed a Beethoven string quartet, to which, doubtless, they did fair justice. But their critic was dissatisfied. He approved of the piece performed—so he remarked in his journal the next day—but he thought that the concert-giver should have engaged a larger orchestra! There is only one thing to be said in regard to this anecdote. It is quite unnecessary to lay the scene of the incident in the colonies. Criticism, like charity, should begin at home. Within the last few weeks a certain critic alluded to Mr. Emil Kreuz's viola recital as if the instrument in question were either entirely a new invention or an obsolete one which had been revived. The gem of the notice was a reference to a string quintet in which the writer proceeded on the assumption that the composer had never written any part for the viola, but that Mr. Kreuz was responsible for introducing it into the combination. We are reminded of the story of the Eminent Personage to whom the programme of a smoking concert was submitted. He approved of the selection, with one reservation: it seemed rather long. Then, pointing to some part-songs which figured in the scheme, he suggested "could not they leave out some of the parts?"

It is worthy of notice that in his latest scientific "shocker," "The War of the Worlds," Mr. H. G. Wells, in describing the achievements and accomplishments of his marvellous Martians, is conspicuously silent on the subject of their attitude towards music. That they were capable of emitting sounds we gather from the weird description of the unearthly wailing of the dying Martians. Like the swan, they sang before death. For the rest, inasmuch as it is explicitly stated that they had superseded speech by silent thought-transference, it follows that all their songs would be "Songs without words." We are inclined to think, however, that if Mr. Wells had vouchsafed us more detailed information on this subject, he would have probably made it clear that music, as we understand it, had either never existed on Mars or else had long since succumbed to the peculiar trend of evolution on the Red Planet. For the Martians are the supreme incarnation of ruthless brain power. They do not suffer from insomnia, because they never require any sleep at all. They are entirely without emotion, and never suffer from the devastating influences of the tender passion. Hence one can perhaps understand their appreciating a fugue, but such a work as Tschaïkowsky's "Symphonie Pathétique" would fall very flat on Mars. Still, it must be admitted that the Martians enjoy some compensating advantages. The wheel, so Mr. Wells assures us, is entirely absent from their mechanical system, as it is from nature. Argal, there can be no barrel-organs in Mars.

The widow of the late Mr. H. C. Banister has been left almost entirely unprovided for. Some friends of the late Professor have, therefore, determined to raise a fund for the purchase of an annuity for her. One of the means of aiding this fund is the proposed issue, by subscription, of two albums of vocal and instrumental compositions by Mr. Banister. Subscriptions will also be gratefully received. Amongst the names on the committee for the accomplishment of the above object are those of Sir Alexander Mackenzie, Dr. F. J. Campbell, and Mr. Edward Chadfield. Dr. Vincent (9, Berners Street) is the hon. secretary and Mr. W. H. Cummings has consented to act as treasurer.

FACTS, RUMOURS, AND REMARKS.

Mr. Whately W. Ingall, who is again agitating for municipal orchestras and concerts, need take no great pains to show that, wisely directed, such machinery would work out valuable results. To discuss the matter, in the present state of things, however, would be in the nature of an academic exercise. The real question is: "How would the burdened ratepayer receive a proposition to tax him for orchestral performances?" Mr. Ingall should persuade the vestry of a representative London parish to poll their constituents on the point. That would give us a clue to public opinion generally—the public opinion which has repeatedly given a decisive vote against free libraries and fiction for nothing. Mr. Ingall states that the parochial rates of his own parish (Lewisham) have gone down fourpence in the pound. Very good, let him poll that exceptional district.

Digitized by Google

A provincial journal reports that, at a recent concert, "Master Inkerman Bowles, aged 7 years, played a violin solo wholly by himself."

A writer in the Yorkshire Daily Post comforts those who suffer from the lowered pitch by saying that their pain is all for the benefit of music in general. The statement does not appear to me quite self-evident. How the art is to gain by the process indicated I cannot—especially after a most distressful experience at Birmingham—at all make out. The crusaders of low pitch have, however, succeeded in adding two pitches to the one they have not yet been able to banish. So, what with the old Philharmonic pitch, the diapason normal, and the Vienna pitch, confusion reigns supreme. And all for what? For the comfort of certain vocalists, I have been told.

Mr. Schulz-Curtius is quite paternal in his anxiety for the "inner man" of those who will attend the "Nibelungen" performances at Covent Garden. On three of the four days which each "cyclus" will occupy, there will be an interval of one and a half hours for dinner—a "light dinner," suggests Mr. Schulz-Curtius, who does not wish to aid the sleep-compelling influence of our verbose friend, Wotan. "There should be no difficulty," continues Mr. Schulz-Curtius, "in finding accommodation at the dinner hour in one or other of the many first-class hotels and restaurants in the immediate neighbourhood, but the public would do well to engage tables in advance in order to avoid irritation and loss of time. A proper arrangement is essential to the comfort of visitors, and should certainly be made before-hand." The solicitous entrepreneur further adds that the performances will end at eleven o'clock, "in time for supper," which it appears may be taken either in a restaurant or at home.

A correspondent writes: "I enclose an advertisement hashed by the 'Devil'"—i.e., the Boy. The "ad.," as set up by the compositor, read: "Madame (name suppressed here) visits Altrincham on Wednesdays, and has two vacancies for Pupils." What did He do but, with Satanic ingenuity, drop "il" from the last word.

Tourists in Switzerland are familiar with storm effects upon the organs at Fribourg, Berne, and elsewhere. The production of those effects is not a case of putting a dignified church instrument to the best use, but "the merry Swiss boy" does not consider propriety when francs are in question. I see by an advertisement in the South Wales Argus that storm organs are not unknown in Monmouthshire. Happily, they are not church organs. It appears that a "Popular Pictorial Entertainment," entitled "Nooks and Crannies of Monmouthshire Scenery," was given recently in the Temperance Hall, Newport. I am sure that the pictorial show, if worthy the charming landscapes of the county, must have been most enjoyable. But I am not so certain of the storm organ with its atmospheric "programme," especially as the music was "graphically illustrated with lightning flashes and dioramic effects." Surely this is playing rather low.

The Musical Age of New York has a pessimistic article on the condition of opera there: "Everything is spoiled now-a-days by indiscriminate, ill-judged adulation. Does a man come on the stage and howl, he is encored. Does he sing like an angel, there is no other way for an audience to evince its pleasure than by the same applause and encore. Men do not know where to draw the line." Undiscriminating applause is, of course, the measure of the public lack of knowledge and taste. Educate, educate!

I learn from an American paper that Mr. Anton Seidl is dissatisfied with music in the States. "Musical taste is retrograding in this country," so an interviewer reports him as saying. He talks of settling in Hamburg. "In Hamburg they love music for its own sake. In this country they do not." It may be taken as a fact that Mr. Seidl drew the distinction long ago.

Speaking before the Incorporated Society of Musicians, Dr. Swinnerton Heap said: "When one considers the high character of the compositions of our leading men, and even those of younger and less known composers, it must be admitted that up to the present the works to which I refer have not had justice done them. The 'Golden Legend' is, of course, an exception to the rule, but we could all of us name several works of the highest musical value that rarely get a hearing. Now this state of things would be at once remedied if the choral societies were under the control of the town authorities." It appears to me that the excellent speaker assumed rather too much. In the first place, is it certain, or even probable, that municipalities would cause works to be performed for which the public have shown that they do not care? Secondly, is it at all likely that the public would patronise music indifferent to them because the Mayor and Corporation have a hand in providing it? Thirdly, are municipal bodies qualified to control choral societies and concerts? We all know the average "councillor," and I, for one, would not trust him one inch in artistic matters. The present state of things is not wholly satisfactory, but it is better to "bear the ills we have than," &c.

Incidentally, Mr. Weingartner has made reference to melodrame as we have it in Schumann's "Manfred," and, the subject being discussed just now, I offer no apology for quoting some of his remarks: "For the rest of the music to 'Manfred' we can discern that, under peculiar circumstances, even an artistic absurdity [query to that] like melodrama, if a great spirit strays into it, can be of striking effect [then how is it an artistic absurdity?]; I think here especially of the 'Evocation of Astarte.' This scene, well executed by actor and orchestra, in its thrilling effectiveness leaves no wish unsatisfied, least of all that Manfred should really sing, which would be about the same as if the dialogue in 'Fidelio' and 'Freischütz' was set to music. It is not my idea to say a word about melodrama ['artistic absurdity,' quoth he], which is to-day reviving, and even fostered and defended by Wagnerians [and some others]. It would be just as foolish to condemn the 'Evocation of Astarte' because it is melodrama." Mr. Weingartner goes on to say, in effect, that works of genius must be received, whatever they may seem. But genius cannot change the nature of that which is fundamentally an "artistic absurdity," and Mr. Weingartner's argument is quite inconclusive.

The Paris correspondent of the Musical Courier states that: "a Mr. Borwick" played recently at a Lamoureux concert in Paris.

Digitized by Google

Ole Bull now has a statue in Minneapolis! What is left for our Joachims and Sarasates?

The proceedings of the recent congress of Incorporated Musicians at the Hôtel Cecil are reported with sufficient fulness in their Monthly Journal, with a copy of which I have been favoured. I am reading it carefully, and not, it is to be hoped, without profit. It has certainly happened that I have come upon sentences in Sir John Stainer's address which should be engraven on brass and placed over the chairman's head at each conference. Here they are:

In the meantime, the duty of us professional musicians is perfectly clear; if we want our action or wishes to be respected, we must prove to the world that we have some higher motives and aspirations than the protection of our worldly interest, or even the closer binding of ourselves together in mutual friendship. We must strive to prove that we are not an association of shop-keepers, but a society of artists labouring to make our beautiful art a source of pleasure, a means of educating and of refining the masses. Teachers must all their lives be students and learners; if we preach that music is a source of pleasure, we must labour as if it were a pleasure to us, not a toil; if we assert that it is a handmaid of education, we must prove the fact by our own advancing education; and if we claim that it is capable of refining the masses of the people, we must certainly show that its study and practice has at least refined ourselves. But all this will be a mere outside show, a transparent form of Pharisaism, unless we are impelled in our every action by high motive and a pure conscience.

These lofty words may be applied to the followers of any art, and I wholly refuse to believe that musicians stand in greater need of such exhorting than do others. But the best of us must be conscious, now and then, of an attack of moral laxity. At such moments Sir John Stainer's warning would serve as a "pick-me-up." But at all times, and to everybody, it is distinctly precious.

There is a delicious paragraph in Mr. J. Seymour's paper on the "Feis Ceoil." When the pipers played their "traditional" tunes the wary managers took care to have them recorded by the phonograph for further enquiry. The machine being set to work at repetition,

Dennis Delany, who is a splendid type of man, had never heard the phonograph before, and when he put the tubes into his ears and heard his playing faithfully repeated, there was no describing him. His face beamed with joy, and in astonishment he thumped the table, shouting, "Did I ever play as well as that? Did iver ye hear the likes ov it! Ah! no, I nivir played like that." "Yes, Denny," said the operator, "that's your playing." "Well," responded Denny, thumping the table in another transport, "be gor! that should pass." Presently he had the pleasure of hearing a vocal duet, and then a band selection, followed by applause, and, with a shake of his head, said Denny: "Boys! the invinshins of this century!" But most of the other pipers took a nil admirari attitude on the matter, while Turlough McSweeney of Gweedore, who had been to Chicago, only "smiled superior."

This is lovely. One wants more, and only the Emerald Isle can supply it. "Erin go bragh!"

Joseph Bennett.

CHURCH MUSIC.

Dr. C. Warwick Jordan has issued several congregational hymn-anthems, one of which was recently sung at St. Stephen's, Lewisham. This was a setting of "O God, our help in ages past." The congregation made a consistent and effective effort to sing the part assigned to them.

Such compositions indicate a new departure of importance. There will be some hope of a revival in congregational singing if in this way composers wisely recognise the progress of general musical education; and, without exacting too much skill from the general body of worshippers, provide music judiciously furnishing a fixed place for the congregation in the songs of the Church, with a well-considered utilisation of the surely if slowly growing knowledge of the resources of the art and its application to effective, simple congregational requirements, aided and adorned by the more advanced skill of the "chief musicians" and the trained singers.

The recent service lists of the Church of the Incarnation, New York, give pleasing evidence of the extensive acceptation of the works of modern English Church composers. These include works by Goss, Ouseley, Barnby, Garrett, Elvey, King Hall, Sullivan, Stainer, Stanford, Martin, Calkin, Cooper, Field, &c. Equally satisfactory is it to note in the same scheme the names of American composers of present and rising reputation. In fact, whatever may be said in both of the great Anglo-Saxon countries regarding the neglect of native art, it cannot be denied that the composers of really good Church and organ music are receiving a recognition of daily increasing respect in the United Kingdom and the United States.

Recently good renderings of Beethoven's Mass in C have been heard at the Oratory, London, and at St. John's Church, Islington. At the last-named an orchestra is employed every Sunday, the Masses of the great modern composers being performed, it may be assumed, in accordance with the requirements of the original scores.

On all sides oratorio services are being announced for the Lenten season. At St. Peter's, Cranley Gardens, Gounod's "Redemption" (Part I.) and Stainer's "Crucifixion" will be sung on alternate Wednesdays; the latter work will also be given on Good Friday, and on Easter Sunday Hiller's "Song of Victory" will be the anthem in the evening service. Mr. Herbert Hodge will be at the organ. At St. Marylebone Parish Church, on the 9th and 23rd inst. and April 6, Bach's "Passion" Music (St. John) will be performed; and on the 2nd, 16th, and 30th inst. and Good Friday (afternoon) Stainer's "The Crucifixion" will be sung. At Thorpe Parish Church, Sullivan's "Prodigal Son," Gounod's "Gallia," Mendelssohn's "Hear my Prayer," and Brahms's "Songs from Ecclesiastes." Stainer's beautiful and most judiciously written Passion oratorio, "The Crucifixion," will again hold a leading place in the music of the season. Such perfectly artistic, devotional, and, it may be added, truly natural music is likely to remain an abiding evidence of the composer's talents and earnestness.

The yearly increasing number of Church oratorio performances would seem to show that oratorio has indeed returned to its original home, the Church. It may be hoped in this connection that the services of our many excellent choral societies will be utilised in our Church renderings of large choral works, so that these may be heard with the impressive advantages of ample vocal power, and, as far as possible, with orchestral as well as organ accompaniment.

The usual performances of Bach's noble "St. John" Passion music, in Lent and Passiontide, at St. Anne's, Soho, will take place, under the able direction of Mr. E. H. Thorne.

The dedication of the re-built organ in Winchester Cathedral took place on January 27. The history of this noble instrument is of special interest. It was exhibited in the great Exhibition of 1851, and was the means of first drawing the attention of the public to the remarkable skill of its now eminent and veteran builder, Mr. Henry Willis. At the suggestion of Dr. S. S. Wesley, who thought very highly of it, the organ—though not in its complete form—was purchased by the Dean and Chapter of Winchester and erected, in 1852, in the Cathedral, where for thirteen years the composer of the "Wilderness" played upon its keys. After forty-five years of wear and tear, advantage was taken of the absolute necessity for the replenishment of the mechanism to entirely re-build and greatly enlarge the instrument. Having a natural affection for the organ that had brought him fame in his early days, Mr. Willis generously undertook to carry out the work at a very moderate cost. The Cathedral authorities may now be congratulated upon a magnificent instrument worthy of their venerable sanctuary.

Digitized by G

The chief feature at the dedication service was a new anthem specially composed for the occasion by Dr. G. B. Arnold, organist of the Cathedral, beginning "The Lord reigneth," in which occurs an attractive duet for sopranos, "Zion heard, and was glad." But why was not a single note of Samuel Sebastian Wesley's noble Church music sung?

ORGAN MUSIC.

The latest conspicuous evidence of this progress in connection with organ building is to be found in a recently reconstructed and greatly enlarged organ at the Church of the Incarnation, New York, recently inaugurated by M. Alexandre Guilmant. This great instrument is practically divided into two large and complete organs, in each case with adequate pedal organ; one in the gallery, chiefly built by the late Hilborne L. Roosevelt in 1883, and one in the chancel, built by the Votey Organ Company, who have also rebuilt and re-voiced the Roosevelt gallery instrument. The action of the entire organ, placed under the control of one performer, is the Votey Patent Electric Type; and the application of this method to the manifold and complex details and mechanisms is pronounced to be a work of the highest skill and finish.

Apart from the great development of the electric action in the United States, there are three other developments going forward under the hands of enterprising American builders of an important character. These are: the provision of a very large proportion of 8 and 4-feet manual and 16-feet pedal stops; an extensive employment of swell boxes; marked attention to the touch, and great additions to and many improvements in connection with the mechanism whereby the player obtains complete control over the resources of the largest instruments.

In the organ at the Church of the Incarnation, at New York, the proportion of the various registers runs thus: 35 stops on the manuals are of 8-feet pitch; 13 of 4-feet range, as against 6 of 16 feet, a matter deserving attention in itself; 6 "registers" of 2 feet, one twelfth, and 5 mixture stops, of course including the twelfth and octave twelfth as ranks, and a kind of revival of an ancient institution in the presence of cornet and echo cornet stops of 5 ranks of pipes. The pedal organ, by a fitting rule of proportion, has 8 stops of 16-feet pitch out of a total of 12 "registers."

The music played by M. Guilmant at the inauguration of this fine instrument, with the single exception of Bach's Prelude and Fugue in E flat, consisted of specimens from the leading composers of the modern French school.

It is noteworthy that the schemes of Church organ recitals now almost invariably present pieces employing one or more solo mediums outside the resources of the organ itself. The additional soloist is generally a singer, but not infrequently the violin or other orchestral instrument is heard with the organ.

In addition to the obvious advantages in view of public interest of one or more personalities coming to the aid of the organ player, observant listeners do not overlook the gain to organ tone of the more flexible, expressive sounds of the solo voice or instrument. Further, such addition brings the organ forward as an accompanying instrument to marked advantage. By thus adding a specially effective solo medium, the organist is able to display new lines of interweaved tone-colours, mingling delightfully with a new and specially characteristic individuality. The additional solo voice or instrument becomes to the skilled organist a precious solo "register," something more, indeed, than a third hand on the already well-employed keyboard.

Of various pieces of interest to be found on the programmes to hand, the following may be mentioned. The scheme of a recital given recently by Mr. F. Fertel, at Bromley Parish Church, included Rheinberger's Sonata in A (Op. 188), the Prelude to Wagner's "Parsifal," and Prelude in C sharp minor (Rachmaninoff). Mr. C. S. Vinning lately played M. Guilmant's Fifth Sonata, a work in five movements, at St. Thomas's Church, Rhyl.

A series of recitals has been given by the organist, Mr. C. E. Jolly, at St. George's, Hanover Square, upon the organ built by the Electric Organ Company. The programmes included two of Mendelssohn's six sonatas; Preludes from Wagner's "Parsifal" and "Lohengrin"; Prelude and Fugue in B (Saint-Saëns); Reverie in A flat, from the already widely accepted "Six Pieces" (Stainer); and Intermezzo in E (Rheinberger). Mr. E. H. Thorne gave a recital, on the 3rd ult., on the new organ in St. Mary's Collegiate Church, Warwick, built by the Electric Organ Company. His programme included Best's Fantasia in E flat and S. S. Wesley's too little played Andante in G. Another recital was given on the same instrument, on the 24th, by Mr. W. A. Macduff.

Mr. J. E. Campbell gave a recital at Hollingwood Parish Church, on the 6th ult., the music played including the Andante Religioso from Mr. John E. West's admirable Organ Sonata in D minor and a Cantilène Pastorale, by W. Faulkes. On the 7th ult. Mr. A. Herbert Brewer gave a recital at St. James's, Gloucester, the music given including Air with variations in E (Archer), Prière and Berceuse (Guilmant), and Cantilena (Grison), the last-named, one of the best works of the late organist of Rheims Cathedral, having become a favourite with English organists. Mr. Rudolph Loman's recent monthly recital programmes at the Dutch Church, Austin Friars, have included two works of special interest—the Organ Sonata in E flat major (Christian Fink) and A. G. Ritter's Organ Sonata in D minor (Op. 11). Mr. H. W. Weston gave a Recital at Queen's Hall, on the 11th ult. His brief programme included the little played Concerto, No. 10, Handel, and Ambroise Thomas's Offertoire in B flat, a characteristic piece deserving more attention. At All Saints' Church, North Peckham, Mr. C. Kennedy Scott gave a Recital, on the 16th ult. His list of pieces included an admirable selection from Bach's organ works and an interesting Allegretto in G by De Boeck.

Some specially interesting programmes come from Berlin of recitals given by Herr F. Finke and Herr Otto Dienel, the latter well-known in England as a distinguished composer of organ music. These recitals, given at St. Marien-Kirche, correspond with our London mid-day organ performances, being given at twelve o'clock and lasting one hour. One interesting feature of the programmes is the frequent appearance of the beautiful choral preludes and variations by Bach—a department of his organ music strangely neglected by English organists; similar movements by modern German composers, as Herren Englebrecht, Forchhammer, and Otto Dienel; the last-named composer's fine "Zweiter Concert-Satz" in D minor, and other works known to English organists.

Digitized by Google

The new organ at Trinity Church, San Francisco, California, was recently opened by Mr. H. J. Stewart. It was built by Messrs. Hook and Hastings, of Boston, and is a three-manual instrument.

Mr. W. E. Fairclough gave an admirable recital at All Saints' Church, Toronto, on the 5th ult. The programme included works by Bach, Rheinberger, &c., and English music was represented by King Hall's Melody in C and Dr. Pearce's thoughtful piece "Adoration." Mr. Owen H. Mead performed a good programme on the 15th ult., at the Parish Church, Ealing, including Bach's Toccata and Fugue in C, Air with Variations (Best), Processional March (Chipp), and Overture in C (Hollins).

The scheme of a new organ lately built by the Brothers Link, of Giengen-on-the-Brenz, for the New Church at Heidenheim, though of only two manuals and pedal with 34 sounding stops and 18 mechanical movements, displays in an interesting manner the rapid advancement of organ building in the Fatherland.

THE ROYAL CHORAL SOCIETY.

Those who regard with mistrust the present taste for programme music of a nerve-thrilling kind may find comfort in the large audience which assembled at the Albert Hall, on January 27, to listen to the Royal Choral Society's performance of Haydn's "Creation." It is true that much of this music is realistic in character, but no one now would maintain that Haydn's illustration of primeval chaos was likely to cultivate a predilection for the sensational, or to be hurtful to the progress of legitimate art. The "flexible tiger" may appear with semiquaver leaps and the "sinuous worm" may be long in turning, but they excite nothing to-day but a smile; and even when, as on this occasion, the conjugal duets of Adam and Eve are given, the "Creation" is above suspicion. The earnestness, naive grace, and genial brightness of the music seem, indeed, never to grow old, and those who cannot enjoy its strains are to be pitied. The work was fortunate in its soloists at this performance. Miss Esther Palliser's sympathetic voice and pure style seemed exactly suited to the soprano solos; Mr. Ben Davies truly "In native worth" sustained his reputation as a tenor vocalist of the first rank; and Mr. Andrew Black sang the bass songs with the utmost dignity and impressiveness. The choral numbers were rendered with magnificent precision and intelligent expression, and Sir Frederick Bridge may be congratulated on conducting so enjoyable and effective a performance.

QUEEN'S HALL SYMPHONY CONCERTS.

Mr. Robert Newman's good intentions regarding British music have already been partly abandoned. At the concert of January 22 a programme containing Mr. Cowen's "Scandinavian" Symphony attracted but a scanty audience, although those who were present testified their thorough enjoyment of this excellent piece of English music by most hearty applause. At the following concert, on January 29, when Borodine's Symphony in B minor was the pièce de résistance, an audience but very little larger seemed terribly bored by one of the most Russian of Russian compositions. In fact, we have never, in all our long experience, heard any symphonic work received so coldly. This state of affairs was hardly satisfactory, and Mr. Newman forthwith decided to mend matters by withdrawing the only other English symphony announced in the prospectus—viz., Mr. Cliffe's No. 1, in C minor. This seems to us a somewhat illogical proceeding after the Borodine fiasco. Certainly it is a distinct slight upon English composers. We have no desire to hear Borodine's masterpiece again. Twice we have suffered it, and failed to see a trace of greatness in music that not once takes us anywhere near "the edge of the Infinite," as Carlyle would say, or even faintly suggests an inspiration. Colour, glaring and massive, strong rhythms, much energy, and last, but not least, those precious Oriental scales beloved of Mr. E. F. Jacques, it gives us, and therefore it may appeal to a few students of nationalism in music. To an average English audience it is, and is likely to remain, caviare. And meanwhile, English symphonies—the finest efforts of Parry, Stanford, Cowen, German, Cliffe, as well as those of our coming men, Barclay Jones, Walford Davies, Coleridge-Taylor, &c.—rest securely in their composers' portfolios. Another quasi-novelty produced at the same concert was Lalo's suite from the ballet "Namouna," composed for the Paris Grand Opera in 1882. It is a fair specimen of a very French composer in his element, yet devoid of the melodic piquancy we admire in French ballet music at its best. Miss Beatrice Tattersall made a deservedly successful first appearance in "Elizabeth's Greeting," from "Tannhäuser." She has a bright high soprano, and she sang with the enthusiasm the piece demands. The performances throughout were masterly.

On the 5th ult. Beethoven's Seventh Symphony took the place of Mr. Cliffe's No. 1. A couple of the most hackneyed Wagner selections and the everlasting "Peer Gynt" Suite (No. 1) added to the popularity of the programme. A newcomer, Miss Leonora Jackson, a young and highly gifted American violinist, scored a decided success. She has a good round tone and an excellent technique (her chord playing being especially good), while her command of expression should enable her to do justice to greater works than Vieuxtemps's Fourth Concerto, which she chose for her début. Mr. Louis Frölich sang "O star of eve" ("Tannhäuser") and a long and tedious concert aria, "Almansor," by Reinecke. He is making rapid progress towards becoming an excellent concert-singer. Sir Alexander Mackenzie's fresh and characteristic "Three Dances" from his music to Mr. Barrie's play "The Little Minister" were performed for the first time at a concert and received with much favour. Like all Sir Alexander's orchestral works, they are beautifully scored, and on that account alone a real pleasure to listen to. But they are also full of tune and many humorous and quaint touches that cannot fail to charm an audience.

The concert of the 12th ult. opened with Bach's perennially fresh Orchestral Suite in D (with the famous air for violin solo), and this delightful specimen of the great Leipzig cantor at his best was followed—a highly interesting and instructive juxtaposition—by Wagner's very best—viz., the Trauermarsch from the "Götterdämmerung." Both works were beautifully played; in fact, the performance of the march was one of the most moving we have ever heard. There is no doubt that the very slow tempo which Mr. Wood adopts in this piece contributes to the powerful impression produced by his reading. In a less finished performance it would cause confusion and dulness, whereas it enables Mr. Wood to gain clearness and tragic intensity. Tschaïkowsky's "Nut-cracker" Suite, in which he challenges the best French composers of ballet music and easily beats them on their own ground, was once more keenly enjoyed. Nothing could well be more charming than these delicious little pieces or of Mr. Wood's manner of playing them. The "Italian" Symphony of Mendelssohn, of which a fresh, sunshiny, and delightfully rhythmical performance was given, and Wagner's Huldigungsmarsch completed the orchestral selection. Mr. W. H. Squire produced three little violoncello pieces by Godard and Fauré with much success, and that charming singer, Miss Louise Dale, sang two songs.

On the 19th ult. Dr. Hubert Parry's Magnificat, produced at the last Hereford Festival, was performed for the first time in London, and, we regret to say, in a somewhat inadequate manner, neither soloist nor choir having thoroughly mastered their tasks. The former was wanting in charm and ease, her singing throughout suggesting the effort rather than the perfect art which hides the effort. The choir seemed tired; their singing lacked the beauty of tone and the resonant jubilation which such vigorous strains as Dr. Parry's Allegros seem to absolutely demand. As for this latest choral work of our foremost master, although it cannot be said to contain the fine emotional qualities to be found in his greatest efforts, such as the superb "Blest Pair of Sirens," the "De Profundis," portions of "King Saul," aye, or even the early but deeply felt setting of "The glories of our blood and state," nobody will fail to admire the strength, the joie de vivre, the straightforwardness, and the structural mastery of the music. It is good in these days of incoherent, noisy, and nerve-destroying programme-music to come across such a masterly specimen of everything that is sane and wholesome in our art. Choruses like the first and last one in this "Magnificat" act like a refreshing storm in a sultry summer; and while they run their joyous and triumphant course there is hardly time to admire the tour de force which enables an exceptionally busy man like Dr. Parry to write such masterpieces of technique under the greatest pressure. The audience testified their appreciation of the work by calling the composer to the platform. The programme contained a Russian novelty, a Fantaisie, "Une nuit sur le Mont Chauve," by Moussorgsky (1839-1881). It is a posthumous work, completed and scored by Rimsky-Korsakow, and as hideous a thing as we have ever heard. The "story" is of that gruesome, childish description so fascinating to Slavonic composers. There are "sounds of mysterious voices underground, spirits of darkness, the black god Tchernobog, evil crews, revels," and, as an artistic climax, a "church bell"! The music cannot be described. It is very clever, certainly, especially Rimsky-Korsakow's orchestration; but, excepting the Coda, "Break of day," an orgie of ugliness and an abomination. May we never hear it again. Mozart's glorious G minor Symphony, a perfect god-send now more than ever, was magnificently played. As each beautiful phrase was made to stand out in all its pristine and never-fading loveliness, we felt that so long as there is Mozart, "all's right with the world" of music, and we hope again even after Moussorgsky's nightmare.

Digitized by Google

LAMOUREUX CONCERTS.

The orchestral concerts conducted by M. Lamoureux, at the Queen's Hall, were resumed on the 2nd ult., when an attractive programme was presented. The most important work was Beethoven's Fifth Symphony in C minor, which received a remarkably finished, if not entirely satisfactory interpretation. The deficiencies of the reading were most noticeable in the first movement, the masculine force and expressive depth of which were insufficiently realised. Wherever delicacy was required no fault, however, could be found; the Andante, in particular, was exquisitely played, and the renderings of the two concluding numbers were memorable performances. The symphony was preceded by Mr. Percy Pitt's Concertino in C minor for clarinet and orchestra. The origin of this work was a sketch consisting of a few themes and some florid passages left by the celebrated clarinettist Cavallini and given to Mr. Pitt by Mr. Manuel Gomez. Mr. Gomez is one of the most brilliant executants of this instrument of to-day, and it is doubtful if any player could do more than Mr. Pitt demands; but the concertino has a musical value apart from the exceptional opportunities it offers for virtuosi effects, and it will certainly increase Mr. Pitt's reputation as a composer. The other novelty of the afternoon was the first performance in England of César Franck's symphonic poem "Les Djinns" for pianoforte and orchestra. The title and programme of the music is that of Victor Hugo's poem, and it was originally produced at a Châtelet concert in March, 1885, when the pianoforte part was played by M. Diémer. In common with this composer's works, the music is very earnest in conception and character, and the themes are developed with remarkable command of contrapuntal and orchestral resource; but the element of beauty, which in some form should be prominent in all works of art, is insufficiently accentuated, and the music consequently fails to sustain the interest of the listener. The pianoforte part was rendered with great brilliancy and purity of style by Madame Henri Jossic, who made her first appearance in England on this occasion, and full justice was done to the orchestral portion. The remainder of the programme was made up of Beethoven's Overture to "Egmont" and Wagner's "Siegfried Idyll" and the "Ride of the Valkyries."

Exceptional interest was attached to the next concert, which took place on the 16th ult., owing to this being the first time that M. Lamoureux had conducted, in England, Beethoven's Choral Symphony. The reading, apart from its remarkable attention to detail and perfect balance of tone, possessed several distinctive features which are worthy of mention. The semiquavers of the opening theme were heard with notable clearness, and the same attention was given to these brief sounds throughout the movement. In the Scherzo a stronger accent than usual was laid upon the first beat of the bar in the principal theme, and the attack of the wind parts was slightly more staccato, with increase of playful effect. The most remarkable achievement in balance of tone was, however, secured in the passage where the wind instruments, which have the second subject, are generally rendered inaudible by the persistent announcement by the strings fortissimo of the initial octave figure, the melody on this occasion being clearly heard, apparently owing to a different bowing of the strings. A finer rendering of the Adagio has rarely been given. The wind parts, especially those of the flute, seemed to be slightly more prominent; but this effect may have been owing to the highly finished and artistic manner in which they were played. After what had gone before the opening of the Finale was disappointing. If ever Beethoven intended an orchestral crash it was when he penned the first chords of this movement. They were given out, however, in a somewhat apologetic style, and elsewhere the virility lacking in sundry passages in the first movement was again noticeable. Compensation for these shortcomings was found on the entrance of the choir, which has benefited by M. Lamoureux's training in no less degree than Mr. Newman's orchestra. The most trying choral portions were not only sung perfectly in tune, but with an attention to small degrees of light and shade that resulted in some magnificent effects, notably at the outburst of praise after the close of the Adagio, "O ye millions." The vocal quartet consisted of Madame Medora Henson, Madame Belle Cole, Mr. Lloyd Chandos, and Mr. Thomas Meux, and the performance in its entirety was undoubtedly one of the finest that has taken place in the metropolis. It was preceded by Mozart's Overture to "The Magic Flute" and Saint-Saëns's gruesome symphonic poem "La Danse Macabre." The grim humour and realistic effects of the latter were so forcibly set forth that the audience insisted upon having the morbid excitation repeated. The evening was concluded, somewhat unnecessarily, with the Prelude to the third act of Wagner's "Lohengrin."

THE HANDEL SOCIETY.

If a justification were necessary for the existence of the Handel Society it was certainly provided on the 2nd ult., by its revival, at the Queen's Hall, of Handel's third oratorio, "Athaliah." It may be remembered that the double chorus from this work, "The mighty Power in whom we trust," was sung with Miss Clara Butt as the soloist on the Selection Day at last year's Handel Festival at the Crystal Palace, and that the song, "Gentle airs," has also occasionally been heard in our concert-rooms; but in its entirety the oratorio may be said to be practically unknown to the present generation. This neglect has been in no small measure due to the treatment the work received from its composer. It was written in 1733, the result of Handel receiving an invitation from Vice-Chancellor Dr. Holmes to conduct a series of performances at Oxford. The origin of this request is a curious instance of the influence which politics sometimes exercise on art. Handel was greatly esteemed by George II. and identified with the Court, while Jacobitism was rampant at the University city, and good Dr. Holmes seems to have thought that music, as discoursed by Handel and his company, might exert the proverbial soothing influence.

Digitized by Google

The performances began on Thursday, July 5, with the oratorio "Esther," which was repeated on the following Saturday. The next day the "Utrecht" Te Deum and Jubilate were sung at St. Mary's Church. Monday was occupied by the conferring of degrees—that of Doctor of Music having been offered to Handel but declined; and on the 10th "Athaliah" was produced at the Sheldonian Theatre. The oratorio was repeated the following evening, "Acis and Galatea" having been performed in the morning in the hall of Christ Church, and the festival was concluded the next day with a performance of "Deborah." On Handel's return to London he entered upon the struggle with the league formed against him by members of the aristocracy, and in this disastrous competition "Athaliah" was the next year despoiled of its best numbers to make up the serenata of "Parnasso in Festa," and other works. It was not produced in London until April 1, 1837, when it was performed at Covent Garden Theatre and repeated four times in that season. The libretto was compiled by Samuel Humphreys, who seems to have had an intimate acquaintance with Racine's tragedy "Athalie." In addition to the fine double chorus and the air mentioned, there are several other numbers which justify the recent revival. The recitative and air for a bass voice, "When He is in His wrath reveal'd," and the following four-part chorus, "O Judah, boast His matchless law," are typical Handelian music, and the alto air, "O Lord, whom we adore," is very expressive and dignified. As usual, the brightest music is allotted to the Pagans, and the chorus, "The gods, who chosen blessings shed," has all the characteristics of a genuine old English country dance. The first part is closed with a well developed fugue, "Hallelujah," and the second portion opens in an impressive manner with the chorus "The mighty Power," in eight parts. Other notable numbers are Athaliah's aria "My vengeance awakes me," a flowing and graceful duet in minuet rhythm between Joad and Josabeth, "Cease thy anguish," and the tenor air, "Hark! His thunders round me roll," sung by Mathan. The admirable manner in which the sentiments of the respective movements are contrasted also contribute in no small degree to the interest which the music excites and sustains; and although the work in its entirety does not present Handel's genius in its full strength, the oratorio is admirably adapted to the requirements of the majority of amateur choral societies. The soloists were Madame Duma, Athaliah; Miss Margaret Barter, Josabeth; Miss Muriel Foster, Joad; Master Willie Gammage, Joas; Mr. William Green, Mathan; and Mr. Arthur Wills, Abner, all of whom did justice to their respective parts. As much cannot be said concerning the choir and orchestra, the playing of the latter in particular being deficient in precision and finish. Sir Walter Parratt played the harpsichord accompaniments on a pianoforte, Mr. E. G. Croager presided at the organ, and Mr. J. S. Liddle conducted.

MONDAY AND SATURDAY POPULAR CONCERTS.

These entertainments have pursued a very placid course during the period over which our present record extends, nothing having been done of a nature to demand record in detail. On Monday, January 24, a Beethoven programme was provided, the concerted works being the Quartet in F (Op. 59, No. 1) and the Serenade Trio in D (Op. 8). Mr. Frederick Dawson was responsible for the "Waldstein" Sonata in C (Op. 53) and Lady Hallé, of course, gave the fullest expression to the Mozart-like Violin Romance in F (Op. 50).

On the following Saturday, Smetana's Quartet in E minor was repeated by desire, and there is every reason to suppose that this fresh and thoroughly Bohemian work has come to stay. An impetuous, but, on the whole, not undignified interpretation of Beethoven's Sonata in F minor (Op. 57) was given by Mdlle. Flora Eibenschütz. Mr. Hugo Becker did his best for a somewhat feeble Andante grazioso from a violoncello concerto by Romberg, and the programme ended with Brahms's concise but original Pianoforte Trio in C minor (Op. 101). Mr. Charles Phillips was the vocalist.

Mozart's delightful Clarinet Quintet in A, less frequently heard than in former years, opened the concert of Monday, January 31, with Mr. Clinton as a brilliant executant of the solo part. Mr. Kruse was admirable in Tartini's Violin Sonata in G minor, one of the most effective examples by the old Italian master. Mdlle. Eibenschütz gave an accurate if not very inspired rendering of Beethoven's Sonata in E (Op. 109), and the same composer's Pianoforte Trio in E flat concluded the concert. Brahms's "Four Serious Songs," truly inspired lyrics if any such were ever written, were most impressively sung by Mr. Kennerley Rumford.

We now reach the concerts of February, all of which, so far, may be dismissed with brevity. The programme of Saturday, the 5th, commenced with Dvorák's fine and not too frequently heard Quartet in E flat (Op. 51), and concluded with Beethoven's truly inspired Pianoforte Trio in D (Op. 70, No. 1). Miss Adela Verne was at her best for crisp, clear touch and correctness in Bach's "Italian" Concerto, and Miss Isabel MacDougall gave satisfaction as the vocalist. The scheme of the following Monday was not so strong and there was only a poor audience. The concerted works were Mozart's Quartet in D minor and Schubert's Pianoforte Trio in B flat (Op. 99), both of which the performers could probably have played without copy. Miss Fanny Davies introduced as one of two brief pianoforte solos a clever and difficult, if not very inspired, Concert Study in C minor, by Mr. Arthur Somervell, and Miss Greta Williams rendered songs by Franz and Sir A. C. Mackenzie in a pleasant manner.

No fault could be found with the scheme of Saturday, the 12th, although it only contained selections which every amateur must know by heart. These were Mozart's Quintet in G minor, Mendelssohn's Sonata in D for pianoforte and violoncello (Op. 58), played by Miss Adela Verne and Mr. Paul Ludwig, and Mendelssohn's Variations Sérieuses, of which Miss Verne gave an intelligent rendering. Madame Bertha Moore was refined as usual in well selected songs.

Additions to the repertory have been scarce this season, and it was quite refreshing to note that the pianoforte solo selected by Miss Ilona Eibenschütz, at the concert of Monday, the 14th ult., was marked "First time." True it was only Schumann's Op. 1, the variations on the name "Abegg," the letters of which form a better musical phrase in German usage, in which B is B flat, than they would in English. At best, however, the piece can only be regarded as a jeu d'esprit, or, in other words, a clever juvenile effort. Of course, Miss Eibenschütz was called upon for an encore, to which she responded by offering a brilliant sketch in the manner of a moto perpetuo. The concerted works, only two in number, were Mendelssohn's Quartet in E flat (Op. 44, No. 3) and Dvorák's fresh and characteristic Pianoforte Quintet in A (Op. 81). Mr. Hugo Heinz rendered songs by Franz, Brahms, Liszt, and Hermann in a thoughtful and artistic manner.

The concert of Saturday, the 19th ult., is the last that can be mentioned at present. It was poorly attended and a glance at the programme served in some measure to reveal the cause. Not a word can be said against Beethoven's Quartet in E flat (Op. 74), Chopin's Introduction and Polonaise in C for pianoforte and violoncello, or Handel's Violin Sonata in D; but these works are brought forward, perhaps, too frequently for regular attendants at these concerts, and Lady Hallé may be reminded that the sonata is one of a set of twelve, ten of which are persistently neglected. Then the pianist, Mr. Zeldenrust, might be advised that transcriptions are scarcely in place at these concerts, especially as so much legitimate pianoforte music by esteemed masters lies undeservedly neglected. The vocalist, Miss Maud Roudès, an American soprano, who has appeared with the Royal Carl Rosa Company, was received with deserved favour.

PIANOFORTE RECITALS.

Ambition is laudable though it may be carried to excess, and we fear Mr. Liebling rather overstepped the mark when he decided to give four pianoforte recitals at St. James's Hall, each programme to be devoted to the works of one master. At the first recital, which was given on the 7th ult., a Beethoven scheme was offered, the pieces being the Variations and Fugue in E flat (Op. 35) and four lengthy sonatas—namely, those in C sharp minor ("Moonlight"), in D major ("Pastoral"), in C major ("Waldstein"), and F minor ("Appassionata"). In the execution of his formidable task Mr. Liebling showed unquestionable facility at the keyboard. The touch was pure and the false notes comparatively few, but more than this it is impossible to say.

Digitized by Google

At the second recital, on the 17th ult., Schumann was laid under contribution, the programme being even more exhausting, alike to the player and his audience. We had in succession the Sonatas in G minor (Op. 22) and in F sharp minor (Op. 11), the whole of the eight Fantasiestücke (Op. 12), the Fantasia in three extended movements (Op. 17), and the "Carnaval" (Op. 9). Again the pianist appeared to be perfectly at his ease before his instrument. Passages in the great works where mistakes are frequently made by pianists whose momentary excitement is apt to carry them away, were rendered in a fairly correct manner, and a few of the movements requiring light fingers were played with all due delicacy. Of the remaining recitals we must speak next month, when, perhaps, a moral may be drawn from a somewhat ill-advised enterprise.

Mr. Herbert Parsons, who gave a recital at St. James's Hall, on Monday, the 14th ult., is at present a very unequal player. He has marked intelligence and evidently understands the capabilities of the pianoforte, his faults being probably due to inexperience. Some minor pieces by Mozart, Paderewski, Rachmaninoff, and other composers were played with much sensibility, as were portions of Tschaikowsky's very fine Pianoforte Trio in A minor (Op. 50), which seems at last to be gaining the favour it should have received a long time since. In this Mr. Parsons, whom we should be glad to hear again, had able assistance from Messrs. Otto Milani and Herbert Walenn.

On the following afternoon the St. James's Hall platform was occupied by M. Arthur de Greef, who gave his second recital this season in presence of a large audience. The Belgian pianist is a brilliant executant, and he seemed to find no difficulty whatever in Mendelssohn's Variations Sérieuses, an Allegro agitato, by Chopin, nor in various pieces by Brahms (including the two Rhapsodies in B minor and G minor), Rachmaninoff, Schumann, and Liszt. The Chopin piece proved to be the opening movement of the Sonata in B flat minor, and it is not easy to comprehend why the entire work should not have been given, even to the displacement of some of the minor pieces. When delicacy and tenderness were required M. de Greef was not so happy, as in Chopin's Berceuse in D flat and Brahms's Intermezzo in E flat, also in the style of a Berceuse. The recital was of a commendably moderate length, and did not in the slightest degree conduce to weariness.

MR. EDWARD GERMAN'S MUSIC TO "MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING."

Music has seldom more effectively enhanced the interest of a play, or more pleasingly contributed to the artistic completeness of a stage performance, than Mr. Edward German's incidental numbers to Mr. George Alexander's revival, on the 17th ult., at the St. James's Theatre, of Shakespeare's comedy "Much ado about nothing." The overture may unhesitatingly be said to be the most successful of the young composer's endeavours in this form. It is instinct with exuberant life under sunny skies, and the raillery of Beatrice and Benedick and the deep sentiment of Claudio and Hero seem to alternately find expression in the music. The themes, moreover, are deftly knit together and the orchestration admirable, while the composition would form an attractive work in the concert-room, where it should soon be heard, albeit it is excellently played by Mr. Alexander's orchestra. For the entr'actes and some of the incidental music, Mr. German has revived sundry of his pieces written for other plays. Thus there is heard the Berceuse and Bacchanalian Dance from "The Tempter," the delightful Pavane and Pastorale from "Romeo and Juliet," the Andante Religioso from "Richard III.," and the vivacious Masque from "As you like it," all of which are made to fit into their new surroundings with keen perception of what is artistically required for the situation. There are also several delicately scored interludes which possess fascinating melodic grace, and an ear-haunting March that should form good material for an orchestral suite.

ROYAL ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

Much talent and satisfactory fruit of good training were in evidence at the organ recital given on the 10th ult. by the students of the Royal Academy of Music, at the Queen's Hall. A remarkably finished and masterly performance of Reubke's Sonata in C minor was given by Mr. George D. Cunningham, Bach's familiar Prelude and Fugue in A minor was interpreted with manifest comprehension of the fine work by Mr. Ernest Reed, and Mr. Bernard C. Flanders skilfully balanced the tones of "the king of instruments" with the sympathetic violin playing of Miss Nettie Atkinson in an Adagio in E by Rheinberger. Other promising young organists were Mr. Leonard Hart and Mr. Walter S. Vale, who may be encouraged to pursue their studies. A pleasing feature of the afternoon was the part-singing of the male choir, conducted by Mr. Henry R. Eyers; and there was much merit in Miss Ethel Newcombe's rendering of two of Dvorák's "Gipsy" Songs and in Mr. William R. Maxwell's singing of the aria "Lend me your aid," from Gounod's opera "Irene." Mrs. Julia Franks also sang three Italian songs by composers of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries in an artistic manner.

ROYAL ACADEMY OF MUSIC LECTURES.

Although the last of Mr. E. F. Jacques's lectures on "Eastern Music and its Influence on that of the West," delivered on January 26 at the Royal Academy of Music, dealt with later times than those treated of in the preceding discourses, and consequently with matters more fully known, there was much that was valuable and interesting in the lecturer's final remarks. He pointed out that the music of the civilised portion of Europe at the commencement of the Christian era was influenced by two styles, that of the East, treated of in the preceding lectures, and that of the Greeks, which was much simpler, and was based for the most part on the diatonic scales. The Romans were shown to have derived their music almost entirely from the Greeks, and the Greek system, in consequence of the extension of the Roman empire, to have been spread over Europe. Two kinds of music, Mr. Jacques said, might safely be assumed to have been used by the early Christians—melodies derived from the countries in which Christianity first took root, and melodies of the popular kind derived from the countries into which Christianity penetrated. The former would be Eastern in style, the latter Grecian and Roman, with perhaps an admixture of influence due to other races then inhabiting Europe. The Dorian, Phrygian, and Lydian families of modes were the favourites of the Greeks, and these were adopted by St. Ambrose, St. Gregory, and their followers. A very valuable portion of the discourse was the explanation of the mistakes of the theoretical writers in the Middle Ages, their misunderstanding of the Greek system causing them to call the Dorian scale of the Greeks, Phrygian; the Phrygian being called Dorian; the Lydian, Hypo-Lydian; the Hypo-Lydian, Lydian; and the Hypo-Phrygian, Mixo-Lydian. This naturally has caused much confusion and misunderstanding, and it was comforting to receive the assurance that it was not necessary to burden one's mind with these names, as for all practical purposes the numbers now attached to the Church modes were quite sufficient to distinguish the one from the other. Mr. Jacques gave an emphatic denial to the popular notion that these modes and the Eastern scales were now obsolete in Europe, and showed by numerous examples that the folk-songs of civilised countries gave us innumerable instances, not only of the Church modes, but also of those belonging to the Indian system. More than this, he showed that the selection either of certain notes in a mode to the exclusion of others, or of certain notes presented in a given order, showed that the idea formulated in the system of "Ragâs" was by no means confined to India. M. Gevaert, in his wonderful book "La Mélopée Antique dans le chant de l'eglise Latine," had analysed about a thousand antiphons of the Roman Church and had found that they were reducible to forty-seven root themes (called Nomes), which the melody-builders of the Middle Ages had thus expanded. In support of his remarks a most interesting selection of Spanish, Italian, French, English, and Irish folk-songs was sung with much artistic perception by Miss Ethel M. Wood and Mr. F. B. Ranalow. It was noticeable that the Eastern modes were chiefly found in the songs of Spain and Italy, while Nos. 1, 5, 7, and 8 of the Church modes seemed to possess most attractiveness to more Northern nations.

Digitized by Google

ROYAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

The choice of so exacting a work as Mozart's "Don Juan" for performance at the Lyceum Theatre, on January 27, by the students of the Royal College of Music, may have been questionable policy, since performances of this work in which the greatest artists of the day had taken part would be remembered by a large majority of the audience, and comparisons were consequently inevitable; but, on the other hand, there was much for the students to gain by a study of an opera in which the principles of form and melodic beauty were so completely set forth, and the vocalist who can sing Mozart's arias as they should be sung has little to learn. Few matured artists are entirely satisfactory as Donna Anna and Donna Elvira, and consequently Cicely Gleeson-White and Edna Ryan are to be warmly congratulated on the measure of success they respectively achieved. Eleanor Jones, as Zerlina, sang the music with much taste and refinement, and, moreover, acted with vivacity, and great praise is also due to Ivor Foster, to whom was entrusted the title-rôle. His singing gave abundant proof of good training and his reading of the part was earnest and conscientious, and, moreover, showed much appreciation of the requirements of the character. Thomas Thomas used his pleasing tenor voice effectively as Don Ottavio, and R. Maddock Davies evinced considerable sense of humour as Leporello. Ralph Courtier-Dutton was efficient as Masetto, and the fine bass voice of Harry Dearth was well suited to the laconic remarks of the Commandant. The choruses were brightly sung, and the orchestral portion of the work was admirably rendered, the accompaniments to the recitativo secco being played on the pianoforte. Professor Villiers Stanford conducted, and the stage management reflected the greatest credit on Mr. Richard Temple. It should be added that the last act of the opera was given without the usual abridgment in the Finale.

At the 259th concert, on the 2nd ult., Beethoven's String Quartet (Op. 59, No. 3) and Tschaïkowsky's splendid Pianoforte Trio (Op. 50) were the concerted pieces. The former was led by S. Grimson with that youthful masterfulness we have frequently noted, while Mary Noverre, E. Behr, and R. Grimson contributed their important share of work in such a manner as to make the performance one of the most enjoyable we have heard at the College for some time. The trio, surely the finest piece of chamber music that has come out of Russia, just as the "Pathetic" is the finest orchestral work, was also well rendered. The pianist, William Hurlstone, was occasionally carried away by the exuberance of his enthusiasm and then sacrificed refinement on the altar of "loud" effect. Still, it was good to see his enthusiasm and that of his gifted young colleagues, W. Read and R. P. Jones. The long work was curtailed by omitting some of the variations. Marjorie Richardson played three pianoforte pieces by Arensky, Chopin, and Liszt with considerable charm. Hilda Foster wasted the sweetness of her well-trained, sympathetic voice and charming style on the desert dulness of two mystic religious effusions by Edmund Diet and G. Fauré, sung in French in which the "Italian a" was largely wanting. Such a small defect will no doubt soon be improved away by this rising young singer. A. McDonald Davy has a genuine, flexible, though as yet "unfinished" bass voice; he sang Purcell's "Arise, ye subterranean winds," effectively.

The following concert, on the 11th ult., was orchestral, and the noisiest affair of the kind we have ever endured at the College. The brass blared and the drums beat in Berlioz's striking "Benvenuto Cellini" Overture and Chabrier's vulgar "España" in a manner suggestive of a certain "greatest show" in a monster building not 100 miles away from Kensington Gore. Seriously, the concert hall at the College is not suitable for such effects (it is all "effect" in these days!) and we would plead for a return to less noisy music and saner performances in this low-roofed wooden structure. It was ear-splitting. Schumann's great C major Symphony (No. 2) was played with immense spirit, but of refinement there was little. The way in which the strings started the work with an unblushing mezzo-forte instead of a pp was a criterion of the whole performance. Maud Gay essayed Liszt's Hungarian Fantasia for pianoforte, and deserves commendation for her clear and crisp execution of the many brilliant scale passages; but she lacks as yet the physical strength required for playing the splendidly sonorous chord passages in the work with the necessary aplomb. Harry Dearth sang "She alone charmeth my sadness," from Gounod's "Queen of Sheba," and thereby succeeded in charming the critic's sadness pro tem. Agatha Macken was allowed to attempt the great air "Mi tradi," from "Don Giovanni," but even the best friend of the College could not but consider her appearance very premature and such a performance of a masterpiece a mistake, to say the least.

At the concert on the 17th ult. we heard no less than three complete quartets—viz., Brahms's beautiful A minor (Op. 51, No. 2), well played by W. Read, Mary Noverre, E. Behr, and R. P. Jones; Saint-Saëns's (Op. 41) for pianoforte and strings, of which Herbert Hamilton, S. Grimson, E. Behr, and R. Grimson gave a not very convincing performance; and last, but not least, a Haydn string quartet in D. This was played by four small youngsters, of which the College prodigy, Haydn Wood, was the "leader." To see a little fellow who has almost to climb on his chair lead a string quartet is amusing enough, but to hear him do it with such a good tone, such unerring technique, such a rare sense of rhythm, and such assurance is a little bewildering. The young Manx boy's colleagues were Tom Morris, Sybil Maturin, and Cyril Clensy. Enid Dickens sang two songs by Grieg in Norwegian. She has a good voice of sympathetic quality and she sings expressively. We know nothing of Norwegian (even a critic can't learn everything!), but as Miss Dickens's pronunciation was very different from what the printed words would cause one to expect, we daresay her Norwegian was of the purest. Thomas Thomas sang two Schubert songs in English, and sang them well. His voice should warrant the most thorough training, for we are sadly in want of good tenors; we mean artists, not ballad warblers.

AMATEUR ORCHESTRAL CONCERTS.

A gratifying sign of the times, musically speaking, is the growth of amateur orchestral societies in the metropolis of recent years, for a generation ago not one of the large Associations which now prove themselves equal to giving creditable performances of classical and modern works was in existence. It was probably due to mere coincidence that three of these bodies gave performances in the Queen's Hall on successive evenings last month; but opportunity was thereby afforded for comparisons, if such were needed. The Stock Exchange Society took the lead, on the 8th ult., with a somewhat ambitious though, for the most part, familiar programme. If there was some unsteadiness in the violins during the rapid scale passages in Beethoven's "Leonora" Overture (No. 3), the interpretation of Dvorák's Symphony in E minor, "From the New World," was as crisp and accurate as could have been desired. Mr. Arthur W. Payne's instrumental force seemed thoroughly at home in this work, in which mirth and melancholy are so strangely intermingled, and also in the accompaniments to Liszt's Hungarian Fantasia in E for pianoforte and orchestra, the solo part in which was intelligently rendered by Mr. Douglas Boxall. An orchestral scene, "Jaga-Naut," by Mr. Granville Bantock, may be pronounced clever; but any remarks in detail must be reserved, as the piece was placed at the end of a lengthy programme. The male-voice choir sang some glees with all possible refinement, under Mr. Alfred E. Cooke, and Mrs. Hutchinson was successful in some high-class songs.

Digitized by Google

The Royal Amateur Orchestral Society, which gave its second performance this season on the following evening, can boast a rather longer existence, and, having been placed in thorough working order by Mr. George Mount, is now progressing rapidly under the direction of Mr. Ernest Ford. There was no hesitation or unsteadiness in the interpretation of Mozart's masterly Overture to "Zauberflöte," the Scherzo from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" music, and Wagner's Overture to "Die Meistersinger." The performance of the last-named arduous piece has never been surpassed by an amateur orchestra. The audience waxed enthusiastic, and still more so over Berlioz's Hungarian March from "Faust," for which an encore was granted. Boccherini's hackneyed Minuetto and Gounod's graceful Overture to "Mireille" were also in the programme. Some violin solos were played with refinement by M. Tivadar Nachèz, and vocal solos were contributed with acceptance by Miss Stanley Lucas and Mr. Kennerley Rumford. The concert was perhaps the most artistically successful ever given by this Society.

On the 10th ult. the Strolling Players brought this interesting series of performances to a close with a programme in which, as usual with this Association, unconventionality ruled supreme. Ever seeking to leave the ordinary groove, Mr. Norfolk Megone placed at the head of the scheme Théodore Gouvy's Symphony, No. 2, in F, which, so far as we are aware, had only been performed once before in London—namely, at the first concert conducted by M. Lamoureux, in St. James's Hall, on March 15, 1881. The themes of this Symphony are pretty and the construction unfailingly orthodox, so that the music does not leave an unpleasant taste in the mouth, which is more than can be said of Litolff's sensational Overture "The Fall of Robespierre," in which are sought to be depicted the frightful scenes in Paris during the Reign of Terror, the triumph of the blood-thirsty tyrant, and his eventual downfall and execution. The overture is undoubtedly clever, but with subjects such as this music should have nothing to do. The other instrumental pieces in a lengthy programme were Max Bruch's impressive prelude to his opera "Lorelei," M. Saint-Saëns's Suite, "Scènes Algériennes," a Rêverie for strings by M. Pierné, and Berlioz's March from "Faust." All were carefully played under Mr. Megone's direction, the orchestra, including nearly twenty ladies, being in excellent form. A word of praise should be given to the Troubadour Glee Singers, four in number, although their selections were not of the highest order.

The Imperial Institute Amateur Orchestral Society seems to be in a flourishing condition, judging by the number of the executants who gave an agreeable concert, on the 9th ult., in the temporary concert-room of the Institute. The orchestral pieces comprised Cherubini's Overture to "Anacreon," the Notturno and Scherzo from Mendelssohn's incidental music to "A Midsummer Night's Dream," and Grieg's "Norwegian Dances" (Op. 35), which were meritoriously played, and with an intelligent apprehension of their nature that reflected much credit on Mr. Randegger's skill as a conductor. Mr. Edward Brightwell gave an effective rendering of the solo part of Schubert's Pianoforte Concerto in A minor, receiving capable support from the orchestra, and songs were sung by Mr. George Devoll and Mr. Edwin Isham, the singing of the latter being refined and sympathetic.

An attractive selection of pieces was offered by the London and Westminster Bank Orchestral Society at its third annual concert, on the 2nd ult., in St. Martin's Hall. Mozart's Symphony in G minor was given in a commendable manner, under the baton of Mr. W. Vincent Thomas, who had his force well under control. Among the other instrumental compositions were some Spanish dances by Moszkowski and Suppé's "Pique Dame" Overture, both rendered with point and observance of light and shade. The vocal contributors were Miss Rose Williams, Miss Winifred Parker, and Mr. Joseph Payne, the efforts of the first-named being specially well received. Mr. H. Wynn Reeves played a violin solo with brightness and freedom.

MR. CHARLES FRY'S RECITALS.

Mr. Charles Fry, assisted by Miss Olive Kennett, Mr. Ernest Meads, and a numerous company, began, on the 12th ult., at the St. George's Hall, a series of Shakespearian recitals in costume, which possessed considerable musical as well as dramatic interest. The play first chosen was "The Merchant of Venice," which was acted as at a stage representation, but without any scenery, its place being taken by gracefully draped dark green plush curtains and a few palms, which, however, most effectively threw up the handsome dresses of the exponents. The incidental music was that written by Sir Arthur Sullivan for the Masque in the second act for the production of the play in September, 1871, at the Prince's Theatre, Manchester, under the direction of Charles Calvert. This music comprises an Introduction, Bourrée, Melodrama, Grotesque Dance, and a Serenade with Italian words, "Nel ciel seren," the last-named being sung by Mr. E. Webster, who personated Lorenzo; the instrumental music, with the exception of the "Grotesque Dance," which imperatively demands wind instruments, being rendered by a string band under the conductorship of Mr. William A. Gardner. During the choosing of the caskets Pinsuti's part-song, "Tell me where is fancy bred," was admirably rendered by Messrs. Vivian Bennetts, Haydn Grover, E. Webster, and Stanley Smith. Miss Olive Kennett's embodiment of Portia, in speech and gesture, attained a high standard of artistic excellence, and the reading of Bassanio by Mr. Meads was no less forcible and consistent with the character. Mr. Fry's personation of Shylock was characterised by the grip and the completeness of detail that spring from artistic perception, careful study, and long experience. Mr. J. Smith was an excellent Launcelot. Mr. Arthur Fayne gave an admirable character sketch of Old Gobbo and represented the Duke with dignity. The Misses Rosalie Ellerton and Louise Cellier respectively appeared as Nerissa and Jessica, and the other characters were sustained in a highly creditable manner.

At the second recital, on the following Saturday, "As you like it" was presented in a similar manner. Miss Kennett's embodiment of Rosalind is one of the best of the present day, and Mr. Meads was a manly Orlando. Mr. Fry doubled the parts of Jaques and Touchstone, and was equally successful in both. The parts of Celia and Audrey were skilfully played by Miss Mabel Wilton and Miss Olive Morton respectively; and the Adam of Mr. Arthur Fayne was remarkably good. Mention is also deserved of the William of Mr. C. Francis and the two Dukes of Mr. Adrian Harley. Dr. Arne's settings of "Under the greenwood tree" and "Blow, blow, thou winter wind," and Morley's "It was a lover and his lass" (1600) were tastefully sung by Mr. Vivian Bennetts. The incidental music, specially written by Mr. Arthur Fox, and conducted by the composer, proved melodious and vivacious. "Romeo and Juliet" (with Berthold Tours's incidental music) was to be given on the 26th ult.

MUSICAL ASSOCIATION.

At its meeting on the 8th ult. a paper on the "Structure of Plain-Song" was read to the members of the Musical Association by Mr. H. B. Briggs, hon. secretary of the Plain-Song and Mediæval Music Society. The lecturer demonstrated how it was necessary for a right understanding of plain-song to collate the ordinary square notation with the earlier versions in neumes, since these gave all the marks of expression and approximate time values (all that is possible or necessary in recitative) which are wanting in the ordinary notation. He divided plain-song into two distinct forms, the antiphonal and the psalmodic; the former consisting of a melody in free rhythm, in which the accentuation in the simple syllabic chants depended solely on the text; the latter being derived from the ordinary psalm-form of intonation, reciting note, and inflection.

In treating of the last, the lecturer explained the development of the tones from the ordinary trochaic ending of a Latin sentence, and how this was the basis of the ordinary forms of the Cursus—i.e., the last five or six syllables of a

Digitized by Google

Weary of Earth and laden with my sin.

ANTHEM FOR LENT OR GENERAL USE.

Words by the Rev. S. J. Stone. (By permission.) Composed by Ferris Tozer, Mus. Doc., Oxon.

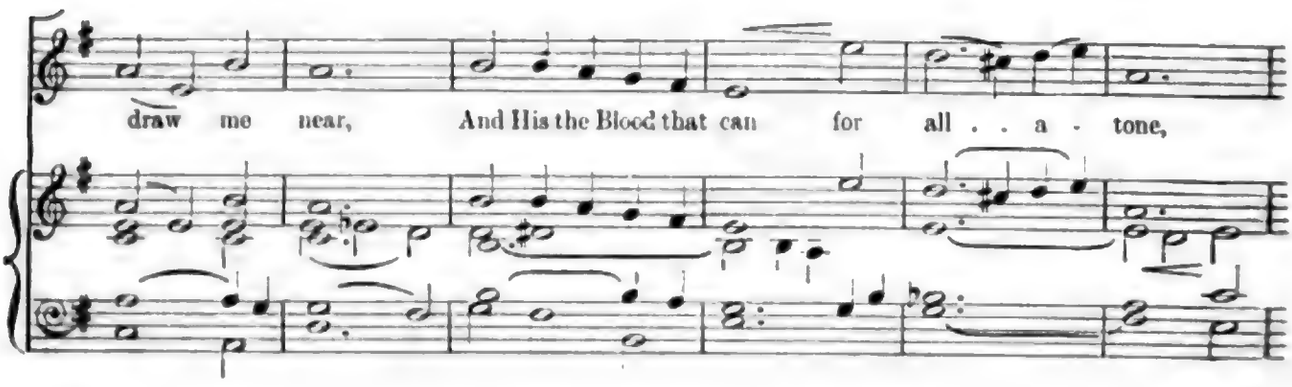
London: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, Berners Street (W.), and 80 & 81, Queen Street (E.C.); also in New York.

Copyright, 1898, by Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google



Digitized by Google

The Musical Times. EXTRA SUPPLEMENT. March 1, 1898

No. 590. NOVELLO'S OCTAVO ANTHEMS. Price 8*d.*

I HEARD A GREAT VOICE

ANTHEM FOR EASTERTIDE

FOR BARITONE SOLO AND CHORUS

COMPOSED BY

GERARD F. COBB.

(Op. 39.)

Rev. i. 10—12, 17, 18.
(Easter Day, M. and Lesson.)

London: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, Berners Street (W.), and 80 & 81, Queen Street (E.C.): also in New York.

* In this and similar passages within brackets the Organ should not be used unless absolutely required.

Copyright, 1898, by Novello, Ewer and Co.

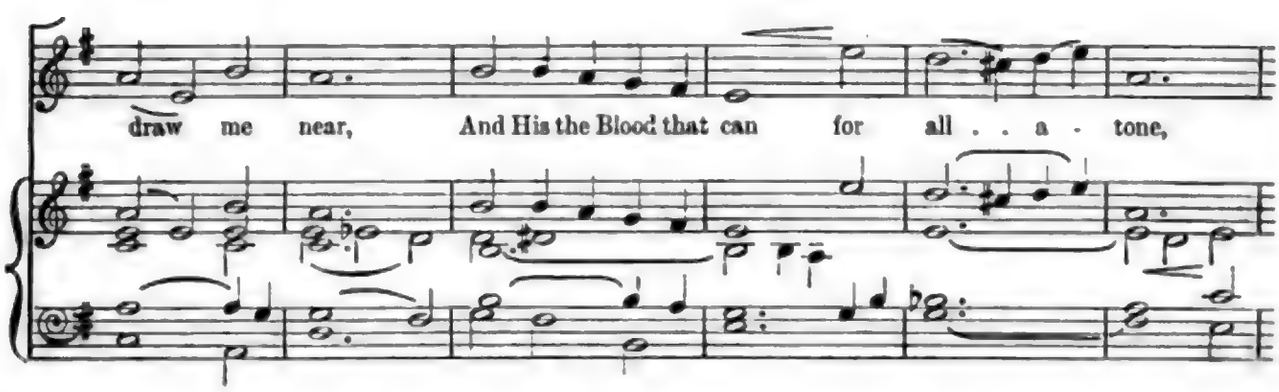
Digitized by Google



Digitized by Google

The Musical Times, EXTRA SUPPLEMENT. March 1, 1899

No. 590. NOVELLO'S OCTAVO ANTHEMS. Price 8*d*.

I HEARD A GREAT VOICE

ANTHEM FOR EASTERTIDE

FOR BARITONE SOLO AND CHORUS

COMPOSED BY

GERARD F. COBB.

(Op. 39.)

Rev. i. 10—12, 17, 18.
(Easter Day, M. 2nd Lesson.)

London: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, Berners Street (W.), and 80 & 81, Queen Street (E.C.): also in New York.

* In this and similar passages within brackets the Organ should not be used unless absolutely required.

Copyright, 1898, by Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

FULL.

I HEARD A GREAT VOICE.

Più mosso e molto animato.

Fear not, fear not, fear . . . not; I am the first and the Fear not, fear not, fear . . . not; I am the first and the Fear not, fear not, fear . . . not; I am the first and the Fear not, fear not, fear . . . not; I am the first and the

Più mosso e molto animato. ♩ = 96.

last, I am the first and the last: fear not,

last, I am the first and the last: fear not,

last, I am the first and the last: fear not,

last, I am the first and the last: fear not,

cres.

dim.

fear not: I am the first, the first and the last:

fear not; I am the first, the first and the last:

fear not; I am the first, the first and the last:

fear not: I am the first, the first and the last:

p mf

Digitized by Google

cres.
I am He that liv - eth,
I am He that
f Tromba.
Gt.
mf
Più lento.
a tempo.
liv - eth, and was dead, I am He that liv - eth, that Più lento.
a tempo.
cres.
Più lento.
rit.
ppp rall.
Tempo 1mo.
f giojoso.
liv - eth, and was dead, and was dead. Fear not, fear not,
Più lento.
Tempo 1mo.

Digitized by Goog

Digitized by Goo

- hold. . . I am a - live for ev - er - more, fear not, fear not; be -

- hold, . . I am a - live for ev - er - more, fear not, fear not; be - fear not, fear . . not, fear . . not; be - fear not, fear . . not, fear . . not; . .

cres.

con Ped.

f

- hold, I am a - live, be - hold, I am a - live, be - hold, I am a -

- hold, . . be - hold, I am a - live, . . a - live, be - hold, I am a -

- hold, be - hold, I am a - live, I am a - fear . . . not; be - hold, . . be - hold, I am a - live. a -

- live for ev - er - more.

- live for ev - er - more.

- live for ev - er - more.

- live for ev - er - more.

marcato.

ten.

sf

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

I HEARD A GREAT VOICE.

* May be sung Full pp, if desired.

Also published in Novello's Tonic Sol-fa Series, No. 1027, price 1½*d*.

Digitized by Google

Also published in Novello's Tonic Sol-fa Series, No. 1028, price 1½d.

Digitized by Google

phrase—viz., the metrical, according to the rules of Cicero and Quintilian, and the rhythmical, as used in the Papal Bulls from A.D. 400 to 650, and showed how the Cursus Planus then chiefly used had influenced all psalmodic plain-song. The development of the modes from the ancient Greco-Roman scales was explained, and it was shown that the scales commonly in use for the domestic music of the lyre, as opposed to those employed in the heathen temple service, were used in the earliest plain-song—viz., the Ambrosian hymns and the antiphons. Most of these scales were easily adjustable to the mediæval system of the modes, and the consequence was that most antiphons in all MSS. showed no variations in their melodies; but those which had been written in the strong Iastian scale differed widely amongst themselves, apparently because they were not easily allotted to any Church mode, and accordingly suffered alterations in order to adjust them to the first or third modes. The lecturer touched on the evidence in the Hucbaldian treatises for the use of chromatic alteration in the ninth century, and showed how an E flat occurred in the Sarum MSS., confirmed by the neumes in a Swiss MS. in the Offertory "In die solemnitatis," for the purpose of modulating in the middle of the melody from the first to the fourth mode, so as to preserve the same note throughout as the prevailing note.

As illustrations of antiphonal plain-song, Mr. Vernon-Taylor gave excellent renderings of the syllabic "Confitebor" and the extremely florid "Alleluia: Justus germinabit." The equally ornate Gradual, "Justus ut palma," was given as a specimen of the elaborate psalmodic plain-song, and the lecturer pointed out how each phrase consisted of an intonation, a recitation, and a cadence, some containing the full Cursus Planus—e.g., "Cédrus Libáni"—and others the simple trochaic ending.

The chairman (Dr. Pearce) afterwards pleaded strongly that modern musicians would first free themselves from the thraldom of the leading note, and then study plain-song thoroughly. He referred to the excellent singing of the choir of the Cowley Fathers' Church at Oxford, and to their chanting of the Psalms as the only perfect method of giving expression to the words, and hoped that the system of Solesmes there followed would become universal.

PEOPLE'S CONCERT SOCIETY.

The People's Concert Society, which is rendering yeoman service to the cause of musical art in the metropolis by way of providing excellent performances of high-class music at truly popular prices, is giving a series of concerts this season in the spacious hall of the newly opened Northern Polytechnic Institute, Holloway Road. There was a very numerous audience at the eighth concert of the series, given here on the 12th ult., the programme on this occasion being rendered especially interesting by its including the first performance in public of Professor C. Villiers Stanford's setting for vocal quartet, with pianoforte accompaniment, of the incidental lyrics occurring in Tennyson's "The Princess." The beautiful verses, while having, for the greater part, no direct connection with the central idea of the poem itself, peculiarly lend themselves to musical interpretation on account of the varied moods represented in them, and it is scarcely necessary to add that Professor Stanford has done full justice to the opportunities thus afforded him. Nor was an intelligent appreciation wanting on the part of the audience, who closely followed the performance of the nine numbers comprising the cycle of quartets. Amongst those most heartily applauded were the stirring lines "Thy voice is heard thro' rolling drums" (vociferously encored), and the pathetic "Home they brought her warrior dead" and "Ask me no more." The quartets were very efficiently interpreted by Miss Gertrude Sichel, Miss Evelyn Downes, Mr. Richard Streathfield, and Mr. Francis Harford; Mr. J. A. Fuller Maitland playing the pianoforte accompaniment. The programme also included Brahms's "Liebeslieder Walzer" (Op. 52) and a con amore performance, by Mr. Fuller Maitland and the excellent violinist, Mr. John Saunders, of Beethoven's "Kreutzer" Sonata.

"THE SPECTRE'S BRIDE," "ATHALIE," AND "THE FLAG OF ENGLAND" AT CHELTENHAM.

(By our Special Correspondent.)

Cheltenham was formerly noted for its medicinal waters. It is now celebrated as an educational centre—the Ladies' College alone having a pupilage of 900 girls—and as a pleasant residential town amongst the Cotswolds, where many who have borne the burden and heat of the day may enjoy well-earned retirement under favourable conditions, climatic as well as pecuniary. If, as I was informed, Cheltenham is "not a very musical place," I had ample evidence during my two recent visits thither to convince me that this statement must be taken, like the natural waters of the town, cum grano salis.

Two important concerts were given at Cheltenham within a week of each other, both of which deserve more than passing notice. The first, on the 8th ult., was that of the New Philharmonic Society, of which Mr. C. J. Phillips is the able conductor. Mr. Phillips, who was a pupil of Lamperti, and is the professor of singing at the Ladies' College above referred to, founded this Society about four years ago. Its object is "to study and produce compositions unknown to or previously unheard by the general public." During its short existence the Society has so far attained its object by performances of Schumann's "Paradise and the Peri," Verdi's "Requiem," Goring Thomas's "The Swan and the Skylark," Handel's "Acis and Galatea," &c. The Society numbers 120 members—106 vocalists and 14 instrumentalists—who, with the assistance of 21 professional players, make up the grand total of 141 performers.

Dvorák's dramatic cantata "The Spectre's Bride," a work by no means free from difficulty, might have presented serious obstacles to a less enthusiastic and progressive conductor than Mr. Phillips. But he, with the aid of his trusty followers, surmounted the intricacies of Dvorák's most beautiful and intensely dramatic work in a manner worthy of high commendation. Anyone having experience in conducting amateur choirs knows how difficult it is to infuse into the prevalent phlegmatic temperaments of chorus-singers that poetic emotional enthusiasm which a conductor like Mr. Phillips possesses in so high a degree. There were moments in the performance of the "Spectre's Bride" when we felt this, as, for instance, in the opening chorus:

> The stroke of midnight soon will sound,
> And all is wrapt in rest profound.

Something more than a mere pianissimo—when that is really obtained—is needed to convey the full meaning of the composer's intention. There must be the mental reflection—not on the part of one or two, but of the whole chorus—of the "rest profound" suggested by the environment of the stillness of the night. Without this the music loses nearly all its poetic significance. These remarks are by no means offered in any hypercritical spirit. No; my object is to help conductors in their work by calling the attention of their faithful singers to the great importance of entering heart and soul into the spirit of the music they are called upon to sing. The orchestra acquitted themselves remarkably well, especially considering their limited opportunities of rehearsing together. "Look out, gentlemen, the semiquavers are coming," Sir George Smart is reported to have said at a Philharmonic (London, not Cheltenham) rehearsal in the days long ago. There are plenty of semiquavers in the fiddle parts of "The Spectre's Bride," and if by reason of their ultra-chromatic nature they did not always come very comfortably, there was much to commend in this important department. The brass asserted themselves, as they generally do. In this instance they hailed from Birmingham, and therefore they may have considered it necessary to proclaim the metal-manufacturing proclivities of that Midland city. The solos were in the capable hands of Madame Bertha Rossow, Mr. William Green, and Mr. Albert Archdeacon, all of whom discharged their arduous duties with praiseworthy skill.

The second part of the programme must be briefly noticed. It opened with a spirited and admirable performance of that kingly overture, Beethoven's "Leonora" (No. 3), and at its close the band, in response to the plaudits of the audience, rose at the call of the conductor. Mr. William Green gave a fine rendering of Dr. Parry's Handelian air "God breaketh the battle," from "Judith." Solos were also contributed by Madame Rossow and Mr. Archdeacon, and Wagner's "Hail, bright abode" ("Tannhäuser"), completed a scheme which reflected great credit upon Mr. Phillips and all concerned. I must not omit to mention that the orchestra was led by Mr. Lewis Hann, a worthy member of a worthy family, who is professor of the violin at the Ladies' College.

Digitized by Google

On the following Tuesday I again journeyed through the lovely Stroud valley, to attend a choral and orchestral concert to be given by the Cheltenham Festival Society, of which Mr. J. A. Matthews has long been the much-esteemed conductor. About thirty years ago, when he began his professional work in the town, music at Cheltenham was at a very low ebb, if it can be said to have existed at all. All honour, then, to a pioneer like Mr. Matthews for his steady perseverance and unwearying zeal in so good a cause. The various musical festivals organised by him at Cheltenham have made his name favourably known. In 1870 he established a choral and orchestral society, which has now become the Cheltenham Musical Festival Society, having a band and chorus of 250 performers.

At this most recent concert of the Society, held on the 15th ult., the first part of the programme was devoted to Mendelssohn's "Athalie," a work familiar enough, presenting comparatively few difficulties to an experienced choir. It is interesting to know that the overture—remarkably well played, by the way, on this occasion—was composed in London, the autograph bearing the inscription "London, June 13, 1844." The chorus sang as if they thoroughly enjoyed the music; but, as I have already pointed out in regard to the "Spectre's Bride," there were indications that a more dramatic grasp of the work is within the range of possibility and is worth striving for. The trio of soloists—Madame Marie Duma, Miss Marie Roberts, and Miss Ada Crossley—discharged their duties with artistic conscientiousness, and Mr. Charles Fry recited the lyrics with a success resulting from a natural intuition matured by long experience.

The closing portion of "Athalie" (a posthumous publication) seems weak in comparison with that which precedes it. Mendelssohn, however, wrote a fugue for insertion in the final chorus having the following subject:—

This fugue was doubtless intended to enter at p. 119, last bar but one, of Novello's octavo score. The autograph of the fugue contains only the vocal portion, but so far it is complete and has an alternative ending. It will be observed that Mendelssohn has used part of the subject in the accompaniment in the existing passage on p. 119 of the score already referred to.

The chief event of the evening, however, was the presence of Sir Frederick Bridge, who travelled specially from Westminster to conduct his "Flag of England." This attractive work, set to Rudyard Kipling's stirring lines, was successfully produced by the Royal Choral Society at the Albert Hall last May. Sir Frederick never allows his energies to flag, either in conducting, lecturing, or composing, and under his vigorous conductorship the Cheltenham choristers sang with an enthusiasm deserving the highest praise. The orchestra, too, realised its responsibilities. We should be surprised if the "Flag of England," having all the elements of popularity, does not become a standard work amongst choral societies. The solo portions were finely rendered by Madame Marie Duma, who, later in the evening, gave Weber's "Ocean! thou mighty monster," with due dramatic perception. Miss Ada Crossley's rich contralto voice was heard to full advantage in Giordani's "Caro mio ben," and Miss Marie Roberts rendered Handel's "Ombra mai fù" (so well known as the "Largo") in a pleasing manner. Grieg's "Peer Gynt" Suite provided the orchestra with a congenial occupation, and the audience seemed keenly to enjoy its pandemonial ending. Mr. J. A. Matthews, who (with the exception of "The Flag of England") conducted the concert, must have been highly gratified at the success attending his efforts.

The musical life of Cheltenham seems to be carefully and judiciously nourished. Those responsible for its vitality and healthy development may pursue different methods, but all are commendably working for spreading a love of music and in promoting the progress of the art. May they obtain a rich reward for their labours and leave a goodly heritage for those who come after them.

REVIEWS.

Twenty-four Songs for Little People. The words written by Norman Gale. The music composed by Gerard F. Cobb (Op. 35). Book I. (Nos. 1—12).

[Novello, Ewer and Co.]

The requirements and capabilities of children have seldom been more sympathetically met than in this book of "Songs for Little People." The words are taken from Mr. Norman Gale's volume of the same title, which appropriately has been adopted for their musical setting, and, to quote from the brief preface: "Though in the first instance, no doubt, the songs will be mainly sung to children rather than by them, the composer's aim has been to observe such conditions in his settings as to make it easy for children to join in singing them themselves. With this object he has endeavoured to furnish simple, rhythmical melodies of a suitable compass, and it will be found that in the case of sixteen out of the twenty-four songs the vocal range is confined to the octave, whilst in only three instances does it exceed nine notes." Perhaps, however, the sympathy of the composer is most shown in the simple and ear-catching nature of the tunes, several of which seem to jump out of the paper straight into one's brain and dance themselves into an abiding home. This is specially characteristic of the first ditty, entitled "Off to the sea," which trips along with infectious gaiety. "Silver Sammy" has a character all his own, derived from a clever rhythmic device, and the history of "Bessie" is related to a very rhythmical tune. "The Violin" can scarcely fail to be an attractive number, with its touch of realism in the imitation of the tuning of that instrument and its clever allusions to "The Bonnets of Bonnie Dundee." The awful fate of "The Bad Boy" cannot fail also to excite awesome interest, and his determination "to be very bad" is humorously accentuated by the persistent reiteration of certain notes of the melody. Little folks owe a debt of gratitude to Mr. Gerard F. Cobb.

The Man of Sorrows. A Passion Cantata. For treble and tenor solos, chorus, and organ. The words paraphrased from the Holy Scriptures by the Rev. A. C. Lowth. The music composed by Charles W. Pearce.

Easter Cantata. For treble, tenor, and bass solos, chorus, and organ. Words selected from the Holy Scriptures and from English Hymns. Music by Charles W. Pearce.

[The Organist and Choirmaster.]

Both these works largely consist of more or less well-known hymn tunes in the singing of which a congregation is expected to join. The first cantata is the more elaborate. The plain-song melody "Vexilla Regis," used by Gounod in "The Redemption," has been taken as a kind of musical text to typify the kingly character of the Redeemer, and it frequently recurs in suggestive manner. Little has been gained by paraphrasing the passages referring to the Passion; indeed, in several instances there has been a decided loss, as "Into Thy hands, Father, my spirit I commend!" which is immeasurably weaker than as the words stand in St. Luke xxiii. 46. The vocal part-writing in both cantatas is simple, and the solos are of like nature; the voice parts too are nearly always duplicated in the organ accompaniment. In the "Easter Cantata" the music is bright and rhythmic and the hymns are popular in character; but in the solos and choruses the composer seems to have been content to be devotional and conventional somewhat.

Digitized by Google

Sing unto the Lord. Anthem. By J. Frederick Bridge.
The Lord my faithful Shepherd is. Arranged by Sedley Taylor.
How long wilt Thou forget me? Anthem. By Harvey Löhr.
Magnificat and Nunc dimittis. By George Sampson.
O Saving Victim. By George Sampson.
[Novello, Ewer and Co.]

Sir Frederick Bridge's anthem was composed for the Royal Maundy Service in Westminster Abbey of last year, and is a bright and spirited composition. Although designed for a special occasion the anthem would be appropriate at any festival service. The work contains an expressive tenor solo of some dimensions, and towards the close an effective climax is accentuated by the voices being written for in eight parts. Mr. Sedley Taylor's anthem consists of the opening movement of Bach's church cantata "Der Herr ist mein getreuer Hirt." The English text is an unrhymed translation of the German original, which is a paraphrase of part of Psalm xxiii. The principal vocal theme is the choral "Allein Gott in der Höh' sei Ehr'," which is effectively contrasted by the contrapuntal character of the accompaniment and interludes. Mr. Löhr's anthem is written for a bass solo and male chorus. The solo covers four pages of the work, after which the chorus enters in four parts and continues in a jubilant strain until the close. The setting of the Evening Canticles by Mr. Sampson is somewhat ambitious in design. The voices in the earlier part of the Magnificat are written in eight parts, and subsequently there is an unaccompanied portion for the choir. The Nunc dimittis is not so satisfactory, especially at the opening, where the voices in unison are supported by an organ accompaniment of secular character. Mr. Sampson is more happy in his music to "O Saving Victim," the character of the text being reflected in the music, which is devotional and flowing.

An Album of Five Songs. By W. H. Hadow.
[Oxford: Sydney Arcott and Co.]

The words of these songs have been well chosen, but the composer is most successful in his settings of those of an introspective rather than dramatic character, and in the former he is very happy. The first song, "Bright is the ring of words," written by R. L. Stevenson, is, indeed, a little gem, instinct with dainty grace and poetic suggestiveness. Scarcely less attractive is "The Blossom," words by Blake. Sympathetic music is allied to some suggestive lines, entitled "Memories," by Arthur Symons, and Davenant's "The lark now leaves his wat'ry nest" is brightly treated. The least satisfactory song is Scott's "Where shall the lover rest?" but they all show the hand of a cultured musician, and may be warmly recommended to well-trained vocalists.

Album of Eighteen Songs. With original guitar accompaniments. By Carl Maria von Weber. Edited by J. S. Shedlock. [Boosey and Co.]

The fact that Mr. J. S. Shedlock has undertaken to edit this collection not only testifies to the edition being satisfactory, but also to the artistic value of the songs. Weber was an accomplished guitar player, and would seem to have had great partiality for the instrument, and the present album contains only the songs for which Weber himself wrote guitar accompaniments. In an interesting preface, Mr. Shedlock quotes the following passage from the life of Weber, written by his son: "Most of their (i.e., Carl v. Weber and Gottfried Weber) Lieder were composed for the guitar, an instrument so appropriate to these pieces, and one which misuse and tasteless treatment have alone brought out of fashion. A rich treasury of songs of this description has been left to the world by Carl Maria von Weber; and assuredly one day, when that world has been sufficiently surfeited with its present food for epileptic soul-sufferers, and can find once again a taste for the solid, genuine, and true in art, will they again emerge into light from the darkness of their temporary oblivion." Since these songs may be now said to have emerged from their "temporary oblivion," it may be presumed that the "epileptic soul-sufferers" are growing more healthy—a satisfactory and comforting reflection. The German text has been well translated or adapted by Miss Marie L. Shedlock, and an alternative pianoforte accompaniment has been added by the editor; but the songs will be most effective if accompanied by a guitar. The music for the most part is very simple in character, but several of the songs offer opportunities for artistic display of a flexible voice, and, in two instances, demand an extensive compass.

A Woodland Dream. Cantata. Written by Shapcott Wensley. Composed by J. A. Moonie.
[Novello, Ewer and Co.]

A pretty fancy is daintily told in this cantata. The heroine, named Mabel, falling asleep under an oak tree, dreams that she is carried to fairyland, and called upon by the Queen to answer why the love of mortals is growing cold towards her people. Mabel, being an up-to-date young lady, answers that she has so many sciences to master that she has no time to give attention to fairies, whereupon the Queen calls for her gnomes to seize her. Mabel is rescued by her parents, who have come in search of her. Three soloists are required—Mabel, mezzo-soprano; the Queen, soprano; and a Narrator, also intended for a soprano voice. The choruses are written in two parts, and in common with the vocal solos are simple but melodious, affording opportunities, however, for effective vocalisation. An attractive number is the choral march of the gnomes—

Just five score of tiny men,
But each one stamping enough for ten.

It is followed by a rhythmic dance, and the composer makes one feel on very good terms with these quaint little fellows of latent capabilities—

Each in coat of green and black,
Each with hump upon his back.

There is also another dance for the "fays," who are provided with a graceful measure in waltz time, and whose steps seem to be as light as those of their bodyguard are heavy. The work is decidedly pleasing, and excites a desire to know the locality of that oak tree under which Mabel fell asleep.

Thou wilt remember us. Sacred Song. Words by the Rev. Horatius Bonar. Music by Willem Coenen.
Ave Verum (Jesu, Word of God Incarnate). Baritone Solo. By George Kett.
[Novello, Ewer and Co.]

Mr. Coenen has allied the impressive lines he has selected to a broad and flowing melody which admirably suits their character. The style is that chiefly associated with Gounod in his sacred music, and the song is gratefully laid out for the voice and easy to accompany. It is, moreover, issued in two keys, D flat and E flat, the highest note in the latter being G above the stave. This note, however, occurs but once, and might be omitted without injury to the melody.

Mr. Kett's setting of the "Ave Verum" is dignified and reverential. The voice part is expressive, and as the accompaniment could be made effective on the organ the song is suitable for church use.

I will praise Thee, O God. Full Anthem. By Frank Davidson.
The Office for the Holy Communion. By William Prendergast.
Communion Service, No. 3. By C. J. Ridsdale.
[Novello, Ewer and Co.]

Mr. Davidson has written a vigorous anthem in four parts, the opening and closing portions of which are effectively contrasted by a middle section of expressive character. The part-writing possesses considerable individual independence and will interest a well trained choir. Mr. Prendergast's setting of the Communion service is simple but impressive. It includes the Benedictus and Agnus Dei and the music concludes with the Gloria in Excelsis according to the Church of England ritual. Mr. Ridsdale's music was originally composed for children's voices in unison, but it has been harmonised in four parts for use when this is desirable. It is very simple, but not uninteresting.

Digitized by Google

Song of Night (Nachtlied). Composed for Chorus and Orchestra. By Robert Schumann (Op. 108).
[Novello, Ewer and Co.]

Conductors of choral societies should give attention to this "Song of Night," for it is music that would be enjoyed by all trained vocalists. It is laid out for the usual four voices, but occasionally these are divided into two parts. The vocal writing is easy to read and frequently of great beauty, especially towards the close of the work. Hebbel's poem has been excellently translated by Miss G. E. Troutbeck, who has fitted her words to the music with remarkable skill; and although an orchestra is required to do full justice to the work, a sympathetic pianist could make the well arranged pianoforte part very effective.

The Orpheus (New Series). Nos. 305 and 306.
[Novello, Ewer and Co.]

Two attractive additions have been made to this series. The first is a four-part song for male voices entitled "Harmony," the words written by E. Taylor and the music composed by W. Beale. The text is cleverly treated and the part-writing interesting. The second is a setting by Hamilton Clarke, in the form of an unaccompanied quartet for male voices, of Shakespeare's song, "Hark, hark! the lark." The music is in Mr. Clarke's most melodious manner and will present no difficulties to fairly trained singers.

MUSIC IN BIRMINGHAM.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Messrs. Harrison's third concert of the present series was given in the Town Hall, on January 31. The artists included Miss Evangeline Florence, Miss Clara Butt, Mr. Edward Lloyd, and Mr. Watkin Mills; Lady Hallé, Miss Adela Verne, and Mr. F. A. Sewell (accompanist). Mr. C. W. Perkins gave several organ solos with his customary skill. Lady Hallé's perfect art of violin playing was fully shown in Vieuxtemps's Fantaisie Caprice. The pianist possesses an exquisite touch and admirable style.

Mr. George Halford's sixth and seventh orchestral concerts were given in the Town Hall, on the 1st and 15th ult. Mr. Halford has always some novelties of interest to bring forward, and he has of late introduced a number of highly original works by Russian and other composers, including Dvorák's Violoncello Concerto (Op. 104), admirably played by Mr. Carl Fuchs, of Manchester; Overture, "A Dream on the Volga" (Arensky); Entr'acte, "L'Orestie" (Tanéiëw); Overture, "La Patrie" (Bizet); Suite, No. 3, Op. 55 (Tschaïkowsky); Overture, "Carnaval Romain" (Berlioz). At the latter concert Miss Olga von Broemsen made her début as a vocalist and gave a sympathetic rendering of songs by Tschaïkowsky, Chaminade, Bohm, and Brahms.

The Festival Choral Society's second orchestral concert was given in the Town Hall, on the 4th ult., Dr. C. Swinnerton Heap conducting. The principal novelty consisted of Tschaïkowsky's piquant suite de ballet, "Casse Noisette." The performance was a very fine one throughout. Schumann's Symphony, No. 1, in B flat; Beethoven's Overture, "Coriolanus"; Grieg's "Im Herbst"; and Liszt's "Hungarian Rhapsodie," No. 3, in D, were the orchestral numbers. Mr. Willy Hess, a consummate artist in every way, played Spohr's dramatic Violin Concerto (Op. 47) and Vieuxtemps's Ballade and Polonaise in G. Miss Lilian Coomber, who took the place of Madame Ella Russell (indisposed), possesses a high soprano voice of a splendid ringing quality and is destined to make her mark in the musical world.

Dr. Rowland Winn's third orchestral concert took place in the Town Hall, on the 10th ult. Dr. Winn gave an admirable programme of music, which included Beethoven's Fourth Symphony, Wagner's Overture to "Die Meistersinger," the Good Friday music from "Parsifal," and Grieg's Concerto for pianoforte and orchestra. Miss Fanny Davies gave a truly magnificent performance of the concerto; Madame Emily Squire was the vocalist and sang Handel's "Hush, ye pretty warbling choir," from "Acis and Galatea," and three songs by Grieg.

The Birmingham Choral Union gave a performance of "The Messiah" in the Town Hall, on the 5th ult., under Mr. Thomas Facer's conductorship. The principals were all local artists, and Mr. C. W. Perkins presided at the organ.

The Birmingham Choral and Orchestral Association, conducted by Mr. Joseph H. Adams, gave an interesting concert in the Town Hall, on the 7th ult. The principal artists included Miss Emilie Long (soprano), Mr. W. Molineaux (tenor), and Mr. William Bennett (bass). The chief piece consisted of Henry Smart's dramatic cantata "The Bride of Dunkerron," written for the Birmingham Festival of 1864, the performance of which reflected great credit on all concerned. Mr. Adams, in reviving works by British composers which are seldom heard, is doing good service in the cause of music.

Mr. Max Mossel's second drawing-room concert attracted a large audience to the Grosvenor Rooms of the Grand Hotel, on the 17th ult. The performers were Madame Ivan Mossel (pianoforte), Mr. Max Mossel (violin), Mr. Ferrir (viola), Mr. Ivan Mossel (violoncello). The vocalist was Madame Marian McKenzie. The chief pieces of an interesting programme consisted of Tschaïkowsky's Trio in A minor (Op. 50), Beethoven's "Serenade" Trio, and Boëllmann's "Variations Symphoniques" for violoncello. The concert was of the highest artistic standard.

MUSIC IN BRISTOL.

(From our own Correspondent.)

On January 22 the newly-established Bristol and Clifton Philharmonic Society gave its first concert and brought forward Sullivan's "Prodigal Son," a work that has not been given in our city for a long time, and was therefore now heard with renewed interest. A good performance of the work was given, the members of the choir singing with taste and precision, and the chief artists, Miss Florence Cromey, Madame Barrett-Stone, Mr. E. T. Morgan, and Mr. Montague Worlock ably discharged their duties.

Messrs. Brodsky, R. Briggs, S. Speelman, and C. Fuchs visited Clifton on January 29 and gave a performance of chamber music with that excellence which characterises their efforts. Madame Darmaro, at whose instance the Manchester executants were induced to come to our city, assisted in Beethoven's Trio for pianoforte and strings in C minor (Op. 1, No. 3).

Mr. D. W. Rootham's choir, formed chiefly of members of the musical festival choir, sang Cowen's "Sleeping Beauty," on the 18th ult., aided by Mrs. Hutchinson, Miss Lilian Hovey, Mr. Herbert Grover, and Mr. Arthur Wills. On this, the first public appearance of the newly organised body, a distinct success was achieved, Cowen's melodious and graceful work being sung with precision and expression, under the guidance of the esteemed festival chorus-master. In the second part, containing miscellaneous vocal compositions, the choir exhibited its skill, unity, and refinement in singing part-songs and glees and some vocal waltzes by Brahms.

The Annual "Ladies' Night" of the Bristol Royal Orpheus Glee Society took place on the 17th ult., and was attended by the customary brilliant success. Under the direction of Mr. Riseley the pieces in the excellent programme, many now done for the first time by the Society, were sung with a degree of excellence bordering on perfection. Mr. Braxton Smith was the soloist.

MUSIC IN DUBLIN.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The inaugural concert of the new Dublin Glee and Madrigal Union was given at the Antient Concert Rooms on January 26. The members of the Union are Messrs. J. R. Morgan (alto), Mr. Melfort d'Alton (tenor), Mr. T. F. Marchant, and Mr. Harris-Watson (first and second basses). Mrs. Scott Ffennell, Mrs. Louis Mantell, Signor Esposito, and Signor de Angelis contributed solos, vocal and instrumental; and Mr. C. G. Marchant conducted.

The Dublin Glee Singers, a choir of sixty voices (also an offspring of the "Feis" competitions), gave their first public concert at the Antient Concert Rooms on January 27. The rendering of the glees and part-songs was characterised by careful attention to light and shade, good attack, and good vocal tone. Mr. Joseph Seymour conducted, and the soloists were Miss Agnes Treacy, Madame Jeanie Rosse, Mr. Evan Cox, Madame Miriam Bernard (harp), and Mr. Vincent O'Brien (pianoforte).

Digitized by Google

The Rathmines Church Choral Society gave a concert in the Township Schools, on January 25, when Mendelssohn's "Hear my Prayer" and a miscellaneous second part were given, under the able direction of Mr. Raymond Revelle.

Madame Jeanie Rosse's concerts at the New Town Hall, Rathmines, have taken place weekly since the opening of the building. Madame Rosse's Ladies' Choir and Mr. Seymour's Dublin Glee Singers have furnished the choral element, and the string band of the Durham Regiment was effective in the orchestral department.

Mrs. Scott Ffennell's annual concert took place on the 12th ult., in the new Lyric Hall. The popular bénéficiaire was supported by Madame Kate Cove, Miss Evelyn McNair, Mr. Melfort d'Alton, Mr. Gordon Cleather, and Mr. Plunket Greene, vocalists; Signor de Angelis, violin; Signor Esposito, pianoforte; Madame Maud Valérie White and Dr. Collison acting as accompanists.

The Dublin Musical Society chose Mendelssohn's "Elijah" for its second subscription concert, which took place at the Royal University Buildings, Earlsfort Terrace, on the 17th ult. The soloists were Madame Ella Russell, Madame Belle Cole, Mr. Reginald Brophy, and Mr. Andrew Black. Mr. Arthur Darley led the strings, Mr. C. F. Marchant presided at the organ, and Dr. Joseph Smith conducted with his usual ability. The opinion is freely expressed that the Dublin Musical Society has rarely, if ever, been heard to such advantage—artists, band, and choir all contributing to this happy result.

MUSIC IN EAST ANGLIA.

(From our own Correspondent.)

In aid of the fund for rebuilding the Hospital for Children at Norwich, founded by Jenny Lind in 1853, the members of the band connected with Messrs. J. and J. Colman's works suggested a concert at which its help would be freely given. The concert took place in St. Andrew's Hall, on the 1st ult., with the result that £43 was realised for the fund. Dr. Bunnett, who undertook the musical arrangements, had enlisted the services of Mrs. S. Herbert Habershon, with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur d'Oyly as vocalists and Mrs. W. H. Cozens-Hardy as solo violinist. The Carrow band, under Mr. Jackson, was responsible for seven pieces in the programme.

Miss Trixie Barrett was responsible for an interesting concert given in Noverre's Room, Norwich, on the 10th ult., when that lady sang several songs with commendable taste and judgment, notably Henschel's "Spinning Wheel" and Somervell's "Cradle Song." Other vocalists were Mr. Herbert Buchanan and Mr. Archdeacon, the latter gentleman's clear enunciation and fine baritone voice being warmly applauded. Mr. Arthur Bent's artistic violin playing was shown in a very fine interpretation of Saint-Saëns's "Rondo Capriccioso," a Cavatina by Emil Kreutz, and two numbers of the Brahms-Joachim Hungarian Dances. A new-comer to a Norwich audience appeared in the person of Miss Muriel Handley, who achieved a well-deserved success by her very clever violoncello playing, whether in legato or more brilliant passages. Miss May Hewett was the pianist.

The Norwich "Gate House" Choir gave its first concert of the season at Noverre's Room on January 27. The voices were extremely well balanced and sang with more vigour and spirit than has lately been the case. Mr. Kingston Rudd's painstaking care at rehearsals produced good results. Dudley Buck's "Hymn to Music" (unaccompanied) was the principal piece for the choir. "Lo, autumn leaves," one of Dr. Bunnett's lately issued "Pastoral Part-songs," was also charmingly sung, conducted by the composer. Herr Hugo Becker made his first appearance in Norwich, and thoroughly delighted the audience with his masterly violoncello solos, not the least enjoyable feature being a performance of Mendelssohn's Variations (Op. 17) for pianoforte and violoncello, the pianoforte part being in the safe hands of Mr. Kingston Rudd.

Among the clerks employed in the head office of the Norwich Union Fire Office at Norwich, enough material has been found to form an Orchestral Society, one of them having sufficient musical knowledge, combined with enough enthusiastic love of the art, to become its conductor. Under that gentleman (Mr. W. F. Gemmer) the Society gave an invitation concert on the 16th ult., and, with a little extraneous assistance, played several light numbers in good style, Herman's Overture "Le Chevalier Breton" being its best effort.

The Lowestoft Musical Union gave its fourth concert, on the 7th ult., in the Public Hall. Contrary to the usual arrangements at such entertainments, the first part was devoted to a miscellaneous selection, while the "work" performed was relegated to the second. Of this selection it will suffice to say that the principal vocalists, Miss M. Eaton, Miss May Seiber, Mr. J. S. Robinson, and Mr. Geo. Stubbs, were responsible for songs, and Mr. Coote Suggit, who led the band, played two of the Brahms-Joachim Hungarian Dances in capital style. Mr. H. D. Flowers, who conducts this Society, cannot be congratulated upon his judgment in choosing Sullivan's "Martyr of Antioch" for the display of his forces; but considering the difficulties surrounding the work, a fair performance may be recorded, which would have been improved by less obtrusive accompaniments.

The seventh season of the King's Lynn Musical Society came to a close on the 16th ult., when Mozart's Requiem Mass, Stanford's Irish cantata "Phaudrig Crohoore," and Mozart's Symphony in E flat were included in the programme. It is many years since a complete symphony was played in Lynn, and much credit is due to the Society for including such a classical piece in its scheme. The band, led by Mr. F. W. B. Noverre, gave a highly creditable account of the work. The vocalists engaged in the Mass were Master Hubert Brooke, Miss Dewberry, Mr. A. H. Cross, and Mr. Geo. R. Oswell, with Mr. A. H. Cross as conductor. Both in the Mass and Stanford's cantata the choristers showed the effect of good training and did much to ensure the success of the concert.

The forty-second concert of the North Walsham Amateur Musical Society was held on the 16th ult., Sullivan's oratorio "The Light of the World" being the work chosen. The principal vocalists were Miss Amy Rayson, Miss May Seiber, Mr. Herbert Emlyn, and Mr. Arthur Strugnell. Considering the difficulties to contend with the chorus rendered their part of the work with vigour, the leads being well taken up. Dr. Bunnett at the pianoforte and Mr. John Dixon did their utmost with the accompaniments, but "The Light of the World" without a band is somewhat like "Hamlet" with the leading character omitted. Dr. Hill, as conductor, did yeoman's service.

The senior musical society in Norwich (the Philharmonic) made its ninety-fourth appearance on the 17th ult. Dr. Horace Hill conducted with his usual tact and Mr. F. W. B. Noverre occupied his usual place at the leader's desk. Mozart's G minor Symphony, which has not been heard in Norwich since 1852, was the principal work in the programme, others being Bennett's "Paradise and the Peri" Overture, Mendelssohn's Overture "Son and Stranger," and Sullivan's "Graceful Dance." With fewer slips than usual and more attention to expression marks a capital performance of each may be recorded. Vocal numbers were contributed by Miss May Seiber and Mr. Arthur Strugnell.

MUSIC IN EDINBURGH AND PERTH.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The promise held out by Mr. Moonie's Choir last season was more than fulfilled on the 11th ult., in the Music Hall, when this new and healthy organisation made its second appearance before the Edinburgh public. Mr. Moonie is able to transplant many young voices from the extensive nurseries he tends so skilfully in the large public schools, and the singing of his sopranos, with a tone so fresh and pure, was indeed a treat. The tenor chorus needs strengthening. But when all is said in the way of fault-finding, it must gladly be admitted that Mr. Moonie's Choir is a very valuable addition to the musical life of Edinburgh. The way his singers reflect his musical personality and every turn of his conception of a work shows how thoroughly he has them in hand. He seems to have the rare gift of not only drilling at the practices and conducting at the performance, but of actually playing upon his chorus as on an instrument which answers every touch. The programme opened with the "Revenge," given with dramatic vigour and startling effect. Goring Thomas's "Sun Worshippers," which followed, was most delicately and appreciatively performed; the rendering of the lovely chorus for ladies' voices deserves a special word of praise. It was with high expectations that the audience settled down after the interval to hear the "Hymn of Praise," but unfortunately these were not fully realised. A hurried tempo entirely marred the majesty of "All men, all things," the tenderness of "All ye that cried," and the quiet gentleness of "I waited for the Lord," while "Let us gird on" was taken at a break-neck pace which prevented either words or notes getting justice. Mr. Ben Davies had quite an ovation for his magnificent singing of "Watchman, will the night soon pass." The popular tenor was in his best form, and his solos in the "Sun Worshippers" and the "Hymn of Praise" gave the keenest pleasure. Miss Taggart was somewhat less successful in the soprano solos, but sang throughout with care and in good style. She was joined in the duet by Miss Stuart Reid. An excellent orchestra, led by Mr. Dambmann, added to the success of the concert, and on every hand Mr. Moonie's efforts were enthusiastically supported. At the close of the concert he received the applause he so well deserved.

Digitized by Google

The first of Herr Denhof's three chamber concerts, on the 4th ult., had distinction conferred upon it by the co-operation of Mr. Willy Hess, a great favourite with Edinburgh audiences. The most important number in the programme was the fine Tschaïkowsky Trio in A minor. Schumann in D minor was also well performed. Miss May Gill was the vocalist.

On the 3rd ult. Mr. Peter gave the second of his series of chamber concerts with less satisfying artistic results. He was assisted by Messrs. Colin McKenzie, Cownie, Guyer, and Hochstein.

Mr. Graves's Amateur Opera Company in Perth, following up its series of Gilbert and Sullivan operatic representations, gave, this season, performances of "Iolanthe," on the 3rd, 4th, and 5th ult. Its all-round excellence scored a brilliant success without any outside help, and the acting was as excellent as the singing.

MUSIC IN GLASGOW.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The Choral and Orchestral Union season was brought to a close on Saturday evening, January 29. As usual on such an occasion, St. Andrew's Hall was crowded in every corner, the customary enthusiasm prevailed, and Mr. Kes, the accomplished conductor, could not, of course, get off without the little "mutual admiration" speech common to a farewell night. A plébiscite programme was submitted, in conformity with a practice which has been well observed for many years, and the results of the voting did not in the least surprise the Glasgow patrons of the orchestral art. As at last year's plébiscite, Tschaïkowsky's "Pathétique" and Schubert's "Unfinished" headed the list of symphonies; "Tannhäuser," another foregone conclusion, was an easy first place in the overture section; and Gounod's ballet music from "Faust" once more carried all before it. In the "miscellaneous" division of the voting lists, the Introduction to the third act of "Lohengrin" held full sway, Handel's Largo in G coming next in order with a very respectable measure of appreciation. The vocalist of the evening was Miss Agnes Witting, a new-comer, who has, we should say, a promising career in store. Many of the Dutch papers had, by the way, highly appreciative notices of the Scottish Orchestra's performances during their recent tour through Holland. One paper naïvely pointed out (and it may be worth while repeating) that of the eighty members of the Scottish Orchestra only nine were Scotsmen!

And now the question, "What about the future of these concerts?" is being asked all round. Nobody seems to know exactly what is going to happen; but it is only too patent that the Scottish Orchestra Company cannot be expected to continue its efforts to place orchestral music on a permanent basis in the face of a very serious loss of capital. Various suggestions crop up from time to time—all are, however, agreed that Glasgow cannot at any hazard allow the orchestral scheme to collapse.

There were interesting doings at Coatbridge, on the 3rd ult., to mark the performance of "Joshua" by the local Choral Union, a body of voices numbering over 150. It was soon apparent that Mr. Dixon, the able conductor, had excellent material at his command, and, not losing sight of his judicious training, he must be felicitated on securing a great success. The soloists included Misses Jenny Taggart and Inverni, Messrs. T. H. Brearley, Daniel Price, and Mr. George McMillan. Mr. Harvey was at the organ, and Mr. W. H. Cole led a band of forty-five instrumentalists. It was the first performance of Handel's work in one of the busiest centres of the iron industry.

On the 7th ult. Mr. Alfred Hollins, organist of St. George's Free Church, Edinburgh, gave a most successful organ recital in Pollokshields Free Church, in presence of a large audience.

MUSIC IN LIVERPOOL.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The Liverpool Musical Society gave a very good performance of Dr. Peace's church cantata "St. John the Baptist," at St. George's Hall, on the 8th ult. The chorus of this fine Society was in excellent form and entered most thoroughly into the spirit of the work in hand, under the conductorship of Mr. D. O. Parry. The composition itself is of great merit, and it is a wonder that no other society has had enterprise enough to familiarise us with its many beauties during the considerable period which has elapsed since its publication in 1874. Dr. Peace was at the organ and received the most cordial recognition of his work, both as composer and performer.

Another popular event of the month has been the third concert of the "Smoker" series under Mr. Rodewald, on January 29. Mozart's E flat Symphony was excellently interpreted, and novelties and rarities were found in Handel's Concerto for orchestra and oboe (solo, Mr. Charles Reynolds), and Bottesini's Concertante for violin and double bass, played by Messrs. E. Hatton and J. Hoffmann. Schubert's "Rosamunde" Overture and excerpts from Delibes's "Coppelia" completed a delightfully arranged programme.

Yet another popular performance, given under the auspices of the Sunday Society, took place on the 20th ult., with a large orchestra, under the direction of Mr. W. I. Argent. Features of this concert were two movements from a very clever and happily conceived violin concerto, composed and admirably played by Mr. Will Meyer, a new-comer to the ranks of the local professionals. Immense interest further centred upon the performance of Guilmant's First Symphony for orchestra and grand organ. Opportunities do not often occur for listening to compositions such as this, and with the large orchestra of the Sunday Society and Dr. A. L. Peace at the recently renovated "Willis" in St. George's Hall, the occasion will have become a memorable one to the four thousand persons who were present.

The Società Armonica is still retaining its revived prestige under Mr. V. Akeroyd, and gave Beethoven's Eighth Symphony in F and other music with excellent effect, on the 1st ult. The third subscription afternoon of the Schiever Quartet, at the Hall of the College of Music, proved as great a success as usual on the 19th ult.; and on the 14th and 28th ult., at the same place, Mr. Steudner-Welsing gave the first two instalments of a cycle of Beethoven sonata recitals. This admirable pianist gave an excellent performance of the works in question as far as Op. 14. No such undertaking has, it is believed, been recorded except by the late Dr. Hans von Bülow and Sir Charles Hallé. Critical and descriptive accounts of the works in question have been undertaken at each recital by Messrs. W. I. Argent and Carl Courvoisier.

Digitized by Google

One concert only has been given by the Philharmonic Society during the past month, the date being the 15th ult. and the chief work programmed being Beethoven's "Pastoral" Symphony, under the conductorship of Mr. F. H. Cowen.

MUSIC IN MANCHESTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The Hallé concerts during February have been rendered memorable by an excellent performance, on the 3rd, of the simplest and most understandable Symphony in D of Brahms, and by an almost perfect rendering, on the 10th, of "Elijah," so far, at least, as the choir and orchestra were concerned—an interpretation which proved that Mr. Cowen is not satisfied to have a slip-shod reading of an oratorio, however familiar it may have become. Miss Mabel Berrey is always welcome here, not merely for the sake of "Auld lang syne," but because of her unassuming yet perfectly artistic style. We were, however, not altogether prepared for the vigour with which she declaimed the concluding movement of the great air which opens the second act of Mendelssohn's great masterpiece. The gain of vocal strength was remarkable. Mr. Santley, with a judicious economy, reserved himself for his great effort, "Is not His word?" although showing much of his old fire in other portions of the Prophet's part. Madame Marian McKenzie was rather warmer than usual; but we should like to hear the denunciatory song, "Woe unto them," given at something like the marked speed, and not turned into a lament, which in its position sounds rather absurd. The tenor music was carefully sung by Mr. Braxton Smith. At the previous miscellaneous concert, Herr Hugo Becker's splendid tone did much to recommend the Violoncello Concerto in A minor of Henrik Witte and to charm us in the Sonata in E major of Valentini. Miss Esther Palliser sang Weber's ambitious and ungrateful scena from "Oberon" and, very brilliantly, F. David's "Charmant oiseau," from "La Perle du Bresil." The symphonic poem "Hamlet," of Edward German, was the chief novelty at this concert. When will his Orchestral Suite in D, written for the last Leeds Festival, be heard here?

For the seventeenth concert of the series the services of Mdlle. Ilona Eibenschütz and Mr. Plunket Greene were secured, and the lady played with all the brilliance and finish which, at her previous visit some two seasons back, were so gratifying. The great Beethoven Concerto in G suffered, however, from a lack of expression except in the purely cantabile passages; and from frequent and sudden changes of time, the reason for which was not always apparent, while the difficulty of the accompanying orchestra was, of course, greatly increased. The three sketches given in the second part of the programme were trivial as well as brief. Mr. Plunket Greene always excites the interest of his audience, not through the beauty of his voice—the middle register of which sounds worn and its intonation trying—but by the versatility, whereby he infuses a dramatic charm into songs of great variety of sentiment, and by his diligent search for novelties. The orchestral portion of Dr. Parry's "Fill, my boy," is more interesting than the vocal part, and may be said to form the real picture to which the song itself is a mere accessory; "Auf Flügeln," although a most graceful little Lied, is by no means Mendelssohn's most important secular song, but it needs purity and suavity of tone and a finished cantabile style; and Mr. Greene was more successful in the Volkslieder, which he always interprets so admirably. Mr. Cowen conducts a Beethoven symphony without referring to a score, and the rendering of the "Pastoral" almost equalled that of the "Eroica" a few weeks ago. Many passages came out with a brightness and point new to a Manchester audience.

We have been rather well off in the matter of recitals of chamber music of late; and the excellence of Mr. Max Mayer's second meeting—when he was so fortunate as to secure the aid of his friend Hugo Becker and of Signor Risegari in the new edition of Brahms's Trio (Op. 8) and in Schubert's Op. 100, in E flat—was very marked. Mrs. Mary Davies gave some of the Brahms Lieder and three clever little songs by the concert-giver.

Messrs. W. Richter and Johannessen, of the Leicester School of Music, ventured here on the 11th ult., scarcely meeting with encouragement to come again, although the violin playing of Mr. Johannessen in Max Bruch's G minor Concerto was admirable and the rendering of Chopin's B flat minor Sonata by Mr. Richter was executively clever. Furthermore, Mr. de Greef again visited us after a two years' absence, and showed even increased dexterity, with the old delicacy of touch. Perhaps the programme needed some relief—three pieces by Brahms, followed by four from Grieg's store, were somewhat trying.

The fifth and concluding Brodsky concert was specially delightful. To a sympathetic rendering of Mendelssohn's Quartet in E flat, Op. 12 (when the Canzonetta narrowly escaped repetition, the performers having twice to acknowledge the enthusiastic applause), and a splendid interpretation of the Op. 59, No. 3, of Beethoven, the fugue of which was given with the utmost impetuosity, was added the double Quartet (Op. 87) of Spohr, the second group of players consisting of students of the Royal College of Music here, who discharged their duty with the firmness of veteran players and with perfect intonation and purity of tone if, perhaps, with some repression of responsive force. The success of Dr. Brodsky's second season has been most gratifying; and his generosity in devoting the proceeds to the sustentation fund of the College which he directs will, doubtless, draw even a larger reward than last year attended his efforts.

Mr. Carl Fuchs's third programme was strong in Russian music, including Tschaïkowsky's "Pezzo Capriccioso" for violoncello solo, which Dr. Zachs recently gave at a Hallé concert; the Sextet (Op. 70), and some songs by the same author; Arensky's Quartet in A minor, and some songs of various styles, which, as given by Fräulein von Broemsen, formed a very agreeable relief from the general mournfulness and prevalence of minor modes.

MUSIC IN NORTHUMBERLAND AND DURHAM.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Dr. Rea's Amateur Vocal Society gave an invitation concert in the Town Hall, Newcastle-on-Tyne, on the 1st ult., when a very creditable performance of Gade's "Psyche" was given. The solos were sung by Madame Goodall, Miss Craig, Mrs. Vinycomb, Mrs. J. B. Bowes, Jun., Mr. William Riley, and Mr. William Catcheside. Chorus and orchestra were heard to advantage and responded effectually to the baton of the veteran conductor, Dr. William Rea. In addition to Gade's work, the programme included several other interesting pieces for both voices and orchestra, notably Dr. Hubert Parry's charming part-song "Since thou, O fondest," which was most effectively sung.

On the 7th ult. the Seaham Harbour Musical Society gave a performance of Handel's "Judas Maccabæus," with Miss Amy Harding, Madame Marie Bellas, Mr. Herbert Stansfield, and Mr. W. H. Dawson as soloists. Mr. W. W. Lax was principal first violin and Mr. Oscar Cohen conducted. This Society is doing excellent work and it is gratifying to know that its labours are appreciated.

The third of the present series of Harrison concerts took place in Olympia, Newcastle, on the 14th ult. Miss Evangeline Florence, Miss Clara Butt, Mr. Wallace Kennedy, and Mr. Watkin Mills contributed the customary vocal pieces to the programme; Miss Muriel Elliot was the solo pianist; Mr. Louis Pécskai, solo violinist; and Mr. F. A. Sewell, the accompanist. These concerts have been very successful.

Mr. John E. Jeffries and Mr. Alfred Wall were announced to give an organ and violin recital in the Cathedral Church of St. Nicholas, Newcastle, on the 19th ult., in aid of the Cathedral Choir Fund.

MUSIC IN THE SOUTHERN COUNTIES.

(From our own Correspondent.)

One of the best performances ever given by the Southampton Philharmonic Society was that of "The

Digitized by Google

Messiah," on January 24, under the conductorship of Mr. H. M. Pike. The chorus was an excellent one and sang with clearness as well as with the necessary vigour. The principals were Miss Stella Maris, Madame Lena Law, Mr. Iver McKay, and Mr. Charles Constable. The orchestra, a thoroughly capable one, was led by Mr. E. Jones.

The Test Valley Musical Society commenced its nineteenth season with an afternoon concert at Salisbury on the 7th ult. The chorus and orchestra, numbering altogether about 170, greatly distinguished themselves, the former in some well-chosen madrigals and part-songs by such composers as Mendelssohn, Parry, Leslie, and Blumenthal. The orchestral selections included Volkmann's Serenade, No. 2, in F (Op. 63); two of Grieg's "Norwegian Melodies," and a new Serenade for string orchestra by the conductor of the Society, Mr. E. H. Moberly. Songs were sung by Madame Bertha Rossow, and Master Leo Ladbroke played a violoncello solo. The excellent concert arrangements were carried out under the direction of Mr. Alfred Foley. On the following Thursday the concert was repeated at the Guildhall, Winchester.

The Devizes Orchestral Society gave a concert on the 15th ult., with a programme in which Beethoven's "Eroica" Symphony held the place of honour, the other chief features being Mendelssohn's Overture "Ruy Blas," Grieg's "Peer Gynt" Suite (No. 1), and Berlioz's Marche Hongroise from "Faust." The orchestra was led by Mr. Alfred Foley, of Salisbury, and the Rev. W. H. Weekes conducted. Variety was given to the programme by the inclusion of songs sung by Master Willie Child and Mr. E. L. Barry.

At the thirty-eighth of the present series of symphony concerts at the Bournemouth Winter Gardens, Mr. Dan Godfrey, Jun., gave a special Wagner programme. The concert commenced with the Overture to "Tannhäuser," followed by the Venusberg music from the same opera, which had not been previously heard in Bournemouth. Other numbers, all very finely played, were the Good Friday music from "Parsifal," the "Ride of the Valkyries," and the Vorspiel and Liebestod from "Tristan and Isolde." A very large attendance testified to the public appreciation of Mr. Godfrey's enterprise.

MUSIC IN YORKSHIRE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The Hallé band, which, under Mr. Cowen's conductorship, has taken a new lease of life, has enabled the North of England to be in advance of the metropolis in the introduction of an important work like the "Troyens à Carthage," of Berlioz, to the English public. In doing so, it is only keeping up its old reputation, for it will be remembered that Sir Charles Hallé was the first to make Berlioz, through his "Faust," a household word in this country. "Les Troyens à Carthage," after being heard in Liverpool and Manchester, was introduced to Yorkshire at the Bradford subscription concert, on the 16th ult. The occasion was naturally one of great interest, and thanks are due for an opportunity of becoming acquainted with a work which is much more talked of than heard. At the same time, it must be confessed that when the mystery surrounding the work is dispelled, and one is brought into close contact with the music, the effect is in the main one of disappointment. What one must have, above all things, in a great work of art is the manifestation of a distinct individuality, and this is precisely what seems to be wanting in "Les Troyens." It is as if the well of inspiration, from which such original masterpieces as the "Romeo" Symphony had been drawn, had run rather dry, and Berlioz, in his later years, was more influenced by the colder classicism of Gluck and Spontini than by the warmer romanticism of Beethoven and Weber. And the austerity which becomes Gluck, because it was natural to him, seems less suited to the composer of "Harold in Italy." The famous love duet is beautiful, but without passion. To this scene a charming moonlight effect is suggested by the orchestration, which, indeed, shows Berlioz's mastery throughout, and has the advantage of being less experimental than in his earlier works. Mr. Cowen deserves a large portion of the credit for a good all-round performance. The chorus (that of the Bradford Festival Choral Society) and the Hallé band were particularly good, and the principal parts were efficiently taken by Madame Duma, Mrs. Fisk, Miss Burgess, Mr. Hirwen Jones, and Mr. Charles Copland.

On the 4th ult., at Bradford, Miss Wehner gave a vocal recital, and sang a long series of well chosen songs very artistically, though her natural gifts as a vocalist are not so obvious as her musical instinct and intelligence. Mr. Hugo Becker was the violoncellist and Mr. Thalberg Brown the pianist.

On January 26 Leeds was offered, at one of the subscription concerts, perhaps the most exclusively romantic programme of orchestral music that has ever been heard in the town. Schumann's Pianoforte Concerto, though classical in its lines, is romantic enough in spirit, and it was the only possible exception to the rule. The solo part was brilliantly played by Mr. Mark Hambourg. Berlioz's "Harold in Italy" Symphony was finely given by the Hallé band, with Mr. Speelman as the solo violist, and the chorus of the Philharmonic Society sang the Grail scene from "Parsifal" with really admirable refinement. Two other Wagner pieces, the "Euryanthe" Overture, and Tschaïkowsky's air and variations from the Suite in G made up a most interesting but overburdened programme. On the 2nd ult. the Leeds String Quartet were heard in Schubert's fine Quartet in G and Tschaïkowsky's in D (Op. 11). Mr. Müller and his colleagues, Messrs. Hudson, Haigh, and Giessing, with Miss Toothill as vocalist and Miss Kate Smith as accompanist, may be credited with a thoroughly enjoyable concert. On the 7th ult. Mr. Willibald Richter gave a chamber concert. Though previously unknown in Leeds—he is principal of a college of music at Leicester—Mr. Richter turned out to be a pianist of a very high rank indeed—a genuine artist as well as an accomplished executant. It will be surprising if so brilliant a virtuoso should be allowed to remain perdu in a provincial town. The violinist, Mr. Karl Johannessen, was also a consummate artist, a disciple, and not an unworthy one, of Joachim. On the 14th ult. the last of Mr. Briggs and Miss Eisele's chamber concerts took place. Beethoven's String Quintet in C, Brahms's Pianoforte Quartet in A (Op. 26), and Haydn's so-called "Sunrise" Quartet were played by the concert-givers and Messrs. Bridge, Holme, Elliott, and Hatton, with even greater finish and precision than they have hitherto shown. The Leeds Choral Union offered at its concert, on the 16th ult., an exceptionally interesting programme. Schubert's Mass in E flat, Goring Thomas's "Swan and Skylark"—which has attained a deserved popularity in the West Riding—a "Tannhäuser" selection, and Mr. Elgar's Choral Suite, produced some little time back at the Crystal Palace, were the works given. The last-named had particular interest, not only because Mr. Elgar is rapidly becoming recognised as one of the most promising of our younger composers, but because he has consented to write a work for the approaching Leeds Festival. His very genial suite was well performed, under his own conductorship. The principals were Madame Duma, Miss Frood, Mr. Wm. Green (admirable in the "Swan" song), Mr. Brearley, and Mr. Browning. Mr. Alfred Benton conducted.

The Dewsbury Orchestral Society, a purely local and practically amateur organisation, gave a concert on the 1st ult. Mr. G. H. Hirst, the honorary conductor, directed more than creditable performances of a Haydn symphony—the first of the Salomon set—and the "Ruy Blas" and "Oberon" Overtures. Mr. Bartle's crisp touch and exceedingly dexterous execution were shown in Mendelssohn's Pianoforte Concerto in G minor, and Mr. William Green was the vocalist of the evening.

At York, on January 25, and at Harrogate, on the 27th, Messrs. Naylor and Gutfeld gave the first of a series of chamber concerts. With Mr. Gilmer as clarinettist, they gave Mozart's Trio for pianoforte, viola, and clarinet—a pleasant work in Mozart's most easy-going vein. Gade's Fantasiestücke for pianoforte and clarinet was particularly enjoyable. The vocalist was Miss Florence Bulleid. On January 31 the fourth of Messrs. Cass and Owen Williams's concerts took place, the programme including pianoforte trios by Brahms (in C, Op. 87) and Saint-Saëns (in F, Op. 8), and songs by Mrs. Robertshaw. On the 7th ult. the Cleckheaton Orchestral Society gave a concert, the most ambitious feature of which was Schumann's Pianoforte Concerto, the soloist being Mr. Stott, the Society's conductor. The Hon. Alice Henniker was the vocalist.

Digitized by Google

Preparations for the Leeds Festival are in full swing, and choral rehearsals have now been begun. There are to be choral contingents from Leeds (chorus-master, Mr. Alfred Benton), Bradford (Mr. F. K. Hattersley), Huddersfield (Mr. John Bowling), Halifax (Mr. Thomas Smith), and Dewsbury with Batley (Mr. Bowling).

MUSIC IN PARIS.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Wagner's "Die Meistersinger" still continues to draw full houses at the Opéra, where M. Samuel Rousseau's new lyrical drama, "La Cloche du Rhin," is now in active preparation, and will be brought out towards the end of the present month, after the reprise of "Thaïs." Mdlle. Delna is announced to re-appear next month in "Le Prophète."

Considerable success has been achieved by Madame Zélie de Lussan in "Carmen," at the Opéra Comique. Here Leo Delibes's "Le Roi l'a dit" is shortly to be revived, and will be given in conjunction with M. Rynaldo Ahn's "L'Ile des Rêves."

A first hearing took place at the Lamoureux concert of January 30, under the direction of M. Chevillard, of a new work, "Effet de Nuit," by M. Lazzari, inspired by a poem of Verlaine; a highly interesting composition, well-developed in its descriptive elements and ably instrumented throughout. Liszt's "Fantaisie Hongroise" was very successfully interpreted, at the same concert, by Madame Gossic. On the 6th ult. M. Lhevinne, the excellent Russian pianist, delighted his audience by his rendering of the Third Concerto by M. Saint-Saëns, while Madame Jane Marcy was also greatly applauded in an air from the "Proserpine" of Paisiello, a composer well-nigh forgotten in these days. The concert of the 13th ult. included the first performance of a cycle of songs, entitled "l'Amour trahi," verses by M. Tiercelin, set to music by M. Le Borne, which, charmingly sung as they were by Madame Pacary, proved highly effective. The lady was likewise greatly appreciated in excerpts from "Die Götterdämmerung." A perfect storm of applause was raised on the same occasion by the performance of the "Caprice Espagnol," by Rimsky-Korsakow, conducted with extraordinary verve and spirit by M. Chevillard, nor did the plaudits cease until the entire orchestra had risen from their seats and partaken in the ovation offered to their chief.

At the Colonne concert of the 6th ult. we were made acquainted with a very interesting composition entitled "Poème Roumain," by M. Enesco, a remarkably gifted young Roumanian composer. M. Enesco, who is only seventeen years of age, is a former pupil of the Viennese Conservatorium, where he obtained a prize for violin playing, and is at present continuing his studies at the Paris Conservatoire. His instrumentation exhibits a mastery truly surprising, and his composition altogether, full of exuberant life as it is, gives rise to the greatest hopes for the young man's future. Madame Kutscherra was the vocalist at the same concert, taking part in the music of the third act of "Siegfried" with great success.

A new pianoforte concerto (the second from his pen) by M. Theodore Dubois was produced for the first time at the Concert du Conservatoire of January 30. Brilliantly interpreted by Madame Clotilde Kleeberg, the success of the new work was complete. The programme also included M. Saint-Saëns's "La Lyre et la Harpe," the solo vocal parts in which were well sung by Mesdames Mathieu and Marty, MM. Vaguet and Noté.

M. d'Harcourt has resumed his symphony concerts this season, the programmes of which have, however, been confined so far exclusively to the classical repertory.

Amongst the numerous artists' concerts now taking place every evening reference may be made to that recently given by Mr. Harold Bauer, the gifted pianist, devoted to both classical and modern compositions; that of Mdlle. Weingaertner, likewise an excellent pianist, which included pieces by Fauré, Lenormand, and others; the historical violin concerts of M. Viacol; the violin recital of M. Fernandez, who introduced Lassen's concerto for the first time to a Paris audience; and the concert of the violinist M. Lederer, which included an Adagio for violin and orchestra, by M. René Lenormand. Quite a quantity of new chamber compositions has also been heard recently at the concerts of the Société d'Art, and at those of the Société de Musique d'Ensemble a new "Gipsy Melody" for soprano and orchestra, entitled "Esmeralda," by M. Franz Servais, well sung by Madame Jane Arger, was immensely successful. All the above concerts, with many others not here referred to, have attracted numerous and appreciative audiences.

The Victoria Madrigal Society did exceedingly well at a concert in St. Martin's Town Hall on the 17th ult. There is ample room in the metropolis for a body of trained singers intent upon convincing the public that the art of rendering unaccompanied part-music with proper balance and effect is not at present to be ranked among those we are in danger of losing. There are some telling voices in the choir. Praiseworthy zeal animated the singers, and Dr. G. Stanley Murray is a watchful and painstaking conductor. There was more of the modern than of the ancient in the catalogue of pieces, but it is expedient that, when possible, encouragement should be given to native musicians pursuing a branch of workmanship for the finish and ingenuity of which this country has always been famous. Mendelssohn's "An old romance" was sung with spirit and precision, together with close regard for the details of expression. Macfarren's "Shepherds all and maidens fair," Prendergast's "Phillis dyes her tresses black," Stanley Murray's "I loved a lass," and Josiah Booth's "A Hunting Song" were also among the successful achievements of the choir. In songs, Miss Stanley Lucas, Mr. Herbert Emlyn, and Mr. Tom Powley acquitted themselves excellently; and Mr. Herbert Walenn's violoncello solos helped to vary the proceedings.

The Grimson Family when giving a concert do not require instrumental aid from outside their own circle. They number eight competent executants, and two of the party play the pianoforte as well as the viola and violoncello respectively. Of the means at command there was proof at the Queen's (Small) Hall on the 15th ult. The programme began with Professor Stanford's Pianoforte Quintet, neatly performed by Misses Annie, Jessie, Master Robert, Mr. Samuel, and Mr. S. Dean Grimson, and ended with Svendsen's String Octet, in which the above-named were reinforced by Misses Amy and Nellie and Master Harold Grimson. Between these substantial features came solo pieces, enabling the youthful musicians to appear to excellent advantage. Miss Amy's high qualifications as a pianist were manifested in Henselt's delicate "Si oiseau j'étais" and in Brahms's vigorous Rhapsody in B minor, and as a violoncellist Master Robert evinced fulness of tone and breadth of style. Miss Jessie and Mr. Samuel won hearty approval for their rendering of a violin duet by Sarasate, and the lady subsequently distinguished herself by the readiness with which she attacked the first movement of Max Bruch's First Concerto. Mr. Henry Beauchamp was the vocalist.

The London Sunday School Choir held its annual concert at the Abert Hall, on the 19th ult., with Mr. George Merritt as conductor of the vocal pieces and Mr. David M. Davis to direct the performance of the affiliated orchestra. For several years past the force of a thousand selected choralists has shown steady improvement, both in precision and in unanimity of expression. In the execution of the programme of sacred and secular works gone through on this occasion, there was abundant evidence of careful preparation, the chief points in the various pieces being readily taken up, and, when necessary, duly emphasized. The "Hallelujah" chorus from "The Messiah," and the chorale "Sleepers, wake," from "St. Paul," were rendered with the volume of tone and energy that might be reasonably expected from such a body. A fair amount of justice was also done to Mr. George Merritt's anthem "Lift up your hearts," to Mr. David M. Davis's "The King shall rejoice," and to Barnby's part-song "Victoria, our Queen." The labours of the choir and orchestra were relieved by solos contributed by Madame Antoinette Sterling, Miss Alice Motterway, and Mr. Ben Davies; Mr. Horace G. Holmes officiated at the organ.

Digitized by Google

Signor Mancinelli's opera "Ero e Leandro," the brilliant success of which, recently, at Madrid, has been recorded by us, was brought out at the Teatro Fenice, of Venice, on January 12, under the composer's direction. This was not, however, the first Italian performance of the work, several representations of it having taken place some weeks previously at Turin. The reception accorded to the opera in both places was at first somewhat lukewarm, but grew heartier and more appreciative on each repetition of its performance—an experience shared, as the composer may reflect, with many a recognised masterpiece of the art. "Amongst the numbers which came in for the greatest share of applause," says the Gazzetta Musicale, "were the duet for soprano and tenor, in the first act, the delicious conchiglia and the duet in the third act, and the concerted numbers generally." Signor Mancinelli conducted three performances of "Ero e Leandro" at Venice and proceeded thence to Rome, where the work is likewise about to be produced.

"The Princess of Parmesan," a light two-act opera, of which Mr. W. H. Millais was responsible for the words and Mr. Morton Latham for the music, was played at St. George's Hall, on the 21st ult., in aid of the funds of the City of London Hospital for Diseases of the Chest, Victoria Park. Action turning upon the incidents of a carnival, during which a young prince and princess, betrothed at a tender age by their parents, really fall in love with each other, was embellished with bright airs and concerted pieces of a popular rather than ambitious description. Without calling for particulars either as regards stage situations or music, it proved an entertainment thoroughly answering its beneficent purpose. Mr. Francis Harford, as the Princess's guardian, went through his work with spirit and intelligence; but in most other respects the performance was not of a kind to strongly recommend the production to public favour. The band consisted of members of the English Ladies' Orchestral Society.

The Philharmonic Society's prospectus of the eighty-sixth season testifies to the vitality of this venerable English musical Institution. The new works and "first performances in England" include a dramatic scena, "Pippa Passes," by Frederick Corder; a Symphony in F by Eugene d'Albert; some new orchestral pieces by Dvorák; a concert version of the ballet music in Hamish MacCunn's "Diarmid"—all conducted by their respective composers. The "variation form" will be illustrated by Brahms's "Variations on a theme by Haydn" and Dr. Hubert Parry's Symphonic Variations in E, the latter repeated by request. M. Saint-Saëns is to appear as an organist, when he will play the solo part in one of his organ concertos with orchestra, and conduct some of his orchestral works; and Herr Moritz Moszkowski will make his first appearance here as a pianist, playing his new Pianoforte Concerto and conducting a selection from his ballet "Laurin."

The Associated Board of the Royal Academy of Music and the Royal College of Music held, on the 16th ult., the preliminary examination of candidates entered for the approaching local centre examinations at 110 centres throughout Great Britain and Ireland. These examinations were, with a few exceptions, held in buildings granted by the Universities and municipal authorities throughout the country. In London, by the kindness of the Lord Mayor and the Corporation and of the committee of the City of London School, the large concert-hall and several class-rooms in the school on the Victoria Embankment were utilized for this purpose. The number of candidates examined in London was 418. The total number of candidates throughout the country has this year risen to 2,843.

On the 4th ult. Mr. S. Coleridge-Taylor gave a concert at the Small Public Hall, Croydon, at which the Croydon Conservatoire Orchestral Society (of which he is conductor) showed the results of careful training in Grieg's "Holberg's" Suite (Op. 40) and "Elegiac Melodies" (Op. 34), Gade's "Novelletten" (Op. 58), Liszt's "Angelus," and a new and striking "Danse Nègre" (Op. 21, No. 3) by Mr. Taylor himself, all for string orchestra. Miss Jessie Walmisley sang Schubert's "Passing to Hades" and Mr. Taylor's very beautiful and haunting "Corn Song" quite excellently, and Miss Mary Dickinson played the same gifted composer's "Gipsy Song" for violin, a remarkably melodious, finely harmonised, expressive, and, like all Mr. Taylor's works, original piece. Miss Jessie M. Fennings took the solo part in Sterndale Bennett's Caprice in F (Op. 22) for pianoforte and orchestra.

Herr Paul Graener, a conductor who has acquired some reputation in Berlin and Cologne, gave an orchestral concert, on the 1st ult., at St. James's Hall. Presumably Herr Graener was not acquainted with the high standard of such performances in London, nor of the ordinary size of metropolitan orchestras, since otherwise he would scarcely have invited criticism with comparatively so small a band. He, however, showed skill in making the most of the forces at his command in Mozart's well-known Symphony in G minor and Mr. Hamish MacCunn's pleasing suite "Highland Memories." The programme also included the "first time of performance" of a Pianoforte Concerto in A flat by Mr. Rutland Boughton, the solo part of which was played by Mr. Freeman Whatmoor. Some songs were contributed by Miss Marie Elba and Mr. Ernest Sharpe.

Dr. Henry Hiles gave a highly educational and, at the same time, interesting lecture at University College, Liverpool, on the 12th ult., under the auspices of the Teachers' Guild. The subject of the discourse was "Technic of singing and pianoforte playing," which Dr. Hiles treated with admirable skill and attractiveness. Miss Sergenson gave some vocal illustrations to the lecture with charming effect. On Saturday, the 19th ult., Dr. Hiles gave a lecture in the Leeds Town Hall to the members of the Northern Section of the Royal College of Organists, upon "The position of Mendelssohn among the Great Masters." The lecturer explained the causes for the strong love in England of Mendelssohn's music, and left no doubt in the minds of his listeners as to his admiration for the composer of "Elijah."

Mr. Louis H. Hillier's concert at St. James's Hall, on the 18th ult., brought forward a young soprano new to this country in Mdlle. Eva Cortesi, who in the Air "Pleurez, mes yeux," from Massenet's "Le Cid," and several other pieces, exhibited a good voice and refined style. In songs by the concert-giver, Mr. Hugo Heinz also acquitted himself satisfactorily. Besides joining the Belgian String Quartet party (led by Mr. Hillier) in a performance of Beethoven's Quartet in G major (Op. 18, No. 2), Mr. Clyde Twelvetrees, the violoncellist, played with excellent tone and neatness Boccherini's Sonata in A major and a couple of fanciful pieces by Mr. Hillier. The remaining instrumentalists were Miss Elise Joran and Mr. Nicolas L. Radoux, who, in compositions for the pianoforte and the flute respectively, were favourably received.

Miss Maude Wilson, who is a pupil of Mr. Walter Macfarren, gave a chamber concert at Queen's (Small) Hall, on the 4th ult., with much success. Miss Wilson's performances on the pianoforte included Mendelssohn's "Seventeen Variations Sérieuses" and some Chopin pieces; with Mons. B. Albert, Sterndale Bennett's Sonata-Duo (Op 32) for pianoforte and violoncello; and, with Madame Beatrice Langley, Schubert's "Fantasie" (Op 159) for pianoforte and violin. Mr. Arthur Thompson sang two songs by Grieg and two by Mr. Walter Macfarren—"Sail swiftly, O my soul," and "Linnet Song"—in which he had the advantage in the two last-named of being accompanied by the composer.

Mr. Augustus Toop gave a successful students' concert at Christchurch Hall, Willesden Green, on the 1st ult., when Miss Phillipina Marx, Miss Maude Rolfe, and Miss

Digitized by Google

Emily Wilson (vocalists), Misses Winnie and Dorie Butler and Master F. Baldwin (pianists), Mr. Sydney Sherwood (organ) made very promising appearances and showed the results of good training. Mr. Toop had the valuable assistance of that excellent violinist, Mr. Victor Buziau, whose playing was heartily appreciated; and of Mr. Charles Fry, who recited, among other pieces, "King Robert of Sicily," with Mr. West's admirable incidental music played by Mr. Toop on a Mustel organ.

An interesting and somewhat curious prize competition has been announced by the Municipality of Paris, the sum of ten thousand francs being offered for a composition in symphonic form, with or without choral combinations and the introduction of vocal solos. The composition may also be given a purely dramatic form. In the latter case the successful composer will only be awarded five thousand francs, while a subvention of twenty-five thousand francs will be paid to one of the theatres of the capital for the production of the work, the composer retaining all proprietary rights in such performance. The competition is only open to composers of French nationality.

The St. Cuthbert's Hall Choral Society, Kensington, gave an excellent concert on the 15th ult., when Astorga's "Stabat Mater" and Mendelssohn's "Walpurgis Night" were performed, with full string orchestra and chorus. Astorga visited England in the early part of the last century, and his beautiful "Stabat Mater" was probably composed for the Academy of Antient Music, London. It was performed at Oxford in 1713. The soloists at the Kensington performance were Miss Estella Linden, Miss Jessie Browning, Mr. William Green, and Mr. Haigh Jackson; and Mr. Cyril W. Miller was an efficient conductor.

Mr. Frederic Lamond gave a Beethoven recital at the Bechstein Hall, in Berlin, on January 23, the programme comprising five of the master's pianoforte sonatas—viz., those in B (Op. 106), C minor (Op. 111), A flat major (Op. 110), C major (Op. 53), and F minor (Op. 57), played in the order indicated, and with an artistic insight and mastery of technique which gained the admiration of his numerous and critical audience. "There can be no doubt," says Herr Otto Lessmann, in the Allgemeine Musik-Zeitung, "that Mr. Lamond must be ranked amongst the most remarkable and most musically gifted pianists of the day."

The Stoke Newington Choral Association, numbering 200 performers, gave an excellent performance of Smart's "The Bride of Dunkerron" and a miscellaneous selection at the Town Hall, Shoreditch, on the 7th ult., in aid of the Metropolitan Hospital. The choir did full justice to Smart's melodious and dramatic cantata and the band played with commendable precision. The solos were safe in the capable hands of Madame Isabel George, Mr. William Green, and Mr. Bantock Pierpoint; and Mr. Percy Taylor conducted a performance which reflected the greatest credit upon all concerned.

On Tuesday evening, the 15th ult., Dr. Warriner gave his second lecture of the season in connection with the Denmark Hill Musical Society, in the Boys' School, Denmark Road. The subject was "The Music of the Ancients." Many interesting illustrations were given by the choir. They included "Hymn to Apollo," from the Delphic Marbles; "Sumer is i cumen' in," by six voices; madrigals by Orlando Gibbons, John Farmer (1660), and others. The lecturer sketched the history of music and musical instruments from the time of the Phœnicians and Egyptians to the death of Purcell.

A performance of Handel's too seldom heard oratorio "Samson" took place, on the 5th ult., at St. Andrew's Hall, Newman Street, under the auspices of the West London Choral Association. A good all-round rendering of the oratorio was given. Madame Alicia Gilson, Miss Lilian Close, Mr. Richard Triggs, and Mr. A. Gordon Begg were the solo vocalists. The choir and orchestra, under the direction of Mr. William Holmes, were good both in tone and attack, the choir in particular showing in a most creditable manner the result of careful rehearsing. Mr. Albert Wood was at the pianoforte.

The Dulwich Philharmonic Society gave a concert at the Dulwich Baths, on January 25, with marked success. The programme included Stanford's "Revenge," Mendelssohn's "Scotch" Symphony, and selections from Wagner's "Lohengrin" and "Tannhäuser." The soloists were Miss Jeannie Firth and Mr. Alexander Tucker. Miss Clara Hutchinson played the solo part in Mendelssohn's "Rondo Brillante" for pianoforte and orchestra, and the band and chorus, numbering 125 performers, acquitted themselves admirably, under the skilful direction of their conductor, Mr. J. W. Lewis.

Music will fill a prominent place at the Turin Exhibition this summer, and besides orchestral performances in the new Church of Santo Cuore di Maria, forty-eight concerts will be given in the Great Hall, under the direction of the Maëstro Toscanini. Several celebrated artists will assist, among others Joachim, Sarasate, and Teresina Tua. Verdi has accepted the presidency of the art committee, which will include Boïto, Franchetti, Dubois, Leoncavallo, Mancinelli, Marchetti, Mascagni, Massenet, Puccini, Reyer, Ricordi, Saint-Saëns, and Sonzogno.

Miss Mary Carmichael gave a concert at St. James's Hall, on January 27, whereat her abilities and talent as a composer were advantageously set forth by Mrs. Helen Trust, Mrs. Hutchinson, Miss Louise Phillips, Mr. William Nicholl, Mr. Walter Ford, Mr. Denis O'Sullivan, Mr. Plunket Greene, and Miss Agnes Zimmermann. The programme chiefly consisted of songs by Miss Carmichael, amongst the most artistic being two lyrics, announced as new and respectively entitled "Der Zigeunerbube im Norden" and "Sweetheart, sigh no more."

Miss Mary Rorke and Miss Kate Rorke gave their eighth annual concert in aid of the poor, at Westminster Town Hall, on the 10th ult. The artists included Madame Fanny Moody, Miss Ada Davies, Miss Lily Hanbury, Miss Margaret Halstan, Miss Bowick, Miss Gertrude Drinkwater, Miss Esmé Beringer, Miss Vera Beringer, Miss Adela Duckham, Miss Genevieve Ward, Mr. Charles Manners, Mr. Arthur Oswald, Mr. James Fernandez, Mr. J. B. Gordon, Mr. Dawson Millward, Mr. Lionel Brough, Mr. Leslie Walker, and Mr. Jack Robertson.

The Chelsea and Battersea Choral Society—established last season as the South-West London Choral Society—gave a performance of Barnett's "Ancient Mariner" and Bendall's "Lady of Shalott," at the Chelsea Town Hall, on the 1st ult., under the direction of Mr. Richard Lemaire. The solo vocalists were Miss Esther Palliser, Miss C. Waldron, Mr. Harry Stubbs, and Mr. Robert Grice. The choruses were sung with precision and steadiness, and Mr. Henry Bird was, needless to say, an admirable accompanist.

The Mitcham Choral Society gave a miscellaneous concert in the Vestry Hall on the 16th ult. Miss Agnes Walker sang "Come, sweet morning," "Damon," and the vocal waltz "Poor wand'ring one" (Sullivan), being twice encored. Instrumental music was contributed by Miss Arthur, the Misses Park, and Mr. Percy Park; and Miss E. M. Ellis recited. The choir contributed some part-songs conducted by Mr. Harry Morgan, who also sang two songs.

Mr. Walter Wesché, having resigned the organistship of St. Stephen's Church, Hampstead, was entertained at dinner by the adult members of the choir at the Holborn Restaurant, on January 29. Mr. Wesché was the recipient of an illuminated address in appreciation of his services as organist and choirmaster, and the boys had previously presented him with a Russian leather pocket companion as a token of regard.

Mr. Franz Rummel, the distinguished English pianist, commenced an extensive concert tour in the principal towns of the United States, on the 1st ult., at New York. The artist is accompanied in his undertaking by Herr Anton Seidl and his orchestra.

Mr. Frederick A. Cox gave an interesting lecture on "English Secular Vocal Part-Music" at the London Institution, on January 27, when the illustrations were excellently rendered by the Amphion Glee Men.

Digitized by Google

The Guildhall School of Music has issued a list of concerts, recitals, lectures, &c., some already given, and others to be given during the present term. The activity in this great teaching Institution and the vigorous oversight of Mr. W. H. Cummings, the principal, may be estimated by the fact that between January 26 and April 1 there are no less than twenty-eight fixtures in the comprehensive schedule above referred to.

Miss Maud Wilson, a promising young pianist, gave an agreeable chamber concert, on the 4th ult., at the Queen's (Small) Hall. Her renderings were distinguished by taste and refinement, and she was admirably assisted by the brilliant violin playing of Madame Beatrice Langley. Mr. B. Albert joined these artists in Beethoven's Trio in D (Op. 70), and some songs were sympathetically sung by Mr. Arthur Thompson.

Stainer's "Daughter of Jairus" was performed, on the 16th ult., at St. Gabriel's, Willesden Green, by the choir and orchestra of the church augmented to about 120. The solos were in the hands of Miss Mary Fuchs, Mr. Joseph Hall, and Mr. Duncan Bernard. Mr. Fred. W. Belchamber was at the organ, and the choir and orchestra acquitted themselves admirably, under the direction of Mr. Louis Robbins.

The Morecambe Music Competition is to be held on April 29 and 30 and will form the eighth of the annual series. Mr. Eaton Faning will be the adjudicator and will conduct two popular concerts. There are varieties of competitions in instrumental and vocal music, particulars of which may be obtained from the hon. sec., Mr. J. W. Aldous, Woodlands, Lancaster.

The Stratford Musical Festival, now in its sixteenth year, is to be held during the present month. The public competitions take place on the 24th, 25th, 26th, and 28th inst., the adjudicators including Mr. Myles B. Foster, Mr. Edwin Holland, Mr. Tobias A. Matthay, Mr. Randegger, and Mr. Sauret. Mr. J. Graham, 70, Dacre Road, Upton Manor, is the secretary.

Mr. E. F. Jacques will lecture on "The development of Melody and Harmony in the Music of the Middle Ages," on the 24th inst., at the "Society for the Encouragement of the Fine Arts," 9, Conduit Street. The instrumental and vocal illustrations will include some of those printed in The Musical Times in Mr. Jacques's series of articles on the "Development of Polyphony."

The English Ladies' Orchestral Society, which now numbers 108 members, gave concerts at Cardiff and Swansea, on the 9th and 10th ult. respectively, with much success. The chief feature in the programmes was Dr. Hubert Parry's "English" Symphony in C. Mr. J. S. Liddle is the conductor of the Society, which is in a flourishing condition.

Mr. John E. Borland gave an interesting lecture on "Music of Queen Elizabeth's Time," at the Bermondsey Settlement, on the 19th ult., with illustrations for "voyces, violls, and virginalls," sung and played by members of the Settlement music classes. The educational advantages of such admirable lectures are of the greatest possible value.

Professor C. V. Stanford's "Irish" Symphony was performed four times in Holland during last month—viz., twice at Amsterdam and also at The Hague and in Rotterdam. We hear that in each case the fine work was a great success. When shall we hear it once more in London?

Mr. George T. Pinches gave the weekly organ recital at St. Barnabas Church, Kentish Town, on January 27, when the programme included Sir A. C. Mackenzie's "Benedictus," played on the violin by Master Ernest Wyatt.

The Royal Academy of Music will, in future, hold examinations for the Diploma of Licentiateship twice in each year instead of annually, as hitherto—viz., during the month of September and during the Christmas vacation.

Dr. A. W. Wilson, an old pupil of Sir Walter Parratt's at the Royal College of Music, and recently organist of St. John's Church, Upper St. Leonards, has been appointed organist of St. Asaph Cathedral.

FOREIGN NOTES.

Berlin.—The second concert of the season of the Philharmonic Choir, under the conductorship of Herr Siegfried Ochs, last month, included three novelties—viz., "Sylvester-Glocken," secular oratorio for soli, chorus, orchestra, and organ, by Hans Koessler, a melodious but sombre-coloured work; a choral and orchestral composition entitled "Snöfrid," by the Swedish composer, W. Stenhammar, which was well received; and "Der Hogestolz," for chorus and orchestra, by Arnold Mendelssohn. The latter, a relative of the composer of "Elijah," has already become favourably known by some graceful and refined compositions; the same qualities likewise characterise the present work, which is of a humorous order and was received with much favour.——An Italian violinist, Signor Emilio Pente, gave a historical recital here, which was rendered specially interesting by the performance of three unpublished compositions (discovered by Signor Pente) by Giuseppe Tartini, including a sonata for two violins and a violin concerto in D minor. The concert-giver, an earnest artist, had a very attentive and appreciative audience.——The engagement for a period of ten years from next season, at the Royal Opera, of Frau Schumann-Heink, has caused a deal of satisfaction amongst opera-goers in the capital.——The well-known Klindworth-Scharwenka Conservatorium here has just added an operatic school to its course of instruction, under the superintendence of the famous basso, Herr Betz, and with the co-operation of Madame Etelka Gerster and other distinguished operatic vocalists. Herr Conrad Ansorge, of Berlin, has been added to the staff of professors for pianoforte playing.

Breslau.—The centenary of the existence of the Stadt-Theater was celebrated on January 23 with a performance of Lessing's "Minna von Barnhelm," preceded by the "Rübezahl" Overture of Carl Maria von Weber, written by the latter when Capellmeister here, in 1804, at the age of eighteen.——A new oratorio, "Vater Unser," a paraphrase on the Lord's Prayer, for soli, chorus, orchestra, and organ, by a young composer, Eduard Levy, was produced here on January 24, under Herr Weintraub's direction, and created a very marked impression.

Brussels.—The enormous attraction exercised by the present series of performances of "Die Meistersinger," at the Théâtre de la Monnaie—where the work has already been given some thirty times during the last two months—forms a significant contrast to its former reprise, in 1888, when it was only played eleven times to scanty and lukewarm audiences. The public, it would appear, was not ripe even then for full appreciation of the masterpiece.——Frau Henriette Mottl gave a successful song recital at the Cercle Artistique on January 27, and on January 30 her husband conducted a grand Wagner concert of the Ysaye orchestra, with the co-operation of Mesdames Tomschick, Friedlein, and Mottl, and the young Bayreuth tenor, Herr Burgstaller. Needless to add that the famous Carlsruhe conductor was the recipient of much flattering attention on the part of a numerous audience.——Continuing the present series of performances of the music of different nations, an Italian concert was given by the Ysaye Society, on the 13th ult., under the direction of Signor Giuseppe Martucci, the programme including compositions by Sgambati, Mancinelli, Bazzini, and the conductor himself. A Brahms concert, given on the 6th ult. at the Conservatoire, under M. Gevaert's direction, comprised that master's Third Symphony, the "Academic" Overture, the Violin Concerto, pianoforte pieces, and songs.

Budapesth.—A new "fantastic" ballet, entitled "She," by Herr Raoul Mader, was brought out with great success, on the 5th ult., at the Royal Opera. As may be inferred from the title, the libretto (by E. Kemendy and Joseph Beer) is founded upon Mr. Rider Haggard's well-known novel.

Carlsruhe.—Herr Ludwig Thuille's opera "Lobetanz" (one of the three works awarded a prize at the Munich competition last year) was brought out, on the 6th ult., at the Hof-Theater, under Herr Mottl's direction, with remarkable success, due as much to the excellence of Herr Bierbaum's libretto as to the charm and originality of the music. The work was also produced for the first time, on the 10th ult., at the Royal Opera, Berlin, with similar success. It will doubtless make the round of German and Austrian lyrical establishments.

Digitized by Google

Cologne.—A highly-favourable reception was accorded, at one of the recent Gürzenich concerts under Dr. Wüllner's direction, to the new symphonic poem "The Regions of the Blessed" (inspired by Boecklin's painting), by Herr Felix Weingartner. The work is also shortly to be performed at Frankfort, Dresden, Bremen, and Moscow.

Dresden.—The first production of the music-drama "Circe," forming part of Herr August Bungert's gigantic work "Homeric World," took place on January 29, at the Royal Theatre, with immense success, partly owing, no doubt, to its magnificent mounting. The performance, moreover, under Herr Schuch's direction, was an excellent one, and the composer was recalled many times during the evening. This is the second drama of the series given here, and the remaining four will doubtless soon follow, after which performances of the entire work are to be confined to the theatre about to be erected for that special purpose at Godesberg, on the Rhine.——The Choral Society founded here by Robert Schumann in 1848, and conducted by him until August, 1850, during which period the Society first produced in public both his "Paradies und Peri" and the scenes from Goethe's "Faust," celebrated its fiftieth anniversary on January 5. The Robert Schumann'sche Singakademie (the title assumed by the Society soon after the death of its founder) has been for some years past under the able direction of Herr Friedrich Baumfelder.——The birth-centenary of Carl Gottlieb Reissiger, the whilom successor of Marschner in the musical directorship of the Royal Opera, was signalised at that Institution by the revival, on January 31, of one of that composer's long-forgotten melodramas. Reissiger was the composer of the once popular valse entitled "Weber's Last Idea," deriving not a little of its popularity from its being frequently attributed to the composer of "Freischütz" himself.

Frankfort-on-Main.—Mr. Eugene d'Albert has just completed the score of a one-act comic opera "The Departure" ("Die Abreise"), the libretto of which has been furnished him by Count Sporck. A pianoforte reading of the work was recently given here by the composer to a private circle, by whom the graceful and melodious little piece was received with high favour. Mr. d'Albert has, it is said, been offered the important first conductorship of the Hamburg Stadt-Theater, but was unable to accept it by reason of his concert engagements in the United States.

Hamburg.—Herr Weingartner's opera "Genesius," a work of considerable merit and importance, but coldly received on its first production some two years since in Berlin, is in course of being mounted at the Stadt-Theater and will be brought out, under the composer's direction, during the present month. It is said that Herr Weingartner's resignation of the conductorship at the Berlin Royal Opera has been definitely accepted. Sinding's Symphony in A minor was given here for the first time at the third Philharmonic concert of the season, under Herr Fiedler's conductorship, when the difficult and complex work was received with marked appreciation. It is interesting also to note the enthusiasm with which Hamburg concert-goers, long considered almost ultra-conservative in their tastes, have latterly received repeated performances of the most advanced compositions of Herr Richard Strauss, of Munich, notably his symphonic poems.

Leipzig.—Heinrich Zöllner's new opera "Das hölzerne Schwert" was brought out on January 25, at the Stadt-Theater, achieving a marked success.——The admirable People's Concerts instituted last year at the Albert Hall here have been resumed this season, with the co-operation of the Winderstein orchestra, and excellent choral and symphonic performances are being given at the nominal charge of about twopence. The hall, accommodating some three thousand persons, it is satisfactory to add, is invariably crowded on these occasions.

Milan.—Under the honorary presidency of Signor Verdi, an influential committee has been formed for the purpose of devising a means of resuming the performance of opera at the historical Theatre della Scala, and placing the undertaking upon a sound financial and artistic basis, independent of any subvention from the municipal authorities. Amongst the members of the committee are Arrigo Boïto, Giacomo Puccini, and Gallignani.——Gluck's "Orfeo" has been revived at the Teatro Lirico, with Mdlle. Delna in the title-part, and has proved an immense attraction.

Munich.—Herr Richard Strauss has completed his new symphonic poem entitled "Don Quixote—fantastic variations on a chivalrous theme," which is to be first produced at one of the Gürzenich Concerts in Cologne. Herr Max Schillings, another resident musician here, the composer of the remarkable opera "Ingwelde," is engaged upon a new operatic work in the score of which the interesting new string instrument invented by Dr. Stelzner, called "Violotta" (intermediate between viola and violoncello), will be used for the first time.——Henrich Vogl, the celebrated tenor of the Opera, is likewise about to enter the ranks of operatic composers with a three-act opera, "Baldur," the subject of which is taken from Scandinavian mythology.

Parma.—Signor Tebaldini, the newly appointed director of the Conservatorio, has organised a series of classical concerts during the present season, with the co-operation of Signor Martucci, director of the Liceo of Bologna, Signora Teresina Tua, the Gully Quintet Party, Herren H. Grünfeld, Max Pauer, and other eminent artists. The undertaking is greatly appreciated by all earnest music-lovers here.

Prague.—In recent representations given at the German Theatre here of the entire "Ring des Nibelungen," Director Angelo Neumann successfully tried the experiment of commencing each day's performance at four o'clock in the afternoon.

The Hague.—Under the auspices of the enterprising Wagner Society of Amsterdam, an excellent first performance here of Wagner's "Siegfried" was given on January 20, at the Théâtre Communal, with Mesdames Rosa Sucher and Olga Fremstadt, MM. van Rooy, Burgstaller, Lieban, and Koehler in leading parts. M. de Haan, of the Darmstadt Court Theatre, was the conductor, M. Henri Viotta, the director of the Wagner Society, being unfortunately severely indisposed. The performance was repeated a few days later, and the entire "Nibelungen" Tetralogy is to be given during the coming summer. At the Italian Opera, Signor Mascagni was announced to conduct last month a series of performances of his own operas.

Turin.—An important international orchestral competition is to be held here in July next, in which France, Germany, Austria-Hungary, and Belgium are to be strongly represented, and in which a hundred Italian bands will also take part. Verdi has consented to preside over the jury, amongst the members of which are Boïto, Leoncavallo, Mascagni, Puccini, Massenet, and Saint-Saëns.

Vienna.—Herr Jörgen Malling gave a successful concert here of his own compositions on January 26, the programme including a cleverly written sonata for pianoforte and violin, several songs, and a very effective, melodious, and masterly instrumented dramatic cantata, with full orchestra, entitled "Kuwala," the subject being taken from "Ossian." The chorus was that of the Singverein. At the instance of the well-known musical savant, Herr Otto Schmidt, a (MS.) symphony in three movements by Michael Haydn, the elder brother of the composer of the "Creation," was produced recently by the "Haydn" Orchestral Society, and pronounced by connoisseurs a distinctly valuable acquisition to symphonic literature.——Mr. Ben Davies appeared in several concerts here during January, and in airs by Handel, Scarlatti, and Pergolese, and songs by Schumann and Brahms, obtained enormous applause. The gifted English vocalist has indeed become a prime favourite with Viennese audiences.

OBITUARY.

With extreme regret we record the death of Mr. Frederick Westlake, which took place, after a very short illness, at his residence, Upper Gloucester Place, on Saturday, the 12th ult., within a few days of the completion of his fifty-eighth year. On the Thursday week preceding his decease he gave his lessons as usual at the Royal Academy of Music. Mr. Westlake was born on

Digitized by Google

February 25, 1840, at Romsey, in Hampshire. At the age of fifteen he became a student at the Royal Academy of Music, where he studied the pianoforte under Mr. Walter Macfarren for seven years and harmony under Sir George Macfarren for about five years. "He was an apt scholar," writes Mr. Walter Macfarren, "and rapidly developed into an admirable musician. My brother and I were very proud of the important position he acquired at his Alma Mater, where he, in his turn, produced many excellent pupils, including some who are now engaged as professors in the Institution." Mr. Westlake was made a sub-professor of the pianoforte at the Academy in 1860, and three years later a professor. He rapidly gained the reputation of being a first-rate teacher, and admittance to his class was eagerly sought. Although not so well known as a public performer, Mr. Westlake played with his pupil, Miss Agnes Channell (October 22, 1873, St. George's Hall), Chopin's Rondo for two pianofortes, probably for the first time in England. Miss Channell was chosen by Sterndale Bennett to introduce his "Maid of Athens" sonata to the public. Mr. Westlake was a very genial and companionable man. He used to say that there were two works that he should like to have composed — the G major Concerto and the C minor Symphony by Beethoven. He wrote the article on the "Wohltemperirte Klavier" in Grove's "Dictionary of Music and Musicians." His compositions, though not very numerous, are of sterling worth, and include several masses, a "Duo Concertante" for pianoforte and violoncello, a series of nine little pieces entitled "Episodes," a fugue in octaves for pianoforte solo, a fine prelude and fugue in C major for the organ, and several charming songs and part-songs. He also wrote some excellent hymn-tunes, one of which has found its way into "Hymns Ancient and Modern" (No. 294), and another, an ideal children's tune, will be found in "Church Hymns" (No. 573). He edited, for Messrs. Burns and Oates, "Hymns and Sacred Songs," and, for Messrs. Ashdown, the "Lyra Studentium" and Bach's "48." The mortal remains of Mr. Westlake were laid to rest in the Roman Catholic Cemetery at Kensal Green.

We regret to hear of the death of the well-known violoncellist, Mr. Edward Howell, which occurred on January 30. Mr. Howell, who was born in London in 1846, was professor of the violoncello at the Royal Academy of Music, the Royal College of Music, and Musician in ordinary to the Queen. For many years he held the post of principal violoncello at the Philharmonic, the Leeds Festival, and The Three Choirs Festival orchestras. He was an excellent solo and quartet player.

The death is announced, on January 19, in Vienna, of the Baron Johann von Haslinger, departmental chief in the Austrian Ministry of Foreign Affairs, at the age of seventy-seven. The deceased, under the pseudonym of Johannes Hagen, was a composer of some distinction.

An excellent musician and highly successful teacher, Dr. Wilhelm Mayer, better known by his professional name of W. A. Remy, died on January 23, at Graz. As a professor of the pianoforte, and more particularly of counterpoint and composition, he ranked amongst the first in Austria-Hungary, and quite a number of musicians distinguished in the present day are indebted for much of their success to his tuition; amongst them, Wilhelm Kienzl, Reznicék, Felix Weingartner, A. Doppler, and Ferruccio Busoni. Dr. Mayer was born at Prague in 1831, and commenced his career as a jurist in one or two appointments under Government. Eventually, however, he abandoned the law and devoted himself entirely to a professional musical life, for which he had early qualified under competent masters, including the distinguished musicologue, Dr. F. von Hausegger. He was the conductor for a time of the Steiermmärkische Musik-Verein in Graz, but since 1870 has been occupied exclusively with teaching and composition.

In Franz Koestinger, whose death, at the age of fifty-three, occurred on January 27, in Vienna, the well-known Gesellschaft der Musikfreunde in that capital has lost one of its most zealous and universally popular directors. Occupying a post in the Austrian civil service, Koestinger was at the same time an able and enthusiastic musician, devoting much of his leisure to the pursuit of the art.

Oscar Comettant, the well-known French musical critic, journalist, and author, died at Havre on January 24, having nearly completed his seventy-ninth year. As the musical critic for over thirty years of Le Siècle, and contributor at one time or other to almost every French musical journal of note, M. Comettant's writings—always interesting and occasionally full of esprit—but too frequently exhibited the fatal defect of one-sidedness and narrow prejudice in favour of the old French and Italian operatic composers. His most valuable contributions to musical literature are those in book-form, more particularly his biographies of Adolphe Sax and Francis Planté and a volume entitled "La Musique, les musiciens, et les instruments de musique chez les différents peuples du monde."

Oscar Eichberg, composer and vocal teacher, a musician most highly valued in Berlin musical circles, died in that capital on January 13, in his fifty-third year. A pupil of Löschhorn and Kiel, he was an excellent pianist and composer for the pianoforte, while the contributions to the columns of the Berliner Boersen Courier, of which journal he was for many years the musical critic, were very generally read on account of their thoughtful and instructive qualities. He was one of the founders of the Berlin Wagner Society.

Madame Augusta Albertini-Boucardé, a celebrated prima donna during the earlier part of the present century, died at Florence, on January 22, at an advanced age. When only seventeen years of age she made her début at the San Carlos Theatre, Lisbon, with great success. On her retirement from the stage she was for a number of years, owing to her excellent method, a much-sought vocal teacher at Florence.

The death, at the early age of forty-three, of the talented and successful composer, Franz Curti, is announced, on the 7th ult., at Dresden. Only five days later the first performance was to have taken place, at Zürich, of a new opera of his, "Das Rösli von Säntis." His other operatic works, "Hertha," Erlöst," "Lili Tsee," have obtained popularity in Germany, particularly the last.

On the 5th ult., at Vienna, Olga Dvorák, operatic vocalist, aged thirty-one.

CORRESPONDENCE.

CHURCH MUSIC STATISTICS.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE MUSICAL TIMES."

Sir,—The account of the Rev. W. Farley Wilkinson's paper on the subject of musical statistics of the churches in the Peterborough Diocese, which appeared in your January number, prompts me to make the following suggestion: "Why cannot every diocese have, as part of its archives, a register recording the particulars of the musical part of the services in each church throughout the diocese?" This would be a very appropriate matter for the Convocations of Canterbury and York to discuss. It would be important to impress upon the clergy that the particulars were for statistical purposes only, and that they would not be published in any way without their consent. The varying uses of hymnal, psalter, chant-book, whether anthems are sung regularly or occasionally, and such like particulars would form a valuable historical record of progress or otherwise in church music.

Lest the Cathedral Precentor should think that this suggestion, if carried out, would put an increased burden upon his, perhaps, already overworked shoulders, I venture to think that in every Cathedral congregation there would be found an interested layman who would gladly undertake the writing up of the necessary schedule book, and attend to the work generally without fee or reward.—Yours, &c.,

Choir.

"HARK! THE HERALD ANGELS SING."

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE MUSICAL TIMES."

Sir,—In your December issue (p. 810) you say, in reference to "Hark! the herald angels sing," that "its earliest appearance in a hymnal was, we believe, in 'Hymns Ancient and Modern,' 1861." Permit me to point out that the tune appeared, under the name "Nativity," in "The Wesleyan Sunday School Tune Book," published in 1858.—Yours faithfully, James T. Lightwood.

Hope House, Lytham, Feb. 14, 1898.

Digitized by Google

BRIEF SUMMARY OF COUNTRY AND COLONIAL NEWS.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for any opinions expressed in this summary, as all the notices are either collated from the local papers or supplied to us by correspondents.

Aberdeen.—The Rutherford Musical Association gave a fine performance of Mr. J. F. Barnett's beautiful cantata "The Ancient Mariner," at the Trades Hall, on the 7th ult., under the efficient conductorship of Mr. W. Ironside. The soloists, Miss Jeannie McIntyre, Miss Jessie Robertson, Mr. John R. Watson, and Mr. William Arthur, acquitted themselves admirably, and the chorus reflected great credit upon themselves and upon their accomplished conductor. Mr. R. Grassick rendered valuable assistance at the organ.

Abergavenny.—The Abergavenny Choral Society gave Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise" and a miscellaneous selection at its concert in the Town Hall, on the 14th ult., with much success. The band and chorus numbered 130 performers, and, under the skilful direction of Mr. W. R. Carr, they rendered Mendelssohn's familiar work with commendable excellence. The soloists were Miss Marion Isaac and Mr. George Banks. German's "Henry VIII." Dances were played in the second part of the programme. Mr. Arthur Angle led the band and Mr. F. Bumford presided at the pianoforte.

Bedford.—Dr. H. A. Harding and Mr. Louis Pécskai gave a most successful pianoforte and violin recital at the Corn Exchange on the 3rd ult. The programme included Grieg's Sonata in F (Op. 8), Wieniawski's Concerto in D major, and Tartini's sonata "Le Trille du Diable."

Blackburn.—An organ recital was given in the Trinity Wesleyan Church, on the fine organ by Willis, on the 19th ult., the organist being Mr. James H. Rooks, whose playing of the Prelude and Fugue in A minor by Bach, selections from the Fifth Symphony (Widor), and Wagner's "Tannhäuser" March, amongst other pieces, met with hearty appreciation, Mr. Rooks being recalled again and again at the close of the recital. Herr Peretz (violinist) and Master Frank Tolkein (vocalist) assisted.— A concert was given by some of the pupils of Mr. James H. Rooks, in the Literary Club, on the 14th ult. Mrs. Hamer, Miss Gertrude Walsh, Miss Carter, Miss Hargreaves, Mr. T. Sharples, Mr. Barton, Mr. Savatard, Mr. W. A. Haworth, and Master Tolkein sang. Mr. Rooks accompanied throughout with tact and intelligence.

Burnley.—A concert of high-class vocal and instrumental music was given in the Mechanics' Institute, on the 1st ult., by Mr. Fred. Myers. A feature of the concert was a thoroughly good rendering of Mozart's Quintet for pianoforte, oboe, clarinet, horn, and bassoon, in which Mr. Myers was assisted by Mr. Frank Myers, Mr. Collins, Mr. S. Myers, and Mr. Salkeld. The vocalists, all of whom sang excellently, were Miss Fannie Sellers (soprano), Miss Edith Pollard (contralto), and Mr. Roberts (bass).

Canterbury.—The Saint Lawrence Amateur Musical Society held its thirty-fourth annual general meeting at the Club Room, adjoining the Concert Hall, on the 7th ult., Dr. Longhurst (president of the Society) in the chair. The Society has had a very successful career ever since its foundation, and there are at present thirty-three members of the regular orchestra. The Society is very popular in Canterbury, as it forms a permanent nucleus for a full orchestra. Besides its own modern musical library, it possesses the famous library of the "Old Canterbury Catch Club," with the complete parts for full orchestra of more than 400 standard overtures published between the years 1730 and 1840, &c. The Saint Lawrence Society gave ten public performances during 1897, either for charities or subscription concerts.

Chesterfield.—The Chesterfield Orchestral Society gave its fifth concert at the Stephenson Memorial Hall, on the 9th ult., under the able conductorship of Mr. H. N. Biggin. The programme included Mendelssohn's "Italian" Symphony, the overtures to Mozart's "Zauberflöte," Wagner's "Tannhäuser," and Schubert's "Fierrabras"; Gounod's "Funeral March of a Marionette," and Schubert's "Rosamunde" ballet music. Songs were contributed by Madame Lilla Harrison and Mr. Arthur Barlow, the latter of whom sang Battison Haynes's popular song "The ould plaid shawl."

Darlington.—The seventeenth annual concert of the Darlington Orchestral Society was given in the new Drill Hall, on the 3rd ult., and proved a great success. The band, numbering fifty performers, gave a good account of themselves in Beethoven's Symphony in F (No. 8). Miss Muriel Foster, of the Royal College of Music, was the vocalist, and sang excellently. Mr. Robert Smith, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, was solo clarinettist, and Mr. Fred. Tovey, the hon. conductor, led his forces in a very efficient manner.

Dundee.—Mr. Sinclair Dunn gave his popular entertainment, entitled "The auld Scotch songs," at the Kinnaird Hall, on the 9th ult., with his usual success.

Eastbourne.—At the Town Hall, on the 10th ult., and in connection with the series of occasional lectures arranged by the Technical Instruction Committee of the Town Council, Mr. George Langley gave a most instructive and interesting lecture on the subject of "Music and every-day life," which he treated in a highly felicitous and attractive manner.

Hawarden.—The annual concert of the Hawarden Choral Society took place at the Gymnasium on January 31. Schubert's "Song of Miriam" was the principal feature, the solos in which were well sung by Miss Jennie Pritchard. The vocalists in the miscellaneous portion were Miss Jennie Pritchard, Miss Edith Lowe, Mr. J. H. Thompson, and Mr. Thomas Bell. Mr. C. H. Stephenson contributed a violin solo, and Mr. Thomas Pate and Miss E. Mack were efficient accompanists. Mr. R. W. Pringle (organist of the Parish Church) conducted.

Holyhead.—A concert was given at the Town Hall, on the 8th ult., in aid of the Cassock and Surplice Fund of St. Cybi's choir. The principal artists were Miss Alice Phillips, of Stourbridge, and Mr. Seth Hughes, of Bangor Cathedral. The United Church Choral Society, conducted by Miss Walter-Thomas, organist of the Parish Church, sang remarkably well; Leslie's charming trio "O Memory" was sung by Mrs. S. A. Johnson, Miss Walter-Thomas, and Mr. Larg; "Where the bee sucks" (Arne) was rendered by the St. Cibi's choristers with a sweetness and precision that show much promise; and Master H. Parsons charmed the audience by his brilliant playing on the violin.

Llanelly.—A performance of Beethoven's "Mount of Olives" was given at Tabernacle Chapel on the 1st ult., the soloists being Miss Ethel Winn, Mr. Bright Jones, and Mr. Meurig James, Miss Winn especially making a marked success in her rendering of the soprano music. The choir, which had been carefully trained by Mr. Meudwy Davies, sang with much vigour and admirable expression. The second part consisted of a miscellaneous selection of sacred music. Mr. Luther Owen accompanied.

Luton.—An excellent rendering of Mendelssohn's 95th Psalm, "Come, let us sing," with other high-class music, was given by the choir of Chapel Street Church on the 8th ult. The band and chorus numbered over 150 performers. The vocalists included Miss Stella Maris, Miss Schrader, Miss E. Goodwin, Mr. James Gawthrop, Mr. F. Gostelow, and Mr. C. Inwards. Mr. Underwood presided at the organ and Mr. Sidney Bennett conducted.

Ongar.—Mr. F. R. Frye, of Chelmsford, gave an organ recital at the Parish Church on the 9th ult. The programme included "On a Bass," from Sir John Stainer's "Six Pieces for the Organ," Dr. Gladstone's Introduction, Air, and Variations in F, and Dr. E. J. Hopkins's Allegro Finale in A.

Oxford.—Miss Annie Glen gave a song recital in the new Municipal Buildings, on the 17th ult., when the programme included some early Provençal and Italian melodies, a selection from the "Spring Songs" of Sir A. C. Mackenzie, and the delightful setting of "Where the bee sucks," by Humfrey, from the original Shakespearian Songs arranged by Sir Frederick Bridge.

Reading.—On the 2nd ult., at the large Town Hall, Mr. J. Rosenthal's amateur string orchestra of ladies, supplemented by a number of professional wind instrumentalists, gave a creditable rendering of Mendelssohn's

Digitized by Google

"Scotch" Symphony, Grieg's "Peer Gynt" Suite, Wagner's Prelude to "Lohengrin," Massenet's "Dernier Sommeil de la Vierge," Berlioz's "Danse des Sylphes," Mozart's "Nozze di Figaro" Overture, and Bach's Concerto for two solo violins, the solo parts in the latter being taken by the Misses Evelyn Radcliffe and Annie Blandy.

Runcorn.—The Philharmonic Society gave a concert, on January 26, at the Public Hall, under the direction of its new conductor, Mr. Granville Bantock. The choir gave several part-songs, in which it already showed the results of good training, notably in "Sir Patrick Spens" and Hatton's "Jack Frost." Vocal solos were given by Mr. L. N. Burch and Mr. J. P. Robinson; Mr. Salkeld contributed two solos on the horn, and Mr. Charles Fry's recitations were received with hearty applause.

Trinidad.—The Trinidad Choral Society (founded in August, 1896) gave an excellent performance of Thomas Facer's "The Maid of Lorn," at the Prince's Building, on January 28. The soloists were Mrs. Doorly, Dr. Doyle, Mr. F. J. Maingot, and Mr. I. K. Horsford. The chorus of fifty voices and orchestra of twenty performers (five of whom were policemen) acquitted themselves most admirably, under the efficient conductorship of Mr. David Adamson. An interesting feature in the second part of the programme was an "Ave Maria" for voice, violin, and pianoforte, composed by the Governor, His Excellency Sir Hubert E. H. Jerningham, K.C.M.G., who is patron of the Society. May the Trinidad Choral Society abundantly flourish.

Worcester.—Mr. E. W. Wallis's second annual concert was held in the Foregate Hall on January 31. The vocalists were Miss A. Eaton Lowe (soprano), Miss A. Hopton (contralto), and Mr. G. Large (bass). Miss L. A. Caldwell and Mr. E. W. Wallis gave solos on the violin and pianoforte respectively, and Mr. Oswald Spark accompanied with his usual efficiency.

Worthing.—The Worthing Choral Society gave a capital performance of Anderton's attractive cantata "Yuletide," at the Theatre Royal, on January 27. The soloists were Madame Eugenie Morgan, Miss Hamilton Smith, Mr. Frank Swinford, and Mr. A. Puttock, all of whom sang with artistic perception. The chorus acquitted itself admirably, and gave evidence of the careful training it receives at the hands of its excellent conductor, Mr. F. D. Carnell. Dr. F. J. Sawyer was a host in himself at the organ, and Mr. Alfred Neale played the accompaniments upon the pianoforte in an irreproachable manner.

Organ Appointments.—Mr. Edward G. Croager, Organist and Choirmaster to St. Paul's Church, Avenue Road, South Hampstead.—Mr. A. G. Macey, Organist and Choirmaster to St. Barnabas, Dartmouth.—Mr. W. A. J. Ponton, Organist and Choirmaster to St. Stephen's, Walworth.—Mr. J. Harraway Slape, Organist and Choirmaster to St. Stephen's, Hampstead.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

 Notices of Concerts, of which programmes must invariably be sent, and other information supplied by our friends in the country, must be forwarded to us immediately after the occurrence; otherwise they cannot possibly be inserted.

Our correspondents will oblige by writing all names as clearly as possible, as we cannot be responsible for any mistakes that may occur.

Correspondents are informed that their names and addresses must accompany all communications.

We cannot undertake to return offered contributions; the authors, therefore, will do well to retain copies.

Notice is sent to all subscribers whose payment (in advance) is exhausted. The paper will be discontinued where the Subscription is not renewed. We again remind those who are disappointed in obtaining back numbers that, although the music is always kept in stock, only a sufficient quantity of the rest of the paper is printed to supply the current sale.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Alpha.—(1) Easy pianoforte pieces for elementary pupils will be found in Gurlitt's "Album-leaves for the Young," Reinecke's "Easy Serenades" (2 books) and "Kindergarten," Loeschorn's "Scenes from Childhood" (4 books), and some of the easier numbers of Schumann's "Album for the Young." (2) You will find organ pieces by Russell in Nos. 70, 95, and 101 of Novello's "Select Organ Pieces," and in Nos. 7, 20, 21 to 27 (inclusive) of Novello's "Short Melodies for the Organ." There is a "diapason piece" by Greene in No. 24 of Novello's "Short Melodies," and an Overture in G by him (edited by W. G. Wood) is published by Messrs. Weekes and Co. (3) We have not heard of a type-writer for writing music.

Subscriber.—Yes; the Wagner literature is "considerable in amount." The following may be recommended as "representative" books: the article "Wagner," by Mr. Dannreuther, in Grove's "Dictionary of Music"; Wagner's "Prose Works," ably translated into English by Mr. Ashton Ellis; "Wagner," by F. Hueffer ("Great Musicians" series); "Richard Wagner," by H. S. Chamberlain (English translation); and "Richard Wagner: sa vie et ses Œuvres" (1886), by Adolphe Jullien, which is capitally illustrated.

Organ Music.—The "Concert Fantasia and Fugue" in C minor, by W. G. Wood, and "Introduction and variations on a ground bass," by Battison Haynes, are published in Novello's Original Compositions for the Organ, Nos. 47 and 109 respectively. The "Adeste Fideles," by A. C. Fisher, is for pianoforte only, and is published by Messrs. Duff and Stewart.

I. M. S.—We think that it is very desirable to learn counterpoint from a master, though much may be done by self-teaching. Bridge's "Counterpoint" primer is an excellent treatise on the subject. Some personal lessons in preparation for the examination you mention would be a decided advantage.

J. J.—You, and a few of your friends, are not the only people who "have a little difference about the speed" of Wagner's "Huldigungsmarsch." Some of the most eminent conductors are in a similar predicament. The "proper tempo" seems to be a matter of taste or temperament.

A. J. C.—The metronomic rates for Beethoven's "Kreutzer" Sonata (Op. 47) may be suggested as follows: Adagio sostenuto, ♪ = 69; Presto, 𝅗𝅥 = 144; Andante con variazioni, ♪ = 88; Finale, ♩. = 176.

P. G.—The full score of Gounod's "Faust" can be bought either in France or Germany, but must not be imported into England, except by permission of Messrs. Chappell and Co., the holders of the copyright in this country.

Clarinet.—You will get good clarinet reeds and all needful information respecting them from firms like Messrs. Boosey and Co. and Messrs. Besson and Co.

A. W. G.—There is a book of "Musical Anecdotes," by F. H. Crowest, published by Bentley in 1878, but we think it is out of print.

M. W.—We cannot undertake to recommend teachers of singing either in London or elsewhere.

MISS LIZZIE AUSTIN (Soprano)
(Silver Medalist and Certificate, R.A.M.)
Opera, Oratorio, Concerts, &c. 65, Philbeach Gdns., Earl's Ct., S.W.

MISS CHARLOTTE DICKENS (Soprano)
(Med., R.A.M.; Med. and Cert., Sc. Arts.) Concerts, Oratorios, &c.
North End House, Stanhope Street, Mornington Crescent, N.W.

MRS. GLOVER EATON, L.R.A.M. (Soprano)
Oratorio, Ballads, At Homes, &c.
"Creation," Leek, Dec., 1897.—"The part of Gabriel was splendidly taken by Mrs. Glover Eaton."
Address, Stourport; and Messrs. Elgar Bros., Worcester.

MISS MARJORIE EATON (Soprano)
Oratorios, Concerts, &c., 237, Katherine Street, Ashton-under-Lyne.

Digitized by Google

DURING THE LAST MONTH.

Published by NOVELLO, EWER & CO.

LEONI, FRANCO—"The Gate of Life." A Dramatic Cantata. For Soprano, Tenor, and Bass Soli, Chorus, and Orchestra. The verse written by Shapcott Wensley. 2s.

THE VILLAGE ORGANIST. A series of Pieces for Church and general use. Edited by J. Stainer and F. Cunningham Woods. Books 11 and 12, each 1s.

—— Vol. II. (containing Books 7-12). Cloth, bds., 6s.

PARRY, C. H. H.—Symphonic Variations. For Full Orchestra. Full Score, 10s. 1st Violin, 1s.; 2nd Violin, 1s.; Viola, 1s.; Violoncello and Bass, 1s. 6d. Wind Parts, 8s. 6d.

ELGAR, E.—(in F). Te Deum and Benedictus. 1st Violin, 1s.; 2nd Violin, 1s.; Viola, 1s.; Violoncello and Bass, 1s. 6d.

WEST, JOHN E.—"Marjorie." Gavotte. 1st Violin, 6d.; 2nd Violin, 6d.; Viola, 6d.; Violoncello and Bass, 6d. Wind Parts, 2s. 3d.

PARRY, C. H. H.—Magnificat. 1st Violin, 1s. 6d.; 2nd Violin, 1s.; Viola, 1s.; Violoncello and Bass, 1s. 6d.

HIGGS, H. M.—"Our Queen." Quick March. 1st Violin, 6d.; 2nd Violin, 6d.; Viola, 6d.; Violoncello and Bass, 6d. Wind Parts, 5s. 3d.

GERMAN, EDWARD—"Hamlet." Symphonic Poem. 1st Violin, 1s. 6d.; 2nd Violin, 1s. 6d.; Viola, 1s. 6d.; Violoncello and Bass, 2s.

THE SCHOOL MUSIC REVIEW. No. 69. Contains the following Music in both Notations:—"See the conqu'ring hero comes." Trio and Duet from "Judas Maccabæus." By Handel. "To-Day." Two-part Song. For S.A. By E. J. Troup. "The coming of Spring." Unison Song. By R. Schumann. Specimen Tests for Pupil Teachers and Schools. Exercises on the sharp 4th and the flat 7th. 1½d.

THE MUSICAL TIMES. Volume XXXVIII. For 1897. 7s. 6d.

THE CATHEDRAL PRAYER BOOK and CATHEDRAL PSALTER (for the use of the Welsh Church), No. 5. The Psalter, with Canticles and Proper Psalms, set to appropriate Chants. With Morning and Evening Prayer, &c. Demy 8vo, cloth, 2s. 6d.

BAINES, HERBERT—Six Songs (Second Set). 2s. 6d.

GODFREY, PERCY—Folk-Songs. (Book 2.) 6d.

TOZER, FERRIS—"Weary of earth and laden with my sin." Anthem. For Lenten or General Use. (No. 661. The Musical Times.) 1½d.

PUGHE-EVANS, D.—"Lead, kindly Light." Arranged from the Song as an Anthem, for Soprano Solo and Chorus, by John E. West. (No. 589. Novello's Octavo Anthems.) 3d.

STOCKS, W. H.—Paraphrase of the "Anima Christi." (No. 368. Novello's Parish Choir Book.) 1½d.

BREWER, A. HERBERT—Hymn Tune, "Esther." (No. 370. Novello's Parish Choir Book.) On Card. 1d.

GREENISH, F. R.—"He shall swallow up Death in Victory." Anthem. For Easter or other Festivals. 3d.

BLAKISTON, SYDNEY—Three settings of the Kyrie eleison. 2d.

COBB, GERARD F.—"I heard a great Voice." Anthem. For Eastertide. (No. 590. Novello's Octavo Anthems.) 3d.

HARRIS, CUTHBERT—"I will go unto the Altar of God." Easter Anthem. (No. 591. Novello's Octavo Anthems.) 3d.

HOLLINGWORTH, W.—"Lady of Beauty." An old Three-part Glee by Kippax, re-arranged for A.T.T.B. 2d.

BREWER, GEORGE J.—(in G). Benedicite, omnia Opera. 3d.

SWEELINCK, J. P.—"Hodie Christus natus est." Motet. For Five Voices (S.S.A.T.B.). Edited by W. Barclay Squire. (No. 34. The Bach Choir Magazine.) 6d.

GORMAN, A. S.—"The Story of the Cross." For Tenor and Bass Soli and Chorus. 3d.

FROGGATT, A. T.—Benedictus qui venit and Agnus Dei. S.A.T.B. 2d.

THOMAS, A. GORING—"Fairest of lands." From "The Sun Worshippers." (No. 318. Novello's Trios, &c., for Female Voices.) 4d.

DURING THE LAST MONTH—continued.

BOYSON, AMBROSE—Vespers. On Card. 1d.

PUGHE-EVANS, D.—"Love Thee?" Song. For a Medium Voice. The words by Thomas Moore. 2s.

—— "Cupid's Way." Song. For Soprano or Tenor. The words by Edward Oxenford. 2s.

NEEDHAM, ALICIA A.—"An Irish Lullaby." (No. 1 of "Four Lyrics.") Arranged as a Duet for Soprano and Contralto. 2s.

FORD, ERNEST—"In Dreamland." Song. The words by Maud Philp. (No. 1, in B flat. For Contralto or Baritone. No. 2, in D. For Soprano or Tenor.) 2s. each.

COENEN, WILLEM—"Come unto Me." Sacred Song. The words by the Rev. H. Bonar. No. 3, in D. For Contralto or Baritone. 2s.

HAVERFIELD, FRANK—"There is a green hill far away." Song. For a Medium Voice. The words by Mrs. C. F. Alexander. 2s.

ELVEY, G. J.—Gavotte, in E. For the Pianoforte. 1s. 6d.

BACH, J. S.—Toccata and Fugue (Concertata), in E major. (No. 14 of The Organ Works of John Sebastian Bach, edited by J. F. Bridge and J. Higgs.) 2s.

GLÜCK, M.—"Marie-Louise." Valse. For the Pianoforte. 2s.

NOVELLO'S PUBLICATIONS in the TONIC SOL-FA NOTATION. Edited by W. G. McNaught.

No. 1010.	The Snow. S.S.A.	E. Elgar	1½d.
,, 1011.	Fly, singing bird. S.S.A.	,, ,,	1½d.
,, 1016.	The Story of the Cross. S.A.T.B.	J. Varley Roberts	1½d.
,, 1018.	Distant Bells S.S.A.	A. C. Mackenzie	1d.
,, 1019.	Sweete floweres, ye were too faire. S.S.A.T.B.	T. A. Walmisley	1½d.
,, 1020.	Be strong to hope, oh heart. S.S.A.	E. Hecht	1½d.
,, 1021.	He who trusts in ladies fair. T.T.B.B.	Eisenhofer	1d.
,, 1022.	In going to my lonely bed. S.A.T.B.	R. Edwards	1d.
,, 1023.	When the Sabbath was past. S.A.T.B.	Myles B. Foster	1½d.
,, 1024.	Wreaths for our graves. S.S.A.T.T.B.	Arthur Sullivan	3d.
,, 1026.	Alleluia! now is Christ risen. S.A.T.B.	Thomas Adams	1½d.

REDUCED PRICE.

GOODHART, A. M.—"Arethusa." 1s.

MADAME STEPHANIE OLIVE (Contralto)
Concerts, Oratorios, Operettas, &c.
Terms, vacant dates, 65, Fortess Road, N.W.

MR. J. G. BLANCHARD
(Principal Tenor, Italian Church, Hatton Garden).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Address, 41, Savernake Road, N.W.

MR. VERNON HENDERSON (Tenor)
For critiques and terms, apply, 22, Powis Square, W.

MR. CHARLES SAUNDERS (Tenor)
Mossley Road, Ashton-under-Lyne.

MR. HERBERT ALDRIDGE (Baritone)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
Address, Saxonbury Villa, Buxton Road, Stratford, E.

MR. W. H. DAWSON (Baritone)
(York Minster).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c., 25, New Walk Terrace; or, Minster, York.

MR. AUGUSTUS TOOP, A.R.C.O.
Organist and Musical Director, St. Peter's Church, Vere Street, W.
Teacher of Organ, Pianoforte, and Singing.
Accompanist, &c.
79, Walm Lane, Willesden Green; or, 60, Berners Street, W.

MEDALIST, R.A.M. and Sc. Arts (Soprano), will give SERVICES for expenses. Extensive répertoire. Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Medalist, Messrs. Novello & Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

A GOOD SOPRANO (young) would like to JOIN CONCERT PARTY, travelling from May to September. Excellent Press notices and thoroughly used to concert platform. Apply, Dorothy, Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners St., W.

MR. ERNEST TURNER (Baritone) (of St. James's Hall and Provincial Concerts). Address, 8, St. Margaret's Place, Bradford.

WANTED, at once, in a School of Music, South Coast, a RESIDENT LADY VIOLINIST; good executant, to teach Juniors in return for board and rooms and small salary. Musicus, Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

Digitized by Google

CONTENTS.

	Page
Mr. August Manns (with Portrait)	153
Some Present Aspects of Music	159
The Structure of Instrumental Music	161
From my Study	163
Occasional Notes	165
Facts, Rumours, and Remarks	167
Church and Organ Music	169
The Royal Choral Society	171
Queen's Hall Symphony Concerts	171
Lamoureux Concerts	172
The Handel Society	172
Monday and Saturday Popular Concerts	173
Pianoforte Recitals	173
Mr. Edward German's Music to "Much ado about nothing"	174
Royal Academy of Music	174
Royal Academy of Music (Lectures)	174
Royal College of Music	175
Amateur Orchestral Concerts	175
Mr. Charles Fry's Recitals	176
Musical Association	176
People's Concert Society	183
"The Spectre's Bride," "Athalie," and "The Flag of England" at Cheltenham	183
Reviews	184
Music in Birmingham	186
„ Bristol	186
„ Dublin	186
„ East Anglia	187
„ Edinburgh and Perth	187
„ Glasgow	188
„ Liverpool	188
„ Manchester	189
„ Northumberland and Durham	189
„ Southern Counties	189
„ Yorkshire	190
„ Paris	191
Anthem for Lenten or General Use—"Weary of earth, and laden with my sin."—Ferris Tozer	177
Anthem for Eastertide—"I heard a great voice."—Gerard F. Cobb.—(Extra Supplement.)
General News (London)	191
Foreign Notes	194
Obituary	195
Correspondence	196
Brief Summary of Country News	197
Answers to Correspondents	198
List of Music published during the last Month	199

THE MUSICAL TIMES.

SCALE OF TERMS FOR ADVERTISEMENTS.

	£	s.	d.
Two Lines	0	3	0
Three Lines	0	3	4
For every additional Line	0	0	10
Half a Column	2	0	0
A Column	4	0	0
A Page	7	10	0

Special Pages (Cover, &c.) by arrangement.
A remittance should be sent with each Advertisement.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

To ensure insertion in proper position Advertisements for March should reach the Office NOT LATER THAN THE TWENTIETH of the Month.

(No. 54. Novello, Ewer and Co.'s Music Primers and Educational Series. Edited by Sir John Stainer and Dr. C. Hubert H. Parry.)

SONATA FORM

BY

W. H. HADOW.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence.
In paper boards, Three Shillings.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE SCHOOL MUSIC REVIEW,

Published on the 1st of every Month. Price 1½d. Annual Subscription, including Postage, 2s.

THE SCHOOL MUSIC REVIEW for MARCH

CONTAINS:—

General Notes.
The Staff Notation in London Board Schools.
"Pussy-Cat Mole." Action Song. By Myles B. Foster.
Answers to Theory Questions—The Society of Arts' Examinations.
School Sight Singing Reader. In both Notations.
Some School Songs. By W. G. Rothery.
Stockwell Pupil Teachers' Performance of "St. John's Eve."
An Elementary Exercise in Slurring.
Songs at the Training Colleges.
"King Bulbous" at Bayswater.
Music in Schools and Tammany.
Review.
Miscellaneous Items.

THE SCHOOL MUSIC REVIEW,

The MARCH Number contains the following music:—

"In April Time." By Ciro Pinsuti. Arranged for S.S.A.
"The 'Logical Gardens." Junior Unison Song. By Gerard F. Cobb.
Specimen Tests for Pupil Teachers and Schools.
Exercises in Changing Key.

Also, Extra Music Supplement, containing "Come to me, gentle sleep." By Herbert W. Schartau. (No. 255, Novello's School Songs. Price 1½d.)

The Music and Exercises can always be obtained separately. Price 1½d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

TO TEACHERS.

EASTER HOLIDAY SESSION.

THE NORMAL
OR TEACHERS' COURSE
OF THE
VIRGIL PIANO SCHOOL
AND
SCHOOL OF PUBLIC PERFORMANCE

A TWO WEEKS' COURSE IN
TECHNIC AND METHOD OF PIANOFORTE INSTRUCTION
FOR TEACHERS AND PLAYERS.

Term begins Tuesday Morning, April 12, 1898; closes Saturday Evening, April 23.

. The previous Sessions of the above course have been eminently successful, over 150 Pianoforte Teachers having attended.
See statement by members of the musical profession who were in attendance.

A. K. VIRGIL,
Principal, Specialist in Pianoforte Technic.
Assisted by Competent Teachers trained in the Special Methods employed.
ALBERT BATE, Secretary (and Assistant Instructor).
Send for Circular containing full particulars.

The Pupils of the VIRGIL PIANO SCHOOL will give Six Pianoforte Recitals during the Course.

CLAVIER HALL,
12, PRINCES STREET, HANOVER SQUARE, LONDON, W.
The Virgil Practice Clavier (British) Co., Ltd.

Digitized by Google

MR. BRIGHT JONES
(TENOR).
For terms, apply, Glenhurst, Bath; or, N. Vert, Esq., 6, Cork St., W.

MR. ARTHUR BARLOW
(BASS).
For Oratorios, Operas, Concerts, &c.
Note new address, 6, Beech Mansions, West Hampstead, N.W.

MR. JOHN BROWNING
(PRINCIPAL BASS, Leeds Parish Church).
Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Address, Parish Church, Leeds.

MR. J. E. ROBERTS
(BASS).
For Concerts, Oratorios, &c. Address, Astley, Manchester.

MR.
BLAXLAND'S SOLO BOYS
For Church Festivals, Concerts, &c.
MASTER WILLIE CHILD
A clever and artistic Solo Boy.
For testimonials, &c., see back numbers of The Musical Times. Circular and terms on application. Address—
Mr. BLAXLAND, 2, Willesden Park Houses, Willesden Green, N.W.

SOLO BOY and ALTO WANTED, for Holy Trinity, Sloane Street. Salary, £30 each. Apply, by letter only, to W. Alcock, Organist and Director of the Choir.

TWO BOYS WANTED, for the Brompton Oratory Choir. Salary, £10 and £15 respectively. Apply, personally, to Mr. Nolan, 48, Leicester Square, W.

TENOR (Solo) WANTED, at Easter. St. Luke's, Oseney Crescent, Kentish Town. £20. Good reader and experienced. Two Sunday services and Friday rehearsal. Apply, Fridays, at 9 p.m., or write to Organist.

MISS MAY CAPES (Pupil of Herbert Sims Reeves) gives LESSONS in SINGING and THEORY OF MUSIC. Address, 17, Callow Street, Chelsea.

UNIVERSITY OF DURHAM.

Examinations for Degrees in Music are held in March and September. Full particulars, with copies of former papers, of Dr. Armes, The Bailey, Durham.

MR. G. H. GREGORY, Mus. Bac., Oxon., F.R.C.O., Organist of Boston Parish Church, Lincolnshire, has a VACANCY for an ARTICLED PUPIL. Good opportunity for learning the profession in all its branches. Premium required. Address as above.

MR. MONTGOMERY, Mus. Bac., Organist, St. Edmund's, Hunstanton, has a VACANCY for a RESIDENT ARTICLED PUPIL. Usual advantages. Elm House, Hunstanton.

WANTED, YOUNG LADY (good reader), to Learn a New Instrument. Write, Morley, Harp Maker, South Kensington, S.W.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER WANTED, for a Congregational Church in the North of London. Apply, by letter, stating qualifications and salary required. B., 20, Palatine Road, Stoke Newington, N.

ASSISTANT-ORGANIST WANTED, for Holy Trinity, Sloane Street. Apply, by letter only, to W. Alcock, Organist, the Vestry.

TO CATHEDRAL ORGANISTS.—ORGANIST (aged 23) desires an ENGAGEMENT as ASSISTANT at a Cathedral or large Church, where there is a good choir and frequent services. Has been well trained. Can play Anglican or Gregorian services. Resident or non-resident. Address, Assistant-Organist Musical News Office, 130, Fleet Street, E.C.

£150.—WANTED, early in April, MASTER, whose duties are to train the Boys in the Choir of St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, and also in one of the Endowed Schools. Elementary French and Latin also necessary. Experience with training Boys essential. Apply, before March 15, to the Organist, B. H. Burton, Esq., Broad Oke, Ipswich.

WANTED, Good TUNER of PIANOFORTES, with thorough knowledge of Harmoniums, Organs, also repairs. Must be competent, steady, and reliable. Apply, with photo, Arnfield's Music Warehouse, Dolgelley.

TUNER WANTED (first-class). Apply, stating salary, reference, &c., to Nield's Music Warehouse, Stockport.

PIANOFORTE TUNER wants ENGAGEMENT. Steady and reliable. Good knowledge of all ordinary work. Refs. Tuner, Frank, Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

MUSICSELLERS WANTED, everywhere, to take SOLE LOCAL AGENCY for our Publications. Harmonic Publishing Company, Wandsworth, London.

MANAGER.—A Gentleman of considerable experience requires SITUATION as MANAGER or SALESMAN in Pianoforte Business. Successful salesman; good tuner and pianist; also book-keeper. Just left large West-End house. Highest references. A. Z., Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

WANTED, at once, a clever Young (not above 35) PIANO and MUSIC SALESMAN to act in both departments. Must have good experience of both Counter and Piano trade, and be able to read music and try over Pianos and Organs well. Liberal salary to competent man. Write, with full particulars, references, and photo, to J. B. Cramer and Co., 26, Church Street, Liverpool.

FOR SALE, on account of failing health, old-established MUSICAL STRINGED INSTRUMENT BUSINESS. Address, W. R., Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners St., W.

TO COMPOSERS, CONDUCTORS, PUBLISHERS, &c.
MR. RUTLAND BOUGHTON undertakes the SCORING of COMPOSITIONS for Orchestra and Military Band and the arranging and revising of same for publication. Excellent testimonials. Address, Beaconsfield House, Aylesbury.

ORGAN RECITALS.—An experienced and brilliant RECITALIST is open for ENGAGEMENTS for expenses and a very nominal fee, either alone or with a first-rate professional vocalist. Recent recitals at Portsmouth, Birkenhead, Oswestry, Pool Quay, Doncaster, Cricceth, Bangor, Liverpool, Guildford, &c. Tuba, Eechinswell Vicarage, Newbury.

SECOND-HAND ORGANS for SALE.

1. The Two-manual Organ, now standing at Holy Innocents' Church, South Norwood, to be sold to make room for larger instrument now building. Price £80.
2. The Lewis Organ, now standing in the Congregational Chapel at Crosby. Two manuals and pedals, 14 stops, full compass, spotted metal, as good as new. Built in 1891. Price £300. Apply to Mr. E. L. Roberts, 15, Alexandra Road, Crosby, Liverpool, or to the undersigned.

Also three or four smaller Organs, one and two-manual. Apply to Norman and Beard, 24, Queen Victoria Street, London, E.C.

TWO-MANUAL and PEDAL AMERICAN ORGANS, at Bargain Prices for Cash. A 165-guinea "Bell," two manuals and pedals, for 75 guineas; a £70 "Karn" with Patent Pedals, 25 guineas; a 55-guinea two-manual "Alexandre" Harmonium, 22 stops, 12 sets, 40 guineas. Also several large Organs and Harmoniums by Bell, Karn, Alexandre, Trayser, &c., one-third usual price. Every instrument guaranteed. Packing or carriage free. Inspection invited. Messrs. Stagg and Sons, 56, Red Lion Street, Holborn.

ORGAN (Pipe). Substantially built, practically new, 8 stops; full compass Bourdon pedals. Lead 500 persons. 75 guineas. W., 52, Hazlewood Crescent, Westbourne Park, London.

CHURCH MUSIC by Sir Herbert Oakeley.

SIX ANTHEMS (Op. 14). Nos. 2 and 4 just re-published, with addition of Latin text.
WHO IS THIS THAT COMETH FROM EDOM? (Op. 26)—For Palm Sunday—which has been sung at Canterbury, York, St. Paul's, Winchester, Durham, Exeter, Bristol, Wells, Lichfield, Norwich, and Edinburgh Cathedrals, and at Westminster Abbey, &c.
THE GLORY OF LEBANON (Op. 32). For Consecration, or re-opening of a Church.
SEEK HIM THAT MAKETH THE SEVEN STARS AND ORION (Op. 34).
MORNING, COMMUNION, AND EVENING SERVICE IN E FLAT (Op. 9).

London: Schott and Co., Regent Street; or, apply to the Composer, Dover.

Just Published.

OUR QUEEN
QUICK MARCH
INTRODUCING
BARNBY'S PATRIOTIC CHORUS
VICTORIA—OUR QUEEN
COMPOSED BY
H. M. HIGGS.

Price Two Shillings.

Military Band Arrangement, by Henry T. Dunkerton, Bandmaster, Scots Guards, 5s.
String Parts for Full or Small Orchestra, 2s.; Wind Parts, 5s. 3d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

EUSTACE INGRAM,

ORGAN BUILDER,

361, LIVERPOOL ROAD, LONDON, N.,

Invites the attention and inspection of those interested in Organ Building to a very fine Instrument just completed for Durban (South Africa), standing in Factory. Detached Console. Compressed air transmission throughout.

From March 1 to 7, inclusive, between 8.30 a.m. and 8 p.m.

THE

"HARDCASTLE"
Pianoforte Touch Regulator.

FOR ADJUSTING THE TOUCH TO INDIVIDUAL REQUIREMENTS.

INVALUABLE FOR TEACHERS AND STUDENTS.

IT IS SIMPLE IN MECHANISM, AND IN NO WAY ALTERS THE APPEARANCE OF THE PIANO.

Testimonial.

"Having had an opportunity of testing the merits of Mr. Hardcastle's Touch Regulator, I think it a very useful invention, certainly fulfilling all that its inventor claims.—Max Blume.

"Harrogate, November 11, 1897."

For terms apply to The Hardcastle Touch Regulator, 11, Duke Street, Manchester Square, London, W.

COMPLETE AND REVISED EDITION.

THE

BRISTOL TUNE BOOK

CONTAINING

905 TUNES AND CHANTS.

A COMPANION TO ALL HYMN BOOKS.

Although nearly every denomination has its own Tune Book, the wealth of special tunes and metres contained in the Bristol Tune Book renders it indispensable to every well-equipped Choir.

		s.	d.
No. 17.	Limp Cloth	5	0
,, 18.	Cloth Boards, red edges	6	0
,, 19.	Small Edition	3	6
,, 20.	Tonic Sol-fa	3	6

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Bristol: W. Crofton Hemmons, Stephen Street.

And all Booksellers and Musicsellers.

Price 3s. 6d., cloth, red edges.

THE TUNE BOOK, with the additional Tunes as used at ST. ALBAN'S, HOLBORN, containing nearly 270 Tunes, for Long, Common, Short, and Peculiar Metres; together with several Gregorian Hymns and Antiphons; the Eight Gregorian Tones; the Music of the Reproaches; the Seven Last Words; and Litany Tunes, &c. London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Third Thousand.

TE DEUM LAUDAMUS in G. By Alfred J. Dye. Price 4d.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Fourth Thousand.

MAGNIFICAT and NUNC DIMITTIS in E flat. By William S. Vinning, Mus. Bac., Cantab. Price 3d.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

GILL'S EASY VOLUNTARIES.—"Messiah," "Judas," "Elijah," "St. Paul," "Creation." 1s. each book.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

FOR THE LORD JEHOVAH. Anthem, composed for Her Majesty's Diamond Jubilee. By Archie Smellie, Organist of St. Andrew's Church, Demerara. Price Threepence.

"The Anthem is thoroughly well written, and shows a good command of musical device. . . . This composition did not compare unfavourably with other special anthems performed in other churches composed by some of the best-known writers of Church music."—Demerara Argosy.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

CHURCH MUSIC

BY

EDWARD BUNNETT, Mus.D., Cantab.

SERVICES.

Two Settings of the Venite (in Chant Form). No. 1 (in G), No. 2 (in A)	2d.
Te Deum in E	3d.
Benedictus and Jubilate in E	3d.
Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E	3d.
Cantate and Deus in E	3d.
Communion Service	9d.
Preces and Responses	4d.
Tonic Sol-fa.
Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in F	1½d.
,, ,, ,, A	1½d.
,, ,, ,, E	1½d.

ANTHEMS.

If we believe. Easter Anthem	4d.
Ditto. Tonic Sol-fa	1½d.
The Lord is my Shepherd	3d.
I was glad	3d.
Ditto. Tonic Sol-fa	2d.

FOUR PASTORAL PART-SONGS.

1. O'er silv'ry waters. Four voices	3d.
2. Day is dawning. Four voices	3d.
3. Sing on, sweet bird. Four voices	3d.
4. Lo! Autumn leaves	3d.

ORGAN.

Twelve Short Easy Pieces .. .. net	2s. 0d.
Three Short Andantes .. .. ,,	2s. 0d.
Largo in E flat .. .. ,,	1s. 0d.
Minuetto .. .. ,,	1s. 6d.
Ave Maria .. .. ,,	1s. 6d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

WINCHESTER'S CHURCH MUSIC.

FOR LENT.

	s.	d.
THE STORY OF THE CROSS (Words only, 1s. per 100) ..	0	1½
THE STORY OF THE CROSS, Another Setting with five Metrical Litany Tunes	0	2
THE CROSS. Special Hymn for Lent (Words only, 1s. per 100)	0	2
BENEDICITE. Three Settings .. .. each	0	2
THE LITANY	0	2
SIX KYRIES, 2d.; Four others in D	0	1½
BENEDICTUS, 2d. (another, 1½d.); CANTATE DOMINO..	0	2
GREGORIANS: Venite, 1d.; Te Deum, 1½d.; Benedictus, 1½d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 2d.; Deus Misereatur ..	0	1
VERSICLES, PRECES AND RESPONSES (minor key) ..	0	1
FERIAL RESPONSES	0	1½
ANTHEM—"Blessed is He that cometh" (Palm Sunday) ..	0	1½

FOR EASTER.

ANTHEM—"Hallelujah! Christ is risen"	0	3
ANTHEM—"I will give thanks"	0	4
ANTHEM—"The Lord is my Shepherd"	0	3
TE DEUM. Service in F	0	3
JUBILATE	0	1½
BENEDICTUS	0	2
COMMUNION SERVICE in F	0	4
AGNUS DEI, 1½d.; BENEDICTUS QUI VENIT	0	1½
TEN OFFERTORY SENTENCES. For S A T. B.	0	3
MAGNIFICAT AND NUNC DIMITTIS in F	0	3
MAGNIFICAT AND NUNC DIMITTIS in G..	0	3
GRAND FESTIVAL MARCH for ORGAN	1	6
TEN ORIGINAL COMPOSITIONS for ORGAN	4	0

BOUND VOLUMES OF

WINCHESTER'S CHURCH MUSIC SERIES.

Nos. 1 to 50, bound in cloth, gilt, 4s.

London: Hart and Co., 22, Paternoster Row, E.C.

NEW TUNES (7) for SCHOOL FESTIVALS, by Caleb Simper, Cuthbert Harris, R. H. Wilson, &c. Music, 7s. per 100. Words, 2s per 100. Special title-page for quantities. Send stamp for sample to Sunday School Union, 1, Piccadilly, Manchester.

Now Ready. On the 1st of each Month. 228 Cols. 2d.; Post-free, 3½d.

MUSICAL OPINION and MUSIC TRADE REVIEW. 150, Holborn Bars, E.C.

Digitized by Google

NEW EASTER MUSIC, &c.,
By CALEB SIMPER.

*THANKS BE TO GOD. New. 5th 1,000 .. .. .. 4d.
New and attractive. Splendid Solos for Soprano (or Tenor) and Bass, with effective Choruses.
*NEW EASY COMMUNION SERVICE in D .. .. .. 4d.
Complete, with Benedictus and Agnus Dei.
NEW BENEDICITE (No. 5). 3rd 1,000 .. .. 2d.
A Congregational setting. Very melodious.
NEW STORY OF THE CROSS (No. 3).. .. .. .. 1d.
A charming arrangement, well harmonised.
*IF YE THEN BE RISEN. 5th 1,000 .. .. 4d.
Also the following universal favourites:—
*O LET YOUR SONGS BE OF HIM. 9th 1,000 .. .. 3d.
*AND BEHOLD I AM ALIVE. 10th 1,000.. .. .. 4d.
*TO HIM BE GLORY. 9th 1,000 .. .. 3d.
*KING OF KINGS. New and very popular Easter Anthem.. .. 4d.
Twenty-seventh Thousand. Now ready.
*CHRIST OUR PASSOVER. New Easter Anthem. 11th 1,000 .. 4d.
*I AM HE THAT LIVETH. 17th 1,000 .. .. 4d.
Sung at several Choral Festivals.
HE IS RISEN (87th ed.). O SING TO THE LORD (7th 1,000) each 3d.
WHY SEEK YE (25th ed.). IF WE BELIEVE (16th 1,000) .. each 3d.
AND BEHOLD THERE WAS A GREAT EARTHQUAKE. 17th 1,000 .. 3d.
THE LORD IS MY STRENGTH. 13th 1,000 .. .. 3d.
HALLELUJAH! NOW IS CHRIST RISEN. 17th 1,000.. .. .. 3d.
An easy arrangement of a portion of Handel's "Hallelujah" Chorus.
*THIS IS THE LORD'S DOING. 5th 1,000 .. .. 3d.
*AWAKE, THOU THAT SLEEPEST. 17th 1,000 .. .. 3d.
CHRIST IS RISEN. 14th edition.. .. .. 4d.
EASY HOLY COMMUNION SERVICE in E flat. 16th 1,000.. .. 4d.
*EASY HOLY COMMUNION SERVICE in G. 5th 1,000 .. .. 4d.
HOLY COMMUNION SERVICE in F. 12th edition .. .. .. 6d.
POPULAR FESTAL CHANT TE DEUM in A flat. 8th 1,000 .. 2d.
TE DEUM in G. 17th edition. 4d. TE DEUM in F. 36th edition 3d.
CELEBRATED MAGNIFICAT AND NUNC DIMITTIS in F. 79th edit. 4d.
Sung at Fifteen Choral Festivals.
FAVOURITE MAGNIFICAT AND NUNC DIM. in E flat. 29th edition 4d.
Sung at Three Choral Festivals.
MAGNIFICAT AND NUNC DIMITTIS in G. 13th edition .. .. 4d.
NEW FESTAL MAGNIFICAT AND NUNC DIM. in B flat. 3rd 1,000 4d.
*NEW MAGNIFICAT AND NUNC DIMITTIS in D. 14th edition .. 4d.
Partly in unison. Already a great favourite.
POPULAR BENEDICITES in A, B flat, F, and E flat .. .. each 2d.
TE DEUM in E flat. Easy Service. 8th edition .. .. .. 3d.
*MAGNIFICAT AND NUNC DIMITTIS (No. 6). 7th edition .. .. 4d.
*ANNIVERSARY SELECTIONS (Nos. 2 and 4) .. .. .. each 2d.
Those marked (*) are also published in Tonic Sol-fa.

A NEW BOOK OF VOLUNTARIES.
Price 1s. 6d. net.
Contains Seventeen useful, easy, and effective Pieces, written on two staves, with pedal part indicated.
Sent Post-free for P.O. or stamps, 1s. 6d.
London: WEEKES & Co., 14, Hanover Street, Regent Street, W.
Chicago, U.S.A.: CLAYTON F. SUMMY Co., 220, Wabash Avenue.

Very effective, and not difficult.
EDWYN A. CLARE'S
NEW AND ATTRACTIVE
EASTER ANTHEMS.
CHRIST SHALL GIVE THEE LIGHT
8th 1,000. Price 3d. Very pleasing, easy, and melodious.
THANKS BE TO GOD
7th 1,000. Price 4d.
Contains melodious and expressive Solos for Bass and Soprano (or Tenor), with two animated, imitative, and telling Choruses. Also,
HE IS RISEN (13th 1,000). WHY SEEK YE (10th 1,000) .. each 3d.
HALLELUJAH! NOW IS CHRIST RISEN. 8th 1,000 .. .. .. 3d.
NOW IS CHRIST RISEN. 8th 1,000 .. .. 3d.
THE LORD REIGNETH. 5th 1,000 (Tonic Sol-fa, 2d.) .. .. 3d.
PRAISE THE LORD, O JERUSALEM. 17th 1,000 .. .. .. 3d.
A popular and easy Anthem, suitable for any season.
MAGNIFICAT AND NUNC DIMITTIS in D. 9th 1,000 .. .. 4d.
Sung at a Choir Festival at Petersham, New South Wales.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

MAUNDER'S
CHURCH MUSIC FOR EASTER.

	O.N.	Tonic.
Anthem—Christ is risen	3d.	2d.
" We declare unto you	3d.	2d.
Communion Service in G	8d.
Evening Service in C	3d.	1½d.
" " D	3d.
" " G	3d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.
Specimens free from J. H. MAUNDER, San Remo, Bromley, Kent.

Just Published.
(No. 34 of "The Bach Choir Magazine.")
HODIE CHRISTUS NATUS EST
MOTET FOR FIVE VOICES
BY
J. P. SWEELINCK.
EDITED (FROM "CANTIONES SACRÆ," ANTWERP, 1619) BY W. BARCLAY SQUIRE.
Price Sixpence.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

POPULAR FESTIVAL ANTHEMS
BY
E. A. SYDENHAM.

THE LORD IS MY LIGHT ..	(Tonic Sol-fa, 1½d.)	3d.
GREAT IS THE LORD ..	(Ditto, 1½d.)	3d.
O GIVE THANKS	(Ditto, 1½d.)	3d.
SING UNTO THE LORD ..	(Ditto, 1½d.)	3d.

The above Anthems are especially suitable for Church Festivals.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

RIDE ON! RIDE ON IN MAJESTY
HYMN FOR PASSION SUNDAY
Words by the Very Rev. DEAN MILMAN
SET TO MUSIC BY ARTHUR HENRY BROWN.
Price Three-Halfpence.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

SUITABLE FOR EASTER.
RESURGAM
A SACRED CANTATA
BY
JOSEPH C. BRIDGE, M.A., D.MUS.,
Organist of Chester Cathedral.
(Performed with great success at the Chester Festival, 1897.)
Vocal Score, One Shilling and Sixpence. Full Score and Band Parts can be had on loan from the Composer.
The work takes thirty minutes in performance, and the Solos and Choruses are within the powers of an ordinary good Church Choir. The Solo parts are for Contralto and Tenor, but may be sung by boys if necessary.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

EASTER EVE
A SACRED SONG
WITH VIOLIN AND ORGAN OBBLIGATO
Words by CATHARINE ARMSTRONG
MUSIC BY
CHARLES GOUNOD.
Two Shillings net.
Keys, G, A (compass, C to E), B flat, and C.
London: PATERSON and SONS, 26, Castle Street, Berners Street, W.

THE MAN OF SORROWS. Service for Lent or Good Friday. Great success. "Admirable." "Simple but impressive." "Most effective composition." Either notation, 6d. (Free copy from Composer, E. MASON, Mus.B., Arbroath.)
London: WEEKES and Co., 14, Hanover Street, W.

EASTER ANTHEM, composed by T. MEE PATTISON, I KNOW THAT MY REDEEMER LIVETH. Two Choruses and Bass Solo. Price Threepence.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

I WILL RANSOM THEM. A very bright and cheerful Anthem for Easter, with Bass and Tenor Soli and Chorus. By FRANK ADLAM. Price 3d.
London: HART and Co., 22, Paternoster Row, E.C.

BENEDICITE, OMNIA OPERA in F. By FRANK ADLAM. Price 3d. A new and interesting arrangement. Very pretty.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

CASSOCKS, BLACK and COLOURED, tailor-made Surplices, Stoles, Altar Linen, Bags. Priest's wife has large stock ready. Cassocks and Surplices cut and placed for making. Apply, letter only, Surplice, 6, Southampton Street, Strand, W.C.

Digitized by Google

MUSIC FOR LENT.

THE STORY OF THE CROSS

FOR VOICES AND ORGAN

FOUR SETTINGS

With Short Interludes, giving opportunity for Meditation

THE WORDS BY

THE REV. E. MONRO

SET TO MUSIC BY

J. STAINER
MYLES B. FOSTER
ARTHUR SOMERVELL
AND
J. VARLEY ROBERTS.

Price Threepence each setting. Tonic Sol-fa, Three-Halfpence.
Words only, price 1s. 6d. per 100.
Large Type Edition, 2s. 6d. per 100.

THE CRUCIFIXION

A MEDITATION

ON THE

Sacred Passion of the Holy Redeemer

THE WORDS SELECTED AND WRITTEN BY THE

REV. W. J. SPARROW-SIMPSON, M.A.

SET TO MUSIC BY

J. STAINER.

Vocal Score, paper cover, 1s. 6d.; paper boards, 2s.
Tonic Sol-fa, Ninepence.
Words only, with Hymn Tunes, Twopence each.
Words, complete, 10s. per 100; Words of Hymns, 5s. per 100.

THE REQUIEM

FROM

"MORS ET VITA"

BY

CH. GOUNOD.

Price 2s. 6d.; paper boards, 3s. Full Score, £2 2s.

THE LAST NIGHT AT BETHANY

A SHORT CHURCH CANTATA

THE WORDS WRITTEN AND COMPILED BY

JOSEPH BENNETT

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

C. LEE WILLIAMS.

Price 2s.; paper boards, 2s. 6d.
Tonic Sol-fa, One Shilling.
String Parts, 8s. 6d.; Wind Parts, 15s. 6d.; Full Score, MS.
Words only, 7s. 6d. per 100.

SAVIOUR OF THE WORLD

A SACRED CANTATA

THE WORDS WRITTEN AND ARRANGED FROM HOLY SCRIPTURE BY

FREDERIC E. WEATHERLY, M.A.

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

ARTHUR E. DYER,

Mus. Doc., Oxon.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence.

THE CROSS OF CHRIST

CANTATA FOR LENT AND PASSION-TIDE

WORDS SELECTED FROM THE HOLY SCRIPTURES, INTERSPERSED WITH APPROPRIATE HYMNS, BY

W. MAURICE ADAMS

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

THOMAS ADAMS

(Organist and Director of the Music at St. Alban's, Holborn).

Price One Shilling.
Tonic Sol-fa Edition, price Sixpence.
Words only, 7s. 6d. per 100.

Also, separately from the above,

NEARER, MY GOD, TO THEE

Anthem for Soprano Solo and Chorus. Price Threepence.

GETHSEMANE

A CHURCH CANTATA

THE WORDS WRITTEN AND COMPILED BY

JOSEPH BENNETT

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

C. LEE WILLIAMS.

Price Two Shillings.
Paper boards, Two Shillings and Sixpence.
Words only, 7s. 6d. per 100.
String Parts, 10s. 6d. Wind Parts and Full Score, MS.

IS IT NOTHING TO YOU

AN EASY CANTATA

For use during the Season of Lent, and on Good Friday, specially adapted for Country Choirs

BY THE

REV. E. V. HALL, M.A.

Price Eightpence. Tonic Sol-fa, Threepence.
Words, with Music to the Hymns, price Twopence.

PASSION MUSIC

FROM THE ORATORIO "ST. PETER"

BY

SIR JULIUS BENEDICT.

Vocal Score, One Shilling and Sixpence.

FOR GOOD FRIDAY.

PARAPHRASE

OF THE

ANIMA CHRISTI

"SOUL OF JESU, MAKE ME HOLY"

SET TO MUSIC BY

W. H. STOCKS.

Price Three-Halfpence.

LEAD, KINDLY LIGHT

HYMN BY

JOHN HENRY NEWMAN

THE TUNE COMPOSED BY

C. H. PURDAY.

Price One Penny.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Digitized by Google

MUSIC FOR LENT.

THE PASSION OF OUR LORD. (According to St. Matthew.) J. S. BACH. Octavo, paper cover, 2s. 6d.

THE PASSION OF OUR LORD. J. S. BACH. Abridged, as used at St. Paul's Cathedral. Octavo, 1s. 6d. Book of Words, with Music to the Chorales, 6d.

THE PASSION OF OUR LORD. (According to St. John.) J. S. BACH. Octavo, paper cover, 2s.; paper boards, 2s. 6d.; cloth, gilt, 4s.

THE PASSION OF CHRIST. G. F. HANDEL. Octavo, 3s.; paper boards, 3s. 6d.; cloth, gilt, 5s.

THE PASSION OF OUR LORD. (The Seven Words of Our Saviour on the Cross.) J. HAYDN. Octavo, 2s.; paper boards, 2s. 6d.; cloth, gilt, 4s.

THE PASSION OF OUR LORD. (The Seven Words of Our Saviour on the Cross.) CH. GOUNOD. Octavo, 1s.

THE PASSION OF OUR LORD. ("Der Tod Jesu.") C. H. GRAUN. Octavo, 2s.; paper boards, 2s. 6d.; cloth, gilt, 4s.

THE PASSION OF OUR LORD. HEINRICH SCHÜTZ. Octavo, 1s.

OUT OF DARKNESS. (Psalm cxxx.) For Soli, Chorus, and Orchestra. GEORG HENSCHEL (Op. 30). 2s. 6d.

OUT OF DARKNESS (De Profundis) (Psalm cxxx.) For Soli, Chorus, and Orchestra. Composed by CH. GOUNOD. English or Latin words. Octavo, 1s.; paper boards, 1s. 6d.; Full Score, 15s.; String Parts, 4s. 6d.; Wind Parts, 7s.; Vocal Parts, 3s.

ZION'S WAYS DO LANGUISH. Soprano Solo and Chorus, from "Gallia" (Motet). CH. GOUNOD. Octavo, 1s.

THE MISERERE, &c., as used in St. Paul's Cathedral Lenten Services. Arranged by J. STAINER. Octavo, 3d.

MISERERE MEI, DEUS. The Music composed by J. BARNBY. Octavo, 3d.

MISERERE MEI, DEUS. Set to the well-known Ancient Chant, as arranged and harmonised by VINCENT NOVELLO; from the Appendix to the Accompanying Harmonies to the Brief Directory of Plain-song, by the Rev. THOMAS HELMORE, M.A. Price 2d.

MISERERE MEI, DEUS. The Music composed by EDGAR PETTMAN. Price 1½d.

THE BENEDICITE

SET TO MUSIC BY THE FOLLOWING

MODERN COMPOSERS.

GEORGE J. BENNETT (in E flat)	1½d.
GEORGE J. BENNETT (in G)	1½d.
GEORGE J. BENNETT (in D)	3d.
W. T. BEST	3d.
HUGH BLAIR	1½d.
J. F. BRIDGE, JAMES TURLE, and Dr. HAYES	1½d.
H. B. C.	1½d.
J. W. ELLIOTT	2d.
M. B. ELLIOTT (in G)	1½d.
ALFRED J. EYRE (with a Quadruple Chant for the Te Deum)	2d.
ALFRED J. EYRE (No. 2, in F)	1½d.
MYLES B. FOSTER (in F, Chant Form)	4d.
PERCY H. FROST	2d.
HENRY GADSBY (in G, Chant Form)	1½d.
F. E. GLADSTONE (Chant Form)	3d.
F. E. GLADSTONE (Unison)	1½d.
F. A. J. HERVEY (in A flat). From the Canticles (second set)	2d.
W. HUGHES	1½d.
FREDERICK ILIFFE (No. 1)	1½d.
C. HARFORD LLOYD	2d.
GEORGE C. MARTIN (No. 1, in F; No. 2, in E flat; No. 3, in G) each	4d.
T. R. MATTHEWS	1½d.
C. E. MILLER (second setting)	2d.
EDGAR PETTMAN (No. 1, in C; No. 2, set to Double Chants). Cathedral Psalter pointing	2d.
EDGAR PETTMAN (in E flat)	1½d.
J. VARLEY ROBERTS (in B flat)	4d.
BOYTON SMITH (in A flat)	1½d.
CHAS. W. SMITH (in C). For S.A.T.T.B., also simplified form for S.A.T.B.	6d.
J. STAINER and B. BLAXLAND	1½d.
J. STAINER, R. DE LACY, A. GIBBS, and F. CHAMPNEYS	1½d.
J. STAINER, W. WINN, and F. WALKER	1½d.
J. STAINER (in D). From the Canticles (second set)	2d.
J. BARNBY JOHN FOSTER MONTEM SMITH (two settings) J. TURLE (two settings) C. A. WICKES (two settings)	1½d.
JOHN E. WEST (in C)	1½d.
W. G. WOOD (in D)	1½d.

MUSIC FOR EASTER.

HYMNS FOR EASTER.

J. BARNBY. CHRIST THE LORD IS RISEN TO-DAY	1½d.
W. T. BEST. JESUS CHRIST IS RISEN	3d.
DR. IONS. JESUS CHRIST IS RISEN TO-DAY	1½d.
J. B. CALKIN. LIGHT'S GLITT'RING MORN BEDECKS	1½d.
V. NOVELLO. JESUS CHRIST IS RISEN TO-DAY	1½d.

NINE HYMNS WITH TUNES FROM "THE HYMNARY" .. 1d.

Christ the Lord is risen to-day .. .. .. G. J. Elvey.
Far be sorrow, tears, and sighing .. .. C. Steggall.
Welcome, happy morning! age to age shall say A. Sullivan.
Come, ye faithful, raise the strain .. .. A. Sullivan.
At the Lamb's high feast we sing .. .. German.
The day of Resurrection .. .. H. Smart.
Jesus Christ is risen to-day .. .. Ch. Gounod.
O Blessed Trinity .. .. Old Melody.
Soon the fiery sun ascending .. .. .. German.

EASTER HYMN

(MANE PRIMA SABBATI)

SET TO MUSIC FOR

SOPRANO AND TENOR SOLI, CHORUS, AND ORCHESTRA (OR ORGAN)

BY

GEORGE J. BENNETT.

Composed for the Festival of the Sons of the Clergy, St. Paul's Cathedral, 1895.

Price One Shilling.

CAROLS FOR EASTER.

REV. T. HELMORE. CAROLS FOR EASTER-TIDE. Words, 1½d.; Melody, 6d. .. .. Vocal score 1s.

J. T. FIELD. FOUR EASTER CAROLS .. .. 2d.
The Crown is on the Victor's brow.
Christ is risen!
Welcome, happy morning.
Easter flowers are blooming bright.

E. G. MONK. SING THE BATTLE SHARP AND GLORIOUS. Carol 1½d.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Digitized by Google

NEW EASTER ANTHEMS.

Just Published.

WHEN THE SABBATH WAS PAST

COMPOSED BY

MYLES B. FOSTER.

Price Three-Halfpence; Tonic Sol-fa, Three-Halfpence.

I HEARD A GREAT VOICE

COMPOSED BY

GERARD F. COBB.

Price Threepence; Tonic Sol-fa, Three-Halfpence.

ALLELUIA! NOW IS CHRIST RISEN

COMPOSED BY

THOMAS ADAMS.

Price Threepence; Tonic Sol-fa, Three-Halfpence.

I WILL GO UNTO THE ALTAR OF GOD

COMPOSED BY

CUTHBERT HARRIS.

Price Threepence; Tonic Sol-fa, Three-Halfpence.

Above all praise and all majesty	Mendelssohn	1½d.
*Alleluia! now is Christ risen	T. Adams	3d.
*All men, all things	Mendelssohn	4d.
As Christ was raised	G. A. Macfarren	2d.
*As it began to dawn	M. B. Foster	1½d.
As it began to dawn	C. Vincent	3d.
*As Moses lifted up the serpent	F. Gostelow	3d.
As we have borne	J. Barnby	1½d.
At the Lamb's high feast	E. V. Hall	3d.
At the Sepulchre	H. W. Wareing	4d.
*Awake, thou that sleepest	J. Stainer	6d.
*Awake up, my glory	J. Barnby	1½d.
Awake up, my glory	B. Haynes	1½d.
Awake up, my glory	M. Wise	3d.
Be glad, O ye righteous	H. Smart	4d.
*Behold, the Angel of the Lord	B. Tours	1½d.
*Behold the Lamb—All glory to the Lamb	Spohr	1½d.
*Blessed be the God and Father	S. S. Wesley	4d.
Blessed be Thou	Kent	4d.
Blessing and glory	Boyce	1½d.
*Blessing, glory	B. Tours	4d.
Break forth into joy	J. Barnby	1½d.
*Break forth into joy	S. Coleridge-Taylor	3d.
*Break forth into joy	T. R. Prentice	6d.
*Break forth into joy	B. Steane	3d.
*Christ being raised from the dead	G. J. Elvey	1½d.
Christ being raised from the dead	S. Webbe	1½d.
Christ both died and rose	E. W. Naylor	3d.
Christ is risen	G. B. J. Aitken	3d.
Christ is risen	J. M. Crament	3d.
Christ is risen	G. J. Elvey	1½d.
*Christ is risen	E. H. Thorne	1½d.
*Christ is risen	J. V. Roberts	3d.
*Christ our Passover	J. Goss	1½d.
Christ our Passover	E. V. Hall	3d.
Christ our Passover	G. A. Macfarren	2d.
*Christ our Passover	B. Tours	1½d.
*Christ the Lord is risen to-day	E. V. Hall	3d.
Come, ye faithful	E. V. Hall	3d.
For it became Him	O. King	1½d.
For us the Christ	Ch. Gounod	3d.
*From Thy love as a Father	Ch. Gounod	1½d.
Give thanks unto God	Spohr	4d.
God hath appointed a day	B. Tours	1½d.
God, Who is rich in mercy	G. M. Garrett	1½d.
*Hallelujah!	Handel	2d.
Hallelujah! Christ is risen	B. Steane	3d.
*Hearken unto Me	M. B. Foster	1½d.
*He is risen	H. Gadsby	1½d.
I declare to you the Gospel	W. A. C. Cruickshank	4d.
*If we believe that Jesus died	J. Goss	1½d.
If we believe that Jesus died	G. A. Macfarren	2d.
If ye then be risen	J. Naylor	3d.
*I heard a great voice	G. F. Cobb	3d.
I will alway give thanks	J. B. Calkin	1½d.
*I will alway give thanks	J. Clarke-Whitfeld	3d.
*I will go unto the Altar of God	C. Harris	3d.
I will greatly rejoice	W. A. C. Cruickshank	4d.
*I will magnify Thee	J. B. Calkin	4d.
I will magnify Thee	B. L. Selby	1½d.
*I will mention	A. Sullivan	6d.
I will sing of Thy power	M. Greene	4d.
*I will sing of Thy power	A. Sullivan	1½d.
Jesus Christ is risen to-day	O. King	4d.
Let God arise	M. Greene	6d.
Lord, before Thy footstool bending	Spohr	3d.
Lord Christ! when Thou hadst overcome	Haydn	1½d.
*Lord, Thy arm hath been uplifted	Spohr	2d.
*Lo, the winter is past	B. Farebrother	3d.
Lo, the winter is past	H. Gadsby	3d.
Magnify His Name	G. C. Martin	4d.
My beloved spake	H. Purcell	6d.
My heart was glad	A. Carnall	4d.
Not unto us, O Lord	H. Gadsby	6d.
*Not unto us, O Lord	T. A. Walmisley	1½d.
*Now is Christ risen	G. B. Allen	1½d.
*Now is Christ risen	J. E. West	1½d.
*Now on the first day of the week	H. Lahee	1½d.
O clap your hands	M. Greene	4d.
*O clap your hands	J. Stainer	6d.
O clap your hands	E. H. Thorne	6d.
O clap your hands	T. T. Trimnell	3d.
*O come, let us sing	M. B. Foster	3d.
*O give thanks	J. Goss	3d.
O give thanks	S. S. Wesley	4d.
*On the first day of the week	E. M. Lott	1½d.
Open to me the gates	F. Adlam	4d.
*Praise His awful Name	Spohr	2d.
Praise Jehovah	Mendelssohn	4d.
*Rejoice in the Lord	J. B. Calkin	3d.
*Rejoice in the Lord	G. J. Elvey	1½d.
Rejoice in the Lord	G. C. Martin	6d.
Rejoice, O ye people	Mendelssohn	1½d.
*Sing praises unto the Lord	W. A. C. Cruickshank	1½d.
*Sing praises unto the Lord	Ch. Gounod	6d.
Sing to the Lord	Mendelssohn	8d.
Thanks be to God	J. W. Grifton	3d.
The Day of Resurrection	E. V. Hall	3d.
*The end of the Sabbath	A. Carnall	1½d.
*The first day of the week	B. Steane	3d.
The Lord hath brought us	E. H. Thorne	3d.
*The Lord hath done great things	H. Smart	4d.
*The Lord is King	J. Pittman	1½d.
*The Lord is King	T. T. Trimnell	4d.
The Lord is my strength	S. Coleridge-Taylor	3d.
*The Lord is my strength	W. H. Monk	1½d.
*The Lord is my strength	V. Novello	1½d.
*The Lord is my strength	H. Smart	1½d.
*The Lord is risen	G. M. Garrett	4d.
*The strain upraise	A. Sullivan	1½d.
*The strife is o'er	B. Steane	1½d.
*They have taken away my Lord	J. Stainer	1½d.
This is the day	S. C. Cooke	3d.
This is the day	E. V. Hall	4d.
This is the day	G. A. Macfarren	2d.
This is the day	A. W. Marchant	3d.
*This is the day	J. Sewell	2d.
This is the day	J. Turle	3d.
When Christ, Who is our life, shall appear	J. V. Roberts	2d.
When my soul fainted within me	J. F. Bridge	1½d.
*When the Sabbath was past	M. B. Foster	1½d.
*Who is like unto Thee?	A. Sullivan	6d.
*Why rage fiercely the heathen?	Mendelssohn	6d.
Why seek ye the living?	A. Alexander	3d.
Why seek ye the living? (Two-part)	M. B. Foster	3d.
Why seek ye the living?	E. J. Hopkins	1½d.
Why seek ye the living?	F. Peel	4d.
Worthy the Lamb—Hallelujah!	Crotch	3d.
*Worthy is the Lamb	J. F. Barnett	1½d.
*Worthy is the Lamb	Handel	2d.

*Anthems marked thus * to be had in Tonic Sol-fa, 1d., 1½d., and 2d. each.*

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Digitized by Google

Just Published.

THE

CATHEDRAL
Prayer Book and Psalter

(WITH WELSH WORDS).

No. 5. THE PSALTER, WITH CANTICLES AND PROPER PSALMS, set to appropriate Chants, with Morning and Evening Prayer, &c.

DEMY 8vo, CLOTH, 2s. 6d.

TONIC SOL-FA EDITION, in the Press.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

WREATHS FOR OUR GRAVES

CHORAL SONG

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

L. F. MASSEY

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

ARTHUR SULLIVAN.

Price Sixpence; Tonic Sol-fa, Threepence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Now Ready.

THE

WESTMINSTER ABBEY HYMN-BOOK

COMPILED UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE DEAN OF WESTMINSTER,

BY THE

REV. JOHN TROUTBECK, D.D.,

Priest in Ordinary to the Queen, and Precentor of Westminster.

WITH TUNES

COMPILED AND ARRANGED UNDER THE MUSICAL EDITORSHIP OF

FREDERICK BRIDGE,

MUS. DOC.,

Organist and Master of the Choristers of Westminster Abbey, Gresham Professor of Music.

Containing all the best known and most popular tunes, in addition to upwards of

ONE HUNDRED NEW TUNES

now published for the first time, many having been written expressly for the work by BARNBY, BRIDGE, COWEN, MYLES B. FOSTER, GARRETT, GOUNOD, MACKENZIE, MARTIN, MAUNDER, W. H. MONK, PARRY, STAINER, TOURS, WEST, and others.

Demy 8vo, cloth. Price Four Shillings.
Hymns only, price One Shilling.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

To be performed, on March 19, by the Queen's Hall Choral Society. Conductor, Mr. HENRY J. WOOD.

A NEW OCTAVO EDITION

OF

THE HOLY SUPPER OF THE APOSTLES

(DAS LIEBESMAHL DER APOSTEL)

A Scriptural Scene

FOR MEN'S VOICES, WITH FULL ORCHESTRA

WRITTEN AND COMPOSED BY

RICHARD WAGNER.

Price Two Shillings.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

TE DEUM LAUDAMUS AND BENEDICTUS

(CHANT FORM)

Set to Music in the Key of A flat

FOR MEN'S VOICES

BY

GEORGE C. MARTIN.

Price Sixpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

THOU WILT REMEMBER US

SACRED SONG

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

THE REV. H. BONAR

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

WILLEM COENEN.

In C, D flat, and E flat. Price Two Shillings each.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

VEXILLA REGIS

(THE ROYAL BANNERS FORWARD GO)

The Latin Words from "The Seven Great Hymns."

Translated by the Rev. J. M. NEALE, D.D.

SET TO MUSIC BY

H. R. SHELLEY.

Vocal Score, paper cover, Two Shillings and Sixpence.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

W. JOHNSON'S ANTHEMS, &c.

	s.	d.
Ecce Homo (Lenten Cantata)	1	0
This is the Day (Easter). 5th 1,000	0	3
I will not leave (Whitsuntide). 6th 1,000	0	3
He hath made the earth (Harvest)	0	3
I will magnify (Harvest). 5th 1,000	0	3
In the beginning (Christmas)	0	2
Four Kyries. 2nd Edition	0	2

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

HUMOROUS PART-SONG FOR S.A.T.B.

TOM, THE PIPER'S SON. By A. BEN ALLEN,

Composer of "Dickory, dickory, dock." Price 3d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

Just Published.

Accepted for performance at Cincinnati, Boston, Springfield, and Worcester, U.S.A.

THE

Legend of St. Christopher

A DRAMATIC ORATORIO

FOR SOLO VOICES, CHORUS, ORCHESTRA, AND ORGAN

THE VERSE BY

ISABELLA PARKER

THE MUSIC BY

HORATIO PARKER.

(Op. 43.)

Price Five Shillings.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

PRODUCED AT THE BIRMINGHAM TRIENNIAL MUSICAL FESTIVAL, 1897.

HAMLET

SYMPHONIC POEM

COMPOSED BY

EDWARD GERMAN.

String Parts, 6s. 6d.; Wind Parts and Full Score, MS.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

Produced at the Philharmonic Society's Concert, June 3, 1897; to be performed at the Queen's Hall Saturday Symphony Concerts, March 5, 1898; and at the Bach Choir Concert, March 8, 1898.

SYMPHONIC VARIATIONS

FOR FULL ORCHESTRA

COMPOSED BY

C. HUBERT H. PARRY.

Full Score, 10s.; String Parts, 4s. 6d.; Wind Parts, 8s. 6d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co

DR. ROLAND ROGERS' NEW PART-SONGS FOR S.A.T.B.

THREE FISHERS WENT SAILING

Words by Kingsley.

Old Notation, Fourpence; Sol-fa, Twopence.

AND

THE STORM

Words by Adelaide Procter.

Old Notation, Fourpence; Sol-fa, Twopence.

(Composed, by request, for the Batley Annual Competition, Nov., 1897.)

"An immense success."

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published. 8vo. 3d.

THREE MERRY FISHERS

Humorous Part-Song for S.A.T.B.

BY

W. W. PEARSON,

Composer of "Three Doughtie Men."

London and New York Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE MUSIC TO J. M. BARRIE'S

THE LITTLE MINISTER

Composed for the production of the Play at the Haymarket Theatre November, 1897

BY

A. C. MACKENZIE.

(Op. 57.)

THREE DANCES

(ENTR'ACTES)

1. LILT. 2. PASTORAL DANCE. 3. ÉCOSSAISE.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence.

String Parts for Full or Small Orchestra, Four Shillings and Sixpence.

Wind Parts and Full Score, MS.

Military Band Arrangement (in the Press).

THE OVERTURE

Arranged for Pianoforte Duet by the Composer.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence.

String Parts for Full or Small Orchestra, Four Shillings and Sixpence.

Wind Parts and Full Score, MS.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Will be Published immediately.

THE SONGS IN DON GIOVANNI

COMPOSED BY MOZART.

EDITED, WITH MARKS OF EXPRESSION AND PHRASING,

BY

ALBERTO RANDEGGER.

PREFACE.

Mozart's keen appreciation of the subtleties of the words he set to music is often so evident that, without a thorough understanding of their significance, it would be impossible to sing the music—to the spirit of which the words are closely allied—in strict accordance with the composer's intention.

With a view to meeting this difficulty a special English version has been adapted, to express, as nearly as possible, the literal meaning of the original Italian text.

In these translations no attempt has been made at versification, and they do not claim any literary merit, but they may be used in singing the songs, if desired.

In any case they will prove valuable to singers who are not familiar with the Italian language.

The alterations, cadences, &c., added in small type over the original music, are used by many eminent artists. The Editor, however, does not hold himself responsible for them, and leaves their adoption or rejection to the taste and discretion of the singer.

BOOK 1.

Soprano (Donna Anna and Donna Elvira).

1. NON MI DIR. 2. MI TRADÌ.

BOOK 2.

Soprano (Zerlina).

1. VEDRAI CARINO. 2. BATTI, BATTI, O BEL MASETTO.

BOOK 3.

Tenor (Don Ottavio).

1. IL MIO TESORO. 2. DALLA SUA PACE.

BOOK 4.

Baritone and Bass (Don Giovanni and Leporello).

1. DEH, VIENI ALLA FINESTRA.
2. FIN CH'HAN DAL VINO.
3. MADAMINA.

Price Two Shillings each Book.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

THE

VILLAGE ORGANIST

A SERIES OF PIECES FOR CHURCH AND GENERAL USE

EDITED BY

J. STAINER

AND

F. CUNNINGHAM WOODS.

PRICE ONE SHILLING EACH BOOK.

Books 1 to 6, elegantly bound in one Vol., cloth, 6s.; Books 7 to 12, elegantly bound in one Vol., cloth, 6s.

DAILY TELEGRAPH.

A series entitled "The Village Organist" is the result of a peculiarly happy thought. . . . The immediate object of these shilling books is, as may be gathered from the title, to make provision for the needs of non-professional organists and others whose skill is not equal to the performance of more elaborate pieces . . . such an enterprise as we have in "The Village Organist" is calculated to do more good than many others of greater ambition, and we congratulate those to whom it appeals upon effectual attention to their wants. . . . Voluntaries in abundance, all adapted to Church use, and all well written and pleasing, if not on an absolute equality of merit. The time each piece takes in performance is carefully noted—a very useful feature, as organists well know. . . . It is easy to imagine what comfort these books will give to perplexed parish organists, embarrassed between what they cannot play well and what they disdain to play at all. For this reason, we bestow upon "The Village Organist" our heartiest commendation.

DAILY NEWS.

"The Village Organist," a series of pieces for Church and general use, edited by Dr. J. Stainer and F. Cunningham Woods, is a new serial of no mean importance. As very aptly remarked in the preface, "There exists already an abundant supply of original compositions and arrangements suitable for performance on large and comprehensive organs, but the many organists who have only a small instrument at their disposal in country churches often have some difficulty in finding short and easy voluntaries suitable for their own use and for the instruction of their pupils." This new publication promises to meet this need. Seven books have already appeared, each containing nine or ten pieces secular and sacred; the time required for their performance ranges from one to five minutes. We have here represented all the best masters, ancient, and modern. An unqualified success may be anticipated for this useful publication.

BRISTOL TIMES AND MIRROR.

Another new publication by the enterprising Berners Street firm is "The Village Organist," a series of pieces for church and general use edited by J. Stainer and F. Cunningham Woods. . . . Those responsible for the work have brought together short and easy compositions of past and present musicians, to which are added instructions and directions as to registering and pedaling that must make the books valuable as instructors, as well as useful for practice and church purposes. Twelve numbers, each one containing from six to ten compositions, are ready. They are to be continued in shilling parts. "The Village Organist" is one of the best works of the kind we have seen, and should find ready favour with those whose wants and capabilities it is intended to meet.

CHURCH FAMILY NEWS.

The eminent Berners Street firm of Church music publishers have undoubtedly conferred a great boon on country organists, for which, no doubt, they will be grateful, by the issue of the above work. . . . Village organists have frequently to cast about with some perplexity for "just the thing" to serve them as voluntaries. There is plenty to be had, on the one hand, of difficult music, making considerable demands on executive skill and instrumental resources, and on the other of light, trashy, it may be frivolous, music. . . . What they want is music, good but moderately easy, of a style suitable for Church use, and pervaded with a devotional tone. The pieces, too, need to be short and so arranged as to be effective on a one-manual or two-manual instrument. All these conditions organists will find fulfilled in the book now before us. Most of the pieces are by well-known living composers, the others are excerpts, judiciously chosen, from the great masters. The arrangements of the various pieces are simply admirable, and as may be expected from the able hands entrusted with the work of editing, while the general get-up of the book—type, paper, and print—are among the best of the Messrs. Novello and Co.'s productions. We have nothing but praise for this promising precursor of what we think will prove a grateful boon to the persons most concerned—viz., village organists, whose special wants hitherto have been strangely too much neglected and uncatered for.

LEEDS MERCURY.

Messrs. Novello also send out a quantity of organ music through "The Village Organist," a series of simple compositions by various composers that will doubtless find favour with those in need of short and easy voluntaries with only a small instrument at command. To each piece is attached the length of time its performance involves.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

SIX PIECES

FOR

THE ORGAN

COMPOSED BY

J. STAINER.

CONTENTS.

I. Andante.
II. Prelude. Fughetta.
III. Adagio.
IV. On a Bass.
V. Impromptu.
VI. Rêverie.

PRICE FOUR SHILLINGS.

DAILY TELEGRAPH.

"Six Pieces for the Organ" are from the experienced and scholarly pen of Sir John Stainer. The book opens with a meditative Andante of great beauty—a movement of which one does not readily tire. In succession we have a capital Prelude and Fughetta, an Adagio of varied character and effect; a very interesting and ingenious movement "On a Bass," an Impromptu, and a Rêverie, which brings the set to a worthy end. No organist should be without these excellent pieces, which are likely to become popular.

DAILY CHRONICLE.

In Sir John Stainer's "Six Pieces for the Organ" are exhibited taste, vigour, and the perfect knowledge of the resources of the instrument that only practical experience can bring. The Fughetta following the Prelude is a particularly pleasing example of this able musician's ripened manner.

MORNING ADVERTISER.

In organ music Messrs. Novello are always rich in quantity and quality, and among the pieces before us which may be specially recommended for the student and the Church are six by Sir John Stainer.

CHURCH TIMES.

"Six Pieces for the Organ," by John Stainer, are all alike admirable, and will charm every true musician. The first, third, fifth, and sixth are sweetly smooth and tuneful. A sprightly Fughetta of excellent subject forms No. 3. "On a Bass," No. 4, is remarkably varied, and constitutes a fine and telling piece.

BRISTOL TIMES AND MIRROR.

Sir John Stainer has written for the organ six charming pieces—an Andante, a Prelude and Fughetta, an Adagio, a piece founded on a Bass theme, an Impromptu, and a Rêverie, which are brought together in one volume.

THE SCOTSMAN.

Sir John Stainer is the writer of "Six Pieces for the Organ," which for scholarly writing and agreeable manner may be warmly commended.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

WORKS by F. DAVENPORT, Professor of Harmony and Composition at the Royal Academy of Music. Published under the authority of the Committee of the R.A.M.

ELEMENTS OF MUSIC. Crown 8vo, 1s.

"In the space of some fifty pages, the reader will find all that is necessary to be known about the pitch of notes, intervals and scales, rests, time and abbreviations, and will, we doubt not, also find how much there is of which he was ignorant concerning these subjects, although he had already flattered himself that he had mastered their elements a long time ago."—Saturday Review.

ELEMENTS OF HARMONY & COUNTERPOINT. Crown 8vo, 2s. 6d.

This Work is intended to meet a growing demand for a more concise and simpler exposition of the Day theory. It includes as much of the science of Counterpoint as is necessary for students who enter for the Royal Academy, Local, and other similar examinations.

London: LONGMANS, GREEN and Co.

Now ready. F'cap. 8vo. Cloth, 2s. 6d. Post-free.

THE RIGHTLY-PRODUCED VOICE. By E. DAVIDSON PALMER, Mus. Bac., Oxon. A theory based on facts.—Falsetto; its true nature and how it may be transformed.—The fundamental error in the training of men's voices.—Unique experiments and startling results.—The chest register in women's and boys' voices.—Decay of voice in singers; its unsuspected cause.—The old Italian method and the training of tenors. May be obtained from the AUTHOR, 2, Highwood Road, Upper Holloway, N.; or from JOSEPH WILLIAMS, 32, Great Portland Street, W.

Digitized by Google

Just Published.

TOCCATA & FUGUE in E MAJOR

(CONCERTATA)

COMPOSED BY

J. S. BACH.

Price Two Shillings.

The above piece has been selected as a test for the forthcoming Fellowship Examination of the Royal College of Organists. It is also published in the Key of C major in Book VIII. of the Organ Works of J. S. Bach, edited by J. F. Bridge and James Higgs.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

LOVE THEE?

SONG

FOR A MEDIUM VOICE

The words written by Thomas Moore

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

D. PUGHE-EVANS.

Price Two Shillings.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

CUPID'S WAY

SONG

FOR SOPRANO OR TENOR

The words written by Edward Oxenford

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

D. PUGHE-EVANS.

Price Two Shillings.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

IN DREAMLAND

SONG

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

MAUD PHILP

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

ERNEST FORD.

In B flat and D. Price Two Shillings each.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

GAVOTTE IN E

FOR THE PIANOFORTE

COMPOSED BY

G. J. ELVEY.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Second Edition.

NARCISSUS AND ECHO

CANTATA FOR CHORUS, SOLI, AND ORCHESTRA

Price 3s.; Choral Parts, 1s. each. Also,

"GOD IS OUR REFUGE" (Ps. 46)

For Chorus, Soli, and Orchestra. Price 1s.

COMPOSED BY

EDWIN C. SUCH,

Mus. Bac., Cantab.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

DON JUAN'S SERENADE

SONG FOR A BARITONE OR BASS VOICE

With Accompaniment for the Pianoforte

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

A. TOLSTOI

(English Translation by Lady Macfarren)

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

P. I. TSCHAÏKOWSKY.

Price Two Shillings.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

THREE SHORT PIECES

FOR THE

PIANOFORTE

COMPOSED BY

J. CHARLES LONG, F.R.C.O.

Contents.

1. REVERIE. 2. IL BALLO. 3. MENUETTO.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

TO COMPOSERS.

Telephone: No. 1067, Holborn.
Telegrams: "Warwickite," London.

THE WARWICK PRESS, Limited,

6, Warwick Mansions, Warwick Court, Holborn, London, W.C.
Works: Walworth, S.E.

Music Printers,
Music Publishers
(Wholesale).

We invite correspondence from Composers with view to publication of their works. Composers' MSS. revised and prepared for Press. Low prices for Printing.

G. RICORDI AND CO.

Best Italian MANDOLINES (Vinaccia, Salvino, &c.).
Best Italian VIOLINS (Stradivarius Model).
Best Italian STRINGS.
Best Italian PLECTRUMS.

PRICE LIST MAY BE HAD ON APPLICATION TO G. RICORDI AND CO.

RICORDI'S "SPECIAL" EDITION

Of VOCAL TUTORS, SOLFEGGI, and EXERCISES,

With Pianoforte Accompaniment (Full Music Size), as used at the Royal College of Music, the Royal Academy of Music, the Guildhall School of Music, and by all the leading Professors of Singing.

Vol.		Net Price s. d.
1.	G. NAVA.—Elementary Solfeggi for Medium Voice. Book I.	1 6
2.	—— Elementary Solfeggi for Medium Voice. Book II. ..	1 6
3.	—— Elementary Solfeggi for Medium Voice. Book III. ..	1 6
4.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Contralto and Bass. Book I	1 6
5.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Contralto and Bass. Book II.	1 6
6.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Contralto and Bass. Complete	2 6
7.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Mezzo-Sop. and Bar. Book I.	1 6
8.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Mezzo-Sop. and Bar. Book II.	1 6
9.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Mezzo-Soprano and Baritone. Complete	2 6
10.	F. LAMPERTI.—Daily Exercises	1 0
11.	—— First Lessons in Singing for Soprano, Mezzo-Soprano or Tenor. Book I.	1 6
12.	—— First Lessons in Singing for Soprano, Mezzo-Soprano or Tenor. Book II.	1 6
13.	—— First Lessons in Singing for Soprano, Mezzo-Soprano or Tenor. Complete	2 6
14.	G. NAVA.—Fifty-one Progressive Melodies for Soprano or Tenor (Op. 36). Book I.	1 6
15.	—— Fifty-one Progressive Melodies for Soprano or Tenor (Op. 38). Book II.	1 6
16.	—— Fifty-one Progressive Melodies for Soprano or Tenor (Op. 38). Complete	2 6
17.	N. VACCAJ.—Practical Method of Italian Singing	1 6
18.	G. NAVA.—Practical Method of Vocalisation for Bass or Baritone	2 6
19.	—— Elements of Vocalisation for Soprano or Tenor ..	2 6
20.	G. CONCONE.—Fifty Singing Lessons for Medium Voice..	1 0
21.	—— Forty Singing Lessons for Bass or Baritone	1 0
22.	—— Forty Singing Lessons for Contralto	1 0

May be had of all Musicsellers, and of
G. Ricordi and Co., 265, Regent Street, London, W.

Digitized by Google

Music for Female Voices

WITH ACCOMPANIMENT FOR THE

PIANOFORTE

AND

OTHER INSTRUMENTS.

s. d.

A. C. MACKENZIE.—O THOU DIVINE URANIA'S SON. Duet for S.A., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte Duet, Triangle, and Cymbals 0 6

—— REJOICE, FOR LOVE IS LORD. Duet for S.A., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte Duet, Triangle, and Cymbals 0 4

EDWARD ELGAR.—THE SNOW. Trio for S.S.C., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte and Two Violins 0 6
Tonic Sol-fa 0 1½
Violin Parts, 6d. each.

—— FLY, SINGING BIRD. Trio for S.S.A., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte and Two Violins 0 6
Tonic Sol-fa 0 1½
Violin Parts, 6d. each.

HAMILTON CLARKE.—TO-DAY AND TO-MORROW. Trio for S.S.C., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte, Castanets, Triangle, and Tambourine 0 4
Tonic Sol-fa 0 1½

—— TO THE WOODS. Trio for S.S.C., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte, Castanets, Triangle, and Tambourine .. 0 4
Tonic Sol-fa 0 1½

—— MOONLIGHT. Vocal Waltz for S.S.C., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte, Castanets, Triangle, and Tambourine 0 4
Tonic Sol-fa 0 1½

—— SUMMER. Trio for S.S.A., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte, Castanets, Triangle, and Tambourine 0 4
Tonic Sol-fa 0 1½

—— OUR HEROES. Trio for S.S.A., with Accompaniment for Pianoforte, Castanets, Triangle, and Tambourine .. 0 3
Tonic Sol-fa 0 1

FLORENCE MARSHALL.—CHORAL DANCES (Minuet, Waltzes, and Galop) from "Prince Sprite," a Fairy Operetta, with Accompaniment for Pianoforte and Strings (ad lib.) 1 0
String Parts (in the Press).

CAMPBELL, H. A. J.—SONGS OF THE WOOD. Six Two-part Songs for Female Voices, with Accompaniments for Pianoforte and Two Violins (ad lib.).

No. 1. Bird Song. 3d.
„ 2. Shadow Dance. 2d.
„ 3. The Old Oak. 3d.
No. 4. Berry Time. 3d.
„ 5. The Traveller. 3d.
„ 6. Night Wind. 3d.

The Violin Parts are published separately. Price 4d. each part.

LAHEE, HENRY.—RING OUT, WILD BELLS. Trio for Female Voices (S.S.A.), with Accompaniments for the Pianoforte, Two Violins, Organ, and Bells. Vocal Score, 3d.; Full Score, 2s.; Orchestral Parts, 2s.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

WILLIAM J. YOUNG'S
POPULAR PART-SONGS FOR S.A.T.B.

Gaily thro' the greenwood .. .. 56th thousand 2d.
Ditto, Duet for Sopranos .. .. .. 2nd „ 2d.
A Happy New Year .. .. 5th „ 3d.
Songs of praise the angels sang .. .. .. 8th „ 3d.
Fairy Revels, 13th thousand; England's Glory.. 8th „ each 3d.
Anglia! land of the brave .. .. 2nd „ 3d.
Blow, ye balmy breezes, blow .. .. .. 10th „ 3d.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.
COMPOSER, 51, Barton Arcade, Manchester.

NOVELLO'S COLLECTION

OF

RESPONSES TO THE COMMANDMENTS

EDITED BY GEORGE C. MARTIN,

Organist of St. Paul's Cathedral.

Bound in cloth, Five Shillings; or, 47 Numbers at Twopence each.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

NEW FOREIGN PUBLICATIONS.

s. d.

ALENEFF, E.—Five Pieces. For Pianoforte. Op. 9:—
Arabesque .. .. 2 0 | Burlesque 2 0
Notturno .. .. 2 0 | Novelette 3 0
Impromptu .. .. 2 0 |
—— Four Pieces. For Pianoforte. Op. 10:—
Petites variations .. 3 0 | Intermezzo 3 0
Valse .. .. .. 2 0 | Canzone 3 0

ALOIZ, L.—Two Pieces. For Violin and Pianoforte. Op. 8:—
No. 1. Cantabile .. .. net 2 0
„ 2. Perpetuum mobile .. .. „ 3 0
—— Romance. For Violin (or Violoncello) and Pianoforte „ 3 0
—— Air and Gavotte. For Violin and Pianoforte .. „ 2 6

BEETHOVEN, L. VAN—"The Erl-King." Arranged (from a Sketch) by R. BECKER. For High or Low Voice each, net 2 0

BOELLMANN, L.—Fantaisie dialoguée. For Pianoforte Duet .. .. net 4 0
—— Sonata. For Pianoforte and Violoncello. Op. 40 „ 6 0
—— Offertoire sur des Noëls. For Organ 5 0

BOISDEFFRE, DE.—Poëme pastoral. For Pianoforte, Violin (or Oboe), and Violoncello. Op. 87 .. .. .. net 6 0
No. 1. Matinée de printemps; No. 2. Angelus; No. 3. Sous bois; No. 4. Sur le Pré.

CHAMINADE, C.—Pièce romantique. Pour Chant et Piano.. 4 0

CHOISNEL, G.—Offertoire. For Organ 4 0

CONUS, J.—Concerto in E minor. For Violin and Piano net 7 0

DOLMETSCH, V.—Musette. For Pianoforte. Op. 105 .. 4 0
—— Esquisse-Valse. For Pianoforte. Op. 106 .. .. .. 5 0
—— Fantaisie Menuet. For Pianoforte. Op. 107 .. .. 5 0

DUKAS, P.—"L'Apprenti Sorcier" (d'après Goethe). Scherzo. For Orchestra:—
Full Score.. .. .. 15 0
Orchestral Parts.. .. .. net 25 0
—— The same, as Duet for Two Pianofortes .. .. „ 5 0

FONTENAILLES, DE.—"Les baisers sont des fleurs." Mélodie, pour Chant et Piano (French and English words). For Soprano, Tenor, or Baritone 3 0

GANNE, L.—Marche nuptiale. For Organ 5 0

GODARD, B.—Songs. English and French words:—
Do you remember? 4 0
Love 4 0
Contemplation 4 0
Flower of the Valley 3 0
Shepherd's Song 4 0
Shepherd's Farewell 4 0
Who gave you your sweet eyes? 4 0
The song of green fields 4 0
Arabian Song 4 0
Come 4 0
Maiden with the golden hair 4 0
The Traveller 4 0

GUILMANT, A.—Sixth Sonata. For Organ .. .. net 4 0
—— Berceuse. For Flute (or Violin) and Pianoforte. Op. 79 6 0

HANSEN, H. M.—Petit Air ancien. For Pianoforte. Op. 12 4 0
—— Arabesque. For Pianoforte. Op. 11 .. .. 4 0
—— "Chanson du Gondolier." For Pianoforte. Op. 13 .. 4 0

KISTLER, C.—"Kunihild." Prelude. For Harmonium and Pianoforte Duet 4 0
—— "Nirwana." For Violin, Harmonium and Pianoforte .. 5 0

LACOMBE, P.—2nd Trio. For Pianoforte, Violin, and Violoncello. Op. 90 .. .. net 12 0

LEFEBVRE, CH.—Andante. For Violin and Piano. Op. 103 5 0

LIADOW, A.—Two Fugues. For Pianoforte. Op. 41 .. .. 3 0

PHILIPP, I.—Exercices pratiques. For Pianoforte .. net 6 0

SAINT-SAËNS, C.—Songs. English and French words:—
The Bell 3 0
Reverie 4 0
The Flight 4 0
Watching 4 0
The Tournament of King John 5 0
Serenity 3 0

SCHUMANN, R.—Etudes Symphoniques. Arranged for Orchestra by W. KES:—
Full Score.. .. .. net 12 0
Parts .. .. „ 12 0

TEN BRINK.—Gavotte. For Pianoforte 4 0

TSCHAÏKOWSKY, P.—"Eugén Onègin." Potpourri. For Military Band:—
Score .. .. net 12 0
Parts .. .. „ 24 0
—— Romance. For small Orchestra. Op. 5:—
Score .. .. net 4 0
Parts .. .. „ 8 0
—— "Trepack," from "Casse Noisette." For small Orchestra:—
Full Score.. .. .. net 3 0
Parts .. .. „ 8 0
—— "Valse des Fleurs," from "Casse Noisette." For small Orchestra:—
Score .. .. net 8 0
Parts .. .. „ 12 0
—— "Momento lirico." Arranged for Violin and Pianoforte „ 1 6
—— "Schneewittchen." For Pianoforte Solo:—
No. 1. Introduction .. .. net 1 6
„ 5. Melodrame et Entr'acte .. .. .. „ 1 0
„ 8. Entr'acte .. .. „ 1 0
„ 10. Melodrame .. .. „ 1 0
„ 16. Apparition .. .. „ 1 0
„ 17. Entr'acte .. .. „ 1 0

Sold at half-price, if not marked net.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Digitized by Google

SIR CHARLES HALLÉ'S
PRACTICAL PIANOFORTE SCHOOL.

SECTION 1, No. 1.—THE POPULAR PIANOFORTE TUTOR.

SECTION 1.—ELEMENTARY (12 Nos.). | SECTION 3.—MODERATELY DIFFICULT (30 Nos.).
" 2.—EASY (30 Nos.). | " 4.—DIFFICULT (40 Nos.).
SECTION 5.—VERY DIFFICULT (26 Nos.).

SIR CHARLES HALLÉ'S MUSICAL LIBRARY.

(APPENDIX TO HIS PIANOFORTE SCHOOL.)

SECTION A.—ELEMENTARY (12 Nos.). | SECTION B.—EASY (30 Nos.).
SECTION C.—MODERATELY DIFFICULT (30 Nos.).

EDGAR HADDOCK'S
PRACTICAL VIOLIN SCHOOL.

SECTION 1.—ELEMENTARY. | SECTION 2.—EASY.
SECTION 3.—MODERATELY DIFFICULT.

FULL CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION.

DEDICATED, BY PERMISSION, TO
H.R.H. PRINCESS CHRISTIAN OF SCHLESWIG-HOLSTEIN.

THE BISPHAM ALBUM OF CLASSICAL SONGS.

SELECTED AND EDITED BY DAVID BISPHAM.
BEING TEN SONGS BY SCHUBERT AND SCHUMANN.
PRICE 3s. NET.

"The marks of expression, indications of tempo, style, &c., furnished by the accomplished editor, are extraordinarily full, and will be the equivalent of a valuable lesson to purchasers of the volume."—Observer.

BANTOCK, GRANVILLE.
TWELVE PIANOFORTE PIECES (in Ten Numbers, each 3s.).

"All are original in a remarkable degree, and there are beautiful and effective passages by the score."—Times.
"They are a series of short, brilliant, and moderately difficult pieces that will form a valuable addition to the répertoire of any pianist."—Musical Times.

NEW SONGS.

	s.	d.
BARNS, ETHEL—The Humble Swain .. .. (Sung by Mr. CHARLES PHILLIPS)	4	0
PITT, PERCY—Nature's Lullaby .. .. (Sung by Madame LUCILE HILL.)	4	0
YOUNG, FILSON—Forget not thou	4	0

PIANO SOLO.

	s.	d.
HILLIER, LOUIS H.—Impressions of Venice .. .. each (a) Sulla Laguna. (b) Campana de Venezia. "Extremely effective."—Times.	3	0
—— Tarantella d'Amore .. .. (Played by Mdlle. PANCERA and M. DE GREEF.)	4	0

JUST PUBLISHED.

HELMUND, E. MEYER.
FOUR PIECES FOR PIANO (OP. 152).

	s.	d.
1. Polka Excentrique	3	0
2. Souvenir	3	0
3. Gavotte Pompadour	3	0
4. Gavotte Lyrique	3	0

O'NEILL, NORMAN.
FOUR PIECES FOR PIANO. 3s. each.

Played by SIGNOR ESPOSITO and MISS MEADOWS.

CANTATA FOR FEMALE VOICES.

PAGE, ARTHUR.
AN APRIL SHOWER (Words by BERNARD PAGE). 1s. 6d.

"The subject will prove a happy thought to many a schoolmistress and mother of a family of girls. . . . The music is light, easy, and tuneful, and the poetry flows merrily."—Daily News.
"The setting is light and graceful, and the composer has imparted many delightful qualities to his work."—Nottingham Daily Guardian.

FORSYTH BROS., 267, REGENT STREET, LONDON, W.,
AND
126 & 128, DEANSGATE, MANCHESTER.

Digitized by Google

THE LEGEND OF THE WOOD

A JUVENILE OPERETTA IN ONE ACT
FOR UNISON SINGING

VERSE BY
MAUD BALDWICK
COMPOSED BY
ALFRED R. GAUL.

Price One Shilling.
Tonic Sol-fa Edition, Price Sixpence. Words, 7s. 6d. per 100.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Ninth and Tenth Thousand.

ALFRED R. GAUL'S
PASSION SERVICE

NEW SACRED WORK
FOR THE SEASON OF
LENT AND GOOD FRIDAY.

"Scholarly writing, combined with unmistakable talent, and eminently adapted to the purpose for which it was written and composed. The work will probably be largely used, and Mr. Gaul have to be congratulated upon another success."—Sheffield Independent.

"The course of sacred events connected with the Passion is laid out by the writer so as to form a series of six distinct 'scenes.' The subjects of these divisions, each occupied with a particular stage of the Mystery, are respectively—'The Traitor at the Table,' 'The Denial,' 'The Condemnation before Pilate,' 'The Mockery on Calvary,' 'The Shadow of Death,' and 'The Holy Sepulchre.' The style of the composition resembles generally that of Mr. Gaul's previous writings—the same effective, grateful part-writing, and the same expressive and melodious treatment of the solo voice. In those sections, notably that of the Unjust Condemnation, where the realistic element is predominant, the composer has manifested his ability to write with dramatic force and intensity as well as with lyric charm. In this respect the choral writing distinguished itself in comparison with that in the 'Holy City,' and other of the composer's works. Mr. Gaul has not written new hymn tunes for the author's lyrics; the tunes selected are from among those in ordinary congregational use. Altogether considered, Mr. Gaul's new work will, undoubtedly, greatly enhance his already high reputation in the line of sacred composition."—Musical Standard.

Price, paper cover, 2s. 6d.; paper boards, 3s.; scarlet cloth, 4s.
Words only, 7s. 6d. per 100.
The loan of Orchestral Parts on application to the COMPOSER.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

TOILERS OF THE DEEP

CANTATA

FOR FEMALE VOICES

VERSE BY JAMES STRANG
MUSIC BY
ALFRED R. GAUL.

CONTENTS.

INTRODUCTION AND CHORUS—"Toiling and toss'd on the restless sea."
CRADLE SONG—"Come, my baby, come away."
CHORUS—"Oh, ho! for the winds that blow."
BALLAD—"A mermaid dwelt in days of old."
TRIO—"The twilight grey is falling."
SONG—"O manly hearts that brave the sea."
CHORUS—"Dark and darker grows the night."
CHORUS—"A prayer for those at sea."
INTERMEZZO—"Break of day."
DUET—"Through golden mists of morn."
CRADLE SONG—No. 2.
CHORUS—"Now let songs of gladness rise."

"This charming work bears all the best marks of the composer's characteristically graceful style. The libretto is of a high order of merit, and worth the music, which from first to last is attractive and without a dull page."—Birmingham Daily Gazette.

"Mr. Gaul has written nothing finer, nor more melodious and captivating in this branch of composition. Taking the Cantata as a whole, it is a delightful work, replete with artistic workmanship."—Birmingham Daily Mail.

Price Two Shillings.
Words, Five Shillings per hundred.
London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

A WOODLAND DREAM

CANTATA

For Solo Voices and Two-part Chorus, with Accompaniment of Small Orchestra, for the use of Schools, Academies, and Colleges

WRITTEN BY
SHAPCOTT WENSLEY
COMPOSED BY
J. A. MOONIE.

Price Two Shillings
(Staff and Tonic Sol-fa Notations combined).
Tonic Sol-fa Edition, Ninepence.
Book of Words, 7s. 6d. per 100.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

THE WAXWORK CARNIVAL

A HUMOROUS OPERETTA
THE WORDS WRITTEN BY BERNARD PAGE
THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY
ARTHUR RICHARDS.

Price (both Notations together) Two Shillings. Tonic Sol-fa edition, 8d.
Book of Words, 12s. 6d. per 100.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

THE FAIRY SLIPPER

("The Story of Cinderella")
A CHILDREN'S OPERA
IN THREE TABLEAUX
WRITTEN AND COMPOSED BY
E. CUTHBERT NUNN.

Price (both Notations together) Two Shillings. Tonic Sol-fa edition, 8d.
Book of Words, 12s. 6d. per 100.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

KING BULBOUS

A COMIC OPERA FOR SCHOOLS AND CLASSES
WRITTEN BY
P. H. CRIB
COMPOSED BY HENRY FESTING JONES.
(Op. 8.)

Price Two Shillings. Tonic Sol-fa Edition, 8d.
Book of Words, 16s. 8d. per 100.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Just Published.

THE SNOW QUEEN

AN OPERETTA FOR CHILDREN'S VOICES
THE WORDS WRITTEN BY
MRS. GEORGE MARTYN
THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY
CHARLES BRAUN.

Price One Shilling.
Tonic Sol-fa Edition, 6d. Book of Words, 12s. 6d. per 100.

London and New York: NOVELLO, EWER and Co.

Digitized by Google

COMMUNION SERVICE

TROISIÈME MESSE SOLENNELLE
(DE PÂQUES)

COMPOSED BY

CHARLES GOUNOD.

THE ENGLISH ADAPTATION BY

F. A. W. DOCKER.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence.
Full Score, 40s.; Orchestral Parts, 31s.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

BALLADE

(In D minor)

FOR VIOLIN AND ORCHESTRA

BY

S. COLERIDGE-TAYLOR.

Arranged for Violin and Pianoforte by the Composer.

Price Two Shillings.
Full Score and Orchestral Parts, MS.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

NOVELLO'S

MUSIC FOR MILITARY BAND

ARRANGED BY

DAN GODFREY, Jun.,
GEORGE MILLER, Mus. Bac.,

AND OTHERS.

		s.	d.
MASQUE (Three Dances from "As you Like It")	Edward German	15	0
OUR QUEEN (Quick March)	H. M. Higgs	5	0
IMPERIAL MARCH	E. Elgar	9	0
VICTORIA—OUR QUEEN (March)	John E. West	9	0
THE QUEEN'S SONG	Eaton Faning	7	6
SIX HYMN TUNES		4	6
FOUR ENGLISH DANCES (in the Olden Style)	F. H. Cowen	15	0
KIRMESS (Rustic Pictures)	H. Hofmann	15	0
GIPSY SUITE (Four Characteristic Dances)	Edward German	15	0
THREE DANCES ("Henry VIII.")	Edward German	15	0
SIX SACRED PIECES	Gounod	10	6
THE REDEMPTION (Selection)	Gounod	15	0
BENEDICTUS ("Six Pieces for Violin")	A. C. Mackenzie	5	0
WEDDING MARCH	William Creser	3	6
BALLET MUSIC ("Colomba")	A. C. Mackenzie	15	0
MORS ET VITA (Selection)	Gounod	15	0
THE EMPIRE FLAG	A. C. Mackenzie	5	0
HUSARENRITT	Fritz Spindler	7	6
POLONAISE ("Life for the Czar")	Glinka	12	0
COURANTE ("Ravenswood")	A. C. Mackenzie	12	0
GAVOTTE	Rameau	4	6
ORCHESTRAL BALLAD	Stewart Macpherson	15	0
EMPEROR GAVOTTE (Cornflower)	Ch. Morley	2	6
FESTAL MARCH	G. J. Elvey	5	0
WESTWOOD GAVOTTE	Battison Haynes	5	0
SOLEMN MARCH	George Miller	3	6
MARCHE MILITAIRE	Tschaikowsky	15	0
OVERTURE TO "RICHARD III."	Edward German	12	0
GRANDE VALSE ("Faust" Ballet)	Ernest Ford	10	6
MARCHE SOLENNELLE	Gounod	7	6
MARCH ("St. Polycarp")	Ouseley	7	6
CALVARY (Selection)	Spohr	7	6
MARCH ("Abraham")	Molique	7	6
POPULAR PART-SONGS. Selected and Arranged by Dan Godfrey, Jun.		7	6
GRACEFUL DANCE	J. L. Roeckel	7	6
FUNERAL MARCH ("The Story of Sayid")	A. C. Mackenzie	3	6

In the Press

CORONATION MARCH ("Henry VIII.") .. E. German
SCÈNE BACCHANALE ("Faust" Ballet) .. Ernest Ford
FESTIVE MARCH .. H. Smart

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

SONG OF NIGHT

(Nachtlied)

COMPOSED FOR CHORUS AND ORCHESTRA

BY

ROBERT SCHUMANN.

(Op. 108.)

THE WORDS TRANSLATED FROM THE GERMAN OF F. HEBBEL

BY

MISS G. E. TROUTBECK.

Price Ninepence.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

CHANSON DE NUIT

POUR VIOLON ET PIANO

COMPOSÉE PAR

EDWARD ELGAR.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

MARJORIE GAVOTTE

FOR THE PIANOFORTE

COMPOSED BY

JOHN E. WEST.

Price Two Shillings.
Band Parts for Small Orchestra: Strings, Two Shillings; Wind, Two Shillings and Threepence.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Popular Part-Songs for S.A.T.B.

By W. W. PEARSON.

Nymphs of the Ocean	3d.	The Oyster Dredgers	2d.
The Skaters	3d.	Evening	2d.
The Lake	3d.	*Sweet to live (38th thou.)	2d.
*'Tis Morn	3d.	*Welcome, young Spring!	2d.
Sweet Spring (Madrigal)	3d.	*The Anglers (14th thou.)	2d.
The River	3d.	The Dream of Home	2d.
Over the mountain side	3d.	Summer and Winter	2d.
Soul of living music	3d.	*Departed Joys	2d.
The Stormy Petrel	3d.	There's beauty in the deep	1½d.
The Coral Grove	3d.	Soldier, rest!	1d.
Pibroch of Donuil Dhu	3d.	Woods in Winter	1d.
Blow, Western Wind!	3d.	Autumn	1d.
Stars of the Night	3d.

HUMOROUS PART-SONGS.

*Three Doughtie Men. (64th thousand)	3d.
Three Children Sliding. (10th thousand)	3d.
A Ryghte Merrie Geste	4d.
The Snow-white Doe	4d.
*Ben Bowlegs (Edward Oxenford)	3d.
The Carrion Crow	3d.
Call John!	3d.
Three Merry Fishers. (Just published)	3d.

DESCRIPTIVE CHORUSES.

With Pianoforte or Orchestral Accompaniments.

The Iron Horse	4d.	The Ocean	3d.
Off to Sea	4d.	*The Ironfounders (36th thou.)	3d.
Jäger Chorus	3d.	The Cyclists	4d.
The Lifeboat	4d.

Orchestral Parts on application to the Composer, Elmham, Dereham.
Tonic Sol-fa Editions at half the above prices of those marked *.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

JUST PUBLISHED.

TECHNIQUE AND EXPRESSION IN PIANOFORTE PLAYING

BY

FRANKLIN TAYLOR.

With numerous Musical Examples from the Great Masters.
Price Five Shillings, in cloth, gilt lettered.

WESTMINSTER GAZETTE.

A work by that well-known authority on such matters, Mr. Franklin Taylor, on "Technique and Expression in Pianoforte Playing,' may be safely commended to all students of what Wagner once styled the "Household orchestra."

ATHENÆUM.

Mr. Franklin Taylor has written much and of great value as a theorist, his latest essay equalling the best of his previous utterances as regards pianoforte manipulation. . . . Mr. Franklin Taylor displays intimate knowledge of the requirements of youthful aspirants who seek to gain excellence in the works of such modern masters as Schumann, Chopin, Brahms, and Rubinstein. . . . The treatise is noteworthy for a happy mixture of classical and modern systems of teaching the pianoforte so far as regards advice to the earnest student.

BRISTOL TIMES AND MIRROR.

Everything from the pen of the author of this work is welcomed by pianists, students, teachers, and matured players, because there is purpose in all he writes, and because of the help and instruction to be derived therefrom. The present volume, fresh from the press of Messrs. Novello and Co., is one of the best of the kind. Hard-working students who read it attentively, in conjunction with their daily practice, will find their work greatly aided thereby. The publication may be in a great measure used as a guide-book or key to the splendid series of Progressive Exercises—52 numbers in all—arranged by the same famous professor, and issued by the same firm, as well as by advanced and skilled pianists. . . . Every phase and detail of pianoforte playing is fully dealt with in a clear and intelligible way, and illustrated by copious extracts taken from the works of all the greatest pianoforte composers and players. The volume is printed on excellent paper, and is strongly bound.

BIRMINGHAM DAILY GAZETTE.

"Technique and Expression in Pianoforte Playing" is a book of 120 closely-printed pages, octavo, wherein are set down with great system and lucidity the observations and the experience of a long and successful career of teaching. . . . The suggestions which relate to the mechanical and intellectual sides of pianoforte-playing we regard as invaluable, and again we envy the favoured youth of the present age, rich in the accumulated experiences of others; standing on the shoulders of men who have struggled unaided; reaping a rich harvest sowed with infinite labour by their predecessors.

YORKSHIRE POST.

Mr. Franklin Taylor, both by repute and by his writings, is known as one of the most systematic teachers of pianoforte technique in this country. . . . "Technique and Expression in Pianoforte Playing" is an excellent manual by an expert who can express himself clearly, and has ideas worth the expressing. . . . Over 200 examples from classical pianoforte music add to the value of the manual, which may be strongly recommended not only to students, but also to the half-taught teachers that abound.

LEEDS MERCURY.

"Technique and Expression in Pianoforte Playing" is the title of a book through which Franklin Taylor seeks to express some thoughts and theories that a long course of teaching has served to recommend. Mr. Taylor is emphatically practical, and his remarks are capable of bearing much good fruit. . . . The chapters on Expression and Fingering will be found particularly useful and suggestive.

GLASGOW HERALD.

Mr. Taylor writes with clearness and point, and gives the reader the benefit of his lengthened experience as a teacher of the pianoforte. The text is illumined by copious score illustrations.

SCOTSMAN.

As a recognised authority on his subject, Mr. Franklin Taylor may fairly claim the attention of teachers and students of the pianoforte for his book on "Technique and Expression." His practical experience in imparting instruction has taught him to understand the common difficulties, and how to overcome them; while, as the editor of one of the most exhaustive series of technical studies published, he has the advantage of a very wide range of knowledge of pianoforte music. The present book is an attempt to set down and illustrate the suggestions and methods which he has found useful in the practical work of pianoforte teaching. . . . The book, which is plentifully supplied with musical examples from the best composers, deals with the subject in a sensible and business like fashion; and to students and teachers it may be recommended as one of the best books of its kind.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

JUST PUBLISHED.

ORIGINAL HYMN TUNES

BY

JOSEPH BARNBY.

246 Tunes, complete, in one Vol., 188 pp., Demy 8vo, Cloth.

Price Three Shillings and Sixpence.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

THREE PIECES FOR THE PIANOFORTE

1. PRELUDE IN F MINOR.
2. ROMANCE IN A FLAT.
3. ÉTUDE IN F.

COMPOSED BY

A. ARENSKY.

(Op. 42.)

Price Two Shillings each.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

TWENTY-FOUR SONGS FOR LITTLE PEOPLE

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

NORMAN GALE

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

GERARD F. COBB.

(Op. 35.)

IN TWO BOOKS.

Book I.	Book II.
A change wanted.	A Protest.
Bedfordshire.	A Thief.
Bessie.	Auntie Nell.
Carrying Angela.	Aunt Jan.
Late for Tea.	Cradle Song.
Off to the Sea.	Fairies in Faces.
Out early.	Lost Labour.
Silver Sammy.	Mustard and Cress.
The bad Boy.	Off to Africa.
The Violin.	The 'Logical Gardens.
Tim's Grace.	The Swan.
Tubbing.	The Walls of Jericho.

PREFACE.

The words of these Four-and-Twenty little Songs have been selected from Mr. Norman Gale's delightful volume of Children's Poems. A few modifications of the original text have been made in order to facilitate their musical rendering.

Though in the first instance, no doubt, the songs will be mainly sung to children rather than by them, the Composer's aim has been to observe such conditions in his settings as to make it easy for children to join in singing them themselves. With this object he has endeavoured to furnish simple, rhythmical melodies of a suitable compass, and it will be found that in the case of sixteen out of the twenty-four songs the vocal range is confined to the octave, whilst in only three instances does it exceed nine notes.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence each.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

IMPORTANT WORKS BY P. TSCHAÏKOWSKY

THE SEASONS
TWELVE CHARACTERISTIC PIECES
FOR THE PIANOFORTE
(Op. 37)
EDITED AND FINGERED BY
FRANKLIN TAYLOR.

IN TWO BOOKS.

Book I.	Book II.
1. By the Fireside (January).	7. The Reapers' Song (July).
2. Carnival (February).	8. Harvest Time (August).
3. The Song of the Lark (March).	9. Hunting Song (September).
4. Snowdrops (April).	10. A Song of Autumn (October).
5. Starlit Nights (May).	11. Sleighing (November).
6. Barcarolle (June).	12. Christmas (December).

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence each book.

TWELVE PIECES
FOR THE PIANOFORTE
(Op. 40)
EDITED AND FINGERED BY
FRANKLIN TAYLOR.

IN TWO BOOKS.

Book I.	Book II.
1. Etude.	7. Au Village.
2. Chanson Triste.	8. Valse.
3. Marche Funèbre.	9. Valse.
4. Mazurka.	10. Danse Russe.
5. Mazurka.	11. Scherzo.
6. Chant sans paroles.	12. Rêverie Interrompue.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence each book.

MARCHE MILITAIRE
FOR MILITARY BAND.

Arrangement for Pianoforte Solo. Price 2s.
Arrangement for Pianoforte Duet. Price 2s. 6d.
Full Score, price 4s.
Band Parts, 15s.

MARCHE SOLENNELLE
FOR FULL ORCHESTRA.

Arrangement for Pianoforte Solo. Price 2s.
Arrangement for Pianoforte Duet. Price 2s. 6d.
Full Score, price 7s. 6d.
Orchestral Parts, price 25s.

IMPROMPTU
(MOMENTO LIRICO)
POUR PIANO.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.

VALSE-SCHERZO
FOR THE PIANOFORTE.

Price Two Shillings.

NATURE AND LOVE
FOR
TWO SOPRANI AND CONTRALTO SOLI AND CHORUS OF FEMALE VOICES
WITH PIANOFORTE ACCOMPANIMENT
The English Translation by the Rev. J. Troutbeck, D.D.

PRICE ONE SHILLING.
Tonic Sol-fa, price 4d.

TWENTY-FOUR SONGS
WITH PIANOFORTE ACCOMPANIMENT
SELECTED AND TRANSLATED INTO ENGLISH BY LADY MACFARREN.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence.

DUO
ROMEO ET JULIETTE
(SOPRANO ET TENOR)
Œuvre posthume achevée d'après les esquisses conservées, et instrumentée
PAR
S. TANÉÏEW.

Full Score	10s.
Vocal Score (with Russian, French, and German words)	4s.
Orchestral Parts	15s.

CONCERTO, No. 3
FOUR PIANO
AVEC ACCOMPAGNEMENT D'ORCHESTRE.
(Op. 75.)

Full Score	15s.
Orchestral Parts	20s.
Pianoforte Part, with the Accompaniments arranged for a second Pianoforte and engraved under the Solo Part..	9s.

(For a performance on two Pianofortes two copies are required.)

THE FINALE
(ADAGIO LAMENTOSO)
FROM THE
SYMPHONIE PATHÉTIQUE
(No. 6, in E minor)
ARRANGED FOR THE ORGAN
BY
CHARLES MACPHERSON.

(No. 38. Organ Arrangements, edited by Geo. C. Martin, Mus. Doc., Organist of St. Paul's Cathedral.)

Price Two Shillings.

SELECT PIECES
FOR THE
PIANOFORTE
EDITED AND FINGERED BY
FRANKLIN TAYLOR.

IN TWO BOOKS.

Book I.

Scherzo, Op. 2, No. 2.	Valse-Scherzo, Op. 7.
Chant sans paroles, Op. 2, No. 3.	Polka de Salon, Op. 9, No. 2.
Romance, Op. 5.

Book II.

Mazurka, Op. 9, No. 3.	Scherzo Humoristique, Op. 19, No. 2.
Nocturne, Op. 10, No. 1.	Feuillet d'Album, Op. 19, No. 3.
Humoreske, Op. 10, No. 2.	Nocturne, Op. 19, No. 4.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence each book.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Printed by Novello, Ewer and Co., at 69 & 70, Dean Street (W.), and published at 1, Berners Street (W.), and 80 & 81, Queen Street (E.C.).
Sold also by Kent and Co., Paternoster Row (E.C.)—Tuesday, March 1, 1898.

Digitized by Google

Joseph Joachim

THE MUSICAL TIMES

AND SINGING-CLASS CIRCULAR.

PUBLISHED ON THE FIRST OF EVERY MONTH.

No. 662.—Vol. 39. APRIL 1, 1898. Price 4d.; Postage, 1½d.
Registered for transmission abroad. Annual Subscription, Post-free, 5s.

ROYAL CHORAL SOCIETY,

ROYAL ALBERT HALL.

Patron: HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN.
President: H.R.H. THE DUKE OF SAXE-COBURG AND GOTHA, DUKE OF EDINBURGH, K.G.

Conductor: Sir FREDERICK BRIDGE, Mus.D.

GOOD FRIDAY, APRIL 8, at 7.

HANDEL'S "MESSIAH."

Artists:
Miss ESTHER PALLISER.
Miss CLARA BUTT.
Mr. LLOYD CHANDOS.
Mr. SANTLEY.

Organist: Mr. H. L. BALFOUR.

Prices: Stalls, 7s. 6d.; Arena, 6s.; Balcony (Reserved), 5s.; Unreserved, 4s.; Gallery (Promenade), 1s.

THURSDAY EVENING, MAY 5, at 8.

RUDYARD KIPLING'S BALLAD
"THE FLAG OF ENGLAND" ... J. F. BRIDGE
AND
"THE GOLDEN LEGEND" ... SULLIVAN

Artists:
Miss ESTHER PALLISER.
Mdlle. GIULIA RAVOGLI. | Mr. CHARLES ACKERMAN.
Mr. EDWARD LLOYD. | Mr. ANDREW BLACK.

Prices as above.

ROYAL ACADEMY OF MUSIC,

TENTERDEN STREET, W.

Instituted 1822. Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1830.

Patrons: HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN AND THE ROYAL FAMILY.
President: H.R.H. THE DUKE OF SAXE-COBURG AND GOTHA.
Principal: Sir A. C. MACKENZIE, Mus. Doc.

Midsummer Term begins Monday, May 2. Entrance Examination therefor, Thursday, April 28, at 2.
Syllabus for the 1898-99 L.R.A.M. Examination will be issued shortly.
Prospectus, Entry Forms, and all information may be obtained from the Secretary. F. W. RENAUT, Secretary.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC,

Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1883,

PRINCE CONSORT ROAD, SOUTH KENSINGTON, S.W.

President: H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES, K.G.
Director: C. HUBERT H. PARRY, Esq., D.C.L., M.A., Mus. Doc.
Hon. Sec.: CHARLES MORLEY, Esq., M.P.

The NEXT TERM will begin on May 3. Entrance Examination, May 3, at 11 o'clock.
Syllabus and official Entry Forms may be obtained of
FRANK POWNALL, Registrar.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF ORGANISTS.

The next F.R.C.O. Examination begins on July 11.
The Solo Playing tests are: Toccata and Fugue in E major—Bach (Novello and Co., Augener and Co.); Prelude in C (Six Pieces)—Stainer (Novello and Co.); and Sonata in C sharp minor—Basil Harwood (Schott and Co.).
The A.R.C.O. Examination begins on July 18.
A second edition of the Book of Examination Papers has been issued and may be obtained by members. Price 5s.; postage, 5d.
The College Library is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on Tuesdays and Thursdays until 7 p.m.
Members desiring practice on the College Organ may obtain particulars on application.
The large Hall, and sundry smaller rooms, may be hired for concerts, meetings, &c.
E. H. TURPIN, Hon. Secretary.
Hart Street, Bloomsbury, W.C.

GOOD FRIDAY, at 7.—MESSIAH, at Christ Church, Westminster Bridge Road. Area, 6d. and 1s.; Galleries, free.

QUEEN'S HALL,

LANGHAM PLACE, W.

LIST OF MR. ROBERT NEWMAN'S CONCERTS,
SEASON 1898.

QUEEN'S HALL CHORAL SOCIETY.

Conductor Mr. HENRY J. WOOD.

GOOD FRIDAY AFTERNOON, April 8.
GOUNOD'S "REDEMPTION," AT 3.

Miss HELEN JAXON. | Mr. HERBERT GROVER.
Miss ADA CROSSLEY. | Mr. LOUIS FROLICH.
Mr. ORME DARVALL.

Organist: Mr. PERCY PITT.

Tickets, 7s. 6d., 5s., 2s. 6d., and 1s.
ROBERT NEWMAN'S Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

LAMOUREUX ORCHESTRAL CONCERTS.

(Under the management of Mr. ROBERT NEWMAN.)

Conductor: MONS. CHARLES LAMOUREUX.

QUEEN'S HALL GRAND ORCHESTRA OF 103 PERFORMERS.
Principal Violin .. Mr. ARTHUR W. PAYNE.

LAST AFTERNOON CONCERT.—April 20, at 3.
LAST EVENING CONCERT.—May 4, at 8.30.
Single Tickets—Reserved, 10s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 5s.; Unreserved, 2s. 6d., 1s.
At ROBERT NEWMAN'S Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

Programmes on application at ROBERT NEWMAN'S Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

THE
QUEEN'S HALL SUNDAY AFTERNOON ORCHESTRAL CONCERTS.

(Under the management of Mr. ROBERT NEWMAN.)
EVERY SUNDAY AFTERNOON, AT 3.30.

Conductor: Mr. HENRY J. WOOD.

THE QUEEN'S HALL ORCHESTRA OF 90 PERFORMERS.
Principal Violin .. .. .. Mr. ARTHUR W. PAYNE.
Organist and Accompanist .. Mr. PERCY PITT.

ROBERT NEWMAN'S Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

MR. ROBERT NEWMAN has received the following letter from Mr. Arthur W. Payne, Leader of the Queen's Hall Orchestra:—

"Dear Mr. Newman,—At a Meeting of The Queen's Hall Orchestra on Saturday, it was unanimously decided to offer you a Benefit Concert as a mark of our esteem, and an acknowledgment of your great efforts during the past five years in the interests of Music.

"Trusting that you will accept our offer,

"I remain, yours faithfully,
(Signed) "ARTHUR W. PAYNE."

Mr. Newman has much pleasure in announcing that he has accepted the above generous offer, and, in consultation with Mr. Henry J. Wood, has fixed the date for

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, APRIL 30, at 3 o'clock, when a GRAND WAGNER PROGRAMME will be performed.

Tickets: Reserved, 10s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 5s.; Unreserved, 2s. 6d., 1s.
ROBERT NEWMAN'S Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

Digitized by Google

THE GUILDHALL SCHOOL OF MUSIC.—

Established by the Corporation of London, 1880.

Principal: William H. Cummings, Esq.

Students' Orchestra meets Mondays, 6.30 p.m. Classes for study of Rudiments of Music, also Sight Singing, held daily. Full particulars of Secretary. By order of the Committee,

Victoria Embankment, Blackfriars, E.C. HILTON CARTER, Sec.

THE GUILD OF ORGANISTS.

Established 1887.

Patrons:
THE ARCHBISHOPS OF CANTERBURY AND YORK,
&c., &c., &c.

President:
E. J. HOPKINS, Esq., Mus. Doc., Cantuar.

Warden:
J. T. FIELD, Esq., L.T.C.L.

Examinations are held twice annually for the Diploma of F.Gld.O. and the Certificate of Practical Musicianship—viz., January and July.

For full particulars of Syllabus, Membership, Free Register of Appointments, and general information, address, the Hon. Sec., Fred. B. Townend, 24, Queen Victoria Street, London; or, Brentwood, Essex.

GUILD OF CHURCH MUSICIANS,

LONDON.

Patron: His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury.

President: The Very Rev. Francis Pigou, D.D., Dean of Bristol.

A.G.C.M. and F.G.C.M. Diploma Examination, July 7, 1898. The "Mendelssohn" Prize, of the value of Two Guineas, is awarded at this Examination to the Candidate obtaining the highest number of marks.

Musical Examination for Clergy. This Examination has been formulated with the object of testing the musical efficiency of clergy desirous of officiating in Choral Services. July 7, 1898.

A Bronze Medal will be awarded for the best Kyrie, with Gloria Tibi and Gratias Tibi.

A Bronze Medal for the best Anthem.

A Silver Medal for the best original Air with Variations for the Organ.

The Council also offer two Exhibitions, each of the value of £5, to be given to the Candidate who shows the most conspicuous merit in the art of organ accompaniment.

Annual Membership Subscription, 10s. 6d. Life, £5 5s.

Choir Enrolment, £2 2s.

The new Calendar is sent (Post-free) for fourteen stamps.

Free register for Organists requiring appointments.

Representatives required in England and abroad.

For further particulars, apply to

Dr. Lewis, Silvermead, Twickenham, S.W.

LONDON ORGAN SCHOOL AND INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

Princes Street, Cavendish Square, W.

Patron: His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Established in 1865 by the Rev. Scotson Clark, Mus. Bac., Oxon.

Principals and Directors of Studies:

Henry Clark, T. H. Yorke Trotter, M.A., Mus. Doc., Oxon.

PRIVATE LESSONS in ORGAN, PIANOFORTE, SINGING, VIOLIN, CELLO, FLUTE, CLARINET, GUITAR, HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, ELOCUTION, LANGUAGES, &c.

CLASSES in HARMONY, Counterpoint, Composition, Orchestration, and Musical Dictation, under the direction of Dr. Yorke Trotter.

ELOCUTION CLASS (Mr. Charles Fry).

ENSEMBLE CLASSES (Mr. Edward O'Brien).

SINGING CLASSES (Mr. Walter Mackway, A.R.A.M.).

SOLFEGE CLASS for Children (Mr. J. Mewburn Levien).

FRENCH CONVERSATION CLASS (Mr. Arthur Fayne).

ORCHESTRAL PRACTICES are held weekly.

DAY and EVENING LESSONS given throughout the year.

PUPILS CAN ENTER at ANY TIME.

Prospectus on application to

A. J. SCOTT, Secretary.

THE STERN CONSERVATOIRE OF MUSIC.

Founded 1850.—Professor Gustav Hollaender, Director, 20, Wilhelmstrasse, Berlin, S.W. Conservatoire: Development in all branches of Music. Operatic School: Complete Training for the Stage. Orchestral School (comprising all solo and all orchestral instruments). Seminary: Special Training for Teachers. Chorus School. Elementary Piano and Violin School. Principals: Frau Prof. Selma Nicklass-Kempner, Adolf Schulze, Prof. Benno Stolzenberg (Vocal); Prof. Friedrich Gernsheim, Representing Director; Ludwig Bussler, Hans Pfitzner (Composition, Theory, Musical History); Felix Dreyschock, Albert Eibenschütz, Prof. Heinrich Ehrlich, Prof. Friedr. Gernsheim, A. Papendick, Otto Singer, Alfred Sormann, R. E. Taubert, L. C. Wolf (Piano); Fr. Poenitz (Harp, Harmonium); Otto Dienel, Royal Musical Director (Organ); Prof. Gustav Hollaender, Willy Nicking (Violin); Anton Hekking (Cello); Emanuel Reicher (Dramatic School), &c. Charges: From 125 marks (£6 5s.) up to 500 Marks (£25) annually. Prospectuses may be obtained through the Conservatoire. Pupils received at any time. Consultation hours from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. On September 1, 1897, Prof. Benno Stolzenberg (Vocal and Operatic School), Emanuel Reicher (Dramatic School), Hans Pfitzner (Composition, Piano), Otto Singer (Piano) entered the staff of teachers of the Conservatoire.

UNIVERSITY OF DURHAM.

Examinations for Degrees in Music are held in March and September. Full particulars, with copies of former papers, of Dr. Armes, The Bailey, Durham.

Under the direction of The Victoria College Corporation, Ltd.

VICTORIA COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

Incorporated 1891.

Patrons:
The Rt. Hon. The Marquis of Lorne, K.T.
The Rt. Hon. The Earl of Dartmouth.

BOARD OF EXAMINATION.

J. H. Lewis, Mus. Doc., D.C.L. (Principal).
George Prior, Mus. Doc., Oxon., F.R.C.O. (Registrar)
J. M. Bentley, Mus. Doc., Cantab., Hon. F.R.A.M.

Metropolitan Examinations, in all subjects and for all grades, including the Diplomas of Associate (A.V.C.M.), Associate in Music (A.Mus. V.C.M.), Licentiate (L.V.C.M.), and Licentiate in Music (L.Mus. V.C.M.), will be held July 6, 1898. Last day of entry, June 15.

Next Local Theoretical Examination, July 6, 1898. Local Practical Examinations are now being held at the various Centres.

Gold, Silver, and Bronze Medals are offered for competition.

The Educational Department is under the direction of Dr. Prior.

Local Secretaries required for towns not already represented.

Full particulars on application.

GEO. A. STANTON, F.G.C.M., Secretary.

Central Office: 11, Burleigh Street, Strand, W.C.

SIXTEENTH MUSICAL COMPETITION.—TWELVE GUINEAS in PRIZES again offered. Conditions, copy of hymns, and specimen copy of previous prize tunes Post-free for Three-halfpence. Jas. Broadbent, 13, Brunswick Place, Leeds.

ESTABLISHED 1780.

ERARD

PIANOS

1898 MODEL. OBLIQUE.

FULL TRICHORD.

PATENT DOUBLE CHECK ACTION.

Height, 4 ft. 1 in.

IN ROSEWOOD, BLACKWOOD, OR MAHOGANY.

This 1898 MODEL has been introduced by Messrs. ERARD to meet the growing demand for an Instrument of their manufacture at a Popular Price.

MR. PADEREWSKI,

AFTER IN EVERY WAY TRYING AND TESTING THIS NEW MODEL

PRONOUNCED IT TO BE DELIGHTFUL IN TONE AND TOUCH.

PRICE 70 GUINEAS.

LIBERAL DISCOUNT FOR CASH, OR MAY BE PURCHASED ON THE THREE YEARS SYSTEM.

S. AND P. ERARD,

18, Great Marlborough Street, London, W.

Digitized by Google

PROFESSIONAL NOTICES.

MISS FLORENCE ARMRIDING (Soprano)
(Pupil of Mr. Shakespeare and Medalist, R.A.M.).
Oratorios, Concerts, Lessons, &c., at 20, Conduit Street.
Address, Leicester Villa, Ealing, W.

MISS LIZZIE AUSTIN (Soprano)
(Silver Medalist and Certificate, R.A.M.)
Opera, Oratorio, Concerts, &c. 65, Philbeach Gdns., Earl's Ct., S.W.

MISS ETHEL BARNARD (Soprano)
(Bronze and Silver Medals, Certificate of Merit, and Rutson Memorial Prizeholder, R.A.M.)
German Songs a specialty. 25, Upper Richmond Road, Putney, S.W.

MISS ETHEL BEETLESTONE (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, At Homes.
5, Dunster Gardens, Brondesbury, N.W.

MISS ELLA CHALLIS (Soprano)
Oratorio, Opera, Concerts, At Homes.
48, Tollington Park, N.

MADAME CONWAY (Soprano)
444, Moss Lane East, Oxford Road, Manchester.

MRS. GLOVER EATON, L.R.A.M. (Soprano)
Oratorio, Ballads, At Homes, &c.
"Creation," Leek, Dec., 1897.—"The part of Gabriel was splendidly taken by Mrs. Glover Eaton."
Address, Stourport; and Messrs. Elgar Bros., Worcester.

MISS MARJORIE EATON (Soprano)
Oratorios, Concerts, &c. 237, Katherine Street, Ashton-under-Lyne.

MADAME GOODALL (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Address, Leeds.

MISS CORDELIA GRYLLS (Soprano)
(Of the Crystal Palace Orchestral Concerts, &c.)
3, Broadhurst Gardens, South Hampstead, N.W.

MISS BESSIE HOLT (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Address, Rawtenstall, near Manchester.

MISS ADA LEE (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, At Homes, &c. Address, 164, Strand, W.C.

MISS VERA LORENCE (Soprano)
303, Upland Road, Dulwich, S.E.

MADAME ANNIE NORLEDGE (Soprano)
For Oratorios and Ballad Concerts.
Address, 1, Northgate, Newark, Notts.

MISS ELSIE PATON (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, Banquets, &c.
Address, 223, Burdett Road, Limehouse, E.

MISS MARGARET PEARSON (Soprano)
Concerts, Oratorios, &c. For terms, &c., 50, Bloom St., Stockport.

MISS AMY SARGENT, A.R.A.M. (Soprano)
124, Marylebone Road, N.W.

MISS FANNIE SELLERS (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, Recitals, &c., Crag Cottage, Knaresbro'.

MISS FLORENCE VEREY (Soprano)
Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
Apply, care of N. Vert, Esq., 6, Cork Street, W.; or, 63, Lower Addiscombe Road, Croydon.

MISS CONSTANCE YORKE (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Ballads, At Homes, &c.
For terms, apply, Sunnyside, Sycamore Rd., Smethwick, Birmingham.

MISS MARY WILLIS (Mezzo-Soprano)
For Oratorios, Operas, Concerts, or Private Lessons, address,
9, Rochester Terrace, Camden Road, N.W.

MADAME ALISON CAIRD (Contralto)
Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
Lossie House, 40, St. Margaret's Road, Crofton Park, S.E.
"A contralto vocalist of undeniable ability. She possesses a voice of great beauty and flexibility, her enunciation is clear and effective, and she imparts to her singing a dramatic power of no mean order."—Marylebone Times, January 28, 1898.
"Gave a brilliantly effective interpretation of the anthem 'Return, O God of Hosts,' and in 'Oh, thou that tellest,' she again gave a faultless rendering of one of Handel's most coveted pieces."—East London Observer, March 1, 1898.

MISS FLORENCE CROFT (Contralto)
MR. D'ARCY CLAYTON (Tenor)
75, Brecknock Road, N.W.

MISS KATE POWER (Contralto)
(Silver Medalist, R.A.M.)
Concerts, At Homes, Oratorio, Pupils, &c. 27, Upper Bedford Pl., W.C.

MISS ADA SLATER (Contralto)
For Oratorios, Concerts, Banquets, At Homes.
54, Dunsmure Road, Stamford Hill, N.

MR. J. G. BLANCHARD
(Principal Tenor, Italian Church, Hatton Garden).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Address, 41, Savernake Road, N.W.

MR. WALTER CLINCH (Tenor)
(Late of St. George's Chapel, Windsor Castle).
For Oratorios, Concerts, At Homes, &c., address, Athole House, Alfred Road, Acton, W.

MR. VERNON HENDERSON (Tenor)
For critiques and terms,
Address, 22, Powis Square, W.

MR. ARTHUR F. JOHNS (Tenor)
For Oratorios, Ballad Concerts, Banquets, &c.
Address, 202, Grove Road, Bow, E.

MR. SIDWELL JONES (Tenor)
(Solo Tenor, St. James's Church, Westmoreland Street, W.)
Oratorios, Concerts, Banquets, &c., 3, Birnam Rd., Tollington Pk., N.

MR. GWILYM RICHARDS (Tenor)
Winner of Joseph Mass Memorial Prize,
" " Goldberg Prize,
" " Evill Prize,
" " Rutson Prize.
At the Royal Academy of Music.
Of the Crystal Palace and St. James's Hall Concerts.
For Oratorios, Ballad Concerts. 30, Redburn Street, Chelsea, S.W.

MR. JOSEPH WILLIAMS (Tenor)
For Concerts, At Homes, Masonic Banquets, &c.
Address, 22, Bolden Street, St. John's, S.E.

MR. HERBERT ALDRIDGE (Baritone)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
Address, Saxonbury Villa, Buxton Road, Stratford, E.

MR. W. H. DAWSON (Baritone)
(York Minster).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c., 25, New Walk Terrace; or, Minster, York.

MR. and MRS. WALLIS A. WALLIS
(Baritone and Soprano).
Duets, Cantillations, &c. Address, Sharon, Acton, W.

MR. J. W. METCALFE (Bass)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
"Messiah."—"Mr. Metcalfe's was probably the best rendering of Handel's songs we have had for last quarter of a century. He was artistic in all of the airs, and had a suitable vocal organ with which to sing such massive songs as 'But who may abide' and 'Why do the nations.'"—Burnley Express, December 24, 1897.
Address, The Minster, York.

MISS MARIAN JAY (Solo Violinist)
(Pupil of M. Emile Sauret, Medalist and Cert. R.A.M.)
Concerts, At Homes, Lessons.
26, Wigmore Street, W.

MR. AUGUSTUS TOOP, A.R.C.O.
Organist and Musical Director, St. Peter's Church, Vere Street, W.
Teacher of Organ, Pianoforte, and Singing.
Accompanist, &c.
79, Walm Lane, Willesden Green; or, 60, Berners Street, W.

THE CLAYTON QUARTET
(Vocal and Instrumental), Complete or Part-Programme.
75, Brecknock Road, N.W.

MISS MARIE BISHOP.—"Has a full, sweet, and rich contralto voice, of sympathetic quality and extensive range. Her intonation is very reliable, and she phrases in good style."—Vide Press, December, 1897.

MISS MAY VALENTINE.—"Possesses brilliant, sweet, and flexible soprano voice of nearly three octaves, from G, below middle C, to E in alt. Sang the 'Jewel Song' ('Faust'), which was undoubtedly the best we have ever heard."—Vide Press, Dec., 1897.
Address, 31, Great Western Street, Alexandra Park, Manchester.

MISS BESSIE HOLT (on Tour with Madame Antoinette Sterling's Concert Party). The following places are booked: Accrington, Bacup, Colne, Settle, Saltaire, Howarth, Haslingden, Keighley, Ilkley, Great Harwood, Bolton, Southport, Rochdale, Hebden Bridge, Todmorden, Halifax, Scarborough, Newcastle, &c. Address, Rawtenstall, Manchester.

MR. EGBERT ROBERTS (Bass, Conductor, Italian Church, Hatton Garden) requests that communications respecting Oratorios, Concerts, or Lessons be addressed, 45, Pentonville Road, N. Oratorio and Concert Parties arranged.

PUPILS and Friends of Mr. ISIDORE DE SOLLA and Daughters, please note NEW ADDRESS, 22, Upper Woburn Place, W.C.

Digitized by Google

MISS MAUDE BALLARD
(SOPRANO)

Copy of testimonial from the late Sir Joseph Barnby shortly before his death: "I have much pleasure in recommending Miss Maude Ballard as an admirable singer, possessed of a very good voice and considerable dramatic talent, who is likely to make a good position in the musical world. She sang Mendelssohn's 'Loreley' at a concert I conducted with the greatest possible success. In fact, she is an admirable musician, and one who could be relied upon, whether on the stage or concert platform.—Joseph Barnby."

"In the absence of Miss Esther Palliser, through illness, her solo, 'Hear ye, Israel,' was undertaken by Miss Maude Ballard, a lady who possesses that extreme rarity, a pure and perfectly trained soprano voice. She received a well-merited encore. Her other solo, 'I will extol Thee' (Costa), was sung very well indeed, the difficult florid passages being executed with ease and brilliancy."—Kensington News.

Press notices, terms, and photo, 13, Herbert Rd., Stockwell, S.W.

MRS. S. FORD
(SOPRANO).

For terms and Press notices, address, Avondale, Park Road, E., Wolverhampton.

MISS MAGGIE JAQUES
(SOPRANO)

March, April, &c., Engagements:—

March 2, Dudley, "Spring" and "Rose Maiden"; 14 and 15, Aberaychan and Pontypool, "Legend of St. David"; 16, Wigan, Ballads; 17, Lytham, "Creation"; 21, Sheffield, "Flag of England"; 22, Derby, "Acis and Galatea" and "Ode on St. Cecilia's Day"; 24, Buxton, Ballads; 25, Wirksworth, "Hymn of Praise" and "May Queen"; 28, Walsall, "Samson"; 29, Buxton, "Messiah"; 30, Coleshill, "St. John's Eve"; 31, Uttoxeter, "King Olaf"; April 12, Horncastle, "May Queen"; 14, Thrapston, "Creation"; 20, Netherton, "Creation"; 22, Exeter, Ballads; 24, Wednesbury, "St. Paul"; 28, Ludlow, "Creation"; May 3, Cannock, "Joan of Arc"; 4, Fenny Stratford, "Samson"; 5, Bletchley, "Samson"; 10, Howden, "Flag of England"; July 30, Buxton, Ballads; October 23, 24, and 25, Birmingham Promenade Concerts; February, 1899, Blackpool, "Elijah."

Terms, &c., address:—
3, EAGLE PARADE, BUXTON, DERBYSHIRE.

MADAME ADA LOARING
(SOPRANO)
Merrion, Wellington Road, Peckham, S.E.

MISS
BEATRICE PALLISTER
The New Yorkshire Soprano. Broxholme Lane, Doncaster.

MADAME LAURA SMART
(SOPRANO).
Oratorios, Operatic Recitals, Ballad Concerts.
Address, 106, Bolingbroke Grove, Wandsworth Common, S.W.; or, 50, Church Street, Liverpool.

MISS BERYL CLIVE
(CONTRALTO)
Has REMOVED to 235, New Cross Road, London, S.E.

MR. TOM CHILD
(THE YORKSHIRE TENOR)

Winner of the 100 Guineas Prize, London, is engaged at the following places this season:—

Blackpool, 15 Concerts; Bridlington, 7; Leeds, 6; York, 2; Doncaster, 2; Calverley, 4; Dewsbury, 2; Morley, 2; Manchester, 2; Darlington, 2; Bradford, 3; Bramley, 2; Farsley, 2; Preston, Oakworth, Belfast, Walsall, Birmingham, Rawdon, Holbeck and Dukinfield, Grimsby, Pocklington, Bacup, Rotherham, Sheffield, Retford, Pudsey, Horsforth, Scarborough, Batley, Sunderland, Bishop Auckland, Selby, Gateshead, Selkirk, Beverley, Droyladen, Saddleworth, Malsis Hall, Ossett, Ripponden, Potternewton, Liverpool, Consett, Durham, Harrogate, Brighouse, Oulton, Bury, Hull, Rochdale, Pontefract, Accrington, Keighley, Armley, Thornton, Delph, Oldham, Chester, Clayton, Ballymena, Ireland.

Permanent address: The Poplars, Calverley, Leeds.

MR. JOS. REED
(PRINCIPAL TENOR, TRINITY COLLEGE).
For Oratorios, Ballad Concerts, &c. Terms, Garden Walk, Cambridge.

MR. MONTAGUE BORWELL
(BARITONE).

For Oratorios, Concerts, &c.,
Works undertaken at sight if necessary.
Care of Mendelssohn Parry, 11, Northumberland Mansions, W.

MR. THURGATE SIMPSON
(TENOR).
Oratorio, Operatic Recitals, Ballads. Specially engaged for Oratorio.
For terms, dates, &c. Address, Collyhurst, Manchester.

MR. GORDON HELLER
(BARITONE)
A.R.C.M. (Double Diploma).
20, Blenheim Terrace, Leeds.

MR. EDWARD ILES
(BARITONE).
Address, 31, York Street, Gloucester Place;
or, Mr. N. Vert, 6, Cork Street, Burlington Gardens, W.

MR. CHARLES KNOWLES
(BARITONE).
Of the Crystal Palace and principal Provincial Concerts.

Leeds Choral Union.—"Samson and Delilah."—"Mr. Charles Knowles sustained a dual rôle in a style to show the rapid progress he has made of late. His singing throughout was to the point and clever."—Leeds Mercury, November 4, 1897.

Wakefield Choral Society.—"Messiah."—"Mr. Charles Knowles acquitted himself excellently in the heavy work which fell to him."—Wakefield Express, December 11, 1897.

Orchestral Concert.—"Mr. Charles Knowles next appeared and sang Mendelssohn's 'I am a roamer' in so excellent a manner as to gain a hearty encore, which he responded to with 'Revenge.' Mr. Knowles gave Gounod's 'Nazareth,' which was vociferously encored, and he favoured the audience with 'The Wolf.' . . . We hope soon to be favoured with a revisit."—Walsall Advertiser, January 1, 1898.

Stockport S.S. Choir.—"Mr. Charles Knowles was in fine voice and created a very good impression. 'Honour and arms' was greeted with loud applause, which undoubtedly was well earned. . . . Mr. Knowles followed with a clever enunciation of 'Nazareth,' for which he was loudly applauded, and he repeated the last verse."—Stockport Chronicle, January 19, 1898.

For terms, dates, &c., address, 61, Burley Street, Leeds.

MR. DANIEL PRICE
(BARITONE),
Westminster Abbey. Address, 3. Rutland Pk., Willesden Green, N.W.

MR. CHARLES TREE
(BARITONE).
1, Finborough Road, S.W.; or, Mr. Healey, 17, Great Marlborough St.

MR. MUSGROVE TUFNAIL
(BARITONE).
22, Ferndale Road, Clapham, S.W.

MR. CHARLES WALTON
(BARITONE)
(Pupil of Andrew Black, Esq.).
Terms, Press notices, &c., 79, Coppice Street, Oldham.

MR. ARTHUR BARLOW
(BASS).
For Oratorios, Operas, Concerts, &c.
Note new address, 6, Beech Mansions, West Hampstead, N.W.

MR. J. E. ROBERTS
(BASS).
For Concerts, Oratorios, &c. Address, Astley, Manchester.

MR. HENRY SUNMAN
(BASS)
Licentiate (Artist) of the Royal Academy of Music.

"Creation" (Gloucester).—"Tuesday night's concert introduced a new vocalist to Gloucester, although he is well known in the lyric world—namely, Mr. Henry Sunman. This gentleman hails from Oxford, but he is most popular in London circles and various parts of the kingdom. We can only congratulate the Gloucester Society upon having been able to secure the services of such an artist, who at once made himself a favourite with the audience, and very justly so. Mr. Sunman possesses a magnificently trained voice—a voice full of rich tones, splendid compass, and, what is more, he knows how to use it both dramatically and pathetically—and under every circumstance in which he finds himself. He not only sings with grand effect, but he enters into the spirit of the work which he interprets. For the nonce he is no ordinary vocalist, but a real character in all the parts he undertakes. The numbers allotted to him in the 'Creation' were efficiently given, and were sung with a polish which denoted that he understood his work and that he appreciated the difficult and trying parts he was undertaking. The recitative 'And God said, Let the waters,' and the aria 'Rolling in foaming billows,' were given with vigour, and yet a great deal of tendresse was infused into the rendering; his other numbers were equally well sung, particularly 'And God created great whales' and 'And the Angels,' while another fine piece of artistic work was 'And God said, Let the earth,' and 'Straight opening her fertile womb.' He also sang the aria 'Now heaven in fullest glory shone' in a style which won for him long and deserved applause. In the duet, too, with Miss Maggie Davies, Mr. Sunman once more displayed the powers of a magnificent voice."—Gloucester Chronicle, March 5, 1898.

For terms, &c., please address, Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford.

Digitized by Google

MR. LLEWELLYN

ORATORIO, OPERA, BALLAD CONCERTS.

Mr. Llewellyn will esteem it a favour if Secretaries of Societies, Conductors, &c., who may have made application for his services in any quarter, and failed to obtain answers, will communicate with Healey's Agency, 17, Great Marlborough Street, London, W.

MISS ALICE MARY SMITH

(Mrs. Alfred Dymes)
Associate of the Royal College of Music
HARPIST.
Care of Messrs. C. Holdernesse and Co., 105, New Oxford Street, W.C.

SOLO BOYS.

LONDON TRAINING SCHOOL FOR CHORISTERS, POLYTECHNIC, REGENT ST., W.

President, MR. ALBERTO RANDEGGER.
Principal, MR. JAMES BATES.

Twelve Solo Boys can be strongly recommended for Oratorios, Festival Services, Concerts, Organ Recitals, &c. The boys can be heard, by appointment, at their practising rooms, which are nearly opposite the Queen's Hall, Langham Place. For copies of recent testimonials, critiques, &c., address, Mr. James Bates, Polytechnic, Regent Street, W. Telegrams: "Bates," Polytechnic, London.

MR. DUTTON'S SOLO BOYS

MR. DUTTON (St. Paul's Cathedral) supplies Boys, personally trained, for Church Festivals, Organ Recitals, Concerts, At Homes, &c.
For vacant dates, terms, and further particulars, address—
Mr. Henry J. Dutton, 19, Alpha Road, New Cross, S.E.

THE CELEBRATED SOLO BOYS

MASTER SHOWELL FORD
AND
MASTER ROLAND FORD

(Of the Birmingham Town Hall Concerts, &c.)
For Concerts, Organ Recitals, Choir Festivals, &c.
For terms and Press notices, address, Mr. S. Ford, Avondale, Park Road, E., Wolverhampton.

MR. JOSEF CANTOR'S

"GEMS OF THE OPERAS"

CONCERT COMPANY.

All communications, Church Street, Liverpool.

Telegrams—"Cantor, Liverpool."

THE EUTERPEAN VOCAL QUARTET

Misses ANNIE SWINFEN, ANNIE WILSON,
Messrs. AGER GROVER, MUSGROVE TUFNAIL.
Concerts, Banquets, &c.
Address, Mr. M. Tufnail, 22, Ferndale Road, S.W.

ROYAL WINDSOR GLEE SINGERS

(Of St. George's Chapel Royal and Eton College Chapel).

Mr. WALTER CLAY. Mr. ABEL STARKEY.
Mr. DAVID HUMPHREYS. Mr. WALTER DODDS.

For Concerts, At Homes, Masonic or other Banquets, &c., address, D. Humphreys, 19, The Cloisters, Windsor Castle; or, N. Vert, Esq., 6, Cork Street, W.

MR. STEDMAN'S MUSICAL AGENCY

(Established 1877).
Artists for Opera, Theatre, Oratorio, At Homes, Banquets, &c.
Choir Boys and Girls.
58, Berners Street, W.

DR. ALLISON instructed by Post Candidates who OBTAINED DEGREES OF MUS.D. AND MUS.B. at Oxford (1897), Cambridge, Dublin, and Durham Universities, Diplomas of L.R.A.M. (1897, &c.), A.Mus. L.C.M., L.Mus. L.C.M., F.R.C.O., and A.R.C.O.; Appointments at College and School of Music, and as Chapel Royal, Cathedral, and Parish Church Organists; Gold Medals, Prizes, "Honours" and Pass Certificates (of the Colleges of Music) to the number of 500. Harmony, Counterpoint, Orchestration, and Revision of Compositions, by Post, to correspondents anywhere. Personal instruction in Theory, Singing, Organ, and Pianoforte. Cambridge House, 68, Nelson Street, Manchester.

REVISION OF MUSICAL COMPOSITIONS.
Dr. Horton Allison, Mus.D. 68, Nelson Street, Manchester.

MR. W. C. AINLEY, Mus. Bac., Cantab. (1884), teaches HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, &c., by Correspondence. Terms moderate. Eastfield House, Mirfield, Yorkshire.

MR. J. PERCY BAKER, A.R.A.M., Mus. Bac., Dunelm, teaches HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, &c., by Post. Personal Lessons in Pianoforte or Theory at own or pupil's residence; or at 84, New Bond Street, W. Schools attended. Address, Willersley House, Old Charlton.

ARTHUR T. PROGGATT, Mus.D., T.C.L., teaches HARMONY and COUNTERPOINT by Correspondence. Revision and re-arrangement of Orchestral Works a specialty. Has recently re-arranged the Wind Parts of Elgar's "Black Knight" (for small orchestra) to the satisfaction of the Composer. Parish Church, Dudley.

MR. T. HEMMINGS, Mus. Bac., Oxon., F.R.C.O., L.Mus.T.C.L., gives LESSONS in HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, &c., and prepares CANDIDATES for ARTS and MUSICAL EXAMINATIONS by Post. Latest successes, Mus. Bac., Oxford and Durham, L.R.A.M., A.R.C.M., F.R.C.O., A.R.C.O., &c. Sheppard Street, Stoke-on-Trent.

DR. F. J. KARN, Mus. Bac., Cantab.; Mus. Doc., Trinity College, Toronto; L.Mus., T.C.L., gives LESSONS Personally or by Post in HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, FUGUE, FORM, ORCHESTRATION, ACOUSTICS, &c., and prepares for Musical Examinations. Latest successes: LONDON MUS. BAC., December, 1897; L.R.A.M. (Pianoforte), 1898; F.R.C.O. and A.R.C.O., January, 1898; MUS. BAC., DURHAM, March and September, 1897, and all previous years; and FIRST, March and September, 1897, and all previous years; A.R.C.M., 1896 and 1897; OXFORD, MUS. BAC., FINAL and FIRST, 1896 and 1897; CAMBRIDGE, FINAL and FIRST MUS. BAC.; DUBLIN, MUS. BAC.; L.R.A.M. (Composition), 1897; Mus. Bac. and Mus. Doc., Toronto; L.Mus. and A.Mus., L.C.M.; L.T.C.L. and A.T.C.L., 1896 and 1897; Senior Local R.A.M. and R.C.M. Special and individual attention given to Correspondents. Upwards of 420 Diplomas and Degrees and several Gold and Silver Medals gained by pupils. MSS. corrected for publication; Analysis of classical works for Examinations. Terms moderate. Address, 70, Parkhill Road, London, N.W.

DR. ORLANDO A. MANSFIELD, Mus. Doc. T.U.T., L.Mus. L.C.M., F.R.C.O., L.T.C.L. (Author of "The Student's Harmony"), Torquay, PREPARES by Post for MUSICAL EXAMINATIONS. MSS. revised. Examination pieces analysed.

MR. W. E. PITMAN, Mus. Bac., Oxon., F.R.C.O., teaches HARMONY and COUNTERPOINT, Personally or by Correspondence, and coaches for the Universities, Royal College of Organists, and other Musical Exams. Thorough grounding in the various subjects. For terms, address, W. E. Pitman, Fir Cottage, Kenley, Surrey.

MR. G. DAN RAWLE, B.Mus. (Lond.), L.Mus. T.C.L., PREPARES CANDIDATES, Personally or by Correspondence, for University Degrees and other Examinations in Music. Terms moderate. 14, Sunnyside Road, Ealing, W.

DR. HAMILTON ROBINSON, Mus. Doc., Dunelm, F.R.C.O., Lecturer on Harmony in King's College, Lond., Organist and Choirmaster, St. Stephen's, South Kensington, PIANOFORTE and ORGAN LESSONS, HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, COMPOSITION, &c., Personally or by Correspondence. Preparation for University, R.C.O., and all other Examinations. Classes. 54, Baron's Court Road, West Kensington, W.

MR. BRUCE STEANE (Composer of "The Ascension," contributor to Novello's Octavo Anthems, &c., prepares rapidly and systematically for MUSICAL EXAMS. in all subjects, Personally or by Post. MSS. corrected and revised for publication. Address, "The Leas," Clyde Road, Wallington, Surrey.

MR. R. STOKOE, Mus. Bac., Cantab., F.R.C.O., gives ORGAN LESSONS at Christ Church, Down Street, Piccadilly. Harmony, Counterpoint, &c., taught personally or by Post 86, Rossiter Road, Balham, S.W.

DR. TAYLOR, Mus.D., Oxon., F.R.C.O., L.T.C.L. (Author of "Vocal Score Reading Exercises" and "Figured Bass and Melody Exercises," for R.C.O. Students), prepares CANDIDATES for MUSICAL EXAMINATIONS by Post. Address, Wolverhampton Road, Stafford.

MR. A. W. TOMLYN, Mus.B., Dunelm, L.T.C.L., Berwick-on-Tweed, COACHES CANDIDATES for University and all other Exams. by Post. Every possible attention and assistance guaranteed. Latest success, Final Mus. Bac., Durham, March, 1897.

MR. W. H. TUTT, Mus. Bac., Cantab., L.R.A.M., teaches HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, ACOUSTICS, &c., by Correspondence. Ashburn, Derbyshire.

MR. W. WOLSTENHOLME, Mus. Bac., Oxon., teaches HARMONY and COUNTERPOINT by Correspondence. Compositions revised. 86, Oswald Street, Blackburn.

THE TRAINING of ALTOS.—LESSONS in VOICE PRODUCTION and SINGING given by MUNRO DAVISON, L.R.A.M. (Singing), F.R.C.O., L.T.C.L., Professor of Alto Singing, Guildhall School of Music; Solo Alto, Temple Church; Organist, &c., Holy Innocents', Hornsey, &c.; Professor of Singing, Organ, Pianoforte, and Harmony. 142, Stroud Green Road, N.

Digitized by Google

TRAINING OF TENORS.—DAVIDSON PALMER'S METHOD.—For terms for lessons, address, 2, Highwood Road, Upper Holloway, N. The principles on which this method is based are fully explained in Mr. Palmer's new book, "THE RIGHTLY-PRODUCED VOICE," which contains information of the utmost importance to tenors. Price 2s. 6d., post-free, from the Author, at the above address. See Advertisement on another page.

MR. ARNOLD BIRCH'S NEW ADDRESS of Residence and Music Studio, 23, Upper Addison Gardens, W.; or, Messrs. Keith, Prowse, 167, New Bond Street. For Voice Production and Singing. New Vocal Duets for Ladies or Boys, "The Pilgrim's Quest," "The Spanish Captive." 4d. each.

VOICE PRODUCTION, STYLE, AND ARTISTIC SINGING.

MR. F. ST. JOHN LACY, A.R.A.M., &c.

Receives Pupils at his residence, Albany Chambers, York Street, Queen Anne's Gate, S.W. (St. James's Park Station).

N.B.—Mr. St. John Lacy does not accept Concert engagements.

MR. FREDERIC W. PARTRIDGE, A.R.C.M. (strongly recommended by Mr. Santley), teaches the ART of SINGING at a Studio in the West-End or at his private residence, 11, Manor Grove, Beckenham, S.E.

MR. G. H. GREGORY, Mus. Bac., Oxon., F.R.C.O., Organist of Boston Parish Church, Lincolnshire, has a VACANCY for an ARTICLED PUPIL. Good opportunity for learning the profession in all its branches. Premium required. Address as above.

DR. WARWICK JORDAN, F.R.C.O., Organist and Director of St. Stephen's, Lewisham; Hon. Org., London Gregorian Association; Prof. of Organ and Harmony, Guildhall School of Music; Examiner to the Royal College of Organists, &c., has a VACANCY for ARTICLED PUPIL, either resident or non-resident. Fine organ, 50 stops; hydraulic blowing. Daily services. Address, 2, Radford Road, Lewisham, S.E.

MR. H. WHARTON WELLS, L.R.A.M., F.R.C.O., Organist and Director of the Choir, Putney Parish Church, has a VACANCY for a second RESIDENT PUPIL. Terms moderate. Choral service. Fine organ. Thorough musical training. Comfortable home. Allerton, Montserrat Road, Putney, S.W.

WANTED, LADY SOPRANO, to lead Church Choir. Occasional solos. Church of England Service. W.C. district. Salary, £10. Apply, by letter, stating experience and references, to S. F., care of E. Howlett, 71, St. Mary Axe, E.C.

KING'S COLLEGE, CAMBRIDGE.—CHORISTERSHIPS.—The trial of voices to fill VACANCIES in the CHOIR SCHOOL will be held on Thursday, May 26. Candidates must have a good ear and good voice, and should be between 9 and 12 years of age. For particulars, apply to the Dean. Names to be sent in by May 19.

LLANDAFF CATHEDRAL SCHOOL.—A PROBATIONERSHIP (39 guineas) will be COMPETED FOR on Wednesday, April 6. Only one Choral Service daily. School strictly preparatory for the Public Schools. Candidates must be sons of gentlemen and between 8 and 12 years of age. Apply to Rev. Ernest Owen, M.A., Head Master.

CHOIR BOYS WANTED, for St. Peter's Church, Vere Street, W. Free Education at Polytechnic School, Regent Street. Good voices essential. Write, Mr. Augustus Toop, A.R.C.O., 79, Walm Lane, Willesden Green.

SOLO BOY WANTED, for the Church of the Ascension, Balham Hill, S.W. £20. Good Sight Reader. Apply, by letter, to Adolphus Antoine, 43, Alderbrook Road, Balham.

ALTO WANTED, for Holy Trinity Church, Gray's Inn Road. £10 per year. Apply, Organist.

ALTO WANTED, competent, with good articulation, for St. John's Church, Highbury Vale. Apply, stating salary, references, &c., to C. Welch, Hon. Choirmaster, Lynwood, Seven Sisters' Road, N.

ALTO and TENOR WANTED, for St. Paul's, Kilburn. Salary, £15 each. Good readers. Address, Leonard Butler, 1, Brondesbury Road, N.W.

ST. PAUL'S, Tottenham.—ALTO and BASS WANTED. Must be good readers. Salary, £12 each. Apply, W. A. Hall, 7, The Avenue, Bruce Grove, Tottenham.

TENOR WANTED—Good voice and reader—for West-End Church. Apply, G. B. Lissant, Esq., 43, Markham Square, S.W.

TENOR WANTED, for West-End Church. Salary, £20. Good quality voice, quick reader, and experienced singer indispensable. Write, stating past experience, to "Precentor," 79, Walm Lane, Willesden Green.

TENOR WANTED, for Concert Party. (Living in London.) Numerous engagements. By letter, Conductor, 6, Belitha Villas, Barnsbury, N.

TENOR WANTED, St. Philip's, Queen's Road, Battersea. Full Choral Services. Must be good reader. £8. Apply, letter only, B. Heaviside, 8, Albert Road, Battersea.

BASS (not Baritone) WANTED, at once, for St. Margaret's (the Parish Church), Lee, S.E. Good reader. Stipend, £20. Apply, by letter, to Howard Leask, 297, High Rd., Lee.

BASS VOICE WANTED, at once, for a West-End Church. Salary, £10 per annum. Apply, by letter, stating experience, Choir, 49, Christchurch Avenue, Brondesbury, N.W.

BASSES (voluntary) WANTED, for St. Peter's Church, Vere Street, W. Full Choral Service. Good voice and sight reading indispensable. Apply, at the Church, any Tuesday evening 8.45 (Vestry door). Mr. Augustus Toop, Musical Director.

SOUTHWELL CATHEDRAL.—LAY CLERK WANTED (Bass, not Baritone). Candidates must be Communicants and under 28 years of age. Stipend, £60 per annum. Enclose copies of testimonials to R. W. Liddle, Esq., Vicar's Court, Southwell.

EXETER CATHEDRAL.—There is a VACANCY in the Cathedral Choir for a BASS voice. For particulars, application should be made to Rev. H. de Vere Welchman, Succentor, The Close, Exeter.

MISS ESTELLA LINDEN (Soprano), 2½ years principal Soloist at West-End Church, desires APPOINTMENT as PRINCIPAL VOCALIST in a Church. 16, St. Stephen's Road, Bayswater, W.

MISS INGRAM TUCKER (Deputy Contralto Soloist, City Temple) is disengaged for an APPOINTMENT as PRINCIPAL VOCALIST in a Church. Twynham, Whetstone, N. The above two artists may also be engaged together, for Duets, &c.

SOPRANO (cert., good voice) will sing for expenses. Ballads, At Homes, Oratorios, &c. Address, letters only, M., 56, Dynham Road, West Hampstead.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER WANTED, for St. George the Martyr, Southwark. Salary £40. Applications to Hon. Sec., 15, Waleran Buildings, S.E.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER WANTED, for the Wesleyan Church, Headingley, Leeds. Large male choir (paid). Good organ and service. Salary, £50. Apply, by letter, stating age and qualifications, and enclosing testimonials, to J. Walter Harland, Alpha Cottage, Far Headingley, Leeds.

ECCLES PARISH CHURCH, Lancashire.—ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER WANTED. Apply, by letter, to the Vicar, stating age and qualifications.

LIMEHOUSE PARISH CHURCH.—ASSISTANT-ORGANIST REQUIRED. One weekly Service and Sunday afternoons. Three-manual Organ, 40 stops. Apply, by letter, to Mowbray P. Balme, Organist, 112, Claremont Road, Forest Gate.

WANTED, a DEPUTY, to take Afternoon Service in return for Organ Practice. Also, MALE ALTO, for St. John's, Notting Hill. £10 per annum. Address, A. B., 23, Upper Addison Gardens, W.

ORGANIST-ASSISTANT PUPIL WANTED, who can play a Service. Musical Education and preparation for Degree or Coll. Org. Exam. in return. Post found at end of time. Must not be too old, and must provide or pay for board. Address, George Havelock, Doncaster.

CHOIRMASTER WANTED, for Clapham Wesleyan Church. Salary, 20 guineas. Must be member of Society. Apply, by letter only, with full particulars and testimonials, to Rev. W. Hawken, 25, The Chase, Clapham, S.W.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER of St. Andrew's Church, Moscow, desires RE-ENGAGEMENT, Anglican or Gregorian. Experienced. Apply, till April 25, to A.R.C.O., English Church, Moscow.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER, of considerable experience (M.A., Mus. Bac., F.R.C.O.), is open for RE-ENGAGEMENT. Midlands or South preferred. Excellent testimonials. Address, Magister, Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners St., W.

MR. R. HANBURY, Organist, St. Paul's, Clapham, late Assistant at St. Paul's, Knightsbridge, &c. For Services, Organ Recitals, &c. Eleven years' experience fully Choral Services. Address, St. Cecilia's, Killyon Road, Larkhall Rise, S.W.

ORGANIST-CHOIRMASTER seeks POST (London or near). Over two years present appointment. Highest tests. Organist, 15, Queen's Road, Peckham.

EXCHANGE.—The ORGANIST of St. Paul's Church, Dorking, desires to EXCHANGE DUTIES, House, &c., for the month of August. Light duties. Sea-coast. For particulars, apply, Fugue, Handel Villa, Cliftonville, Dorking, Surrey.

ORGANISTS wanting SPECIMENS of POPULAR CHURCH MUSIC, write to J. H. Maunder, San Remo, Bromley, Kent.

ORGANISTS, CHOIRMASTERS, and others requiring only a limited number of their Compositions, should send for DINHAM, BLYTH & CO.'S SPECIMENS (free). Kyries, Anthems, &c., from 24 copies and upwards. 28, Fenchurch Street, London. Established 1872.

Digitized by Google

MISS ADELINE M. JELF, A.G.S.M., ACCOMPANIST; also gives Lessons in Pianoforte and Harmony. Address, 41, Dulwich Road, Herne Hill, S.E.

LADY (native of Berlin), who has passed through the Royal College of Music at Berlin, having studied Piano and Singing, and for several years afterwards engaged at Klindworth's Conservatorium at Berlin, desires suitable ENGAGEMENT. Address, Herr Arland, Cutthafener Str. 15a, Berlin.

WANTED, in London, by L.R.A.M., APPOINTMENT as TEACHER of MUSIC, Piano, Harmony, Theory. Prepares for all exams. Experienced. Highest references. C. H. Bruce, Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

YOUNG MAN seeks APPOINTMENT as PROOF READER in Music Publishing House. Thorough knowledge of Theory and Composition. Excellent references from pupils can be furnished. Address, Z., care of T. B. Browne's Advertising Offices, 163, Queen Victoria Street, E.C.

EXPERIENCED TUNER and REPAIRER of Pianos and American Organs WANTED. State age and salary required, with references. Photo. None but steady men need apply. Y. X. Z., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners St., W.

PIANOFORTE TUNER and REPAIRER WANTED. Apply, Exe'rs. J. W. Marshall, Horsemarket, Darlington.

WANTED, a practical PIANO REGULATOR, REPAIRER, and TUNER. Permanency. Apply, Paish and Co., Piano Merchants, Torquay.

WANTED, a good PIANOFORTE TUNER for the Country. Must be able to repair Harmoniums and American Organs. Apply, enclosing testimonials, and stating salary expected, to Cramer, Wood and Co., Dublin.

TUNER.—WANTED, immediately, a first-class PIANO TUNER. A permanent and good berth for a steady man. Apply, stating wages required, references, age, and enclosing photo, to Duck, Son and Pinker, Bath.

TUNER WANTED. Must be a practical and experienced workman. Apply, stating age and nature of experience, to W. H. R., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

PIANOFORTE TUNER seeks ENGAGEMENT. Reliable, energetic, and experienced. American Organs, &c. Refs. first-class firms. Address, Pianoforte Tuner, Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

TUNER (Improver) requires SITUATION. Good Tuner, fairly good Repairer. 1 Guinea per week. Good references. Address, Tuner, Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners St.

YOUTH, of good character, wants to LEARN TUNING in London firm. View to permanency when proficient. Address, P., 4, Doddington Grove, Battersea Park.

MANAGER WANTED, for Piano and Organ Shop, South Coast. Must be a sharp business man and able to play. Tuner preferred. Excellent chance to smart man. Apply, by letter, stating experience, to Musicus, 91, Farringdon Road, E.C.

WANTED, an experienced MANAGER, for Branch Pianoforte Warehouse. Must be a good Salesman and Bookkeeper. Apply, A. O., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

WANTED, PIANOFORTE SALESMAN. An experienced and smart man, who can sell from Catalogue, to work several towns for sales and tunings and assist in any part of music business. Must be a good Tuner. Enclose references, photo, and full particulars to Energetic, Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

YOUNG LADY (experienced) WANTED, for Musical Instrument and Music Warehouse. Must be good Pianist and Sight Reader. Apply (enclosing card) to J. F. Hiller, Musicseller, Durham.

WANTED, an ASSISTANT for a Pianoforte Warehouse. Must be an energetic, pushing Salesman, and able to tune. Permanency to suitable man. B. C. A., Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

MUSIC ASSISTANT REQUIRED, immediately. Must know Catalogues thoroughly and be well recommended. Apply, stating salary required, references, and enclosing photo, to Duck, Son and Pinker, Bath.

MANAGER.—RE-ENGAGEMENT WANTED, as such, in a good Music Warehouse. Complete practical knowledge of the business in all its branches. Good Salesman and Tuner. 19 years' experience. References. B. O., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

MANAGER (aged 29), Married, seeks APPOINTMENT. Near London or South Coast. Good Tuner and Salesman. Thorough knowledge of Sheet Music and Small Goods, Bookkeeping, and Concert Agency. Good references. Apply, C. T. A., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

NEW ORGAN STUDIO, with Three-manual PIPE ORGAN, blown by water. Terms for Practice, 1s. per hour. At Smyth's Music Depôt, 54, London Road, Forest Hill, S.E.

ORGAN PRACTICE. Three manuals and pedals. One shilling per hour. The South London Organ Studio, 343, Coldharbour Lane, close to Brixton Station.

ORGANS (CHURCH). Fine toned, modern, 2 manuals, pedal, 15 stops. £95. Another, 6 stops, 2 manuals. £40. Eustace Ingram, 361, Liverpool Road, London, N.

ORGANS (New and Second-hand) for SALE, from £20, with pedals. Instruments for Church, Chapel, and College, built on the most modern principles, at Bedwell and Sons', Cambridge Organ Works, Cambridge.

ORGAN, in Country Church, for immediate SALE. Several new and second-hand Organs, with 3-2 manuals. W. E. Richardson, Central Organ Works, Hulme, Manchester.

9 GUINEAS.—AMERICAN ORGAN (list price, 20 guineas), 11 stops, including two knee-stops and the beautiful solo stops, voix celeste and vox humana; two octave couplers, handsome high case; in use about four months; ten years' warranty; easy terms arranged. Packing and carriage free. Approval. Full price paid will be allowed within three years if exchanged for a higher-class instrument. D'Almaine and Co. (established 113 years), 91, Finsbury Pavement, E.C. Open till 7. Saturdays, 3.

ORGAN for SALE.—St. Michael's, Chester Square, S.W. 3 manuals and pedals. Built in 1847 by Robson; rebuilt and enlarged by Walker. 12 stops on great, 10 on swell, 8 on choir, and 4 on pedals; 5 couplers and 5 composition pedals. May be seen on application to the Organist.

SECOND-HAND ORGANS for SALE.

2. The Lewis Organ, now standing in the Congregational Chapel at Crosby. Two manuals and pedals, 14 stops, full compass, spotted metal, as good as new. Built in 1891. Price £300. Apply to Mr. E. L. Roberts, 15, Alexandra Road, Crosby, Liverpool; or, to the undersigned.
3. The Organ now standing in Pulham Market Church, Norfolk. Two manuals and pedals, 13 stops. Can be seen at the Church by appointment. Price £100.
5. One-manual Organ, 8 stops, now standing at our works. It has been thoroughly overhauled and is in good order. Price £60.
7. A fine Three-manual Organ, containing 34 stops, now standing in a West-End Church. 8 years old. All new pipes of our own voicing. To be sold to make room for a new instrument now in course of construction. Further particulars on application.

Also three or four smaller Organs, one and two-manual.
Apply to Norman and Beard, 24, Queen Victoria Street, London, E.C.

CHAMBER ORGAN for SALE.—2 manuals and pedals, 10 stops, hand and foot-blowers. Hydraulic engine and extra bellows. Handsome walnut case, diapered and gilt front pipes. Suitable for drawing-room, billiard-room, or small church. T., Croxted House, 34, Croxted Road, West Dulwich, S.E.

CHURCH ORGAN, containing 19 stops, full couplers, and composition pedals. Warranted. In first-rate condition. Price £250. Fowler Bros., 17, Duke's Road, Tavistock Square, W.C.

ORGAN, 15 stops, 2 knee-swells. Storey and Clark. Cash, £15. Apply, by letter, G. W., 8, Artillery Lane, Tooley Street, S.E.

2-MANUAL PIPE ORGAN. 16 stops; manuals, CC to A; pedals, CCC to F. £175. Also, 1-manual ditto, 8 stops, full compass Bourdon pedals. 75 guineas. Both thoroughly good instruments. Payments arranged. Seen by appointment. M., 32, Hazlewood Crescent, Westbourne Park, London.

THREE-MANUAL ORGAN for SALE. Fine tone. A bargain. Suit gentleman, or public hall, church, or chapel, &c. Particulars, Dowling Bros., 152, Fortess Road, Holloway Road, N.W.

ORGAN PEDALS to PIANOS.—New method of Attachment by TUBULAR PNEUMATIC. This action surpasses all mechanical actions for prompt and Organ-like Touch. It is less expensive, easy to attach, and does not injure the most delicate Pianoforte. Prospectus, with full description and price lists, on application to Norman Bros. and Beard, Organ Works, Norwich.

14 GUINEAS.—PIANO, solid iron frame upright grand (list price 23 guineas); full compass, trichord, celeste action, &c.; in handsomely carved walnut wood case, four feet in height; in use only six months; sent on approval, carriage free, to any part of the United Kingdom; ten years' warranty; easy terms arranged; full price paid will be allowed if exchanged for a higher class instrument within three years. D'Almaine and Co. (established 113 years), 91, Finsbury Pavement, City. Open till 7. Saturdays, 3.

BECHSTEIN PIANO, like new. Great Bargain. 11, Parkhurst Road, Holloway, N.

OBOE for SALE, of first-class make, very little used, and in splendid condition. Almost new. Will be sold cheap. Genuine bargain. Address, Mr. Geo. Kirk, Maygate, Dunfermline, N.B.

Digitized by Google

Trinity College London (Music)

Instituted 1872.

MANDEVILLE PLACE, MANCHESTER SQUARE, W.

President:
The Right Hon. Lord COLERIDGE, M.A., Q.C.
Warden: Professor E. H. TURPIN, Mus.D.
Director of Studies: Professor BRADBURY TURNER, Mus.B.
Director of Examinations: Professor JAMES HIGGS, Mus.B.

NEXT TERM will commence on Monday, April 25. Day and Evening Classes are held.

LOCAL EXAMINATIONS IN MUSIC.

The Next Local Examination in Musical Knowledge (Theory) will be held on Saturday, June 18, 1898, and the last day of entry will be May 18, 1898. Examination fees from 6s. to 10s. 6d.

Three National Prizes of the value of £5 each are awarded annually after the June examination.

LOCAL EXAMINATIONS in INSTRUMENTAL and VOCAL MUSIC will be held in April, May, June, and July at various centres in the United Kingdom (a list of which may be had on application). Examination fee, one guinea.

Four Local Exhibitions, value nine guineas each, and a National Prize of £5 are awarded annually in connection with these examinations.

HIGHER EXAMINATIONS IN MUSIC.

THE LAST DAY OF ENTRY is June 18 for the Fiftieth Half-Yearly Higher Examinations for Diplomas and Certificates, which will commence at the College on Monday, July 18, 1898.

June 4, 1898, is the last day on which the names of Candidates will be received for the following Scholarships and Exhibitions, to be competed for in July, 1898, viz.:—

One Pianoforte Scholarship (tenable for Three Years).
One Violin Scholarship (tenable for Three Years).
One for some other Orchestral Instrument (tenable for Three Years).
Benedict Pianoforte Exhibition (tenable for One Year).
Sims Reeves' Vocal Exhibition (tenable for One Year).
One Violin Exhibition (tenable for One Year).
One Viola Exhibition (tenable for One Year).
One Violoncello Exhibition (tenable for One Year).
One Double Bass Exhibition (tenable for One Year).
One Organ Exhibition (tenable for One Year).

Regulations for the Higher and Local Theoretical and Practical Examinations in Music, Classes Prospectus, including particulars of Scholarships, &c., may be had from the undersigned.

By order,
SHELLEY FISHER, Secretary.

In the Press.

WILL BE PUBLISHED ON APRIL 13.

MAY-DAY REVELS

CANTATA FOR FEMALE VOICES

TO BE PERFORMED IN CHARACTER

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

HETTIE M. HAWKINS

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

JOHN E. WEST.

PROGRAMME.

The Villagers assemble and Dance.
Villagers' "Maying" Chorus.
Children's "Ladye" Song. Flower Children's Chorus.
Decoration of Pole and May-pole Dance.
Enthronement of May Queen.
Floral Drill by Maidens of May Queen.
Advent of Robin Hood and his Band.
A Ballad of Robin Hood.
Robin Hood Games, including
Milkmaids' Procession, Song, and Dance.
The Hobby-Horse.
Archery Contest.
Dance round May-pole.
God save the Queen.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

John Broadwood & Sons

PIANOFORTE MAKERS

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT TO

HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCE OF WALES
HER ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCESS OF WALES
HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE DUKE OF EDINBURGH
(DUKE OF SAXE-COBURG AND GOTHA)

AND THE

REST OF THE ROYAL FAMILY.

John Broadwood & Sons

respectfully draw attention to, and invite inspection of, their newly introduced and improved straight and cross strung

HORIZONTAL

AND

UPRIGHT PIANOFORTES.

33, GREAT PULTENEY STREET (near Regent Street),
LONDON, W.

Just Published.

WREATHS FOR OUR GRAVES

CHORAL SONG

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

L. F. MASSEY

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

ARTHUR SULLIVAN.

These words were sent by Her Majesty to Sir Arthur Sullivan with the gracious request that he would set them to music for the Service held at Frogmore on the anniversary of the Prince Consort's death, December 14.

Price Sixpence; Tonic Sol-fa, Threepence.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

WHEN LOVE AND BEAUTY

MADRIGAL FOR FIVE VOICES, S.S.A.T.B.

From the unpublished Opera "The Sapphire Necklace," composed in 1863

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

H. F. CHORLEY

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

ARTHUR SULLIVAN.

Price Sixpence; Tonic Sol-fa, Threepence.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

With this number are presented gratis Extra Supplements, consisting of an Anthem for Whitsuntide, entitled "Eye hath not seen," by Myles B. Foster, and a Portrait of Dr. Joseph Joachim, by Messrs. Russell and Sons.

THE MUSICAL TIMES

AND SINGING-CLASS CIRCULAR.

APRIL 1, 1898.

NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

We are requested by Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co. to state that their business will, at an early date, be converted into a Limited Liability Company. The whole of the Ordinary Shares will be retained by the present members of the firm; a limited number of Preference Shares will, however, be offered to the public.

The management of the business will in no way be affected by this change. It is, in fact, the earnest desire of the present partners, who will act as Directors of the new Company, that the cordial and, in many cases, intimate relations existing between them and the members of the musical profession and the music trade may continue unbroken.

JOSEPH JOACHIM.

"The greatest living violinist." Such is the title bestowed by common consent upon the subject of this biographical sketch. It is very nearly sixty years since he made his first appearance in public. Through this long vista of time he has worthily maintained an artistic reputation of unsullied excellence. Since 1844, with only a few exceptions, Dr. Joachim has paid an annual visit to England, where, from the first, his genius has always received full recognition. During his sojourn in London—which he regards as his second home—Dr. Joachim leads a very busy life, the social as well as the artistic claims upon his time being almost unceasing. It was therefore specially good of him to set apart an hour or two from his many engagements in order to tell the story of his life for the benefit of the readers of The Musical Times.

Joseph Joachim, the youngest of seven children, was born at Kittsee, near Pressburg, on June 28, 1831. His nationality is therefore Hungarian. Neither his father, who was a merchant, his mother, nor, in fact, any of his ancestors were musical. The only music in the home was that made by his sister when she sang to her own guitar accompaniment. But the boy expressed a strong desire to possess a fiddle, which his father gratified. He was barely five years old when he became the pupil of a Pole named Szervaczinski, then leader of the opera band at Buda-Pesth, who grounded the boy in the technique of the violin. At the end of two years the little fellow, then only seven years of age, made his first public appearance at a concert at Pesth, on March 17, 1839, playing, with his master, in a double concerto by Eck. Dr. Joachim well remembers that he was dressed in a blue coat with mother-of-pearl buttons. His present fame was prophesied by a writer in the Spiegel, a Pesth newspaper, devoted to "Elegance, art, and fashion," in the following terms:

A MUSICAL PRODIGY.

We draw the attention of the public to the rare musical talent of a seven-year old violinist living in our midst, Joseph Joachim by name, a pupil of Szervaczinski. This genius-boy seems likely to become an epoch-maker in the art world. It would give us pleasure should we be the first to have contributed to the spread of his fame. . . . Last Sunday this wonderful boy performed in the Casino to the astonishment of all who were present.

In 1839 (or 1840) young Joachim went to Vienna, where for nine months he studied under the elder Hellmesberger, who, however, would not vouch for the boy's future success, because his right arm was much too weak to bow with power and endurance! At Vienna Joachim was fortunate enough to come across Ernst, whose playing he greatly admired. Ernst advised him to become a pupil of Joseph Boehm, a splendid teacher, who could trace his musical pedigree back to Corelli, the father of violin playing—Boehm's forbears being Rode, Viotti, Pugnani, Somis, Corelli. "I lived in Boehm's house," says Dr. Joachim, "and he took enormous pains with me night and day. The room in which I practised had a glass door, and Boehm used to peep in at all times unknown to me. Although too nervous to play in public, Boehm was an excellent quartet-player, and at that early age I acquired a practical insight into quartet-playing which proved to be of incalculable benefit to me in after life. Moreover, I breathed a thoroughly musical atmosphere while I was under Boehm's roof. I also became a pupil at the Vienna Conservatoire, where Boehm was a professor. In 1840, when I was about nine, I took part with Simon and the two Hellmesbergers in the concerto for four violins by Maurer, at the Bürgerspitals Akademie." Although Boehm wanted his gifted pupil to adopt the career of a mere virtuoso and to go to Paris, Joachim's parents very wisely decided that their son should proceed to Leipzig, which at that time was the centre of music in Europe.

LEIPZIG AND MENDELSSOHN.

Joseph Joachim, then a boy of eleven, therefore went to Leipzig in the Spring of 1843. He at once secured the valued friendship of Mendelssohn, of whom the great violinist speaks in terms and tones of warmest affection, calling him "The revered benefactor of my early days, who unceasingly looked after me with fatherly care. I had to go to him regularly to 'report progress' upon my studies, and his influence over me was of the highest good. I wanted to enter the Leipzig Conservatorium, but Mendelssohn said this was unnecessary as I had already studied at that of Vienna. He advised me to take private lessons—of Ferdinand David for the violin and Hauptmann for composition—in order that I should be able to give ample time to my general education." The gifted boy made his first public appearance at Leipzig at a concert given by Madame Pauline Viardot, the singer, on August 19, 1843, when he played a Rondo by De Beriot, Mendelssohn himself doing him the honour of playing the accompaniment. The concert was made additionally interesting by the fact that Schumann's lovely Andante and Variations for two pianofortes (Op. 46) was first performed on that occasion—its interpreters being Madame Schumann and Mendelssohn. Dr. Joachim well remembers how Schumann peered at him while the duet was in progress. A little later, on November 16, 1843, the boy-violinist had the much coveted honour of playing at the famous Gewandhaus concerts, his solo being Ernst's "Otello" Fantasia.

Digitized by Google

To continue the Mendelssohn recollections. Dr. Joachim refers to the friendly relations which existed between Mendelssohn and Schumann. "Schumann is one of the finest men I know," Mendelssohn remarked to his young friend; and on the occasion of one of Joachim's visits, he said: "We won't have any music to-day; I am going to take you to hear Schumann's 'Paradise and the Peri.' Thither we went, Mendelssohn paying for his ticket and mine. One of the nicknames he bestowed upon me was 'Teufelsbraten' ('Devil's tit-bit'), I suppose because I was a fat boy! Another nickname was 'Posaunen-Engel' ('trombone cherub')." Dr. Joachim speaks enthusiastically of Mendelssohn's remarkable pianoforte playing. "No one could equal his staccato, its crispness was extraordinary. I once heard him play the Overture to 'Coriolan' on the pianoforte, when he brought out the effects of the orchestral score in a most astonishing manner." The chief incident of Mendelssohn's last birthday—February 3, 1847—may best be told in the words of Moscheles, in whose house it took place:—

. . . Then came a charade on the word "Gewandhaus." Joachim, adorned with a fantastic wig, à la Paganini, played a hare-brained impromptu on the G string (Ge-Saite). The scene between Pyramus and Thisbe in the "Midsummer Night's Dream" followed and stood for Wand (wall). For Haus, Charlotte [Mrs. Moscheles] acted a scene she had written herself, in which she is discovered knitting a blue stocking, and soliloquising on the foibles of female authoresses, advising them to attend to their domestic duties. By way of enforcing the moral, she calls her cook—the cook was I myself [Moscheles], and my appearance in cap and dress was the signal for a general uproar. Mendelssohn was sitting in a wicker armchair which creaked as he rocked to and fro, the room echoing with his peals of laughter. The word Gewandhaus was illustrated by a full orchestra, Mendelssohn's children and mine playing on little drums and trumpets, Joachim leading with a toy violin, and my Felix conducting à la Jullien. It was splendid!

The death of Mendelssohn, nine months after this happy evening, was an irreparable loss to those who enjoyed his friendship. "It seemed as if the world had ceased," Dr. Joachim quietly remarks.

FIRST APPEARANCE IN ENGLAND.

Dr. Joachim paid his first visit to England in the Spring of 1844, when he was only thirteen years old. He came to London armed with letters of introduction from Mendelssohn to Klingemann, Moscheles, Benedict, and Sterndale Bennett. That to Klingemann may serve as a specimen of the rest:

Berlin, March 10, 1844.

Dearest Friend,—I wish to make you acquainted through these lines with a lad who, during the three-quarters of a year that I have known him, has become very dear to my heart, and who has gained my love and esteem to such a degree that I may say I have experienced for very few. His name is Joseph Joachim, a boy of thirteen years of age, from Pesth, in Hungary. He intends to pay a visit of some months to his uncle Figdor, a London merchant.

I cannot say enough to you of his truly wonderful talent for the violin. You must first, however, hear him yourself, and the manner in which he can play all possible solos, both of the past and present, and decipher and interpret every kind of music, in order to place him as high as I do, and to anticipate the glorious results which must accrue to art through him.

Moreover, he is sound at heart; an admirable, well-educated, thoroughly genuine, shrewd lad, of much good sense, and of the strictest integrity. Therefore, be kind to him, take some oversight of him in great London, and introduce him to those of our friends who know how to appreciate such glorious talent as he possesses, and from whom he can in turn derive pleasure and improvement. I allude chiefly to the Horsleys. Take him also to Chorley if you can; and, above all, remember that any kindness you show to him, you also show to me. May we soon, God willing, have a happy meeting! When spring comes, I hope also to come to you!—Yours,

Felix.

Joachim's first appearance in England took place at Drury Lane Theatre, March 28, 1844, the occasion being the benefit of Alfred Bunn, the impresario. This was the gentleman of whom Malibran is said to have shown her indignation at an outburst of his managerial temper by saying: "I shall call you Good Friday, because you are a hot, cross Bunn!" Balfe's "Bohemian Girl," then recently produced, was performed, and between the first and second acts there was a concert. The play-bill (a copy of which is preserved in the British Museum) states that "The celebrated Hungarian Boy, Master Ioachim (sic), will make his first appearance before an English Public, and perform Grand Variations for the violin, on a theme from Rossini's Otello by Ernst." The introduction of the "Bohemian Girl" and the celebrated "Hungarian Boy" into the same programme was doubtless considered a capital geographical joke by the bénéficiaire; but this display of Bunn's bad taste greatly annoyed Joachim. Mendelssohn was highly amused at Bunn's designation of his young friend, and, till the day of his death, he constantly teased him about it. "Now, you Hungarian Boy, what have you to show me?" was a frequent question.

Digitized by Google

It was very natural that young Joachim should want to play at one of the Philharmonic concerts; but the Society had a rule, to the effect that "No prodigies will be allowed to perform." Fortunately, however, for Joachim, Mendelssohn was in England at the time, and as he guaranteed the directors against any depreciation of the Society's artistic reputation through the appearance of little Joseph Joachim, that "prodigy" was permitted to play at the concert of May 27, 1844, given at the Hanover Square Rooms. This may be said to have been Dr. Joachim's first appearance in England as regards the musical world.

AT THE PHILHARMONIC IN 1844.

The concert was a memorable one. Mendelssohn, who conducted, introduced (with the exception of the overture) his "Midsummer Night's Dream" music, and on this occasion his famous "Wedding" March was played for the first time in England. "The March was encored," said a critic, "but before its repetition, Mendelssohn left his desk for a moment to stop the drum"! The rehearsal for the concert occupied no less than seven hours—two hours for the chorus and five for the band. The young violinist selected for his solo Beethoven's Violin Concerto, a work which had only been performed four times previously at the Philharmonic during the thirty years of the Society's existence. Miss Elizabeth Mounsey, at this distance of fifty-four years, vividly recalls the rehearsal in the following words:

I well remember Mendelssohn's bright look of pleasure and appreciative interest in his little friend. As conductor, he turned towards the very young soloist, attired in short jacket and turned-down collar, so as to follow him dutifully, Mendelssohn's own subordinate position appearing to give him a degree of amusement. But it was very beautiful to see the pleasure it gave him to regard the boy at his side, not only with admiration, but with honour. Joachim, whose playing was so masterly, and whose whole manner so thoughtful, was still boy enough to indulge in an unbecomingly full pocket at his side; one wondered what its contents might be!

The critics were unanimous in their praises of the clever young artist. The late J. W. Davison wrote in the Musical World:

Joachim's rendering of Beethoven's Concerto was astonishing. Not only was it astonishing as coming from a comparative child, but astonishing as a violin performance, no matter from whom proceeding. The greatest violinists hold this concerto in awe. It is, we must own, not adapted to display advantageously the powers of the instrument, though a composition of great distinction, the first movement being in Beethoven's highest manner. Young Joachim, however, attacked it with the vigour and determination of the most accomplished artist, and made every point tell. So well did he play, that we forgot how entirely unadapted for display was the violin part. No master could have read it better, no finished artist could have better rendered it. Tone, execution, and reading were alike admirable—and the two cadences introduced by the young player were not only tremendous executive feats, but ingeniously composed—consisting wholly of excellent and musician-like workings of phrases and passages from the concerto. The reception of Joachim was enthusiastic, and his success the most complete and triumphant that his warmest friends could have desired.

On the day following the concert Mendelssohn wrote a long letter to some relatives of Joachim's in Vienna. We are much indebted to Mr. Otto Goldschmidt for supplying us with a copy of this letter, which we believe has not hitherto been printed in England. After confirming, in glowing terms, the extraordinary success of Joachim's first appearance at the Philharmonic, Mendelssohn proceeds to offer excellent advice as to the boy's immediate future. He says:

As you know, I wish him to return to absolute rest and complete retirement from public performances; to devote the next two or three years solely to the education of his mind in every respect; in studying his art in every branch, especially those branches in which he is still deficient, without neglecting what he has already attained; to compose industriously; to take walks still more industriously, and to develope his physical powers. In three years he will then be as healthy a youth in mind and body as he is now a healthy child. I consider that this would be impossible without absolute rest. May it be granted to him with all the gifts which Heaven has already bestowed upon him.—Your faithful and devoted

Felix Mendelssohn Bartholdy.

During his first visit to London Joachim saw a good deal of J. W. Davison, who lodged over a boot shop at No. 1, Berners Street. He also received some advice in orchestration from the late Sir G. A. Macfarren, to whose rooms, at the corner of Oxford Street and Berners Street (opposite Davison's), he was a frequent visitor.

MENDELSSOHN'S DUMMY COPY.

An anecdote of this initial visit is too characteristic of Mendelssohn's consideration for others not to be quoted. At a concert, given by a Mr. Purdy, at Radley's Hotel, Bridge Street, Blackfriars, on June 5, 1844, Mendelssohn was announced to play his D minor Trio with Master Joachim and Mr. Hancock. "It so happened," relates Dr. Joachim, "that only the violin and violoncello parts had been brought to the concert-room, and Mendelssohn was rather displeased at this; but he said, 'Never mind, put any book on the piano, and someone can turn from time to time, so that I need not look as though I played by heart.' Now-a-days, when people put such importance on playing or conducting without a book, I think this might be considered a good moral lesson of a great musician's modesty. He evidently did not like to be in too great a prominence before his partners in the Trio. He was always truly generous!"

Digitized by Google

Returning to Leipzig, Joachim made it his home for the next five years. He played in the famous Gewandhaus orchestra and taught the violin at the Conservatorium. In 1849 Liszt appointed him leader of the Grand Duke's band at Weimar. Liszt, his fellow-countryman, had a high opinion of his extraordinary talent, as the following extract from a letter will show:

You know what high esteem I profess for Joachim's talent, and when you have heard him I am certain you will find that my recent praises of him are by no means exaggerated. He is an artist out of the common, and one who may legitimately aspire to a glorious reputation. Moreover, he has a thoroughly loyal nature, a distinguished mind, and a character endowed with a singular charm in its rectitude and earnestness. [Letter from Liszt to Julius Stern, dated November 24, 1852.]

In 1852 Dr. Joachim became leader of the Court orchestra and solo violinist to the King of Hanover, and held that important post for twelve years. Since 1868 he has made Berlin his home, where he founded the famous quartet bearing his name. In 1868 he was appointed director of the "Hochschule für ausübende Tonkunst," subsequently enlarged and known as the "Hochschule für Musik," at Berlin. In this position, which he still holds, he has been able to exercise a splendid influence on the many young artists who have passed through his hands.

THE MONDAY "POPS."

No account of Dr. Joachim's life would be in any way complete without reference to the invaluable service he has rendered at the Monday Popular Concerts directed by Mr. S. Arthur Chappell. He first appeared at them on May 16, 1859, when they were in their infancy. Since 1865, the year in which the Saturday Popular concerts were inaugurated, Dr. Joachim has been an annual visitor. It would be superfluous to refer to his unrivalled gifts as a quartet leader; they are known to all men. His genius needs no eulogy. Every frequenter of the "Pops"—as they are familiarly called—knows that when Joachim is playing a feast of the highest artistic nature is in store for him. In another column we describe a rehearsal for one of these concerts.

Those who are privileged to be behind the screen at St. James's Hall, on a Monday evening, observe that Dr. Joachim listens to the whole concert. When he is not playing he sits there like some great seer—a master who, by the force of his wonderful personality, draws forth the homage and the profound respect of every music-loving soul who comes under his influence. No wonder that his colleagues in the quartet revere him. And how encouraging must be the words of appreciation which fall from his lips, addressed to the young singer or player as she descends from the platform. "Keep it up," said Dr. Joachim to the present writer, seated next to him at the recent Bach Choir concert, as the great violinist vigorously clapped his hands to recall Dr. Hubert Parry after the performance of his "Symphonic Variations." An incident like this shows his highly appreciative nature.

BRITISH TRIBUTES OF REGARD.

We have already referred to the high esteem in which Dr. Joachim has been held now for more than half-a-century in England. On March 8, 1877, the University of Cambridge conferred on Herr Joachim the degree of Doctor of Music. A special concert was given by the Cambridge University Musical Society, when the newly-created Doctor played Beethoven's Violin Concerto and conducted his own "Elegiac" Overture. A number of friends subscribed to defray the cost of his Doctor's robes, which, like Haydn, under similar circumstances at Oxford in 1791, he proudly wore while walking through the streets of Cambridge. The University of Glasgow made him an LL.D. in 1887. Oxford followed the example of Cambridge in 1888. A year later—after the Popular Concert of April 15, 1889—a number of Dr. Joachim's admirers presented him with a characteristic testimonial in the form of a valuable Stradivarius violin, valued at £1,200, which was handed to him by one of his oldest friends, the late Lord Leighton. An equally gratifying tribute to Dr. Joachim's sterling worth was paid to him on the occasion of the jubilee of his first appearance, and that of Signor Piatti, in England. This memorable event took place at the Grafton Galleries on March 22, 1894, in the presence of a most distinguished company, when his old friend Sir George Grove read an address concluding with the words, "We express a fervent hope that you may be spared for many years to shed the lustre of your genius upon the whole musical world."

Dr. Joachim's compositions are of high artistic excellence. As a distinguished critic has observed, "the real grandeur of his ideas, and the passionate ardour which seems to be the result of his Hungarian parentage, make themselves felt, and the complete command of musical structure which all the works reveal is very remarkable in a man who has after all written so little." His best known work is the Hungarian Concerto for violin and orchestra, which "in its rare and captivating beauty stands alone among works of the kind."

SCHUMANN, BRAHMS, AND WAGNER.

We have already referred to Dr. Joachim's friendship with Mendelssohn and Liszt. He was also on intimate terms with Schumann—"My dear revered friend, and so kind to me, whose lofty character I greatly admired." Schumann wrote his great Fantasia for the violin (Op. 131) expressly for his friend Joachim, to whom he also dedicated it. Readers of Schumann's letters are familiar with the affectionate relations which existed between him and

Digitized by Google

Joachim. Here is an extract: "I like the cigars very much. There seems to be a Brahmsian flavour about them, which is, as usual, rather strong, but tasty." Dr. Joachim was one of the three musicians who followed the mortal remains of Schumann to their last resting-place. One of his most precious possessions is the autograph score of Schumann's D minor Symphony, upon which the composer has written the following original inscription:

Sketched in the year 1841; newly orchestrated in the year 1853. When the first strains of this Symphony were conceived Joseph Joachim was then a little fellow. Since then the Symphony, and still more the little fellow, has grown, wherefore I dedicate it to him—though in secret.

Robert Schumann.

Düsseldorf, December 23, 1853.

Dr. Joachim really discovered Brahms, though Schumann, in his famous article "Neue Bahnen," first brought him before the public. It was during Joachim's residence at Hanover that he began his life-long and intimate friendship with Brahms. Remenyi, a Hungarian violinist, gave a concert at Hanover, his accompanist being a young fellow of nineteen years of age named Brahms. Joachim was greatly struck with the earnest-mindedness of the youthful accompanist. "I don't think you'll go on long with Remenyi," he said to him, "and if ever I can be of any use to you, I shall be only too glad." The sincerity of Joachim's offer is proved by the fact that he gave the young artist a letter of introduction to Schumann, who, though his pen had long been idle, wrote the "Neue Bahnen" article already referred to. "You were quite right in supposing that I should not like that kind of life," said Brahms to Joachim. The two men became intimate friends—Joachim being the senior by only two years though he had obtained a European reputation. They spent their holidays together; and what more natural than that Brahms should dedicate his first-born, his Opus 1, to the great artist from whose lips he had received the first words of encouragement. Dr. Joachim speaks of the "Shelley nature" of his friend in his early days, and upon being asked why Brahms never came to England, he replies: "Brahms disliked any fuss, and he could not speak English very well."

After a musical festival at Carlsruhe, Joachim, Hans von Bülow, and Liszt, met Wagner at Strassburg, the nearest place to his native country to which Wagner, being an exile, could come. Here, before this select and remarkable audience, Wagner read the poem of his magnum opus, "Der Ring des Nibelungen." "Wagner took a great fancy to me," says Dr. Joachim, "and I said to him, 'Whenever it ("The Ring") comes out I must play in the band.'"

TENNYSON.

Tennyson, although not a musician, was one of the many eminent men who held Dr. Joachim in the highest esteem. Here is an interesting reference to the intercourse between the two men, in the words of the poet's son and biographer:

My father was fond of asking Joachim to play to him in his own house. One particular evening I remember, at 86, Eaton Square. My father had been expressing his wonder at Joachim's mastery of the violin—for Joachim had been playing to us and our friends numberless Hungarian dances—and by way of thanks for the splendid music I asked him to read one of his poems to Joachim. Accordingly, after the guests had gone, he took the great musician to smoke with him in his "den" at the top of the house. There they talked of Goethe, especially praising a poem of Goethe's old age, "Der West-östliche Divan," and then my father read "The Revenge." On reaching the line—

> And the sun went down, and the stars came out far > over the summer sea,

he asked Joachim, "Could you do that on your violin?"—the peace of nature after the thundering of the battle. There was no more reading, however, that night, for he suddenly turned round to me, saying, "I must not read any more, else I shall wake up the cook, who is sleeping next door."

When the publication of a volume of songs was projected to musically illustrate some of the late Laureate's poems, Dr. Joachim was asked to contribute one setting to the series. From the lyrics submitted to him he selected "Merlin's song," perhaps being attracted thereto by the naïveté of the lines—

> Rain, rain, and sun! a rainbow in the sky!
> A young man will be wiser by and by;
> An old man's wit may wander ere he die.

By the setting of Merlin's song there hangs a tale which illustrates both the composer's true instinct in the setting of words, even in a language not his own, and a great poet's intuitive recognition of musical merit. When the album spoken of above was first published, an eminent English musician, who was a friend of Tennyson's, went through the songs for the poet's benefit. It is well known that Tennyson was as little of a practical musician as a man can be, and that in particular he had a rooted objection to musical settings of his own songs, giving as the reason for this that the music always went up when he wanted it to go down, and down when he wanted it to go up. From the whole book of songs he selected those which seemed to fall in with his ideas of what the melody should be, and the performer noticed with much interest that the poet, though ignorant of the names of the composers as the songs were gone through, pronounced favourably upon precisely those songs which a trained musician would have chosen if he had the list of composers before him. Joachim's song was one of those most warmly praised.*

CARLYLE ON MUSICIANS.

Dr. Joachim tells a capital story of Carlyle. One day his friend (and the friend of Thackeray), the late Rev. W. H. Brookfield, took him to the house of the great philosopher at Chelsea, and introduced him as the eminent violinist, &c. Brookfield had another engagement, so he said: "I'll leave you two together," and he departed. As Carlyle was just about to take his morning "constitutional" he asked Joachim to accompany him. During a very long walk in Hyde Park the Chelsea sage talked incessantly about Germany, the Kings of Prussia, Moltke, Bismarck, the war, &c. At last Joachim thought that he ought to say something,

* "Masters of German Music," by J. A. Fuller Maitland, p. 225.

Digitized by Google

so he innocently asked the irascible Thomas: "Do you know Sterndale Bennett?" "No," he replied—(pause)—"I don't care generally for musicians. They are an empty, wind-baggy sort of people." "This was not very complimentary to me," Dr. Joachim laughingly says. "Carlyle's remark was not unlike that once made to me by a Kensington hair-dresser. I told the story to Du Maurier, who put it into Punch, but, of course, without my name." "Please tell us the story, Dr. Joachim." "I was having my hair cut, and I asked the barber not to cut this piece of hair (pointing to the familiar lock over his left eye). The man said: 'You had better let me cut it, sir, or you'll be taken for a philosopher!' 'I don't mind being taken for a philosopher.' 'Then, sir, they'll be taking you for one of those fiddling fellows that come over from Germany.'"

We are much indebted to one of Dr. Joachim's oldest friends in England, Sir George Grove, for kindly supplying the following words of appreciation of the eminent violinist:

SIR GEORGE GROVE—AN APPRECIATION.

"I should like, as a last word to this very interesting article," says Sir George Grove, "to say something about that which strikes me as the best of all my dear old friend's characteristics. Other players have as fine execution as he has; and to them, as to him, 'difficulties are nothing'; and others, too, have as charming expression as he; but no one forgets himself as Joachim does. When you hear him you are never reminded of Joachim; it is the composer one thinks of. When one hears him play the Beethoven Concerto, or a Bach solo, or anything else, it is obvious that the player's desire all through has been to play the piece as nearly as possible as Beethoven or Bach wanted it. It used to be so with all the great players, but everything changes in this dreadful world, and now-a-days, to an old man, too many seem to forget the composer and try to show themselves off, and see what new readings they can introduce rather than the one which the composer intended. Joachim has always seemed to me to have the most astonishing power of interpretation. He seems not only to know just what the original writer meant, but is able to give it. This has been said much better than I can say it in Max Müller's last book, 'Auld lang syne' (page 18); and I hope I shall be pardoned for begging your readers to look at his words."

SOME PRESENT ASPECTS OF MUSIC.

II.

Years ago, but easily within the recollection of middle age, the literary world was much exercised by a disposition to review the dark characters of history in a favourable light. The feeling drew to itself special regard because it was in direct opposition to common usage. Human nature, which I have always been taught to look upon as weak in its relations with itself as embodied in another, takes more kindly to the blacking brush than to the implement of the whitewasher; for much the same reason, perhaps, that led the Athenians to banish Aristides. Excellence is always a mark for arrows, sometimes for mud, and if it be vaunted by injudicious friends, as in the case just named, defamation becomes a serious duty with those who are not equally lauded. Hence the astonishment and mistrust excited by efforts to show Richard the Third as a victim of circumstances to which he was, in point of fact, ethically superior; that Henry the Eighth was really an amiable and gentle-minded monarch, and that the burning of bishops was wholly repugnant to Mary Tudor's sense of propriety in matters religious. Cynicism is, no doubt, ready to urge that the whitewashers in these very black cases acted not so much from conviction as from a desire to attract notice by being singular. But the distinction is neither here nor there at the present moment; the point being that no great success attended the efforts of the artisans in question, and that the blacking brush is once more in the ascendant. There are those who wield it within the domain of music.

It will be better, I think, to drop the blacking brush as an illustration, because the heroes of our art are assailed with a much more fell intent than change of colour. Colour can be washed off; whereas if you take a chopper or a hammer and smash the statue to pieces the chances are that it is done with for good and all. We have therefore to deal with image-breakers, who would reduce the objects of our reverence to fragments and cart them to a limekiln. It is useless to say that such people do not exist. As a matter of fact they never were more numerous than now, and certainly never more active and daring in their iconoclastic labours. We are necessarily interested in a class whose intent, at least, is so destructive, and the subject is one which may profitably be discussed.

My charge against the musical image-breaker is that he depreciates the composers of the past, and limits his regard to the music of the present. He laughs at the modes of yesterday. In his opinion they served their time, and now, like the bonnets of yesterday, are worthless. To praise the men and deeds of yore is with him an offence which he resents, as though it were a personal insult; and chiefly revenges himself by pecking at the most illustrious examples of that which the past was able to accomplish. He will sit down and pick "Elijah" to pieces, in demonstrating its feebleness and insufficiency, nor does he shrink from heaving "'arf a brick" at the "Choral" Symphony when occasion serves. He long ago spoke of Mozart as infantine; at the name of Haydn he smiles pityingly; Schubert is to him as a boy whistling in a meadow, and, imitating Wagner, he puts on gloves to touch Mendelssohn. Now, though I can no more understand the taste and judgment of the image-breaker, as thus evinced, than I can sympathise with the patrons of problem plays and risky novels, I am not going to quarrel with him, much less dispute his liberty, or question his sincerity. It takes many different things to make a world, and iconoclasts of all kinds may be, for some mysterious reason, necessary to the completeness of our own. But I am within my right if I treat the image-breaker as a problem for such solution as is possible, and as an influence against which it may be well to set the unsophisticated on their guard.

Digitized by Google

It is noteworthy that, within the compass of the arts, we find image-breakers chiefly in the section devoted to music. Not that other arts have been free from controversy. In painting, for example, classicism and romanticism once struggled hard for supremacy; just as the orthodoxy of to-day is assailed by impressionism and other, at present, doubtful developments. In poetry, also, form and spirit have changed, after more or less of conflict. But in these cases we see a war of principles, not of personalities; a striving of influences to shape and determine the future, not to work destruction upon the creations of the past. I say nothing of sculpture and architecture, which virtually died long since; but in painting and poetry men of all tastes regard the entire course of the art as a chain of developments, each meritorious in itself and essential to the end finally to be reached; each, therefore, worthy of respect and honour. Would that the musical image-breaker had the same "sweet reasonableness." Unhappily, he is pretty much as I have described him.

Another point should be observed. It is not only that the tendency to exalt modern art at the expense of that which is older appears mainly in connection with music, but also that itself is a modern development. As far as I am aware this tendency did not appear on a serious scale—that is to say, well-nigh co-terminous with the artistic domain affected—till within a comparatively recent time. It is true that Gluckists and Piccinists contended in Paris more than a century ago, and fought with considerable asperity; but their strife was largely personal, as between two living masters of diverse nationalities and styles. It was, moreover, aggravated by the divisions in French society, and by questions with which even the Court of Louis XVI. was not unconnected. This case, however, lies outside present consideration. It never formally opposed the present to the past. For the rest of musical history we see steady advance, unattended by any now recognisable effort to cut connection with that which lay behind. Even Beethoven excited no organised hostility. He was criticised, of course, as was right he should be, and he offended many censors, according to the measure of their failure in trying to understand him. But to a very much larger extent his greatness was admitted and applauded. It is not, however, on record that this master's partisans and admirers sought to exalt their chief by running down Mozart and the composers of his generation. They were not one-man worshippers, nor did they exclude from their sympathies everything wanting the stamp of a particular cult. This leads me to ask why the practice of image-breaking should be a feature of our own time.

It is a striking demonstration of Wagner's far-reaching influence that his name cannot possibly be kept out of any discussion in which modern music is concerned. With regard to the present case, it comes to mind, and drops from the pen, inevitably, because there is much reason to believe that to him we owe, directly or indirectly, the crusade now being carried on against everything ante-Wagner. Here, however, it is needful to discriminate, as a matter of simple justice. I should be very sorry to think, and it would be impossible for me to believe that Wagner, were he to revisit the field of his many conflicts, would approve all that is being done in his name. It is notoriously a penalty of greatness that whatever is least great in its composition should be taken up and exaggerated by followers. But there is no blinking the fact that Wagner set in motion the ball now directed to the crushing of all music save his own and that in which his influence is paramount. Saying this, I am not calling in question his sincerity. Wanting proof to the contrary, it must be assumed that he acted according to his view of the necessities of the case. Nevertheless, he might have exposed the weakness of his predecessors, and proclaimed the strength of his own tenets, without the personal bitterness which so largely disfigures his polemical writings. This was a defect of temperament, and it is precisely this which has been taken up and carried to the extreme by his followers. It is hardly too much to say that, at one time, the free lances of Wagnerian controversy endeavoured to set up a condition of terrorism. Ubiquitous and unscrupulous, they sought to gag every mouth that even mildly argued against their creed. Their master's expletives being too weak, they coined others which, if not really stronger, were in effect lurid and appalling, and they were ever ready with a whole magazine of personalities, having which there was no need to urge the famous injunction, "Don't hesitate to shoot." Of all this, those who took any part, however humble, in the great controversy had ample experience. To a large extent a change for the better has come about, at any rate outwardly. Stage thunder and fierce mouthings frightened into silence many weak brethren on the opposite side, while many others ceased to argue because it seemed impossible to convince, and the only return was vituperation. Still, the old spirit, while less aflame for lack of fuel, is at work where a chance of destructiveness appears, and now we are commanded to believe in no music save that of to-day.

Digitized by Google

A position more strange and unphilosophic than that taken up by the image-breakers is difficult to imagine. It is so because mainly connected with that which appertains to the accessories and not to the essentials of music. The essentials are, first, the thought or feeling of the composer—the thought, I say, since some music is intellectual, not emotional. To the expression of thought or feeling the indispensables are melody and harmony, or, more generally speaking, treatment. Given these requirements, music can be made in which all that is vital exists. Colour and force belong to the mere working machinery of the art, and are determined by the mechanical inventiveness of the instrument-maker. Observe, however, that upon colour and force modern music chiefly depends. The evolution of melody and the practice of what is understood by the term treatment are now relegated to the second place; a composer's primary aim being successful manipulation of hues and dynamic effects. Very well; I am not concerned here to discuss the change as one of improvement or degeneration. But surely no thoughtful and intelligent modern will assert that works of art which do not reflect the hues and follow the fashions of the day are, therefore, inartistic, and, as an ultimate and necessary conclusion, not deserving of consideration. Yet upon this the whole question turns.

Far from me be insensibility to the claims of good modern music. It has been my duty to praise much of it, and the obligation has always brought pleasure in its train. But I must oppose with all my force the notion that a change of fashion, however firmly based upon the Zeitgeist, vitiates all that has gone before. In connection with no other art is such an idea possible, but that is a point superfluous to the argument. The pitch of the matter seems to be that the essential beauties of music appertain to no particular age or mode. They belong to the economy of the universe, like the properties of the echo, and in all ages composers have demonstrated their existence by making them obvious to physical and mental perception. I do not say that those demonstrations are of equal value to us at the present moment. The music of any given age is presumably that which most fully satisfies its needs. But one may grant this without consenting to the annihilation of music which served equally well for an earlier generation, and now is vitalised by the indestructible qualities which lie at the root of art in every age. Let us rather cultivate the past than neglect it. "Let us praise great men and the fathers who begat us." Bach, Handel, Haydn, Mozart, and their successors down to the solid and splendid master not long since called away—these left us a glorious inheritance, not to be set aside for productions which may fail before the test of time, and the fate of which another generation will decree.

Joseph Bennett.

THE STRUCTURE OF INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC.*

By W. H. Hadow, M.A., B.Mus.

II.

THE CLASSICAL PERIOD OF THE SONATA.

Historians have often laid stress on the "isolation" of J. S. Bach; and, indeed, it is undeniable that during the latter part of the eighteenth century his direct influence was very slight. Part of the reason is that his innermost secret was at the time incommunicable—that no one inherited his feeling for richness and fulness of sound, or his mastery of harmonic progression. Again, some of the problems of music were so completely solved by him that no further advance seemed possible; and the art naturally turned aside to consider questions which even his genius had left comparatively untouched. And, for a third reason, the sceptre of music passed forthwith from Germany to Austria, and during the next period swayed a new country and, in great measure, a new race. But the fact which these causes help to explain may very easily be overstated. The Wohltemperirte Clavier was well-known to Mozart and formed the staple of Beethoven's education; the "dreary period between Bach and Haydn" somewhat diminishes when we remember that Bach died in 1750 and that Haydn's first known composition appeared in 1751; while the assertion that "in the time of C. P. E. Bach there were no great men," can only be said to have a meaning if it be qualified by the words "in Germany proper."

For Emanuel Bach was not only contemporary with the first two leaders of the Viennese school—with Haydn for more than fifty years, with Mozart for more than thirty—he was also a potent influence in determining the character of their work. His sonatas were carefully studied and followed by Haydn; Mozart calls him the "father" of the Austrian composers, and declares that "if any of us can do anything, we owe it all to him." And there can be no doubt that in many points of style, especially those that touch the dramatic or poetic side of instrumental composition, he served as a model for Beethoven himself.

Thus his work overlaps with a wide margin the two schools of Leipzig and Vienna, between

* The substance of three lectures, musically illustrated, delivered at the Royal Institution, February 12, 19, and 26, 1898.

Digitized by Google

which it stands as a connecting link. The best part of it was written for the clavier, which he studied under the direct guidance and supervision of his father, and consisted not of suites, but of sonatas. In these he steadily modified and extended the traditional methods of the time. The number of movements is almost invariably three—an opening Allegro, an Andante or Adagio, and a bright, quick Finale; the dance names and the dance measures drop for the most part out of use, and are succeeded by structures of more varied and organic design. The style grows more distinctively harmonic, there appears a new feeling for isolated points of colour and for effects of surprise and climax; most important of all, the three-canto form emerges from its period of comparative neglect and is accepted as the general ground-plan of complex musical structure. Again, like Scarlatti, he begins to recognise the importance of differentiating the first canto into two distinct paragraphs; and though he does this with a tentative and uncertain hand, he yet gives indication of a method which was adopted as essential by the Austrian composers.

It was, then, C. P. E. Bach who first made habitual our familiar scheme of exposition, development section, and recapitulation. He did not, of course, invent it, for it has been traced back in germ as far as Corelli, but he brought it into that position of supremacy which it maintained without question through the most fruitful period in the history of instrumental music. Meantime, while he was working at his clavier sonatas, there were gathering the materials for two even more important kinds of composition. During the seventeenth century orchestration had hardly existed; composers were satisfied with strings and an occasional solo part for oboe or trumpet. Pezel and Becker experimented a little with wind instruments, but it was not until the early eighteenth century that these began to appear as an integral part of the orchestral forces. Then came Handel and Bach, then Stamitz and the Mannheim orchestra. By Haydn's time the band consisted of strings with from four to eight wind instruments, and one of his earliest works was to write, in 1755, a set of divertimenti, some for strings alone, some for combinations of strings and wind. From these come his first quartet and his first symphony. The former (Op. 1, No. 1) is in five movements, the latter (Op. 1, No. 5) is in the usual three of the Bach concerti.* Later on, when Haydn had clearly differentiated the two kinds, he fixed the number of movements at four, where it remained with little or no alteration through the whole of the Viennese period. The movements themselves were virtually of the same structure as those of C. P. E. Bach's clavier sonatas, with the interpolation of Haydn's favourite measure, the minuet.

So far, then, as concerns the number and disposition of the various movements, there is, from the time of Haydn, no variation of serious import. But the case is different when we come to consider the separate structures of which the aggregated works are composed; especially that of the first movement, in which the three principles of duality, plurality, and unity are most clearly displayed. If we take a typical "exposition" of Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, and Schubert, we shall find four distinct methods of statement. In all four there are two separate paragraphs, embodying two different tonal centres, and connected by a brief sentence of transition; in all four the second paragraph is by a natural law of balance longer than the first;* but here the resemblance ends. Haydn gives his principal melody to the first subject, which has the advantage of making it specially salient, and the disadvantage of lowering the interest as the exposition proceeds. Mozart places his principal melody in the first strain of the second subject, and then goes off into scale and arpeggio passages to mark the key. Beethoven makes his second subject consist of a series of distinct sentences, almost every one of which contains a separate melodic idea. Schubert introduces his principal melody at the end of the transition, makes it carry the modulation to the contrasted key, and then repeats it with variations and digressions to the double-bar. Distinctions equally wide may be noted in the treatment of the development section, which is far more highly organised by Beethoven than by any of the other three composers. Indeed, none have surpassed, and none but Brahms have equalled, the variety and ingenuity of thematic device which Beethoven exhibits in this part of his work.

The slow movement represents the elegiac element in the sonata, and therefore lays more stress upon qualities of style and sentiment than upon elaboration or complexity of structure. Indeed, there is only one structural form which may be described as characteristic of it—a simple ternary stanza with a long Coda, in which is repeated some part of the clause of assertion or the clause of contrast, or of both. Its varieties, and the limits within which it moves, may be seen by comparing the examples from Beethoven's first four sonatas with the Adagio of the "Hammerclavier" (Op. 106). Apart from this form, the slow movement usually adopts either that of the "three principles," or that of the rondo, or that of the theme with variations, for the last of which it is specially adapted from its natural susceptibility to decoration and ornament.

On the lyric movement—the minuet or Scherzo—there is no need to dwell; its diversity of structural forms is simply that of the primitive dance measure already considered. The

* See Pohl's "Haydn," Vol. I., p. 333, &c.

* The tonic key prevails in the recapitulation, and therefore occupies in the exposition a comparatively small place.

Digitized by Google

rondo is derived not from the mediæval rondel (a highly artificial form with which it has very little in common), but from the "carol" of the troubadours, a song-form in which a recurrent chorus alternated with solo verses. It was at first indeterminate in length—some of Couperin's have as many as seven "couplets" or episodes, while some of Rameau's have only one; and throughout musical history it remained the most loose and experimental of all structural types employed in the sonata and in similar compositions. The practice of repeating the first episode in the tonic key towards the end of the movement appears tentatively in Michael Haydn and Mozart, and was further organised by Beethoven. But of all forms the rondo is the least precise in usage. From the time of C. P. E. Bach to that of Schubert and Chopin it assumes at least a dozen variant shapes, which have nothing in common, except a more or less regular recurrence of the principal theme.

Among the various kinds of instrumental compositions for which these movements were employed, the most conventional is the concerto, which throughout the period is bound by artificial laws for the benefit of the soloist. Mozart, by whom it was mainly established, took comparatively little interest in problems of structure. Beethoven, though he considerably enriched the content of Mozart's form, yet left its outline virtually untouched. A possible reason is that in the last and most experimental period of his life he wrote no concerti, though the Choral Fantasia shows that, in this matter also, he was growing dissatisfied with existing limitations. At any rate, in the later sonatas and quartets, Beethoven pushed the principle of instrumental structure to a further point of development; not by any sudden or revolutionary change, for every stage is the logical outcome of its predecessor; but by a gradual shifting of balances, and, above all, by a gradual inter-relation of contrapuntal and melodic methods. The influence of the fugue appears not only in passages of polyphony and imitation, but still more vitally in the practice of carrying a salient theme through the whole course of the movement.

In the larger forms the work of Schubert does not add anything of importance to the history of musical structure. In general conception it is influenced by Mozart rather than by Beethoven; in treatment it is usually loose and hasty, filled with separate passages of the greatest beauty, but, as a whole, lacking concentration and design. It is more like music improvised than music thought out, and almost every number illustrates the avowal made by him on seeing the score of "Fidelio," that: "he had no time for such corrections." Structurally, therefore, his writing is more noticeable in forms outside the sonata—e.g., the Moments Musicaux, and the like, wherein he set an example speedily followed by the romantic composers. The true climax of the Viennese period is to be found not in him, but in the later works of Beethoven.

(To be continued.)

ADDITIONAL INSTRUMENTS.

The trend of evolution, according to the best scientific authorities, points irresistibly to a decay of those purely physical qualities in which man approximates to the savage or the animal. Cases of exceptionally acute hearing or exceptionally long sight are rare amongst highly civilised races and tend to grow rarer. And although the sense of hearing is distinct from the musical ear, there can be no doubt that a general blunting of that sense must exercise no inconsiderable influence on the development of instrumental music. Whether we regard the matter by the light of history or of the tendencies of the moment, we are brought by either method to the same conclusion, that in each successive stage of musical evolution the dynamic factor, the element of volume and sonority, tends to play a more and more important part. If one takes individual instances, one may compare the tremendous grand pianoforte of to-day with the delicate virginals, spinet, and clavichord of byegone generations: the brilliant violin with the gentle viol. If one regards groups of instruments, one is struck by the emergence of the formidable new wind instruments of this century; while if instruments are regarded collectively, there is the gigantic modern orchestra to be set alongside the modest combinations which satisfied Bach and Haydn. Again, it is rather amusing to find in Lord Mount-Edgcumbe's Reminiscences that the indictments brought a generation or so back against Wagner for his abuse of sonority were forestalled in the early decades of the century by the hostile critics of Rossini! If, on the other hand, we confine our attention to latter-day music of the moment, we shall find that the school which is most in vogue at the moment—the Slavonic—is, above all, pre-occupied with providing rich and strange effects by the constant use of the most powerful instruments of the orchestra. There was a time when players of the instruments of percussion enjoyed, comparatively speaking, a sinecure. Now they are almost as hard worked as any members of the orchestra, and we feel sure that in a year or two, in the formal list of players, the tam-tamist will have a line to himself instead of being lumped up in a comprehensive "&c." with the artist who manipulates the big drum and cymbals.

It is really rather pathetic to look back on the early efforts of pioneers in the direction of enhanced sonority. Hauptmann in his letters gives an amusing account of Raimondi's now forgotten triple oratorio of "Potiphar, Saul, and Joseph." The score, he tells us, was five feet high and five feet broad. The three orchestras had their full complement of wind instruments, trombones, and ophicleides; so there were nine trombones, three ophicleides, twelve horns, and so on, all going at once. It will thus be seen that Raimondi's sole idea of producing the desired effect was to multiply instruments, instead of introducing new ones. It is, we feel sure, in the latter direction that the true advance is to be made, and the wonder is that so little has been done even in our own enlightened age, when the resources of science have furnished the composer with the means of impressing even the most apathetic tympanum. We propose, therefore, in the briefest possible manner, to indicate some of the neglected aids to orchestral sonority which lie ready to the hand of the enterprising composer.

Digitized by Google

(1) The steam whistle. Persons who have attended the concerts given in the Shoreditch Town Hall cannot have failed to be struck by the remarkable effect occasionally produced by the shrieks of locomotives at the adjacent railway station. Now and again, when they have happened to chime in with the key of the music being performed in the hall, the result has been most exhilarating. If the steam whistle were formally admitted to the orchestra, we feel sure that it would be simply irresistible in those descriptive symphonic poems so much in vogue at the present day. Think, again, how splendidly it would tell in an overture to, say, "The Flying Scotchman."

(2) Closely allied in mechanism to the steam whistle, but richer and more full-bodied in tone, is the Siren, which would lend a beautiful touch of corroborative detail to any piece of a marine character. There is something peculiarly weird in the note of the Siren, which should commend it to those composers who are preoccupied with bizarre or unearthly themes for musical illustration.

(3) The leg of a table abruptly moved on an oilcloth flooring will produce a sound singularly suggestive of the roar of an esurient lion. The great merit of this instrument is its simplicity and cheapness. A small deal table can be procured for a few shillings, and a square of oilcloth of the requisite dimensions only costs about ninepence.

(4) As a glorified substitute for the futile and ineffectual tinkling of a tambourine, we would suggest the employment of about a hundred long steel or iron rods. Our readers must have often been charmed by the superb jangling caused by these implements as they are conveyed on a cart through the streets. In the confined space of a concert-room they would produce an even more momentous din.

(5) Although in most respects we have bettered the devices of the ancients for creating loud and horrific noises, some of their primitive instruments answered the purpose so well as to warrant the honour of a revival. In particular, we would instance the conch, or marine shell—generally that of the strombus gigas—which is still used by some of the savage tribes of Africa as a means of signalling in war. The most redoubtable performers on the war conch, however, were probably the aborigines of South America, who, according to the account given by some travellers, were able to emit a sound by means of this natural tromba marina capable of being heard at a distance of five miles. The conch, it may also be mentioned, was the favourite instrument of the Tritons, that race of subordinate sea deities of whom Pausanias gives such an engaging description. For the Tritons, he tells us, had sea-green hair and eyes, gills below the ears, human noses, broad mouths with the teeth of animals, scales on their bodies, and instead of feet a tail like that of a dolphin. Some carried their taste for fancy physiology so far as to indulge in the fore-feet of a horse as well. These details may possibly seem somewhat out of place in a serious musical article, but in our opinion they are of the utmost importance as emphasizing the congruity which ought to prevail between a player and his instrument, but which is totally neglected by modern instrumental performers. Players of stringed instruments ought always to wear Court dress; players of strange and uncouth instruments, like the bass clarinet and double bassoon, ought to wear fancy dress; while, finally, players of certain instruments like the tam-tam, the tuba, and the bass drum ought to wear masks. The player of the tam-tam, we are convinced, ought to be dressed as a headsman, while performers on the "celesta" and the harp should be equipped with angelic plumage.

(6) Wagner has done wonders in exploring the abysmal sonorities of wind instruments, but his achievements have by no means exhausted the possibilities of effect on the side of profundity. The deepest and most superb note that we have ever heard was given out by a steam thrashing machine, and we have little doubt that the mechanism requisite to evoke this stentorophonic sound could be adapted to the exigencies of the orchestra in such a way as to eliminate the accompanying process of cereal flagellation.

(7) Miscellaneous Suggestions. Under this head we would briefly advert to a few hitherto unexploited methods of enriching and reinforcing the volume of instrumental sound. There is the peculiar moan of the motor-car, the plaintive timbre of which could be singularly effective in elegies, laments, and other pieces of a sad or sombre nature. On the other hand, where exuberant vitality is indicated, the rich tone-colour of a circular-saw—or "buzz-saw," as the Americans beautifully call it—would be invaluable. Thirdly, where, as so frequently happens now-a-days, the simple aim of the composer is to suggest the dominion of din, why not strengthen the percussion department with a rivetter from a boiler-maker's, with carte blanche to ply his hammer on a boiler of suitable dimensions as frequently and vigorously as his strength would permit? Lastly, we would suggest, as a suitable variant and improvement upon the ordinary method, the occasional employment of a chorus of wild beasts—lions, tigers, gorillas, elephants, and asses. There might be some difficulty in getting them to come in on the beat, we admit; but we have little doubt that a patient conductor, assisted by an intelligent keeper armed with a long pole, would after a very few rehearsals be in a position to electrify even the most blasé auditor.

Digitized by Google

Sir John Stainer, Inspector of Music in the Training Colleges in England and Wales under the Education Department, in his report just published (which is printed in full in the current number of the School Music Review), gives the following gratifying information with regard to the songs sung by the students at the various examinations he and his assistant, Dr. W. G. McNaught, have held throughout the country:—

The improvement during recent years in the selection of songs to be sung by students at the examinations has been more than once alluded to in these reports. It is, however, interesting to find that the gradual displacement of weak drawing-room ballads by songs of a higher and healthier type is steady and continuous. The character of the songs sung is not only of importance to the students themselves, but also to the comfort, not to say the health, of the examiners. Considering that I and my assistant inspector had to hear in England and Wales last year more than 2,000 songs, it can easily be imagined what serious injury to temper, nerves, and artistic morality might have supervened if the majority of them had consisted of those exciting sentimental ditties which thrive chiefly in the unhealthy atmosphere of the "ballad" concert-room. We feel that we ought gratefully to acknowledge that we had the pleasure of listening to songs by Mendelssohn 580 times, by Schubert 235, Handel 201, Sterndale Bennett 166, Schumann 82, Beethoven 35, and Spohr 28 times. This accounts at once for 1,327 out of the 2,000 songs, but it must not be supposed that the remaining number were altogether ill-chosen or unworthy of study; I merely mention the facts as a proof of the upward tendency of musical taste among students in training colleges.

This is the centennial year of the first performance, though it was of a private nature, of Haydn's "Creation," which took place at the Schwarzenburg Palace, Vienna, on April 29, 1798. Haydn, then sixty-six years old, conducted. "One moment," he records, "I was as cold as ice, the next I seemed to be on fire." The first public performance took place at the Imperial Court Theatre, Vienna, a year later—March 19, 1799. When the oratorio was first published (Vienna, 1800), nearly half of the 510 copies were subscribed for by Haydn's admirers in England.

There was a certain rivalry, not without its humorous aspect, between two concert-givers as to who should be the first to perform the work in London. Salomon, Haydn's friend, who gave concerts at the King's Theatre in the Haymarket, had ordered an early copy of the score, but, owing to some delay in transit, it was a long time on its journey from the Austrian capital. When it arrived, Salomon is said to have been mulcted in the sum of £30 16s. for postage! John Ashley, the conductor of the Lenten concerts at Covent Garden, had the shrewdness to ask one of the King's messengers, who travelled by special express, to bring him, in his personal baggage, a copy from Vienna. Ashley, therefore, received his score one day earlier than the "early copy" sent to Salomon, and at a cost of only £2 12s. 6d.—probably the subscription price—against that of £30 16s. paid by his rival. The copy came into Ashley's hands at nine o'clock on a Saturday evening. He split up the book, and at once set Goodwin, the copyist, to work in transcribing the vocal as well as the band parts. Several professional friends lent their aid. On the Monday a preliminary advertisement in the True Briton announced that the "Creation" would be performed on the following Friday; and so it was, for the first time in England, on March 28, 1800. The parts—vocal and instrumental—for the 120 performers were therefore copied within a week. When Harris, the proprietor of the theatre, complimented those concerned upon their expeditiousness, the chief copyist replied: "Sir, we have humbly copied a great example. It is not the first time that the 'Creation' has been completed in six days!"

Here is a choice example of "technical criticism" from an important provincial paper—the Newcastle Daily Chronicle. "'The Heart's Release' . . . will appeal to all lovers of sentimental ballads. It would appear as if the best possible effect will result from very little effort. The melody is very charming, and the possessor of a rich deep voice will sustain with all the necessary emotion the lines of mediants, &c., in the first part. The second portion moves in a more flowing manner; but, if the breath be taken at the pauses, the singer will have no trouble with any of the intervals." The mediant, or third of the scale, is not an interval of unique rarity, but "lines of mediants" may well call for some "emotion" on the part of the singer. One wonders, however, what weird intervals the mysterious "&c." may point to. From the piece of advice with which the review concludes, one is inclined to think the writer is a professor of vocalisation with an entirely new theory, unless, indeed, it is only meant that the singer should pause for reflection before attacking another difficult interval—say, a dominant or supertonic.

Mr. Charles Salaman, who entered upon his eighty-fifth year on the 3rd ult., is in the habit of celebrating the anniversaries of his natal day by composing a song. This year, however, as if to furnish proof of his undiminished vigour as his years roll on, he has composed and published two songs to mark the event. One of them, entitled "My Heart," is set to words by the composer's son, Mr. Malcolm C. Salaman; the other musically illustrates Mr. William Heinemann's lyric "Summer Moths." It is sixty-two years since Mr. Salaman wrote his celebrated Shelley song, "I arise from dreams of thee," and seventy-two Springs have come and gone since he was a student at the Royal Academy of Music. The veteran musician's recollections are as extensive as they are varied. In 1830 he was one of the spectators of the burning of the Argyll Rooms in Regent Street, the first home of the Philharmonic Society's concerts. It was on this occasion that a steam fire-engine was used for the first time in London. It would require a great deal of ingenuity to quench the fire of Mr. Salaman's youthful enthusiasm in his octogenarian days. May the hand of time deal gently with him.

Digitized by Google

The strains of the Easter Hymn will resound in innumerable "quires and places where they sing" on Easter Sunday. It may, therefore, not be inappropriate if we say something about the history of this time-honoured tune which may prove to be of interest to our readers. It is a common error to attribute its authorship to Dr. Worgan, as the tune appeared in print sixteen years before that gentleman was born! Its earliest known publication is in a book, dated 1708, having the following title:—

Lyra Davidica: or, A Collection of Divine Songs and Hymns, partly New Composed, partly Translated from the High-German, and Latin Hymns: And set to easy and pleasant Tunes for more General Use. The Musick Engrav'd on Copper Plates. . . . London: Printed for J. Walsh, Servant to Her Majesty, at the Harp and Hoboy in Katherine-street, near Somerset-House in the Strand: and J. Hare, Instrument-maker, at the Golden Viol and Flute in Cornhill near the Royal-Exchange: and P. Randal, at the Violin and Lute by Pauls-grave court, without Temple-Bar. 1708.

The words and music of the Easter Hymn appear anonymously on page 11 of "Lyra Davidica" as follows:—

THE RESURRECTION.

The remaining two verses, with their quaint spelling, read:—

Hast ye Females from your Fright, Hall: &c.
Take to Galile your Flight: Hall:
To his sad Disciples say, Hall:
Jesus Christ is Risen to Day. Hall:

In our Paschal Joy and Feast, Hall:
Let the Lord of Life be blest, Hall:
Let the Holy Trine be prais'd, Hall:
And thankful Hearts to Heaven be rais'd. Hall:

This is followed by "A Resurrection Dialogue" of ten stanzas, to be sung to the same tune, which need not be quoted. "Lyra Davidica" is a small octavo book (6½ by 4 inches) of seventy-nine pages. The music pages are most beautifully engraved from copper plates, but the other portions are printed from ordinary type. In a page of fulsome adulation the book is "Humbly Inscrib'd to the Worthy and Esteem'd Mr. William Patersen," whoever that gentleman may have been. There seems to be no more authority for attributing the tune to Henry Carey, as is often done, than to Dr. Worgan. It will be noticed that the "Easter Hymn," like nearly all the old hymn-tunes, has been considerably "edited."

Bayreuth is coming to London this summer. In other words, as no Festival will be held at the famous Bavarian town during 1898, Mr. Schulz-Curtius has made arrangements to give three Cycles of Wagner's "Der Ring des Nibelungen" at Covent Garden Theatre, beginning on June 6, 14, and 27 respectively. The public interest in these projected London representations has been extraordinary, if not phenomenal. Mr. Schulz-Curtius originally announced only two Cycles; but as the tickets for both of these were bought up with almost lightning rapidity, he has arranged for an extra Cycle with the same satisfactory result. The conditions under which the work is to be given will, it is hoped, bring the performances in regard to the ensemble as near as possible to the model so nobly set by Bayreuth, and the artists who are engaged to take part in them represent the very élite of the operatic world. It may not be without interest to place on record some extracts from Mr. Schulz-Curtius's prospectus:—

One of the guiding ideas in arranging this scheme has been that the Work should be performed reverently and complete, without any cuts. In order to do this, the performances must commence early, so as to enable visitors to return home in comfort, without being compelled to leave the theatre before the final climax of each section is reached. "Die Walküre" and "Siegfried" will, therefore, commence at five o'clock, and "Die Götterdämmerung" (on a Saturday) at four o'clock in the afternoon, with an interval, after the first act, of an hour and a half for a light dinner; the performances will then terminate about eleven o'clock, in time for supper, either at a restaurant or at home. This arrangement has the further advantage of allowing the theatre to be thoroughly ventilated during this interval, and the audience will return fresh for the last two acts, which will only be divided by a short pause of from twenty to thirty minutes for the change of scenery. "The Rheingold," being a short section, will not commence until half-past eight, terminating at eleven o'clock.

New scenery is being painted, and the Bayreuth machinist will come to London to fit up the stage in order to produce the correct effects, more especially in "The Rheingold," in which the Rhine-maidens are expected to float in the same graceful manner as at Bayreuth.

After referring to the advisability of making proper arrangements for the refreshment of the "inner man," and to the great importance of strict punctuality, as the doors will be closed between the acts, the prospectus commendably proceeds to deliver a very decided ultimatum upon the "Matinée hat" and "any headgear whatsoever" worn by ladies.

There will be no restriction as regards dress. The only rule that will be rigorously enforced is: that ladies must remove hats, bonnets, or any headgear whatsoever, and the Management relies on the co-operation of the public to strictly enforce this rule.

The artists who are engaged include Miss Marie Brema, Madame Gadsky, Frau Schumann Heink, Fräulein von Artner, Madame Eames, Fräulein Hieser, and Madame Nordica; Herr van Rooy, Herr von Milde, M. van Dyck, Herr Nebe, and last, but not least, the brothers Jean and Edouard de Reszke. The stage manager is Herr Carl Pohlig, of Bayreuth, and the machinist Herr F. Kranich, of Dresden and Bayreuth. The conductorship of the Cycles will be in the experienced and safe hands of Herr Anton Seidl, of Bayreuth.

Digitized by Google

A writer in the Revista Musicale Italiana of a critical notice of Mr. Edward Elgar's "King Olaf," while not altogether favourably disposed towards the composer's treatment of the characteristic elements of the heroic legend, has much to say in appreciation of that remarkable work. After referring to the composer's judicious efforts in varying the rhythmic and melodious adjuncts in the delineation of the different phases of the poem, the Italian critic goes on to remark: "There is indeed much that is fine, and even excellent, in Mr. Elgar's work, more particularly in the choruses, which abound in spontaneous and fascinating melody. The composer has been able to combine richness with good taste in his harmonisation, with the result of his choral writing being almost invariably highly interesting. We may specially instance, in this connection, the chorus of the conversion, the ballad 'A little bird in the air,' one of the most graceful, melodious, and finely developed numbers in the score, and the final chorus, with its attractive melody for the soprano." "There can be no doubt whatever," says the author of the notice in conclusion, "that Mr. Elgar's cantata must be ranked amongst the most finished productions of its kind which have recently emanated from the pen of modern English composers. It will be welcomed by all choral societies who may undertake its performance, and meet with the approval of connoisseurs, as the work of an able and industrious musician."

The unveiling of the National Memorial Statue to the late Sir Robert P. Stewart, by his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland (Earl Cadogan), which took place at Leinster Lawn, Dublin, on the 16th ult., was an event of no slight interest and importance. All who knew the Irish composer, either personally or by reputation, will agree that his countrymen are justified in their pride in his career and in this enthusiastic movement to perpetuate his memory. The statue, which is of white marble, has been executed by Sir Thomas Farrell, President of the Royal Hibernian Academy, and represents Sir Robert in Court dress, over which the robe of a Doctor of Music is lightly thrown. In his left hand is a scroll of music and his right rests on an Irish harp. The pedestal is of coloured marble and bears the inscription—

SIR ROBERT STEWART.
1825—1894.
A National Memorial.

The Elder Conservatorium of Music at the University of Adelaide, South Australia, according to announcement, was to have been opened during the past month. From the prospectus forwarded to us we learn that the institution "has been established for the purpose of providing a complete system of instruction in the art and science of Music, at a moderate cost to the student." Eight free scholarships—four local and four "open"—tenable for three years will be offered for competition to music students in the Colony. A University orchestra is to be established, and a library of classical compositions, including full scores, is in course of formation. The Director of the Conservatorium is Professor Ives, to whom and to the new Institution all true friends of music in the mother-country will wish all possible success.

FACTS, RUMOURS, AND REMARKS.

I have not a word to say against the banjo in its proper place, which, as far as I am personally concerned, is anywhere out of my "beat." But I am not sure that, were I a citizen of Birmingham, it would be possible for me to endure a "grand banjo concert" in the Town Hall. Shade of Mendelssohn and the illustrious in music! Why, it is enough to make the greatest of Hebrew prophets forsake the "fields of asphodel" and come to earth bent upon revenge. That strikes me as one way of looking at the matter. But, as usual, there is another. The Birmingham Amateur Banjo, Mandolin, and Guitar Orchestra consists, it appears, of eighty performers. No doubt the position of these ladies and gentlemen in the pursuit of art is equivalent to that of the foot-people who join in the chase of the fox; but, at any rate, they are in the hunt, and that is better than nothing. We must consider, too, that one thing may lead to another and a better, and that even banjoists may rise on stepping-stones of their dead selves to higher things.

It is proposed to establish at Portsmouth a Discharged Army Musicians' Employment Agency "on a large and national scale, for which purpose an office would be opened in Portsmouth, and a register kept of bandsmen in all parts of the country who are seeking situations, so that bandmasters of bands that belong to large works and factories, also Volunteer and other bands throughout the kingdom, may know where to apply when they want bandsmen for whom they are able to find employment, and, in cases of necessity and poverty, to render assistance to enable men to travel from one part to another to take up employment which has been offered through the medium of the Agency." That is a long and clumsy sentence, but its purpose is excellent, for military bandsmen are, as a rule, deserving persons. The chief promoter of the enterprise is Mr. G. J. Merritt, Bedford Street, Southsea.

The following remarks upon a lady artist recently occurred in a North country journal of some importance:—"Madame —— made her first appearance in ——, and met with most appreciative demonstrations. Her superb vocal organ was cast upon the audience with marvellous effect. She is an artist to boot. She may paradoxly (sic) be described as a bass-contralto, but she has not less the power to soar far into the reaches of the soprano register." This comes of sending the inquest reporter to notice concerts!

The recent opening of an organ in a Northern city is the subject of a couple of notes by the editor of a local journal. First, we have the audience described, and learn with proper awe that "a contingent of city councillors, with their wives and daughters, made a brave show as they sat in chairs of state at the foot of the great hall." There were also present some people called critics, but the non-critical part of the gathering had an advantage over these, being members of "that happier race who do not regard music with mathematical mind, and who are strongly affected by it without knowing or caring why." The writer becomes ecstatic: "These people (composers) to whom God whispers in the ear so that they gather the sunbeams and the stars, the light and the darkness, the calms and the storms, and make melody of them, give of their exaltations and benedictions to the vast multitude of the unskilled, not to the elect few who know how it is all done." Ignorance is bliss in music, apparently, and how the elect few must envy the know-nothings!

The writer goes on to describe his own experience of the organ recital, and we soon learn that he received a double share of the "exaltations and benedictions." Hear him: "You had but to close your eyes, and, lo! you were lifted from the region of realities to the realms of dreams. At one moment you were in a wide and lovely land, and nothing mattered very much so long as flowers bloomed and the sun was warm. Then you went sailing on a lonely sea with great spaces about you, and you saw the breakers shine under the hushed stars. And there were solemn dusks and splendours of moonrise, with God everywhere." This is truly beautiful, but the writer should not attend organ recitals often. Otherwise there is no knowing what may happen to his imagination. After all, musical critics have something to congratulate themselves upon. Their training makes them indifferent to exaltations and benedictions, and keeps them sober minded.

Digitized by Google

The other day I was on the point of destroying a scrap torn from a newspaper when certain words on it caught my eye. On examination I found some notes of a lecture on Greek sculpture; where delivered, and by whom, did not appear. I quote a passage from the fragment because its application to music in our own time may not be unprofitable:

> The development of expression was followed in this way down to the second century B.C., when it began to surpass, and ultimately went far beyond the just limits of the subject. Here he showed the famous Laocoon as the final development of the wildest extravagance in Greek sculpture. Here, agony, pain, horror were forced upon the view, paraded before our eyes, and while one could not help admiring the skill of the artist and even the workmanship, one hesitated to express approval, and could only say, "Is it to this that the Art of Greece has come?" The extravagance of the Laocoon, observed the lecturer, led to the inevitable reaction, and the rise of the Neo-Hellenic school, who turned back with wise instinct to the fifth and fourth centuries. As an example of the work of this school, and as a crowning example of the genius of Greek Art, he threw on the screen a picture of the priceless Venus de Milo, which, as combining the grandeur of Phidias and the sweet charm of Praxiteles, enriched the world by a new creation of thoughtful and serene loveliness.

Rossini's "Barbiere" was performed in Boston lately, and I gather from the American Art Journal that many of the audience went in the expectation of tragedy, not comedy. The missing tragedy may be found in their own ignorance. Here, in London, the work is not performed at all, and our people will soon be in the condition of the Bostonians. I cry, O for another draught of Rossini's exhilarating champagne, "Barbiere" brand, and am offered a heavy feast of "raw head and bloody bones" instead!

Mr. Frederic Archer has resigned his post at Pittsburg, where he was conductor of the orchestra. I do not know why. Perhaps the unlovely town was too smoky, but our old friend seems to have a wandering disposition. He loves to see men and cities—especially cities.

Can such things be? The Musical Courier tells of an American professor who lately arranged a concert for the display of his pupils. Here is one of the pieces, as described in the programme: "Grand Quartet (from Fedilio)—Beethoven. Leonore, dressed as a page, visits her lover, Jacquino, who is in prison. Marcellina, the daughter of the Jailer, falls in love with Leonore. Rocco, her father, approves her choice. Jacquino feels 'his lot is hard to bear.'" The lot of that professor should be harder still.

Mr. Philip Hale quotes, in the Musical Courier, some opinions at large of Charles Dibdin. I will re-quote one: "Is there a fair well-wrought-up movement in Haydn's whole works? Do they consist of anything more than strong effusions of genius turned into frenzy (!), and labouring as ineffectually to be heard as a flute in a belfry?" The flute in a belfry is good, but for the rest—alas, poor "Charley"! Let him rest, Mr. Hale. Remember, he wrote "Tom Bowling."

Mr. Rupert Hughes has been sounding the praises of female composers in the Century. "So good has their work been that honesty compels the admission that hardly any living men are putting forth music of finer quality, deeper sincerity, truer individuality and more adequate courage than the best of women composers." I should be glad to believe this, but ungallant Mr. Finck cries "Whew!" and an unchivalric American editor challenges Mr. Hughes to "quote one original melody composed by a woman." The matter remains unsettled.

Music, we have been told, has had a soothing effect upon Mr. Gladstone during the illness which unhappily continues. This is how an American physician, Dr. Ephraim Cutter, explains the process: "The nerves of the head (which are voluntary) when worried or overworked are sad disturbers of the sympathetic nerves, which are involuntary and automatic. It is possible that the agreeable occupation of the cerebral nerve centres by a musical performance causes them to let the sympathetic nerves alone and to cease withdrawing, or rather stealing, from them the energy which is their share."

An American editor proclaims that no man can "enter the critical heaven unless his brow is stamped with the Wagner crest." Dear, dear, I thought myself inside safely enough, and certainly on my brow there is no mark of—well, never mind.

Joseph Bennett.

THE TWO NEW ORGAN APPOINTMENTS.

I.—DR. H. WALFORD DAVIES, OF THE TEMPLE CHURCH.

Henry Walford Davies, the recently appointed organist of the Temple Church, was born on September 6, 1869, at Oswestry, where his father was well known as an enthusiastic amateur musician and conductor of a Handel Society. As a child he showed remarkable gifts in extemporizing, and great things were expected of him in the future. In January, 1882, at the age of twelve, he became a chorister of St. George's Chapel, Windsor, and sang there during the last six months of Elvey's organistship and the beginning of Sir Walter Parratt's régime. From 1885 to 1890 he was a pupil of and assistant to Sir Walter Parratt, at St. George's Chapel, concurrently with holding the post of organist of the Park Chapel, Windsor. As assistant-organist of St. George's Chapel he did excellent work and was a real help to Sir Walter Parratt. He could do anything; once, at a moment's notice, he transposed a complicated Bach chorus (from the Christmas oratorio). The répertoire of the music at St. George's is very extensive. It ranges from Arcadelt to Brahms, Dvorák, and Tschaïkowsky; and of English Church composers, from Tye, Tallis, and Farrant to Stanford, with a good admixture of the Greene and Boyce school. The young assistant drank to the full from this wholesome source, and thereby gained unique, invaluable experience. "He has thoroughly deserved his promotion," writes Sir Walter Parratt, in reply to our request for some information, "and I shall be greatly astonished if he does not distinguish himself." The new organist of the Temple Church was for a year (1890-91) organist and choirmaster of St. Anne's, Soho, which offices he resigned on account of ill-health. Since 1891 he has been organist of Christ Church, Hampstead, of which church the present Bishop of Exeter (Dr. Bickersteth) was vicar for thirty years.

Digitized by Google

In 1890 Dr. Walford Davies obtained a Composition Scholarship at the Royal College of Music, where he remained for four years. He mainly studied under Dr. Hubert Parry, but for a short time took lessons from Dr. Villiers Stanford; and, for counterpoint and plain-song, he was a pupil of the late W. S. Rockstro, under whose influence he is glad to have fallen. Dr. Walford Davies graduated Bachelor in Music at Cambridge in 1892, and took the degree of Doctor in Music at the same University as recently as the 10th ult. He obtained (in 1894) the qualification of Associate of the Royal College of Music for composition, and, in 1895, was appointed to succeed his old master, Mr. Rockstro, as a professor of counterpoint at the Royal College of Music, which post he still holds.

From a Photograph by Messrs. Russell and Sons, Baker Street.

Dr. Walford Davies is already favourably known as a composer of much meritorious music in the higher regions of the art. His first work, a Pianoforte Quartet in E flat, gained a hearing at Mr. Dannreuther's concerts in 1893. His chief compositions since then have been several chamber works; a Symphony in D, performed at the Crystal Palace "Fortieth Anniversary" concert in 1895; and a cantata, "Hervé Riel," set to Browning's words, produced at the Royal College of Music in 1896. In recording the performance of the cantata The Musical Times spoke of it as "an achievement of which he may justly be proud."

The emoluments attached to the Temple Church appointment are of the annual value of £250. In 1688, the first organist, "Francis Pigott, Gent.," received a "sallary" of £50 per annum "for the faithful discharge of his Duties as Organist to the Societies of the Temple"; but Mr. "Francis Pigott, Gent.," had to find his own "bellowes-blower"! In those days organs were not blown by "hydraulic water," to use the highly descriptive designation adopted by a certain cicerone conducting country cousins circumambulating Canterbury Cathedral.

In our issue of September last we gave a biographical sketch of the retiring organist of the Temple Church, the veteran Dr. E. J. Hopkins, who has held the office for upwards of fifty-four years. May it fall to the lot of some future writer in The Musical Times during the year 1952 to chronicle a similar achievement on the part of the clever young musician who, we feel sure, will prove a worthy successor to the venerable "father of English organists."

II.—MR. H. A. FRICKER, B.MUS., OF LEEDS TOWN HALL.

Herbert Austin Fricker was born at Canterbury, February 12, 1868. Like Dr. Walford Davies, he is an old chorister-boy, having entered the choir of Canterbury Cathedral at the age of ten years. When his voice broke he assiduously practised the pianoforte, sometimes ten and twelve hours a day, almost to the detriment of his health. He became a pupil of the veteran Dr. W. H. Longhurst (who is now retiring from the organistship of Canterbury Cathedral), and at the age of sixteen he was appointed deputy-organist of the Cathedral. In 1886 Mr. Fricker studied under Sir Frederick Bridge in the theory of music. In the following year he passed the examination for the Associateship of the Royal College of Organists, followed, in 1888, by the Fellowship qualification. In 1893 he obtained the degree of Bachelor in Music at the University of Durham, his exercise being a setting of Psalm xxxvi. We understand that Mr. Fricker has recently been taking organ lessons from Mr. Edwin H. Lemare, the organist of St. Margaret's, Westminster.

For the last seven years Mr. Fricker has been organist and choirmaster of Holy Trinity Church, Folkestone, where he has given some excellent chamber concerts, he himself playing the viola in the string quartet. He has composed an Evening Service in G (published by Messrs. Novello), also some anthems, some pieces for the violin, and Act 1 of a comic opera. He has nearly finished an orchestral suite, is engaged upon a cantata for female voices, and is now revising a Communion Service. Mr. Fricker, however, modestly says that he does not attach much importance to his past career; "but," he adds, "I am looking forward most anxiously to the future, and I feel that I have a tremendous lot of work to do before I win my spurs in the musical world." A man who enters upon the discharge of important duties in such a spirit is bound to succeed. We heartily wish him every success in his new sphere of work, and we shall follow his career with much interest.

It may not be without interest to our readers to record the details of the competition for the organistship to the Corporation of Leeds, which is of the annual value of £200. The Royal Albert Hall was the testing place, where six of the eight selected candidates duly competed on the 1st ult. Each competitor was previously allowed two hours' practice on to go through Brahms's beautiful Sonata for pianoforte and violin in D minor (Op. 108), which she was the first to introduce to an English audience at her concert nine years ago, immediately after the work was published. It is not the first time that she and the composer's intimate friend, Dr. Joachim, have played it together. The copy from which she plays contains certain marks of his indicating the composer's wishes, which makes it specially interesting. Miss Fanny Davies seems to revel in her congenial task. She feels so safe, and no wonder, with Dr. Joachim. At the end of each section she eagerly looks at her colleague, who merely gives a little nod, and the next movement begins. The rehearsal is really a performance, as not a single stop or repetition is made. At the end Dr. Joachim says to the able pianist: "Very good. Perfection." Then follows a little chat, in the course of which Dr. Joachim tells us that when he expostulated with J. W. Davison upon his earliest criticisms of Brahms—that Brahms was "one of the dimmest lights in Germany," and so on—"J. W. D." replied: "My dear boy, would you have liked me to come round all at once to something new?"

Digitized by Google

A "POP" REHEARSAL.

CHURCH MUSIC.

The performance of the best known of Bach's settings of the "Passion" narrative, as according to St. Matthew and St. John, has been naturally the prominent feature of the musical services of the season now drawing to a close. The St. John setting has of late claimed special attention and precedence as the chief musical exposition of the awful theme of the most solemn season of the ecclesiastical year. The performance of Bach's noble music at St. Paul's Cathedral will, as usual, take place nearer Easter than the date of our present issue. During Lent and Passiontide it has been listened to with becoming earnestness and a due appreciation of its eloquence in St. Anne's, Soho, in accordance with a custom of a good many years' standing, and at St. Marylebone Church, as well as at many other churches throughout the country. At the last-named church, Stainer's "Crucifixion," now accepted wherever worship-music is sung in the English language, has also been effectively rendered.

The annual Welsh festival service in St. Paul's Cathedral was characterised by the impressive earnestness always evident at this annual celebration. Good as the music is at this service, the great impression it produces rather rests with the direct and united praiseful attitude of both choir and congregation than in any really fine manifestation of sacred art.

From day to day evidences come to hand of the increasingly regular, as distinguished from the occasional, employment of the orchestra in church. St. Mary's, Moorfields, at one time the chief home of Roman ecclesiastical music in England, and still a notable and traditional abiding-place of the Viennese school of Church music, retains the regular services of an efficient orchestra. On recent Sundays some of the best of Haydn's Masses, Mozart's once very popular Twelfth Mass (so-called), Beethoven's Mass in C, and Gounod's Messe Solennelle have been rendered, under the direction of Mr. A. W. Payne, with Mr. W. G. Barton at the organ. In addition, Mendelssohn's "Lauda Sion" and Rossini's "Stabat Mater" have been included in the service lists.

A selection of sacred music, or the combination of such a selection of sacred solo and choral music with an organ recital, is one of the Church musical institutions now growing in favour. Such a scheme has the advantage of being possible in some churches in which the performances of complete oratorios are not always easily brought about. A service of this kind was held in St. David's Church, Denbigh, on the 15th ult., at which Mr. A. H. Allen played some organ pieces by Bach, S. S. Wesley, and an Adagio by Liszt, and a good selection of anthems was sung.

Of special interest and value was Professor Sir Frederick Bridge's account, in one of the recent Gresham Lectures, of the growth of the "Passion Music," from the earliest times. The settings by Vittoria, written towards the end of 1585, according to St. Matthew and St. John, are still widely used in the Roman Church. This music, rightly described by the Gresham Professor as "not in the least dramatic"—that is, from the modern point of view—"was strikingly effective." One is tempted to suggest that a course of lectures with illustrations, upon so profoundly interesting a subject as the wide range of sacred art involved in the various settings of the Passiontide music, would afford much food for serious thought.

The issue in a well arranged form of Wagner's noble though early work, for several groups of male voices and orchestra, "The Holy Supper of the Apostles," will not be overlooked, it may be hoped, in connection with some of the great Church festivals. The effect of this music in one of our great Cathedrals, for instance, would be striking and imposing. Mr. E. H. Thorne will give a course of lectures at the Royal College of Organists, during the month of May, on "The History of English Church Music," with illustrations. The scheme will no doubt be one of great interest to the earnest lovers of sacred art.

In addition to the excellent series of six organ recitals (referred to in our "Organ Music" column) given by Mr. Westlake-Morgan at Bangor Cathedral, on Mondays in Lent, we must also commend his enthusiastic zeal in providing other good and appropriate music in the same sanctuary. On every Thursday during Lent the "Miserere," either by Allegri or Stainer, and some setting of the "Story of the Cross" were to be sung. Bach's "St. Matthew" Passion is to be sung twice during Holy Week, while on the 20th inst. there will be two choral festivals, Welsh and English, when upwards of 1,000 voices will be accompanied by a full band and the organ. Such efforts deserve every encouragement, which we ungrudgingly give.

An influential committee has been formed at Canterbury to present a testimonial to Dr. Longhurst on his retirement from the post of Cathedral organist and in recognition of his long and faithful services to the cause of music in the city. An account has been opened at the Canterbury Bank, where subscriptions may be sent. Mr. F. W. Furley is the hon. treasurer and the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore and Mr. G. Johnson are the hon. secretaries to the fund. Dr. Longhurst has been connected with the musical services of Canterbury Cathedral for seventy years.

ORGAN MUSIC.

The past has been a memorable month for all who are interested in organs and organ players. The recent appointments of skilled young organists to important offices is an indication of the growing call, even in the overcrowded profession of music, for well-equipped organ players not without experience and in the enjoyment of youth and of high promise as regards the future.

Interesting also has been the re-opening of Mr. Henry Willis's stately organ in St. George's Hall,

Digitized by Google

Liverpool; a ceremony which carries our thoughts back to such giants of the organ playing art as S. S. Wesley, who opened the organ on May 29 and 30, 1855, and W. T. Best, who, by his masterly performances, chiefly given upon this instrument during the past forty years, did so much to advance the art he so greatly adorned.

Among other important improvements suggested by Mr. H. Willis and Dr. E. J. Hopkins were the following: the CC compass extending over five octaves for the manuals, the extension of the pedal organ upwards from F to G, the introduction of pneumatic action, the transposition of the pipes of the manual organ, provision being made for the changing of the pitch to the normal diapason by "simple means," about which we are not enlightened, should that pitch be adopted, and the enclosing of a portion of the solo organ in a swell-box. Dr. A. L. Peace also made a number of useful and well-thought of proposals, including the transference of the vox humana to the solo organ; the provision of a harmonic piccolo in the great organ, with other judicious changes in the character of the "registers"; the introduction of the important swell to choir coupler; and some needed alterations and additions in connection with those very essential mechanical features, the couplers.

The great Liverpool organ now contains 25 stops on the great manual, 25 registers assigned to the swell organ, 18 on the choir, 15 on the solo organ, and a pedal of 17 registers. In addition, there are 14 couplers, making a total of 114 stops; tremulants to swell and solo organs, 36 pneumatic pistons, and 10 composition pedals.

It will be seen that the eminent organist of St. George's Hall, Liverpool, has under his experienced control a veritable "battery of sounds." Dr. Peace's programmes for the re-opening recitals, on the 5th ult., were well varied, showing such exalted employment of the "King of instruments" as in Bach's Prelude and Fugue in C minor and the Choral and Fugue from Guilmant's fifth and most recently composed Organ Sonata; and the organic effects from a more popular aspect in "Introduction, theme, and variations," by J. V. Flagler, one of the most esteemed American organists. Music by Mozart, Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Sterndale Bennett, Gounod, and Rossini was also included.

At the afternoon performance the Lord Mayor of the city and other members of the Corporation attended. The audiences numbered at the two concerts 1,700 and about 3,000. The residents of the great seaport of the North-West and their many visitors will now have cause to rejoice in the continuance of the splendid organ traditions of their enterprising city.

The schemes of three recitals recently given in Bangor Cathedral by Mr. Westlake Morgan included such interesting pieces as Rheinberger's Sonata (No. 4) in A minor; Marche Solennelle (Mailly); Concerto in G minor (Matthew Camidge, organist of York Minster from 1803 to 1842); Meditation (Op. 16), Alöys Klein; and "Marche Gothique" (Op. 48), Salomé. The programme recently played at the Royal Technical Institute, Salford, by Mr. S. Keighley, was of exceptional interest, including as it did W. G. Wood's Toccata in D minor, two Impromptu pieces (Allegro Marziale and "Air Varied") by Dr. H. Hiles, Fantasie Sonata in B major, Rheinberger; Sonata (No. 4), Bach; Meditation, Gottschalk; and an Introduction and Double Fugue in G minor, by Mr. Keighley himself. A course of three recitals has been given by Mr. F. G. M. Ogbourne during the past month at St. Dunstan's, Fleet Street. The excellent selection of pieces included Bach's Toccata in F, Grand Chœur in E flat (Guilmant), Air and Variations in A (Best), and Mendelssohn's Organ Sonatas (Nos. 1, 3, and 4). Several recitals have been given lately by Mr. T. H. Collinson and his assistant, Mr. C. M. Lowe, on the organ in St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh, rebuilt by the Electric Organ Company. Upon one occasion Mr. Collinson played his own MS. Sonata in D, which consists of an Allegro, a Pastorale, and a Fugue. Mr. Macduff has given a second recital upon the organ, rebuilt by the Electric Organ Company, in St. Mary's, Warwick. The programme included Handel's Second Organ Concerto, with the interesting addition of an MS. cadenza by Sir Frederick Bridge; Andante in A flat by Mr. W. S. Hoyte, and Sir Frederick Bridge's effective and musicianly Sonata in D minor, a work which has secured a deserved position in public favour. An excellent new three-manual organ, built by Messrs. Norman and Beard, was opened recently in the Aston Villa Wesleyan Chapel, Birmingham, by Mr. C. W. Perkins.

An organ recital was given by Mr. J. H. M. Ledger at Kelvinside Free Church, Glasgow, on the 1st ult., the music including Gavotte from the Twelfth Organ Sonata by Martin; Toccata in G minor, Sangster; Sonata in G, E. Townsend Driffield; and Allegretto in D minor, A. Foote. Dr. A. Madeley Richardson gave a recital, on the 15th ult., at St. Peter's, Cornhill, the programme including two movements from Widor's Organ Symphony (No. 3), and Wesley's "Choral Song and Fugue." Mr. J. B. Lawson gave a recital recently at Walton, near Liverpool. The music played consisted of pieces by Dr. A. L. Peace, Roubier, Marchant, Hewlett, Salomé, and other composers.

The restoration of the fine Willis organ in St. Andrew's, Wells Street, must surely be regarded as a matter of wide interest. The position of the church for so long a period in connection with the revival and advancement of church music, and the fact that its fine musical services are known to music-lovers all over the kingdom, should make the task of the organist and other authorities in acquiring the necessary funds an easy one. Mr. F. A. W. Docker, the esteemed organist, has himself secured nearly £200 towards the cost of renovation by his lectures on "The Chief Musical Composers of various Nationalities." The improvements are to be carried out by Mr. Henry Willis, who voiced the organ himself upon its construction in 1876. The whole of the interior of the instrument will be reconstructed, and the action will be changed to tubular pneumatic. It is hoped, with the financial assistance of musical friends, to carry out the work at the end of the coming summer.

Dr. E. Bunnett gave an excellent recital at St. Andrew's Hall, Norwich, on the 19th ult. His programme included: Andante con moto (Boely), Offertoire in C minor (Grison), Mendelssohn's Third Organ Sonata, and Wesley's Air composed for the Holsworthy Church bells. A feature of special interest was the first performance of "The Building of San Sofia," words by the Rev. S. Baring-Gould, accompanied by music by Mr. H. M. Higgs. The words were recited with artistic eloquence by Mr. Charles Fry and the music was ably presented by Dr. Bunnett. Recitations pure and simple accompanied by music are likely to be better known as time goes on. Admirable specimens are in existence by Grieg, John E. West, Hawley, and other composers; and Mr. H. M. Higgs has contributed an effective addition to the list. There can be no more interesting means of varying an organ recital scheme than by the introduction of such accompanied recitations; granting the excellence of words and music, the trained eloquence of the reciter, and the painstaking musicianship of the organ-player.

Digitized by Google

Mr. H. C. Perrin, the organist-elect of Canterbury Cathedral, gave a recital at St. Mary's Collegiate Church, Warwick, when the programme ranged from J. S. Bach to Humperdinck. The historic organ at St. James's Church, Piccadilly—originally built by Harris prior to 1685 for James II. for use in the Chapel Royal, Whitehall, and presented to the church by William and Mary in 1695—was re-opened, after being re-built by Messrs. Bishop and Sons, on the 22nd ult., by Sir Walter Parratt, who played pieces by J. S. Bach, Liszt, Brahms, Kullak, and Guilmant. Raphael Courteville, the composer of the tune "St. James," was a former organist of the church.

THE ROYAL CHORAL SOCIETY.

London amateurs were true to one feature in their character when, on the 16th ult., Beethoven's "Ruins of Athens" and Franco Leoni's "The Gate of Life" were produced at the Albert Hall. Of these works, the first was a comparative novelty, brought out in a new shape, and backed by the greatest name in music. The second was also absolutely strange, and subscribed by a composer whose quality has been tested in various popular forms with successful results. Nevertheless, on the part of the public, there were few signs of wholesome curiosity, and, although the audience could not have found room in any other London hall, not a few empty seats were left to represent the element of indifference. Yet the patrons of the Royal Choral Society are not surfeited with novelty.

After many vicissitudes and long stretches of neglect, the "Ruins of Athens" has at last been offered in an intelligible and usable shape. The story of the work, already told in its entirety, is of present concern only with regard to its last chapter. We may dismiss the "mythological pantomime" which opened its career at Pesth in 1812 and closed it at our Princess's Theatre in 1846. That now belongs to the dead past. What we have to deal with in the living present is a version distinguished by modified mythology and an absence of pantomime—in effect by a poem in which the author, Mr. Paul England, was guided by the prime necessity of giving Beethoven's music the best opportunity possible. Nobody affects particular interest, or indeed believes, in the removal of Greek artistic life from desolate Athens to the capital of Hungary. The "Ruins of Athens" exists solely for its music, and we now have that complete; conveniently laid out for performance, and adapted to take a place among the cantatas which are favourites with English concert-goers. It was something for the Royal Choral Society to demonstrate this, and to do so in a manner deserving only of praise. That Institution may, therefore, "go up one."

The version adopted at Kensington Gore is musically more complete than that previously available, inasmuch as it includes an Interlude and Recitative which had been omitted. Curious to tell, the once discarded Interlude must be numbered amongst the most delightful things in the work. Originally an accompaniment to dialogue, it stands thoroughly well as an independent piece, and was received in performance with emphatic approval. For the rest of the cantata more or less familiarity sufficiently speaks. We all know the overture, the Dervish chorus, the Turkish March, the march and chorus "Twine ye the garlands," and the fine concluding number. The point to be emphasised is that some of Beethoven's most charming, if not strongest, music is now generally available for choral societies, who, if they be wise, will revel in its beauty. The performance, in which Miss Palliser and Mr. Andrew Black took part, was admirable, and brought credit, not only to Sir Frederick Bridge, but to all concerned.

Mr. Franco Leoni's cantata is, like half-a-dozen works that could be named, founded on a story of Christian martyrdom, which subject seems to be, for reasons not obscure, of undying interest. The "argument," as laid out by Mr. Shapcott Wensley, includes the interruption of heathen rites by the voice of the heroine, Portia, and the bolder declaration of the hero, Probus. These witnesses for Christ are thrown into prison, where a number of doomed fellow-believers console and strengthen each other with words of faith. The martyrdom of the arena follows, the calm steadfastness of the victims and the frenzy of their persecutors standing in the most violent contrast. Each scene has the merit of suitability for music—a prime advantage which often outweighs defect, and is, indeed, the main test of sufficiency. In his music the composer shows complete fidelity to his instincts and preferences, which fact must be placed to his credit. He might easily have been less Italian and more English, but that would have involved a certain sacrifice of sincerity without corresponding gain. Mr. Leoni, a modern Italian, has treated his Roman story as a modern Italian might be expected to treat it. We have no right to expect anything else, and the intention, at all events, is impeccable. The work has, of course, called forth various opinions, as is bound to be the case where everything depends upon the point of view. For ourselves, we desire to judge from the composer's standpoint, and, without reference to special features in harmonic treatment, and so on, we are glad to recognise music which will largely find acceptance among our choral societies, not only because of adaptedness to their needs, but also for its free melodic charm and general effectiveness. There must be works of this class if our choral amateurs are to be properly nourished, and we should welcome them in a liberal spirit. The Albert Hall audience took kindly to "The Gate of Life," applauding various numbers with heartiness and showering compliments upon the composer, who conducted a good performance, for which Mr. Ben Davies and the artists already named did their very best.

PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY.

The older the "dear old Philharmonic" grows—it has just entered on its eighty-sixth season—the more abundant become the proofs of its vigorous life. For the new season, which began at Queen's Hall on the 10th ult., the directors have arranged a series of most attractive programmes, in which a large number of new compositions claim our special consideration. The first of these is Mr. Hamish MacCunn's ballad music from his opera "Diarmid." We have ever championed our composers' right to be heard and welcomed their works with the utmost enthusiasm their merits warranted. But we accept Mr. MacCunn's ballet music with hesitation. Such a noisy, unlovely complement of percussion instruments as he has used throughout these dance measures was surely never dreamt of before. Where is this craving for sheer noise to stop? The concert opened with Goldmark's spirited, tuneful, joyous, and gorgeously scored Overture "Im Frühling," splendidly played under Sir Alexander Mackenzie's vigorous and watchful direction, and Beethoven's "Pastoral" was the symphony. Miss Fanny Davies gave a highly finished, poetic performance of Chopin's F minor Pianoforte Concerto, and Miss Clara Butt sang Goring Thomas's "My heart is weary" ("Nadeshda") very expressively; but why she should force her exquisite and powerful voice in Queen's Hall seems past understanding—it would easily fill the largest room in the kingdom.

BACH CHOIR.

Professor Stanford's setting of Walt Whitman's "Ode to Death," produced at Norwich in 1884, fine as it was, has been greatly surpassed by his "Requiem," composed for last year's Birmingham Festival. Whereas the earlier work in places suggests Brahms and Wagner (a strange combination), it cannot in justice be said that the "Requiem" owes anything to such influences. It is at once the most original and most impressive of all his works, while it has this in common with the "Ode to Death"—that nowhere else has he so nearly approached the height of emotional expressiveness which goes by the name of inspiration. It is not a little strange, and yet perfectly intelligible, that these two works, which for the reason just stated appear to us to rank above all his other compositions, are the outcome of grief. If we had not already classical examples they would suffice to prove the truth of Mr. Stephen Phillips's lines in "Marpessa":—

Digitized by Google

> The half of music . . .
> Is to have grieved.

And

> Out of our sadness have we made this world
> So beautiful.

After this achievement Professor Stanford must rank even higher amongst the musicians of the day than hitherto, and we are of opinion that it will do more to spread his fame abroad than anything he has yet accomplished. At the performance by the Bach Choir at Queen's Hall, on the 8th ult., the "Requiem" made a deep impression. It is no exaggeration to say that some of the movements, especially the Lacrymosa, with its splendid and splendidly approached climax, and the Sanctus (a remarkable conception) created an effect such as we have not often experienced at a choral concert within recent years. Excepting an occasional dropping of the pitch, the choir sang well; the work had evidently been thoroughly rehearsed, and it was sung with much zest. The soloists were Madame Medora Henson, Madame Brema, Messrs. Thomas Thomas, and Plunket Greene, who exerted themselves nobly, but whose efforts were, in places, marred by trop de zèle. A special word of praise must be given to Mr. Thomas, who is still a pupil at the Royal College of Music, but already, by this performance, has almost justified our high anticipations. Dr. Hubert Parry's Symphonic Variations for orchestra were played with wonderful spirit, under the composer's inspiriting direction, and received with delight. They improve vastly and reveal fresh points of interest and beauty at each fresh hearing. We admire especially the way in which the composer gathers strength with the entry of the "Slow movement," largo appassionata, and, growing more and more complicated and impressive, carries us along with him on an impetuous current of rich sound towards the powerful and triumphant climax. This is one of the finest and most convincing things in modern symphonic music and greatly do we enjoy and value it. True to its name, the Society introduced in the programme Bach's short cantata "Sie werden Alle aus Saba kommen." This work was composed for the Feast of Epiphany in 1724, the year after Bach's removal to Leipzig. It opens with a splendid specimen of the master's style, a broad and dignified chorus, the introduction to which contains a remarkable passage for the full orchestra in unison, an effect most rare with Bach, as the analyst pointed out. A chorale leads to a very impressive recitative and air for the bass soloist. This is followed by another and extremely melodious recitative and air for the tenor soloist, after which another chorale brings the work to a close. Professor Stanford conducted, as usual.

ASH WEDNESDAY CONCERTS.

The most important musical observance of Ash Wednesday was the performance, by the Royal Choral Society, at the Albert Hall, of Gounod's sacred trilogy "The Redemption." There was the usual large attendance, and the impressive work was listened to with manifest sympathy and appreciation. The choristers showed their customary apprehension of the demands the music makes on emotional expression, interpreting the "Reproaches" with exquisite delicacy and the chorales and massive choruses with magnificent precision and wealth of tone. Notable advance was made in the rendering of the instrumental portion, with consequent increase of impressiveness of the vocal numbers, which, in common with modern music, rely greatly on the accompaniments for their due effect. Miss Ella Russell sang very finely the beautiful airs "From Thy love as a Father" and "Lovely appear," the soprano solo passages in the first part were effectively rendered by Miss Maggie Purvis, and Madame Belle Cole was the contralto soloist. Mr. Watkin Mills delivered the words of the Redeemer with his customary dignity and reverential feeling, and the parts of the Narrators were ably filled by Mr. Brozel and Mr. Daniel Price. The former's reading was commendably free from exaggeration. Mr. Daniel Price is one of our most promising oratorio singers, and the manner in which he discharged his task on this occasion will certainly add to the reputation he has acquired. Mr. Balfour presided at the organ and Sir Frederick Bridge conducted.

At the Queen's Hall the works chosen were Rossini's "Stabat Mater" and Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise," two compositions widely dissimilar in conception, yet both enjoying great popularity. The solos were sung by Madame Fanny Moody, Miss Lucie Johnstone, Mr. Herbert Grover, and Mr. Charles Manners; and the choral portions were effectively rendered by Mr. Robert Newman's capable choir. A higher executive standard was, however, attained in the "Hymn of Praise," the opening symphony being very finely interpreted and the choruses sung with more smoothness and finish. Madame Moody, Miss Johnstone, and Mr. Grover were again the soloists, and Mr. Henry J. Wood conducted.

QUEEN'S HALL SATURDAY SYMPHONY CONCERTS.

At the concert of February 26 a cantata, "Deirdre," by Mr. M. Esposito, was performed for the first time in London. This work gained the prize at the first Irish musical festival (Feis Ceoil), held at Dublin in May last. The music is decidedly better than the libretto. Mr. Esposito is a fluent writer and a graceful one. He has an Italian's gift of mildly tuneful strains, and such success as the work obtained was chiefly due to the charm of his vocal phrases and the effective orchestration. We need hardly describe the character of the latter, since the "effects" were neither original nor overpowering. "Deirdre" is a pretty cantata rather than a strong one, and after listening to it we could not help wondering what the other works were like which were not considered worthy of the prize. The performance was by no means perfect, neither soloists nor chorus appearing to great advantage. The composer received the compliment of a call. The programme included a Liszt Rhapsody (No. 3), the Entr'acte (No. 2, in B flat) from Schubert's "Rosamunde" (an enchanting performance, full of beauties of tone and refinement), the "Tannhäuser" Overture, and Beethoven's "Pastoral" Symphony. In the last-named Mr. Wood attempted a new, and, in our opinion, mistaken reading in the Finale, which he took throughout so slowly as to suggest that the preceding "storm" had failed to clear the atmosphere and refresh.

At the following concert, on the 5th ult., a March in A flat, by Moussorgsky, was the novelty. After a blatant fanfare for the trumpets, the trombones enter with the first subject, a rhythmical tune, richly scored (by Rimsky-Korsakoff, Mr. Jacques, the analyst, suggests). The melody of the Trio, "alla Turca," is the sort of thing Scarlatti's cat might have "extemporised" on its master's harpsichord, as an English critic said seventy years ago of the Overture to Beethoven's "Ruins of Athens." This is scored in the stereotyped and insipid "Oriental" style (piccolo, tambourine, &c.), and, after the repeat of the first section, the piece ends abruptly without any kind of Coda. Verily as poor a composition as we have heard at a high-class concert. The audience declined it without thanks, and we endorse their verdict. Wagner's Good Friday music from "Parsifal" was played with exquisite delicacy and marvellous beauty of tone. These remarks apply also to the performance of Schubert's "Unfinished" Symphony. Mr. Wood went too far in the matter of delicacy in playing Boccherini's favourite Minuet for strings. Certainly, we have never heard such a pianissimo, and for the first time we seemed to realise what Berlioz, Verdi, and other composers mean by the pppp or ppppp to be found in their scores. But such a tour de force (if we may indulge in a bull and speak of strength where the absence of strength was the chief feature) appears to us rather ludicrous. Some of the passages were all but inaudible, and Mr. Wood might as well go one step farther and conduct a performance on dumb instruments. It would create an even greater "effect" in one sense. Glinka's jolly, but exasperatingly verbose "Komarinskaja," Sir Arthur Sullivan's sparkling "Overture di Ballo," and Dr. Hubert Parry's masterly Symphonic Variations were the remaining orchestral pieces, and all received excellent interpretations. Miss Ada Crossley sang Haydn's fine "Spirit Song" and songs by Mozart and Stanford with much expression and taste.

Digitized by Google

A novelty of distinct value was introduced at the concert of the 12th ult.—viz., Mr. Percy Pitt's Overture to Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew," which was received with something like enthusiasm. Mr. Pitt, who is still a young man (having been born in 1870), must henceforth be added to the list of our coming men and awarded a foremost place therein. His overture displays his gifts in a most favourable light. It is not only a very musicianly work, full of sound and often masterly workmanship and elaboration, but it proves him capable of inventing strong and characteristic themes, without which mere workmanship would avail nothing. It opens with great spirit (not altogether unlike in that respect to Smetana's brilliant "Lustspiel" Overture), so as to suggest at once Katharina's "loud alarums," and the interest is not allowed to flag. The music may become intricate and even a maze of contrapuntal writing, yet it sounds the reverse of laboured. Themes, some of them of distinct beauty (as witness the Petruchio theme, first played by the muted horns in three-part harmony, while the violins sustain a high G, as if Katharina were listening, almost against her will, to her wooer's whispered yet passionate declarations of love), devices harmonic, contrapuntal, and orchestral in their turn interest and charm. It is a work written in the most advanced modern polyphonic style, richly and even brilliantly scored, full of life and bustle and energy, and yet surcharged with real poetic feeling withal. The symphony was Mendelssohn's lovely "Scotch," a thing of beauty if ever there was one. It was well played, though Mr. Wood did not approach the phenomenal and memorable performance conducted by Sir Arthur Sullivan at a Philharmonic concert some ten years ago, which we have never heard equalled, much less surpassed. Mr. Wood's violoncelli "sang" the chief theme of the slow movement as one instrument, with delightful tone and phrasing. Wagner's alternately riotous and ravishing Venusburg music (Paris version) and Brahms's jovial "Academic" Festival Overture (perhaps the purest specimen of "national" art-music in existence) received splendid interpretations. The comical "Katzenjammer" effect on the stopped horns in the overture deserves special mention. Mr. Rivarde gave an agreeable, tuneful performance of Beethoven's Violin Concerto, and Mr. Herbert Grover sang the same master's "Adelaide" and two songs by Rubinstein. He was overweighted in the former and apparently overcome with nervousness, but he sang the Russian composer's pretty ditties with much charm of voice and style. We can dismiss the final concert, on the 19th ult., with a few words. Wagner's "Holy Supper of the Apostles" was postponed till a future concert; and the only other novelty, Glazounow's Carnaval scene, was also withdrawn. Exit Russian music, pro tem., and re-enter more Wagner selections. Toujours perdrix! Verily the public is doing its best to make the very sight of the great master's name disliked. Shall we never more hear the symphonies of Schumann, Brahms, Raff, Goetz, Goldmark, and our British masters at Queen's Hall? It is pitiful, this absurd, this unwholesome craze for one man's music. The programme included also Schubert's C major Symphony and Grieg's "Bergliot," with Mr. Herman Vezin as reciter. The series will be continued in the Autumn. We are glad to hear that the orchestra have offered Mr. Newman a benefit concert "as a mark of their esteem and an acknowledgment of his great efforts during the past five years in the interests of music." The concert will take place on the 30th inst., when the programme will consist wholly of Wagner selections.

LAMOUREUX CONCERTS.

Much artistic interest has pertained to the concerts conducted by M. Lamoureux, on the 2nd and 15th ult., at Queen's Hall. The proclivities of English music-lovers may not always be satisfied with the French musician's readings of classic masterpieces, but his interpretations rarely fail to deepen esteem and respect for his ability as a conductor. This remark is specially applicable to the performance of Tschaïkowsky's Sixth ("Pathetic") Symphony, which formed the chief feature of the first-named concert. M. Lamoureux's reading of the symphony of moods was distinctly not that in accord with accepted versions of the work. In certain portions it was very fine, which made the failure in other parts the more irritating. Thus the significance of the opening Adagio was most forcibly expressed, but when he arrived at the haunting subject of the Andante he transformed its deep pathos and its yearning character by the infusion of accents of passionate despair, hurrying its second portion even more than Herr Mottl. Contrast with the storm and stress of the context was thus lost, with consequent effectiveness of the movement in its entirety. The con grasia directed by the composer at the head of the second number seemed to be overlooked, and a spirit of merriment substituted at variance with the sentiment of the music. The brilliant third movement was taken with metronomic precision. It went with the irresistible momentum and tramp of a highly disciplined European army; but it seemed to be an army that was marching against, not with, Russia. The barbaric glitter of the music seemed hidden under stiff regimentals, and one admired, but with undisturbed pulse. The Tartar was not visible. In the Finale, however, a return was made to the depth of expression heard in the opening number. The seeming alternations of hope and despair, the suggested revolt of the will against fate, the agonising and the exhaustion gained speech with breath-hindering intensity, and the awe-inspiring solemnity of the closing strains have never been more finely rendered. In point of attention to detail there was also much that excited lively admiration, but in its entirety M. Lamoureux's reading of the symphony of modern times is inferior in dignity to that of Dr. Richter, and in vivid force and accentuation of the characteristic Russian music less masterful than that of Mr. Henry J. Wood; but it is a reading that is to be placed amongst the best given in this country. Beethoven's "Coriolan" Overture received a very finished interpretation, but its tragedy was scarcely realised. The "Forest Murmurs" from Wagner's "Siegfried" were exquisitely played, and Berlioz's famous arrangement of the "Rackoczy" March was, of course, rendered with thorough French verve. The performance of Saint-Saëns's Fourth Pianoforte Concerto in C minor (Op. 44) was less successful, chiefly owing to its requiring a soloist with a more vigorous style than M. Diémer, who played the pianoforte part on this occasion. This accomplished artist was, however, subsequently heard at his best in a Gavotte by Rameau and a dainty little piece entitled "Reveil sous bois" from his own pen.

The chief feature of the concert on the 15th ult. was the rendering of Beethoven's Seventh Symphony in A. M. Lamoureux's readings of Beethoven's symphonies commonly lack the virility which is expected by an English audience, but atonement is made by the clearness with which details of instrumentation stand out, often with no little accentuation of the poetic and subtle significance of the music. This criticism applies to the performance on this occasion, and specially in reference to the slow movement, which was deficient in impressiveness. Was it also the influence of nationality that led the French musician to accentuate the dance element in the Finale rather than its robust and rude vigour? A singularly clear and beautifully balanced interpretation was given of the orchestral portion of the last scene from "Die Götterdämmerung," with Mdlle. Lina Pacary as the soloist, and, in truth, was the finest performance of the evening. This lady also gave a charming rendering of Wagner's "Träume." Miss Leonora Jackson confirmed the good impressions created on her first appearance, although she might have chosen to be heard at this concert in a work of more lofty aim than Wieniawski's second Violin Concerto in D minor. The charm of Miss Jackson's playing, independent of the truthfulness of its intonation and facile neatness, undoubtedly consists in its entire femininity in the highest sense of this term. To attempt to define it further would be to describe the fascinations of her sex. Her playing is womanly, with all the subtle grace and "sweet reasonableness" of which the poet sings.

Digitized by Google

CRYSTAL PALACE CONCERTS.

The Saturday concerts were resumed, on the 12th ult., before an excellent audience, the full attendance being accounted for, doubtless, by the presence of Dr. Joachim. The great violinist seemed hardly himself in parts of Mendelssohn's Concerto, but in Bach's "Chaconne" he had fully recovered his usual "form" and played as superbly as ever. No brand new pieces were added to the repertory of the orchestra—which, by the way, has been reduced by no fewer than thirteen players in the string department—the programme including Beethoven's First Symphony, Sterndale Bennett's charming Overture "Paradise and the Peri," and the three Dances from Sir Alexander Mackenzie's incidental music to Mr. Barrie's "The Little Minister," all of which were given with abundant spirit under Mr. Manns's direction. The vocalist of the afternoon, Madame Alva, sang an air from "Aïda" and disinterred another from "Norma," in either case winning cordial applause for her effective and dramatic delivery.

At the concert of the 19th ult. Mr. Manns introduced a somewhat ambitious novelty in the form of a symphonic prelude to "Kit Marlowe," a one-act opera by Mr. Herbert Bedford. It is, perhaps, hardly fair to judge of Mr. Bedford's talent by this work, in which his muse is seen to suffer from a rather severe attack of Tristanitis. It is, at any rate, very fully scored, and would, no doubt, make a deep impression on persons who had never heard a note of Wagner. Mr. Frederick Lamond, who was by no means fortunate in his instrument, played the solo in Beethoven's "Emperor" Concerto in his forcible, virile style, and Mr. Manns conducted excellent performances of Haydn's Symphony in B flat (No. 9 of the Salomon set) and Saint-Saëns's "Rouet d'Omphale." Mr. Santley gave his hearers a liberal education in the art of Handelian bravura singing by his brilliant rendering of "Del minacciar del vento," and the programme was completed by the prelude to "Die Meistersinger" and pianoforte solos played by Mr. Lamond.

MONDAY AND SATURDAY POPULAR CONCERTS.

It would be tedious and unprofitable to deal seriatim with Mr. Arthur Chappell's programmes since the last time of writing, for he has continued to pin his faith for the most part to standard works and favourite artists. Indeed, the only novelty of genuine significance with which it is now possible to deal was in the programme of Saturday, the 5th ult., consisting of a pianoforte and violoncello sonata by Mr. Richard Strauss. This Sonata in F (Op. 6) is, doubtless, an early work, and it is placed in recognised form, the subject-matter being also penned in symmetrical fashion. The sonata was beautifully played by Miss Fanny Davies and Mr. Hugo Becker, and its reception was deservedly cordial. It should be heard again whenever opportunity permits. Nothing more was done imperatively claiming attention until Monday, the 14th ult., when the Joachim Quartet, consisting of the great Hungarian violinist and Messrs. Kruse, Wirth, and Hausmann, re-appeared for the first time this season. Their almost unrivalled excellence in ensemble was once more shown in the quartet works by Beethoven in C sharp minor (Op. 131), Brahms's in B flat (Op. 67), and Haydn's in G (Op. 17, No. 5). On the following Saturday the quartets presented were Mozart's in G (No. 1 of the set dedicated to Haydn), Beethoven's in F (Op. 135, the last completed work of the greatest of all masters), and Schumann's popular work in A minor (Op. 41, No. 1). The last concert to which reference can now be made was that of Monday, the 21st ult., and this was an extremely enjoyable performance, the quartets being Schubert's in A minor (Op. 29), Beethoven's in C (Op. 59, No. 3), and Mendelssohn's in E flat. The performance of the Bonn master's greatest achievement in this class of composition was almost overpoweringly fine. On this occasion a favourable début was made by Miss Beatrice Spencer, a young vocalist, whose light but well-trained soprano voice was heard to advantage in Lotti's "Pur dicesti" and other songs by Schubert and Eva dell' Acqua. Pianoforte music has been ignored at these concerts of late, but whether this policy is wise may be regarded as a matter open to question.

ROYAL CARL ROSA OPERA COMPANY.

For the second time this company has transferred to the stage a work intended for the concert-room. As must be in recollection, a beginning was made by the production of Berlioz's "Faust" a few seasons ago. Now we have "The Martyr of Antioch," with "scenery, dresses, and appointments." This double act of the company is an interesting matter for consideration, and may be significant. What is the cause of it? Are there no operas available that give reasonable promise of paying their way? Or must we take it that the directors wish to profit by the popularity of other works, where it is possible to present them in stage dress? However this may be, we find that, as a matter of fact, it has been thought prudent to offer the public what may be called cantata-opera, while, from all we hear, results have, so far, justified the policy. This opens up a wide field for the Carl Rosa Company, seeing that there are many cantatas more or less easily adaptable to stage requirements, and sufficiently popular in their original form to encourage a hope that the public would follow them to the theatre. The names of these works will easily spring to the reader's mind. Conspicuous among them is the "Rose of Sharon," which could readily be turned to the new use. The procession, with its great chain of choruses, would necessarily require modification; but, apart from that, no great difficulty offers itself. Cowen's "Sleeping Beauty" is another example, and there are not a few others like it. The directors of the company will no doubt consider these things in the light of the experience they are now gathering. By the way, does the fact that such a question has arisen at all suggest indifference among the provincial public to opera proper? Here, again, is a field for speculation.

The "Martyr of Antioch," in its new form, was produced in Edinburgh a few weeks ago, and has since been performed in Brighton to large and interested audiences. It is with particular reference to one of the Brighton representations that the present remarks are made. Some changes were made in the work by, or with the sanction of, its composer; though, curiously, none of them resulted from the exigency of new conditions. The removal of "Brother, thou art gone before us," and substitution of "Wreaths for our graves," was, of course, purely arbitrary. So was the introduction, as an adjunct to the Funeral scene, of "Thou'rt passing hence, my brother," and so, strictly speaking, was the expansion of the final chorus by using themes from Margarita's triumphant Death song. These were the noteworthy changes; for the rest, the piece was performed without departure from the familiar concert-room text. In putting it upon the stage, a doubt probably arose as to whether the slow action of the drama would stand in the way of success. The long chain of choruses in the first act offered an easy problem, solved by the obvious course of animating the stage with the picturesque ceremonies of heathen worship. This was capitally done by Mr. Friend, the bright spectacle and the charming music leaving nothing to be desired. The crux appeared in the Funeral scene, where the stage is absolutely immobile. This the company faced squarely, trusting to the interest of the music, and, at Brighton anyhow, they were justified by events; for although "Wreaths for our graves" is not so valuable a number as the one whose place it took, the interpolated air, "Thou'rt passing hence," completely mastered the situation. Impressively sung by Mr. Charles Tilbury, it held the house and had to be repeated. In the last scene there was some flagging during "Have mercy, unrelenting Heaven," which made small amends for hindering the dénouement, but this was no great drawback, and we may fairly say that the cantata, as an opera, ran its course with success. The stage arrangements were not uniformly excellent. It surely cannot be necessary, in clearing the stage after the Funeral scene, to haul the "properties" representing an open grave to the wing in full view of the audience. We have nothing but praise for Mr. Robson's scenery or for the effective costumes.

The characters were, generally speaking, in good hands. Miss Bessie Macdonald gave full effect to the interesting figure of the martyr maiden, whose character she displayed with a power made none the less by gentleness. She lacked strength, however, in the Death song. Miss Kirkby Lunn was an excellent Julia; Mr. Robert Cunningham, though not in good health, played the part of the Roman Prefect, and sang its music, with acceptance; Mr. Tilbury satisfied all requirements as the Bishop, especially in "Thou'rt passing hence," where he did invaluable service, and Mr. Lemprière Pringle gave due effect to the character of Callias. On the whole, and allowing for some drawbacks scarcely removable, the experiment justified itself. Certainly it did so in the estimation of the particular audience concerned, by whom no opportunity of showing satisfaction was allowed to pass unimproved.

Digitized by

THE "ROSE OF SHARON," BY THE FINSBURY CHORAL ASSOCIATION.

Decentralisation in music is a thing greatly to be desired as tending towards the wider appreciation of our art in its highest forms. While choral concerts have grown fewer at those Western concert halls where orchestral music more or less Eastern has of late held rare high carnival, our suburban musical societies are remaining true to the Nation's first love in matters musical—viz., choral music. Moreover, they have not only become greatly daring in attempting works of the highest calibre, but their enterprise and courage have been largely justified by artistic results. That one of our foremost suburban societies, the Finsbury Choral Association, should include in its prospectus what is undoubtedly still the greatest oratorio written by a British composer, as it is certainly the most original one—viz., Sir Alexander Mackenzie's powerful and beautiful, but difficult "Rose of Sharon"—deserves high praise. We have not yet forgotten the deep impression Sir Alexander's music made upon us when we first came under its potent influence, and we delight in submitting ourselves ever and again to the spell which the beauty of his poetic, passionate, or prayerful strains casts over us. The Society's enterprising conductor, Mr. F. Cunningham Woods, has our thanks for enabling us to once more enjoy such a masterful work, and we are happy to say that the performance at the Northern Polytechnic Institute, on the 24th ult., was worthy of it. The choir sang with good effect, but occasionally there was some hesitation in attacking the more difficult "leads." The orchestra deserves special commendation, taking into consideration that half the strings were ladies, and, we suppose, amateurs. The soloists were Misses Esther Palliser and Greta Williams and Messrs. Henry Piercey and Henry Bailey. The ladies were excellent, but Mr. Piercey seemed out of voice, though he improved greatly as the work progressed. Mr. Bailey studied and sang the parts of Solomon and The Officer at what was literally a few hours' notice, and did so well that he must be credited with a remarkable achievement.

DURHAM COLLEGE OF SCIENCE CHORAL SOCIETY, NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.

Founded in 1889, this excellent Society can show a good record of earnest and artistic work. Its talented honorary conductor, Mr. C. S. Terry, who is an old chorister of St. Paul's Cathedral, "keeps the sacred flame alight" in Newcastle with wonderful persistency. We understand that at the concert given by the Society last year, Sir John Stainer and Dr. McNaught, who were present, spoke in the highest terms of the performances of Dr. Hubert Parry's "Ode on St. Cecilia's Day," Schumann's "New Year's Song," and Mendelssohn's "Hear my Prayer." At the sixth annual concert, given at the Cambridge Hall, Newcastle-on-Tyne, on the 15th ult., the programme included Mendelssohn's "Lauda Sion," Gounod's "Gallia," Elgar's "The Banner of St. George," three part-songs—"Turn all thy thoughts to eyes," "The sea hath many a thousand sands," by Hubert Parry, and "Rest thee, my little one," by Thomas Facer—the Andante con moto from Schubert's "Unfinished" Symphony, and a "Gavotte Melancolique," composed by the conductor. Such a diversified programme merits high commendation, and the excellent manner in which it was executed deserves the warmest praise. "Gallia" was sung with wonderful depth of feeling, and the unaccompanied part-songs were rendered with real delicacy and artistic refinement. The band numbered forty performers, and the chorus consisted of about 100 voices, a proportion of instrumental and vocal tone that is not always attained by similar societies. The entire concert reflected great credit upon the conductor and those whom he so efficiently leads. We shall follow the future of the Durham College of Science Choral Society with much interest.

"ELIJAH," AT MILE END.

More satisfactory work than is being accomplished by the People's Palace Choral Society, under the conductorship of Mr. C. H. Allen Gill, could not be desired. Standard compositions are rendered from time to time in a manner justifying the approval of the audience testing to the utmost the capacity of the vast Queen's Hall. Here, as elsewhere, "The Messiah" and "Elijah" are special favourites, and it is gratifying to note the attention invariably bestowed upon these masterpieces of sacred musical art. Mendelssohn's oratorio was given with the usual success on the 5th ult., the reflective and devotional, no less than the dramatic, choruses deeply impressing the listeners. Interest was steadily cumulative through the Baal scenes, and did not slacken until after the noble "Thanks be to God" afforded the signal for the interval. Equally cordial was the reception of the second part. The chorus sang with firmness and impulse combined with praiseworthy regard for expression. It was refreshing to meet with an amateur body so zealous yet so well under control. Mr. Daniel Price gave an excellent reading of the music of the Prophet, and there was much to commend in the respective performances of Miss Ethel Wood, Miss Lucie Johnstone, and Mr. Whitworth Mitton. Misses Cecilia Gray and Gertrude Booth, Messrs. Bertram Gill and Robert Radford also sang with judgment, and Mr. B. Jackson did good service at the organ. Mr. Allen Gill may be congratulated not only upon the result of his efforts to popularise oratorio in this district, but upon the creditable interpretations he is able to secure.

WALENN CHAMBER CONCERTS.

Modern Russian music is attracting so much attention in England just now that no little interest was attached to the first performance in London, on February 22, at the Queen's (Small) Hall, of a "Trio Elégiaque" in D minor, by S. W. Rachmaninoff, who was born in 1873 at Novgorod, and studied at the Moscow Conservatoire under Arensky and Siloti. The trio is headed "A la memoire d'un grand artiste," understood to refer to Tschaikowsky, whose Trio in A minor (Op. 50), it may be remembered, bears the same dedicatory words. Rachmaninoff's trio is in three movements, all of which are characterised by loftiness of aim and the suggestiveness of latent power. The themes are broad and expressive and thoroughly national, but their development is deficient in concentration and the work suffers from diffuseness. The composer seems to have so much to say and to be so anxious to impress it all on his listeners that the effect is somewhat confusing. The music is laid out for pianoforte, violin, and violoncello, but in the middle movement a harmonium is introduced, a procedure scarcely justified by results. In its entirety, however, the work confirms the good opinions previously formed concerning this composer's abilities, and is undoubtedly a remarkable composition for a man of only twenty-five years. It was effectively played by Messrs. Herbert Parsons, Gerald and Herbert Walenn, with Mr. Fountain Meen at the harmonium; and great credit is due to the concert-givers for introducing so interesting a work to a London audience. The remainder of the programme consisted of small instrumental pieces and an attractive selection of songs, which were admirably delivered by Madame Marian McKenzie and Mr. Arthur Walenn.

AMATEUR ORCHESTRAL SOCIETIES.

We have not at the present time to chronicle so many performances by our leading metropolitan amateur orchestral societies as took place in the early weeks of the year. The most important demanding record was that of the Westminster Society, the first of the present season, which took place on Wednesday, the 9th ult. Unfortunately it cannot be said that Mr. Stewart Macpherson's forces were quite up to their average in merit, and certainly the programme was not of very great interest. It commenced with an overture, "La Nuit de Mai," by the Russian composer, Rimsky-Korsakoff, which was coldly received, for it is an uninspired piece, though Korsakoff is a clever and industrious musician. At short notice Mr. George Liebling took the place of Madame Kisch-Schorr as pianist of the evening, and played the solo part in Beethoven's Concerto in E flat, which, however, owing to want of rehearsal, did not go very well. As to a new concert-overture, "Tartarin," by Mr. A. Davidson Arnott, opinions must be reserved, for the performance was not sufficiently meritorious to permit critical judgment to be properly formed, but that it is worthy of the promising Glasgow musician could be easily gathered. Mr. Arnott's fondness for programme music is not to be encouraged, save as to a limited extent. He might devote, at any rate, a portion of his talents to art in a purer form. Perhaps the most enjoyable feature of this concert was the vocal element, contributed by Miss Regina de Sales, the pure method and exquisite refinement of the young artist affording much satisfaction in Bemberg's "Nymphes et Sylvains," Henschel's "Spring, sweet Spring," and other pieces by Brahms and Victor Holländer.

Digitized by Google

The amateur orchestra at the Imperial Institute, under the conductorship of Mr. Randegger, gave a concert on the 9th ult., which was opened with Signor Alberto Franchetti's unpretentious Symphony in E, first performed in this country at one of Mr. Robert Newman's Promenade Concerts, at the Queen's Hall, on November 10, 1896. The composer was born in 1860, at Turin, and is well known on the Continent by his operas "Asraël," produced in 1888, and "Cristoforo Colombo," first heard in 1892. The symphony was written in 1884, during Signor Franchetti's residence in Dresden, when he was completing his musical studies. The genial and uninvolved nature of the music was well suited to the abilities of Mr. Randegger's instrumentalists, and an effective rendering was secured. Not so, however, fared Mr. Cowen's engaging suite "In Fairyland," the delicate and dainty orchestration of which was weakly attacked. Mr. Manuel Gomez showed apparently all that can be done on the clarinet in the solo part of Mr. Percy Pitt's clever concerto, and Miss Mabel Berrey was the vocalist.

The Royal Amateur Orchestral Society gave a concert on the 7th ult., at the Queen's Hall, which afforded additional proof of the ability of Mr. Ernest Ford as a conductor. The programme included the vivacious Overture to Sir Alexander Mackenzie's incidental music to "The Little Minister," the Overture to Gounod's opera "Mireille," and Mr. F. H. Cowen's fascinating suite "In Fairyland," all of which were effectively interpreted. The singing of Mrs. Helen Trust, Mr. Arthur Oswald, and the violoncello solos contributed by Mr. Clyde Twelvetrees increased the enjoyment of the evening.

VARIOUS RECITALS.

Mr. Mark Hambourg is one of a group of youthful pianists who, within the last decade, have sought to gain reputation chiefly in this country and in America as so-called "prodigies," and he was not one of the most successful of these juvenile performers. Now, however, he has developed into an artist of conspicuous ability, this being proved at the two recitals he has given at St. James's Hall during the present Spring. At the second, on the 10th ult., Mr. Hambourg's principal efforts were Schumann's great Fantasia in C (Op. 17) and Bach's Chromatic Fantasia and Fugue in D minor. Mr. Hambourg has certainly increased his reputation by his recent performances.

Amongst the most enjoyable of the recitals given in St. James's Hall during the Winter season must be numbered those of songs and pianoforte works provided by Messrs. Plunket Greene and Leonard Borwick. The first of the series for the present year took place on the afternoon of Friday, February 25, and was completely successful, though perhaps Mr. Borwick should not have commenced with so important a work as Schumann's Etudes Symphoniques. His rendering of this masterpiece showed that he is entirely in sympathy with the composer's music, and the triumphant Finale could not have been more eloquently interpreted. Mr. Plunket Greene's share in the scheme commenced with the three Harper's songs from "Wilhelmeister," as set by Schubert in 1817. His other contributions to the recital included two old French songs of the sixteenth century arranged by Professor Villiers Stanford, and six Irish ditties to which new verses have been put by Mr. Alfred Percival Graves. At the second recital, on the 11th ult., the most interesting feature was Schumann's "Liederkreis," a cycle of twelve songs, with words by Eichendorff, which Mr. Greene sang in the original German, but an excellent English translation was furnished by Mr. Paul England. Six songs by British composers followed, and Mr. Leonard Borwick was heard to the fullest advantage in Bach's "Italian" Concerto, Mozart's Sonata in D (numbered 576 in Köchel's catalogue), and five of Brahms's delicate little pieces from Op. 76, 118, and 119.

Mr. George Liebling decided to engage an orchestra for the last of his remarkable series of pianoforte recitals, which took place at St. James's Hall on the 3rd ult., and furthermore he secured the services of Professor Villiers Stanford as conductor. In Liszt's familiar Concerto in E flat Mr. Liebling was at his best, and the great difficulties of the Weimar master's music did not overcome him for an instant. As to his own Concerto in A (Op. 22), which had been heard at a previous recital with the orchestral accompaniments rendered on a second pianoforte, no further opinion in its favour can be expressed.

ROYAL ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

Students' concerts must be trying times for teachers, for nervousness plays strange tricks with inexperienced performers; but the professors of the Royal Academy of Music could have suffered little anxiety at the performance of their pupils on February 28, at St. James's Hall, for there was more reason for feelings of satisfaction than anxiety, the achievements of the young executants testifying to much talent and good training. An appropriate and touching tribute to the memory of the late Frederick Westlake was made by the rendering by the special choir of his scholarly written and expressive motet "They whom we loved on earth," which opened the afternoon, and was expressively rendered, the audience standing. The usual In Memoriam announcement which headed the programme contained the unusual line, "Student, Professor, Fellow, and Member of Committee," a terse and significant epitome of faithful and successful service in the art and in the interests of the Institution at Tenterden Street. A composition of much interest and charm was a setting for three voices of Longfellow's poem "The sea hath its pearls," by Miss Elsie Horne. The parts of this trio are admirably written and show distinct creative ability, and the pleasing composition was excellently sung by Miss Drinkwater, Miss T. Davies, and Mrs. Franks. Considerable talent was also shown in two songs, severally entitled "Life's little cares" and "Noon," by Miss Marion White, these being sympathetically rendered by Miss Margaret Cooper; and there was much merit in two lyrics, "Jeanie o' the Glen" and "Morning Song," by Mr. Harry Farjeon, which were given by Mr. Haigh Jackson. Other vocalists of promise were Miss Hettie West and Mr. Reginald Chalcraft, both of whom possess voices of fine quality. Miss Florence Davies and Mr. Cuthbert Whitemore showed aptitude as pianists; Mr. Percy H. Miles and Mr. C. H. W. Hickin played Beethoven's Sonata in A minor (Op. 23) for violin and pianoforte, and an enjoyable performance was given by the Ensemble Class of Mr. Victor Herbert's pleasing Suite for strings (Op. 12), under the direction of M. Sauret. Mr. H. R. Eyers conducted the motet.

The competition for the Goldberg Prize took place on the 7th ult. The prize was awarded to Reginald Chalcraft (of Alton, Hants). The examiners highly commended Ford Waltham and commended Robert Radford. The competition for the Llewelyn Thomas prize took place on the 14th ult. The prize was awarded to Gertrude Drinkwater

Digitized by Google

(of Cardiff). The examiners highly commended Margaret Drysdale and commended Laura England. The competition for the Evill prize also took place on the same day. The prize was awarded to R. Whitworth Mitton (of Manchester), W. R. Maxwell being highly commended. The competition for the Sauret prize took place on the 21st ult., and the prize was awarded to Edith Byford (of Chelmsford). Sidney A. Freedman was highly commended.

ROYAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

At the concert of the 2nd ult. Samuel Grimson, W. Read, E. Behr, and Robert Grimson gave an admirable performance of Glazounow's "Quatuor slave." They played like artists, and the tone they produced was wonderfully full and rich. Glazounow knows how to write for the "strings," there can be no doubt about that! Brahms's Pianoforte Quartet in A was played with considerable refinement and expression, but little power or brilliancy, by Wm. Scott, Mary Noverre, E. Behr, and R. P. Jones. Wm. Read gave a delightfully rhythmical, tuneful, and fluent performance of Bach's E major Violin Sonata, and Herbert Pryer proved himself a gifted pianist in Chopin's Berceuse and Moszkowsky's "Etincelle." He has an excellent touch and wrist action, and plays with freedom and abandon. Muriel Foster sang Brahms's two songs with viola obbligato (E. Behr) (Op. 91), with much expression and beauty of tone. Her pronunciation of German is quite first-rate, if we except the too darkly coloured "a," in such a word as "Palme," which she pronounces as if the first syllable were the English word "paw." R. Madoc Davies, a sonorous baritone, promised well in A. Jensen's "Alt Heidelberg"; but his German is at present somewhat mirth-provoking. He will do better before long.

At the final concert of the term a Symphony in D minor (Op. 75), by Giuseppe Martucci, of Bologna, was produced for the first time in England. Italians do not often attempt the symphonic form; in fact, we know only one other symphony by an Italian—viz., Sgambati's Op. 16. Signor Martucci's work is an elaborate, serious, and ambitious effort that challenges the application of the highest standard, wherefore we should prefer to reserve an expression of opinion on its merits till after a further hearing. That two of our foremost musicians, Dr. Parry and Professor Stanford, countenanced its production at the College is a sure sign that they recognised good qualities in it. We, too, admire the composer's cleverness and seriousness of aim. He has drunk deeply at the fount of Wagnerian "endless melody" and chromatic harmony, but the draught does not seem to have strengthened him for his task. His music shows little individuality, and whether he is in the "'Ercles" vein (as he generally is) or "roars as gently as any sucking dove," he fails to impress or charm. There is some beauty towards the end of the slow movement, where the composer's Southern temperament finds an outlet in a passionate and all too short strain. The Scherzo is quaint and rather original and an interesting rhythmical study, though neither inspiriting nor captivating. The orchestra was excellent in Dvorák's fresh and pretty Overture "In der Natur," and in the accompaniments to Brahms's alternately beautiful and uninspired double Concerto, the solo parts of which were extremely well played by Samuel and Robert Grimson. Thomas Thomas sang Wagner's "Preislied" from "Die Meistersinger," and brought out its wonderful beauties very successfully. Our advice to this gifted young singer is: study, study, and again study. If he does not allow himself to be spoilt by early success and turn ballad singer before he has completely mastered his art, he has a brilliant future before him. The bright and sympathetic soprano voice of Agnes Nicholls was heard to excellent advantage in an interesting scena, "Ave Maria," from Max Bruch's cantata "Das Feuerkreuz." It is a well written, beautifully scored, and effective piece, and dramatically expressive without being exactly inspired. The striking quartet for baritones, from Saint-Saëns's setting of the 19th Psalm, was capitally sung by Ivor Foster, Harry Dearth, R. Madoc Davies, and Ralph Courtier-Dutton. Altogether a highly interesting concert, for which we owe thanks to Professor Stanford, who conducted as usual.

The final examination for eleven free open scholarships at the Royal College of Music took place at the end of February. The total number of candidates throughout the United Kingdom applying to attend the preliminary examinations were 339. Of these, 295 were examined by the honorary local examiners at seventy-nine centres and reduced to 110. Ten competitors subsequently withdrew for various reasons, and the remaining 100 attended the final examination at the College. The following are the names of the successful candidates: Organ—Eustace Turner (Beckenham), William F. B. Dunnill (Wakefield); Pianoforte—Percy A. Waller (Luton), Emmeline J. M. Hall (Norwood); Singing—Edith D. Mason (Coventry), Walter Hyde (Birmingham); Violin—Winifred M. Smith (Southampton); Flute—Percy A. Richards (London); Clarinet—Alfred Weller (Ilford); Bassoon—William T. Brown (Leicester). In the composition branch the candidates did not reach a sufficiently high standard, and the scholarship was therefore not awarded.

TRINITY COLLEGE (LONDON) CONCERT.

The students of this Institution made a very creditable display of proficiency at an orchestral concert at Queen's Hall, on the 17th ult., with Mr. F. Corder as conductor. The professional element in the band was chiefly noticeable in the wind department, for at this, as at other establishments with similar aims, the stringed instruments are most in favour. More than half the first and second violinists were ladies. This force of executants gave, with commendable care and spirit, the Overture to Massenet's "Le Cid," Mr. Granville Bantock's Overture "The Fire Worshippers," the accompaniment to Grieg's Pianoforte Concerto in A minor, and other pieces. A Concertino for violin and pianoforte by Mr. Alfred Mistowski, a former student, was performed for the first time in public and was very favourably received. Refinement and freshness, together with no small degree of ingenuity, mark this work, which fully justified its introduction, and the three movements were ably rendered by Lily J. P. Evans and the composer. Decided talent was evinced by Maud Agnes Winter in her interpretation of Grieg's Concerto, the peculiar spirit pervading which was, on the whole, successfully caught. Of the vocalists, Bertha Acworth is entitled to mention for the excellent expression with which she gave Coenen's "Lovely Spring."

GUILDHALL SCHOOL OF MUSIC.

Satisfactory testimony of the good work being done at the Guildhall School of Music has been afforded on several occasions during last month. The pupils of Mr. B. Hollander gave, on the 3rd ult., a violin recital, the programme of which was arranged chronologically, beginning with Bach and ending with Saint-Saëns, and embracing excerpts from representative works by Handel, Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Brahms, Lalo, Max Bruch, and Dvorák. The playing showed much musical aptitude and proofs of good training, considerable promise in particular being shown by Mr. W. B. Carter. Other executants worthy of mention were Miss Marie Rodriguez, Miss Jessie Bowman, Miss Annette Maffert, and Mr. R. McConnell.

On the 23rd ult. some meritorious pianoforte playing was heard at a recital given by the pupils of Mr. J. Baptiste Calkin. Miss Madeline Payne, who has been at this school for some years, manifested notable progress, and her rendering of Brahms's difficult Variations on a Theme by Handel testified to her possession of exceptional and well trained abilities. Of more ordinary but distinctly meritorious character were the performances of Miss Edith Ries, Miss Lilian Clarke, and Miss May Bond.

In the evening of the same day an orchestral concert was given by the students in the Hall of the City of London School. The overtures to Spohr's "Jessonda" and Gounod's "Le Médecin malgré lui," respectively opened and closed the programme, which included Beethoven's Choral Fantasia, the solo pianoforte part of which was essayed by Miss Bessie M. Dott. Miss Mabel Monteith

Digitized by Google

The Musical Times, April 1, 1898.

Come away, sweet love.

BALLET FOR FOUR VOICES.

Composed by GEORGE RATHBONE, Mus. B., F.R.C.O.

London: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, Berners Street (W.), and 80 & 81, Queen Street (E.C.); also in New York.

Copyright, 1898, by Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

sempre pp
- way, sweet love, and play thee, Lest grief and care be - tray thee; Fa la
- way, sweet love, and play thee, Lest grief and care be - tray thee;
pp
Come a - way, and play thee, Lest grief and care be - tray thee;
- way, sweet love, and play thee, Lest grief and care be - tray thee;
sempre pp
la la la la la la la la, fa la la la la la la, Leave
sempre pp
Fa la la la la, fa la la la la la, Leave
sempre pp
Fa la la la la la, fa la la la, Leave
sempre pp
Fa la la la la la la, Leave
mf
off this sad la - ment - ing, And take thy heart's con - tent - ing, Each nymph to sport in - off this sad la - ment - ing, And take thy heart's con - tent - ing, Each nymph in - off this sad la - ment - ing, And take thy heart's con - tent - ing, Each off this sad la - ment - ing, And take thy heart's con - tent - ing,
f

The Musical Times. EXTRA SUPPLEMENT. April 1, 1898.

No. 584. NOVELLO'S OCTAVO ANTHEMS. Price 3d.

Eye hath not seen

(FOUR-PART SETTING)

COMPOSED BY MYLES B. FOSTER.

FIFTEEN VOLUMES NOW READY, BOUND IN CLOTH, PRICE 7s. EACH.

424. Abide with me ... R. Dunstan 3d.
478. A few more years shall roll H. Blair 3d.
247. All nations whom B. Luard Selby 4d.
113. All they that trust ... Dr. Hiller 8d.
30. All Thy works ... E. H. Thorne 3d.
475. All Thy works ... J. Barnby 4d.
503. All Thy works ... G. H. Ely 4d.
9. All ye who weep ... ... Gounod 3d.
261. And all the people saw J. Stainer 6d.
229. And it was the third hour Elvey 4d.
485. And Jacob was left alone J. Stainer 6d.
357. And the wall of the city Oliver King 3d.
402. And when the day of Pentecost C. W. Smith 3d.
228. Art thou weary ... C. H. Lloyd 6d.
311. As I live, saith the Lord E. T. Chipp 3d.
333 As it began to dawn Ch. Vincent 3d.
498. As Moses lifted up F. Gostelow 3d.
24. As the hart pants (S.S.T.B.) Gounod 3d.
24*. Ditto (T.T.B.B.) Gounod 3d.
147. Ascribe unto the Lord Travers 6d.
109. Ascribe unto the Lord S. S. Wesley 8d.
399. At the Lamb's High Feast we sing Rev. E. V. Hall 3d.
456. At the Sepulchre H. W. Wareing 4d.
56. Awake, awake, put on J. Stainer 6d.
149. Awake, awake, put on M. Wise 4d.
199. Awake, thou that sleepest Stainer 6d.
150. Awake up, my glory M. Wise 3d.
578. Be glad and rejoice ... B. Steane 3d.
212. Be glad, O ye righteous H. Smart 4d.
567. Be Thou exalted ... C. Bayley 3d.
440. Before the heavens H. W. Parker 3d.
349. Behold, how good (A.T.T.B.) A. J. Caldicott 3d.
349.* Ditto (S.A.T.B.) A. J. Caldicott 3d.
419. Ditto Hamilton Clarke 4d.
89. Behold, I bring you J. Barnby 3d.
296. Ditto Rev. E. V. Hall 3d.
348. Ditto J. Maude Crament 4d.
554. Behold, I send ... J. V. Roberts 4d.
65. Behold now, praise J. B. Calkin 3d.
315. Behold, O God ... F. W. Hird 4d
524 Behold, the days come Woodward 4d.
501. Behold, two blind men J. Stainer 3d.
143. Be merciful ... ... H. Purcell 6d.
257. Be merciful E. A. Sydenham 3d.
471. Be ye therefore followers of God A. S. Baker 3d.
77. Blessed are they ... W. H. Monk 3d.
182. Blessed are they ... Arthur Page 3d.
390. Blessed are they A. W. Batson 3d.
15. Blessed be the God S. S. Wesley 4d.
183. Blessed be the Lord Dr. Heap 6d.
331. Blessed be the Lord C. L. Williams 4d.
400. Blessed City ... A. C. Fisher 4d.
262. Blessed is He ... C. H. Lloyd 8d.
284. Blessed is He F. E. Gladstone 2d.
292. Blessed is he ... A. C. Mackenzie 4d
64. Blessed is the man ... Sir John Goss 4d.
206. Blessed is the man Clarke-Whitfeld 3d.
286. Blessed Jesu, Stabat Mater Dvorák 6d.
5. Blessing, glory, wisdom B. Tours 4d.
378. Bless the Lord ... M. Kingston 4d.
374. Bless thou the Lord Oliver King 3d.
450. Bless thou the Lord C. Bayley 4d.
97. Blow ye the trumpet Henry Leslie 3d.
118. Bow Thine ear ... W. Bird 3d.
92. Break forth into joy R. Prentice 6d.
415. Ditto S. Coleridge-Taylor 3d.
491. Ditto B. Steane 3d.
323. Brightest and best Rev. E. V. Hall 4d.
340. Bring unto the Lord F. E. Gladstone 3d.
98. Brother, thou art gone Sir J. Goss 4d.
279. By Babylon's wave Gounod 6d.
197. By the rivers of Babylon L. Samson 4d.
121. By the waters of Babylon Boyce 4d.
511. Ditto ... H. Clarke 4d.
116. Call to remembrance J. Battishill 6d.
497. Christ both died E. W. Naylor 3d.
368. Christ is risen ... J. M. Crament 3d.
454. Christ is risen G. B. J. Aitken 3d.
533. Christ is risen ... J. V. Roberts 3d.
307. Christ our Passover Rev. E. V. Hall 3d.
370. Christ the Lord Rev. E. V. Hall 3d.
488. Christians, awake ... J. Barnby 3d.
445. Cleanse me, Lord G. F. Wrigley 3d.
52. Come, and let us return Sir J. Goss 3d.
95. Come, and let us return W. Jackson 3d.
201. Come, Holy Ghost ... J. L. Hatton 4d.
283. Come, Holy Ghost Sir G. Elvey 4d.
293. Come, my soul ... G. C. Martin 4d.
314. Come now, and let us H. W. Wareing 4d.
1. Come unto Him ... Gounod 2d.
103. Come unto Me (Bach) J. Stainer 3d.
256. Come unto Me H. R. Couldrey 3d.
334. Come, ye faithful Rev. E. V. Hall 3d.
356. Daughters of Jerusalem H. J. King 3d.
449. Dawns the day ... R. H. Legge 3d.
213. Day of anger (Requiem) ... Mozart 6d.
252. Death and life Walter Parratt 3d.
90. Distracted with care ... Haydn 4d.
277. Enter not into Judgment Dr. Clarke 2d.
362. Eternal source ... F. Brandeis 2d.
470. Eye hath not seen M. B. Foster 3d.
329. Far from their home, our fallen race Rev. H. H. Woodward 3d.
364. Father, hear the prayer F. Brandeis 2d.
46. Father of Heaven Dr. Walmisley 3d.
384. Father of Life ... S. J. Gilbert 3d.
28. Fear not, O land ... Sir John Goss 6d.
446. Flee from evil Rev. W. J. Clarke 3d.
553. For a small moment ... J. Stainer 2d.
254. For ever blessed ... Mendelssohn 3d.
198. For the mountains... L. Samson 3d.
273. From the deep I called Spohr 6d.
227. Give ear, O Lord T. M. Pattison 2d.
433. Give ear, O Shepherd A. Whiting 3d.
88. Give ear, O ye heavens Dr. Armes 3d.
309 Give the Lord ... C. H. Lloyd 8d.
383. Give unto the Lord H. W. Parker 4d.
2. Glory be to God ... S. S. Wesley 2d.
341. God be merciful ... A. H. Mann 4d.
49. God be merciful ... S. S. Wesley 3d.
236. God be merciful unto us C. F. Lloyd 6d.
105. God came from Teman Dr. Steggall 4d.
128. God is gone up ... Dr. Croft 4d.
131. God is our hope ... Dr. Greene 6d.
101. God is our refuge ... Dr. H. Hiles 6d.
532. God is our refuge ... A. Foote 4d.
75. God said, Behold Sir G. Macfarren 4d.
473. God so loved the world J. V. Roberts 3d.
342. God, that made earth A. C. Fisher 2d.
344. God, who at sundry times J. H. Mee 4d.
388. Grant, we beseech Thee J. V. Roberts 3d.
550. Grant, we beseech Thee M. Elvey 2d.
187. Great and marvellous Dr. Monk 3d.
517. Ditto ... J. F Bridge 4d.
223. Great is Jehovah ... Schubert 4d.
136. Great is the Lord ... Dr. Hayes 4d.
237. Great is the Lord Sir F. Ouseley 6d.
481. Great is the Lord ... B. Steane 3d.
220. Grieve not the Holy Spirit Stainer 3d.
427. Hail! gladdening Light J. T. Field 2d.
545. Hail! gladdening Light Martin 4d.
326. Hail, thou that art ... A. Carnall 4d.
560. Hail to the Christ ... J. Barnby 3d.
499. Hallelujah, Christ is risen Steane 3d.
382. Hallelujah! the Light O. King 3d.
173. Happy is the man ... E. Prout 8d.
487. Hark the glad sound E. V. Hall 3d.
345. Hark, the herald angels E. V. Hall 3d.
444. Hark! what news... ... O. King 3d.
404. Harvest Hymn ... F. Tozer 2d.
377. Have mercy upon me Kellow J. Pye 3d.
401. Have mercy upon me J. Shaw 3d.
535. Have mercy upon me J. Goss 4d.
389. Hear me when I call T. Distin 2d.
146. Hear my prayer ... C. Stroud 4d.
339. Hear my prayer Mendelssohn 4d.
442. Hear my words C. H. H. Parry 8d.
310. Hear, O God ... A. Friedländer 6d.
138. Hear, O heavens P. Humphreys 3d.
94. Hear, O Lord Sir John Goss 2d.
139. Hear, O Lord ... C. King 2d.
162. Hear, O Lord Sir F. Ouseley 4d.
203. Hear, O Thou Shepherd Dr. Clarke 4d.
522. Ditto T. A. Walmisley 4d.
376. Hide not Thy face Kellow J. Pye 2d.
330. Holy Ghost, to earth descending, Ludmila ... ... Dvorák 4d.
111. Holy, holy, holy ... Dr. Crotch 3d.
246. Ho! every one ... G. C. Martin 4d.
366. Ho! every one J. M. Crament 4d.
412. Honour the Lord ... J. Stainer 4d.
129. Hosanna ... ... O. Gibbons 3d.
43. Hosanna ... Sir G. A. Macfarren 3d.
260. How beautiful are the feet Handel 3d.
321. How excellent is Thy ... Cowen 6d.
373. How long wilt Thou Oliver King 2d.
104. How lovely are ... ... Spohr 8d.
539. I am Alpha ... J. V. Roberts 3d.
268. I am well pleased J. Rheinberger 3d.

Copyright, 1897, by Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

these . . . . words. . .

accel . . .

Ste. rit.

Tempo 1mo, Andante.

FULL.

dolce. p cres.

Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, nei - ther have en-tered in - to the dolce. p cres.

Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, nei - ther have en-tered in - to the p dolce. cres.

Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, nei - ther have en-tered in - to the p dolce. cres.

Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, nei - ther have en-tered in - to the

- er - an - do al Tempo 1mo, Andante.

p

f dim.

heart of man, the things which God hath pre - par - ed for them, . . for

f dim.

heart of man, the things which God hath pre - par - ed for them . .

f dim.

heart of man, the things which God hath pre - par - ed for them, for

f dim.

heart of man, the things which God hath pre - par - ed for them, for

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

EYE HATH NOT SEEN.

Also published in Novello's Tonic Sol-fa Series, No. 1032, price 1½d.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

presided at the pianoforte in Mendelssohn's Rondo Brillant in E flat (Op. 29), and Miss Fanny Woolf was the soloist in Saint-Saëns's Introduction and Rondo capriccioso for violin and orchestra in A minor, both ladies, especially the latter, evincing taste and technical acquirements that justify encouragement. The Misses Kingsley sang duets from Meyerbeer's "Prophète" and Handel's "Judas Maccabæus" with commendable expression and precision, and there was much merit in Mr. Henry H. Sowerbutt's rendering of the air "Love in her eyes," from Handel's "Acis and Galatea." Mr. W. H. Cummings conducted.

GRESHAM LECTURES.

Sir Frederick Bridge, at his Hilary term series of Gresham College lectures, delivered at the City of London School, covered a wide field of his art, his discourses ranging over organ, pianoforte, oratorio, and chamber music. At the first lecture an interesting sketch was given of the life and work of Samuel Wesley, son of Charles Wesley, the hymn-writer, born on February 24, 1766. After mentioning the chief events in his career, which are well known to musicians, the lecturer dwelt upon Wesley's laudable endeavours to make known in this country the works of John Sebastian Bach. In 1810 he published, in connection with C. F. Horn, an edition of the "Wohltemperirte Clavier." Samuel Wesley's intense admiration for the works and genius of Bach was, the lecturer said, a most interesting and remarkable fact. In a series of letters, extending over eight years, the first being dated September 17, 1808, to Benjamin Jacob, organist of Surrey Chapel, Wesley poured out his profound "adoration" for the "great Sebastian." Some extracts from these letters were read, revealing the enthusiasm and also the marked personality of the writer. Several excerpts from his organ compositions were admirably played by Mr. W. G. Alcock.

The next lecture was devoted to a consideration of Chopin, concerning whom the lecturer quoted the opinions of Schumann, Liszt, Karasowski, and Dannreuther, thus presenting the composer in several aspects. The lecturer said Chopin was a great inventor, not only in his treatment of the pianoforte as an instrument, but in his compositions. He spoke of new things and found new ways of expressing them. His best works abounded in combinations which might be said to form an epoch in the handling of musical style. To Chopin we owed the extension of chords struck together, or en batterie; the chromatic sinuosities of which his pages offered such striking examples, and the little groups of superadded notes. This species of adornment had hitherto been modelled only upon the fioriture of the old school of Italian song; the embellishments of the voice had been servilely copied by the pianoforte, but Chopin imparted to them the charm of novelty, surprise, and variety, unsuited to the vocalist, but in perfect keeping with the character of the instrument. Illustrative examples were played in a sympathetic manner by Miss Annie Grimson.

At the third discourse the history of the "Passion" oratorio was treated in an admirably lucid and comprehensive style. The lecturer showed that this form of the art, although originated in Italy and first introduced by the Roman Catholics, had been chiefly developed by Protestant German composers. The distinctive feature of the German "Passion" music was the introduction of portions in which the congregation could take part. There was still extant a "Passion" play of the fourth century by Saint Gregory Nazianzen, and there could be little doubt that such were often performed with or without music, and gradually became an acknowledged service of the Church. In 1586 Pope Sixtus V. published at Rome a book of plain-song chants to each of the four accounts of the "Passion." In these early attempts the whole service was sung by three deacons. The first a "bassus," or low voice, sang the words of the Redeemer; the second, a "medius," or moderately high voice, was the Narrator; and the third, an "altus," or high voice, declaimed the exclamations of the crowd. There seemed to be some doubt as to who wrote the first German "Passion" oratorio; but in 1573 a version of the "Passion" was printed at Wittenberg with music for recitation and choruses in four parts. Bartholomäus Gese developed this model in 1588, and in the next century Heinrich Schütz produced several sacred works in which much use was made of chorales. Some selections were given by Mr. W. Fell, Mr. C. Ackerman, and choristers of Westminster Abbey, from the "Passion" music of Schütz, and much interest was attached to a part-song, "Innsbruck, I must forsake thee," by H. Isaac, 1539, a paraphrase of the same to sacred words, "Oh, world, I must forsake thee," and the same tune as given in "Hymns Ancient and Modern," No. 86; a secular song in five parts, "My mind is quite confused" (Hasler, 1601), a paraphrase of the same to sacred words, "My soul doth yearn and longeth," and the same tune as given in "Hymns Ancient and Modern," No. 111.

To not a few chief interest was centred in the final lecture, on the 4th ult., the subject of which was the Russian composer Tschaïkowsky. Before speaking of this remarkable musician, the lecturer briefly surveyed the influence of nationality on modern music; Chopin and Poland, Liszt and Hungary, Dvorák and Bohemia, and Grieg and Scandinavia being, of course, quoted as examples. The influence of Russian music, the lecturer said, dated no farther back than the beginning of this century. Russian national art-music might almost be said to have begun with Michael Ivanovitsch Glinka, born in 1804, and his successors had been divided roughly by César Cui, one of their number, into three groups: Glinka, Dargomijsky, and Seroff, representing the old lyric school; Rimsky-Korsakoff, Moussorgsky, Borodin, Balakireff, and Cui, the new Russian school; and Rubinstein and Tschaïkowsky, the last-named being rather less national and more cosmopolitan than the others. Most of these composers were trained for other professions. Glinka held a Government position, Seroff was a lawyer, Borodin was a doctor, Balakireff was a professor of mathematics, Rimsky-Korsakoff was a naval officer, and César Cui a professor of fortification. Peter Iltitsch Tschaïkowsky was born at Wolkinsk, in the Ural district, December 25, 1840. He showed remarkable musical aptitude as a child, but was entered as a student in the St. Petersburg law school. While there he was able to cultivate his musical talent, as the school possessed a music teacher; but according to a letter written by him to Dr. Otto Neitzel, the first person who exercised determinative influence over Tschaïkowsky was an Italian singing master named Piccioli. "The influence he gained over me," writes Tschaïkowsky, "was enormous, and even now I have not quite outgrown it. He was an out-and-out enemy of German music, and through him I became an enthusiastic admirer of Rossini, Bellini, and Donizetti, considering it an accepted fact that Mozart and Beethoven did excellent service only in sending one to sleep." About this time, 1857, Tschaïkowsky's father began to perceive that his son's musical gifts merited serious attention, and he placed him under Rudolph Kündiger, a German pianist, who one night took his pupil to a performance of Mozart's "Don Giovanni." Concerning this experience Tschaïkowsky wrote: "It is impossible to describe the delight, the rapture, the intoxication with which it inspired me. For weeks I did nothing but play the opera through from the vocal score. Among all the great masters Mozart is the one to whom I feel myself most attached." Tschaïkowsky, however, finished his course at the law school in 1859, and for two years filled the post of an Under-Secretary in the Ministry of Justice; but, in 1861, he placed himself under Zaremba, and became a pupil at Rubinstein's new Conservatoire of Music in St. Petersburg. In 1866 he was elected a professor at the Moscow Conservatoire, then recently founded by Nicholas Rubinstein. This post he relinquished in 1878, and henceforth devoted himself entirely to composition. He lived for a time in Italy and Switzerland, visited England in 1888 and 1889, and conducted his music at the Philharmonic concerts. In 1893 he accepted the Cambridge honorary degree of Doctor of Music, and died suddenly at St. Petersburg in November of that year. The illustrations consisted of a representative selection from his chamber music, which was excellently interpreted by Miss Grimson, Miss Jessie and Miss Amy Grimson, and Mr. Grimson.

Digitized by Google

MUSICAL ASSOCIATION.

It has become a commendable custom with the Musical Association, when any prominent musician has ceased his life-work, to devote a meeting to kindly comment on his services to the art. Such tribute was paid, on the 8th ult., to the memory of the late Sir Robert Prescott Stewart, an honour, it must be admitted, somewhat delayed, since this esteemed Professor of Music of Dublin University died in March, 1894; but recognition has ever come slowly to genuine art workers, and so the tardy acknowledgment of the Association may be taken as a compliment. The Rev. O. J. Vignoles, who read what may be termed a biographical sketch, was at one time a pupil of the deceased, and so was able to impart to the paper a pleasant personal element, which afforded relief to the relation of the well-known facts of the musician's career. Several instances were given of his remarkable musical memory, and a curious side-light was thrown on the spirit of the period by the lecturer incidentally mentioning the custom of the choir boys spinning their tops and playing marbles in the nave of the Cathedral while Sir Robert would be practising on the organ. His influence in Dublin was very great, and it was owing to his exertions that an arts test was added to Dublin musical degrees, a procedure subsequently adopted in England.

Mr. Prendergast occupied the chair, and, in common with the Rev. D. Torrance, Mr. Southgate, and Mrs. Curwen, bore witness to the great abilities of Sir Robert as a composer, performer, and teacher.

REVIEWS.

The Eve of Saint Agnes. Dramatic Ballad by Thomas Whitney Surette. [Novello, Ewer and Co.]

The composer of this ballad has gone to John Keats for his text, and from the legendary poem of "The Eve of Saint Agnes" has made a judicious selection which tells the flight of the lovers Porphyro and Madeline with sufficient of the surrounding circumstances to excite interest in their endeavour. The music of the former is designed for a baritone and that of the latter for a soprano, but the solos of neither call for more than moderate vocal abilities. There are also some short solo passages for a contralto, who personates Angela, the compliant old dame to whom the lovers are much indebted for the success of their plans. The story is chiefly told by the choristers, who open the cantata with two well contrasted descriptive choruses, which are succeeded by instrumental "Revelry Music," well in keeping with the character of the work. Porphyro's arrival is described effectively by the tenors and basses in four-part harmony, and the subsequent numbers are admirably contrasted. The description of the heroine "As down she knelt for heaven's grace and boon" is given in flowing four-part vocal harmony, which sometimes glides into five parts, the contraltos being divided. The last-named division of the choir relate, in melodious unison, the meeting of the lovers; but Madeline properly is made to speak for herself when she greets Porphyro, which she does in impassioned accents. The lines beginning "The frost wind blows" are set for first and second sopranos and first and second altos, and if crisply sung would form a vivacious feature. The Finale is well conceived. It is opened by an expressive solo for Porphyro, "My Madeline! sweet dreamer!" after which the chorus relate the progress of the storm while the lovers make good their escape and exchange the confidences usual on such occasions. This number is very dramatic in character, and, combined with a brief epilogue, ending pianissimo, effectively concludes a work which possesses much charm and musical interest and is admirably suited to amateur choral societies.

Novello's Octavo Anthems. Nos. 581, 583-585, 590-592. [Novello, Ewer and Co.]

Excellence and variety distinguish the recent additions to this series of Octavo Anthems. No. 581, "Kings shall be thy nursing fathers," is an "anthem for sovereign's accession," and is part of the music specially composed by Sir George C. Martin for the memorable visit of the Queen to St. Paul's Cathedral to celebrate the sixtieth year of her reign. It is hardly necessary to add that it will be found an effective anthem for Accession Day. Mr. Arthur E. Godfrey has provided No. 583, which is an anthem for soprano or tenor solo and chorus, designed for use on the fifth Sunday after Trinity, but also appropriate for general use. It opens with the words, "Be ye all of one mind," which is given to the tenors and basses in unison. The subsequent soprano solo, Andante tranquillo, is attractively melodious, and the words are admirably accented. This melody is taken up by the chorus in four-part harmony of a simple but effective nature. Another solo for the soprano and a passage for tenors and basses lead to the final chorus, which ends with a pianissimo two-fold "Amen." No. 584, "Eye hath not seen," is meant specially for Whitsuntide, but in common with the foregoing anthem is suitable for general use. The music is by Myles B. Foster, and a distinctive feature is a bass solo of dignified character which extends over two pages and affords an effective contrast to the opening and closing choruses of meditative character. "O God, Thou art my God" (No. 585), is by Bertram Luard Selby, and demands a tenor and soprano soloist. The anthem, though by no means difficult, would require a well trained choir to do it justice; but any extra practice it might entail would be well repaid in performance. In No. 590 Mr. G. F. Cobb has written an anthem for Eastertide, designed for baritone solo and chorus, that will interest well-trained vocalists. The music possesses a dramatic spirit, is effectively laid out for the voices, and the organ part has considerable independence. Another Easter anthem, "I will go unto the altar of God," by Cuthbert Harris, is provided in No. 591. This is simpler in character than the preceding number, and is of a nature that will be easily learnt by choirs of average abilities, the part-writing being melodious and easy to read. No provision is made for soloists, but a portion might be sung as a quartet, which would provide an effective contrast to the rest of the work. No. 592, "Alleluia! Now is Christ risen," by Thomas Adams, is also an excellent example of Church music for Eastertide. It is opened by the tenors and basses, who sing in unison an ancient Easter melody, of which good use is subsequently made. A feature of this anthem is the effective manner in which the divisions of the four-part chorus answer each other with happy avoidance of the executive difficulties usually associated with this device.

The Organist's Magazine of Voluntaries. Edited by E. Minshall. No. 42. [44, Fleet Street.]

This useful periodical publication continues to run its steady course. Perhaps the more interesting of the two compositions contained in the present number is a "Coro allegro alla marcia" in D, by Mr. Ernest H. Smith, which is suitable as an outgoing voluntary or recital piece. We question, however, whether the quaver pedal passages do not seem rather out of place; their effectiveness is hardly commensurate with their abnormal difficulty in a piece that is otherwise fairly easy and possesses some attractiveness.

The Year's Music, 1897. Edited by A. C. R. Carter. [J. S. Virtue and Co., Limited.]

The editor of this useful book of reference claims to have provided "a concise record of all matters relating to music and musical institutions, which have occurred during the season 1896-7, together with information respecting the events of the season 1897-8." His 300 pages contain much valuable matter relating, for the most part, to concerts, whose name now-a-days is "legion" in London, in the provinces, and abroad. There is a very useful "list of new and other works performed for the first time in England during 1896-7," in addition to information relating to the great teaching academies and their staffs of professors, University degrees in music, &c. Last, but not least, there is an excellent index, which proves the wide scope of the book, both musically and geographically, as in almost consecutive lines we find "Bayreuth," "Bayswater," and "Bermondsey"! There are portraits of Sir Alexander Mackenzie, Dr. Hubert Parry, and Mr. W. H. Cummings, and one of Sir Walter Parratt forms the frontispiece.

Digitized by Google

The Village Organist. Books 10-12. Edited by J. Stainer and F. Cunningham Woods.

Original Compositions for the Organ. No. 259.

Organ Arrangements. Edited by G. C. Martin.

[Novello, Ewer and Co.]

The three books of the "Village Organist" now before us are of a high standard and will doubtless prove specially acceptable to many players upon the king of instruments, not only in villages, but elsewhere. Book 10 contains original pieces by Dr. Bunnett, Dr. Ferris Tozer, Mr. E. d'Evry, and Mr. H. A. J. Campbell. The arrangements include "While my watch I am keeping," from Gounod's "Redemption," a slow air by Lully, an Allegretto grazioso by Mozart, and, last, but not least, a simplified arrangement of Handel's "Hallelujah" chorus, transcribed by Mr. Cunningham Woods. We are glad to find that the name of Bach appears in Book 11. He is there represented by his beautiful Prelude in E minor, from the eight short and easy preludes and fugues, and this movement is felicitously followed by the chorale, in the major key, "O Haupt voll Blut und Wunden." Two dance themes also find a place. The first is a very tuneful Gavotte in G by Boyce—"good old Boyce," to quote the words of the "father of English organists"—and the equally tuneful Minuet from Handel's Organ Concerto in B flat (second set). The original pieces in this number are by such well-known composers as Miss Kate Boundy, Sir G. A. Macfarren, Messrs. Battison Haynes, Oliver Brooksbank, and W. Wolstenholme.

M. Alexandre Guilmant occupies the post of honour in the next volume by his very charming Berceuse in F, written specially for the "Village Organist." We shall be greatly surprised if this tender little piece does not find general acceptance amongst organists, and thus ensure the wide popularity of Book 12. But there are other features of attraction—viz., a Melody in D, by that clever young composer Mr. S. Coleridge-Taylor, and an Introductory Voluntary in F, by Mr. Hamilton Clarke. Mr. Bruce Steane also contributes a Prayer in F, Mr. Josiah Booth a Postlude in C, Mr. Clowes Bayley a piece entitled "Eventide," and Dr. W. J. Reynolds a Jubilant March. This is the first number of the "Village Organist" that consists entirely of original pieces for the organ, but it will probably be none the less welcome on that account. The twelve books of this popular series may now be obtained bound in two volumes, the advantages of which are obvious.

Although Mr. Hamilton Clarke can claim to be a prolific composer, he succeeds in maintaining a high standard. The pastoral, or offertory, forming No. 259 of "Original Compositions for the Organ," is a case in point. It is melodious and easy, and contains those musicianly qualities which should make it acceptable to organists generally.

The Introduction to Haydn's "Passion" music, arranged by Mr. W. J. Phillips, and the Prelude and Fugue on the name of Bach, which may or may not be by the great Leipzig Cantor, arranged by the late Dr. Garrett, form the latest instalments (Nos. 47 and 48) of the "Organ Arrangements," a series of pieces which are as practical as they are varied.

He shall swallow up Death in Victory. Anthem for Easter or other Festivals. Composed by Frederick R. Greenish. [Novello, Ewer and Co.]

The anthem is laid out on a somewhat extensive plan, and includes solos for soprano and tenor, a quartet or semi-chorus, and passages for tenors and basses in unison. The first and last choruses are bright and jubilant in character, the latter possessing considerable vigour, and these are effectively contrasted by intervening numbers having reference to the Redeemer's sacrifice. The voices are well written for, and the work shows the hand of an accomplished musician.

Sir Walter Parratt, Master of the Queen's Music, has been elected a member of the Athenæum Club under the rule which empowers the committee of that Institution to elect nine members annually from amongst men distinguished in art, science, or literature.

MUSIC IN BIRMINGHAM.

(From our own Correspondent.)

A feature of our busy musical season was the first performance here of Edward Elgar's dramatic cantata "King Olaf," by the Birmingham Festival Choral Society, under Dr. C. Swinnerton Heap's painstaking conductorship. The work was given in the Town Hall on February 21, with full band, chorus, and organ, the soloists being Madame Medora Henson, Mr. Edward Lloyd, and Mr. Dan Price. The composer was present, and on conclusion of the cantata he was called upon to receive the homage of a delighted assembly. "King Olaf" having been performed in the metropolis and in sundry provincial cities, there is no need for me to recapitulate the chief incidents of the conflict and ultimate triumph of Christianity over the worship of the Scandinavian god Odin, which form the principal basis of Mr. Edward Elgar's cantata. So much has already been written concerning its structure, its representative themes, and the general outline of the musical settings, that the briefest reference must suffice. That Mr. Elgar has nobly used his subject-matter has been acknowledged on all sides, not only in the way in which he has, so to speak, characterised each personality in the drama, but also by the charm of his graphic and powerful orchestration, by the impressiveness of his choral writing, and, above all, by his exquisite melodic phrases. Let me state at once that the performance was a conspicuous artistic success, and was followed throughout with the keenest interest. Dr. Heap had spared no trouble in his preparation, and the choristers showed by their inspired singing that their task was one of "love and appreciation." The orchestra, too, was anxious to do justice to the elaborate scoring, and played admirably throughout. Madame Medora Henson and Mr. Edward Lloyd were in excellent form and sang quite con amore. Mr. Dan Price proved himself quite an artist, his singing being distinguished by dramatic power and feeling. The second part of the programme included the Finale from Mendelssohn's unfinished opera "Loreley," superbly rendered by the choir, with Madame Medora Henson as Leonore; also Gounod's song "Nazareth" for Mr. Dan Price, and "Sound an alarm" for Mr. Edward Lloyd. Mr. C. W. Perkins presided at the organ with accustomed ability.

Mr. George Halford's fortnightly orchestral concerts are drawing to a close, the eighth and ninth of the present series having been given in the Town Hall on the 1st and 15th ult. respectively. There is every likelihood that these concerts will be better attended next season, and I hear that all arrangements have been made to give another series of ten orchestral concerts, when the scheme will include a cycle of Beethoven's symphonies, to be given in chronological order. The orchestra has made remarkable advance, and Mr. George Halford has realised really fine performances of the following orchestral works: Beethoven's "Leonora" (No. 2), Tschaïkowsky's Suite (No. 3, Op. 55), repeated by desire, owing to the enthusiasm the work created at the seventh concert; Tschaïkowsky's valse from "Eugene Onégin," Glinka's Overture "Life of the Czar," Hamish MacCunn's Orchestral Ballad "Ship o' the Fiend," Nicolai's Overture "The Merry Wives," Beethoven's C minor Symphony, Wagner's Good Friday music ("Parsifal"), Trauermarsch ("Götterdämmerung"), and Wagner's Overture "Rienzi." The vocalists were Mrs. Helen Trust and Mr. Ernest Sharpe.

Dr. Rowland Winn's series of orchestral concerts (the former Stockley concerts) were brought to a brilliant close on the 10th ult., when the Town Hall was well filled in every part. The great attraction was the first performance here by a local orchestra of Tschaïkowsky's "Pathetic" Symphony, which was admirably played, and was further characterised by superb rhythmical accent, precision, and tone power. The other orchestral pieces were Schumann's Overture "Genoveva" (first performance here) and Wagner's "Der Walkürenritt." Mr. William Henley was the solo violinist, and achieved a remarkable success in his playing of Wieniawski's Concerto in D minor and a triad of pieces, which showed his absolute mastery of harmonics and every form of violin technique to perfection. Mr. Plunket Greene, who was in excellent voice, gave a most artistic and pathetic rendering of Schubert's "Die Litanei," his other contributions being a song by Handel and an old Scotch ballad. Mr. G. H. Manton was the accompanist.

In the way of variety our Town Hall was given up to the famous Black Dike brass band, who gave a matinée and an evening concert on the 12th ult. All the brass bands in the district and contingents from all parts, even as far as Bristol, came to Birmingham to gain a lesson from their great competitors, and I can hardly remember to have seen a vaster crowd than that at the evening concert. The Black Dike band certainly accomplishes wonderful things, and, like the "Besses," are able to produce a tone power which is almost electrifying in effect. They play with wonderful precision, and their crescendi are worked up to a startling climax rarely equalled.

Mr. J. H. Humphries' choir gave a popular concert in the Town Hall on the 5th ult. The contributions consisted of glees, part-songs, and trios, the selections being of an artistic character. Miss Clarice Booth, Miss Lizzie Casey, Mr. W. J. Ottey, Mr. H. D. Price, and Mr. Frank Cranmer, members of the choir, were also heard to great advantage in well chosen songs.

A large and fashionable audience completely filled the handsome Grosvenor Rooms of the Grand Hotel on the 18th ult., the occasion being Mr. Max Mossel's third drawing-room concert of the present series. The artists were Madame Blanche Marchesi, vocalist; Madame Adelina de Lara, pianist; and Mr. Max Mossel, violinist.

MUSIC IN DUBLIN.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The University of Dublin Choral Society gave its second concert for the season in the Examination Hall, Trinity College, on the 5th ult. This Society, which is the oldest of concert choirs in Dublin, has been identified with the first production of many important works in Ireland, and its revival of Palestrina's historical "Missa Papæ Marcelli" was quite in accordance with its best traditions. As a contrast to the work of the sixteenth century master, Beethoven's Mass in C filled the second part of the programme. The choir in both works proved the careful training of its conductor, Mr Charles Marchant, and the soloists were members of the Society, assisted by Mr. Morgan (alto) and Mr. Melfort d'Alton (tenor).

Two orchestral concerts by Hallé's band were given in the Lyric Hall, Burgh Quay, under the direction of Mr. Frederic Cowen, on the 7th and 8th ult., and the overcrowded audience which assembled on both occasions proved how welcome are such high-class expositions of orchestral music to our musical public. The programmes included Beethoven's C minor Symphony, Wagner's "Lohengrin" and "Tannhäuser" Overtures, Tschaïkowsky's Symphony in B minor, the "Ballet des Sylphes" from Berlioz's "Faust," three numbers from Cowen's Suite de Ballet, "In Finland," and many other beautiful works, which were delightfully interpreted by the band. Mr. Melfort d'Alton and Mr. Gordon Cleather contributed the vocal solos.

The winter series of classical chamber music recitals, given at the Royal Dublin Society's Lecture Theatre, is drawing to a close. On the 7th ult. Signor Esposito gave the last pianoforte recital, which included Scarlatti's "Cat's Fugue," Field's Nocturne in G, Beethoven's "Moonlight" Sonata, a Suite by Norman O'Neill, and a Duetto and Allegretto by the gifted executant. On the 14th ult., Haydn's Quartet in D minor (Op. 76, No. 2), Rubinstein's Sonata in D major (Op. 18) for pianoforte and violoncello, and Goldmark's Quintet in B flat for pianoforte and strings made up the programme.

On the 16th ult. His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant unveiled the National Memorial Statue of the late Sir Robert P. Stewart, at Leinster Lawn. (More particular mention of this event will be found on page 238.)

The Clontarf Choral Society gave its second concert at the Town Hall, Clontarf, on the 16th ult., when Gounod's "Gallia," Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise," and some orchestral pieces were very creditably performed under the direction of Mr. W. J. Buchanan. The solo vocalists were Miss Agnes Treacy, Miss Cole, Mr. F. Hicks, and Mr. R. H. Scott; violin solos were given by Miss Victoria Delany, the band was led by Mr. P. Levenston, Mr. J. S. Craig presided at the organ, and Miss Florence Connor at the pianoforte.

On St. Patrick's Night, the 17th ult., the executive committee of the "Feis Ceoil" organised a concert of Irish music at the Lyric Hall. All the performers were first prize winners at the "Feis" of last May, and included Miss Agnes Treacy, Miss L. Barrington, Miss E. MacNair, Mr. R. G. Mathews, Mr. J. G. Carroll, and Mr. Thos. Reddy, vocalists; Mrs. J. E. Kenny, harp; Mr. H. Charles and Mr. E. Cree, pianoforte; the Bohemian Quartet, and the Ben Edar Choir. Mr. C. W. Wilson was conductor.

The Dublin Musical Society announced for its third concert, on the 28th ult., Handel's "Israel in Egypt" and Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise," with Miss Regina de Sales and Mr. Reginald Brophy as principal soloists.

MUSIC IN EAST ANGLIA.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The Cambridge University Musical Society gave its 232nd concert in the Guildhall on the 7th ult., when the first part and a selection from the second part of Haydn's "Creation" made up the first half of the programme, Beethoven's Second Symphony in D concluding the concert.

What would Haydn have said could he have heard his work cut up in this ruthless fashion? If it could not be done complete, surely the first two parts might have been given uncurtailed? Dr. Alan Gray very ably conducted, the band being led by Mr. Haydn Inwards. The soloists were Miss Keith Glen, Mr. Joseph Reed, and Mr. W. Higley. The choruses were sung with precision, and altogether a satisfactory performance can be recorded. On the 10th ult. Dr. Joachim, Mr. W. E. Whitehouse, and Mr. Borwick appeared in the same room, under the auspices of the same Society, and delighted a crowded audience with a programme of classical chamber music superbly played. Mr. Francis Harford contributed several vocal pieces.

The Diss Choral Society gave a successful performance of "The Messiah" on February 22, conducted by Mr. T. M. Pullen, when the chorus, although not very numerous, did ample justice to the well-known work. The principal parts were filled by Miss Edith Serpell, Miss Lena Law, Mr. Charles Chilley, and the Rev. E. J. Alvis. Led by Mr. T. E. Gatehouse, with Mr. Hemstock at the organ, the band gave a good account of the familiar accompaniments.

The choir attached to the Wesleyan Church, Dene Side, Great Yarmouth, with the help of many friends, and assisted by an orchestra, gave a performance of Barnby's "Rebekah" on February 24, conducted by Mr. Chapman, organist of the church, the soloists being Miss Chapman, Miss Hennings, Mr. J. Hardy, and Mr. F. Grice, whose share of the work was very creditably done; but the band and chorus were somewhat overweighted. The second part of the programme consisted of miscellaneous selections.

The music which Mr. H. M. Higgs has written to accompany the recitation of Mr. Baring-Gould's poem, "The Building of San Sofia," was produced for the first time at Dr. Bunnett's popular organ recital in St. Andrew's Hall, Norwich, on the 19th ult. The work is scored for a full band, but on this occasion a compressed score for organ was used and admirably played by Dr. Bunnett. Mr. Higgs has fully caught the spirit of the poem, and his music cleverly reflects the various gradations of pathos and passion which the poem portrays. Mr. Charles Fry (for whom the music was specially written) recited the words with his well-known elocutionary skill, both performers having to respond to a unanimous recall and bow their acknowledgments.

MUSIC IN EDINBURGH AND PERTH.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The most generally interesting event of last month was the première of Sullivan's popular cantata "The Martyr of Antioch," arranged for performance as an "opera" by Mr. T. H. Friend, manager of the Royal Carl Rosa Opera Company, and produced at the Lyceum Theatre, Edinburgh, on the 7th ult. Everything was done in the way of lavish decoration and careful preparation to ensure success, and the principal parts were in very capable hands. Whether the experiment proved quite as successful as was hoped is rather open to question. The music sounds dramatic, it is true, on the concert platform, where the choristers sit in rows and the principals in evening dress rise from their chairs in turn; but it can hardly be called dramatic when it is transferred to the operatic stage.

Digitized by Google

As a complete account of a performance of the work at Brighton appears in another column, no further details need here be given.

The same short week saw the first production here of Thomas's opera "The Poet's Dream" ("Le songe d'une nuit d'été"), with its really charming music, improbable plot, and stilted dialogue. Mr. R. Cunningham, Miss C. Lorraine, Miss Lily Heenan, and Mr. Lemprière Pringle were very successful as the Poet, the Duchess, the Ingenue, and the Head Ranger.

On February 21, too late for mention in last month's letter, Miss Salicath gave a successful concert in the Freemasons' Hall. The Swedish vocalist won great favour with her audience, particularly for her rendering of Swedish songs; but the feature of the concert was the dainty violoncello playing of Mdlle. Chaigneau, whose renderings of solos by Marcello and more modern composers were altogether charming. Mr. Herbert Thorndike and Miss Alys Moir also contributed to the programme.

On the 3rd ult. Mr. Peter gave the last of his three chamber concerts, assisted by Mr. Colin McKenzie (viola) and Signor Bernini (clarinet).

Herr Denhof also brought his scheme of chamber concerts to a close on the 9th ult., when compositions by Smetana and Saint-Saëns were fitting continuation of programmes which have included trios so seldom heard as Brahms (Op. 101), Tschaïkowsky (Op. 50), Dvorák (Op. 65), and Arensky (Op. 32). Miss Gordon Pillaus sang songs by Schubert, Schumann, Mendelssohn, Dvorák, &c.

On the 5th ult. the University Musical Society, conducted this session again by Mr. Carl D. Hamilton, gave in the hall of the Students' Union a performance of "St. John's Eve." The Society, which numbers well over a hundred members, has evidently had a successful session.

On the 18th ult. the first pianoforte recital in our beautiful McEwan Hall was given, when Herr Rosenthal appeared for the second time before an Edinburgh audience. In his own métier Herr Rosenthal reigns supreme, and the present generation has heard nothing more phenomenal than his "contrapuntal study" of Chopin's Valse in A flat, or his arrangement of Strauss's waltzes. Liszt's setting of the "Linderbaum," his own "Papillons," the last movement of Mozart's Sonata in A and that of Chopin's in B flat minor, as well as many of Schumann's "Carnaval" numbers, were further proof, if proof were needed, of Herr Rosenthal's transcendent powers as a virtuoso.

Herr Rosenthal was followed, on the 19th ult., by Mr. Borwick, who gave his annual recital in the Music Hall, when the British pianist's sterling qualities again secured the attention and the favour they so thoroughly deserve. Beethoven's C minor Variations made an interesting introduction to a programme which included Schumann's Sonata in G minor, three Scarlatti pieces, Mendelssohn's short Prelude in F sharp, Chopin's Fantasia in F minor and Scherzo in B minor, a "Soirée de Vienne" (Schubert-Liszt), and a Liszt study.

On the 21st ult. special interest attached to the Greek Play at the Edinburgh Academy by the fact that the music to the "Alcestis," rendered by members of the school, the rector, and the staff, was composed by Mr. Ernest Thomson, a former pupil. The chorus of sixteen selected voices had been carefully drilled and succeeded admirably in their efforts to envelop the drama in its appropriate atmosphere. The solos were also well sung, and the young composer is to be congratulated on the result of his first important work. The costumes and staging were alike beautiful and appropriate. The performance was repeated on the 21st, 23rd, and 25th ult.

On the 21st ult. the Edinburgh Choral Union gave a performance of "Solomon," the first for many years in Edinburgh. The chorus has never been stronger in numbers, and the vigour of its singing secured the requisite massive effect in the magnificent double choruses which abound throughout the work. "Thus rolling surges" and the last chorus were grandly sung. Miss Kirkby Lunn scored a great success in the music assigned to Solomon. Two young Edinburgh ladies, Miss Lindsay Currie and Miss Drysdale, sustained the other solos along with Mr. Lloyd Chandos, all to the evident appreciation of an audience which quite filled the Music Hall. Mr. Collinson conducted with his usual care and skill.

On the 22nd ult. Mr. Millar Craig's choir gave its annual concert in Queen Street Hall, when the programme consisted of Schumann's "Requiem" and a miscellaneous selection. The "Requiem," the last (Op. 148) on the list of Schumann's compositions, is not his best. There are, however, many beauties, and these were well brought out by this Society, which has always occupied an honoured place in Edinburgh by virtue of the earnestness and high purpose of its work. The beautiful final chorus was very tastefully sung, and secured the warm applause of a very good audience. The second part of the programme included madrigals, part-songs, &c., by Palestrina, Horsley ("By Celia's arbour"), Sir A. C. Mackenzie, and others. Solos and duets were contributed by Mrs. Millar Craig, the Misses Yerbury, and Messrs. Stronach and Galloway.

The last of the interesting University concerts, organised by Professor Niecks, was given in the Class Room, on the 16th ult., when Herr Theodor Werner, accompanied by Mr. Scott Jupp, continued his "Recital of Virtuosic Violin music from Corelli to the present day." Compositions by Spohr, Paganini, Ernst, Vieuxtemps, Lamb, Wieniawski, and Sarasate illustrated to perfection the modern developments of violin technique and gave the performer ample opportunity for executive display.

First and second professional examinations for the degree of Mus. Bac. were held from the 21st to the 27th ult., the examiners being Professor Niecks, Sir A. C. Mackenzie, and Mr. Franklin Peterson (acting for Sir A. C. Mackenzie).

The Perth Musical Society, under the conductorship of Mr. S. F. Graves, gave a concert performance of "Tannhäuser," on the 3rd ult. Madame Duma sang the music of Venus and Elizabeth and Mr. Barton McGuckin that of Tannhäuser. The choruses were efficiently rendered and the performance was evidently enjoyed.

MUSIC IN GLASGOW.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Just as was predicted in last month's Musical Times, Glasgow is not going to allow the orchestral concert scheme to collapse, notwithstanding the serious financial losses hitherto incurred. On the 17th ult. a public meeting of those interested in the maintenance of choral and orchestral music was held, when Sheriff Berry presided over a good attendance. The proposed new scheme was adopted, and its more salient features may be briefly described. The membership of the "Choral and Orchestral Union"—that is the name of the organisation—will consist of subscribers to the Classical Concerts, guarantors, the Council of the Glasgow Choral Union, and the shareholders of the Scottish Orchestra Company. A large and influential committee of management will be drawn from the general membership, the Lord Provost of Glasgow for the time being will act as chairman, and a ladies' committee is also provided for. Before, however, the scheme is proceeded with, a guarantee fund must be subscribed, and the profits, if any, will be divided in this manner: one-third to the Glasgow Choral Union, one-third to the Scottish Orchestra Company, and one-third to a reserve fund. The scheme possesses some strong points, and, viewing the influential attendance at the meeting, which included the veteran scientist Lord Kelvin, there should be no difficulty in securing the requisite guarantee fund. Wild rumours of another new orchestral scheme for Glasgow have been floating around for some time, and according to an official communication the intention is to give during next season eight classical and a similar number of popular concerts. The promoters aim at having a different conductor for each concert. Each conductor will, moreover, be expected to draw out his own programme from the works in which he is known to excel.

Digitized by Google

Well, Glasgow has already had experience of a couple of orchestras on the familiar "Codlin and Short" principles, and this is all that need be said on the subject.

The musical evening given to the Glasgow Society of Musicians on the 16th ult. was a distinct success, thanks to the energies and forethought of Mr. H. A. L. Seligmann, who took charge of the arrangements. Mr. Maurice Sons, the leader of the Scottish orchestra, was in his best form in a highly attractive violin sonata from the pen of the old-world composer Nardini. Mr. Sons's full and altogether beautiful tone, as also his superb technique, were quite the features of the evening, and in the sonata just referred to he had the advantage of being associated with Mr. Philip Halstead, as sympathetic an accompanist as one could possibly desire. Messrs. Seligmann and Golan Hoole sang during the evening with much acceptance, and Mr. Orosz played several pianoforte solos. The Paisley Choral Union, one of the most enterprising societies in the West of Scotland, announced, for the evening of the 22nd ult., the first performance of Mr. W. A. Barrett's cantata "Lancelot and Elaine," and Gade's interesting little work "The Crusaders." The soloists comprised Miss Helen Jaxon, Messrs. Charles Saunders and Bantock Pierpoint, and Mr. W. H. Cole, leader of an orchestra of forty performers. Last month's numerous miscellaneous concerts included a performance of "The Messiah," by the Woodlands Church Musical Association (chorus and orchestra of eighty); Bennett's "May Queen," by the Milngavie Musical Association; Gade's "Spring's Message," under the auspices of the Pollokshields Philharmonic Society; and the four organ recitals in aid of the Royal Infirmary Reconstruction Fund. These recitals were promoted by the Lord Provost of Glasgow, and his laudable scheme has, it is a pleasure to say, received the support of the Glasgow Choral Union, Mr. Millar Craig's Select Choir, the Athenæum School of Music Ladies' Choir, Mr. Maurice Sons, &c. The organists were Dr. A. L. Peace, Mr. H. L. Balfour, Mr. Alfred Hollins, and Mr. Walton, the new organist of the Glasgow Cathedral. The "May Queen" was also sung by the Balfour Political Choir on the 18th ult., and quite an interesting programme was submitted by Mr. Leonard Borwick at his pianoforte recital on the evening of the 22nd ult.

MUSIC IN LIVERPOOL AND DISTRICT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Choral societies in Liverpool and its neighbourhood are unfortunately not as numerous or important as in many other localities; but a certain amount of good work is to be recorded as having taken place during the past month or late in that which preceded it. At Southport, Mr. H. Hudson has given a recital of Gounod's "Faust" and wound up the season with a social evening on the 25th ult. Mr. F. H. Crossley's Societies at Warrington and Newton-le-Willows have respectively produced Schubert's "Song of Miriam" and Mendelssohn's "Christus," Gounod's "Gallia" and Mendelssohn's 42nd Psalm. Mr. Ashworth's Musical Society at Huyton announced Gade's "Erl-King's Daughter," together with Sullivan's "On Shore and Sea," for the close of the month. At Runcorn matters are in a "parlous state," to quote an official communication to hand, and this is a great pity, for the local musical society has done excellent work in the past. Haydn's "Spring" has been seasonably selected for the closing concert of Mr. Manod Owen's Walton Society.

At St. Helen's, Haydn's "Creation" has been given by the local society, under Mr. J. T. Elliott, and at Liscard the recently-formed Choral and Orchestral Society has performed the same oratorio under Mr. J. F. Swift. In the same district, at Wallesey, the St. Hilary Musical Society announced Spohr's "God, Thou art great," Mendelssohn's "Hear my Prayer," and Gade's "Spring's Message" for the 22nd ult.

Nearer home performances have to be chronicled at Birkenhead of Mendelssohn's "Athalie," at the Y.M.C.A., under Mr. Thomas, and, oddly enough, within a few days just opposite in Grange Road by Mr. Lumgair's Presbyterian Choral Society; the same work having been selected by both organisations without the one knowing of the decision of the other. Mr. Appleyard's Claughton St. Cecilia Society performed Hoffmann's "Melusina," Spohr's "God, Thou art great," and Mendelssohn's 13th Psalm on the 19th ult., and in the same locality, at Wesley Chapel, Higher Tranmere, Mr. C. Whyte conducted Stainer's "Daughter of Jairus," on the 10th ult. Of leading interest, however, on the Cheshire side has been the first performance in England of Josef Nesvera's "De Profundis" (with Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise") by the old-established Rock Ferry Amateur Musical Society, under Mr. W. Roscoe Pemberton, on the 7th ult., the work itself being very fine and its performance generally worthy of the occasion. At Christchurch, Claughton, Mendelssohn's "Elijah" has been given, under the direction of Dr. J. C. Reynolds and the Wirral Amateur Orchestral Society brought this season to a close, on the 23rd ult., with a highly successful performance in the Birkenhead Town Hall, under Mr. Ernst Schiener.

In the city the Philharmonic Society has given three concerts, at the first of which Stanford's "Phaudrig Crohoore" found a place in the programme. At the second nothing of unusual importance was announced except Dvorák's "From the New World" Symphony; but on the final evening, on the 25th ult., Bach's "St. Matthew" Passion was promised under Mr. F. H. Cowen. The Post Office Choral Society gave Haydn's "Creation" on the 24th ult., under Mr. J. S. Clarke, and devoted the proceeds, according to their time-honoured and kindly traditions, to the funds of a local charity. On the 6th ult., at the last concert of the Sunday Society, Guilmant's First Symphony was repeated in the large St. George's Hall, under Mr. W. I. Argent, with Dr. H. L. Peace at the organ. Mr. J. W. Collinson also conducted an orchestra in the concert-room of the same building on the same afternoon.

On the 18th ult. the old-established Mount Pleasant Society, under Mr. W. Lee, performed Stanford's "Phaudrig Crohoore" and Gade's "Spring's Message."

The final concert of the Schiever Quartet took place, and was as successful as usual, on the 12th ult., in the Hall of the College of Music. Mr. J. R. Cavendish gave an interesting violin recital at Jude and Leffler's studios on February 26. The Orchestral Society, under Mr. Rodewald, brought its "smoking" season to a close at the City Hall, on the 5th ult., special features being Schumann's Pianoforte Concerto (of which the solo part was admirably played by Mr. Welsing) and a clever Larghetto and Scherzo composed and conducted by Mr. S. Coleridge-Taylor. The third and fourth of Mr. Welsing's Beethoven recitals were given on the 14th and 28th ult., the sonatas performed including the eleven comprised within the Opus numbers 22 and 53. At the College of Music the closing concert of the summer term took place on the 24th ult., with Mozart's E flat Symphony as the chief feature, conducted by Mr. Carl Courvoisier.

It is to be regretted that the Lenten oratorios at the Pro-Cathedral have been this year discontinued. They have run an uninterrupted course for fifteen years, and it is estimated that no less than 73,000 people have enjoyed these musical treats. Lack of financial support is the cause of their suspension, and it is to be hoped that a little later this difficulty may be bridged over and that Mr. Burstall will be enabled to carry on the excellent work he has for so long a period exploited.

MUSIC IN MANCHESTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Our season is now very near its close, but it would be well to reserve until next month any broad view of its results, the more especially because the time has now almost arrived when the arrangements must be placed upon a firm footing for our most important musical undertakings, upon which, in fact, all minor matters more or less depend. There will, also, owing to the immediate destruction of one of our halls, be for perhaps two winters some inconvenience in housing the smaller societies, and a little confusion. But, indeed, my notice would extend to undue length were I to attempt to do more, just now, than to refer to those events of the month which imperatively demand attention.

Digitized by Google

All the concluding concerts of the Hallé series have been so liberally patronised as to render it evident that the public generally appreciates the high standard of excellence which has been attained under Mr. Cowen's direction. Of the orchestral performances during the month it will, therefore, be necessary only to state that they have frequently excited the warmest enthusiasm of listeners well accustomed to judge; that the interpretation of Dvorák's Symphony "From the New World," on the 17th ult.—especially in the first and second movements, which soar far higher than the after sections—revealed beauties previously undiscovered; while that of the "Midsummer Night's Dream" Overture was such as was due to the hitherto unequalled fairy picture by the young lad of seventeen years of age, against whom the rancour of some of our astute critics of almost equally tender years rages with a quite heathen violence and impotence. On the 10th ult. the orchestra played the "Idyllic" Symphony of Mr. Cowen, in which nature may be said to be represented in some of her most frisky and coquettish moments, with a proved ability to seize upon and to depict other of her phases than those upon which Beethoven fastened; the whole work being distinctly original in every particular both of conception and working out, and showing the wide sympathy and deep penetration of the thorough artist portrayed with that mastery of tone-colour which everyone knows the composer of the "Scandinavian" Symphony to possess. The reader of orchestral music has, indeed, much to learn who imagines that the bass strings may not be treated a divisi; or the middle range enriched to organ-like fulness; or the violin harmonics used without infringing the copyright of Tschaïkowsky or Wagner; or that any little mysterious searching after effects, the meaning of which does not become perfectly clear at first hearing, is a poaching upon the property of Brahms. Being prevented fulfilling his engagement at the opening concert of the season, Mr. Paderewski came to the closing night, and his immense popularity was proved by a gathering probably unprecedented—hundreds of people standing round gallery and area.

The mere record must suffice that, at the eighteenth concert, Lady Hallé and Dr. Joachim again played the double Concerto in D minor of Bach and the B minor of Spohr; and that the Berlin Maëstro, on the following Thursday, gave us the Brahms Concerto in D and the poor "Il trillo del Diavolo"—of which we really have had quite enough; for all the violinists in the world, or from the lower regions either, could not convince us that it is anything but a wretchedly earthy composition.

At the concluding Harrison concert, of the 9th ult., we had a superfluous array of singers, from Miss Ada Crossley and Mr. E. Lloyd downwards, with pianoforte, violin, and violoncello solos by Miss Eibenschütz, Mr. William Henley, and Mr. Loevensohn. These gatherings very pleasantly and usefully fill a gap in our arrangements; appealing to thousands who desire to judge for themselves of the capabilities of singers and players to whom, otherwise, they would have no opportunity to listen; and even the great Bach loved to hear occasionally "the pretty tunes." Mr. Lane also finished his season with a ballad concert, to which his friends flocked in great numbers, as usual. Dr. Watson's concluding programme was full of old friends none the less welcome because of their familiarity.

At the Schiller Anstalt we have had two of the admirable programmes which Mr. Carl Fuchs provides for his subscribers, the second enriched by Dr. Joachim's aid. A very pleasant programme of male-voice choral music, interspersed with some solos, was arranged by Mr. E. Sachs for the evening of the 22nd ult., and it was agreeable to note the growing activity in musical matters at the Schiller Institute.

At the Athenæum, on the 11th ult., Mr. Bates, with the assistance of three lady pupils of the Clavier School, Misses Rubinstein, Johnson, and Haslam, gave a lecture-recital of the Virgil method of teaching pianoforte technique, Dr. Henry Hiles being in the chair. Hundreds of people could not obtain admission, and so great was the interest that Mr. Bates has been urged to visit us again before Easter.

MUSIC IN NORTHUMBERLAND AND DURHAM.

(From our own Correspondent.)

On the 9th ult. the Sunderland Philharmonic Society gave its final concert of the present season. The greater portion of the programme was devoted to Edward Elgar's "King Olaf," a work which had not previously been heard in this locality. The soloists were Madame Medora Henson, Mr. Edward Branscombe, and Mr. William Thornton, all of whom acquitted themselves most satisfactorily in their respective parts. Chorus and orchestra also discharged their duties most creditably, and the work, as a whole, was received most favourably by a large and interested audience. At the same concert another work quite new to this locality, Brahms's "Song of the Fates," was performed. In producing these new works the Sunderland Philharmonic Society has enhanced the reputation it has obtained under its present energetic conductor, Mr. N. Kilburn, for being the means of introducing new and important musical works for the first time into the Northern Counties. In addition to these works, a Concert-Overture in F, by C. Francis Lloyd, conducted by the composer, and three movements from Tschaïkowsky's "Casse Noisette" were performed.

On the second ult. the Berwick Choral Union gave its twenty-ninth annual concert in the Corn Exchange, Berwick, the principal work performed being Mr. F. H. Cowen's "St. John's Eve." The soloists were Miss F. Roxoe, Mrs. Borthwick, Mr. Clavering Archer, and Mr. John Browning. Mr. D. Green conducted.

Mr. Paderewski gave a pianoforte recital in Olympia, Newcastle-on-Tyne, on the 21st ult., before an audience of over 3,000 people. The reception of the eminent pianist was most enthusiastic.

The Sunderland Chamber Music Society gave its final concert of the season on the 23rd ult. A Trio in D minor (Op. 25), by F. E. Bache, and Mendelssohn's Trio in C minor (Op. 66) for pianoforte and strings, were played by Messrs. Oscar Cohen, W. W. Lax, and G. I. Simey. The vocalists were Miss Mary Bowman and Miss Grace Hobson.

The South Shields Choral Society announced a performance of Gounod's "Redemption" for the 30th ult., with Madame Marie Duma, Mr. James Leyland, and Mr. Watkin Mills as soloists; and the Newcastle and Gateshead Choral Union announced Edward Elgar's "King Olaf" for the following evening, with the same artists.

Mr. M. Fairs, the esteemed conductor of the South Shields Choral Society, has just been presented with a silver-mounted baton by the lady members of the Society as a small token of their appreciation of his labours in the cause of music. Mr. Fairs has been associated with the Society since its formation, fourteen years ago, first as accompanist and latterly as conductor, and thoroughly deserves this recognition of his services.

The Congregational Church choir, augmented to sixty voices, gave its first concert in the Church, Gateshead-on-Tyne, on the 16th ult., when a most successful rendering was given of Stainer's "Daughter of Jairus" with a miscellaneous selection. The soloists were Miss Jennie Brown, Mr. S. R. Heenan, and Mr. E. H. Soulsby, who aquitted themselves admirably. Miss Ada Spink and Mr. Wm. Walker rendered good service at the pianoforte and organ respectively, and Mr. John J. Walker, organist of the church, conducted.

The Tynemouth Amateur Vocal Society gave a performance of Ebenezer Prout's cantata "Alfred" in the Albion Assembly Rooms, North Shields, on the 22nd ult. The soloists were Miss Emily Davies, Mr. Joseph Reed, and Mr. A. H. Gee, and Mr. W. Bird conducted.

MUSIC IN NOTTINGHAM.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The proceedings of the St. Cecilia Choral Society increase in interest year by year, and the annual concert was largely attended. The choral pieces, under the direction of Mrs. Gow, were well sung, and included the cantatas "Village Scenes" (Cowen) and the "Song of the Norns" (Hofmann), four part-songs by Schumann, and Sir A. C. Mackenzie's chorus "O Thou Divine" (all for ladies' voices). The programme was agreeably varied by the performances of Mr. Ellenberger's ladies' string orchestra, who played R. Wurst's "Russian" Suite and two elegiac melodies by Grieg. Solos were sung by Mrs. Dunstan, Mrs. Gow, and Miss Pyatt, and mention must be made of Miss Speed's playing of Handel's Violin Sonata in A, also her violin obbligato in the "Russian" Suite.

Digitized by Google

The Amateur Operatic Society, under the direction of Mr. Ralph Horner, has just given six nightly performances of Planquette's opera "Rip Van Winkle," in the Theatre Royal. The amateurs have benefited fully by Mr. Horner's theatrical experience, and gave a most creditable representation of the somewhat exacting opera. Good acting, good singing, and good stage management characterised the venture. Beyond this it would be invidious to name individual performers as entitled to special mention.

Paderewski's recital at the Albert Hall, on the 14th ult., culminated in a remarkable ovation. The great pianist's powers have never before been so fully recognised in Nottingham as on this occasion, when a very large audience assembled to hear him play.

Probably Mr. Paderewski's success and the counter attractions of the amateur opera and the recently opened Empire Theatre accounted for the reduced attendance at the last Harrison concert, held on the 18th ult., when an unusually good programme was presented. The vocalists were Signorina Faliero, Miss Ada Crossley, Mr. Edward Lloyd, and Mr. Rumford. Mr. William Henley's violin solos were highly appreciated and resulted in repeated recalls. The solo pianist was Miss Ilona Eibenschütz, whose performance of Liszt's Rhapsodie (No. 8) bore favourable comparison with Mr. Paderewski's rendering a day or two earlier.

The Sacred Harmonic Society announced Dvorák's "Stabat Mater" and Mendelssohn's "Lobgesang" for the 24th ult., under the direction of Mr. Henry J. Wood, which must be noticed in our next number.

MUSIC IN OXFORD.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The Lent term that has just closed has been productive of the usual number of concerts, but they have not been given by local societies or presented any remarkable features. Two only were something out of the common. One of these was the first appearance in Oxford of the Joachim Quartet, which took place on the 15th ult., at one of the public classical concerts. The programme consisted of three string quartets, including one of the late Beethoven quartets. It is hardly necessary to add that all were admirably played and gave much satisfaction to a large audience. A still more numerous body of listeners was attracted by the pianoforte recital of Mr. Paderewski, on the 11th ult., and they were, of course, equally pleased. None of the other concerts came up to these two in point of interest, but it must not be supposed that they were not, in many cases, of considerable excellence.

The professional side of musical art and theory has been represented by lectures by Mr. W. H. Hadow, on "Musical Form"; by Dr. Percy Buck, organist of Wells Cathedral, on "The Troubadours"; and by Sir John Stainer, on "Hans Leo Hassler." Dr. Buck was a new lecturer, and made a most favourable impression by his calm and philosophic treatment of his subject. The Professor himself took the opportunity, as he often does, of shedding light on a neglected composer, and certainly, if the Mass which formed the chief illustration of the lecture is a fair sample of Hassler's genius, it is difficult to understand how such a composer came to be neglected, and unquestionable that it is time his merits were more fully recognised. The rendering of the Mass by the Professor's choir was one of the finest pieces of unaccompanied singing that we have ever heard, but it hardly sustained its reputation in the other illustrations.

MUSIC IN SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The past month has witnessed a revival of musical activity in the city and district, the musical societies presenting the fruits of their two months' rehearsals. The serial concerts have now terminated, the last Harrison concert being given on the 8th ult. Mr. Edward Lloyd was the principal vocalist and met with his accustomed success. The last of Miss Foxon's enjoyable series of chamber concerts took place on the 22nd ult., when Mr. and Mrs. Henschel gave a vocal recital.

On the 6th ult. Coward's "Story of Bethany" was performed at Attercliffe, under the direction of Mr. J. Armitage. Mr. A. E. Ward was organist.

The Chapeltown and District Harmonic Society gave a successful performance of Costa's "Eli," on the 15th ult. The vocal and instrumental forces numbered 120, and, under the direction of Mr. Bool, the oratorio was adequately performed. The chorus singing in particular was admirable and showed careful preparation. The principals were Miss Lizzie Burgess, Miss Lilian Hovey, Mr. T. H. Brearley, Mr. Maurice Thompson, and Mr. William Riley. Mr. J. Peck led the band and Mr. Frank Senior was the organist.

Beethoven's "Mount of Olives" was performed by the St. Cecilia Musical Society, on the 20th ult., under the direction of Mr. William Brown. The singing of the choir, particularly in the male-voice choruses and in the "Hallelujah" chorus, was highly creditable. The principals were Madame L. Moulds, Mr. J. W. Froggatt, and Mr. J. C. Davison. Mr. D. Booth led an excellent band and Mr. E. B. Glossop was organist.

On the 21st ult. the Musical Union performed Bridge's "Flag of England," Stanford's "The Revenge," Beethoven's Choral Fantasia, and miscellaneous pieces. The first and last-named works were new to Sheffield, and the enterprise of Dr. Coward and the committee is to be commended. The Society has won a high reputation for the quality of its chorus singing and enhances it at each successive concert. Dr. Stanford's work was especially well done. Sir F. Bridge's ballad was accorded a vigorous rendering and the work was well received by the audience. Mr. Frederick Dawson was the pianoforte soloist, and in Beethoven's work and in Mendelssohn's G minor Concerto he fully demonstrated his powers. Miss Maggie Jaques was the soprano soloist. Mr. W. S. Jessop was organist and Dr. H. Coward conducted.

On the same date Haydn's "Creation" was performed in St. Mary's Church, under the direction of Mr. J. A. Rodgers. The performance was the fourth of a series which is proving very popular in the city. The chorus numbered 120 voices and its singing of the familiar numbers was marked by all the requisite qualities of attack, tone, precision, and balance. The principals were Madame Norledge, Mr. A. Dawes, and Mr. J. Lycett. Gounod's "Redemption" is announced as the next of the series.

The Barnsley St. Cecilia Society performed Dvorák's "Spectre's Bride" on the 24th ult., under Dr. H. Coward. The principals were Miss Teresa Blamy, Mr. T. H. Brearley, and Mr. William Thornton.

MUSIC IN YORKSHIRE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

This has been a busy month, when choral societies wind up their labours for the season by giving the works they have been preparing since Messiah-tide. At the time of writing a good many choral concerts are still to come, and one or two exceptionally early ones were recorded a month ago. This will explain why not a single choral concert in Leeds falls to be criticised at this moment, though there has been a good deal of music stirring in the town. The nearest approach was a semi-private function, on February 21, to celebrate the jubilee of a modest little Society, entitled "The Leeds Musical Soirée," which for half-a-century has been amusing itself by the practice of concerted vocal music, from amateur cantatas to full-blown oratorios, in the drawing-rooms of its members. Though its labours have some suggestion of Sisyphus, they have at any rate made the members more familiar with choral works than would otherwise have been the case. Dr. Joachim's visit to Leeds, which has been an annual event for many years past, came off on the 9th ult., at one of the subscription concerts. Chamber music is not heard to advantage in the too resonant Town Hall, and it can hardly be said that the first of the Rasoumowsky quartets, though played with the utmost finish by Dr. Joachim and Messrs. Rawdon Briggs, Gibson, and Whitehouse, sounded as virile as it would have done in a smaller room. Brahms's F minor Quintet, with Mr. Leonard Borwick, was better, simply because the pianoforte gave a greater body to the tone. Mr. Plunket Greene was the vocalist, and was quite at his best in songs by Schubert and Parry. The famous Bohemian Quartet visited Bradford on February 25 and Leeds on the following day. Their exceedingly masculine style was best displayed in Dvorák's music, but they also gave highly interesting readings of Beethoven, Schumann, and Haydn. On February 23 a local organisation, the Leeds String Quartet, played with much spirit, if not much finish, Brahms's Quintet in G (Op. 111) and a pleasant little Quartet in E flat. On the 2nd ult. a concert was given by Mr. Darewski, who may fairly be styled a tenore robustissimo, and gave readings of Schubert and Wagner which certainly had the merit of novelty. Another local teacher of vocalisation, Mr. Gordon Heller, gave recitals at Bradford on the 2nd and at Leeds on the 7th ult., when he included in his programme an extraordinary variety of unhackneyed songs of all ages and schools. Yet another song recital was given by the Messrs. Haddock, also in duplicate, at Bradford, on the 11th ult., and at Leeds the next day. Only one composer was represented, Frederic Cowen, eighteen of whose songs were heard, in addition to a very early pianoforte trio and a couple of pianoforte solos. Mr. Cowen was the pianist, so that full justice was done to his music. Of the musical evenings, also due to the enterprise of the Messrs. Haddock, there have been two. On the 22nd Mr. J. F. Barnett was the pianist, introducing some of his own compositions—one, a Legende for violin, having been specially written for the occasion; and on the 15th ult. Mr. Paderewski gave, before a crowded audience, a recital which he repeated at Bradford on the 18th.

Digitized by Google

At Bradford the Permanent Orchestra has given two concerts, both of more than ordinary interest. On February 19 the programme included Beethoven's "Weihe des Hauses" Overture and Max Bruch's second Violin Concerto, very finely played indeed by Mr. Verbrugghen; and on the 12th ult. the series came to an end with a "Wagner" concert, which attracted a large audience, while the performances reflected great credit upon the Society and its able conductor, Mr. Bartle. The last of the subscription concerts was on the 4th ult., when Dr. Joachim played the Beethoven Concerto in his wonderfully intimate and sympathetic manner, and the Hallé band, under Mr. Cowen, gave its conductor's "Scandinavian" Symphony. Madame Brema's remarkably expressive singing of Purcell's wonderful "Mad Bess" scena—for so we might style it—showed the extraordinary possibilities of Purcell's music in a dramatic direction. On the 10th ult. the Messrs. Harrison gave one of their popular concerts, Miss Eibenschütz and Mr. Edward Lloyd being the chief artists who appeared; and on the 15th the Bradford Old Choral Society gave a welcome revival of Sir A. C. Mackenzie's "Rose of Sharon." Hearing this fine oratorio after a considerable lapse of time, one feels that there is less lasting quality in the episodes characterised by pomp than those in which sentiment plays the chief part. The faithful love of Sulamite inspired the composer with music which does not easily grow old. It was, on the whole, very creditably performed under Mr. Robert Shaw's direction. The principals were Miss Mabel Berrey, who, undertaking the soprano part at very short notice, advanced herself by the amount of expression she threw into the music; Miss Jessie King, Messrs. W. Green and D. Price. On the 16th ult. the Bradford Harmony Society gave its last concert for the season, compositions for violin and pianoforte by Dvorák and Grieg, played by Messrs. S. and A. Oppenheim, being the chief features of the programme.

At Huddersfield the subscription concert on February 22 took the form of undiluted Wagner, as interpreted by Mr. Cowen and the Hallé orchestra, with Mr. Andrew Black as vocalist. At the following concert, on the 8th ult., Mr. Mark Hambourg played a number of pianoforte pieces in his brilliant if somewhat unsympathetic style, and Mr. Kruse contributed some standard violin music. On the 15th ult. the Huddersfield Glee and Madrigal Society gave one of its programmes of part-songs and the like, under Mr. Ibeson's direction. The soloists were, with the exception of Madame Amelie Phillips, drawn from the ranks of the Society. The Huddersfield Choral Society, on the 18th ult., gave Professor Prout's cantata "Hereward," with Madame Duma, Miss Clara Leighton, Madame Fogg, Mr. W. Green, and Mr. Andrew Black as principals. Mr. John Bowling conducted the performance, which was excellent as regards choralists and soloists, but lacked something on its orchestral side.

A concert of exceptional interest was given by the Halifax Choral Society, on the 10th ult., when Dr. Parry came over to conduct a performance of his oratorio "King Saul," which would have been thoroughly satisfactory but for some inevitable shortcomings on the part of the orchestra. The principals, Miss Agnes Nicholls, Miss Muriel Foster, Mr. W. Green, Mr. Thornton, and Mr. Douglas Powell (who took the title-rôle for the first time), made an exceptionally good cast, and the chorus sang with finish and intelligence. Another notable concert was that of the Dewsbury Choral Society, on the 8th ult., when a capital performance of Dvorák's "Stabat Mater" was given. That the chorus singing was good was a matter of course; but the more astonishing thing was the excellent playing of the orchestra, usually the very weak point with provincial choral societies. Not only in Dvorák's exacting music, but in the "Meistersinger" Overture and the Siegfried "Idyll" they showed an exceptional finish and beauty of tone. This, and a very spirited performance of Professor Stanford's "Phaudrig Crohoore," surely one of his happiest efforts, may be largely ascribed to the energy and ability of the Society's amateur conductor, Mr. G. H. Hirst, who is unfortunately obliged by stress of business engagements to give up his conductorship. The position of the Dewsbury Society, among the best of its kind in the West Riding, is chiefly owing to what Mr. Hirst has done for it.

The Morley Choral Society, which Mr. Benton conducts, gave a miscellaneous concert on the 16th ult. that calls for no special comment. On the 1st ult. the Batley Society gave a concert performance of Benedict's "Lily of Killarney," with Miss Esty, Miss Heenan, Messrs. Robert and Roland Cunningham, and Mr. Alec Marsh in the chief rôles, and Mr. John Bowling conducted. At York, Messrs. Naylor and Gutfeld, in their concert on February 22, gave Svendsen's String Quintet in C, an interesting and individual work. Mr. Eldering showed himself to be a violinist of power and facility, and Miss Olive Harcourt was the vocalist. On the 24th this programme was repeated at Harrogate. The Hull Harmonic Society gave "Elijah" on the 8th ult. Miss Agnes Nicholls, Miss Jessie King, Messrs. T. Child and D. Hughes were the principals, and Mr. Walter Porter conducted a performance which seems to have given very general satisfaction to all present. The Wakefield Choral Society gave Bach's "God's time is the best" and Bennett's "May Queen," on the 18th ult., appearing to greater advantage in the latter. Mr. J. Naylor Hardy conducted, and the principals were Madame Norledge, Miss Edna Thornton, Messrs. Blagbro and Billington.

MUSIC IN PARIS.

(From our own Correspondent.)

There is but little of interest to report in operatic doings during recent weeks. The performances of "Die Meistersinger" have been temporarily suspended at the Opéra on account of the absence of M. Delmas. There is talk of a projected revival here of Gluck's "Armida" during next winter. At the Opéra Comique, Auber's "Haydée" has been revived with an excellent cast, including Mdlles. Marignan and Lainé; MM. Engel, Clement, and Isnardon. Madame Calvé has resumed her excellent impersonation of the title part in M. Massenet's "Sapho." Concerning new works to be brought out at this house, it may be stated that M. Vincent d'Indy's "Fervaal" has been placed in rehearsal, and will be followed probably by Signor Puccini's "La vie de Bohème." The last-named composer is, it is said, now engaged upon the score of

Digitized by Google

"La Tosca," by M. Sardou. M. Danbé has resigned his conductorship at the Opéra Comique.

An enormous success was achieved at the Lamoureux concert of February 20 by the Belgian violinist, M. César Thomson, who played the Beethoven Concerto and the "Trille du Diable" of Tartini, with real artistic spirit and faultless technique. The concerts of February 27 and the 6th ult. were conducted by Herr Felix Weingartner, the celebrated Berlin Capellmeister, whose reading of the Symphonie Fantastique, by Berlioz, and other works of the ordinary repertory was highly interesting; he was applauded to the echo. Herr Weingartner also introduced himself to the audience as the composer of a symphonic poem entitled "King Lear," which, though it seemed, on a first hearing, somewhat too lengthy, exhibits a nobility of style and a sonority and variety of colour in the orchestration which command the attention of the listener. M. Jeno Hubay, the famous Hungarian violinist, who made his appearance at one of the popular concerts in connection with this Institution, playing, amongst other pieces, a Czardas of his own composition, was received with high favour, as was Madame de Gorlenko Dolina, a Russian singer with a very sympathetic voice, who gave a charming rendering of a cavatina from "Prince Ingor," by Borodine. At the concert of the 13th ult. Herr Hugo Heermann, the Frankfort violinist, aroused the enthusiasm of the audience by a masterly interpretation of the Concerto by Max Bruch.

An interesting new work was produced for the first time at the Colonne concert of February 27—viz., a symphonic poem entitled "l'An Mil," by M. G. Pierné, written for orchestra and choir, and divided into three parts. The first of these produced but little effect; but the second, superscribed "Fête des fous et de l'Ane," representing a lively and humorous picture constructed upon popular airs, and the final division, with its remarkably fine choral writing, elicited much applause. The programme of the concert of the 6th ult. contained a very poetic orchestral fantasia from the pen of M. Guy Ropartz, and on that of the 13th ult. we were given a first hearing of the "Soir de Fête" of M. Chausson, a musician who consistently pursues his career as an adherent of the most advanced school.

Amongst the numerous virtuoso concerts with orchestra, now taking place here daily, one of the most noteworthy has been that recently given by Mr. Harold Bauer. The gifted and admirable English pianist on this occasion performed the veritable tour de force of playing in true artistic manner, and without once leaving his instrument, three formidable concertos—that by Beethoven in E minor, Saint-Saëns's in C minor, and in E minor by Liszt. This remarkable achievement was much appreciated by the audience, who were most lavish in their applause.

An excellent performance, by the choir of St. Gervais, of Handel's "Ode to St. Cecilia's Day," with Mdlle. Eden as the soloist, was given at one of the recent Concerts Populaires of the Ambigu. At another of our regular institutions, the Société de Musique d'Ensemble, M. René Lenormand's Lieder, interpreted by Madame Collier and M. Maugière, proved a very interesting feature and were highly appreciated by the audience. Mention should also be made of the performance, at one of the Séances pour Instruments de Vent, of a Caprice, by M. Saint-Saëns, for pianoforte, flute, oboe, and clarinet, which, admirably played as it was by MM. Wurmser, Lafleurance, Longy, and Mimart, pleased greatly. Russian and Danish popular airs constitute the themes of the new piece.

MUSIC IN AMERICA.

"The Eve of St. Agnes." By Thomas Whitney Surette.

Mr. Surette's new dramatic ballad, founded on Keats's well-known poem, had its first performance on February 27, in the Musical Fund Hall, Philadelphia, under the direction of the composer. There was a large audience which completely filled the hall, and the work was received with genuine enthusiasm. Mrs. Marie Kunkel Zimmerman, of Philadelphia, sang Madeline; Mr. Francis Rogers, of Boston, Porphyro; and Mrs. J. Naudain Duer, of Philadelphia, Angela. The chorus was from the Orpheus and the Eurydice Societies.

Mr. Surette's composition is highly descriptive and interesting, being distinctly modern, yet very melodious and rich in orchestral effects, which reflect the magic warmth of the poem most vividly. The orchestral portions of the work—the Prelude illustrating "The Winter's Night" and the Revelry Music—are excellently treated. The composer has cast his instrumental accompaniment most effectively in the modern descriptive style, putting in his colours with a skilful hand. Madeline's arietta, as well as the whole of the last section of the work, had to be repeated, the dramatic portrayal of the scene in the chamber and the flight of Madeline and Porphyro during the storm being most effectively sung. The importance and dramatic interest of the various choruses—two being for male and female voices respectively—in "The Eve of St. Agnes" should ensure its attractiveness to choral societies.

The American Guild of Organists has had two public services this season in New York, the first, December 7, 1897, at Calvary Church, of which Mr. Clement R. Gale is organist and choirmaster; and the last, the 2nd ult., at All Souls' Church, Mr. Will. C. Macfarlane, choirmaster and organist. The first of the two services was sung by a choir of men and boys, the second by a choir of men and women. The form of service was the same in each case, a form which is, I believe, the special property of the Guild, which numbers among its members organists in churches of various denominations. Mr. Gale's choir sang quietly, with perfect precision, and a real devotion which was unmistakable. The service did not impress one as a performance. The music was of the highest type—it belongs to the Church, and the spirit of the whole service was devotional. Per contra, the tone produced by the choir at All Souls' Church was not so pure and was rarely subdued; there seemed to be no consciousness of the fact that Church music requires a treatment fundamentally different from that used in secular music. One could not escape the feeling that it was a performance, especially when a soloist turned to face the congregation, and when one listened to the offertory, which was Schubert's song "Omnipotence," sung by a contralto.

A very successful concert was given by the St. Cecilia Club of Lynchburg, Va., on the 24th ult., under the direction of Mr. Hartley Turner.

The Banks Glee Clubs of New York City (conductor, Mr. H. R. Humphreys) gave an excellent performance of Prout's cantata "Damon and Phintias," on February 22, at the Carnegie Music Hall. The soloists were Messrs. W. H. Ruger, Carl Dufft, and C. Baernstein. The Club is composed of about eighty male voices and is doing good work under its able conductor.

The faculty and students of the General Theological Seminary, New York, were addressed on the subject of Church Music, on the evening of February 14, at St. Agnes' Chapel, Trinity Parish, by the Rev. Dr. Hodges, of Baltimore, Md. There was a large attendance of clergy, the members of the faculty, and the entire body of undergraduates. Full cathedral service was sung by St. Agnes' Chapel choir, under the direction Mr. G. Edward Stubbs, Instructor in Ecclesiastical Music in the General Theological Seminary. The service was Calkin in F and the anthems were "Behold the Lord, the Ruler" (Thorne), and "O come before His presence with singing" (Sir George C. Martin). The organ Prelude and Postlude were played by Mr. Baier, of Trinity Church, and Mr. Lamond, of Trinity Chapel. Mr. Stubbs accompanied his choir. The hymn "The Son of God goes forth to war" was sung to Croft's tune, the massive unison of the seminarians forming a striking feature of the service. The address by Dr. Hodges was of serious importance and gave the greatest satisfaction to the clergy present.

Among the numerous concerts of classical chamber music given in London during the past few weeks, one of the most enjoyable was that of the Bohemian String Quartet, at St. James's Hall, on the afternoon of the 1st ult. As previously noticed, these artists, consisting of Messrs. Karel Hoffmann, Josef Suk, Oskar Nedbal, and Hanns Wihan, play together, not only with exactitude in style, but with a measure of vivacity that is in itself very striking. It has been said that they should mainly adhere to works emanating from their own country—that is to say, full of impulse and characterised by forceful rhythm and accent; but with that we scarcely agree. Certainly, on the occasion now under notice, the rendering of such standard quartets as Schumann's in A minor (Op. 41, No. 1) and Beethoven's in F (Op. 59, No. 1) could not easily have been surpassed in respect of eloquence in method, or, to use another term, persuasiveness. Between these masterpieces was placed a Sonata in B minor for pianoforte and violin, by Mr. Oskar Nedbal, the executants being Mr. Hoffmann and Miss Ilona Eibenschütz. The work, written in the customary three movements, made a highly favourable impression, for it is not only based on classical lines, but fresh in its themes and their treatment. The first and third sections are very spirited, and the Andante con moto in D is melodious and sentimental, prominence being given to the violin.

Digitized by Google

The annual Welsh service held in St. Paul's Cathedral, on St. David's Eve, February 28, was in every respect a greater success than either of its predecessors. Led by a male choir of about 200 voices and over 100 female singers, the vast congregation joined with the utmost heartiness in the chants and hymns, the effect being exceedingly imposing. The anthem, expressly composed for the occasion by Mr. William Davies, the conductor, proved an effective work, and its solo for tenor, "How beautiful upon the mountains," received the advantage of a most expressive interpretation by Mr. Ben Davies, whilst the final chorus, "Sing together, ye waste places of Jerusalem," was given with considerable spirit by the choir. After the sermon, preached by the Bishop of St. David's, Mr. Ben Davies sang a solo by Mr. Ambrose Lloyd, and two concluding hymns were followed by Stainer's beautiful "Sevenfold Amen." Mr. David Thomas, of St. Anselm's, was the organist, and, except that the text of the sermon was repeated in English, the service from beginning to end was in the Welsh tongue.

At the Mozart Society's concert, on the 12th ult., at the Portland Rooms, the first appearance in England was made of a boy violinist named Raimund Peckotsch, who if judiciously trained should become an esteemed executant. He is eleven years of age and was born in Australia, his mother being a native of that colony and his father a Viennese. Master Raimund's playing was remarkable for its truth of intonation, grip, and breadth of phrasing, qualities which were advantageously shown in his renderings of Leonard's exacting variations on the Austrian National Hymn and a piece by Wieniawski. The programme also included Mozart's Trio in E, and pieces for pianoforte and violoncello, played by their respective composers, Mrs. Armitage and Mr. E. van der Straeten; songs were also contributed by Miss Margaret Hoare, Madame d'Amély, and Mr. Montague Borland. The violinist was Miss Brousil, and Mr. J. H. Bonawitz presided as usual at the pianoforte.

Mr. A. R. Musgrave's Choral Society, numbering about 100 voices, gave an admirable performance of Mr. F. H. Cowen's graceful Old English Idyll "St. John's Eve," at Steinway Hall, on February 28. In every quarter to which this refined composition has gained admission it is held in the highest favour, and year by year is more frequently heard. Its characteristics of tasteful melody and skilful writing, free from executive difficulties, joined to a simple but interesting dramatic story, certainly entitle it to the prominent position among such works accorded it soon after the original performance at the Crystal Palace nearly ten years ago. Smoothness and feeling marked the delivery of the choruses, most of the features of which were adequately brought out; and for soloists there were Miss Edith Serpell, Madame Belle Cole, Mr. Mandeno Jackson, and Mr. Arthur Barry—each competent. A small band did justice to Mr. Cowen's dainty instrumentation.

Mdlle. Eva Cortesi made a very favourable impression at her concert, on the 18th ult., at St. James's Hall, in several vocal pieces varying in style. She gave Massenet's "Solitude de Sapho" and "Mary Magdalene at the Cross," with a perception of the sentiment required for each that was appreciatively recognised; but a greater success was achieved in Margaret's pathetically dramatic air in the prison scene of Boïto's "Mefistofele," her rendering of which evinced force no less than sympathy. This seemed better adapted to her voice and style than Leon Schlesinger's "Toujours attendre" or Hillier's valse caprice "Blonde." Mr. Herbert Parsons played with vigour Liszt's "Rhapsodie Espagnole" for pianoforte, and Mr. Clyde Twelvetrees was complimented upon the taste with which he executed some violoncello solos. The Hillier Belgian String Quartet also appeared.

Mr. Denis O'Sullivan, at his Irish song recital at Queen's (Small) Hall, on the 15th ult., demonstrated that the Green Isle possesses a number of charming airs rarely heard at concerts in this country. To satisfy a section of his patrons he had to draw somewhat upon the familiar stores of Moore and Lover, but against these were set modern arrangements by Stanford, Somervell, and Mrs. Needham of national airs highly charged with poetic sentiment. The "Lament for Owen Roe O'Neill" and "My Dark Rosaleen" are among the pieces that should be more frequently given at concerts intended to illustrate the wealth and distinctiveness of Irish melody. Of humour as well as of the tenderest feeling Mr. O'Sullivan was a satisfactory exponent, and his efforts were throughout warmly received. Mr. Garoghan skilfully played some airs on the Irish pipes.

The admirable educational lectures on music at the Bermondsey Settlement, to which we have previously referred, have been continued. On February 26 Mr. J. Leese, of Redruth, gave a somewhat novel discourse, entitled "350 years of piano-playing," before a large and very appreciative audience. The lecture was musically illustrated by Mr. Leese himself with refinement and great taste. The introduction of the lantern, showing on the screen diagrams, portraits, and scenes relating to the music, proved to be a very happy feature, which might be followed with advantage by other lecturers on musical subjects. On the 3rd ult. Mr. Edgar F. Jacques lectured on "The native music of our Indian Empire," and treated the subject, in which he is a specialist, with his well-known ability. Examples of native melodies were sung by Miss Ethel Wood.

Following the initiative of the Ysaye Concert Society of Brussels, a series of concerts illustrative of the music of different nations has recently been given at Monte Carlo, under the direction of M. Léon Jehin. Not the least successful of the number was that devoted to English composers, the programme of which included Wallace's Overture to "Lurline," Mr. Isidore de Lara's Overture "Moina," the Bride's March from Barnby's "Rebekah," Mr. Gadsby's Suite "In the Forest of Arden," Sir A. C. Mackenzie's Benedictus, and Mr. Frederic Cliffe's Violin Concerto. The two last-named numbers were admirably interpreted by Mr. Tivadar Nachèz, who was greatly applauded. The performance altogether was a distinct success, and reflected much credit upon the orchestra and its able and zealous conductor.

Mr. and Mrs. Henschel gave one of their enjoyable vocal recitals, on the 21st ult., at St. James's Hall. Mrs. Henschel was specially successful in her interpretation of the old Cornish ditty, "Where be goin'?" Liszt's beautiful setting of "Kennst du das Land?" and in three of her husband's songs. Mr. Henschel was heard at his best in Loewe's dramatic ballads "The Ruined Mill" and "The Erl-King" and in the amusing Harem-keeper's song from Mozart's "Il Seraglio." The selection also included some duets, amongst them being "O toi, le digne appui d'un père," from Méhul's "Joseph," and "Un bandeau couvre les yeux," from Grétry's "Richard Cœur de Lion," both interesting examples of French musicianship.

The Marlborough Place Amateur Orchestral Society, St. John's Wood, gave its fourth annual concert at the Lecture Hall on the 22nd ult., with the same success which has attended previous efforts in this direction. The programme included Schubert's B minor (Unfinished) Symphony and "Rosamunde" music, Hamish MacCunn's "On the Loch" (No. 2 of "Highland Memories"), and

Digitized by Google

German's music to "As you like it," all of which were excellently rendered by the orchestra. Mrs. Hamish MacCunn contributed two vocal solos with much acceptance, and Mr. Aldebert Allen was greatly appreciated in his flute solos. Mr. Paul Oppenheimer conducted with his usual enthusiasm and praiseworthy skill.

At St. Anne's Church, Soho, Bach's Passion music to the text of "St. John" has been performed, under the direction of the organist, Mr. E. H. Thorne, according to custom, during Lent. Knowledge in England of this extremely beautiful and touching work is mainly due to the opportunities for hearing it annually afforded here. It receives reverential treatment from all engaged in the weekly performance until Easter at St. Anne's. The vocal portions are carefully sung, and the orchestra is equal to its responsibilities. There is every reason to hope that these Lenten performances of the "St John" Passion music will be continued for many years.

The Presbyterian Church of England Association of North London Choirs held its annual Service of Praise at Stratford Presbyterian Church on the 15th ult., at which Dr. Bunnett's Cantate Domino in E and the chorus "We never will bow down," from Handel's "Judas Maccabæus," were the chief features. The united choirs, numbering about 200 voices, sang admirably, under the able conductorship of Mr. Hulbert L. Fulkerson. Mr. Fred. S. Thacker, Mr. H. H. L. Middleton, and Mr. Ernest W. Lane rendered efficient service at the organ. The Association is excellently officered and is well equipped for doing good work.

A successful revival of Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera "The Gondoliers" took place on the 22nd ult., at the Savoy Theatre, where it was originally produced on December 7, 1889. Of that cast only Miss Rosina Brandram, as the Duchess, re-appeared at this revival; the other principal characters being impersonated by Miss Ruth Vincent, Casilda; Miss Emmie Owen, Gianetta; Miss Louie Henri, Tessa; Mr. William Elton, the Duke; Mr. Walter Passmore, the Grand Inquisitor; and Messrs. J. Hewson, C. Kenningham, and H. A. Lytton, who respectively appeared as Luiz, Marco, and Giuseppe.

Miss Marie Roberts gave an interesting vocal recital at the Steinway Hall, on the 23rd ult. She had the assistance of Miss Hilda Wilson, Mr. William Green, Mr. H. Lane Wilson, Mr. Charles Copland, and Mr. Tivadar Nachèz. Miss Liza Lehmann's song cycle "In a Persian Garden," accompanied by the composer, was an important feature of the programme. The work was received with much favour, Mr. Green particularly distinguishing himself. Mr. F. Sewell was the accompanist.

An excellent performance of Mendelssohn's "Elijah" was given, on the 5th ult., by the Battersea Polytechnic Choral Society, under the conductorship of Dr. Dunstan, the musical director of the Institute. Good tone and attack were noticeable features of the choral numbers, while the solos were safely entrusted to Miss Edith Stow, Miss Alwine Bussey, Mr. Sinclair Dunn, and Mr. A. Gordon Begg. Mr. R. Stokoe, at the organ, and Miss Mary Thomas, at the pianoforte, were efficient accompanists.

Master H. Vernon Warner, who is just eleven years of age and to whose talented performances we have previously alluded, had the honour of playing before the Queen, the Prince and Princess of Wales, and other members of the Royal Family at Buckingham Palace on February 24. The Queen shook hands with the little boy in the kindest manner and put several questions to him. Master Warner is a pupil of his father, Mr. H. E. Warner, organist of Kew Church.

The Croydon Orchestral Society gave its first annual concert at the Pembroke Hall on the 21st ult. The chief features were Mendelssohn's "Scotch" Symphony, Nicolai's Overture to the "Merry Wives of Windsor," and German's "Henry VIII." Dances, in all of which the orchestra showed evidences of skilful training. Mr. W. Henry Thomas, the able conductor of the Society, may be congratulated upon the success attending his efforts.

The Ealing Choral Society presented its conductor, Mr. J. Cliffe Forrester, on the 8th ult., with a handsome music stand, an ivory baton, and a dining-room clock, in recognition of his services and ability as conductor for the last ten years. Under Mr. Forrester's able direction this Society has made great progress. At the last concert Sullivan's "Golden Legend" was admirably performed by a band and chorus of 160 performers.

The second concert of the Wandsworth Choral and Orchestral Society's seventh season took place at the local Town Hall, on Tuesday evening, the 22nd ult. The programme comprised Barnett's "Ancient Mariner" and a miscellaneous selection, the soloists being Miss Mabel Berrey, Miss Meredyth Elliott, Mr. Braxton Smith, and Mr. Watkin Mills. Mr. H. W. Wheeler conducted an entirely satisfactory performance.

Rossini's "Stabat Mater" has been sung, with orchestral accompaniment, at the Lenten services on Wednesdays at St. Mark's, Kensington. The solos were given by members of the choir, assisted by Miss Georgina Tear, Miss Lizzie Davis, and Messrs. Justin Bryant and Paul Galois. Mr. Barwell was leader of the band, Dr. Hamilton Robinson presided at the organ, and Mr. Warren Tear conducted.

Under the auspices of Dr. Edvard Grieg, a musical festival is to take place, from June 27 to July 3, at Bergen (the most important town on the Western coast of Norway), in connection with the International Fishery Exhibition to be held there during the summer. Only works by Norwegian composers will be performed, and a large hall, holding some 3,000 persons, is being built for the occasion.

Mr. Franz Rummel has been giving pianoforte recitals in various cities in the United States—New York, Boston, Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul's, &c.—with unvarying success. The American musical critics are unanimous in their tributes of appreciation of Mr. Rummel's remarkable performances, in which technical facility is happily combined with high artistic attainments.

Dr. J. M. Bentley is the winner of the prize offered by the Manchester Glee Club for the best cheerful glee. The words chosen for the setting are Shakespeare's "When icicles hang by the wall." He has also won one of the two prizes offered by the London Madrigal Society, the judges being Mr. Otto Goldschmidt, Sir Frederick Bridge, and Sir George Martin.

Mr. Bernard Fowles gave a lecture on "Mendelssohn," in connection with the Regent Square Presbyterian Church Literary Society, on the 7th ult., when the musical illustrations were well rendered by Miss A. Louise Burns, Miss Kathleen Salmon, Miss V. T. Salmon, Mr. Hulbert L. Fulkerson, Mr. H. Backhouse Salmon, and the lecturer.

An International competition of choral societies is to be included in the various musical attractions in connection with the Grand Exhibition which will be opened in July next at Turin. A considerable reduction of fares in favour of the foreign societies participating in the contest will be made by the Italian railway companies.

The Passion Play is to be revived at Selzach, in Switzerland, this summer, and representations are to be given from June 19 to September 11. As in 1896, 250 people, consisting of actors, singers, and musicians, will take part in the play, the character of which has been improved by the addition of several dramatic scenes.

The famous Rhondda Glee Society had the honour of singing before the Queen, by her Majesty's command, at St. George's Hall, Windsor Castle, on February 22. The Queen expressed her great gratification at the pleasure which the beautiful singing of the choir, three-fourths of whom are miners, had afforded her.

The annual musical festival of the Lower Rhine, taking place as usual in Whitsuntide, will be held this year at Cologne. Amongst the solo performers announced to take part will be Mr. Paderewski, who will play Sir A. C. Mackenzie's "Scottish" Fantasia.

The 160th anniversary festival of the Royal Society of Musicians will be held at the Whitehall Rooms, Hôtel Métropole, on the 23rd inst. H.R.H. the Duke of Cambridge will preside.

Digitized by Google

FOREIGN NOTES.

Alexandria.—The first performance on Egyptian soil of Wagner's "Tannhäuser" took place here on February 20, under Signor Gaetano Cimini's direction, with considerable success.

Bâle.—Mdlle. Anna Hegner, a sister of the well-known pianist, Otto Hegner, has just made her début as a violinist in concert-rooms, both here and in Carlsruhe, with great success, the critics being unanimous in acknowledging her exceptional gifts. The young lady is only fifteen years of age and a native of this town.

Barmen.—Herr Max Bruch has completed the score of a new choral work, entitled "Gustavus Adolphus," which will be produced next month by the Barmen Choral Society, under the composer's direction.

Bayreuth.—Under the auspices of Frau Cosima Wagner, an interesting concert was given here, on February 26, to an invited audience, when a musical setting by Herr Julius Kniese of Goethe's Singspiel, "Jery und Bäteli," was produced for the first time and received with great favour. Excerpts from Wagner's music-dramas were likewise contributed on the occasion by Fräulein Canstatt, of Wiesbaden, and Herr van Rooy.

Berlin.—The season of Philharmonic concerts, under Herr Nikisch's direction, came to a close with the tenth concert on the 7th ult., the programme including Schubert's B minor Symphony as well as some important Wagner excerpts. Frau Lilli Lehmann and Herr Witek were the vocalists. Herr Weingartner, after his recent triumphs in Paris, has resumed the conductorship of the excellent symphony concerts of the opera orchestra. An interesting and highly successful first pupils' concert was given on the 5th ult., by the Vocal Academy, under the direction of Madame Etelka Gerster. The distinguished prima donna, who took up her residence in this capital some twelve months since as a teacher of her art, has shown herself eminently qualified for the task, which is an art in itself, and her reputation in this capacity is already considerable.

Brussels.—M. Bruneau's "Messidor," with the libretto by M. Zola, was produced for the first time at the Théâtre de la Monnaie on February 15. Two performances of Gluck's "Orphée" took place on February 23 and 25, with Miss Marie Brema (who is a prime favourite with the public here) in the title part. The ensemble was excellent.

Cologne.—At the tenth Gürzenich concert of the season, last month, the first performance took place of Herr Richard Strauss's new symphonic poem "Don Quixote." Dr. Wüllner had rehearsed the difficult work with the utmost care and fully entered into the spirit of the composition. The latter, which is in the form of a series of variations, contains both humorous and pathetic elements, and shows the gifted Munich composer in the most advanced phase of his development.

Dresden.—A new one-act opera, "Ratbold," by Herr Reinhold Becker, was brought out at the Royal Theatre on the 5th ult. and very favourably received. Herr Becker enjoys much popularity in Germany as a composer of tuneful songs, and a previous operatic work from his pen, "Frauenlob," also achieved a measure of success. The present work, melodious throughout, contains some highly effective concerted numbers, while its instrumentation is perhaps its weakest part. An old Scottish air has been effectively introduced in the score. Dvorák's symphonic poem "Der Wassermann" was successfully performed here for the first time at the fifth symphony concert of the season, under Herr Hagen's direction.

Florence.—A new season of opera is announced to commence shortly at the Pergola Theatre with M. Massenet's "Werther" and "Sapho," in both of which Signora Gemma Bellincioni will take leading parts.—— Signor Puccini, the composer of "La Bohème," has accepted a libretto, by MM. Schurmann and Illica, on the subject of "Marie Antoinette." The opera is in five acts, opening at Trianon, and closing with the execution of the hapless queen. It will probably be first produced in Paris.

Frankfort-on-Main.—A new opera, "Ingo," by Herr Bernhard Scholz, the well-known director of the Hoch'sche Conservatorium in this town, met with a very favourable reception on its first performance at the Stadt-Theater, on February 27. The composer, who is his own librettist, has taken his subject from Gustav Freytag's novel bearing the same title.

Lemberg.—A highly successful first performance took place here, on February 24, of a new opera, "Livia," by the director of the Warsaw Conservatoire, M. Noskowski. Both the composer and Madame Theresa Arkel, who interpreted the leading part, were the recipients of repeated ovations from the audience.

Lisbon.—One of the most talented contemporary Portuguese composers, Senhor Victorio Hussla, has completed an important orchestral composition, dedicated to the memory of Vasco da Gama, which is to be performed in connection with the forthcoming centenary celebrations in honour of the great navigator.

Madrid.—Herr Richard Strauss conducted three orchestral concerts here last month with immense success. Beethoven's C minor Symphony and the Preludes to "Lohengrin" and "Die Meistersinger" were amongst the works produced, the two last-named having to be repeated.

Mayence.—An excellent performance was given, on February 21, by the combined forces of the Liedertafel and Damen Gesangverein, under the direction of Herr Fritz Volbach—the choir which, it will be remembered, was the first to bring out some of Handel's oratorios in accordance with Dr. Chrysander's edition. The works produced on this occasion were two novelties—viz., a setting for solo voices, chorus, and orchestra of Geibel's well-known poem "Vom Pagen und der Königstochter," by Herr Volbach, and the new Te Deum by Dr. Wüllner, of Cologne, the latter conducted by its composer. They were both considered important and highly effective compositions, and, admirably executed as they were, produced a most favourable impression.

Munich.—Mr. Eugene d'Albert's new one-act opera, "Die Abreise," is to be first brought out at the Royal Opera of this capital, and is, in fact, in active preparation, under the personal superintendence of the Intendant, Herr von Possart, and the musical direction of Court-capellmeister Röhr. It will probably be produced early this month. ——Anton Bruckner's Fifth Symphony (B flat major), performed for the first time in Munich, on February 18, by the Kaim Orchestra, under Professor Loewe's direction, met with such an enthusiastic reception that its performance had to be repeated at the succeeding concert.

Rome.—The first prize for a four-part Mass, with organ accompaniment, offered by the Society of St. Gregory the Great, has been awarded to Signor Filippo Mattoni.—— On the occasion of the twentieth anniversary of the death of King Victor Emmanuel, last month, a Requiem specially written for the commemoration by Signor Lucidi, was performed at the Pantheon, under Signor Mascagni's direction.

St. Petersburg.—The season of German opera under the management of Herr Loewe, of Breslau, and with Dr. Richter as conductor, commenced on the 6th ult., at the Théâtre Marie, with "Lohengrin," Mesdames Litvinne and Moran-Olden, with the brothers De Reszke, sustaining the principal parts. On the 8th ult. "Die Walküre" was given, with Fräulein Malten as Brünnhilde and Madame Olitzka in the part of Fricka. The Czar was present, and both artists were, by command, presented to him, the Empress, to whose initiative these representations are mainly owing, being unfortunately too ill to attend. The season is to extend over four weeks, and during its course M. Jean de Reszke is announced to appear for the first time in the part of Siegfried in "Götterdämmerung."

Strasburg.—A new comic opera, "Der Taugenichts" ("The Good-for-Nothing"), by the young Alsatian composer, Joseph Erl, was brought out with much success at the Stadt-Theater on February 25. Herr Erl has already proved himself a composer of much talent in minor compositions, and his present more ambitious effort is distinctly promising.

Turin.—A prize of three thousand lire has been offered by the Italian Minister of Public Instruction for the composition of a sacred work to be performed on the occasion of the opening of the Turin Exhibition a few months hence.

Vienna.—Signor Leoncavallo's opera "La Bohéme," with a very satisfactory German version of the libretto from the pen of Herr Ludwig Hartmann, was brought out at the Imperial Theatre on February 24 with great success. The principal parts were well interpreted by Mesdames Forster and Renard, Herren Dippel, Hesch, and Neidl, the choruses also being most effectively rendered. Herr Mahler, who had bestowed infinite care at rehearsals, conducted. The composer, who was present, had reason to be satisfied with the reception accorded to himself and his new work. A new comic opera by Herr Ignaz Brüll, entitled "Der Husar," was brought out on the 2nd ult. with marked success at the Theater-an-der-Wien, the libretto, by Herr Leon, dealing effectively with a really comic subject, and the music being distinctly clever, as was to be expected from the composer of "The Golden Cross." The Kaim Orchestra, of Munich, gave several performances here last month, under the direction of Herr Loewe, and has been greatly appreciated. The programmes consisted chiefly of works by modern masters.

Digitized by Google

OBITUARY.

At West Kirby, on the 18th ult., Miss H. A. Argent (daughter of Mr. W. I. Argent, of Liverpool), who had been one of the leading teachers of the violin in Birkenhead for ten years prior to her abandonment of work owing to decline early in 1897.

On the 5th ult., aged eighty, Nathan Constantine, son of Nathan Constantine, of Keighley, professor of music, for many years associated with the late John Hullah as a teacher of his system.

On the 6th ult., at 96, Camberwell New Road, William Freeman Thomas, formerly promoter of the Promenade Concerts, Covent Garden, aged fifty-four.

The death is announced, on the 13th ult., at Berlin, where he had resided for the last fifteen years, of the well-known pianist and composer, Julius Schulhoff. Though to the younger generation of amateurs little more than a mere name, and long since retired from public life, he was in the earlier decades of the century a very famous personality indeed, both as a pianoforte virtuoso, of the school of Thalberg, and as a composer of brilliant morceaux de salon for his instrument. Schulhoff was born at Prague on August 2, 1825, and made his pianoforte studies under Kisch and Tedesco, while Tomaczek instructed him in counterpoint, he being a fellow pupil with the latter of Mr. Wilhelm Kuhe. In 1845 he went to Paris, the arbiter, at that time, of a young pianist's reputation. Here he was fortunate in gaining the interest and friendship of Chopin, who introduced him to the artistic society of the capital, and who also greatly influenced his style of playing. His success in concert-rooms both here and in London, where he paid frequent visits during his prolonged Paris residence, was considerable, and indeed sensational. He also undertook extensive tours through Germany, Austria, Spain, and Russia. In 1870 he went to live in Dresden, where, as previously in Paris, he was much in request as a teacher, and finally took up his residence in Berlin. His compositions, amongst them the once famous "Galop di Bravura" and the brilliant "Carnaval de Venice," include a sonata, a morceau de concert, and a number of popular pianoforte pieces.

Professor Michael Bergson, who, for a number of years past has been an esteemed music teacher and composer in London, died at his residence in Percy Street, Uxbridge Road, on the 9th ult., at the age of seventy-nine. He was born at Warsaw, and made his musical studies under Schneider, in Dessau, and in Italy. Amongst his compositions, besides numerous pianoforte pieces, are many songs, of which "The Better World" and "Two Hearts" have enjoyed some popularity.

Conrad Behrens, the well-known operatic singer, who, a generation or so ago, enjoyed considerable popularity with English audiences, died at New York on February 13, after having undergone a painful operation. He was born at Samsleben, near Brunswick, in 1834, and made his début at the Royal Opera, Stockholm, having received his musical education at the expense of the King of Sweden. He first appeared in London in 1874 and became, for several seasons, a leading basso at Her Majesty's Opera.

We have also to record the following deaths:—

On February 20, at Dresden, Franz Behr, composer of popular pianoforte pieces, aged sixty-one.

On February 26, at Naples, Teresa Martucci, gifted pianist and teacher, sister of Signor Giuseppe Martucci, the distinguished director of the Bologna Conservatorio.

On February 26, at Toulouse, Victor Savit, contrabassist, founder and custodian of the Conservatoire library, the second in importance in France, aged eighty-three.

CORRESPONDENCE.

"ST. MAGNUS."

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE MUSICAL TIMES."

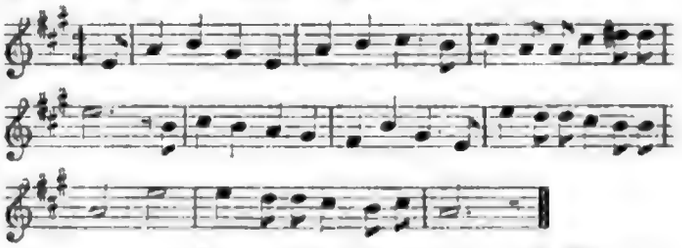
Sir,—The authorship of the above tune has, I believe, always been attributed to Jeremiah Clark, organist of St. Paul's Cathedral and of the Chapel Royal at the beginning of the last century.

In a German, or rather Swiss, collection of four-part songs, entitled "Sammlung von Volksgesängen für den gemischten Chor Liederbuch für Schulen und Vereine, herausgegeben von der Musik-Kommission der zürcherischen Schulsynode unter Redaktion von J. Heim."—[N.D.] I find, under No. 192 ("Bei Sonnenaufgang"), and described as "Alte Volksweise" (old folk-song), the melody of this tune in the form given below, the harmony being very similar to that associated with the tune in the majority of our English tune-books.

It seems to me rather unlikely that the people of the Alps (or any of their neighbours) could have borrowed this particular melody from us. The only other tune in the same book which can be considered of English authorship is that of "God save the Queen," which is there set to a "Volkshymne an das Vaterland," and assigned to John Bull.

The question is, therefore, did Clark adopt the tune from an old Volkslied and merely claim to be the arranger, or did he——?—but no, perish the thought! In this latter case one would be almost inclined to think that poor "Jerry" had some other weight upon his mind besides a love disappointment, which induced him to bring about his own sad end.

Seriously, however, my little discovery has greatly interested me, and perhaps some of your readers may be able to throw further light upon the matter. Here is the melody in its "Volksweise" form:—



Yours truly, John E. West.

"HARK! THE HERALD ANGELS SING."

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE MUSICAL TIMES."

Sir,—Referring to the letter of Mr. J. T. Lightwood in your last issue, permit me to mention a still earlier appearance of the above tune in a hymnal—viz., that in the "Congregational Hymn and Tune Book" (original edition), 1857—where, in the index, it is styled "St. Vincent."

In a recent letter which I received from the Editor of this book, the Rev. R. R. Chope, he says: "Forty years ago I was the first to put that tune into a Hymn-book." (The italics are mine.) I think, therefore, we are justified in concluding that we have here the earliest appearance of the tune in a hymnal consequent upon the publication by Messrs. Ewer and Co., in 1856, of Mr. W. H. Cummings's original arrangement.

Yours faithfully,

2A, Lorn Road, Brixton, March 12, 1898. J. R. Griffiths.

Digitized by Google

BRIEF SUMMARY OF COUNTRY AND COLONIAL NEWS.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for any opinions expressed in this summary, as all the notices are either collated from the local papers or supplied to us by correspondents.

Bury St. Edmunds.—A sacred concert was given in the Wesleyan Church, on the 10th ult., of which the chief features were Gaul's "The Holy City" and a selection from Handel's "Samson." The soloists were Miss Maude Richardson, Miss Beatrice Sleightholme, Mr. J. Reed, and Mr. William Higley. Mr. W. G. Sealing rendered efficient service at the organ, and Mr. A. Oliver Lusher, organist of the church, who conducted, is to be congratulated upon a performance which reflected credit upon all concerned.

Caythorpe.—A fine performance of Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise" and "Hear my Prayer" was given at St. Vincent's Church on February 28, by the Fulbeck Choral Society. The solo vocalists were Miss Maggie Jaques, Miss Duncan, and Mr. Dunkerton, of Lincoln Cathedral. Dr. G. J. Bennett, organist of Lincoln Cathedral, presided at the organ, the remaining instrumentalists being four trombonists and a pianist in the person of Mr. Robinson. Mr. Royds conducted and kept his forces well in hand with his accustomed ability.

Chigwell.—The special choir, numbering nearly eighty voices, gave Maunder's new Lenten cantata, "Penitence, Pardon, and Peace," in Chigwell Church, on the 10th ult., conducted by Mr. Henry Riding.

Cirencester.—Stainer's "Crucifixion" was given in the Parish Church, on the 22nd ult. The solos were sung by Mr. J. Miller and Mr. R. Grant, of Wells Cathedral.

Cottingley.—The Choral Society brought another successful season to a close on the 5th ult., with a concert of which Somervell's "Ode to the Sea" was the chief feature. Miss Agnes Prince rendered the two soprano solos with agreeable effect, and the choir and orchestra acquitted themselves with distinction. Mr. Henry J. Mason proved, as heretofore, a competent conductor, and Mr. A. T. Akeroyd rendered good service at the organ. Elgar's "Imperial March" for orchestra was an acceptable number in the second (miscellaneous) part of the concert.

Coventry.—The Coventry Musical Society gave a choral and orchestral concert in the Corn Exchange on the 8th ult. The choral works were Mr. Elgar's "The Black Knight" and Gade's "Spring's Message." The orchestral numbers included Beethoven's "Prometheus" Overture, Mozart's G minor Symphony, and Cowen's "Four English Dances," the whole of which were admirably rendered under the baton of Mr. Harry C. Perrin, the organist-elect of Canterbury Cathedral. The vocalist was Miss Gertrude Lynes (a débutante and a daughter of Dr. Lynes), who made a very successful first appearance.

Dudley.—Haydn's "Spring" and Cowen's "Rose Maiden" formed the attractive programme of the concert given by the Dudley Vocal Union, in the Public Hall, on the 2nd ult., when both works were capitally rendered by a full band and the chorus of the Society. The principals were Miss Maggie Jaques, Mrs. Arthur Bird, Mr. E. Dunkerton, and Mr. Ineson, all of whom acquitted themselves with distinction. Mr. W. H. Aston conducted with efficiency and Mr. Walter Aston was the accompanist.

Dundee.—The Choral Union gave a concert at the Panmure Institute, on the 16th ult., when Mendelssohn's "Hear my Prayer" and Macfarren's "May Day" were performed with string orchestral accompaniments. The solos were well sustained by Miss Ella Westwood and Mr. T. Adamson. Mr. Edward Mason conducted, besides arranging an overture from a sacred work, which was played by the orchestra as a prelude to Mendelssohn's hymn. Mr. James Adamson and Mr. T. Adamson rendered efficient service at the pianoforte and harmonium respectively.

Gloucester.—The second concert of the eason of the Gloucester Choral Society took place on the 1st ult., when the programme consisted of Dr. Harford Lloyd's "Hymn of Thanksgiving" and Haydn's "Creation," the former work being conducted by the composer, while two of his old pupils, Mr. A. Herbert Brewer (organist of Gloucester Cathedral) and Mr. G. R. Sinclair (organist of Hereford Cathedral), were associated with him, the former as conductor of the Society and the latter as organist. Both works were admirably given and reflected great credit upon all concerned. The soloists were Miss Maggie Davies, Mr. Philip Brozel, and Mr. Henry Sunman. Owing to the temporary indisposition of Mr. Brozel in the second part, Mr. Brewer, the conductor, sang the tenor solos in the "Creation" while still wielding the baton.

Kendal.—Spohr's "Last Judgment" formed the principal feature of the concert given by the Kendal Choral Society, in St. George's Hall, on the 17th ult., when the grandeur and impressiveness of the Cassel composer's best known work received ample interpretation by the band and chorus of the Society, under the able direction of its veteran conductor, Mr. W. B. Armstrong. The soloists were Miss Berrey, Miss Whittaker, Mr. David, and Mr. Cradock. At the final rehearsal for the concert, held on the previous evening, the members of the Society presented their conductor, Mr. W. B. Armstrong, with an illuminated address in terms of high appreciation of his invaluable services as conductor for twenty-seven years, and of regret at his resignation of the duties he has so faithfully and worthily discharged during that long period.

Leyton.—A students' concert of the Leyton Conservatoire of Music was given in the New Town Hall on February 28. The chief feature was the performance of selections, including German's "Henry VIII." Dances, by an orchestra of fifty performers, pupils of Mr. G. A. Parker, who conducted.

Margate.—The Margate Choral Society gave a brilliant performance of Spohr's "Last Judgment" and Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise," at the Royal Assembly Rooms, on the 17th ult., when the band (augmented by members of the Royal Engineers band, Chatham) and chorus numbered upwards of 150 performers. The principals were Miss Maggie Purvis, Miss Meta Dridge, Mr. James Leyland, and Mr. Charles Tree. Dr. E. J. Bellerby presided at the organ and Miss Rowe rendered useful service at the pianoforte. Mr. T. Russe, who conducted, is to be congratulated upon a very successful performance, which reflected credit upon all concerned.

Moffat, N.B.—The Choral Union gave its annual concert on the 10th ult. Gade's "Erl-King's Daughter" and operatic selections were sung by the chorus, which was conducted by Mr. M. B. Kidd and accompanied by Miss Nevay. Misses Marguerite Simpson and Crissie Grubb and Messrs. Robert Burnett and Charles Clark were the soloists.

Padiham, Burnley.—Mr. James H. Rooks, of Blackburn and Bradford, presided at the opening of an organ, built by Messrs. Harrison and Harrison, of Durham, at the Wesleyan Chapel, Cross Bank, on the 13th ult. Mr. Rooks's selections were very finely executed and showed off the organ to great advantage. The programme included compositions by Mozart, Guilmant, Lemaire, Widor, Smart, Benedict, and Dubois. Mrs. E. Hamer, of Blackburn, was the vocalist.

Plymouth.—The production by Dr. Samuel Weekes's Private Choral and Orchestral Societies, on the 16th ult., at the Guildhall, of Sullivan's "Golden Legend" will remain one of the most memorable events of the season in this locality. The choir sang throughout with earnestness and vigour and the closest regard to expression. Miss Emily Davies and Mr. Watkin Mills distinguished themselves as Elsie and Lucifer, Miss Hannah Jones sang very sympathetically as Ursula, and Mr. Faithful Pearse gave a careful rendering of the music assigned to Prince Henry. Dr. Samuel Weekes conducted with his usual ability.

St. Albans.—Mr. W. H. Speer gave a very interesting lecture on the subject of "Henry Purcell: his life and works," at St. Peter's, on the 7th ult., with much success.

Digitized by Google

The musical illustrations, all excellently rendered, included songs and anthems by the great English composer, and some pianoforte pieces well rendered by the able lecturer.

Stirling.—The Stirling Choral Society gave performances of Haydn's "Creation" and Mendelssohn's "First Walpurgis Night," at the Albert Hall, on the 8th ult., which were fully up to its usual high standard of excellence. The soloists were Miss A. B. Carswell, Mr. Gledhill, and Mr. James Fleming. The orchestra was well led by Mr. Cole, and Dr. Allum conducted with his usual ability.

Wolverhampton.—The popularity of Elgar's "King Olaf" is spreading by leaps and bounds. It formed the pièce de resistance at the concert of the Wolverhampton Festival Choral Society, given in the Agricultural Hall on February 22, when it was received with marked favour. The solos were in the capable hands of Miss Rosina Hammacott, Mr. William Green, and Mr. John Sandbrook. There was the usual band and chorus of the Society, and Mr. Watkis presided at the organ. Dr. Swinnerton Heap, who conducted, has to be congratulated upon an excellent performance of the work, which must have been very gratifying to Mr. Elgar, who was present.

Organ Appointments.—Mr. Sydney Baynes, to Crouch Hill Presbyterian Church.—Mr. Alfred W. Tomlyn, to the Braid Church, Edinburgh.—Mr. D. A. Fox, Organist and Choirmaster to St. Mary-of-Eton Parish Church, Hackney Wick.—Mr. James Thompson, Organist and Choirmaster to St. Mary's Parish Church, Oldham.—Mr. Charles G. Sadler, Organist and Choirmaster to the Parish Church of St. Mary, Balham.—Mr. Munro Davison, Organist and Choir-director to Holy Innocents', Hornsey.—Mr. James Foulds, Organist and Choirmaster to St. John's Church, Windermere.—Mr. Percy W. Smale, Organist and Musical Director to St. Anne's Schools, Redhill, Surrey.—Mr. C. H. Dixon, Organist and Choirmaster to St. Michael and All Angels', Beckenham.

Choir Appointment.—Mr. Percy C. Miller, Alto soloist to St. Andrew's, Stoke Newington.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

 Notices of Concerts, of which programmes must invariably be sent, and other information supplied by our friends in the country, must be forwarded to us immediately after the occurrence; otherwise they cannot possibly be inserted.

Our correspondents will oblige by writing all names as clearly as possible, as we cannot be responsible for any mistakes that may occur.

Correspondents are informed that their names and addresses must accompany all communications.

We cannot undertake to return offered contributions; the authors, therefore, will do well to retain copies.

Notice is sent to all subscribers whose payment (in advance) is exhausted. The paper will be discontinued where the Subscription is not renewed. We again remind those who are disappointed in obtaining back numbers that, although the music is always kept in stock, only a sufficient quantity of the rest of the paper is printed to supply the current sale.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

N. S. K., Sydney.—(1) Mendelssohn never instructed Queen Victoria in music. (2) The "Reformation" Symphony was first performed at Berlin in November, 1832. (3) "A safe stronghold our God is still." The tune, composed by Martin Luther, appears in "Geistliche Lieder," printed by Joseph Klug, Wittenberg, 1529, and the "Augsburger Gesangbuch," 1530. (4) "Reisebrief" means letters written upon a journey. (5) Hiller's "Mendelssohn" and Devrient's "Recollections of Mendelssohn" are both out of print.

C. D.—Several patents have been taken out of machines invented for recording music played extemporaneously. The article in Grove's "Dictionary of Music and Musicians," entitled "Recording music played extemporaneously" (Vol. IV., p. 767), gives full particulars.

M. C.—As supplementary to our reply last month, we are informed that the Scarborough Clef Club will probably meet your requirements. Mr. John Adams, Jesmond Dene, Scalby Road, Falsgrave, Scarborough, will supply all information.

B. R. G.—(1) You will find a biography of Edward Reményi in Grove's "Dictionary of Music and Musicians," Vol. III., p. 107. (2) We believe that M. Charles Dancla is still a professor at the Paris Conservatoire.

P. G.—Supplementing the information given in our last issue, we are informed that the full score and parts of Gounod's "Faust" can only be hired, not bought, either here or on the Continent.

Cremona.—Stainer's Versicles, Merbecke's (Stainer) Communion Service, and the Cathedral Prayer Book are not issued in the Tonic Sol-fa Notation.

An Attentive Reader.—We really cannot undertake to recommend "some good and decent humorous songs for Sunday Schools."

A. M. O.—Schumann's Novelette in F (Op. 21) is analysed in Ridley Prentice's "The Musician," Grade 5.

A. W. G.—A book of musical anecdotes is published by Messrs. Weekes and Co.

J. C. B.—Yes; as upward resolutions of the dominant seventh.

J. H. M. L.—The words to which you refer are copyright.

DURING THE LAST MONTH.

Published by NOVELLO, EWER & CO.

GERMAN, EDWARD—Masque from the Music to "As You Like It." Arranged for a Military Band by Dan Godfrey, Jun. 15s.

—— Prelude to Act V. (Thanksgiving Hymn). From the Music to "Henry VIII." 1st Violin, 6d.; 2nd Violin, 6d.; Viola, 6d.; Violoncello and Bass, 6d.

—— Suite. For Violin and Pianoforte. 1. Valse; 2. Souvenir; 3. Gipsy Dance. 3s.

SOMERVELL, ARTHUR—"Ode to the Sea." 1st Violin, 2s. 6d.; 2nd Violin, 2s. 6d.; Viola, 2s. 6d.; Violoncello and Bass, 4s.

THE BIBLE CHRISTIAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL HYMNAL, with Tunes. Edited by J. R. Griffiths. 3s. 6d.

DVOŘÁK, ANTONIN—"Stabat Mater." Book of words, with Analytical Notes by Joseph Bennett. 15s. per 100.

PROUT, EBENEZER—"Damon and Phintias." Book of words, 10s. per 100.

THE SCHOOL MUSIC REVIEW. No. 70. Contains the following Music in both Notations:—"In April time," by Ciro Pinsuti. Arranged for S.S.A. by W. G. McNaught. "The 'Logical Gardens." Junior Unison Song. By Gerard F. Cobb. Specimen Tests for Pupil Teachers and Schools. Exercises in Changing of Key. 1½d.

NOVELLO'S SCHOOL SONGS.—Edited by W. G. McNaught. Published in two forms. A. Voice Parts, in Staff and Tonic Sol-fa Notations, with Pianoforte Accompaniment, 8vo size; B. Voice Parts only in Tonic Sol-fa Notation. A. B.

—— Book 67. Six Easy Two-part Songs. By various Composers .. .. 6d. — —— Book 80. Ten Kindergarten and Action Songs. By various Composers .. .. .. 1s. —

RICHARDS, ARTHUR—"The Waxwork Carnival." A Humorous Operetta. The words written by Bernard Page. Words only, 12s. 6d. per 100.

EYRE, ALFRED J.—"Benedicite, omnia Opera" (with a Quadruple Chant for Te Deum). (No. 371. Novello's Parish Choir Book.) 2d.

FRYE, FREDERICK R.—(in B flat). Magnificat and Nunc dimittis. 4d.

HOWEL, R.—(in A flat). Magnificat and Nunc dimittis. 3d.

STATHAM, F. R.—(in E flat). Magnificat and Nunc dimittis (Unison or Organ). (No. 372. Novello's Parish Choir Book.) 3d.

THORNE, R. GOULD—"O all ye Works of the Lord" ("Benedicite, omnia Opera"). For use during Lent and Advent, instead of the Te Deum. 3d.

Digitized by Google

DURING THE LAST MONTH—continued.

DALLAS, JOHN EDWIN—The Preces and Responses. Set to Music for Four Voices. 3d.

BRISTOL USE of the PRECES and RESPONSES. Edited and revised by E. H. Fellowes. 2d.

DIM SHADOWS FALL. Hymn for Good Friday. Words and Melody by F. B. P. Harmonised by George E. Mott. 2d. Words only, 3s. per 100.

DANIELLS, EDMUND H.—Original Chants (set to the Canticles for Church Use) and Hymn Tunes. 3d.

MATTHEWS, JOHN H.—A Confirmation Hymn. Words by Marianne Farningham. On Card. 1d.

STUBBS, G. EDWARD—The Nicene Creed. Monotone Setting. 2d.

WELCH, H. T.—Two Hymn Tunes. 2d.

EVANS, HARRY—"Lead, kindly Light" ("Oleuni Mwyn, Arweinia fi"). For Chorus (S.A.T.B.), with Organ Accompaniment. The words written by Cardinal Newman. Welsh words by the Rev. E. Keri Evans, M.A. 4d. Tonic Sol-fa, 2d.

ELVEY, GEORGE J.—"Llawenhewch yn yr Iôr" ("Rejoice in the Lord"). Anthem. For S.A.T.B. (Rhif 25. Anthemau Novello.) 2c.

ARMES, PHILIP—"Victoria." Prize Madrigal. For S.S.A.T.B. The words written by Alfred Austin (Poet Laureate). (No. 794. Novello's Part-Song Book.) 4d.

RATHBONE, GEORGE—"Come away, sweet love." Ballet. For Four Voices (S.A.T.B.) (No. 662. The Musical Times.) 1½d.

SULLIVAN, ARTHUR—"When love and beauty." Madrigal. For Five Voices (S.S.A.T.B.). The words written by H. F. Chorley. (No. 784. Novello's Part-Song Book.) 6d.

BRIERLEY, W. B.—Andante sostenuto. For Violin and Pianoforte. 2s.

LONG, J. CHARLES—Three Short Pieces. For the Pianoforte. No. 1. Reverie; No. 2. Il Ballo; No. 3. Menuetto. 1s. 6d.

HOYTE, W. S.—Scherzo. For the Organ. 2s. 6d.

JUDGE, Mrs. MARK H.—"Meditation in Canterbury Cathedral on the announcement of the death of the late Archbishop Benson." For Pianoforte or Organ. 1s. 6d.

EDWARDS, ARTHUR C.—March ("Abraham")—Molique. (No. 49. Organ Arrangements, edited by George C. Martin.) 1s.

CRUICKSHANK, W. A. C.—Overture to "Calvary"—Spohr. (No. 50. Organ Arrangements, edited by George C. Martin.) 1s.

JORDAN, WARWICK—Concert Sonata (D major). For the Organ. 3s.

NOVELLO'S ORIGINAL COMPOSITIONS for the ORGAN.

		s.	d.
No. 260. Fantasia	Charles Edward Stephens	1	6

OESTEN, MAX—Six Easy Pieces. For Violin and Pianoforte. Op. 201. Book I., 2s.; Book II., 2s. For Contents, see Advertisement, page 278.

COENEN, WILLEM—"Thou wilt remember us." Sacred Song (in C). For Contralto or Baritone Voice. The words written by the Rev. Horatius Bonar. 2s.

GOULD, MONK—"The Fisher-Mother's Song." For Soprano or Contralto. The words written by William Longman. 2s.

——"Devotion" and "Awake, my love." Two Songs. The words written by William Longman. 2s.

SALAMAN, CHARLES—"Summer Moths." Song. For Soprano or Tenor. The words written by William Heinemann. 2s.

——"My heart." Song. For Soprano or Tenor. The words written by Malcolm C. Salaman. 2s.

NOVELLO'S PUBLICATIONS in the TONIC SOL-FA NOTATION. Edited by W. G. McNaught.

No. 1012. Summer Chorus (Three parts). For Female Voices (with Accompaniment for Pianoforte, Castanet, Triangle, and Tambourine). Hamilton Clarke 1½d.
„ 1025. I will go unto the altar of God. For S.A.T.B. Cuthbert Harris 1½d.
„ 1027. I heard a great Voice. For S.A.T.B. Gerard F. Cobb. 1½d.
„ 1028. Weary of earth and laden with my sin. For S.A.T.B. .. .. .. Ferris Tozer 1½d.
Rhif 25. Llawenhewch yn yr Iôr ("Rejoice in the Lord") George J. Elvey 1c.

BARNBY, JOSEPH—The Ferial Responses, with Litany. 4d.

CONTENTS.

	Page
Joseph Joachim (with Portrait)	225
Some Present Aspects of Music.—II.	230
The Structure of Instrumental Music.—II.	232
Additional Instruments	234
Occasional Notes	236
Facts, Rumours, and Remarks	238
Two New Organ Appointments (with Portraits)	239
A "Pop" Rehearsal	241
Church and Organ Music	242
"The Ruins of Athens" and "The Gate of Life" (Royal Choral Society)	244
Philharmonic Society	244
Bach Choir	244
Ash Wednesday Concerts	245
Queen's Hall Symphony Concerts	245
Lamoureux Concerts	246
Crystal Palace Concerts	247
Monday and Saturday Popular Concerts	247
The Royal Carl Rosa Opera Company	247
"The Rose of Sharon," by the Finsbury Choral Society	248
Durham College of Science Choral Society, Newcastle-on-Tyne	248
"Elijah," at Mile End	248
Walenn Chamber Concerts	248
Amateur Orchestral Societies	248
Various Recitals	249
Royal Academy of Music	249
Royal College of Music	250
Trinity College (London) Concert	250
Guildhall School of Music	250
Gresham Lectures	255
Musical Association	256
Reviews	256
Music in Birmingham	257
„ Dublin	258
„ East Anglia	258
„ Edinburgh and Perth	258
„ Glasgow	259
„ Liverpool	260
„ Manchester	260
„ Northumberland and Durham	261
„ Nottingham	261
„ Oxford	262
„ Sheffield	262
„ Yorkshire	262
„ Paris	263
„ America	264
Ballet for Four Voices—"Come away, sweet love."—George Rathbone	251
Anthem for Whitsuntide or General Use—"Eye hath not seen." Myles B. Foster.—(Extra Supplement.)
General News (London)	265
Foreign Notes	267
Obituary	268
Correspondence	268
Brief Summary of Country News	269
Answers to Correspondents	270
List of Music published during the last Month	270

THE MUSICAL TIMES.

SCALE OF TERMS FOR ADVERTISEMENTS.

	£	s.	d.
Two Lines	0	3	0
Three Lines	0	3	4
For every additional Line	0	0	10
Half a Column	2	0	0
A Column	4	0	0
A Page	7	10	0

Special Pages (Cover, &c.) by arrangement.
A remittance should be sent with each Advertisement.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

To ensure insertion in proper position Advertisements for March should reach the Office NOT LATER THAN THE TWENTIETH of the Month.

MR. CHARLES MAGRATH

A.R.C.M. (BASS).
Address, 8, Adelphi Terrace, W.C.

CHOIRMASTER WANTED, 25 miles from London. Salary, £30. Address, S., Novello's, Queen St., E.C.

Digitized by Google

TWELVE SHORT PIECES

FOR

VIOLIN & PIANOFORTE

IN THREE SETS

COMPOSED BY

C. HUBERT H. PARRY.

First Set.

No. 1. IDYLL.
„ 2. ROMANCE.
„ 3. CAPRICCIO.
„ 4. LULLABY.

Second Set.

No. 1. PRELUDE.
„ 2. ROMANCE.
„ 3. CAPRICCIO.
„ 4. ENVOI.

Third Set.

No. 1. PREAMBLE.
„ 2. ROMANCE.
„ 3. CAPRICCIO.
„ 4. ENVOI.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence each Set.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

THE SCHOOL MUSIC REVIEW,

Published on the 1st of every Month. Price 1½d. Annual Subscription, including Postage, 2s.

THE SCHOOL MUSIC REVIEW for APRIL contains:—

General Notes.
Report on Music in Training Colleges in England and Wales.
Madresfield Competition Programme.
School Sight Singing Reader. In both Notations.
The London School Board—Voice Production and the Vocal Music Display.
Isle of Man Competitions.
A "Sing-up" League.
Eccentricities of Examiners.
Miscellaneous Items.

THE SCHOOL MUSIC REVIEW,

The APRIL Number contains the following music:—

"A Song of May" (Mailied). Unison Song. By Beethoven. (Op. 52, No. 4.)
"Evening." Trio for S.S.A. By Franz Abt.
Specimen Tests for Pupil Teachers and Schools.
Exercises in Change of Key.

Also, Extra Music Supplement, containing "Sleep, Baby dear." Junior Unison Song. By A. Scott Gatty. (No. 401, Novello's School Songs. Price 1d.)

The Music and Exercises can always be obtained separately. Price 1½d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER WANTED, immediately, for S. Croydon Wesleyan Church. Apply, by letter, with testimonials, to Mr. C. Von Berg, The Beeches, St. Augustine's Avenue, S. Croydon.

MR. C. H. MOODY, Organist and Choirmaster of Wigan Parish Church—formerly Acting-Organist and Master of the Choristers of Wells Cathedral—Conductor, Wigan Choral Society, &c., is prepared to take HOLIDAY DUTY in France, Belgium, or Switzerland. Highest references as to ability and personal bearing. July or August.

AN ORGANIST, CHOIRMASTER, and CONDUCTOR, of great experience, is open to a RE-ENGAGEMENT. Would give Recitals if required in aid of Church expenses. Advertiser raised very large sums by these in previous appointments. Excellent testimonials. Address, R.A.M., Deacon's Advertising Offices, Leadenhall Street, London.

CHURCH ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER desires APPOINTMENT in City or Suburbs. Communicant. Excellent testimonials. Please address, W. A., Novello, Ewer and Co.

FIRST-CLASS Pianoforte, American Organ, and Harmonium TUNER and REPAIRER seeks LONDON ENGAGEMENT. Thorough practical knowledge of all actions. London and Provincial experience, either out-doors or management of workshop. E. H., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners St., W.

LADY REQUIRES ENGAGEMENT in Music Business. Sight reader. Some experience. Would give time. Good references. Mona, Elliott Bros., Mill Lane, West Hampstead.

ORGAN for SALE. Now in St. Thomas's Church, Kendal. Two manuals and pedal. 23 speaking stops; 16-ft. on both manuals. Open and Bourdon on pedals. Apply, for particulars, to J. Smallwood Winder, Heathfield, Kendal.

ORGAN-HARMONIUM, in St. Botolph's Church, Aldgate, London, for SALE, cheap. 10 sets reeds (contre-basse, Bourdon, bassoon, cor Anglais, flute, clarinet, hautbois, flageolet, musette, voix celestes), joux doux, tremolo, expression, fortes. Grand tone. Address, Organist.

SIX ITALIAN SONGS

FOR A

MEZZO-SOPRANO VOICE.

1. Dolce Amor .. .. Cavalli.
2. Non dar più pene .. .. .. Alessandro Scarlatti.
3. Fier Destin .. .. Gasparini.
4. L' immago tua vezzosa .. .. Astorga.
5. Danza fanciulla .. .. Durante.
6. La Pastorella .. .. Galuppi.

ARRANGED, THE ENGLISH WORDS WRITTEN AND ADAPTED BY

J. STAINER.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence net.

TWO ITALIAN SONGS

(FROM THE ABOVE)

FOR A

MEZZO-SOPRANO VOICE

WITH ACCOMPANIMENT FOR PIANOFORTE AND VIOLIN OBBLIGATO

1. Non dar più pene .. .. .. Alessandro Scarlatti.
2. Fier Destin .. .. Gasparini.

ARRANGED, THE ENGLISH WORDS WRITTEN AND ADAPTED BY

J. STAINER.

Price Two Shillings net.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

JUST PUBLISHED.

ORIGINAL HYMN TUNES

BY

JOSEPH BARNBY.

246 Tunes, complete, in one Vol., 188 pp., Demy 8vo, Cloth.

Price Three Shillings and Sixpence.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

HARMONIUM (large).—7 complete rows of reeds, 20 stops, all latest improvements, including pneumatic fortes, double touch, double piano, knee-swells, percussion action, &c., same as on Mustel Organ, FOR SALE. Manufactured for owner by G. L. Bauer. In perfect condition as new. Maker's list price, 115 guineas. Price 50 guineas cash. Apply, A. J. Cotton, 38, Gough Road, Birmingham.

FOR SALE.—PIANO and MUSIC BUSINESS, established fifty years. Rising town in Midlands. Large tuning connection, shop, and dwelling-house, situate in best part of principal street. No opposition. Price, inclusive, about £900. Full particulars on application. Apply, Carmen, Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

PIANO, ORGAN, and GENERAL MUSIC WAREHOUSE BUSINESS, with Large Tuning and Repairing Connection, for SALE, in the West of England. Thorough going concern—same hands for nearly 14 years. About £2,000 to take over. Premises on lease. Apply, A. B. S., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, W.

LONDON, S.W., in rising Suburb.—TO BE SOLD, as a going concern, through owner's ill-health, a genuine PIANOFORTE, MUSIC, and CYCLE BUSINESS. The Premises, which are of commanding appearance, are situate on main road in good business thoroughfare on line of trams and near stations, comprise spacious shop (well fitted), three reception rooms, five bedrooms, bathroom (h. and c.), kitchen, scullery, and usual domestic offices. Large workshop for cycle manufacturing, fitted with first-class machinery, held on lease of twenty-one years (of which eighteen years are unexpired) at an annual rental of £100. There is a great demand for the cycle business. Takings average £20 per week. Stock at valuation. Price for lease, goodwill, fixtures, and fittings, £800. For further particulars, apply to Mr. Philip Stock, Auctioneer and Valuer, 349, Cold Harbour Lane, Brixton, S.W.

WANTED, to buy, MUSIC of any description, in large or small quantities, for cash. Williamson, 441, Manchester Road, Bradford, Yorkshire.

MUSICSELLERS (Home and Abroad), write for prospectus and particulars of our SOLE AGENCY for your district. Harmonic Publishing Company, Wandsworth, London.

Auction Rooms specially for the Sale of Musical Property.

MESSRS. PUTTICK and SIMPSON, Auctioneers, 7, Leicester Square, London, W.C., hold SPECIAL SALES of MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS on or about the 20th of every month. Sales of Musical Libraries, Music Plates, and Copyrights, Trade Stocks, Manufacturers' Plant, &c., are held as occasion may require. Valuations for Probate or Legacy Duty, or for Public or Private Sale. Terms on application.

THE OLD FIRM.

P. CONACHER & CO.,

Organ Builders,

SPRINGWOOD WORKS,

HUDDERSFIELD.

TWO GOLD MEDALS.

NICHOLSON AND CO.,

ORGAN BUILDERS,

PALACE YARD, WORCESTER.

(ESTABLISHED 1841.)

Specifications and Estimates sent free.

THE

"HARDCASTLE"

Pianoforte Touch Regulator.

FOR ADJUSTING THE TOUCH TO INDIVIDUAL REQUIREMENTS.

INVALUABLE FOR TEACHERS AND STUDENTS.

IT IS SIMPLE IN MECHANISM, AND IN NO WAY ALTERS THE APPEARANCE OF THE PIANO.

Testimonial.

"Having had an opportunity of testing the merits of Mr. Hardcastle's Touch Regulator, I think it a very useful invention, certainly fulfilling all that its inventor claims.—Max Blume.

"Harrogate, November 11, 1897."

For terms apply to The Hardcastle Touch Regulator, 11, Duke Street, Manchester Square, London, W.

By Royal Appointment.

NORMAN & BEARD,

ORGAN BUILDERS,

NORWICH AND LONDON

(Established 1870),

Have recently restored the following Organs:—

BOMBAY CATHEDRAL;

ST. PAUL'S, PADDINGTON;

THE TEMPLE CHURCH, LONDON;

ALL SAINTS', MARGARET STREET, LONDON.

N.B.—Estimates for New Organs or Reconstructions free.

Testimonial from Dr. PEACE, of Liverpool:—

"January 24, 1897.

"I have much pleasure in expressing my high opinion of the Organ you have erected in Trinity Presbyterian Church, Birkenhead. As regards its general quality of tone, the instrument possesses those characteristics which are always associated with high-class workmanship, whilst the mechanical part of it is everything that the most exacting could wish.

"So far as my experience with your work goes, I think it is decidedly one of the best instruments you have built, and I think the congregation has every reason to be congratulated on the possession of a really excellent specimen of genuine artistic Organ-building.

"Yours very truly,

"A. L. PEACE."

Address:

NORMAN & BEARD,

24, QUEEN VICTORIA STREET, LONDON, E.C.

Telephone, 416, Bank.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

THE NEW ORGAN SEAT

(By Royal Letters Patent)

INVALUABLE TO ALL ORGAN PLAYERS.

The most important Invention of modern times.

USED AND RECOMMENDED BY LEADING ORGANISTS.

A Book of Testimonials will shortly be published.)

May be affixed to existing Seats without any alteration or expense.

Price 25s. each. Carriage paid.

To be obtained, Wholesale and Retail, from

THE ARCADE MUSIC COMPANY, READING;

or, direct from the patentee,

MR. JOSEPH MEES, STOURBRIDGE.

"ORGAN PRACTICE IN EXCELSIS."

THE "LIEBLICH" PEDAL REED ORGAN is absolutely indispensable for obtaining good manual and pedal execution "at home." Low price. Wonderful value. Ed. Snell and Co., 54, Essex Road, Islington, N.

HANDEL, Bach, Guilmant, Wély, &c., can all be properly rendered on the "LIEBLICH" and "COLLEGE" Pedal Reed ORGANS. The only perfect instruments for home practice. Ed. Snell and Co., Makers, 54, Essex Road, Islington, N.

Now Ready. Price 3s. 6d.

DRAMATIC AND MUSICAL LAW: Being a Digest of the Law relating to Theatres and Music Halls, and containing Chapters on Theatrical Contracts, Theatrical Music and Dancing, and Excise Licenses, Dramatic and Musical Copyright, &c. With an Appendix containing the Acts of Parliament relating thereto and the Regulations of the London County Council and Lord Chamberlain. By A. A. Strong, LL.B. (London), Solicitor. Issued at The Era Publishing Offices, 49, Wellington Street, Strand, W.C. Telephone, 2,634.

Now Ready. On the 1st of each Month. 228 Cols. 2d.; Post-free, 3½d.

MUSICAL OPINION and MUSIC TRADE REVIEW. 150, Holborn Bars, E.C.

Digitized by Google

TO TEACHERS.

EASTER HOLIDAY SESSION.

THE NORMAL
OR TEACHERS' COURSE
OF THE
VIRGIL PIANO SCHOOL
AND
SCHOOL OF PUBLIC PERFORMANCE

A TWO WEEKS' COURSE IN
TECHNIC AND METHOD OF PIANOFORTE INSTRUCTION
FOR TEACHERS AND PLAYERS.

Term begins Tuesday Morning, April 12, 1898; closes Saturday Evening, April 23.

. The previous Sessions of the above course have been eminently successful, over 150 Pianoforte Teachers having attended.
See statement by members of the musical profession who were in attendance.

A. K. VIRGIL,

Principal, Specialist in Pianoforte Technic,
Assisted by Competent Teachers trained in the Special Methods employed.

ALBERT BATE, Secretary (and Assistant Instructor).
Send for Circular containing full particulars.

The Pupils of the VIRGIL PIANO SCHOOL will give Six Pianoforte Recitals during the Course.

CLAVIER HALL,

12, PRINCES STREET, HANOVER SQUARE, LONDON, W.
The Virgil Practice Clavier (British) Co., Ltd.

A NEW AND IMPORTANT BOOK FOR ALL CHURCHES.

Ready April 20.

THE "BRISTOL" CHANT, ANTHEM, & SERVICE BOOK

(In connection with the Bristol Tune Book).

1. The CHANT SECTION contains:
PSALMS (Prayer Book and Bible version), Pointed for Chanting and set to many new and specially written Chants. CHANTS with Varied Accompaniments for Special Psalms.

2. The SERVICE SECTION contains:
The RESPONSES, &c. All Canticles for Morning and Evening Prayer, both in Chant and Service Form, in graded difficulty to suit all choirs.

3. The ANTHEM SECTION contains:
About 120 Special and Prize ANTHEMS and INTROITS, chiefly new and original compositions.
Special Feature—HYMN ANTHEMS for Congregations.

Music from the following Composers will appear in the work: Sir Frederick Bridge, Sir Arthur Sullivan, Sir Herbert Oakeley, LL.D., D.C.L., Sir Joseph Barnby (the late), Dr. Chas. Steggall, Dr Ebenezer Prout, Dr. Chas. H. Lloyd, M.A., Dr. Chas. W. Pearce, Dr. Longhurst, Dr. Orlando Mansfield, Dr. Ferris Tozer, Samuel Reay, Esq., W. Clark Ainley, Esq., Mus. Bac., Rev. L. J. T. Darwall, M.A., Percy Jackman, Esq., Cuthbert Harris, Esq., Mus. Bac., Elliott Button, Esq., A. Ernest Nichol, Esq., Mus. Bac., F. C. Maker, Esq., and many others.

Publisher and Proprietor—
W. CROFTON HEMMONS, Bristol,
Of whom all information can be obtained.

Each Section will be published separately and also combined with other sections.

A SHORT POSTLUDE in B flat for Organ. By John E. Campbell. Price 1s., Post-free, from J. E. C., 22, Vicarage Street, Hollinwood, Oldham.

NEW WHITSUNTIDE MUSIC, &c.
By CALEB SIMPER.

*THE LORD IS IN HIS HOLY TEMPLE .. .. .. 3d.
Every Choirmaster should see this very effective and pleasing Anthem.
*EASY COMMUNION SERVICE IN D. Complete .. .. 4d.
*IN MY FATHER'S HOUSE. 4th 1,000 .. .. 3d.
New Anthem. Extremely expressive and appropriate.
"Quite a little gem."
*They shall mount up. 15th 1,000 .. .. 4d.
"Just the kind of music Choirs revel in."
*Let God arise. 8th 1,000 .. .. 3d.
*Trust in Him always. 7th 1,000 .. .. 4d.
*His Name is excellent. 7th 1,000 .. .. 3d.
*O send out Thy light. 5th 1,000 .. .. 3d.
The Day of Pentecost. 16th 1,000 .. .. 3d.
If ye love Me. 13th 1,000 .. .. 3d.
Let not your heart be troubled. 17th edition .. .. .. 3d.

FLOWER SERVICES AND ANNIVERSARIES.

No. 1. { Flower Service. Six Pieces .. .. 2d.
Words only, 3s. 6d. per 100. 35th 1,000.
No. 2. { *Anniversary Selection. Seven Pieces .. .. 2d.
Words only, 3s. 6d. per 100. 29th 1,000.
No. 3. { New Flower Service. Six Pieces .. .. .. 2d.
Words only, 3s. 6d. per 100. 11th 1,000.
No. 4. { *Anniversary Selection. Six Pieces and Anthem.. 2d.
Words only, 3s. 6d. per 100. New. 15th 1,000.

*Break forth into joy. Anthem. 18th 1,000 .. .. 4d.
Selected for Choral Festival in St. Asaph's Cathedral.
Make a joyful noise. 32nd 1,000 .. .. 3d.
*I will feed My flock. 44th 1,000.. .. .. 4d.
O how amiable. 6th 1,000 .. .. 3d.
Give glory to the Lord. 22nd edition.. .. .. 3d.
*New Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D. 14th edition .. 4d.
Partly in unison. Already a great favourite.
Selected for Festival of North Connor Church Choral Union.
Those marked (*) are also published in Tonic Sol-fa.

THE ROLLING SEASONS
A New Sacred Cantata. By Caleb Simper.

Price 1s. 6d. net. Tonic Sol-fa, 1s. net.
Orchestral parts are published.
The work occupies about thirty-five minutes in performance.
From the Alderney Gazette: "We strongly advise all organists and choirmasters to get it, for a more tuneful, melodious, and effective composition we have seldom heard. The whole of the Cantata was a treat to hear."
From the Belfast News Letter: "An attractive and splendid little work; abounds in exquisite passages—exceedingly bright and tuneful. The Symphony is a most charming number, the brass, the reeds, and strings in turn contributing to make quite a pretty tone-picture. The work was followed with great interest by the large audience, which frequently testified its approval with enthusiastic applause."

A NEW BOOK OF VOLUNTARIES.

Price 1s. 6d. net.
Contains Seventeen useful, easy, and effective Pieces, written on two staves, with pedal part indicated.
Sent Post-free for P.O. or stamps, 1s. 6d.

London: Weekes & Co., 14, Hanover Street, Regent Street, W.
Chicago, U.S.A.: Clayton F. Summy Co., 220, Wabash Avenue.

Very effective, and not difficult.

EDWYN A. CLARE'S
WHITSUNTIDE ANTHEMS.

When the Day of Pentecost. 6th 1,000.. .. .. .. 3d.
The Lord reigneth. 5th 1,000 (Tonic Sol-fa, 2d.) .. .. 3d.
Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem. 18th 1,000 .. .. .. 3d.
Sung by 400 voices at Doncaster.
Popular Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in D. 9th 1,000 .. 4d.
Full of vigour and flowing melody.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

COMPOSITIONS
BY
B. JACKSON, F.R.C.O.,
Organist of the People's Palace, London.

ORGAN MUSIC.

	s.	d.
1. (a) Berceuse; (b) Abendlied (3rd Edition) .. .. net	2	0
2. VARIATIONS ON A WELL-KNOWN HYMN TUNE (3rd Edition) .. .. net	2	0
(The tune "St. Theodulph," usually sung to the hymn for PALM SUNDAY, "All glory, laud, and honour.")
3. Marche Joyeuse (2nd Edition) .. .. net	2	0
4. MEDITATION (2nd Edition .. .. ,,	2	0
(Extensively played at Organ Recitals, &c.)

Published by
Charles Vincent, 9, Berners Street, London, W.

Digitized by Google

CHURCH MUSIC

BY

EDWARD BUNNETT, Mus.D., Cantab.

SERVICES.

Two Settings of the Venite (in Chant Form). No. 1 (in G), No. 2 (in A)	2d.
Te Deum in E	3d.
Benedictus and Jubilate in E	3d.
Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E	3d.
Cantate and Deus in E	3d.
Communion Service	9d.
Preces and Responses	4d.
Tonic Sol-fa.
Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in F	1½d.
" " " A	1½d.
" " " E	1½d.

ANTHEMS.

If we believe. Easter Anthem	4d.
Ditto. Tonic Sol-fa	1½d.
The Lord is my Shepherd	3d.
I was glad	3d.
Ditto. Tonic Sol-fa	2d.

FOUR PASTORAL PART-SONGS.

1. O'er silv'ry waters. Four voices	3d.
2. Day is dawning. Four voices	3d.
3. Sing on, sweet bird. Four voices	3d.
4. Lo! Autumn leaves	3d.

ORGAN.

Twelve Short Easy Pieces	net 2s. od.
Three Short Andantes	" 2s. od.
Largo in E flat	" 1s. od.
Minuetto	" 1s. 6d.
Ave Maria	" 1s. 6d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

CHURCH MUSIC by Sir Herbert Oakeley.

SIX ANTHEMS (Op. 14). Nos. 2 and 4 just re-published, with addition of Latin text.
WHO IS THIS THAT COMETH FROM EDOM? (Op. 26)—For Palm Sunday—which has been sung at Canterbury, York, St. Paul's, Winchester, Durham, Exeter, Bristol, Wells, Lichfield, Norwich, and Edinburgh Cathedrals, and at Westminster Abbey, &c.
THE GLORY OF LEBANON (Op. 32). For Consecration, or re-opening of a Church.
SEEK HIM THAT MAKETH THE SEVEN STARS AND ORION (Op. 34).
MORNING, COMMUNION, and EVENING SERVICE in E flat (Op. 9).

London: Schott and Co., Regent Street; or, apply to the Composer, Dover.

Price 3s. 6d., cloth, red edges.

THE TUNE BOOK, with the additional Tunes as used at ST. ALBAN'S, HOLBORN, containing nearly 270 Tunes, for Long, Common, Short, and Peculiar Metres; together with several Gregorian Hymns and Antiphons; the Eight Gregorian Tones; the Music of the Reproaches; the Seven Last Words; and Litany Tunes, &c. London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Third Thousand.

TE DEUM LAUDAMUS in G. By Alfred J. Dye. Price 4d.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Fourth Thousand.

MAGNIFICAT and NUNC DIMITTIS in E flat. By William S. Vinning, Mus. Bac., Cantab. Price 3d.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

GILL'S EASY VOLUNTARIES.—"Messiah," "Judas," "Elijah," "St. Paul," "Creation." 1s. each book.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

NEW TUNES (7) for SCHOOL FESTIVALS, by Caleb Simper, Cuthbert Harris, R. H. Wilson, &c. Music, 7s. per 100. Words, 2s per 100. Special title-page for quantities. Send stamp for sample to Sunday School Union, 1, Piccadilly, Manchester.

THE LITANY

SET TO MUSIC BY

HENRY HUDSON, A.R.C.M., L.R.A.M., &c.

Price Threepence. Exceedingly effective.

To be had from Mr. T. Williams, 32, Great Portland Street, W.; or, from the Composer, at special terms, 36, Alexandra Road, Southport. A specimen copy sent on application.

BENEDICTUS and AGNUS DEI (intended to complete Aldrich in G). By A. T. Froggatt, Mus.D., T.C.L. Price Twopence.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

POPULAR FESTIVAL ANTHEMS

BY

E. A. SYDENHAM.

THE LORD IS MY LIGHT	(Tonic Sol-fa, 1½d.)	3d.
GREAT IS THE LORD	(Ditto, 1½d.)	3d.
O GIVE THANKS	(Ditto, 1½d.)	3d.
SING UNTO THE LORD	(Ditto, 1½d.)	3d.

The above Anthems are especially suitable for Church Festivals.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

EASTER EVE

A Sacred Song

WITH VIOLIN AND ORGAN OBBLIGATO

Words by Catharine Armstrong

MUSIC BY

CHARLES GOUNOD.

Two Shillings net.

Keys, G, A (compass, C to E), B flat, and C.

London: Paterson and Sons, 26, Castle Street, Berners Street, W.

FOR LENT.

TWO SETTINGS of the BENEDICITE, OMNIA OPERA. One in Key of E and one in Key of F. Price Twopence each.

Also, the STORY OF THE CROSS. Price Twopence.

By E. BUNNETT, Mus.D.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

NEW ORGAN MUSIC.

A SERIES of ORGAN PIECES, by W. Wolstenholme, Mus. Bac., Oxon.

No. 1. Scherzo in F	1s. 6d.
" 2. Prelude in A flat and Allegretto in F	1s. 6d.

Other numbers will be published shortly.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

ANTHEMS and SERVICES.—SECOND-HAND COPIES REQUIRED of good standard ANTHEMS and SERVICES. Single copies or any number bought if in good condition. F. B. C., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners St., W.

CASSOCKS, BLACK and COLOURED, tailor-made Surplices, Stoles, Altar Linen, Bags. Priest's wife has large stock ready. Cassocks and Surplices cut and placed for making. Apply, letter only, Surplice, 6, Southampton Street, Strand, W.C.

F. WEBER'S PIANIST'S PRACTICAL GUIDE TO HARMONY. Fourth Edition. Price 4s.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

TO COMPOSERS. Telephone: No. 1067, Holborn. Telegrams: "Warwickite," London.

THE WARWICK PRESS, Limited,

6, Warwick Mansions, Warwick Court, Holborn, London, W.C.
Works: Walworth, S.E.

Music Printers, Music Publishers (Wholesale). We invite correspondence from Composers with view to publication of their works. Composers' MSS. revised and prepared for Press. Low prices for Printing.

Just Published. 8vo. 3d.

THREE MERRY FISHERS

Humorous Part-Song for S.A.T.B.

BY

W. W. PEARSON,

Composer of "Three Doughtie Men."

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

WILLIAM J. YOUNG'S

POPULAR PART-SONGS for S.A.T.B.

Gaily thro' the greenwood	56th thousand	2d.
Ditto, Duet for Sopranos	2nd "	2d.
A Happy New Year	5th "	3d.
Songs of praise the angels sang	8th "	3d.
Fairy Revels, 13th thousand; England's Glory	8th " each	3d.
Anglia! land of the brave	2nd "	3d.
Blow, ye balmy breezes, blow	10th "	3d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.
Composer, 51, Barton Arcade, Manchester.

HUMOROUS PART-SONG FOR S.A.T.B.

TOM, THE PIPER'S SON. By A. Ben Ali
Composer of "Dickory, dickory, dock." Price 3d.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

NEW EASTER ANTHEMS.

Just Published.

WHEN THE SABBATH WAS PAST

COMPOSED BY

MYLES B. FOSTER.

Price Three-Halfpence; Tonic Sol-fa, Three-Halfpence.

I HEARD A GREAT VOICE

COMPOSED BY

GERARD F. COBB.

Price Threepence; Tonic Sol-fa, Three-Halfpence.

ALLELUIA! NOW IS CHRIST RISEN

COMPOSED BY

THOMAS ADAMS.

Price Threepence; Tonic Sol-fa, Three-Halfpence.

I WILL GO UNTO THE ALTAR OF GOD

COMPOSED BY

CUTHBERT HARRIS.

Price Threepence; Tonic Sol-fa, Three-Halfpence.

Above all praise and all majesty	Mendelssohn	1½d.
*Alleluia! now is Christ risen	T. Adams	3d.
*All men, all things	Mendelssohn	4d.
As Christ was raised	G. A. Macfarren	2d.
*As it began to dawn	M. B. Foster	1½d.
As it began to dawn	C. Vincent	3d.
*As Moses lifted up the serpent	F. Gostelow	3d.
As we have borne	J. Barnby	1½d.
At the Lamb's high feast	E. V. Hall	3d.
At the Sepulchre	H. W. Wareing	4d.
*Awake, thou that sleepest	J. Stainer	6d.
*Awake up, my glory	J. Barnby	1½d.
Awake up, my glory	B. Haynes	1½d.
Awake up, my glory	M. Wise	3d.
Be glad, O ye righteous	H. Smart	4d.
*Behold, the Angel of the Lord	B. Tours	1½d.
*Behold the Lamb—All glory to the Lamb	Spohr	1½d.
*Blessed be the God and Father	S. S. Wesley	4d.
Blessed be Thou	Kent	4d.
Blessing and glory	Boyce	1½d.
*Blessing, glory	B. Tours	4d.
Break forth into joy	J. Barnby	1½d.
*Break forth into joy	S. Coleridge-Taylor	3d.
*Break forth into joy	T. R. Prentice	6d.
*Break forth into joy	B. Steane	3d.
*Christ being raised from the dead	G. J. Elvey	1½d.
Christ being raised from the dead	S. Webbe	1½d.
Christ both died and rose	E. W. Naylor	3d.
Christ is risen	G. B. J. Aitken	3d.
Christ is risen	J. M. Crament	3d.
Christ is risen	G. J. Elvey	1½d.
*Christ is risen	E. H. Thorne	1½d.
*Christ is risen	J. V. Roberts	3d.
*Christ our Passover	J. Goss	1½d.
Christ our Passover	E. V. Hall	3d.
Christ our Passover	G. A. Macfarren	2d.
*Christ our Passover	B. Tours	1½d.
*Christ the Lord is risen to-day	E. V. Hall	3d.
Come, ye faithful	E. V. Hall	3d.
For it became Him	O. King	1½d.
For us the Christ	Ch. Gounod	3d.
*From Thy love as a Father	Ch. Gounod	1½d.
Give thanks unto God	Spohr	4d.
God hath appointed a day	B. Tours	1½d.
God, Who is rich in mercy	G. M. Garrett	1½d.
*Hallelujah!	Handel	2d.
Hallelujah! Christ is risen	B. Steane	3d.
*Hearken unto Me	M. B. Foster	1½d.
*He is risen	H. Gadsby	1½d.
I declare to you the Gospel	W. A. C. Cruickshank	4d.
*If we believe that Jesus died	J. Goss	1½d.
If we believe that Jesus died	G. A. Macfarren	2d.
If ye then be risen	J. Naylor	3d.
*I heard a great voice	G. F. Cobb	3d.
I will alway give thanks	J. B. Calkin	1½d.
*I will alway give thanks	J. Clarke-Whitfeld	3d.
*I will go unto the Altar of God	C. Harris	3d.
I will greatly rejoice	W. A. C. Cruickshank	4d.
*I will magnify Thee	J. B. Calkin	4d.
I will magnify Thee	B. L. Selby	1½d.
*I will mention	A. Sullivan	6d.
I will sing of Thy power	M. Greene	4d.
*I will sing of Thy power	A. Sullivan	1½d.
Jesus Christ is risen to-day	O. King	4d.
Let God arise	M. Greene	6d.
Lord, before Thy footstool bending	Spohr	3d.
Lord Christ! when Thou hadst overcome	Haydn	1½d.
*Lord, Thy arm hath been uplifted	Spohr	2d.
*Lo, the winter is past	B. Farebrother	3d.
Lo, the winter is past	H. Gadsby	3d.
Magnify His Name	G. C. Martin	4d.
My beloved spake	H. Purcell	6d.
My heart was glad	A. Carnall	4d.
Not unto us, O Lord	H. Gadsby	6d.
*Not unto us, O Lord	T. A. Walmisley	1½d.
*Now is Christ risen	G. B. Allen	1½d.
*Now is Christ risen	J. E. West	1½d.
*Now on the first day of the week	H. Lahee	1½d.
O clap your hands	M. Greene	4d.
*O clap your hands	J. Stainer	6d.
O clap your hands	E. H. Thorne	6d.
O clap your hands	T. T. Trimnell	3d.
*O come, let us sing	M. B. Foster	3d.
*O give thanks	J. Goss	3d.
O give thanks	S. S. Wesley	4d.
*On the first day of the week	E. M. Lott	1½d.
Open to me the gates	F. Adlam	4d.
*Praise His awful Name	Spohr	2d.
Praise Jehovah	Mendelssohn	4d.
*Rejoice in the Lord	J. B. Calkin	3d.
*Rejoice in the Lord	G. J. Elvey	1½d.
Rejoice in the Lord	G. C. Martin	6d.
Rejoice, O ye people	Mendelssohn	1½d.
*Sing praises unto the Lord	W. A. C. Cruickshank	1½d.
*Sing praises unto the Lord	Ch. Gounod	6d.
Sing to the Lord	Mendelssohn	8d.
Thanks be to God	J. W. Gritton	3d.
The Day of Resurrection	E. V. Hall	3d.
*The end of the Sabbath	A. Carnall	1½d.
*The first day of the week	B. Steane	3d.
The Lord hath brought us	E. H. Thorne	3d.
*The Lord hath done great things	H. Smart	4d.
*The Lord is King	J. Pittman	1½d.
*The Lord is King	T. T. Trimnell	4d.
The Lord is my strength	S. Coleridge-Taylor	3d.
*The Lord is my strength	W. H. Monk	1½d.
*The Lord is my strength	V. Novello	1½d.
*The Lord is my strength	H. Smart	1½d.
*The Lord is risen	G. M. Garrett	4d.
*The strain upraise	A. Sullivan	1½d.
*The strife is o'er	B. Steane	1½d.
*They have taken away my Lord	J. Stainer	1½d.
This is the day	S. C. Cooke	3d.
This is the day	E. V. Hall	4d.
This is the day	G. A. Macfarren	2d.
This is the day	A. W. Marchant	3d.
*This is the day	J. Sewell	2d.
This is the day	J. Turle	3d.
When Christ, Who is our life, shall appear	J. V. Roberts	2d.
When my soul fainted within me	J. F. Bridge	1½d.
*When the Sabbath was past	M. B. Foster	1½d.
*Who is like unto Thee?	A. Sullivan	6d.
*Why rage fiercely the heathen?	Mendelssohn	6d.
Why seek ye the living?	A. Alexander	3d.
Why seek ye the living? (Two-part)	M. B. Foster	3d.
Why seek ye the living?	E. J. Hopkins	1½d.
Why seek ye the living?	F. Peel	4d.
Worthy the Lamb—Hallelujah!	Crotch	3d.
*Worthy is the Lamb	J. F. Barnett	1½d.
*Worthy is the Lamb	Handel	2d.

*Anthems marked thus * to be had in Tonic Sol-fa, 1d., 1½d., and 2d. each.*

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Digitized by Google

HYMNS FOR EASTER.

J. BARNBY. Christ the Lord is risen to-day .. .. 1½d.
W. T. BEST. Jesus Christ is risen .. .. 3d.
Dr. IONS. Jesus Christ is risen to-day .. .. .. 1½d.
J. B. CALKIN. Light's glitt'ring morn bedecks .. .. 1½d.
V. NOVELLO. Jesus Christ is risen to-day .. .. .. 1½d.

Nine Hymns with Tunes from "THE HYMNARY" .. 1d.

Christ the Lord is risen to-day .. .. .. G. J. Elvey.
Far be sorrow, tears, and sighing .. .. C. Steggall.
Welcome, happy morning! age to age shall say A. Sullivan.
Come, ye faithful, raise the strain .. .. A. Sullivan.
At the Lamb's high feast we sing .. .. German.
The day of Resurrection .. .. H. Smart.
Jesus Christ is risen to-day .. .. Ch. Gounod.
O Blessed Trinity .. .. Old Melody.
Soon the fiery sun ascending .. .. .. German.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

CAROLS FOR EASTER.

Rev. T. HELMORE. Carols for Easter-tide. Words, 1½d.; Melody, 6d. .. .. Vocal score 1s.

J. T. FIELD. Four Easter Carols .. .. 2d.
The Crown is on the Victor's brow.
Christ is risen!
Welcome, happy morning.
Easter flowers are blooming bright.

E. G. MONK. Sing the battle sharp and glorious. Carol 1½d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

EASTER HYMN
(MANE PRIMA SABBATI)
SET TO MUSIC FOR
SOPRANO AND TENOR SOLI, CHORUS, AND ORCHESTRA (OR ORGAN)
BY
GEORGE J. BENNETT.
Composed for the Festival of the Sons of the Clergy, St. Paul's Cathedral, 1895.

Price One Shilling.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

COMMUNION SERVICE
TROISIÈME MESSE SOLENNELLE
(DE PÂQUES)
COMPOSED BY
CHARLES GOUNOD.

THE ENGLISH ADAPTATION BY
F. A. W. DOCKER.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence.
Full Score, 40s.; Orchestral Parts, 31s.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

RIDE ON! RIDE ON IN MAJESTY
HYMN FOR PASSION SUNDAY
Words by the Very Rev. Dean Milman
SET TO MUSIC BY ARTHUR HENRY BROWN.

Price Three-Halfpence.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Now ready. F'cap. 8vo. Cloth, 2s. 6d. Post-free.
THE RIGHTLY-PRODUCED VOICE. By E. DAVIDSON PALMER, Mus. Bac., Oxon. A theory based on facts.—Falsetto; its true nature and how it may be transformed.—The fundamental error in the training of men's voices.—Unique experiments and startling results.—The chest register in women's and boys' voices.—Decay of voice in singers; its unsuspected cause.—The old Italian method and the training of tenors. May be obtained from the Author, 2, Highwood Road, Upper Holloway, N.; or from Joseph Williams, 32, Great Portland Street, W.

New Anthems for Whitsuntide.

In the Press.

SPIRIT OF MERCY AND TRUTH
COMPOSED BY
B. LUARD SELBY.
Price Three-Halfpence

THE GLORY OF THE GOD OF ISRAEL
COMPOSED BY
THOMAS ADAMS.
Price Threepence.

Just Published.
EYE HATH NOT SEEN
(Four-part Setting)
COMPOSED BY
MYLES B. FOSTER.
Price Threepence; Tonic Sol-fa, 1½d.

Recently Published.
I WILL NOT LEAVE YOU COMFORTLESS
COMPOSED BY
BRUCE STEANE.
Price Twopence. Tonic Sol-fa, 1d.

IF I GO NOT AWAY
COMPOSED BY
THOMAS ADAMS.
Price Three-Halfpence; Tonic Sol-fa, Three-Halfpence.

IF YE LOVE ME
COMPOSED BY BRUCE STEANE.
Price Twopence.

BEHOLD, I SEND THE PROMISE OF MY FATHER
COMPOSED BY
J. VARLEY ROBERTS.
Price Fourpence.

LET NOT YOUR HEART BE TROUBLED
For Double Chorus (Unaccompanied)
COMPOSED BY
MYLES B. FOSTER.
Price Threepence.
Four-part Arrangement (with Organ Accompaniment), Threepence.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

New Anthems for Trinitytide.

LIGHT OF THE WORLD
Final Chorus from "The Light of Life"
COMPOSED BY EDWARD ELGAR.
Price Threepence.

O JOYFUL LIGHT
COMPOSED BY BERTHOLD TOURS.
Price Fourpence.

I AM ALPHA AND OMEGA
COMPOSED BY
J. VARLEY ROBERTS.
Price Threepence.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

Just Published.

THE

CATHEDRAL
Prayer Book and Psalter

(WITH WELSH WORDS).

No. 5. The Psalter, with Canticles and Proper Psalms, set to appropriate Chants, with Morning and Evening Prayer, &c.

DEMY 8vo, CLOTH, 2s. 6d.

Tonic Sol-fa Edition, in the Press.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Now Ready.

THE

WESTMINSTER ABBEY HYMN-BOOK

Compiled under the authority of the Dean of Westminster,

BY THE

REV. JOHN TROUTBECK, D.D.

Priest in Ordinary to the Queen, and Precentor of Westminster.

WITH TUNES

Compiled and arranged under the musical editorship of

FREDERICK BRIDGE,

MUS. DOC.,

Organist and Master of the Choristers of Westminster Abbey, Gresham Professor of Music.

Containing all the best known and most popular tunes, in addition to upwards of

ONE HUNDRED NEW TUNES

now published for the first time, many having been written expressly for the work by Barnby, Bridge, Cowen, Myles B. Foster, Garrett, Gounod, Mackenzie, Martin, Maunder, W. H. Monk, Parry, Stainer, Tours, West, and others.

Demy 8vo, cloth. Price Four Shillings.
Hymns only, Price One Shilling.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

THREE PIECES

FOR THE

PIANOFORTE

1. PRELUDE IN F MINOR.
2. ROMANCE IN A FLAT.
3. ÉTUDE IN F.

COMPOSED BY

A. ARENSKY.

(Op. 42.)

Price Two Shillings each.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

In the Press.

OLD MAY-DAY

CANTATA FOR FEMALE VOICES

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

SHAPCOTT WENSLEY

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

F. CUNNINGHAM WOODS.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

SUITE

FOR

VIOLIN AND PIANOFORTE

1. VALSE.
2. SOUVENIR.
3. GIPSY DANCE.

COMPOSED BY

EDWARD GERMAN.

Price Three Shillings.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

VICTORIA

PRIZE MADRIGAL*

FOR FIVE VOICES, S.S.A.T.B.

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

ALFRED AUSTIN, Esq. (Poet Laureate)

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

PHILIP ARMES.

Price Fourpence.

* First, or Molineux Prize, and the Madrigal Society's Medal in 1897.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

SIX EASY PIECES

FOR

VIOLIN AND PIANOFORTE

COMPOSED BY

MAX OESTEN.

(Op. 201.)

IN TWO BOOKS.

Book I.	Book II.
1. Morning Song.	4. Full moon in the mountains.
2. Siciliano.	5. Legend of the Rhine.
3. The Beggar Child.	6. Gavotte.

Price Two Shillings each Book.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Second Edition.

CURRENT METHODS OF TRAINING BOYS' VOICES

An Essay written for the Massachusetts Choir Guild

BY

G. EDWARD STUBBS, M.A.,

Organist and Choirmaster of St. Agnes' Chapel, Trinity Parish, N.Y.

Price One Shilling net.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

The 61st Anniversary of the Queen's Reign,
JUNE, 1898.

PATRIOTIC MUSIC.

THE BANNER OF ST. GEORGE
Choral Ballad
By EDWARD ELGAR.
Price 1s. 6d.; Tonic Sol-fa, 1s. Words only, 12s. 6d. per 100.
String Parts, 8s. 6d. Wind Parts (for Full or Small Orchestra) and Full Score, MS.

THE FLAG OF ENGLAND
For Soprano Solo, Chorus, and Orchestra
By J. FREDERICK BRIDGE.
Price 1s. 6d.; Tonic Sol-fa, 9d. Words only, 12s. 6d. per 100.
String Parts, 4s. 6d. Wind Parts and Full Score, MS.

VICTORIA; or, THE BARD'S PROPHECY
For Soli, Chorus, and Orchestra
By G. F. HUNTLEY.
Price 2s.; Tonic Sol-fa, 1s. Words only, 15s. per 100.
Orchestral Parts and Full Score, MS.

THE QUEEN'S SONG
By EATON FANING.
Price 4d.; Tonic Sol-fa, 2d. Words only, 3s. per 100.
String Parts, 2s. Wind Parts, 5s.
Military Band Arrangement, by Dan Godfrey, Jun., 7s. 6d.

VICTORIA—OUR QUEEN
By JOSEPH BARNBY.
Price 3d.; Tonic Sol-fa, 1½d. Words only, 3s. per 100.
String Parts, 1s. Wind Parts, 2s. 3d.

ALL HAIL THE GLORIOUS REIGN
By F. H. COWEN.
Price 4d.; Tonic Sol-fa, 2d. Words only, 3s. per 100.
String Parts, 2s. Wind Parts, 6s.

THE QUEEN! GOD BLESS HER
By MYLES B. FOSTER.
Price 1½d.; Tonic Sol-fa, 1d. Words only, 3s. per 100.
Male Voice Arrangement (A.T.B.B.), 3d.

		s.	d.
The Empire Flag. (Tonic Sol-fa, 1½d.)	A. C. Mackenzie	0	1½
England. (Tonic Sol-fa, 1d.)	J. L. Hatton	0	3
Ye Mariners of England. (Tonic Sol-fa, 1½d.)	H. H. Pierson	0	6
Chorus Parts, 6d.; Orchestral Parts, 5s. 6d.
Hurrah for merry England. Solo, with Chorus. (Tonic Sol-fa, 1d.)	H. H. Pierson	0	1½
Hurrah for merry England. S.A.T.B. (Tonic Sol-fa, 1½d.)	Francesco Berger	0	1½
Hurrah! Hurrah! for England ..	.. J. F. Bridge	0	2
Victoria	P. Armes	0	4

SCHOOL SONGS.

The Queen's Song. For S.S.A. (Sol-fa, 1½d.)	Eaton Faning	0	3
Victoria—our Queen. For S.A. (Sol-fa, 1d.)	Joseph Barnby	0	1
All hail the Glorious Reign. For S.S.A. (Sol-fa, 1½d.)	F. H. Cowen	0	3
The Queen! God bless her. For Solo and Three-part Chorus (S.S.A.)	Myles B. Foster	0	1½
England. For S.S.A. (Tonic Sol-fa, 1d.) ..	J. L. Hatton	0	2
Hurrah for merry England. For S.S.A. (Tonic Sol-fa, 1d.)	H. H. Pierson	0	2
*Sons of Britain. (Two-part Song.) ..	Thomas Facer	0	1½

UNISON SONGS.

The Union Jack. (Action Song)	A. R. Gaul	0	6
*Queen of the Sixty Years. A. M. Wakefield. With Two-part Chorus		0	1½
*Hurrah for England	W. W. Pearson	0	1
*Old England's Heroes..	Rev. W. J. Foxell	0	1½
*Neptune and Britannia	Rev. W. J. Foxell	0	1½

For other Patriotic School Songs, see Novello's Catalogue and Lists.

 The Pieces marked * are issued in Staff Notation and Tonic Sol-fa combined.*

IMPERIAL MARCH
By EDWARD ELGAR.
Pianoforte Arrangement, 2s. Organ Arrangement, 2s.
String Parts, 2s. Wind Parts, 7s. Military Band Arrangement, 9s.

VICTORIA—OUR QUEEN
March
Founded on themes from Barnby's popular National Song
By J. E. WEST.
Pianoforte Arrangement, 2s. Organ Arrangement, 2s.
String Parts, 2s. Wind Parts, 6s. Military Band Arrangement, 9s.

OUR QUEEN
Quick March
By H. M. HIGGS.
Pianoforte Arrangement, 2s.
String Parts for Full or Small Orchestra, 2s.
Wind Parts, 5s. 3d. Full Score, MS. Military Band Arrangement, 5s.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

TWENTY-FOUR
SONGS FOR LITTLE PEOPLE
THE WORDS WRITTEN BY
NORMAN GALE
THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY
GERARD F. COBB.
(Op. 35.)

IN TWO BOOKS.

Book I.	Book II.
A change wanted.	A Protest.
Bedfordshire.	A Thief.
Bessie.	Auntie Nell.
Carrying Angela.	Aunt Jan.
Late for Tea.	Cradle Song.
Off to the Sea.	Fairies in Faces.
Out early.	Lost Labour.
Silver Sammy.	Mustard and Cress.
The bad Boy.	Off to Africa.
The Violin.	The 'Logical Gardens.
Tim's Grace.	The Swan.
Tubbing.	The Walls of Jericho.

PREFACE.

The words of these Four-and-Twenty little Songs have been selected from Mr. Norman Gale's delightful volume of Children's Poems. A few modifications of the original text have been made in order to facilitate their musical rendering.

Though in the first instance, no doubt, the songs will be mainly sung to children rather than by them, the Composer's aim has been to observe such conditions in his settings as to make it easy for children to join in singing them themselves. With this object he has endeavoured to furnish simple, rhythmical melodies of a suitable compass, and it will be found that in the case of sixteen out of the twenty-four songs the vocal range is confined to the octave, whilst in only three instances does it exceed nine notes.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence each.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

G. RICORDI AND CO.

Best Italian MANDOLINES (Vinaccia, Salvino, &c.).
Best Italian VIOLINS (Stradivarius Model).
Best Italian STRINGS.
Best Italian PLECTRUMS.
PRICE LIST MAY BE HAD ON APPLICATION TO G. RICORDI AND CO.

RICORDI'S "SPECIAL" EDITION
OF VOCAL TUTORS, SOLFEGGI, AND EXERCISES,

With Pianoforte Accompaniment (Full Music Size), as used at the Royal College of Music, the Royal Academy of Music, the Guildhall School of Music, and by all the leading Professors of Singing.

Vol.		Net Price s.	d.
1.	G. NAVA.—Elementary Solfeggi for Medium Voice. Book I.	1	6
2.	—— Elementary Solfeggi for Medium Voice. Book II. ..	1	6
3.	—— Elementary Solfeggi for Medium Voice. Book III. ..	1	6
4.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Contralto and Bass. Book I	1	6
5.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Contralto and Bass. Book II.	1	6
6.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Contralto and Bass. Complete	2	6
7.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Mezzo-Sop. and Bar. Book I.	1	6
8.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Mezzo-Sop. and Bar. Book II.	1	6
9.	—— Twenty-four Solfeggi for Mezzo-Soprano and Baritone. Complete	2	6
10.	F. LAMPERTI.—Daily Exercises	1	0
11.	—— First Lessons in Singing for Soprano, Mezzo-Soprano or Tenor. Book I.	1
12.	—— First Lessons in Singing for Soprano, Mezzo-Soprano or Tenor. Book II.	1	6
13.	—— First Lessons in Singing for Soprano, Mezzo-Soprano or Tenor. Complete	2	6
14.	G. NAVA.—Fifty-one Progressive Melodies for Soprano or Tenor (Op. 38). Book I.	1	6
15.	—— Fifty-one Progressive Melodies for Soprano or Tenor (Op. 38). Book II.	1	6
16.	—— Fifty-one Progressive Melodies for Soprano or Tenor (Op. 38). Complete	2	6
17.	N. VACCAJ.—Practical Method of Italian Singing	1	6
18.	G. NAVA.—Practical Method of Vocalisation for Bass or Baritone	2	6
19.	—— Elements of Vocalisation for Soprano or Tenor ..	2	6
20.	G. CONCONE.—Fifty Singing Lessons for Medium Voice..	1	0
21.	—— Forty Singing Lessons for Bass or Baritone	1	0
22.	—— Forty Singing Lessons for Contralto	1	0

May be had of all Musicsellers, and of
G. Ricordi and Co., 265, Regent Street, London, W.

Digitized by Google

In the Press.

FOUR CHARACTERISTIC WALTZES

1. ALLEGRO MA NON TROPPO (E minor).
2. TEMPO DI VALSE (A major).
3. ANDANTE CON SENTIMENTO (E major).
4. ALLEGRO FURIOSO (E minor)

COMPOSED BY

S. COLERIDGE-TAYLOR.

(Op. 22.)

Pianoforte Solo .. .. 2s. 6d.
Violin and Pianoforte .. .. 3s. od.
String Parts for full or small Orchestra .. 6s. od.
Wind Parts (in the Press). Full Score, MS.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

DON JUAN'S SERENADE

SONG FOR A BARITONE OR BASS VOICE

With Accompaniment for the Pianoforte

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

A. TOLSTOI

(English Translation by Lady Macfarren)

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

P. I. TSCHAÏKOWSKY.

Price Two Shillings.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

TOCCATA & FUGUE in E MAJOR

(CONCERTATA)

COMPOSED BY

J. S. BACH.

Price Two Shillings.

The above piece has been selected as a test for the forthcoming Fellowship Examination of the Royal College of Organists. It is also published in the Key of C major in Book VIII. of the Organ Works of J. S. Bach, edited by J. F. Bridge and James Higgs.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

LOVE THEE?

SONG

FOR A MEDIUM VOICE

The words written by Thomas Moore

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

D. PUGHE-EVANS.

Price Two Shillings.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

CUPID'S WAY

SONG

FOR SOPRANO OR TENOR

The words written by Edward Oxenford

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

D. PUGHE-EVANS.

Price Two Shillings.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

A PLAIN AND HANDY GUIDE

TO THE

STORY, CHARACTERS, SYMBOLISM, MUSIC & ACTIONS

OF

WAGNER'S NIBELUNGEN RING

ENTITLED

"THE EPIC OF SOUNDS"

BY

FREDA WINWORTH.

Professor Ebenezer Prout writes: "It gives the best, simplest, and clearest outline I have yet seen of the poem of the 'Ring.'"

The Musical Times says: "It is just the kind of résumé that Wagnerian pilgrims . . . should put into their pockets"

Price Three Shillings and Sixpence.

London: Simpkin and Co.

THE LEGEND OF THE WOOD

A JUVENILE OPERETTA IN ONE ACT

FOR UNISON SINGING

VERSE BY

Maud Baldwick

COMPOSED BY

ALFRED R. GAUL.

Price One Shilling.

Tonic Sol-fa Edition, Price Sixpence. Words, 7s. 6d. per 100.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

IN DREAMLAND

SONG

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

MAUD PHILP

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

ERNEST FORD.

In B flat and D. Price Two Shillings each.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

TOILERS OF THE DEEP

CANTATA

FOR FEMALE VOICES

Verse by JAMES STRANG

MUSIC BY

ALFRED R. GAUL.

CONTENTS.

Introduction and Chorus—"Tolling and toss'd on the restless sea."
Cradle Song—"Come, my baby, come away."
Chorus—"Oh, ho! for the winds that blow."
Ballad—"A mermaid dwelt in days of old."
Trio—"The twilight grey is falling."
Song—"O manly hearts that brave the sea."
Chorus—"Dark and darker grows the night."
Chorus—"A prayer for those at sea."
Intermezzo—"Break of day."
Duet—"Through golden mists of morn."
Cradle Song—No. 2.
Chorus—"Now let songs of gladness rise."

"This charming work bears all the best marks of the composer's characteristically graceful style. The libretto is of a high order of merit, and worth the music, which from first to last is attractive and without a dull page."—Birmingham Daily Gazette.

"Mr. Gaul has written nothing finer, nor more melodious and captivating in this branch of composition. Taking the Cantata as a whole, it is a delightful work, replete with artistic workmanship."—Birmingham Daily Mail.

Price Two Shillings.

Words, Five Shillings per hundred.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

THE MUSIC TO J. M. BARRIE'S

THE LITTLE MINISTER

Composed for the production of the Play at the Haymarket Theatre, November, 1897

BY

A. C. MACKENZIE.

(Op. 57.)

THREE DANCES

(ENTR'ACTES)

1. LILT. 2. PASTORAL DANCE. 3. ÉCOSSAISE.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence.
String Parts for Full or Small Orchestra, Four Shillings and Sixpence.
Wind Parts and Full Score, MS.
Military Band Arrangement (in the Press).

THE OVERTURE

Arranged for Pianoforte Duet by the Composer.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence.
String Parts for Full or Small Orchestra, Four Shillings and Sixpence.
Wind Parts and Full Score, MS.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Will be Published immediately.

THE SONGS

IN

DON GIOVANNI

COMPOSED BY MOZART.

EDITED, WITH MARKS OF EXPRESSION AND PHRASING

BY

ALBERTO RANDEGGER.

PREFACE.

Mozart's keen appreciation of the subtleties of the words he set to music is often so evident that, without a thorough understanding of their significance, it would be impossible to sing the music—to the spirit of which the words are closely allied—in strict accordance with the composer's intention.

With a view to meeting this difficulty a special English version has been adapted, to express, as nearly as possible, the literal meaning of the original Italian text.

In these translations no attempt has been made at versification, and they do not claim any literary merit, but they may be used in singing the songs, if desired.

In any case they will prove valuable to singers who are not familiar with the Italian language.

The alterations, cadences, &c., added in small type over the original music, are used by many eminent artists. The Editor, however, does not hold himself responsible for them, and leaves their adoption or rejection to the taste and discretion of the singer.

BOOK 1.

Soprano (Donna Anna and Donna Elvira).
1. NON MI DIR. 2. MI TRADÌ.

BOOK 2.

Soprano (Zerlina).
1. VEDRAI CARINO. 2. BATTI, BATTI, O BEL MASETTO.

BOOK 3.

Tenor (Don Ottavio).
1. IL MIO TESORO. 2. DALLA SUA PACE.

BOOK 4.

Baritone and Bass (Don Giovanni and Leporello).
1. DEH, VIENI ALLA FINESTRA.
2. FIN CH'HAN DAL VINO.
3. MADAMINA.

Price Two Shillings each Book.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

Accepted for performance at Cincinnati, Boston, Springfield, and Worcester, U.S.A.

THE

Legend of St. Christopher

A DRAMATIC ORATORIO

FOR SOLO VOICES, CHORUS, ORCHESTRA, AND ORGAN

THE VERSE BY

ISABELLA PARKER

THE MUSIC BY

HORATIO PARKER.

(Op. 43.)

Price Five Shillings.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

(No. 54. Novello, Ewer and Co.'s Music Primers and Educational Series. Edited by Sir John Stainer and Dr. C. Hubert H. Parry.)

SONATA FORM

BY

W. H. HADOW.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence.
In paper boards, Three Shillings.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

GAVOTTE IN E

FOR THE PIANOFORTE

COMPOSED BY

G. J. ELVEY.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

GRADUS AD PARNASSUM. A Collection of Violin Studies in progressive order. Selected, carefully revised, fingered, and edited, with annotations and remarks by

ERNST HEIM.

Edition No.			Net. s.	d.
5471	Book I.	FIRST POSITION. Elementary Studies in the most practicable major keys	1	6
5472	Book II.	FIRST POSITION. More advanced Studies in major and minor keys. Easy double-stopping. Enharmonic change. HALF POSITION. Changing from 1st to Half Position	1	6
5473	Book III.	FIRST POSITION. Chords and easy Arpeggios. Chromatic passages. SECOND POSITION. Changing from 1st to 2nd Position	1	6
5474	Book IV.	THIRD POSITION. Changing between 1st and 3rd Positions. Portamento and Tremolo ..	1	6
5475	Book V.	FOURTH POSITION. Changing between the 1st and 4th Positions. FIFTH POSITION. Changing between the 1st and 5th Positions	1	6
5476	Book VI.	SIXTH POSITION. Changing between the 1st and 6th Positions. SEVENTH POSITION. Changing between the 1st and 7th Positions	2	0

"Helps to smooth the road of the violin student by providing him with studies which can be used partly with, partly after, any violin school, and which includes some excerpts from Corelli, Bach, and Handel, calculated to improve the taste as well as the manual dexterity of the pupil. Amongst the other acknowledged writers we see the names of Spohr, Dont, Kayser, and Alard, whilst the newer school is represented by Kreuz, Hofmann, and the editor of the collection. Teachers looking through the 'Gradus ad Parnassum' will find it a feast of good things, more than those our space will allow us to indicate."—Musical News, February 12, 1898.

"With such a variety of good composers a unique book is formed."—The Strad, February, 1898.

London: Augener and Co., 199, Regent Street, W.
City Branch: 22, Newgate Street, E.C.
Library and School Department: 81, Regent Street, W.

Digitized by Google

PRODUCED BY THE ROYAL CHORAL SOCIETY AT THE ROYAL ALBERT HALL, MARCH 16, 1898.

A NEW EDITION OF

THE RUINS OF ATHENS

A CANTATA

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

L. VAN BEETHOVEN

THE ENGLISH WORDS WRITTEN AND ADAPTED BY

PAUL ENGLAND.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.

Full Score and Orchestral Parts, for use with this Edition, may be had on hire from the Publishers.

DAILY TELEGRAPH.

It has been changed into a cantata, with English words, written or adapted by Mr. Paul England, the object being to place Beethoven's music in the hands of our choral societies. . . . The result shows a purpose completely achieved, and Messrs. Novello may depend upon a good reward for their enterprise. Such is the beauty of the music—Greek-like in its simple outline—that the cantata will spread rapidly over the country, the more because so much of it is already well-known.

DAILY NEWS.

The chorus of Dervishes, sung by about 500 of the tenors and basses of the Royal Choir, was encored by acclamation; and if Sir Frederick had cared to accept it a similar fate might have befallen the Turkish March and the delicious Interlude. Even still better was the performance of the final chorus, with its curious reminiscences of Mozart and of the prison chorus in "Fidelio." Altogether the revival was a notable one.

DAILY CHRONICLE.

It was a treat to hear music at once so solid and so graceful. "The Ruins of Athens" is not to be ranked among Beethoven's highest achievements, though none but he could have made such effective use of the barbaric element in the chorus of Dervishes—a taking air, emphasised by the wildest accompaniment. . . . The quaint Turkish March and the chorus, with which the work reaches a majestic termination, were also warmly applauded, but nothing—not even the elegant march and chorus, "Twine ye the garlands"—told so well as the impulsive number for the Dervishes, which was rendered with appropriate vigour and energy. . . . As the work is now made suitable for the concert platform, it should be adopted by all choral societies anxious to include in their répertoires compositions of the highest class.

WESTMINSTER GAZETTE.

Considering the rubbishy character of the productions which so frequently secure the attention of local choirs, it is indeed astonishing that such a beautiful work as this of Beethoven should have been neglected so assiduously—though doubtless the absence hitherto of any decent arrangement of the work for this purpose has had something to do with the matter. With the preparation of such an arrangement as that used last night, however, this difficulty has been overcome, and it may be assumed that henceforward the work, which contains some of Beethoven's most graceful and spontaneous choral writing, will be heard more often.

ATHENÆUM.

It is needless to state that the music of "Die Ruinen von Athen" does not display Beethoven in a lofty mood, the master keeping in his lightest manner from the first bar to the last. Consequently there was no serious strain on the executants on Wednesday, and the choral numbers were rendered with power and spirit, the favourite Dervishes' chorus being, of course, encored.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

PRODUCED BY THE ROYAL CHORAL SOCIETY, AT THE ROYAL ALBERT HALL, MARCH 16, 1898.

THE

GATE OF LIFE

DRAMATIC CANTATA

FOR

Soprano, Tenor, and Bass Soli, Chorus, and Orchestra

THE VERSE WRITTEN BY

SHAPCOTT WENSLEY

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

FRANCO LEONI.

Price Two Shillings.

String Parts (in the Press). Wind Parts and Full Score, MS.

DAILY TELEGRAPH.

The story, which in some form or other has often been set to music, is a variant of that we find in Benedict's "Saint Cecilia," Sullivan's "Martyr of Antioch," &c., but it seems to be one which has interest for the public, and is not without inspiration for composers. Mr. Leoni, at any rate, has set to it strains which won over their first audience to warm demonstrations of sympathy. . . . Choral societies will find "The Gate of Life" most useful.

STANDARD.

It must be gladly conceded at once that the score shows the hand of a musician who can write with taste and freshness in feeling. The heathen choruses and dances in the first of the three brief parts, the hymn of the Christians, in which the French device of singing with closed lips is adopted, and the final scene of the martyrdom, display full knowledge of effect.

DAILY NEWS.

Comparatively simple and unsophisticated music of this sort, sometimes recalling Gounod, sometimes the Italians, but almost always melodious and pretty, would be far better suited to the country choirs, the more especially as it presents few difficulties and employs only three soloists.

MORNING POST.

There are some attractive numbers in Signor Leoni's score. The opening chorus and the dances that follow are bright and piquant. . . . The hymn sung in prison is pleasing, and the organ is effectively introduced at the close.

GLOBE.

The cantata is not very remarkable for originality of ideas or treatment, and seems better fitted for performance by country musical societies than by a leading London choir. . . . Its fluent writing and thorough knowledge of conventional orchestral devices are points which will probably recommend it to some amateurs, and the excellent way in which the choral numbers were sung by the choir proved that the music was thoroughly appreciated by the performers.

ST. JAMES'S GAZETTE.

Its music is light, bright, tuneful, and dramatic, with a certain resemblance to the writing of Mascagni, Puccini, and Leoncavallo.

ATHENÆUM.

The music is mainly in the modern Italian style as regards phrasing and orchestration, and is written in a manner that cannot fail to prove grateful to performers.

DAILY GRAPHIC.

The choir revelled in the music, which they sang with no less skill than enjoyment, and the vast majority of the audience applauded, wherever there was an opportunity to applaud, with the utmost enthusiasm. The reasons for this success are not far to seek. Mr. Leoni's melodies are of unimpeachable suavity, with the added attraction of possessing a strong family likeness to favourite numbers by a variety of popular composers, from Wagner to Mascagni.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Digitized by Google

Just Published.

A WOODLAND DREAM

CANTATA

For Solo Voices and Two-part Chorus, with Accompaniment of Small Orchestra, for the use of Schools, Academies, and Colleges

WRITTEN BY

SHAPCOTT WENSLEY

COMPOSED BY

J. A. MOONIE.

Price Two Shillings
(Staff and Tonic Sol-fa Notations combined).
Tonic Sol-fa Edition, Ninepence.
Book of Words, 7s. 6d. per 100.

London and New York Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

THE WAXWORK CARNIVAL

A HUMOROUS OPERETTA

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

BERNARD PAGE

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

ARTHUR RICHARDS.

Price (both Notations together) Two Shillings. Tonic Sol-fa edition, 8d.
Book of Words, 12s. 6d. per 100.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

THE FAIRY SLIPPER

("The Story of Cinderella")

A Children's Opera

IN THREE TABLEAUX

WRITTEN AND COMPOSED BY

E. CUTHBERT NUNN.

Price (both Notations together) Two Shillings. Tonic Sol-fa edition, 8d.
Book of Words, 12s. 6d. per 100.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

KING BULBOUS

A COMIC OPERA FOR SCHOOLS AND CLASSES

WRITTEN BY

P. H. CRIB

COMPOSED BY

HENRY FESTING JONES.

(Op. 8.)

Price Two Shillings. Tonic Sol-fa Edition, 8d.
Book of Words, 16s. 8d. per 100.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

THE SNOW QUEEN

AN OPERETTA FOR CHILDREN'S VOICES

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

MRS. GEORGE MARTYN

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

CHARLES BRAUN.

Price One Shilling.
Tonic Sol-fa Edition, 6d. Book of Words, 12s. 6d. per 100.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

JUST PUBLISHED.

TECHNIQUE
AND EXPRESSION
IN PIANOFORTE PLAYING
BY
FRANKLIN TAYLOR.

With numerous Musical Examples from the Great Masters.
Price Five Shillings, in cloth, gilt lettered.

ATHENÆUM.

Mr. Franklin Taylor has written much and of great value as a theorist, his latest essay equalling the best of his previous utterances as regards pianoforte manipulation. . . . Mr. Franklin Taylor displays intimate knowledge of the requirements of youthful aspirants who seek to gain excellence in the works of such modern masters as Schumann, Chopin, Brahms, and Rubinstein. . . . The treatise is noteworthy for a happy mixture of classical and modern systems of teaching the pianoforte so far as regards advice to the earnest student.

WESTMINSTER GAZETTE.

A work by that well-known authority on such matters, Mr. Franklin Taylor, on "Technique and Expression in Pianoforte Playing," may be safely commended to all students of what Wagner once styled the "Household orchestra."

BRISTOL TIMES AND MIRROR.

Everything from the pen of the author of this work is welcomed by pianists, students, teachers, and matured players, because there is purpose in all he writes, and because of the help and instruction to be derived therefrom. The present volume, fresh from the press of Messrs. Novello and Co., is one of the best of the kind. Hard-working students who read it attentively, in conjunction with their daily practice, will find their work greatly aided thereby. The publication may be in a great measure used as a guide-book or key to the splendid series of Progressive Exercises—52 numbers in all—arranged by the same famous professor, and issued by the same firm, as well as by advanced and skilled pianists. . . . Every phase and detail of pianoforte playing is fully dealt with in a clear and intelligible way, and illustrated by copious extracts taken from the works of all the greatest pianoforte composers and players. The volume is printed on excellent paper, and is strongly bound.

BIRMINGHAM DAILY GAZETTE.

"Technique and Expression in Pianoforte Playing" is a book of 120 closely-printed pages, octavo, wherein are set down with great system and lucidity the observations and the experience of a long and successful career of teaching. . . . The suggestions which relate to the mechanical and intellectual sides of pianoforte-playing we regard as invaluable, and again we envy the favoured youth of the present age, rich in the accumulated experiences of others; standing on the shoulders of men who have struggled unaided; reaping a rich harvest sowed with infinite labour by their predecessors.

YORKSHIRE POST.

Mr. Franklin Taylor, both by repute and by his writings, is known as one of the most systematic teachers of pianoforte technique in this country. . . . "Technique and Expression in Pianoforte Playing" is an excellent manual by an expert who can express himself clearly, and has ideas worth the expressing. . . . Over 200 examples from classical pianoforte music add to the value of the manual, which may be strongly recommended not only to students, but also to the half-taught teachers that abound.

LEEDS MERCURY.

"Technique and Expression in Pianoforte Playing" is the title of a book through which Franklin Taylor seeks to express some thoughts and theories that a long course of teaching has served to recommend. Mr. Taylor is emphatically practical, and his remarks are capable of bearing much good fruit. . . . The chapters on Expression and Fingering will be found particularly useful and suggestive.

GLASGOW HERALD.

Mr. Taylor writes with clearness and point, and gives the reader the benefit of his lengthened experience as a teacher of the pianoforte. The text is illumined by copious score illustrations.

SCOTSMAN.

As a recognised authority on his subject, Mr. Franklin Taylor may fairly claim the attention of teachers and students of the pianoforte for his book on "Technique and Expression." His practical experience in imparting instruction has taught him to understand the common difficulties, and how to overcome them; while, as the editor of one of the most exhaustive series of technical studies published, he has the advantage of a very wide range of knowledge of pianoforte music. The present book is an attempt to set down and illustrate the suggestions and methods which he has found useful in the practical work of pianoforte teaching. . . . The book, which is plentifully supplied with musical examples from the best composers, deals with the subject in a sensible and business-like fashion; and to students and teachers it may be recommended as one of the best books of its kind.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Digitized by Google

PRODUCED AT THE BIRMINGHAM TRIENNIAL MUSICAL FESTIVAL, 1897.

HAMLET

SYMPHONIC POEM

COMPOSED BY

EDWARD GERMAN.

String Parts, 6s. 6d.; Wind Parts and Full Score, MS.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Second Edition.

NARCISSUS AND ECHO

CANTATA FOR CHORUS, SOLI, AND ORCHESTRA

Price 3s.; Choral Parts, 1s. each. Also,

"GOD IS OUR REFUGE" (Ps. 46)

For Chorus, Soli, and Orchestra. Price 1s.

COMPOSED BY

EDWIN C. SUCH,

Mus. Bac., Cantab.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

NOVELLO'S

MUSIC FOR MILITARY BAND

ARRANGED BY

DAN GODFREY, Jun.,

GEORGE MILLER, Mus. Bac.,

AND OTHERS.

		s.	d.
MASQUE (Three Dances from "As you Like It")	Edward German	15	0
OUR QUEEN (Quick March)	H. M. Higgs	5	0
IMPERIAL MARCH	E. Elgar	9	0
VICTORIA—OUR QUEEN (March)	John E. West	9	0
THE QUEEN'S SONG	Eaton Faning	7	6
SIX HYMN TUNES		4	6
FOUR ENGLISH DANCES (in the Olden Style)	F. H. Cowen	15	0
KIRMESS (Rustic Pictures)	H. Hofmann	15	0
GIPSY SUITE (Four Characteristic Dances)	Edward German	15	0
THREE DANCES ("Henry VIII.")	Edward German	13	0
SIX SACRED PIECES	Gounod	10	6
THE REDEMPTION (Selection)	Gounod	13	0
BENEDICTUS ("Six Pieces for Violin")	A. C. Mackenzie	5	0
WEDDING MARCH	William Creser	5	6
BALLET MUSIC ("Colomba")	A. C. Mackenzie	15	0
MORS ET VITA (Selection)	Gounod	15	0
THE EMPIRE FLAG	A. C. Mackenzie	5	0
HUSARENRITT	Fritz Spindler	7	6
POLONAISE ("Life for the Czar")	Glinka	12	0
COURANTE ("Ravenswood")	A. C. Mackenzie	12	0
GAVOTTE	Rameau	4	6
ORCHESTRAL BALLAD	Stewart Macpherson	15	0
EMPEROR GAVOTTE (Cornflower)	Ch. Morley	2	6
FESTAL MARCH	G. J. Elvey	5	0
WESTWOOD GAVOTTE	Battison Haynes	5	0
SOLEMN MARCH	George Miller	3	6
MARCHE MILITAIRE	Tschaikowsky	15	0
OVERTURE TO "RICHARD III."	Edward German	12	0
GRANDE VALSE ("Faust" Ballet)	Ernest Ford	10	6
MARCHE SOLENNELLE	Gounod	7	6
MARCH ("St. Polycarp")	Ouseley	7	6
CALVARY (Selection)	Spohr	7	6
MARCH ("Abraham")	Molique	7	6
POPULAR PART-SONGS. Selected and Arranged by Dan Godfrey, Jun.		7	6
GRACEFUL DANCE	J. L. Roeckel	7	6
FUNERAL MARCH ("The Story of Sayid")	A. C. Mackenzie	3	6

In the Press.

CORONATION MARCH ("Henry VIII.") .. E. German
SCÈNE BACCHANALE ("Faust" Ballet) .. Ernest Ford
FESTIVE MARCH .. H. Smart

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

ORGAN ARRANGEMENTS

EDITED BY

GEORGE C. MARTIN.

			ARRANGED BY	s.	d.
1.	Slow Movement (Pianoforte Quintet)	Schumann	G. C. Martin	1	6
	Minuet (Twelve Menuets for Orchestra)	Beethoven
2.	Andante (Pianoforte Sonata, Op. 147)	Schubert	G. C. Martin	1	6
	Largo	Handel
	As pants the hart ("Calvary")	Spohr
3.	Agnus Dei (Mass in G)	Schubert	G. C. Martin	1	0
	Overture ("Acis and Galatea")	Handel
	Albumblätter (No. 1, Op. 99)	Schumann
4.	Adagio (Sonata, Op. 2, No. 1)	Beethoven	G. C. Martin	1	6
	The Cat's Fugue	Scarlatti
	Albumblätter (No. 5, Op. 99)	Schumann
5.	Romanze and Scherzo (Fourth Symphony)	Schumann	G. C. Martin	1	6
	Air (Overture (or Suite) in D)	Bach
6.	Allegro (Quartet, Op. 18, No. 2)	Beethoven	G. C. Martin	1	6
	Menuetto (Pianoforte Sonata, Op. 122)	Schubert
7.	Ela Mater ("Stabat Mater")	Dvorák	G. C. Martin	1	6
	Romance	Mozart
8.	Minuet and Allegro	Handel	B. Luard Selby	1	6
9.	Funeral March ("Dream of Jubal")	A. C. Mackenzie	G. C. Martin	1	0
10.	Chaconne in F major	Purcell	A. W. Marchant	1	0
11.	Adagio in B minor	Mozart	A. W. Marchant	1	0
12.	Adagio (Sextet, Op. 81)	Beethoven	A. B. Plant	1	0
13.	In Elysium ("Orphée")	Gluck	E. J. Bellerby	1	0
14.	Judex ("Mors et Vita")	Gounod	John E. West	1	0
15.	Grand March (Introduction, Act III., "Lohengrin")	Wagner	W. Creser	1	0
16.	Bridal Chorus ("Lohengrin")	Wagner	W. Creser	1	0
17.	Concerto Grosso (No. X.)	Corelli	Arthur B. Plant	1	6
18.	Passecaille	Couperin	James Shaw	1	0
19.	Representation of Chaos ("The Creation")	Haydn	Wm. H. Stocks	1	0
20.	Moderato (1st Movement, Sonata, Op. 42)	Schubert	Arthur B. Plant	2	0
21.	Andante con moto (Unfinished Symphony)	Schubert	W. Cruickshank	2	0
22.	Slow Movement in A flat (3rd Symphony)	Schumann	W. Cruickshank	1	0
23.	Solemn March ("The Black Knight")	E. Elgar	E. Elgar	1	0
24.	Andante con moto (Symphony in C)	Schubert	Arthur B. Plant	2	0
25.	Overture to the "Ode on St. Cecilia's Day"	Handel	Chas. Macpherson	1	6
26.	Larghetto (Symphony in B flat)	Schumann	A. W. Marchant	1	0
27.	Warum?	Schumann	A. W. Marchant	1	0
	Liebeslied	Henselt
28.	Adagio Sostenuto (Quartet, Op. 76, No. 1)	Haydn	A. W. Marchant	1	0
29.	Introduction and Fugue in E flat	Hesse	A. W. Marchant	1	0
30.	Andante in C minor (Quartet)	Spohr	A. W. Marchant	1	0
31.	Andante in A (Quartet in D)	Mozart	A. W. Marchant	1	0
32.	Fugue in C major	Albrechtsberger	A. W. Marchant	1	0
33.	Minuet (First Violoncello Suite)	Bach	A. W. Marchant	1	0
	Gavotte in E minor	Veracini
34.	Adagio in D	Mozart	A. W. Marchant	1	0
35.	La Carità	Rossini	A. W. Marchant	1	0
36.	Toccata in A major	Purcell	H. Davan Wetton	1	6
37.	Voluntary in D minor	Purcell	W. Alcock	1	6
38.	Finale from Symphonie Pathétique	Tschaikowsky	Chas. Macpherson	2	0
39.	Grand Funeral March in C minor	Schubert	E. Silas	1	0
40.	Air, "Lord, to Thee my heart I proffer" (St. Matthew Passion)	Bach	D. John D. Codner	1	0
41.	Andante con moto (Symphony in B flat)	Schubert	W. Cruickshank	1	6
42.	First Movement ("Hymn of Praise")	Mendelssohn	W. Cruickshank	2	6
43.	Prelude in G (No. 13)	Chopin	Burnham Horner	1	0
44.	Basso Ostinato (Op. 5, No. 5)	A. Arensky	Burnham Horner	1	0
45.	Imperial March	E. Elgar	G. C. Martin	2	0
46.	Allegretto ("Hymn of Praise" Symphony)	Mendelssohn	W. Cruickshank	1	6
47.	Introduction to the "Passion Music"	Haydn	W. J. Phillips	1	0
48.	Prelude and Fugue on the name of Bach	J. S. Bach	G. M. Garrett	1	6
49.	March ("Abraham")	Molique	A. C. Edwards	1	0
50.	Overture to "Calvary"	Spohr	W. Cruickshank	1	0

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Digitized by Google

THE VILLAGE ORGANIST

A Series of Pieces for Church and General Use

EDITED BY

J. STAINER and F. CUNNINGHAM WOODS.

Price One Shilling each Book.

Books 1 to 6, elegantly bound in one Vol., cloth, 6s.; Books 7 to 12, elegantly bound in one Vol., cloth, 6s.

PREFACE.

THIS Collection has been specially compiled with a view to supplying a want felt by the many organists who have only a small instrument at their disposal in country churches, and who often have some difficulty in finding short and easy Voluntaries suitable for their own use and the instruction of their pupils.

BOOK 1.

1. The Good Shepherd.. .. .. Myles B. Foster
2. Andante .. .. W. Warder Harvey
3. Andante con moto .. .. A. R. Gaul
4. Christmas Bells .. .. G. J. Elvey
5. Minuet .. .. Philip Hayes
6. Judex, from "Mors et Vita" .. .. Gounod
7. Soft Voluntary .. .. H. A. Harding
8. Slow March .. .. F. Cunningham Woods
9. A Song of Praise .. .. J. Stainer
10. Andante in G minor .. .. E. H. Fellowes

BOOK 2.

1. Allegretto .. .. F. Cunningham Woods
2. Larghetto .. .. J. Barnby
3. Adagio .. .. W. Warder Harvey
4. Concluding Voluntary .. .. A. R. Gaul
5. Introductory Voluntary .. .. E. F. Rimbault
6. Tempo di Minuetto .. .. Myles B. Foster
7. Andante con moto, from Quartet in D minor .. .. Schubert
8. Adagio .. .. William Sterndale Bennett
9. Introductory Voluntary .. .. Daniel McIntyre

BOOK 3.

1. Andante Tranquillo .. .. C. H. Lloyd
2. The Village March .. .. Ferris Tozer
3. Romance, from Serenade for Strings .. .. .. Mozart
4. Gavotte, from "Semele" .. .. Handel
5. An Evening Prayer .. .. Alfred W. Tomlyn
6. Heaven and the earth display ("Athalie") .. Mendelssohn

BOOK 4.

1. Meditation .. .. Battison Haynes
2. Allegro moderato .. .. W. John Reynolds
3. Funeral March, from Pianoforte Quintet (Op. 44) .. Schumann
4. Concluding Voluntary .. .. Cuthbert Harris
5. Introductory Voluntary .. .. E. H. Turpin
6. Solemn March .. .. C. H. Lloyd

BOOK 5.

1. Agnus Dei .. .. F. Cunningham Woods
2. Minuet, from 9th Pianoforte Sonata .. .. .. Mozart
3. Jerusalem Cœlestis ("Mors et Vita") .. .. .. Gounod
4. Andante Grazioso .. .. Kate Boundy
5. Allegro con brio .. .. Frederick A. Keene
6. Communion .. .. W. Wolstenholme
7. Allegro, from Finale to 9th Pianoforte Trio .. .. Haydn
8. Concluding Voluntary .. .. Cuthbert Harris

BOOK 6.

1. O Salutaris Hostia .. .. Myles B. Foster
2. Slow March, from the 4th Sonata .. .. .. Boyce
3. O great is the depth, from "St. Paul" .. .. .. Mendelssohn
4. Processional March .. .. J. Warriner
5. Largo, from "Xerxes" .. .. Handel
6. Forsake me not, Duet om "The Last Judgment" .. Spohr
7. Allegro moderato .. .. W. Warder Harvey
8. Minuet .. .. Samuel Ould

BOOK 7.

1. Impromptu .. .. John E. West
2. Minuet, from Pianoforte Sonata (Op. 10, No. 3) .. Beethoven
3. Introductory Voluntary .. .. S. J. Rowton
4. March .. .. Oliver O. Brooksbank
5. Sunday Song .. .. Max Oesten
6. Minuet and Trio, from Quartet (Op. 9, No. 1).. .. .. Haydn
7. Pastorale .. .. Alfred W. Tomlyn
8. Religioso .. .. T. L. Southgate

BOOK 8.

1. Elegy .. .. C. H. Lloyd
2. Rondo, from No. 6 (Pieces de Clavecin) .. .. Couperin
3. Andante Grazioso .. .. Frederick A. Keene
4. Soft Voluntary .. .. Ferris Tozer
5. Allegretto Pastorale.. .. .. .. W. John Reynolds
6. Andante in F, from String Quartet in D minor .. Mozart
7. Meditation .. .. W. Wolstenholme
8. Finale, from Pianoforte Trio (Op. 88) .. .. .. Schumann
9. Canon .. .. Battison Haynes

BOOK 9.

1. Larghetto .. .. F. Cunningham Woods
2. Recessional March .. .. E. H. Fellowes
3. All men, all things ("Lobgesang") .. .. Mendelssohn
4. Allegro poco maestoso .. .. W. G. Cusins
5. Communion .. .. Alfred R. Gaul
6. Andante con moto .. .. John Francis Barnett
7. Andante Religioso .. .. Alfred W. Tomlyn
8. Evensong .. .. Cuthbert Harris
9. Minuet, from Quartet in G minor .. .. .. Schubert
10. Melody in A .. .. W. H. Callcott

BOOK 10.

1. Allegro moderato .. .. E. Bunnett
2. Opening Voluntary .. .. Ferris Tozer
3. While my watch I am keeping, Choral from "The Redemption" .. .. Gounod
4. Meditation .. .. E. D'Evry
5. Slow Air, from Suite de Pièces .. .. Lully
6. Allegretto Pastorale .. .. H. A. J. Campbell
7. Allegretto Grazioso, from the last Movement of 4th Pianoforte Sonata .. .. Mozart
8. Hallelujah Chorus, from "The Messiah" .. .. Handel

BOOK 11.

1. Pastorale .. .. Battison Haynes
2. Gavotte, from the 12th Sonata for 2 Violins and Cello Boyce
3. Evensong .. .. Kate Boundy
4. Minuet, from the Organ Concerto in B flat (No. 2, 2nd Set) .. .. Handel
5. Allegretto .. .. Oliver Brooksbank
6. Marche Funèbre (Op. 72, No. 2) .. .. Chopin
7. Communion .. .. W. Wolstenholme
8. Prelude in E minor and Chorale.. .. .. .. J. S. Bach
9. Andante con moto .. .. G. A. Macfarren

BOOK 12.

1. Berceuse (Op. 77, No. 3) .. .. .. Alexandre Guilmant
2. Introductory Voluntary .. .. Hamilton Clarke
3. Prayer .. .. Bruce Steane
4. Melody .. .. S. Coleridge-Taylor
5. Eventide .. .. Clowes Bayley
6. Postlude .. .. Josiah Booth
7. Jubilant March .. .. W. John Reynolds

To be continued.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Digitized by Google

IMPORTANT WORKS BY P. TSCHAÏKOWSKY

THE SEASONS
TWELVE CHARACTERISTIC PIECES
FOR THE PIANOFORTE
(Op. 37)
EDITED AND FINGERED BY
FRANKLIN TAYLOR.

IN TWO BOOKS.

Book I.	Book II.
1. By the Fireside (January).	7. The Reapers' Song (July).
2. Carnival (February).	8. Harvest Time (August).
3. The Song of the Lark (March).	9. Hunting Song (September).
4. Snowdrops (April).	10. A Song of Autumn (October).
5. Starlit Nights (May).	11. Sleighing (November).
6. Barcarolle (June).	12. Christmas (December).

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence each book.

TWELVE PIECES
FOR THE PIANOFORTE
(Op. 40)
EDITED AND FINGERED BY
FRANKLIN TAYLOR.

IN TWO BOOKS.

Book I.	Book II.
1. Etude.	7. Au Village.
2. Chanson Triste.	8. Valse.
3. Marche Funèbre.	9. Valse.
4. Mazurka.	10. Danse Russe.
5. Mazurka.	11. Scherzo.
6. Chant sans paroles.	12. Rêverie Interrompue.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence each book.

MARCHE MILITAIRE
FOR MILITARY BAND.

Arrangement for Pianoforte Solo. Price 2s.
Arrangement for Pianoforte Duet. Price 2s. 6d.
Full Score, price 4s.
Band Parts, 15s.

MARCHE SOLENNELLE
FOR FULL ORCHESTRA.

Arrangement for Pianoforte Solo. Price 2s.
Arrangement for Pianoforte Duet. Price 2s. 6d.
Full Score, price 7s. 6d.
Orchestral Parts, price 25s.

IMPROMPTU
(MOMENTO LIRICO)
POUR PIANO.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.

VALSE-SCHERZO
FOR THE PIANOFORTE.

Price Two Shillings.

NATURE AND LOVE
FOR
TWO SOPRANI AND CONTRALTO SOLI AND CHORUS OF FEMALE VOICES
WITH PIANOFORTE ACCOMPANIMENT
The English Translation by the Rev. J. Troutbeck, D.D.

PRICE ONE SHILLING.
Tonic Sol-fa, price 4d.

TWENTY-FOUR SONGS
WITH PIANOFORTE ACCOMPANIMENT
SELECTED AND TRANSLATED INTO ENGLISH BY LADY MACFARREN.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence.

DUO
ROMEO ET JULIETTE
(SOPRANO ET TENOR)
Œuvre posthume achevée d'après les esquisses conservées, et instrumentée
PAR
S. TANÉÏEW.

Full Score	10s.
Vocal Score (with Russian, French, and German words)	4s.
Orchestral Parts	15s.

CONCERTO, No. 3
POUR
PIANO
AVEC ACCOMPAGNEMENT D'ORCHESTRE.
(Op. 75.)

Full Score	15s.
Orchestral Parts	20s.
Pianoforte Part, with the Accompaniments arranged for a second Pianoforte and engraved under the Solo Part ..	9s.

(For a performance on two Pianofortes two copies are required.)

THE FINALE
(ADAGIO LAMENTOSO)
FROM THE
SYMPHONIE PATHÉTIQUE
(No. 6, in B minor)
ARRANGED FOR THE ORGAN
BY
CHARLES MACPHERSON.

(No. 38. Organ Arrangements, edited by Geo. C. Martin, Mus. Doc., Organist of St. Paul's Cathedral.)

Price Two Shillings.

SELECT PIECES
FOR THE
PIANOFORTE
EDITED AND FINGERED BY
FRANKLIN TAYLOR.

IN TWO BOOKS.

Book I.
Scherzo, Op. 2, No. 2.	Valse-Scherzo, Op. 7.
Chant sans paroles, Op. 2, No. 3.	Polka de Salon, Op. 9, No. 2.
Romance, Op. 5.

Book II.
Mazurka, Op. 9, No. 3.	Scherzo Humoristique, Op. 19, No. 2.
Nocturne, Op. 10, No. 1.	Feuillet d'Album, Op. 19, No. 3.
Humoreske, Op. 10, No. 2.	Nocturne, Op. 19, No. 4.

Price Two Shillings and Sixpence each book.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Digitized by Google

Just Published.

THE

CHALLENGE OF THOR

DRAMATIC CHORUS

For Mixed Voices, with Accompaniment for Orchestra or Pianoforte

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

LONGFELLOW

THE MUSIC FROM THE CANTATA

KING OLAF

COMPOSED BY

EDWARD ELGAR.

Price Fourpence. Tonic Sol-fa, Twopence.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

CHANSON DE NUIT

POUR VIOLON ET PIANO

COMPOSÉE PAR

EDWARD ELGAR.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

MARJORIE GAVOTTE

FOR THE PIANOFORTE

COMPOSED BY

JOHN E. WEST.

Price Two Shillings.
Band Parts for Small Orchestra: Strings, Two Shillings; Wind, Two Shillings and Threepence.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

SONG OF NIGHT

(Nachtlied)

COMPOSED FOR CHORUS AND ORCHESTRA

BY

ROBERT SCHUMANN.

(Op. 108.)

THE WORDS TRANSLATED FROM THE GERMAN OF F. HEBBEL

BY

MISS G. E. TROUTBECK.

Price Ninepence.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

INTERMEZZO

Prelude to Act III. of

"HENRY VIII."

COMPOSED BY

EDWARD GERMAN.

Arranged for the Pianoforte by The Composer.

Price Two Shillings.
String Parts, 2s.; Wind Parts, 4s. 3d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

SIX PIECES

FOR

THE ORGAN

COMPOSED BY

J. STAINER.

CONTENTS.

I. Andante.
II. Prelude. Fughetta.
III. Adagio.
IV. On a Bass.
V. Impromptu.
VI. Rêverie.

PRICE FOUR SHILLINGS.

DAILY TELEGRAPH.

"Six Pieces for the Organ" are from the experienced and scholarly pen of Sir John Stainer. The book opens with a meditative Andante of great beauty—a movement of which one does not readily tire. In succession we have a capital Prelude and Fughetta, an Adagio of varied character and effect; a very interesting and ingenious movement "On a Bass," an Impromptu, and a Rêverie, which brings the set to a worthy end. No organist should be without these excellent pieces, which are likely to become popular.

DAILY CHRONICLE.

In Sir John Stainer's "Six Pieces for the Organ" are exhibited taste, vigour, and the perfect knowledge of the resources of the instrument that only practical experience can bring. The Fughetta following the Prelude is a particularly pleasing example of this able musician's ripened manner.

CHURCH TIMES.

"Six Pieces for the Organ," by John Stainer, are all alike admirable, and will charm every true musician. The first, third, fifth, and sixth are sweetly smooth and tuneful. A sprightly Fughetta of excellent subject forms No. 3. "On a Bass," No. 4, is remarkably varied, and constitutes a fine and telling piece.

BRISTOL TIMES AND MIRROR.

Sir John Stainer has written for the organ six charming pieces—an Andante, a Prelude and Fughetta, an Adagio, a piece founded on a Bass theme, an Impromptu, and a Rêverie, which are brought together in one volume.

THE SCOTSMAN.

Sir John Stainer is the writer of "Six Pieces for the Organ," which for scholarly writing and agreeable manner may be warmly commended.

LONDON & NEW YORK: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

Popular Part-Songs for S.A.T.B.

By W. W. PEARSON.

Nymphs of the Ocean ..	3d.	The Oyster Dredgers ..	2d.
The Skaters	3d.	Evening	2d.
The Lake	3d.	*Sweet to live (38th thou.)	2d.
*'Tis Morn	3d.	*Welcome, young Spring!..	2d.
Sweet Spring (Madrigal) ..	3d.	*The Anglers (14th thou.) ..	2d.
The River	3d.	The Dream of Home ..	2d.
Over the mountain side ..	3d.	Summer and Winter ..	2d.
Soul of living music ..	3d.	*Departed Joys	2d.
The Stormy Petrel	3d.	There's beauty in the deep	1½d.
The Coral Grove	3d.	Soldier, rest!	1d.
Pibroch of Donuil Dhu ..	3d.	Woods in Winter	1d.
Blow, Western Wind! ..	3d.	Autumn	1d.
Stars of the Night	3d.

HUMOROUS PART-SONGS.

*Three Doughtie Men. (64th thousand)	3d.
Three Children Sliding. (10th thousand)	3d.
A Ryghte Merrie Geste	4d.
The Snow-white Doe	4d.
*Ben Bowlegs (Edward Oxenford)	3d.
The Carrion Crow	3d.
Call John!	3d.
Three Merry Fishers. (Just published)	3d.

DESCRIPTIVE CHORUSES.

With Pianoforte or Orchestral Accompaniments.

The Iron Horse	4d.	The Ocean	3d.
Off to Sea	4d.	*The Ironfounders (36th thou.)	3d.
Jäger Chorus	3d.	The Cyclists	4d.
The Lifeboat	4d.

Orchestral Parts on application to the Composer, Elmham, Dereham.
Tonic Sol-fa Editions at half the above prices of those marked *.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Digitized by Google

CHAPPELL & CO.'S PUBLICATIONS.

THE BEHNKE VOICE-TRAINING METHOD.

Price, in paper covers, Two Shillings; in cloth, Three Shillings.

VOICE-TRAINING PRIMER

By MRS. EMIL BEHNKE and DR. CHARLES W. PEARCE.

An easy Catechism of Vocal Physiology and Musical Theory, for the use of Vocal Students generally. This work is also intended as a Text-Book for preparing Candidates for Vocal Examinations, particularly those of the Associated Board of the R.C.M. and R.A.M., the Incorporated Society of Musicians, and Trinity College, London. It contains in one volume all the information required for answering the viva voce questions of Examiners.

Sixtieth Thousand. Price, in paper covers, One Shilling and Sixpence; in cloth, Three Shillings.

VOICE-TRAINING EXERCISES

In Six separate Books, for Soprano, Mezzo-Soprano, Contralto, Tenor, Baritone, and Bass.
By EMIL BEHNKE and DR. CHARLES W. PEARCE.

Third and Improved Edition. Price, in paper covers, One Shilling and Sixpence; in cloth, Three Shillings.

VOICE-TRAINING STUDIES

In Six separate Books, for Soprano, Mezzo-Soprano, Contralto, Tenor, Baritone, and Bass.
By EMIL BEHNKE and DR. CHARLES W. PEARCE.

"This work contains 24 Progressive Studies in different styles, and is intended as a companion or supplementary volume to 'Voice-Training Exercises.' Those of a more cantabile character are to be used as Solfeggi, the others are to be sung as Vocalises. In this Second Edition the accompaniments have been simplified. Highly favourable opinions of these Studies have been expressed by Sir John Stainer, Sir Robert Stewart, Mr. W. H. Cummings, and other eminent authorities."

POPULAR WORKS FOR CHORAL SOCIETIES

UP TO DATE; or, The Children of the 19th Century. A Cantata for Children. By W. H. Sonley Johnson and Reginald Atkins. Price 1s. 6d. net.
GRAY'S ELEGY. Cantata, by A. Cellier. Paper, 2s. 6d. net; cloth, 4s. net.
FAUST. Dramatic Legend, by Hector Berlioz. New Edition. 3s. 6d. net; cloth, 5s. net; Tonic Sol-fa, 2s. 6d. net.
GOD IS LOVE. A Sacred Cantata, by Mrs. Joseph Robinson. Paper, 3s. net; cloth, 10s. 6d. net.
KENILWORTH. Cantata, by Arthur Sullivan. Paper, 3s. 6d. net.
LALLA ROOKH. Cantata, by Frederick Clay. Paper, 3s. 6d. net.
FRIDOLIN; or, The Message to the Forge. A Dramatic Cantata, by A. Randegger. Paper, 4s. net; cloth, 6s. net.
THE JACKDAW OF RHEIMS. Comic Cantata, by Thomas Ingoldsby and George Fox. 2s. 6d. net. Voice parts, each 6d. net; Harmonium part, 1s. net; Tonic Sol-fa, 1s. 6d. net.
THE MARTYR OF ANTIOCH. Sacred Musical Drama, by Arthur Sullivan. Paper, 5s. net; cloth, 8s. net.
TRIAL BY JURY. Comic Operetta, by W. S. Gilbert and Arthur Sullivan. Paper, 3s. net.

POPULAR NUMBERS OF
CHAPPELL'S PENNY OPERATIC PART-SONGS

FOR SOPRANO, ALTO, TENOR, AND BASS.

*1. Hymn of the Fisherman's Children. Adapted to a Melody from Hérold's "Zampa."
*2. Fays and Elves (In mia fe). From Flotow's "Marta."
*3. Spring's bright glances (In Elvezia non v'ha). From Bellini's "La Sonnambula."
5. Here we rest (Qui la selva). From Bellini's "La Sonnambula."
6. Onward to battle (Squilli echeggi). From Verdi's "Il Trovatore."
7. Rataplan (Rataplan). From Donizetti's "La Figlia del Reggimento."
8. The Gipsy's Star (Vedi! le fosche). From Verdi's "Il Trovatore."
9. War Song of the Druids (Dell' aura tua profetica). From Bellini's "Norma."
11. Come to the Fair! (Accorete giovinette). From Flotow's "Marta."
12. Friendship (Per te d'immenso giubilo). From Donizetti's "Lucia di Lammermoor."
*13. Away, the morning freshly breaking (The Chorus of Fishermen). From Auber's "Masaniello."
*14. Pretty Village Maiden (Peasants' Serenade Chorus). From Gounod's "Faust."
15. The soft winds around us (The Gipsy Chorus). From Weber's "Preciosa."
16. See how lightly on the blue sea (Senti la danza invitaci). From Donizetti's "Lucrezia Borgia."
18. On yonder rock reclining. From Auber's "Fra Diavolo."
*19. Happy and light. From Balfe's "Bohemian Girl."
22. Come, old comrade (The celebrated Chorus of Old Men). From Gounod's "Faust."
23. 'Gainst the Powers of Evil (The Chorale of the Cross). From Gounod's "Faust."
28. The tuneful sound of Robin's horn. Tyrolese Chorus from Rossini's "Guglielmo Tell."
29. The Chorus of Huntsmen. From Weber's "Der Freischütz."
92. Hail to the bride! From Wagner's "Lohengrin."
34. A bridal wreath we twine. Chorus of Bridesmaids from Weber's "Der Freischütz."
35. Behold! how brightly breaks the morning. The Barcarolle from Auber's "Masaniello."
47. The Harvest Home. From Mozart's "Le Nozze di Figaro."

NEW SERIES (8vo size).

52. The Farandole. From Audran's "Olivette."
53. You swear to be good and true. From Cellier's "Dorothy."
54. From deep forest hoary. From Planquette's "Rip Van Winkle."

To be continued.

NEW SERIES OF
CHAPPELL'S VOCAL LIBRARY OF PART-SONGS (8vo size)

118. Venetian Song (F. Paolo Tosti). S.A.T.B. .. King Hall 3d.
119. Mighty Lord (Gounod's "Marche Religieuse"). S.A.T.B. King Hall 3d.
120. Soft and Low (from Gounod's "Mock Doctor"). S.A.T.B. King Hall 4d.
121. Crossing the Bar. S.S.A.T.B.B... .. Arthur M. Goodhart 3d.
122. Sigh no more, ladies. A.T.T.B.B. .. R. J. S. Stevens 3d.
123. Peace, perfect Peace. S.A.T.B. .. .. .. Gounod 3d.
124. Beauty's Eyes (Tosti). S.A.T.B. .. .. King Hall 3d.
125. Hark! my soul (Gounod). S.A.T.B. .. .. King Hall 3d.
*126. Soldiers' Chorus ("Faust"). S.A.T.B. .. Gounod 4d.
127. A Regular Royal Queen ("Gondoliers") .. Sullivan 6d.

*To be continued. Numbers marked thus * also published in Tonic Sol-fa.*

Complete Lists on application to

CHAPPELL AND CO., Ltd., 50, New Bond St., London.

Printed by Novello, Ewer and Co., at 69 & 70, Dean Street (W.), and published at 1, Berners Street (W.), and 80 & 81, Queen Street (E.C.)
Sold also by Kent and Co., Paternoster Row (E.C.)—Friday, April 1, 1898.

Digitized by Google

Henry Willis.

THE MUSICAL TIMES

AND SINGING-CLASS CIRCULAR.

PUBLISHED ON THE FIRST OF EVERY MONTH.

No. 663.—Vol. 39. MAY 1, 1898. Price 4d.; Postage, 1½d.
Registered for transmission abroad. Annual Subscription, Post-free, 5s.

ROYAL CHORAL SOCIETY,

ROYAL ALBERT HALL.

Patron: HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN.
President: H.R.H. THE DUKE OF SAXE-COBURG AND GOTHA, DUKE OF EDINBURGH, K.G.

Conductor: Sir FREDERICK BRIDGE, Mus.D.

THURSDAY EVENING, MAY 5, at 8.

RUDYARD KIPLING'S BALLAD
"THE FLAG OF ENGLAND" ... F. BRIDGE
AND
"THE GOLDEN LEGEND" ... SULLIVAN

Artists:
Miss ESTHER PALLISER.
Mdlle. GIULIA RAVOGLI. | Mr. CHARLES ACKERMAN.
Mr. EDWARD LLOYD. | Mr. ANDREW BLACK.
Organist: Mr. H. L. BALFOUR.

Prices: Stalls, 7s. 6d.; Arena, 6s.; Balcony (Reserved), 5s.; Unreserved, 4s.; Gallery (Promenade), 1s.

ROYAL ACADEMY OF MUSIC,

TENTERDEN STREET, W.

Instituted 1822. Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1830.

Patrons: HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN AND THE ROYAL FAMILY.
President: H.R.H. THE DUKE OF SAXE-COBURG AND GOTHA.
Principal: Sir A. C. MACKENZIE, Mus. Doc.

Midsummer Term begins Monday, May 2.
Syllabus for the 1898-99 L.R.A.M. Examination is now ready.
Fortnightly Concert, Saturday, May 21, at 8.
Prospectus, Entry Forms, and all information may be obtained from the Secretary. F. W. RENAUT, Secretary.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC,

Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1883,
PRINCE CONSORT ROAD, SOUTH KENSINGTON, S.W.

President: H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES, K.G.
Director: C. HUBERT H. PARRY, Esq., D.C.L., M.A., Mus. Doc.
Hon. Sec.: CHARLES MORLEY, Esq., M.P.

The NEXT TERM will begin on May 5. Entrance Examination, May 3, at 11 o'clock.
Syllabus and official Entry Forms may be obtained of
FRANK POWNALL, Registrar.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF ORGANISTS.

A course of Lectures will be given by E. H. Thorne, Esq., F.R.C.O., on "English Church Music," on May 18, 25, and June 1, at 6. Choral Illustrations will be given by a select choir.

The Annual College Dinner will take place on May 31, at 7 o'clock. Sir Alexander Mackenzie, Mus.D., President of the College, will take the chair. Tickets, 5s. each, exclusive of wine, may be obtained at the College.

The next F.R.C.O. Examination begins on July 11. The Solo Playing tests are: Toccata and Fugue in E major—Bach (Novello & Co. Ltd., Augener & Co.); Prelude in C (Six Pieces)—Sir J. Stainer (Novello & Co. Ltd.); and Sonata in C sharp minor—Dr. Basil Harwood (Schott & Co.).

The A.R.C.O. Examination begins on July 18.

The College Library is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., also on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m.

A new edition of the Book of Examination Papers has been issued, which may be obtained by members. Price 5s.; postage, 5d.

Dr. Garrett's Lectures on "Counterpoint," Dr. F. E. Gladstone's Lectures on the "Harmonization of Unfigured Basses and of Melodies," and Mr. James Higgs's on the "Principles and Practice of Counterpoint," may also be obtained. Price 1s. each course.

Members desiring practice on the College Organ may obtain particulars on application.

The large Hall, and sundry smaller rooms, may be hired for concerts, meetings, &c.

E. H. TURPIN, Hon. Secretary.
Hart Street, Bloomsbury, W.C.

QUEEN'S HALL,

LANGHAM PLACE, W.

LIST OF MR. ROBERT NEWMAN'S CONCERTS,

SEASON 1898.

LAMOUREUX ORCHESTRAL CONCERTS.

(Under the management of Mr. ROBERT NEWMAN.)

Conductor: MONS. CHARLES LAMOUREUX.

QUEEN'S HALL GRAND ORCHESTRA OF 103 PERFORMERS.
Principal Violin .. Mr. ARTHUR W. PAYNE.

LAST CONCERT.—May 4, at 8.30.

Overture—"Coriolan" .. .. Beethoven.
Symphony, No. 6, in B minor, "Pathétique" .. Tschaikowsky.
Pianoforte Concerto in A major .. .. Mozart.
Mr. LEONARD BORWICK.
Siegfried Idyll .. .. Wagner.
Symphonic Poem—"Le Rouet d'Omphale" .. Saint-Saëns.
Hungarian March .. .. Berlioz.

Tickets—10s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 5s., Reserved; 2s. 6d., 1s., Unreserved.
At ROBERT NEWMAN'S Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

THE QUEEN'S HALL SUNDAY AFTERNOON ORCHESTRAL CONCERTS.

(Under the management of Mr. ROBERT NEWMAN.)

EVERY SUNDAY AFTERNOON, AT 3.30.

Conductor: Mr. HENRY J. WOOD.

THE QUEEN'S HALL ORCHESTRA OF 90 PERFORMERS.
Principal Violin .. .. .. Mr. ARTHUR W. PAYNE.
Organist and Accompanist .. Mr. PERCY PITT.

ROBERT NEWMAN'S Box Office, Queen's Hall, Langham Place, W.

THE GUILDHALL SCHOOL OF MUSIC.—

Established by the Corporation of London, 1880.
Principal: WILLIAM H. CUMMINGS, Esq.

Students' Orchestra meets Mondays, 6.30 p.m. Classes for study of Rudiments of Music, also Sight Singing, held daily. Full particulars of Secretary. By order of the Committee,
Victoria Embankment, Blackfriars, E.C. HILTON CARTER, Sec.

UNIVERSITY OF DURHAM.

Examinations for Degrees in Music are held in March and September. Full particulars, with copies of former papers, of Dr. Armes, The Bailey, Durham.

GRESHAM COLLEGE LECTURES

EASTER TERM, 1898.

The LECTURES in MUSIC for this Term will be given in the Great Hall, City of London School, Victoria Embankment, E.C., by Professor Sir FREDERICK BRIDGE, Mus D., as under:—

Monday, May 16.—"Chopin" (Songs).
Tuesday, May 17.—"Organ Music" (English School)—T. Adams.
Wednesday, May 18.—"The Development of the Oratorio"—V.
Friday, May 20.—"Triumphs of Oriana."

The Lectures are free to the public, and commence at 6 p.m.

Digitized by Google

LONDON ORGAN SCHOOL AND INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

PRINCES STREET, CAVENDISH SQUARE, W.

Patron: His Grace the ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY.
Established in 1865 by the Rev. SCOTSON CLARK, Mus. Bac., Oxon.
Principal and Director of Studies:
T. H. YORKE TROTTER, M.A., Mus. Doc., Oxon.

PRIVATE LESSONS in ORGAN, PIANOFORTE, SINGING, VIOLIN, CELLO, FLUTE, CLARINET, GUITAR, HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, ELOCUTION, LANGUAGES, &c.
CLASSES in HARMONY, Counterpoint, Composition, Orchestration, and Musical Dictation, under the direction of Dr. Yorke Trotter.
ELOCUTION CLASS (Mr. Charles Fry).
ENSEMBLE CLASSES (Mr. Edward O'Brien).
SINGING CLASSES (Mr. Walter Mackway, A.R.A.M.).
SOLFEGE CLASS for Children (Mr. J. Mewburn Levien).
FRENCH CONVERSATION CLASS (Mr. Arthur Fayne).
ORCHESTRAL PRACTICES are held weekly.
DAY and EVENING LESSONS given throughout the year.
PUPILS CAN ENTER at ANY TIME.
Prospectus on application to THE PRINCIPAL.

GUILD OF CHURCH MUSICIANS, LONDON.

Patron: His Grace the ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY.

President: The Very Rev. FRANCIS PIGOU, D.D., Dean of Bristol.

A.G.C.M. and F.G.C.M. Diploma Examination, July 7, 1898. The "Mendelssohn" Prize, of the value of Two Guineas, is awarded at this Examination to the Candidate obtaining the highest number of marks.
Musical Examination for Clergy. This Examination has been formulated with the object of testing the musical efficiency of clergy desirous of officiating in Choral Services. July 7, 1898.
Lecture—"The desirability of a musical training for the Clergy," by Dr. Lewis.
A Bronze Medal will be awarded for the best Kyrie, with Gloria Tibi and Gratias Tibi.
A Bronze Medal for the best Anthem.
A Silver Medal for the best original Air with Variations for the Organ.
The Council also offer two Exhibitions, each of the value of £5, to be given to the Candidate who shows the most conspicuous merit in the art of organ accompaniment.
Annual Membership Subscription, 10s. 6d. Life, £5 5s.
Choir Enrolment, £2 2s.
The new Calendar is sent (Post-free) for fourteen stamps.
Free register for Organists requiring appointments.
Representatives required in England and abroad.
For further particulars, apply to
Dr. Lewis, Silvermead, Twickenham, S.W.

THE GUILD OF ORGANISTS.

ESTABLISHED 1887.

Patrons:
THE ARCHBISHOPS OF CANTERBURY AND YORK, &c., &c., &c.

President:
E. J. HOPKINS, ESQ., MUS. DOC., CANTUAR.

Warden:
J. T. FIELD, ESQ., L.T.C.L.

Examinations are held twice annually for the Diploma of F.Gld O. and the Certificate of Practical Musicianship—viz., January and July.
For full particulars of Syllabus, Membership, Free Register of Appointments, and general information, address the Hon. Sec., FRED. B. TOWNEND, 24, Queen Victoria Street, London; or, Brentwood, Essex.
N.B.—The Annual Meeting and Dinner will take place on June 28, the Lord Bishop of London presiding.

MUSICAL INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE, LIMITED.

Principal: EDWIN M. LOTT, Mus. Doc.
Founded 1878. Incorporated 1893.
Central Office: 113, Great Portland Street, W.
Local Theoretical Examination, May 17, 1898.
Practical Examinations throughout the kingdom.
Winner of the Ashdown Prize (value Five Guineas) for 1897,
KATE LAVINIA CANN, of Liverpool.
W. A. PHILPOTT, Mus. Doc., Secretary.

SOCIETY OF ARTS PRACTICAL EXAMINATIONS IN MUSIC.—The latest day for receiving entries is Saturday, May 14. Forms and full particulars can be had on application to the Secretary, at the Society's House, 18, John Street, Adelphi, London, W.C.
HENRY TRUEMAN WOOD, Secretary.

ADVERTISER wishes OFFERS for following ORIGINAL MANUSCRIPTS, procured in Germany, by his late father, forty years ago: Four large quarto pages Orchestral Score, by FELIX MENDELSSOHN, two pages of a Gavotte by MOZART, and two pages, oblong folio, by BEETHOVEN. All are in good condition. Address, Genuine, Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 21, East 17th Street, New York City, U.S.A.

Under the direction of The Victoria College Corporation, Ltd.

VICTORIA COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

Incorporated 1891.

Patrons:
The Rt. Hon. THE MARQUIS OF LORNE, K.T.
The Rt. Hon. THE EARL OF DARTMOUTH.

BOARD OF EXAMINATION.
J. H. LEWIS, Mus. Doc., D.C.L. (Principal).
GEORGE PRIOR, Mus. Doc., Oxon., F.R.C.O. (Registrar).
J. M. BENTLEY, Mus. Doc., Cantab., Hon. F.R.A.M.

Metropolitan Examinations, in all subjects and for all grades, including the Diplomas of Associate (A.V.C.M.), Associate in Music (A.Mus. V.C.M.), Licentiate (L.V.C.M.), and Licentiate in Music (L.Mus. V.C.M.), will be held July 6, 1898. Last day of entry, June 15.
Next Local Theoretical Examination, July 6, 1898. Local Practical Examinations are now being held at the various Centres.
Gold, Silver, and Bronze Medals are offered for competition.
The Educational Department is under the direction of Dr. Prior.
Local Secretaries required for towns not already represented.
Full particulars on application.
GEO. A. STANTON, F.G.C.M., Secretary.
Central Office: 11, Burleigh Street, Strand, W.C.

THE STERN CONSERVATOIRE OF MUSIC.

Founded 1850. — Professor GUSTAV HOLLAENDER, Director, 20, Wilhelmstrasse, Berlin, S.W. Conservatoire: Development in all branches of Music. Operatic School: Complete Training for the Stage. Orchestral School (comprising all solo and all orchestral instruments). Seminary: Special Training for Teachers. Chorus School. Elementary Piano and Violin School. Principals: Frau Prof. Selma Nicklass-Kempner, Adolf Schulze, Prof. Benno Stolzenberg (Vocal); Prof. Friedrich Gernsheim, Representing Director; Ludwig Bussler, Hans Pfitzner (Composition, Theory, Musical History); Felix Dreyschock, Albert Eibenschütz, Prof. Heinrich Ehrlich, Prof. Friedr. Gernsheim, A. Papendick, Otto Singer, Alfred Sormann, E. E. Taubert, L. C. Wolf (Piano); Fr. Poenitz (Harp, Harmonium); Otto Dienel, Royal Musical Director (Organ); Prof. Gustav Hollaender, Willy Nicking (Violin); Anton Hekking (Cello); Emanuel Reicher (Dramatic School), &c. Charges: From 125 marks (£6 5s.) up to 500 Marks (£25) annually. Prospectuses may be obtained through the Conservatoire. Pupils received at any time. Consultation hours from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. On September 1, 1897, Prof. Benno Stolzenberg (Vocal and Operatic School), Emanuel Reicher (Dramatic School), Hans Pfitzner (Composition, Piano), Otto Singer (Piano) entered the staff of teachers of the Conservatoire.

BAKER STREET CHURCH OF ENGLAND HIGH SCHOOL FOR GIRLS, LTD.,

6, UPPER BAKER STREET, N.W.
(One Minute from the Metropolitan Station).
The Rev. Canon FRANCIS HOLLAND, Chairman.

PIANO (under the direction of Mr. Oscar Beringer): Miss Constance Bache, Miss Ethel Boyce, A.R.A.M., Miss Jessie Davies, A.R.A.M., Miss Kate Robinson, &c.
VIOLIN (under the direction of Herr Josef Ludwig): Herr J. Ludwig, Miss Louisa Nunn.
VIOLONCELLO: Miss A. F. Vernet, L.R.A.M.
ORGAN (under the direction of Mr. F. A. W. DOCKER, A.R.A.M., Organist of St. Andrew's, Wells Street; Professor of the Organ at the Guildhall School of Music and the London Organ School of Music).
SINGING (under the direction of Mrs. Hutchinson): Mrs. Hutchinson, Miss Margaret Barter.
ELOCUTION: Miss Chute.
HARMONY CLASSES: Orchestral Practices, during Lent and Christmas Terms.
For Prospectus, &c., apply to the Headmistress, Miss Lilla B. Strong, 6, Upper Baker Street, N.W.

HANDEL FESTIVAL SELECTION, 1897.

A few Copies of the "Selection" remaining from last year's Handel Festival may still be had.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.

London: NOVELLO AND COMPANY LIMITED.

THE FULL ORCHESTRAL SCORE OF JOB AN ORATORIO BY C. HUBERT H. PARRY.

Price 42s.

London: NOVELLO AND COMPANY LIMITED.

Digitized by Google

PROFESSIONAL NOTICES.

MISS FLORENCE ARMRIDING (Soprano)
(Pupil of Mr. Shakespeare and Medalist, R.A.M.).
Oratorios, Concerts, Lessons, &c., at 20, Conduit Street.
Address, Leicester Villa, Ealing, W.

MISS ETHEL BARNARD (Soprano)
(Bronze and Silver Medals, Certificate of Merit, and Rutson Memorial Prizeholder, R.A.M.)
German Songs a specialty. 25, Upper Richmond Road, Putney, S.W.

MISS ETHEL BEETLESTONE (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, At Homes.
5, Dunster Gardens, Brondesbury, N.W.

MISS ELLA CHALLIS (Soprano)
Oratorio, Opera, Concerts, At Homes.
48, Tollington Park, N.

MADAME CONWAY (Soprano)
444, Moss Lane East, Oxford Road, Manchester.

MADAME GOODALL (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Address, Leeds

MISS CORDELIA GRYLLS (Soprano)
(Of the Crystal Palace Orchestral Concerts, &c.)
3, Broadhurst Gardens, South Hampstead, N.W.

MISS BESSIE HOLT (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Address, Rawtenstall, near Manchester.

MADAME ANNIE NORLEDGE (Soprano)
For Oratorios and Ballad Concerts.
Address, 1, Northgate, Newark, Notts.

MISS ELSIE PATON (Soprano)
For Oratorios, Concerts, Banquets, &c.
Address, 223, Burdett Road, Limehouse, E.

MISS MARGARET PEARSON (Soprano)
Concerts, Oratorios, &c. For terms, &c., 50, Bloom St., Stockport.

MISS AMY SARGENT, A.R.A.M. (Soprano)
124, Marylebone Road, N.W.

MISS FLORENCE VEREY (Soprano)
Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
Apply, care of N. Vert, Esq., 6, Cork Street, W.; or, 63, Lower Addiscombe Road, Croydon.

MISS MARY WILLIS (Mezzo-Soprano)
For Oratorios, Operas, Concerts, or Private Lessons, address,
9, Rochester Terrace, Camden Road, N.W.

MISS BLODWEN JONES (Contralto)
Llwydiarth Vicarage, Welshpool.
American Opinions of the Press.

"Miss Blodwen Jones possesses an incomparable contralto voice, which has been trained in a superb manner, and elicited astonishment and admiration. To the enthusiastic encore she responded and won the hearts of all present."—Hazleton Sentinel, Oct. 14, 1897.

"The singing of Miss Blodwen Jones was a revelation," &c.—Daily Standard, Oct. 14, 1897.

"The richest and most powerful contralto voice yet heard on our local stage."—Daily News, Oct. 25, 1897.

"Miss Blodwen Jones sang delightfully, and was encored again and again."—Scranton Tribune, Oct. 21, 1897.

"The singing of Miss Blodwen Jones aroused the audience to unusual enthusiasm."—Pittsburg Dispatch, Dec. 21, 1897.

MISS GERTRUDE MACAULAY (Contralto)
Oratorios, Concerts, &c. 198, Belsize Road, Kilburn, N.W.

MRS. HENRY MILWARD (Contralto)
Med., R.A.M., Pupil of Madame Lemmens-Sherrington.
Oratorio, Concerts, At Homes, &c.

"Mrs. Milward's contributions in the first part were both charming. 'The Spinning Wheel' was, to my mind, the gem."—Berrow's Worcester Journal, December, 1897.

"Mrs. Milward sang all her songs in splendid style, but perhaps the best was Vainka's Song, for which she was encored."—Kidderminster Sun, February, 1898.

Terms and vacant dates, address, Grafton, Bromsgrove.

MISS ADA SLATER (Contralto)
For Oratorios, Concerts, Banquets, At Homes.
54, Dunsmure Road, Stamford Hill, N.

MR. WALTER CLINCH (Tenor)
(Late of St. George's Chapel, Windsor Castle).
For Oratorios, Concerts, At Homes, &c., address, Athole House, Alfred Road, Acton, W.

MR. VERNON HENDERSON (Tenor)
Critiques, &c., 22, Powis Square, W.; or,
N. Vert, 6, Cork Street, W.

MR. ARTHUR F. JOHNS (Tenor)
For Oratorios, Ballad Concerts, Banquets, &c.
Address, 202, Grove Road, Bow, E.

MR. EDWIN KELLETT (Tenor)
(Pupil of William Shakespeare, Esq.)
109, Cemetery Road, Beeston Hill, Leeds.

MR. GWILYM RICHARDS (Tenor)
Winner of Joseph Maas Memorial Prize,
" " Goldberg Prize,
" " Evill Prize,
" " Rutson Prize.
At the Royal Academy of Music.
Of the Crystal Palace and St. James's Hall Concerts.
For Oratorios, Ballad Concerts. 30, Redburn Street, Chelsea, S.W.

MR. JOSEPH WILLIAMS (Tenor)
For Concerts, At Homes, Masonic Banquets, &c.
Address, 21, Bolden Street, St. John's, S.E.

MR. HERBERT ALDRIDGE (Baritone)
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
Address, Saxonbury Villa, Buxton Road, Stratford, E.

MR. MANSELL LEWIS (Baritone)
(Of Royal Albert Hall Patti Concerts, London and Provincial Concerts).
For Oratorio, Ballad Concerts, Operas, &c.
All communications to 15, Ladbroke Road, W.; or, Mr. N. Vert, 6, Cork Street, W.

MR. and MRS. WALLIS A. WALLIS
(Baritone and Soprano)
Duets, Cantillations, &c. Address, Sharon, Acton, W.

MR. J. HOUGHTON BRIERLEY (Bass-Baritone)
Cramer and Co., Church Street, Liverpool.

MISS MARIAN JAY (Solo Violinist)
(Pupil of M. Emile Sauret, Medalist and Cert. R.A.M.)
Concerts, At Homes, Lessons.
26, Wigmore Street, W.

MADAME JENNY HOLDEN (Contralto). Engaged: May 23 to 28, Corporation Concerts, Harrogate; June 13 to 19 inclusive, West-End Pier Pavilion, Morecambe. For Oratorio, Concerts, &c., address, Ashton-under-Lyne, Manchester.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS.

MR. EDWARD ILES (Baritone), has REMOVED to 137, King Henry's Road, N.W., where he will in future receive his pupils.

"Mr. Edward Iles is a baritone vocalist of decidedly uncommon powers and intelligence. . . . It will be strange, indeed, if Mr. Iles does not come rapidly to the front rank of vocalists, for his voice is of unusually generous compass, and his vocalisation admirable."—Morning Leader.

Address (for engagements), Mr. N. Vert, 6, Cork Street, W.

MR. EGBERT ROBERTS (Bass, Conductor, Italian Church, Hatton Garden) requests that communications respecting Oratorios, Concerts, or Lessons be addressed, 45, Pentonville Road, N. Oratorio and Concert Parties arranged.

MR. A. W. TOMLYN, Mus. Bac., &c., begs to intimate to his pupils and friends his REMOVAL to 191, Morningside Road, Edinburgh, where all communications respecting Lessons, &c., should be addressed.

MR. R. HANBURY, Organist, St. Paul's, Clapham, late Assistant at St. Paul's, Knightsbridge, &c. For Services, Organ Recitals, &c. Eleven years' experience fully Choral Services. Address, St. Cecilia's, Killyon Road, Larkhall Rise, S.W.

MISS
BEATRICE PALLISTER
The New Yorkshire Soprano. Broxholme Lane, Doncaster.

MADAME LAURA SMART
(SOPRANO).
Oratorios, Operatic Recitals, Ballad Concerts.
Address, 106, Bolingbroke Grove, Wandsworth Common, S.W.; or, 50, Church Street, Liverpool.

MISS BERYL CLIVE
(CONTRALTO)
Has REMOVED to 235, New Cross Road, London, S.E.

MR. TOM CHILD
(THE YORKSHIRE TENOR)
Winner of the 100 Guineas Prize, London, is engaged at the following places this season:—
Blackpool, 15 Concerts; Bridlington, 7; Leeds, 6; York, 2; Doncaster, 2; Calverley, 4; Dewsbury, 2; Morley, 2; Manchester, 2; Darlington, 2; Bradford, 3; Bramley, 2; Farsley, 2; Preston, Oakworth, Belfast, Walsall, Birmingham, Rawdon, Holbeck and Dukinfield, Grimsby, Pocklington, Bacup, Rotherham, Sheffield, Retford, Pudsey, Horsforth, Scarborough, Batley, Sunderland, Bishop Auckland, Selby, Gateshead, Selkirk, Beverley, Droyladen, Saddleworth, Malsis Hall, Ossett, Ripponden, Potternewton, Liverpool, Consett, Durham, Harrogate, Brighouse, Oulton, Bury, Hull, Rochdale, Pontefract, Accrington, Keighley, Armley, Thornton, Delph, Oldham, Chester, Clayton, Ballymena, Ireland.
Permanent address: The Poplars, Calverley, Leeds.

Digitized by Google

MR. BRIGHT JONES
(TENOR).

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY.—THE "RED CROSS KNIGHT." Conducted by the Composer, Dr. E. PROUT.—"Fine robustness, and youthful freshness and beauty of vocal quality marked the singing of Mr. Bright Jones, tenor, in the character of Sir Roland ('Red Cross Knight'). There were numbers in which his vocal powers shone conspicuously, and in the delivery of which his voice told excellently, as well as his portion in the concerted pieces, all of which were fine examples of part-singing."—Ashton Reporter, March 27, 1898.

For terms, Glenhurst, Bath; or, N. Vert, Esq., 6, Cork St., London, W.

MR. JOS. REED
(PRINCIPAL TENOR, TRINITY COLLEGE).

For Oratorios, Ballad Concerts, &c. Terms, Garden Walk, Cambridge.

MR. THURGATE SIMPSON
(TENOR).

Oratorio, Operatic Recitals, Ballads. Specially engaged for Oratorio.
For terms, dates, &c. Address, Collyhurst, Manchester.

MR. GORDON HELLER
(BARITONE)
A.R.C.M. (Double Diploma).
20, Blenheim Terrace, Leeds.

MR. FREDERIC HOSKING
(BARITONE)
Address, 37, Lawford Road, Camden Road, N.W.

MR. DANIEL PRICE
(BARITONE),
Westminster Abbey. Address, 3, Rutland Pk., Willesden Green, N.W.

MR. MUSGROVE TUFNAIL
(BARITONE).
22, Ferndale Road, Clapham, S.W.

MR. CHARLES WALTON
(BARITONE)
(Pupil of Andrew Black, Esq.).
Terms, Press notices, &c., 79, Coppice Street, Oldham.

MR. EDGAR ARCHER
(PRINCIPAL BASS, City Temple).

"I have great pleasure in stating that Mr. Edgar Archer has a fine bass-baritone voice, sings well, and with admirable effect."—WILLIAM H. CUMMINGS, Principal, Guildhall School of Music.

Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Apply, 153, Adelaide Road, N.W.

MR. JOHN BROWNING
(PRINCIPAL BASS, Leeds Parish Church).

Season 1897-98, has sung the bass solos in "Elijah" (3 times), "St. Paul" (3), "Messiah" (12), "Creation" (7), "Samson" (3), Bach's "Passion" (2), "Last Judgment" (2), "Judas," "Seasons," "Swan and Skylark" (2), Dvorák's "Stabat Mater," Parry's "Judith," "May Queen" (2), "St. John's Eve," "Erl-King's Daughter," "King Arthur," &c., for the following Societies: Leeds Choral Union, Glasgow Choral Union, Sheffield Musical Union, Rotherham, Dewsbury, Whitehaven, Arbroath, Selkirk, Berwick-on-Tweed, Hebden Bridge, Heckmondwike, Lindley, Lockwood and Dist., Clayton West and Dist., Slaithwaite, Saddleworth, Pocklington, Gainsbro', Selby, Burnley, Dudley, &c.; also singing at numerous Ballad, Classical, Operatic Selection, &c., Concerts, all over North of England and in Scotland.

Booking for next season. New press notices, terms, &c., address, Marlbro' Grove, Leeds.

MR. HENRY SUNMAN
(BASS)

Licentiate (Artist) of the Royal Academy of Music.

"ELIJAH," FOLKESTONE.—"Mr. Henry Sunman is a fine bass of the first order, and his round voice is heard to advantage in oratorio work. This accomplished artist is no stranger to us, and a welcome always awaits him in Folkestone. Mr. Sunman's finest efforts were undoubtedly 'Is not His word like a fire,' 'Lord God of Abraham,' 'It is enough,' and 'For the mountains shall depart.' The first-named solo was a superb performance, and the easy manner in which the vocalist surmounted its difficulty was fully recognised by those well capable of judging."—Folkestone Herald, March 26, 1898.

GLOUCESTER CATHEDRAL RECITAL.—"The vocalist was Mr. Henry Sunman, the talented bass, who speedily found favour with Gloucester musicians by his able singing at the last Choral Society concert. Mr. Sunman was in excellent voice, and his three selections were admirably sung. At the conclusion of 'Through the darkness' there was the expressive rustle among the audience more eloquent than a storm of applause. The last selection was from Handel, and included the recitative and air 'Be comforted' and 'The Lord worketh wonders,' from 'Judas Maccabæus.' In this again Mr. Sunman was heard to great advantage, and his efforts during the evening went far to cement his popularity in the City."—Gloucester Chronicle, April 16, 1898.

For terms, &c., please address, Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford.

MR. ARTHUR BARLOW
(BASS).

For Oratorios, Operas, Concerts, &c.
Note new address, 6, Beech Mansions, West Hampstead, N.W.

MR. CHARLES MAGRATH
A.R.C.M. (BASS).
Address, 8, Adelphi Terrace, W.C.

MR. J. E. ROBERTS
(BASS).
For Concerts, Oratorios, &c. Address, Astley, Manchester.

MISS ALICE MARY SMITH
(Mrs. Alfred Dymes)
Associate of the Royal College of Music
HARPIST.
Care of Messrs. C. Holdernesse and Co., 105, New Oxford Street, W.C.

SOLO BOYS.
LONDON TRAINING SCHOOL FOR CHORISTERS,
POLYTECHNIC, REGENT ST., W.

PRESIDENT, MR. ALBERTO RANDEGGER.
PRINCIPAL, MR. JAMES BATES.

Twelve Solo Boys can be strongly recommended for Oratorios, Festival Services, Concerts, Organ Recitals, &c. The boys can be heard, by appointment, at their practising rooms, which are nearly opposite the Queen's Hall, Langham Place. For copies of recent testimonials, critiques, &c., address, Mr. JAMES BATES, Polytechnic, Regent Street, W. Telegrams: "Bates," Polytechnic, London.

MR. DUTTON'S SOLO BOYS.

TRAINED BY MR. DUTTON, ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.

Master HAROLD CURD
(Solo Boy, St. Alban's, Holborn).

During Lent Master Curd was engaged for Rossini's "Stabat Mater" (3), Haydn's "Passion" (3), Mendelssohn's "Hear my Prayer" (4), "St. Paul," "95th Psalm," Stainer's "Crucifixion" (2), Pergolesi's "Stabat Mater," Gaul's "Passion," Lee Williams's "Bethany," Maunder's "Penitence," &c., &c.

Master FRANK ROGERS
(Solo Boy, All Saints', Blackheath).

Master WM. GRIFFITHS
(Solo Boy, St. George's, Bickley).

Master WALTER KIRBY
(Solo Boy, St. Alban's, Streatham Park).

Master ALFRED SIMONS
(Solo Boy, St. Luke's, Camberwell).

Master OWEN GIBBONS
(Solo Boy, St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate).

For terms, vacant dates, and further particulars, address—
Mr. HENRY J. DUTTON, 19, Alpha Road, New Cross, S.E.

MR. JOSEF CANTOR'S

"GEMS OF THE OPERAS"
CONCERT COMPANY.

All communications, Church Street, Liverpool.

Telegrams—"Cantor, Liverpool."

THE EUTERPEAN VOCAL QUARTET
Misses ANNIE SWINFEN, ANNIE WILSON,
Messrs. AGER GROVER, MUSGROVE TUFNAIL.
Concerts, Banquets, &c.
Address, Mr. M. Tufnail, 22, Ferndale Road, S.W.

THE GEORGIAN SINGERS
(Of the Imperial Institute Concerts, &c.).
Mr. FRED. NAYLOR (Alto)
Mr. JAMES DEMPSTER (Tenor)
Mr. HARRY CARVER (Baritone and Humorist)
Mr. BELL KEMPTON (Bass)
(Of the Choirs of St. George's Chapel Royal and Her Majesty's Private Chapel, Windsor Castle, and Eton College Chapel).
Terms on application to Mr. Bell Kempton, 16, The Cloisters, Windsor Castle; or, the usual Agents.

MR. STEDMAN'S MUSICAL AGENCY
(Established 1877).
Artists for Opera, Theatre, Oratorio, At Homes, Banquets, &c.
Choir Boys and Girls.
58, Berners Street, W.

Digitized by Google

ROYAL WINDSOR GLEE SINGERS

(Of St. George's Chapel Royal and Eton College Chapel).

Mr. WALTER CLAY. Mr. ABEL STARKEY.
Mr. DAVID HUMPHREYS. Mr. WALTER DODDS.

For Concerts, At Homes, Masonic or other Banquets, &c., address, D. Humphreys, 19, The Cloisters, Windsor Castle; or, N. Vert, Esq., 6, Cork Street, W.

MR. W. C. AINLEY, Mus. Bac., Cantab. (1884), teaches HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, &c., by Correspondence. Terms moderate. Eastfield House, Mirfield, Yorkshire.

DR. ALLISON instructed by Post Candidates who OBTAINED DEGREES OF MUS.D. AND MUS.B. at Oxford (1897), Cambridge, Dublin, and Durham Universities, Diplomas of L.R.A.M. (1897, &c.), A.Mus. L.C.M., L.Mus. L.C.M., F.R.C.O., and A.R.C.O.; Appointments at College and School of Music, and as Chapel Royal, Cathedral, and Parish Church Organists; Gold Medals, Prizes, "Honours" and Pass Certificates (of the Colleges of Music) to the number of 500. Harmony, Counterpoint, Orchestration, and Revision of Compositions, by Post, to correspondents anywhere. Personal instruction in Theory, Singing, Organ, and Pianoforte. Cambridge House, 68, Nelson Street, Manchester.

REVISION OF MUSICAL COMPOSITIONS. Dr. Horton Allison, Mus.D. 68, Nelson Street, Manchester.

MR. J. PERCY BAKER, A.R.A.M., Mus. Bac., Dunelm, teaches HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, &c., by Post. Personal Lessons in Pianoforte or Theory at own or pupil's residence; or at 84, New Bond Street, W. Schools attended. Address, Willersley House, Old Charlton.

MR. T. HEMMINGS, Mus. Bac., Oxon., F.R.C.O., L.Mus.T.C.L., gives LESSONS in HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, &c., and prepares CANDIDATES for ARTS and MUSICAL EXAMINATIONS by Post. Latest successes, Mus.Bac., Oxford and Durham, L.R.A.M., A.R.C.M., F.R.C.O., A.R.C.O., &c. Sheppard Street, Stoke-on-Trent.

DR. F. J. KARN, Mus. Bac., Cantab.; Mus. Doc., Trinity College, Toronto; L.Mus., T.C.L., gives LESSONS Personally or by Post in HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, FUGUE, FORM, ORCHESTRATION, ACOUSTICS, &c., and prepares for Musical Examinations. Latest successes: LONDON MUS. BAC., December, 1897; L.R.A.M. (Pianoforte), 1898; F.R.C.O. and A.R.C.O., January, 1898; MUS. BAC., DURHAM, March and September, 1897, and all previous years; and FIRST, March and September, 1897, and all previous years; A.R.C.M., 1896 and 1897; OXFORD, MUS. BAC., FINAL and FIRST, 1896 and 1897; CAMBRIDGE, FINAL and FIRST MUS. BAC.; DUBLIN, MUS. BAC.; L.R.A.M. (Composition), 1897; Mus. Bac. and Mus. Doc., Toronto; L.Mus. and A.Mus., L.C.M.; L.T.C.L. and A.T.C.L., 1896 and 1897; Senior Local R.A.M. and R.C.M. Special and individual attention given to Correspondents. Upwards of 420 Diplomas and Degrees and several Gold and Silver Medals gained by pupils. MSS. corrected for publication; Analysis of classical works for Examinations. Terms moderate. Address, 70, Parkhill Road, London, N.W.

DR. ORLANDO A. MANSFIELD, Mus. Doc. T.U.T., L.Mus. L.C.M., F.R.C.O., L.T.C.L. (Author of "The Student's Harmony"), Torquay, PREPARES by Post for MUSICAL EXAMINATIONS. MSS. revised. Examination pieces analysed.

MR. W. E. PITMAN, Mus. Bac., Oxon., F.R.C.O., teaches HARMONY and COUNTERPOINT, Personally or by Correspondence, and coaches for the Universities, Royal College of Organists, and other Musical Exams. Thorough grounding in the various subjects. For terms, address, W. E. Pitman, Fir Cottage, Kenley, Surrey.

DR. HAMILTON ROBINSON, Mus. Doc., Dunelm, F.R.C.O., Lecturer on Harmony in King's College, Lond., Organist and Choirmaster, St. Stephen's, South Kensington. PIANOFORTE and ORGAN LESSONS, HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, COMPOSITION, &c., Personally or by Correspondence. Preparation for University, R.C.O., and all other Examinations. Classes. 54, Baron's Court Road, West Kensington, W.

MR. BRUCE STEANE (Composer of "The Ascension," contributor to Novello's Octavo Anthems, &c., prepares rapidly and systematically for MUSICAL EXAMS. in all subjects, Personally or by Post. MSS. corrected and revised for publication. Address, "The Leas," Clyde Road, Wallington, Surrey

MR. R. STOKOE, Mus. Bac., Cantab., F.R.C.O., gives ORGAN LESSONS at Christ Church, Down Street, Piccadilly. Harmony, Counterpoint, &c., taught personally or by Post. 86, Rossiter Road, Balham, S.W.

DR. TAYLOR, Mus.D., Oxon., F.R.C.O., L.T.C.L. (Author of "Vocal Score Reading Exercises" and "Figured Bass and Melody Exercises," for R.C.O. Students), prepares CANDIDATES for MUSICAL EXAMINATIONS by Post. Address, Wolverhampton Road, Stafford.

MR. A. W. TOMLYN, Mus.B. Dunelm, L.Mus. T.C.L., COACHES for University and other EXAMS. Every possible assistance guaranteed. Many past successes. 191, Morningside Road, Edinburgh.

MR. W. H. TUTT, Mus. Bac., Cantab., L.R.A.M., teaches HARMONY, COUNTERPOINT, ACOUSTICS, &c. by Correspondence. Ashburn, Derbyshire.

THE VIRGIL PIANO SCHOOL

AND

SCHOOL OF PUBLIC PERFORMANCE.

A. K. VIRGIL, Principal,

Specialist in Pianoforte Technic.

ASSISTED BY COMPETENT TEACHERS TRAINED IN THE SPECIAL METHODS EMPLOYED

ALBERT BATE,

Secretary and Assistant Instructor.

Special Classes for beginning Pupils. Fees low.
Pupils can enter at any time
No entrance or examination fees.

The Study of the Piano a specialty, upon the basis of a Scientific and Positive Technic, as taught and developed by the methods and use of the Virgil Practice Clavier.

True Psychological Educational Laws the Underlying Principle.

Interesting Prospectus of the School, in which the Theories of the Clavier Method and System of Instruction are fully explained, will be sent free on application.

ADDRESS: THE SECRETARY,

VIRGIL PIANO SCHOOL,

CLAVIER HALL, 12, PRINCES ST., HANOVER SQ., W.

MR. W. WOLSTENHOLME, Mus. Bac., Oxon., teaches HARMONY and COUNTERPOINT by Correspondence. Compositions revised. 86, Oswald Street, Blackburn.

MUSICAL PARTNERSHIP.—To Lady Instrumentalists with moderate Capital. Unique opportunity for capable TEACHER to join another, long established, in extending a Conservatoire on entirely original lines. Under distinguished patronage and approval. Assured position. Vade Willing's, 162, Piccadilly.

BEETHOVEN'S "PASTORAL" SYMPHONY.—A Durham Graduate having made an exhaustive analysis of this work for his pupils, will be pleased to send a copy of it to other candidates for a small fee. Address, Edward Mason, Arbroath.

VOICE PRODUCTION, STYLE, AND ARTISTIC SINGING.

MR. F. ST. JOHN LACY, A.R.A.M., &c. Receives Pupils at his residence, Albany Chambers, York Street, Queen Anne's Gate, S.W. (St. James's Park Station).

N.B.—Mr. St. John Lacy does not accept Concert engagements.

MR. FREDERIC W. PARTRIDGE, A.R.C.M. (strongly recommended by Mr. Santley), teaches the ART of SINGING at a Studio in the West-End or at his private residence, 11, Manor Grove, Beckenham, S.E.

THE TRAINING of ALTOS.—LESSONS in VOICE PRODUCTION and SINGING given by MUNRO DAVISON, L.R.A.M. (Singing), F.R.C.O., L.T.C.L., Professor of Alto Singing, Guildhall School of Music; Solo Alto, Temple Church; Organist, &c., Holy Innocents', Hornsey, &c.; Professor of Singing, Organ, Pianoforte, and Harmony. 142, Stroud Green Road, N.

VOICES TRAINED (Altos included) and Sight-Singing and the PIANOFORTE TAUGHT by Mr. W. A. FROST (Vicar-Choral of St. Paul's Cathedral), at 16, Amwell Street, Myddelton Square, E.C. Many of Mr. Frost's Pupils have obtained Cathedral and other Choir Appointments in open competitions.

MR. HENRY J. TIMOTHY, F.R.C.O., Organist and Director of the Choir, Holy Trinity Church, Stroud Green, has a VACANCY for an ARTICLED PUPIL, Resident or Non-Resident. Fine organ. Daily services. Orchestra and organ at festivals. Good opportunity for learning the profession. Address, 134, Ferme Park Road, N.

OXFORD, NEW COLLEGE, CHORISTERSHIPS.—The Trial of Voices to fill VACANCIES in the Choir School will be held on Wednesday, July 13. Candidates must have a good ear and good voice, and should be between 9 and 12 years of age. For particulars, apply to the Precentor. Names to be sent in by July 9.

Digitized by Google

THE Organist of Canterbury Cathedral has a VACANCY for an ARTICLED PUPIL. Apply to H. C. Perrin, Mus. Bac.

ST. PAUL'S, Tottenham.—ALTO WANTED. Must be a good reader. Salary, £12. Apply, W. A. Hall, 7, The Avenue, Bruce Grove, Tottenham.

ALTO and TENOR WANTED, for Church near Marble Arch. Cathedral service. £15. Good readers. Apply to S. A., Novello & Co. Ltd., 1, Berners Street, W.

ALTO and TENOR REQUIRED, for All Saints', West Dulwich, one of whom will be required to act as Sub-Choirmaster. Apply to Precentor, Woodlands, Dulwich Common, S.E.

BASS WANTED, used to Church service. Communicant. £10. Apply, Tuesdays at 8, Fridays at 9, to Frank Heavens, Org. and Chm., Grosvenor Chapel, South Audley Street, Mayfair, W.

WANTED, at once, BASS, for Rosslyn Hill Chapel, Hampstead. Two services on Sundays, one on Good Friday and Christmas Day, and Friday evening practice. Salary, £15. Apply to Charles Weiss, Birch Bank, Hampstead, N.W.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER REQUIRED, for Pershore Abbey, Worcestershire. Good accompanist, voice trainer, and disciplinarian essential. Fine Church. Three-manual organ, recently renovated. Choral Eucharist; daily Evensong. £60. Apply, Vicar.

BECKENHAM CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH. ORGANIST REQUIRED, by end of June (Congregationalist preferred). Apply, by letter only, stating qualifications, also salary required. Address, Secretary, Eastwell, Beckenham, Kent.

ORGANIST, of marked ability, well acquainted with both Church of England and R.C. Services, desires POSITION in or near London in place of worship of any denomination. No objection to train choir, unless boy choir. Address, Semper Fidelis, Novello & Co. Ltd., 1, Berners Street, W.

WANTED, by an experienced Organist and Choirmaster, DEPUTY WORK for July and part of August. Apply, H. Judson Yewdall, The Crossley Schools, Halifax, Yorks.

A YOUNG MAN, aged 28, accomplished on the Organ and Piano, desires APPOINTMENT in a House of Business or as Private Secretary. Address, P., care of Bunker, 34, Dalston Lane, N.E.

LADY ORGANIST, certificated, experienced, would DEPUTISE at home or abroad for few weeks after May. Good organ, choral services. D 352, Shelley's, Gracechurch Street, E.C.

ORGANISTS, CHOIRMASTERS, and others requiring only a limited number of their Compositions, should send for DINHAM, BLYTH & CO.'S SPECIMENS (free). Kyries, Anthems, &c., from 24 copies and upwards. 28, Fenchurch Street, London. Established 1872.

PIANIST, having large experience as Concert Soloist and Teacher of Piano, being himself a pupil of two world-renowned Continental Masters, desires a POSITION as PIANO MASTER in a first-class School, either musical or literary. Would also accept private pupils. Address, Best Credentials, Novello & Co. Ltd., 1, Berners Street, W.

EXPERIENCED TUNER and REPAIRER of Pianos and American Organs WANTED. State age and salary required, with references. Photo. None but steady men need apply. C. Thurnam and Sons, Carlisle.

TUNER.—WANTED, immediately, a first-class PIANO TUNER. A permanent and good berth for a steady man. Apply, stating wages required, references, age, and enclosing photo, to Duck, Son and Pinker, Bath.

WANTED, a thoroughly reliable PIANOFORTE TUNER, of first-class address and gentlemanly appearance, for out-door tuning and to take charge of show-room occasionally. Permanency. Good salary and commission. Apply, C. Curtis, 28 and 29, Baker Street, W.

TUNER WANTED (Out-door). One who has had factory experience and understands American Organs, &c., preferred. A. Phillips, Ltd., 70, High Road, Kilburn, N.W.

PIANOFORTE TUNER and REGULATOR WANTED, for Out-door work. Must be a thoroughly experienced man, with first-class references. Apply, stating age, salary required, and enclosing photo, to W. H. Priestley and Sons, Colmore Row, Birmingham.

WANTED, immediately, first-class TUNER, who can also repair Pianofortes and Organs, for London (West-End) business. A similar Tuner also wanted for South Coast. Apply, stating age, salary required, references, and with photo, to Waldstein, Novello & Co. Ltd., 1, Berners Street, W.

TUNER, of gentlemanly address, WANTED, by a firm in Scotland. Salary to commence at 45s. per week. Permanency to suitable man. Apply, with photo and references, to V. P., Novello & Co. Ltd., 1, Berners Street, W.

GOOD practical workman WANTED, as TUNER. State age and wages required. Address, Competent, Novello & Co. Ltd., 1, Berners Street, W.

EXPERIENCED TUNER and REPAIRER REQUIRED, for permanency, in a Provincial firm. Only steady and good workmen need apply. C. D., Novello & Co. Ltd., 1, Berners Street, W.

WANTED, for Country House, experienced TUNER, for Pianos, Organs, and Harmoniums. Apply, O. T., Novello & Co. Ltd. 1, Berners Street, W.

PIANOFORTE TUNER WANTED. Experienced, Out-door. Able to do repairs. Age under 30. Write, stating age, experience, and salary required. Photo and copies of testimonials will be returned if enclosed. Permanent situation to first-class man. No improvers. Walter Phillips, High Street, Putney, S.W.

WANTED, a JUNIOR TUNER. E. Price and Sons, Handel House, Bournemouth.

WANTED, SECOND TUNER. Country. Permanency. Apply, P., Novello & Co. Ltd., 1, Berners Street, W.

PIANOFORTE TUNER (high-class out-door experience) desires SITUATION. Thoroughly understands reed organs. Knowledge of pipe organs (pneumatic). Steady, reliable. Married. Aged 36. Address, South-West, Novello & Co. Ltd., 1, Berners Street, W.

TUNER (Improver) requires SITUATION. Good tuner, fairly good repairer. Energetic. Wages, 1 guinea per week. Address, Tuner, Novello & Co. Ltd., 1, Berners Street, W.

PIANOFORTE TUNER wants SITUATION. Thoroughly reliable, steady, middle-aged man. Fair knowledge of American Organs, ordinary repairs, &c. P. F., Novello & Co. Ltd., 1, Berners Street, W.

COLLARD TUNER desires good permanent BERTH. Nineteen years' factory and country experience. Aged 33. Married. Could manage branch. W. G. White, Green St., Hereford.

MANAGER for Music Warehouse WANTED. Must tune well, good salesman, and able to instruct apprentices. Salary and good commission for a reliable man. Apply to A. B. Z., Novello & Co. Ltd., 1, Berners Street, W.

MANAGER.—Young married Man desires POSITION as MANAGER of a small Music Business. Has had previous experience as Manager. Good tuner. Very successful salesman. Address, D. S. P., Novello & Co. Ltd., 1, Berners Street, W.

MANAGER or ASSISTANT. Thirteen years' London and Provincial experience. Single and of good address and appearance. Well up in instruments, small goods, Catalogues, sheet music, &c. Good musician and a successful salesman, with first-class references, and can tune and keep books. X. Z. Y., care of the Post Office, Bridge Street, Chester.

WANTED, PIANOFORTE SALESMAN. An experienced and smart man, who can sell from Catalogue, to work several towns for sales and tunings and assist in any part of music business. Must be a good Tuner. Enclose references, photo, and full particulars to Energetic, Novello & Co. Ltd., 1, Berners Street, W.

PIANO SALESMAN.—WANTED, fully qualified SALESMAN. Must have filled such a position already. Preference given to applicant who will be willing to assist occasionally at Counter and who has some knowledge of sheet music department. Liberal salary. J. B. Cramer and Co., 26, Church Street, Liverpool.

GENTLEMAN (30), leaving for the Cape early in June, desires to take up COMMISSION for a leading house. Considerable experience. Highest references. T. L., Novello & Co. Ltd., 1, Berners Street, W.

SITUATIONS VACANT and WANTED.—Musical Agency, 50, Upham Park Road, Chiswick, W. Business and Trade List: Tuners, Salesmen, Managers, &c.

SITUATIONS WANTED: Permanency, London district, by experienced Tuner. 37, Trelawney Road, Hackney.

TUNER (good) desires Engagement for part time. London or South. Good references. C. J. S. Nutley, Carew Road, Eastbourne.

MUSICSELLERS (Home and Abroad) desiring sole LOCAL AGENCY, write for prospectus, terms, and catalogue, free. Harmonic Publishing Company, Wandsworth, S.W.

NEW ORGAN STUDIO, with Three-manual PIPE ORGAN, blown by water. Terms for Practice, 1s. per hour. At Smyth's Music Depôt, 54, London Road, Forest Hill, S.E.

ORGAN PRACTICE. Three manuals and pedals. One shilling per hour. The South London Organ Studio, 343, Coldharbour Lane, close to Brixton Station.

CLAVIER VIRGIL PRACTICE WANTED, Second-hand. State style, age, lowest price, &c. Musical, care of Fairbairn and Sons, Ltd., Advertising Agents, 1, Hanover St., Edinburgh.

Digitized by Google

ORGAN.—WANTED, small PIPE ORGAN for Church which seats 400. Apply, stating measurements, specification, builder, and cash price, to James Sadler, Botterley Hill, Nantwich.

ORGANS (CHURCH). Fine toned, modern, 2 manuals, pedal, 15 stops. £95. Another, 6 stops, 2 manuals. £40. Eustace Ingram, 361, Liverpool Road, London, N.

ORGANS (New and Second-hand) for SALE, from £20, with pedals. Instruments for Church, Chapel, and College, built on the most modern principles, at Bedwell and Sons', Cambridge Organ Works, Cambridge.

ORGAN, in Country Church, for immediate SALE. Several new and second-hand Organs, with 3-2 manuals. W. E. Richardson, Central Organ Works, Hulme, Manchester.

TWO-MANUAL and PEDAL AMERICAN ORGANS. A 165-guinea "Bell," two manuals and pedals, 85 guineas; a "Karn," 25 guineas; a 95-guinea two-manual "Alexandre" Harmonium, 22 stops, 35 guineas. Also several large Organs and Harmoniums by Bell, Karn, Alexandre, Trayser, &c., one-third usual price. Messrs. Stagg and Sons, 56, Red Lion Street, Holborn.

ORGANS for SALE or Hire.—New Organs: 13 stops, 15 stops, 17 stops, 21 stops, and 30 stops. Second-hand Organs, nearly new: 15 stops, 17 stops, 20 stops, 22 stops. One-manual Organ for £20. Organs built to any specification, and constructed on the most improved principles, at low prices. A. Monk's Organ Works, 550A, Holloway Road, London.

2-MANUAL PIPE ORGAN. 16 stops; manuals, CC to A; pedals, CCC to F. 165 Guineas. Also, 1-manual ditto, 8 stops, full compass Bourdon pedals. 70 guineas. Both thoroughly good instruments. Payment arranged. Seen by appointment. S., 52, Hazlewood Crescent, Westbourne Park, London, W.

TWO-MANUAL and PEDAL (Pipe) ORGAN for SALE. Great Organ: ten stops; Swell Organ: ten stops; Pedal Organ: three stops. Three couplers; three composition pedals to Great Organ; two composition pedals to Swell Organ. At present in use at Christ Church, Gipsy Hill. £100.

TWO-MANUAL ORGAN for SALE. 16 stops. Good powerful tone. Suitable for a small Church or Mission Hall. Apply, Geo. F. Lawrence, 7, West Hill, Wandsworth.

ORGAN, "BELL," for SALE. Two manuals and pedals. Full compass. Almost new. Cheap. Lee, Paradise St., Birmingham.

SECOND-HAND ORGANS for SALE.

9. A fine Two-manual Organ, by RONSON, entirely re-built and brought up to date by Norman and Beard. Contains two manuals and pedals, 26 stops; full compass. In perfect order. Designed by the late W. T. Best. Now standing at our Norwich factory. Can be seen by appointment. Price £260.
3. The Organ now standing in Pulham Market Church, Norfolk. Two manuals and pedals, 13 stops. Can be seen at the Church by appointment. Price £100.
5. One-manual Organ, 8 stops, now standing at our works. It has been thoroughly overhauled and is in good order. Price £60.

Also three or four smaller Organs, one and two-manual.
Specifications and estimates for new Organs, tunings, and repairs, sent free.
Apply to Norman and Beard, 24, Queen Victoria Street, London, E.C.

9 GUINEAS.—AMERICAN ORGAN (list price, 20 guineas), 11 stops, including two knee-stops and the beautiful solo stops, voix celeste and vox humana; two octave couplers, handsome high case; in use about four months; ten years' warranty; easy terms arranged. Packing and carriage free. Approval. Full price paid will be allowed within three years if exchanged for a higher-class instrument. D'Almaine and Co. (established 113 years), 91, Finsbury Pavement, E.C. Open till 7. Saturdays, 3.

14 GUINEAS.—PIANO, solid iron frame upright grand (list price 23 guineas); full compass, trichord, celeste action, &c.; in handsomely carved walnut wood case, four feet in height; in use only six months; sent on approval, carriage free, to any part of the United Kingdom; ten years' warranty; easy terms arranged; full price paid will be allowed if exchanged for a higher class instrument within three years. D'Almaine and Co. (established 113 years), 91, Finsbury Pavement, City. Open till 7. Saturdays, 3.

THE OLD FIRM.

P. CONACHER & CO.,

Organ Builders,

SPRINGWOOD WORKS,

HUDDERSFIELD.

TWO GOLD MEDALS.

NICHOLSON AND CO.,

ORGAN BUILDERS,

PALACE YARD, WORCESTER

(ESTABLISHED 1841.)

Specifications and Estimates sent free.

BY ROYAL APPOINTMENT.

NORMAN & BEARD,

ORGAN BUILDERS,

NORWICH AND LONDON

(ESTABLISHED 1870),

Have recently restored the following Organs:—

BOMBAY CATHEDRAL;
ST. PAUL'S, PADDINGTON;
THE TEMPLE CHURCH, LONDON;
ALL SAINTS', MARGARET STREET, LONDON.

N.B.—Estimates for New Organs or Reconstructions free.

TESTIMONIAL FROM DR. PEACE, OF LIVERPOOL:—
"January 24, 1897.

"I have much pleasure in expressing my high opinion of the Organ you have erected in Trinity Presbyterian Church, Birkenhead. As regards its general quality of tone, the instrument possesses those characteristics which are always associated with high-class workmanship, whilst the mechanical part of it is everything that the most exacting could wish.

"So far as my experience with your work goes, I think it is decidedly one of the best instruments you have built, and I think the congregation has every reason to be congratulated on the possession of a really excellent specimen of genuine artistic Organ-building.

Yours very truly,
"A. L. PEACE."

ADDRESS:

NORMAN & BEARD,

24, QUEEN VICTORIA STREET, LONDON E.C.

Telephone, 416, Bank.

Awarded Medal of Honour at the International Inventions Exhibition, London, 1885.

THE ONLY AWARD.

RUMMENS'

Organ Pedal Attachment

FOR PIANOFORTES.

DETACHABLE PEDAL BOARD.

EQUAL TO ORGAN PRACTICE.

Testimonials from all the Chief Organists of the day.

Write for particulars to

H. J. RUMMENS,

1, WYNNE ROAD, late 47, CHURCH ROAD, BRIXTON, S.W.

RUMMENS' PEDALS.—Second-hand Set, in good condition, for SALE. £5. May be seen any evening. W. Darley, 27, Wroughton Road, Balham, S.W.

ORGAN PEDALS to PIANOS.—New method of Attachment by TUBULAR PNEUMATIC. This action surpasses all mechanical actions for prompt and Organ-like Touch. It is less expensive, easy to attach, and does not injure the most delicate Pianoforte. Prospectus, with full description and price lists, on application to Norman and Beard, 24, Queen Victoria St., London, E.C

Now Ready. On the 1st of each Month. 32 Cols. 2d.; Post-free, 3½d.
MUSICAL OPINION and MUSIC TRADE REVIEW. 150, Holborn Bars, E.C.

Digitized by Google

Trinity College London (Music)

INSTITUTED 1872.
MANDEVILLE PLACE, MANCHESTER SQUARE, W.

President:
THE RIGHT HON. LORD COLERIDGE, M.A., Q.C.
Warden: PROFESSOR E. H. TURPIN, Mus.D.
Director of Examinations: PROFESSOR JAMES HIGGS, Mus.B.

LOCAL EXAMINATIONS IN MUSICAL KNOWLEDGE.

The LAST DAY of ENTRY is May 18, for the Thirty-ninth Half-yearly Local Examinations in MUSICAL KNOWLEDGE (Theory) to be held on Saturday, June 18.

The Examinations will be conducted in Three Divisions—Junior, Intermediate, and Senior. Each Division includes a Pass Section and an Honours Section, and a separate Examination Paper is set for each Section.

The requirements in the various Sections will be:—

JUNIOR PASS — Notation; Intervals; Time; Musical Terms; Marks, &c.

JUNIOR HONOURS — Notation and Intervals; Time; Musical Terms, &c.; Simple Questions on Musical History.

INTERMEDIATE PASS—Notation, Terms, &c.; Transposition; First Principles of Harmony; Musical History.

INTERMEDIATE HONOURS — Transposition, Terms, &c.; further Knowledge of Harmony; Figured Bass; Elementary Knowledge of Form.

SENIOR PASS—Figured Bass; Melody, or Unfigured Bass; Miscellaneous Questions; Musical History.

SENIOR HONOURS—Working of Figured Basses in Open Score; Harmonisation of given Melodies; Miscellaneous Harmony Questions; Simple Counterpoint.

EXAMINATION FEES: Six Shillings (Junior); Seven Shillings and Sixpence (Intermediate); Half-a-Guinea (Senior).

THREE NATIONAL PRIZES, of the value of Five Pounds each, are awarded annually after the June examination.

Any or all of the following printed papers may be had on application to the undersigned:—(a) Regulations and list of music to be performed for the Local Examination in Instrumental and Vocal Music, and regulations for the (Theoretical) Local Examinations in Musical Knowledge; (b) List of Local Centres; (c) Regulations for the Higher Examinations for Diplomas and Certificates, and list of music to be performed for the Higher Certificates in Vocal and Instrumental Subjects; (d) Prospectus of the Classes and Lectures Department; (e) General Prospectus, containing List of Honorary Officers; (f) Regulations for the Enrolment of Institutions in Union; (g) Regulation for Membership.

By order.
SHELLEY FISHER, Secretary.
Mandeville Place, Manchester Square, W.

Just Published.

A Handbook
OF Examinations in Music

CONTAINING

600 QUESTIONS, WITH ANSWERS

IN

THEORY	ACOUSTICS
HARMONY	MUSICAL HISTORY
COUNTERPOINT	ORGAN CONSTRUCTION AND
FORM	CHOIR TRAINING
FUGUE

TOGETHER WITH

MISCELLANEOUS PAPERS AS SET BY VARIOUS EXAMINING BODIES

BY

ERNEST A. DICKS,

Fellow of the Royal College of Organists, Member of the Incorporated Society of Musicians, &c.

In boards, price Three Shillings and Sixpence.

London: NOVELLO AND COMPANY LIMITED.

John Broadwood & Sons

PIANOFORTE MAKERS

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT TO

HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCE OF WALES
HER ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCESS OF WALES
HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE DUKE OF EDINBURGH
(DUKE OF SAXE-COBURG AND GOTHA)

AND THE

REST OF THE ROYAL FAMILY.

John Broadwood & Sons

respectfully draw attention to, and invite inspection of, their newly introduced and improved straight and cross strung

HORIZONTAL

AND

UPRIGHT PIANOFORTES.

33, GREAT PULTENEY STREET (near Regent Street),
LONDON, W.

Just Published.

WREATHS FOR OUR GRAVES

CHORAL SONG

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

L. F. MASSEY

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

ARTHUR SULLIVAN.

These words were sent by Her Majesty to Sir Arthur Sullivan with the gracious request that he would set them to music for the Service held at Frogmore on the anniversary of the Prince Consort's death, December 14.

Price Sixpence; Tonic Sol-fa, Threepence.

London: NOVELLO AND COMPANY LIMITED.

Just Published.

WHEN LOVE AND BEAUTY

MADRIGAL FOR FIVE VOICES, S.S.A.T.B.

From the unpublished Opera "The Sapphire Necklace," composed in 1863

THE WORDS WRITTEN BY

H. F. CHORLEY

THE MUSIC COMPOSED BY

ARTHUR SULLIVAN.

Price Sixpence; Tonic Sol-fa, Threepence.

London: NOVELLO AND COMPANY LIMITED.

Digitized by Google

THE ASSOCIATED BOARD OF THE R.A.M. AND R.C.M.

FOR

LOCAL EXAMINATIONS IN MUSIC.

PRESIDENT:

H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES, K.G.

SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS.

The next period of School Examinations will be Period B (June-July).

All Entries and Fees must be received not later than Friday, May 13, 1898.

These Examinations consist of:—

GENERAL SCHOOL EXAMINATION.

SINGING-CLASS EXAMINATION.

(A written report of the result of these Examinations will be sent to the Head of each School.)

The School Examinations comprise three Grades:—

ELEMENTARY DIVISION,

LOWER DIVISION,

HIGHER DIVISION,

for which individual certificates are awarded.

For particulars of Fees, &c., see Syllabus B.

SAMUEL AITKEN,
Hon. Secretary.

Central Office, 32, Maddox Street, London, W.

With this number are presented gratis Extra Supplements, consisting of an Anthem for Whitsuntide, entitled, "The Glory of the God of Israel," by Thomas Adams, and a Portrait of Mr. Henry Willis, specially taken for this paper by Messrs. Russell and Sons.

THE MUSICAL TIMES
AND SINGING-CLASS CIRCULAR.
MAY 1, 1898.

HENRY WILLIS.

Londoners, as well as country cousins, of the older generation will remember the great panoramas of Robert Burford in Leicester Square. Many years ago, and in the middle of a field, just behind where the Board School in Great College Street now stands, and close to Camden Town Station on the North London Railway, Burford erected his "workshop" or studio. This circular building, of substantial brick, is now designated "The Rotunda Organ Works," having been acquired by Mr. Henry Willis for the purpose of his business. Its ample dimensions may be judged by the fact that the huge organ for the Royal Albert Hall was set up within its walls. "When I first came here, more than thirty years ago," says Mr. Willis, "this place was entirely surrounded with dead cats and dogs! The glass roof was all broken. I found three of Burford's panoramas here—'The Battle of Waterloo,' 'The Holy Land,' and 'The Bosphorus,' arranged in three circles. I built all the outbuildings that you see, and rigged up those two galleries (pointing to some private-box looking structures, one above another, in the Rotunda) where some of my men are at work." It is in one of the tiniest of offices, part of the addenda to Burford's circular building, that Mr. Willis relates to us some of his "ups and downs," in which "ups" predominate. "You sit on that stool," says the doyen of English organ builders, "and I'll sit on the arm of this chair—I'm used to adapting myself to circumstances—and now I'm ready to begin."

EARLY LIFE.

Henry Willis was born in London on April 27, 1821. His father was a builder, and one of the "old stagers" of the Cecilian Society, where he played the rôle of kettle-drummer. He was also a member of the choir of old Surrey Chapel, Blackfriars Road, during the organistship of the celebrated Benjamin Jacob. The subject of this sketch began to play the organ at a very early age. He made the acquaintance of George Cooper, the elder, Attwood's assistant at St. Paul's. Young Willis and young George Cooper (afterwards the organist of the Chapel Royal) worked together and had a "neck and neck" rivalry in pedal playing, which was in advance of anything of the kind in those days. Playing from the old scores with their four clefs—"those are the things to make musicians of people," observes Mr. Willis—was also a part of these two boys' organic curriculum. Be it recorded, however, that young Willis was entirely self-taught—he has never had a lesson in his life.

In 1835, when he was fourteen years of age, Henry Willis was articled for seven years to John Gray (afterwards Gray and Davison), the organ builder. During his apprenticeship he invented the special manual and pedal couplers which, although sixty years have elapsed, he still uses in his instruments. He had to tune the organ at St. George's Chapel, Windsor, where he made the acquaintance of Elvey, who took a great fancy to Gray's boy-tuner.

ORGANIST AND CONTRA-BASSIST.

While still serving his "time," and before he was out of his teens, Henry Willis was appointed organist of Christ Church, Hoxton, of which the Rev. William Scott, father of Mr. Clement Scott, was the vicar. Mr. Clement Scott records that his father had advertised for an organist for the new church. "Henry Willis answered the advertisement and appeared before a committee of two—my father and my mother. When he came into the room both faces fell. He was evidently too young for the place. My mother suggested as much. Whereupon young Willis, with the fire and energy that have distinguished his career ever since, said: 'Too young, Madam! Well, at any rate, I can play the "Hallelujah Chorus,"' which he promptly proceeded to do and in fine style." In recalling those old Hoxton days Mr. Willis says, "We did an elaborate Anglican service. The choirmaster was the late Mr. Thomas Jackson, a stockbroker, who was very good to me. I made several valuable connections there—friends who have stuck to me all my life. During Mr. Willis's organistship at Christ Church, Hoxton, Master Clement Scott was a chorister, and sang the soprano solo in Spohr's "As pants the hart." Mr. Willis, in fact, gave the future dramatic critic of the Daily Telegraph his first lessons in music, and patiently coached up his vicar's son in such old anthems as Boyce's "Oh! where shall wisdom be found?"

Digitized by Google

"After my apprenticeship had expired," continues Mr. Willis, "I lived at Cheltenham for three years, where I assisted the late W. E. Evans, an organ builder, who also kept a music-shop. Evans was a splendid violinist, but afterwards became known in connection with the manufacture of free-reed instruments. He invented, in 1841, the 'Organo Harmonica,' one of the Seraphine species. His first effort, however, in that direction was a Soprano Voice Guide, consisting of two octaves of free reeds. I went into that matter with him, and it ended in the production of a perfect model of a two-manual free-reed instrument, with two octaves and a half of pedals. This instrument was, by the kind permission of Mr. Alfred Novello, exhibited in his music-publishing establishment, then at 69, Dean Street, Soho, and it was in connection with this matter that I made the acquaintance of the late Mr. Henry Littleton, the successor of Alfred Novello. The instrument of which I have been speaking was also exhibited at the Hanover Square Rooms; but it was whilst it was on view at Novello's, in Dean Street, that I first met Dr. Samuel Sebastian Wesley and then and there made his acquaintance. I was introduced to him as the constructor of this model organ, which had its manuals and pedals in orthodox positions, and it also had several stops."

It may be convenient at this point to complete the record of Mr. Willis's organ appointments. In the early fifties he was organist of Hampstead Parish Church. He had built the new organ—then located in the West gallery—and was asked to become the organist. For nearly thirty years he was organist at Islington Chapel-of-Ease, which post he only resigned a few years ago, after he had passed the Psalmist's "three score years and ten." In spite of the engrossing claims of his business, Mr. Willis discharged his organist duties with commendable faithfulness: he would often travel 150 miles on a Saturday in order to be present at the Sunday services. Mr. Willis was also a contra-bassist in his younger days. He was one of the double-bass players at the Gloucester Musical Festival of 1847 and at other provincial festivals. He also played in the orchestra at the Handel Festivals of 1871 and 1874.

FIRST SUCCESS—GLOUCESTER CATHEDRAL.

It is now more than fifty years since Mr. Willis started in business for himself as an organ builder. His first great success was the organ at Gloucester Cathedral, which he rebuilt in 1847. "It was my stepping-stone to fame," he says. "The swell, down to double C, had twelve stops and a double venetian front. The pianissimo was simply astounding. I received £400 for the job, and I was presumptuous enough to marry." "I well remember," Mr. Willis continues, "one Sunday at Gloucester, in 1847. Amott, then organist of the Cathedral, and I played Mendelssohn's organ sonatas (then recently published) on the pianoforte—I playing the manual and Amott the pedal part. The following day Amott came to me and said, 'Mendelssohn is dead.' I shall never forget it."

THE GREAT EXHIBITION OF 1851.

"There has been nothing like the Great Exhibition of 1851 and there never will be," is the unshaken conviction of many who visited it. As we shall presently see, the subject of this sketch had every reason to be grateful to the Prince Consort for his inception of this great national undertaking. Mr. Willis erected a magnificent organ in the great glass palace in Hyde Park. This instrument attracted extraordinary attention. It was placed in the West-End gallery and consisted of three manuals and pedals. There were seventy sounding stops, twenty-two being on the swell, and seven couplers. The swell bellows was placed in the swell-box. The compass of the manuals was to G. At Gloucester Mr. Willis had taken up his pedals to F only, that being the highest note he had then found in Bach's works; but, student-like, he subsequently discovered an F sharp; and therefore, in order to cover this note, he extended the pedal-board to G—thirty-two notes.

But there were other important features in this notable instrument which went a long way towards revolutionizing the art of organ building in this country. First, the introduction of pistons, inserted between the key-slips, which replaced the clumsy composition pedals then in vogue. Again, to use Mr. Willis's own words, "that Exhibition organ was the great pioneer of the improved Pneumatic movement. A child could play the keys with all the stops drawn. It never went wrong. The instrument was absolutely my own in every detail: not a ghost of an individual had any part or lot in its conception or design." It is perhaps not surprising that the Queen and the Prince Consort went to hear this notable instrument. The visit is thus recorded in the Musical World of July 26, 1851.

Digitized by Google

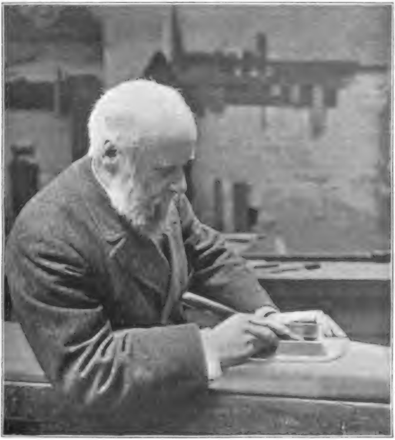
The Queen's Visit to Willis's Great Organ at the Exhibition.—Her Majesty Queen Victoria, H.R.H. the Prince Albert, and party visited the Crystal Palace on Friday, July 18th, and examined this large organ Mr J. T. Cooper, organist of St. Paul's Church, Islington, was in attendance, and performed part of the overture to "La Gazza Ladra," Rossini; "Schlaf, Schlaf, mein Kindelein," a composition by H.R.H. Prince Albert; also an air from "Il Barbiere"; and, by express command of her Majesty, the March in Mozart's "Die Zauberflöte"

ST. GEORGE'S HALL, LIVERPOOL.

"Did not the Exhibition organ procure you the order for that in St. George's Hall,



MR. WILLIS IN THE ACT OF VOICING A PIPE.

Liverpool?" we ask the veteran organ builder. "Ah! that is a very interesting story," Mr. Willis replies, and his weather-beaten face literally beams as he proceeds to tell the tale. "The Town Clerk of Liverpool wrote to me to the effect that a committee of the Corporation would visit the Exhibition on a certain day at 6 a.m., their object being to test the various organs with a view to selecting a builder for the proposed new instrument in St. George's Hall. He asked me if I could be there. I was there—all there! The other two competing builders, X. and Z., in anticipation of the visit, tuned their organs in the afternoon of the previous day, with the result that, owing to the abnormal heat of the sun through the glass roof, the reeds were not fit to be heard! I said nothing. At five o'clock on the following morning, my men and I were there to tune the reeds of my organ in the cool of the morning of that lovely summer's day. At six o'clock the Liverpool committee, which included the Mayor and the Town Clerk, in addition to S. S. Wesley and T. A. Walmisley, their musical advisers, duly appeared. Messrs. X. and Messrs. Z. had specially engaged two eminent organists to play for them. I retained nobody. But I had previously said to Best, who had given several recitals on my organ at the Exhibition, 'It would not be half a bad plan if you would attend to-morrow morning at six o'clock, as you usually do for practice.' Best was there. After the two other organs had been tried, the Town Clerk—William Shuttleworth, a good friend to me—came up and said: 'We have come to hear your organ, Mr. Willis. Are you going to play it yourself?' 'Do you expect an organ builder to play his own instrument?' I replied. 'If I had known that the other builders had specially engaged two organists to play their instruments, I might have done the same. Why don't you ask Wesley or Walmisley? They should be made to play, unless one is afraid of the other.' As Wesley and Walmisley declined to perform, I said to Mr. Shuttleworth, 'There's one of your own townsmen standing there (that was Best), ask him.' He did ask him. 'Mr. Best has no objection to play,' said the Town Clerk, 'but he wants five guineas!' 'Well, give it to him, the Corporation can well afford it.' The matter was arranged, and I said to Best: 'Now, in order that everything shall be quite fair and square, would you mind playing the same piece on all three organs?' 'What shall it be?' asked W. T. B. 'The overture to "Jessonda"' (I was always a great Spohr man). While Best was playing the overture on the two other instruments, the specially engaged organists stood on each side of him to manipulate the stops, &c. Meanwhile, my brother, who was a clever, quick tuner, again went over the trebles of the reeds, and everything was as trim as trim could be. When Best came to play on my organ, he politely declined the similar kind help the two organists had rendered him at the other instruments, as he was perfectly familiar with my pistons, stop arrangements, &c. It was a splendid performance, and I was told that the organ was quite a revelation to those Liverpudlians. The committee retired to deliberate in private, but only for twenty minutes, when Wesley came up to me and said: 'I am very happy to tell you that the delegates of the Corporation have decided to recommend you to build their organ.' I was perfectly cool and collected, and, feeling very hungry, I went to get some breakfast with Henry Smart, who was present."

There was, however, a slight danger that the whole thing would fall through. S. S. Wesley, the chief musical adviser of the Corporation, wrote all his organ music for G organs, and therefore he wanted both the manuals and pedals of the Liverpool organ to begin at G. "I gave in to him in regard to the manuals," says Mr. Willis, "but, I said, 'unless you have the pedal compass to C, I shall absolutely decline to build your organ.'" Mr. Willis is entirely fearless of Corporations, Deans and Chapters, Committees, and any other bodies, and so it was in this case. Moreover, he has lived to see the manual compass of his magnificent Liverpool organ changed to C. When the organ was finished the committee said to him: "Now that you have built us this organ, who is to play it?" "Why don't you ask Best?" he replied. Not only did Mr. Willis practically get Best appointed to Liverpool, but he had previously coached him up in his playing of overtures and other arrangements for the organ. "I egged him on," says the veteran organ builder, and we all know with what results.

To return to the Exhibition organ, which spread Mr. Willis's fame far and wide. The "Cylindrical" or "Rolling Valve" in that instrument—"the only sound-valve that overcomes the resistance of the air, whatever that may be" (according to its inventor's own description) gained Mr. Willis the Council Medal. This Exhibition organ, though in a shrunken form, was bought by the Dean and Chapter of Winchester, on the strong recommendation of S. S. Wesley, then their organist, and it was duly erected in the Cathedral in 1852. It has just been considerably enlarged and renovated after being in constant use for more than forty years. "I want you clearly to understand," observes Mr. Willis, "that Wesley invented 'radiating and concave' pedals, and I'll tell you how it happened. One day Wesley and I were walking arm-in-arm along the Exhibition gallery where Schulze's organ was placed. I called his attention to the fact, which I had not noticed before, that Schulze's pedal-board was concave. Wesley immediately replied: 'It is a pity he did not go farther, and make his pedals spread out.'" "Wesley invented the radiating and concave," emphatically repeats Mr. Willis, as he draws a rough sketch of the pedal-board, writing "Wesley" across it.

A QUESTION OF "PITCH."

The organ in the Royal Albert Hall, Mr. Willis's largest instrument, is too well known to need more than passing mention. Suffice it to say that he designed it entirely himself, that he had not to compete for the building of it, and that he had carte blanche in regard to every detail of that huge "King of Instruments."

There was, however, a somewhat amusing incident in connection with deciding upon the pitch of this famous instrument, which may now be recorded. The authorities arranged that Sir Michael Costa, Mr. R. K. Bowley, then general manager of the Crystal Palace, and some of the leading wind-instrument players of the day, including Lazarus, should attend at the factory to settle the question of the pitch of the organ. "They also brought a violinist," says Mr. Willis; "but I couldn't see what a fiddler, who is a very useful man in his way, had to do with settling the pitch. (I should tell you—adds Mr. Willis sotto voce—that I had formulated some idea of the proper pitch before these gentlemen had arrived.) However, we duly proceeded, Costa presiding over the conclave. When they began to blow into their different instruments each man had a different pitch! It was a regular pandemonium! By-and-bye we settled upon something which was considered satisfactory, and we bade each other good morning." The sequel need not be told. We leave it to our readers to draw their own conclusions as to whether the Royal Albert Hall organ was actually tuned to the pitch of Messrs. Costa, Bowley, Lazarus and Co., or to that previously decided upon by Mr. Henry Willis.

Digitized by Google

It may not be without interest to reprint the programme of the music played by the late W. T. Best at the inauguration of the organ in the Royal Albert Hall, on July 18, 1871:

PART I.

Organ Concerto (No. 2)	Handel.
Choral Song and Fugue, on a theme by Travers	S. S. Wesley.
Andante grazioso (MS.). First time of performance	E. J. Hopkins.
March (A minor)	W. T. Best.
Grand Prelude and Fugue (E flat major) ..	Bach.

PART II.

Organ Sonata (No. 1)	Mendelssohn.
Andante pastorale and Fugue (E major) ..	W. T. Best.
Air with variations (MS.). First time of performance	H. Smart.
Prelude and Fugue in G	Bach.

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.

When the new organ for our Metropolitan Cathedral was under consideration, more than five-and-twenty years ago, a large committee was formed, including the Dean and Chapter, some architects, Turle (organist of Westminster Abbey), and others, who were interested in so important a scheme. Mr. Willis was offered, and accepted, a seat on the committee. At the first meeting, the Dean being in the chair, the position of the organ was discussed, and Mr. Willis was asked to state his views to the committee. "The placing of the organ in the position in which I think it should be," said Mr. Willis, "involves a stupendous question—namely, the removal of the statues of Lord Nelson and Lord Cornwallis. Your organ-case is unique: it is the same both back and front. I propose to cut the case in two, and to place one half of the organ on each side of the Choir. Moreover, my plan will enable you to do what I consider to be absolutely necessary—that is, to bring your singers forward, nearer the dome, in order that they can be better heard.—There was dead silence." Although the very reverend and reverend gentlemen on that committee had ample evidence that Mr. Willis was "clothed," they might well have doubted whether he was "in his right mind." It is no wonder that he was asked to withdraw for a few minutes. Upon his return the late Mr. Cavendish Bentinck, one of the committee, asked: "Do you propose to have two organists to play your divided organ, Mr. Willis?" "You leave that to me," replied the organ builder. Thus Mr. Willis was a committee in himself. He got his own way, as he usually does, and produced a piece of mechanism for playing the two organs from one keyboard (on the North side) which has proved to be a triumph of mechanical skill.

COOPER, MANUALIST; WILLIS, PEDALIST.

"Was not the St. Paul's organ first used at the Thanksgiving service for the recovery of the Prince of Wales in February, 1872?" we ask Mr. Willis. "And was there not something rather out of the ordinary in regard to the playing of the instrument on that occasion?" "You are quite right, and I'll tell you all about it, as it's rather amusing. The fact is, the Prince didn't time his recovery from the typhoid fever to suit my convenience: he got well a little too soon from my point of view. The Thanksgiving service was arranged to be held two months before our contract time had expired. The St. Paul's people were in a great quandary. The pedal organ was finished, but it was impossible to get the pneumatic action for it completed in time. 'What is to be done?' poor old Goss anxiously enquired. 'I'll play the pedals,' I replied, and so I did. I'll tell you how it was done. The pedal pipes, as you know, stand down behind the choir stalls, below the organ proper. I therefore constructed a temporary pedal-board and music desk close to the pipes, and made the necessary connections just for the occasion. There I sat, holding on to the ends of the stool, feeling quite at home, and I played the pedals, soli, while Cooper, in the regions above me, manipulated the manual part. We had had no rehearsal together, and I did not even see the music till the night before the great event; even then I was only able to try it over on the pianoforte; but, I assure you, it went like silk! After the service, Goss said to Ouseley, who was present: 'What do you think of the pedal organ?' 'Magnificent!' replied the Oxford Professor. 'You know that the pipes are a long way off: did the pedals seem to go exactly together with the manuals?' Goss asked. 'Perfectly,' replied Ouseley; 'but why do you ask in that way?' Then Goss let out the secret—for it was really a great secret at the time." It would have been quite easy for anyone less skilful than Mr. Willis to have "put his foot into it" (in a non-pedalistic sense) on that auspicious National occasion; but, as at the Great Exhibition, he was "all there."

Digitized by Google

